ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The President declared nominations to be open for President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

REMARKS BY SENATOR BENTON
Senator Benton: "Thank you, Mr. President and members of the Senate. I wish to nominate my colleague from the Twenty-eighth District, Senator Shirley Winsley, for President Pro Tempore of the Senate. Mr. President, may I continue?"

President Owen: "Senator Benton has nominated Senator Shirley Winsley for the Office of President Pro Tempore.

Senator Benton: "Thank you, Mr. President. Today, Senator Winsley is beginning her twenty-sixth year in the Legislature. She has been elected ten times by the people of the Twenty-eighth District to serve them here in Olympia. She served seven terms in the House of Representatives and three terms here in the Senate. She began her legislative career in 1974 and she interrupted it only briefly for a short stint on the Pierce County Council.

"Senator Winsley knows the legislative process. It has become a second nature to her. She is well recognized by legislators on both sides of the aisle as a hard working, straight talking legislator. She takes on issues that demand a great attention to detail and patience in finding workable solutions. I, also, have been given to understand that Senator Winsley has a cabin up on Mason Lake—not too far from the Capitol. I figure if we all vote for her today, she will owe us a little R & R and a barbeque up there after the one hundred and fifth day. Seriously, I believe Senator Winsley, unquestionably, will do an honorable job as President Pro Tempore of the Washington State Senate. She knows the rules; she respects this institution and she has a keen sense of fairness.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I hope you will join me today in supporting her for this position."

REMARKS BY SENATOR McCASLIN

Senator McCaslin: "Thank you, Mr. President. I rise to second the nomination of my fellow conservative, Shirley Winsley. I asked her what I could say about her and she said, ‘Well, tell everyone that I am beautiful and that I am intelligent and one of the finest Senators on the floor.’ Actually, she is. Turn around Shirley. I want to see if she can blush. Seriously, she is one of the finest Senators here. I have found her to be one of the most honest in her positions in our caucus. I don’t always agree with them. Of course, I don’t agree with most of my caucus, so it really doesn’t matter. She will be one, fine, excellent President Pro Tempore."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Sheahan, the nominations for President Pro Tempore were closed.

ROLL CALL

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE WINSLEY

President Pro Tempore Winsley: "Thank you, Mr. President and to all the members. I want to thank you very much and it is something I have always wanted to do. It sort of keeps this Pro Tempore job among the Pierce County delegation. I know I follow in some big foot steps from Senator Wojahn, who had this position for a number of years and my good friend, Senator Franklin. So, I will hold this job in high esteem and be fair to all the members and if you feel I get out of line, please let me know. I am sure you will. Thank you for this honor."

The committee of honor escorted President Pro Tempore Winsley to her seat in the Senate Chamber and the committee was discharged.

ELECTION OF VICE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The President declared nominations to be open for Vice President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

REMARKS BY SENATOR MCCASLIN

Senator McCaslin: "Mr. President, I rise to nominate Senator Alex Deccio for the Office of Vice President Pro Tempore.

President Owen: "Senator McCaslin has nominated Senator Alex Deccio for the Office of Vice President Pro Tempore.

Senator McCaslin: "Heeding the President’s advise that we are out of here before midnight, I will not go into Senator Deccio’s long accomplishments. Actually, that would only take a few minutes, but you know, it sounds good Alex. One day, I told Alex, he was my best friend and he said, ‘I am your only friend.’ I wanted to say that before someone else said it. I think Alex has been in the Legislature for twenty-seven years. However, I do have more seniority than he has in the Senate. That and two-fifty will get you a latte at one of the closest shops here. Actually, he has been a friend of mine, along with his wife Lucille, who has been through a tremendous illness--injury--but I think Alex will do a fine job. He is probably one of the most conscientious people here, for whatever he wants. He’ll get to me later. Anyway, he will do a fine job as Vice President Pro Tempore. I know that he and Shirley Winsley will make an excellent pair. So, I would ask you and urge you and beg you to please support Senator Alex Deccio for Vice President Pro Tempore."

REMARKS BY SENATOR THIBAUDEAU

Senator Thibaudeau: "Thank you, Mr. President. It is my pleasure to second the nomination of my friend, Senator Alex Deccio, for Vice President Pro Tempore. Let me say what I have always said about this gentleman, wherever I am, even in my district. He is a problem solver; he cares about people; and he is very good to work with. Senator Deccio, as Senator McCaslin has said, has been in this place a very long time. I suspect that he knows a good deal about parliamentary rules and procedure. Perhaps, some that Mr. Reed has never even heard of. At any rate, it is my pleasure to nominate him. I know that he will treat this new office with the great respect that it deserves. I thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Sheahan, the nominations for Vice President Pro Tempore were closed.

REMARKS BY VICE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE DECCIO

Vice President Pro Tempore Deccio: "Thank you, Mr. President. Vice President Garner--I read this in the history books--when Roosevelt was President, that the Vice President was only worth, etc, etc., etc., until they became President. So, Vice President Pro Tempore isn’t much until these two folks are gone and then those of you who laughed about this office, watch out."

The committee of honor escorted Vice President Pro Tempore Deccio to his seat in the Senate Chamber and the committee was discharged.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

The President declared nominations to be open for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

REMARKS BY SENATOR JOHNSON

Senator Johnson: "Thank you, Mr. President. I nominate Milt Doumit to be Secretary of the Senate."

President Owen: "Senator Johnson has nominated Milt Doumit for the Office of Secretary of the Senate."

Senator Johnson: "Thank you, Mr. President. My guess is that most Washingtonians, six billion of them, don’t have the slightest idea who the Secretary of the Senate is or what that person does. But, we know better here in the Senate. We know how critical it is as to what we do to have sound administration and management of our resources and of our personnel. In my tenure here in Olympia, we have had three such Secretaries--Marty Brown, Mike O’Connell and Tony Cook. Milt Doumit is made from the same mold as those predecessors.

"Milt is a southwestern Washington native from Illawaco, a graduate of Washington State University, and a law graduate from the University of Notre Dame. After initial private law practice in Seattle, Milt settled in Olympia with his wife and now two children. He began working for the Senate, which he has done for a decade or so.

"The last four years, as many of you know, he has been one of the two Senate Counsels, which, by the way, has been the training ground for his three predecessors as Secretary of the Senate. A successful Secretary of the Senate must know how the Senate works, have good staff management abilities, have a reverence for the tradition of the Senate--many, many traditions. Perhaps, above all, to us as members, to approach his responsibilities to all Senators in a fair and equitable way--to be able to do that. An additional task which he has--not an easy one--was over the last several weeks getting us into this facility and hopefully in a couple of years getting us out of this facility.

"I commend to you, Milt Doumit as an excellent new Secretary of the Senate. I appreciate your support. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Sheahan, the nominations for Secretary of the Senate were closed.

ROLL CALL

The Acting Secretary called the roll and Milt Doumit was elected Secretary of the Senate: Doumit 48; Excused, 1

Excused: Shin -1.

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

The President appointed Senators Hale and Doumit as a committee of honor to escort Milt Doumit to the rostrum.
Associate Chief Justice Johnson administered the oath of office to Milt Doumit.
The President introduced Milt Doumit as Secretary of the Senate.

REMARKS BY SECRETARY OF THE SENATE MILT DOUMIT

Secretary of the Senate Doumit: "Now, I can officially worry about things like getting our delegations out of here on time to meet the Governor, which I am worried about right now. So, I will just cut everything off and say ‘thank you’ to all of you. Thank you, Senator Johnson, for that kind nomination. Thank you to the Senate Republican Caucus for repaying loyalty with loyalty. Thank you to all the members for your votes. Senator West has directed me to be a Secretary for all the members. Senator Brown, I want you to know that I will be that. I thank you again for all your support. Governor, I was honored to share with you a spot on the rostrum for six years. I now take my symbolic spot below you with the members who I serve. Thank you."

The committee of honor escorted Secretary of the Senate Milt Doumit to his seat on the rostrum and the committee was discharged.

ELECTION OF SERGEANT AT ARMS

The President declared nominations to be open for Sergeant at Arms of the Senate.

REMARKS BY SENATOR MCCASLIN

Senator McCaslin: "Mr. President, I place the name of Denny Lewis for your support as Sergeant at Arms of the Senate."

President Owen: "Senator McCaslin has nominated Denny Lewis for the Office of Sergeant at Arms of the Senate."

Senator McCaslin: "Thank you, Mr. President. I am sure that, even the freshmen members, know who Denny is by now. He is the one with the badge in the back with his hands behind him. You know, he had a twenty-five year career with the State Patrol. He came to the Senate in 1995—not to the Senate—but he served former Governors Evans, Spellman and Gardner, as personal security staff. He came to the Senate as Director of Security in 1995 and 1996 and served as Sergeant at Arms in 1997 and 1998. In 1999, he returned to his previous position as Director of Security. I think he has an outstanding resume and an outstanding experience to do the job of Sergeant at Arms. I am sure he will recognize each one of you and support you in any problems you might have. Please support Denny Lewis for Sergeant at Arms."

2. 5. The president shall, in open session, sign all acts, addresses and joint resolutions. The president shall sign all writs, warrants and subpoenas issued by order of the senate, all of which shall be attested by the secretary. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 32, State Constitution.)

6. The president shall appoint all conference, special, joint and hereinafter named standing committees on the part of the senate. The appointment of the conference, special, joint and standing committees shall be confirmed by the senate. In the event the senate refuses to confirm any conference, special, joint or standing committee or committees, such committee or committees shall be elected by the senate.

7. The president shall, on each day, announce to the senate the business in order, and no business shall be taken up or considered until the order to which it belongs shall be declared.

8. The president shall decide and announce the result of any vote taken.

9. When a vote of the senate is equally divided, the lieutenant governor, when presiding, shall have the deciding vote on questions other than the final passage of a bill. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 10 and 22, State Constitution.)

President Pro Tempore
Rule 2. 1. Upon the organization of the senate the members shall elect one of their number as president pro tempore who shall have all the powers and authority and who shall discharge all the duties of lieutenant governor acting as president during the lieutenant governor's absence. The senate shall also elect a vice-president pro tempore who will serve in the absence of the lieutenant governor and the president pro tempore. (See Art. 2, Sec. 10, State Constitution.)

2. In the absence of the president pro tempore, and vice president pro tempore, or with their consent, the president shall have the right to name any senator to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment, nor authorize the senator so substituted to sign any documents requiring the signature of the president.

No senator shall impeach the motives of any other member or speak more than twice (except for explanation) during the consideration of any one question, on the same day or a second time without leave, when others who have not spoken desire the floor, but incidental and subsidiary questions arising during the debate shall not be considered the same question. A majority of the members present may further limit the number of times a member may speak on any question and may limit the length of time a member may speak but, unless a demand for the previous question has been sustained, a member shall not be denied the right to speak at least once on each question, nor shall a member be limited to less than three minutes on each question. In any event, the senator who presents the motion may open and close debate on the question.

Recognition by the President

Rule 30. When two or more senators rise at the same time to address the chair, the president shall name the one who shall speak first, giving preference, when practicable, to the mover or introducer of the subject under consideration.

Call for Division of a Question

Rule 31. Any senator may call for a division of a question, which shall be divided if it embraces subjects so distinct that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the senate; but a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided.

Point of Order - Decision Appealable
Rule 32. Every decision of points of order by the president shall be subject to appeal by any senator, and discussion of a question of order shall be allowed. In all cases of appeal the question shall be: "Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the senate?"

Question of Privilege

Rule 33. Any senator may rise to a question of privilege and explain a personal matter by leave of the president, but shall not discuss any pending question in such explanations, nor shall any question of personal privilege permit any senator to introduce any person or persons in the galleries. The president upon notice received may acknowledge the presence of any distinguished person or persons.

A question of privilege shall involve only subject matter which affects the particular senator personally and in a manner unique and peculiar to that senator.

Protests

Rule 35. 1. The permanent senate rules adopted at the first regular session during a legislative biennium shall govern any session subsequently convened during the same legislative biennium. Adoption of permanent rules may be by majority of the senate without notice and a majority of the senate may change a permanent rule without notice at the beginning of any session, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the State Constitution. 2. A permanent rule or order may be temporarily suspended for a special purpose by a vote of two-thirds of the members present unless otherwise specified herein. When the suspension of a rule is called, and after due notice from the president no objection is offered, the president may announce the rule suspended, and the senate may proceed accordingly. Motion for suspension of the rules shall not be debatable, except, the mover of the motion may briefly explain the purpose of the motion and at the discretion of the president a rebuttal may be allowed.

Previous Question

Rule 36. The previous question shall not be put unless demanded by three senators, and it shall then be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" When sustained by a majority of senators present it shall preclude all debate, except the senator who presents the motion may open and close debate on the question and the vote shall be immediately taken on the question or questions pending before the senate, and all incidental question or questions of order arising after the motion is made shall be decided whether on appeal or otherwise without debate.

Reconsideration

Rule 37. 1. After the final vote on any measure, before the adjournment of that day's session, any member who voted with the prevailing side may give notice of reconsideration unless a motion to immediately transmit the measure to the house has been decided in the affirmative and the measure is no longer in possession of the senate. Such motion to reconsider shall be in order only under the order of motions of the day immediately following the day upon which such notice of reconsideration is given, and may be made by any member who voted with the prevailing side.

2. A motion to reconsider shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and when the senate adjourns while a motion to reconsider is pending or before passing the order of motions, the right to move a reconsideration shall continue to the next day of sitting. On and after the tenth day prior to adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12, or concurrent resolution, or in the event that the measure is subject to a senate rule or resolution or a joint rule or concurrent resolution, which would preclude consideration on the next day of sitting a motion to reconsider shall only be in order on the same day upon which notice of reconsideration is given and may be made at any time that day. Motions to reconsider a vote upon amendments to any pending question may be made and decided at once.

Prefiling

Rule 55. Holdover members and members-elect to the senate may prefile bills with the secretary of the senate on any day commencing with the first Monday in December preceding any session year; or twenty days prior to any special session of the legislature. Such bills will be printed, distributed and prepared for introduction on the first legislative day. No bill, joint memorial or joint resolution shall be prefiled by title and/or preamble only. (See also Rule 3, Sub. 3.)

Introduction of Bills

Rule 56. All bills, joint resolutions and joint memorials introduced shall be endorsed with a statement of the title and the name of the member introducing the same. Any member desiring to introduce a bill, joint resolution or joint memorial shall file the same with the secretary of the senate by noon of the day before the convening of the session at which said bill, joint resolution or joint memorial is to be introduced.

After the expiration of deadlines for bill introductions provided for by resolution, no bill shall be introduced, except as the legislature shall direct by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, said vote to be taken by yeas and nays and entered upon the journal, or unless the same be at a special session. The time limitation for introduction of bills shall not apply to substitute bills reported by standing committees for bills pending before such committees and general appropriation and revenue bills. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 36, State Constitution.)

Rule 57. Bills introduced in the senate intended to amend existing statutes shall have the words which are amendatory to such existing statutes underlined. Any matter to be deleted from the existing statutes shall be indicated by setting such matter forth in full, enclosed by double parentheses, and such deleted matter shall be lined out with hyphens. No bill shall be printed or acted upon until the provisions of this rule shall have been complied with.

Sections added by amendatory bill to an existing act, or chapter of the official code, need not be underlined but shall be designated "NEW SECTION" in upper case type and such designation shall be underlined. New enactments need not be underlined.

Joint Resolutions and Memorials

Rule 58. Joint resolutions and joint memorials, up to the signing thereof by the president of the senate, shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills.

Senate Concurrent Resolutions

Rule 59. Concurrent resolutions shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills and may be adopted without a roll call. Concurrent resolutions authorizing investigations and authorizing the expenditure or allocation of any money must be adopted by roll call and the yeas and nays recorded in the journal. Concurrent resolutions are subject to final passage on the day of the first reading without regard to Senate Rule 62.

Committee Bills

Rule 60. Committee bills introduced by a standing committee during a legislative session may be filed with the secretary of the senate and introduced, and the signature of each member of the committee shall be endorsed upon the cover of the original bill.

Committee bills shall be read the first time by title, ordered printed, and referred to the committee on rules for second reading.

Committee Reference

Rule 61. When a motion is made to refer a subject, and different committees are proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

- FIRST: A standing committee.
- SECOND: A select committee.

Reading of Bills

Rule 62. Every bill shall be read on three separate days unless the senate deems it expedient to suspend this rule. On and after the tenth day preceding adjournment sine die of any session, or three days prior to any cut-off date for consideration of bills, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the Constitution or concurrent resolution, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote. (See also Rule 59).

First Reading

Rule 63. The first reading of a bill shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full.

After the first reading, bills shall be referred to an appropriate committee pursuant to Rule 61.

Upon being reported back by committee, all bills shall be referred to the committee on rules for second reading, unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (See Rule 49.)

A bill shall be reported back by the committee chair upon written petition therefor signed by a majority of its members. The petition shall designate the recommendation as provided in Rule 45, Sub. 4.

No committee chair shall exercise a pocket veto of any bill.
Should there be a two-thirds majority report of the committee membership against the bill, a vote shall be immediately ordered for the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Second Reading/Amendments

Rule 64. Upon second reading, the bill shall be read section by section, in full, and be subject to amendment. Any member may, if sustained by three members, remove a bill from the consent calendar as constituted by the committee on rules. A bill removed from the consent calendar shall take its place as the last bill in the order of consideration of bills on the second reading calendar.

No amendment shall be considered by the senate until it shall have been sent to the secretary's desk in writing and read by the secretary.

All amendments adopted on the second reading shall then be securely fastened to the original bill.

All amendments rejected by the senate shall be spread upon the journal, and the journal shall show the disposition of all amendments.

When no further amendments shall be offered, the president shall declare the bill has passed its second reading, and shall be referred to the committee on rules for third reading.

Third Reading

Rule 65. Bills on third reading shall be read in full by sections, and no amendment shall be entertained.

When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified to by the secretary, together with the vote upon final passage, noting the day of its passage thereon.

The vote must be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the senators voting for and against the same to be entered upon the journal and the majority of the members elected to the senate must be recorded thereon as voting in its favor to secure its passage by the senate.

Scope and Object of Bill Not to be Changed

Rule 66. No amendment to any bill shall be allowed which shall change the scope and object of the bill. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 38, State Constitution.) Substitute bills shall be considered amendments for the purposes of this rule. A point of order raising the question of scope and object may be raised at any time during consideration of an amendment prior to voting on the amendment.

Matters Related to Disagreement Between the Senate and House

Rule 67. When there is a disagreement between the senate and house on a measure before the senate, the senate may act upon the measure with the following motions which have priority in the following order:

To concur
To non-concur
To recede
To insist
To adhere

These motions are in order as to any single amendment or to a series of amendments. (See Reed's Rules 247 through 254.)

A senate bill, passed by the house with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the senate, shall be referred to an appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills, unless a motion to ask the house to recede, to insist or to adhere is made prior to the measure being referred to committee.

Bills Committed for Special Amendment

Rule 68. A bill may be committed with or without special instructions to amend at any time before taking the final vote.
Confirmation of Gubernatorial Appointees

Rule 69. When the names of appointees to state offices are transmitted to the Secretary of the Senate for senate confirmation, the communication from the governor shall be recorded and referred to the appropriate standing committee.

The standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, shall require each appointee referred to the committee for consideration to complete the standard questionnaire to be used to ascertain the appointee's general background and qualifications. The committee may also require the appointee to complete a supplemental questionnaire related specifically to the qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed.

Any hearing on a gubernatorial appointment, held by the standing committee, or subcommittees, pursuant to rule 42, shall be a public hearing. The appointee may be required to appear before the committee on request. When appearing, the appointee shall be required to testify under oath or affirmation. The chair of the committee or the presiding member shall administer the oath or affirmation in accordance with RCW 44.16. (See also Article 2, Sec. 6 of the State Constitution.)

Nothing in this rule shall be construed to prevent a standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, upon a two-thirds vote of its members, from holding executive sessions when considering an appointment.

When the committee on rules presents the report of the standing committee before the senate, the question shall be the confirmation of the name proposed, and the roll shall then be called and the yeas and nays entered upon the journal. In the event a message is received from the governor requesting return of an appointment or appointments to the office of the governor prior to confirmation, the senate shall vote upon the governor's request and the appointment or appointments shall be returned to the governor if the request is approved by a majority of the members elected or appointed. MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON THIRD SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5514

April 4, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
    The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

    I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 3, Third Substitute Senate Bill No. 5514 entitled:
    "AN ACT Relating to public facilities districts;"

    This legislation expands the ability of local governments to construct facilities for community and sporting events, trade shows, conventions, and the like. These regional centers can play an important role in the development of downtown areas. I support this bill with the deadline extensions and tools it provides to local governments.

    However, I do not agree with section 3 of the bill. That section would have provided for a refund of sales and use taxes on the construction of any regional center that is built after the effective date of the bill. We continue to collect sales and use taxes on the construction of virtually all other public facilities — including schools, universities, and city and county government buildings, with few, very limited exceptions. Refunding sales and use taxes on the construction of the projects described in this bill would create an undesirable policy precedent, and would have a significant fiscal impact that cannot be sustained during these times of budgetary difficulty. Additionally, I cannot in good conscience commit a future legislature to the significant loss of revenue that would occur when these refunds would have come due in 2006.

    For these reasons, I have vetoed section 3 of Third Substitute Senate Bill No. 5514.

    With the exception of section 3, Third Substitute Senate Bill No. 5514 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

GARY LOCKE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6140

March 21, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
    The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

    I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 504, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6140 entitled:
    "AN ACT Relating to the creation of regional transportation investment districts;"

    Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6140 allows voters of the three central Puget Sound counties to adopt a transportation funding and investment plan for their region. Section 504 would have rendered the entire bill - and perhaps even a majority vote in the region - null and void if a statewide transportation act containing new revenue does not become law by December 31, 2002. A statewide transportation act has been referred to the ballot for November 2002.

    Section 504 of the bill creates legal issues that could thwart any transportation solution that the voters may approve. By vetoing this section, the three central Puget Sound counties will retain a dynamic new tool to begin to address their most pressing transportation needs, regardless of the outcome of the statewide referendum. The three central Puget Sound counties are major contributors to our state's economy, yet this same area suffers from some of the worst traffic congestion in the country. It should not be restrained from moving forward on its own if the rest of the state is unwilling.

    Make no mistake, however: I pledge to work vigorously for the passage of the statewide transportation referendum. Even if the central Puget Sound region employs all of the new revenue authority provided by this bill, it is only a part of the solution. Statewide revenues are still essential for these three counties, as well as the rest of the state.

    In addition, I will continue to work with the Legislature to expand the regional transportation funding authority, created by this bill, to other regions of our state.

    For these reasons, I have vetoed section 504 of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6140.

    With the exception of section 504, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6140 is approved.
MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6347

March 27, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 203(5), Page 4 (Department of Transportation – Public Transportation – Program V); 302(45), Page 20 (Department of Transportation – Improvements – Program I – Mobility and Economic Initiative Improvement Projects); 304(2), Page 23, Line 1 (Department of Transportation – Improvements – Program I – Safety Improvement Projects); 305(2), Page 24, Lines 22 through 24 (Department of Transportation – Improvements – Program I – Environmental Retrofit Improvement Projects); 810, Page 38 (new section added to chapter 47.08 RCW), Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6347 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to transportation funding and appropriations;”

Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6347 is the list of transportation projects that will be funded if voters approve the statewide transportation revenue referendum in November of this year. I strongly support this bill, but for a few portions that were vetoed.

Section 203(5) of the bill would have required Everett Transit and Community Transit to develop an interlocal agreement to serve paratransit and special needs transit as a condition to receiving their share of new state transit funding. Senior Services of Snohomish County is under contract with Community Transit to provide these services to county residents through 2006. While I support local efforts to address coordination between these transit systems, the provisions of this subsection would have the effect of either eliminating new state transit funding for Everett Transit and Community Transit, or negatively impacting the financial status of Senior Services of Snohomish County.

Section 302(45) of the bill provides $350,000 of the Motor Vehicle Account – State appropriation solely for the middle Washington corridor study. The proviso stipulates that the Department of Transportation, in consultation with local officials and residents of the area, shall conduct a study to determine the feasibility of creating a new north-south corridor as an alternative to Interstate 5 and Interstate 405 from the Canadian border to Lewis County. The department would have been required to report to the legislature no later than December 31, 2002 on the feasibility of financing and constructing such a corridor. I have vetoed this subsection because the revenues that would provide the funding for the study would not be available until after the specified reporting date. Additionally, funding was provided to the Legislative Transportation Committee in the supplemental transportation budget (ESHB 2451) to convene a working group to study the same project.

Section 304(2) provides $9,504,000 of the Motor Vehicle Account – State appropriation for a safety improvement project on State Route 7. The proviso was inadvertently written to state that the entire appropriation was provided for preconstruction activities alone, instead of construction. In order to restore legislative intent for this project, I have vetoed the preconstruction item from the section.

Section 305(2) provides $1,250,000 of the Motor Vehicle Account – State appropriation solely for reconstruction of a bridge at Skobob Creek on State Route 106 in Mason County. The proviso stipulates that the project is subject to review and approval by the department, but that the Hood Canal Salmon Enhancement Group shall manage the project. This provision of the bill would set an undesirable precedent by allowing a local group to manage a project on the Department of Transportation's right of way. For this reason, I have vetoed this item.

Section 810 would have added a new section to chapter 47.08 RCW exempting this bill from that chapter. RCW 47.08.010 provides that funds allocated for the construction or improvement of state highways shall be under the sole charge and direct control of the Department of Transportation. However, funding for highway construction and improvements in this act is appropriated specifically to the department, making the exemption unnecessary.

For these reasons, I have vetoed sections 203(5), Page 4 (Department of Transportation – Public Transportation – Program V); 302(45), Page 20 (Department of Transportation – Improvements – Program I – Mobility and Economic Initiative Improvement Projects); 304(2), Page 23, Line 1 (Department of Transportation – Improvements – Program I – Safety Improvement Projects); 305(2), Page 24, Lines 22 through 24 (Department of Transportation – Improvements – Program I –
MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6387

April 5, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval the following appropriation items and sections 103, lines 10-11; 113, line 23; subsections 125(31); 125(34); 137(2); 137(4); 204(1)(h); 204(1)(k); 204(5)(c); 205(1)(a); 205(1)(j); 206(11); 207(1)(e); 207(1)(f); 207(1)(g); 207(1)(h); 207(1)(i); 207(1)(j); 207(1)(k); 207(1)(l); 207(1)(m); 207(1)(n); 221(2)(l); 308(18); 501(2)(b)(iii); 604(10); 605(4); section 606, lines 31-38, page 204; lines 1-3, page 205; subsections 607(1); 607(2); 608(1); 608(11); 609(2); and section 725 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6387 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to fiscal matters;"

Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6387 is the state supplemental operating budget for the 2001-2003 Biennium. I have vetoed several provisions as described below:

Subsection 125(34), Page 29, Mobile Home Relocation Assistance (Department of Community, Trade, and Economic Development (CTED))
This subsection designated $202,000 from the nonappropriated Mobile Home Park Relocation Account for implementation of Second Substitute Senate Bill 5354, the Mobile Home Relocation Assistance Fee Act. Since the account is nonappropriated, CTED will still be able to spend the funds in a manner that will accomplish the intent of the policy bill.

Subsection 204(1)(h), Page 63, Restrictions on Administration Costs for Regional Support Networks (RSNs) (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Mental Health Program)
The 8 percent administrative cap in this proviso may not be appropriate for all RSNs. In response to the Joint Legislative Audit and Review Committee recommendations, DSHS is currently conducting a review of existing RSN administration levels. That review is expected to be finished within a month. Until this review is complete, it is premature to set an administrative cap for each individual RSN. The budget contains other language and savings requirements that will impose sufficient restraints on RSN administrative spending without the necessity of this proviso.

Subsection 204(1)(k), Page 63, Mental Health Ombudsman Proposal Development (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Mental Health Program)
This proviso would have required the Department of Community, Trade, and Economic Development and DSHS to develop a proposal to create a structurally and functionally independent mental health ombudsman program. This requirement increases the workload for both departments without providing additional funding during a time of increasing fiscal constraints.

Subsection 204(5)(c), Pages 67-68, State Hospital Bed Allocation (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Mental Health Program)
Beginning this year, DSHS implemented a new state hospital bed allocation plan based on a more equitable distribution methodology than was previously used. The plan also addressed potential legal issues related to historical allocations. To minimize impacts, the new allocation formula has been phased in and Regional Support Networks signed their contracts based on the new bed formula. In light of this, it is inappropriate to substitute the allocation method mandated in Subsection 204(5)(c). I have vetoed this proviso in order to maintain the current approach.

Subsection 205(1)(a), Page 68, Monthly Progress Reports (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Developmental Disabilities Program)
This requirement for additional monthly reports is excessive, and there are alternative means to effectively provide the information needed by the Legislature. I have directed DSHS to keep the Legislature fully informed of actions taken by the Division of Developmental Disabilities regarding the implementation of expanded services, the development and implementation of new home and community-based waivers, and improvements in program and fiscal management. DSHS will coordinate with the Legislature to adjust the agency's existing reporting mechanisms to ensure that necessary information is communicated on an appropriate and timely schedule.

Subsection 207(1)(e), Page 80, Drug and Alcohol Treatment Services (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Economic Services Program)

This proviso would have reduced funding for DSHS to contract with the Employment Security Department to maintain support for drug and alcohol treatment services designated to help parents receiving Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) benefits. Funding for employment services is central in assisting TANF recipients to find work and leave welfare. If families remain on TANF, the funding for alcohol and drug treatment, as well as other needed support services, will not be available.

Subsection 207(1)(f), Page 80, Comprehensive Drug and Alcohol Treatment Project (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Economic Services Program)

This subsection would have provided an additional $878,000 of the federal appropriation for the comprehensive alcohol and drug treatment project. I have vetoed this item, but will dedicate $878,000 of existing General Fund-State appropriations to match federal Medicaid funds. This action will increase the funds available for these projects to $1,756,000 and allow the evaluation of these projects to be completed.

Subsection 207(1)(g), Page 80, Job Search and Job Placement Activities (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Economic Services Program)

This proviso would have limited the funds available for job search and job placement activities to $5.8 million for the biennium. DSHS cannot comply with this proviso since it has already expended over $19 million on these activities.

Subsection 207(1)(h), Page 80, WorkFirst Post-Employment Labor Exchange Program (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Economic Services Program)

This proviso would have eliminated the WorkFirst Post-Employment Labor Exchange program. This program is the only post-employment service available to WorkFirst participants and needs to be retained. These services aid participants in job retention, lower the number of clients returning to TANF, and support wage progression. A thorough evaluation of the program will be completed this summer, and the program's effectiveness will be reviewed again at that time.

Subsection 207(1)(I), Page 80, Indigent Civil Legal Services (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Economic Services Program)

I am pleased that the Legislature restored $1.5 million (in the Department of Community, Trade, and Economic Development budget) of the $2.4 million in legal services funding that was eliminated from the program in February. However, there are not sufficient funds in the WorkFirst budget to continue to provide these services, so I have vetoed the proviso appropriating $900,000 in federal funds to DSHS.

Subsection 207(1)(j), Page 80, Limit on Child Care Subsidy Co-payment (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Economic Services Program)

This proviso would have limited the increase in co-payments for childcare to no more than two dollars per month. However, an increase of five dollars in the current co-pay must be implemented to keep program expenditures within available funds. The proviso also restricts the agency's future flexibility by forcing the childcare program to reduce eligible clients rather than increasing co-pay rates.

Subsection 207(1)(k), Page 80, Parenting Skills Funding (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Economic Services Program)

This proviso would have restored funding for parenting and family management skills development, enhanced childcare rates, and other programs provided at the community colleges. While these are valuable services, there are insufficient funds in the WorkFirst budget to restore these programs to the level required by the proviso. The community and technical colleges are currently reviewing the best way to serve clients being referred to them, and need flexibility in their expenditure plan.

Subsection 207(1)(l), Page 80, After-school Programs for Middle School Youth (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Economic Services Program)

The Legislature restored $300,000 for after-school programs for middle school youth by assuming use of federal funding. Although this is an innovative program that benefits middle school students by providing out-of-school care, it is not core to the goals of WorkFirst and cannot be achieved without displacing other programs.

Subsection 207(1)(m), Page 80, Consultation and Training for Child Care Providers Caring for Children with Special Needs (Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) - Economic Services Program)

By this proviso, the Legislature would have restored $3.4 million to the Department of Health for services by local public health nurses to provide consultation and training to child care providers caring for children with special needs. This is a worthy program, but there are insufficient funds in the WorkFirst budget to continue to provide these services, so I have vetoed this item.

Multiple Sections
In order to maintain a more responsible reserve and because additional revenues were assumed but not enacted, I have eliminated a number of General Fund-State supplemental items. While many of these additions are worthwhile, I have vetoed the following items to save the state General Fund-State $37.008 million.

• Section 103, lines 10-11, page 3, Second Year Funding Increase (Joint Legislative Audit and Review Committee)
• Section 113, line 23, page 11, Dependency and Termination Pilot (Office of Public Defense)
• Subsection 125(31), page 28, Artistic Organization Support (Department of Community, Trade, and Economic Development)
• Subsection 137(2), pages 38-39, Tax Incentives Study (Department of Revenue)
• Subsection 137(4), page 39, Municipal Business and Occupation Tax Uniformity (Department of Revenue)
• Subsection 205(1)(j), pages 71-72, Home Care Worker Wage Increase (Department of Social and Health Services - Developmental Disabilities Program)
• Subsection 206(11), pages 76-77, Home Care Worker Wage Increase (Department of Social and Health Services - Long-Term Care). I am asking DSHS to put $2,927,000 of General Fund-State in allotment reserve status to reflect this veto.
• Subsection 221(2)(I), page 104, Motor Vehicle Theft (Department of Corrections)
• Subsection 501(2)(b)(iii), pages 147-148, Technology Task Force (Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction Statewide Programs)
• Subsection 604(10), page 203, Recruitment and Retention (University of Washington)
• Subsection 605(4), page 204, Recruitment and Retention (Washington State University)
• Subsection 606, lines 31-38, page 204; lines 1-3, page 205, Recruitment and Retention (Eastern Washington University)
• Subsection 607(1), page 205, Enrollment Recovery (Central Washington University)
• Subsection 607(2), page 205, Recruitment and Retention (Central Washington University)
• Subsection 608(1), page 206, Recruitment and Retention (The Evergreen State College)
• Subsection 608(11), pages 208-209, Washington State Institute for Public Policy Studies (The Evergreen State College)
• Subsection 609(2), pages 209-210, Recruitment and Retention (Western Washington University)
• Section 725, page 244, Tort Liability Account

I also have concerns about two provisos of this bill that I did not veto:

Subsection 204(1)(j) requires that DSHS reduce funding to the Regional Support Networks based on an excess of specified reserves. Recognizing legislative interests, I am directing DSHS to work with the Regional Support Networks to develop an implementation plan that identifies and best addresses any unintended consequences, were the reserves to be liquidated as planned. The implementation plan will ensure that the total reserve spend-down will result in the necessary general fund savings as required by the appropriations bill.

Subsection 205(1)(b) is an essential component of the settlement in the Arc v. State of Washington case. Although there have been concerns expressed to me regarding the program implications, vetoing this proviso would eliminate the funding needed to phase in service expansions agreed upon in the settlement and would risk continued litigation. The funding assumptions in this subsection, though complicated, will expand services. This subsection also requires a redesign of some elements of the family support, and employment and day programs. Given the complexity of these changes, I am requiring DSHS to work with clients, client advocates, and service providers to develop a plan that best implements these changes and program expansions.

For these reasons, I have vetoed sections 103, lines 10-11; 113, line 23; subsections 125(31); 125(34); 137(2); 137(4); 204(1)(h); 204(1)(k); 204(5)(c); 205(1)(a); 205(1)(j); 206(11); 207(1)(e); 207(1)(f); 207(1)(g); 207(1)(h); 207(1)(l); 207(1)(j); 207(1)(k); 207(1)(l); 207(1)(m); 207(1)(n); 221(2)(I); 308(18); 501(2)(b)(iii); 604(10); 605(4); section 606, lines 31-38, page 204; lines 1-3, page 205; subsections 607(1); 607(2); 608(1); 608(11); 609(2); and section 725; of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6387.

With the exception of sections 103, lines 10-11; 113, line 23; subsections 125(31); 125(34); 137(2); 137(4); 204(1)(h); 204(1)(k); 204(5)(c); 205(1)(a); 205(1)(j); 206(11); 207(1)(e); 207(1)(f); 207(1)(g); 207(1)(h); 207(1)(l); 207(1)(j); 207(1)(k); 207(1)(l); 207(1)(m); 207(1)(n); 221(2)(I); 308(18); 501(2)(b)(iii); 604(10); 605(4); section 606, lines 31-38, page 204; lines 1-3, page 205; subsections 607(1); 607(2); 608(1); 608(11); 609(2); and section 725, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6387 is approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 6396

March 28, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 104 and 126(3), Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6396 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the capital budget;"

Section 104, page 4, Department of Community, Trade, and Economic Development
This section would have modified the appropriation from a governance study, yet to be completed, of the Burke Museum into a study to expand the museum. The governance study is important because it will identify alternative funding for a museum expansion. The amended language also authorized expenditures for preservation of museum collections (an operational expense). These funds were first appropriated for the Burke Museum in the 1999–2001 biennium, at which time I vetoed provisional language for a study of future expansion of the museum. It is inappropriate to forego the governance study and to fund preservation of collections with capital funds.

Section 126(3), page 18, Interagency Committee for Outdoor Recreation
This section would have provided a direct appropriation to People for Salmon (PFS) from Salmon Recovery Funding Board (SRFB) grant funds. The SRFB was designed to be an independent decision maker for the allocation of salmon recovery grants. A direct appropriation by the legislature intrudes upon SRFB autonomy and decision making as to which projects best aid in fish recovery and are most desirable to fund. A similar provision was vetoed last year for the same reasons.

I add this special note regarding section 110, which I have allowed to stand. This section revises and increases funding for the Bremerton Readiness Center for the Military Department. These funds will construct additional classrooms to support an emergency services training center. While there are unique programmatic, geographic and interagency aspects of this project, proceeding with this project should in no way suggest concurrence or agreement with any future, state-financed emergency services training facilities.

For these reasons, I have vetoed sections 104 and 126(3) of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6396.

With the exception of sections 104 and 126(3), Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6396 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6464
To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 7 and 18, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6464 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to city transportation authority;"

This bill will allow the voters of Seattle to decide if they want to impose taxes to pay for a monorail system.

Section 7 of the bill contained a drafting error that would have inadvertently required two public votes, rather than one. Because sections 2, 9, 10, and 11 all ensure a public vote, vetoing this section will not affect the requirement of voter approval. This section also included language requiring a plan and public hearings; however, section 3 and other parts of the bill provide sufficient opportunities for the city council to ensure an open, public process and careful consideration of any monorail plan.

Section 18 would have rendered the entire bill null and void if a "regional transportation act does not become law by December 31, 2002." On March 21, 2002, I signed into law a regional transportation act, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6140, making section 18 moot. Vetoing the moot section will help reduce confusion.

For these reasons, I have vetoed sections 7 and 18 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6464. With the exception of sections 7 and 18, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6464 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

GARY LOCKE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6471

March 14, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to subsection 3, Senate Bill No. 6471 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to labeling of agricultural products by place of origin;"

Senate Bill No. 6471 requires grocery stores or other businesses offering fresh fruit and vegetables to either display a placard near the produce stating if it was "Grown in the United States" or "Grown in Washington," or to label each piece of produce individually. Subsection 3 of the bill would have allowed a retailer failing to do so to be fined up to $250 on the second violation and up to $1000 on the third violation in a calendar year.

I agree with the intent of the bill, which is to reveal the origin of produce to consumers. However, the penalties established in subsection 3 of the bill are excessive. Subsection 3 would normally be a separate section, and even refers to itself as a section. For these and other reasons, it is subject to veto.

For these reasons, I have vetoed subsection 3 of Senate Bill No. 6471. With the exception of subsection 3, Senate Bill No. 6471 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

GARY LOCKE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6538

April 1, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:
I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 6, Senate Bill No. 6538 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to ballast water;"

Senate Bill No. 6538 requires the director of the Department of Fish and Wildlife to establish a work group to study issues related to ballast water, including treatment technologies to prevent the spread of invasive species and other pollutants. The group will also examine rules for the treatment and disposal of ballast water in Washington waters.

Section 6 of the bill was an emergency clause, which would have made the law effective upon my signature. I believe the emergency clause is unnecessary for this bill.

For these reasons, I have vetoed section 6 of Senate Bill No. 6538.

With the exception of section 6, Senate Bill No. 6538 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

GARY LOCKE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6557

April 3, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 2, Senate Bill No. 6557 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the selection of the chair of the higher education coordinating board;"

Senate Bill No. 6557 changes the structure of the Higher Education Coordinating Board (HECB) to allow the HECB members to select the chair, rather than the governor.

Currently, all members of the HECB serve four-year terms, except the chair, who serves at the pleasure of the governor. Section 2 of the bill would have changed the term of the chair to a four-year term as well. However, it was unclear whether the four-year term limitation for the chair applied to the current chair. The existing law, which is retained by this veto, does not contain the same caveat as section 1 of the bill regarding the term of the current chair. Accordingly, this veto may create confusion regarding the length of the chair's term. I ask the legislature to pass remedial legislation next year.

I endorse rotation of the chair among the board members in the future, however it is a principle of the Washington State Constitution that the term of an official should not be shortened while the official is in office.

For these reasons, I have vetoed section 2 of Senate Bill No. 6557.

With the exception of section 2, Senate Bill No. 6557 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

GARY LOCKE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6609

April 4, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to subsection 2(c), Senate Bill No. 6609 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to studies conducted by the department of ecology;"

Senate Bill No. 6609 provides for public participation and comment on studies conducted by the Department of Ecology (DOE) in the implementation of chapter 90.48 RCW. It also provides for review of disputes by the DOE director, and requires disclosure of the underpinnings of studies and the data used in them, prior to finalization of the studies.
Subsection 2(c) of this bill would have set an undesirable precedent by barring appeal of administrative law judges' decisions, and potentially requiring DOE to pay for the costs of studies conducted by an aggrieved party. It is a basic principle of our system of law that parties who disagree with administrative law judges have a right to appeal the judges' determinations in court. Requiring an agency to pay a challenger's costs could have significant unforeseeable budget consequences.

For these reasons, I have vetoed subsection 2(c) of Senate Bill No. 6609.

With the exception of subsection 2(c), Senate Bill No. 6609 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

GARY LOCKE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6627

March 27, 2002

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 34, Senate Bill No. 6627 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to community service;"

Senate Bill No. 6627 changes references to "community service" in the criminal sentencing code to "community restitution."

Section 34 of this bill amends language that is repealed in section 3 of another bill, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6748. The Code Reviser has informed my office that signing both sections into law would require publishing both in the Revised Code of Washington, causing confusion and making corrective legislation necessary. Section 34 serves no purpose in light of the repeal of the affected language in the other bill.

For these reasons, I have vetoed section 34 of Senate Bill No. 6627.

With the exception of section 34, Senate Bill No. 6627 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

GARY LOCKE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM STATE OFFICE
STATE OF WASHINGTON
DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
P. O. Box 42560, Olympia, Washington 98504-2560

REPORT TO THE LEGISLATURE
IMPORTED APPLES REPORT

December 26, 2002

Prepared by Jerry Buendel
Commission Merchants Program Manager
Washington State Department of Agriculture
Background

The Commission Merchants Program was established to protect producers, buyers and sellers of agricultural products against illegal business practices. Chapter 20.01 Revised Code of Washington, Agriculture Products–Commission Merchants, Dealers, Brokers, Buyers, Agents, was first enacted in 1959. The statute gives the department authority to regulate individuals and businesses that receive on consignment, take possession or control of or act as brokers in the resale or processing of unprocessed agricultural products, i.e. commission merchants. The department regulates individuals and businesses through licensing and bonding. The program takes complaints from consignors, conducts investigations and enforcement activities. Funding for the Commission Merchants Program is provided through the collection of license fees and other charges; no general fund dollars are received.

The Washington State Department of Agriculture (WSDA) was directed by the 2002 Legislature, under Chapter 235, Laws of 2002, to require each commission merchant handling apples imported into the United States between January 1, 2002, and November 30, 2002, to report the volume of each variety of imported apples that was received by and packed and sold by the commission merchant by December 15, 2002. WSDA was to compile the information and provide a report to the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives by December 31, 2002.

WSDA tasked the Commission Merchants Program to gather and report the information. The program office, after coordinating with stakeholder associations, devised a form and method to collect the required information.

Results

The table provides a breakout of the volume of imported apples by variety for the period of January 1, 2002, to November 30, 2002. The apples were reported in 42-pound equivalent units—the approximate weight of a box of apples.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

The Senate Committee composed of Senators Rossi and Kastama appeared before the bar of the Senate and reported that the Governor had been notified, under the provisions of House Concurrent Resolution No. 4400, that the Senate is organized and ready to transact business.

The report was received and the committee was discharged.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Betti Sheldon, the Senate advanced to the fourth order of business.

MESSAGE FROM HOUSE

January 13, 2003
MR. PRESIDENT:
The House has adopted SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 8400, and the same is herewith transmitted.

CYNTHIA ZEHNDER, Chief Clerk

SIGNED BY THE PRESIDENT

The President signed:
SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 8400.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Brown: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. Thank you, Mr. President, and welcome back to us. I want to offer my congratulations particularly, from this side of the aisle, to all the new Senators and to the newly elected President Pro Tempore and Vice President Pro Tempore and to the new Secretary of the Senate. We really look forward to working with you. It hasn’t been mentioned yet, but we also have a new majority leader–Senator West. I want to offer my congratulations to him.

"This is one of my first and only experiences of being on the floor of the Senate without Senator Snyder, our previous majority leader. I would just like to acknowledge that, not only will this year not be the same, because we are in different quarters, but it certainly won’t be the same because we won’t have Sid and his incredible knowledge of the institution and the players and the process. Those are incredible shoes to fill; I am going to do my best.

"I just wanted to make a brief comment that obviously we represent two sides of the aisle and at least two of our state’s political parties. More significant than that, we also represent a true diversity of our state’s communities and peoples and differing beliefs, passions and priorities. We want to pledge to you from our side of the aisle that in this session, we will be a vigorous opposition. When we disagree, we will certainly disagree as strongly as we can. However–our disagreement–we pledge will be civil. We pledge, also, to focus on the principle that is at stake, not the person, but on the idea that is controversial, not the motive of the individual speaking. We, also, are concerned with the challenges facing us that, though, we will certainly represent our differences of opinion and vigorously oppose the things that are going forward that we think should not, but advance other ideas that we think should go forward. We also want to work with you for a resolution of these issues in a timely, fair and responsible way. Thank you very much, and we are looking forward to this session."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator West: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. Thank you, Mr. President and members of the Senate. As unaccustomed as I am to public speaking and not having prepared any remarks today, I will just wing it. First of all, I want to thank Senator Brown for her kind congratulations. I am sure that we will be able to work together. We will have many issues, just making the Senate function, let alone the political issues that often times we get involved in. You are right, we will miss Senator Snyder. Many of us developed very good friendships with him over the years. While we may have disagreed from time to time, he was a font of knowledge of the institution. I particularly respected his knowledge of the rules and his knowledge of past practices. We are going to sadly miss that.

"We are in very--I don’t want to call these difficult quarters--they are difficult quarters considering where we came from--the nice facade, very historic, very majestic Senate Chambers. I miss those Chambers. I think they really added something to our deliberation. I think we should all look forward to the time two years from now when we can go back into those Chambers. But, I don’t want to call these difficult conditions, because, you know, two years ago we were on folding chairs and folding tables in a very small committee room and we made it work. Actually, in that room, because we were so close, because we were so tight, I think we actually formed some pretty nice alliances and friendships. One thing that I have been troubled with in my tenure in the Legislature is that we don’t seem to have enough personal contact. So, we would like to do more of that this year if at all possible--where we can get to know each other--not just as adversaries across the aisle or collaborators across the aisle, but actually as personal friends.

"One, I think we won the challenge of the earthquake and two, I wasn’t there--I am sure Sid was--in Statehood, when they met on planks on the second story of a hardware store in downtown Olympia. That was before they built the first Capitol. These conditions are nothing like that. We have computer ports; we have telephones; we have microphones, so we are in pretty good shape. I know we may get catastrophic, but we shouldn’t. In consideration of that, we are probably going to have less time on the floor this year than we have in the past. We are going to come to the floor to do legislation. We are not going to come to the floor when we can avoid busy work. A lot of the working together and some of these conflicts that we anticipate that we may have over the issues, I am hoping are settled in committee. I am hoping these are settled before we ever get to the floor, where we can have the compromises necessary and hammer out good legislation that addresses the issues for the people of the state of Washington.

"We do represent a broad spectrum of ideas, but we also represent a broad spectrum of geography. Sometimes that shadows our ideas. We have a saying on our caucus wall, ‘We will attack ideas, not people.’ I am glad to hear Senator Brown, the distinguished lady from the Third District, mention that we are going to keep our debates and discussions civil, focusing on the ideas we are talking about and not the people. We also have a saying on the wall of our caucus that says, ‘If you disagree with somebody’s idea, we will attack ideas with better ideas.’ It is not enough to say that the other person has a bad idea if you don’t have ideas of your own.

"Again, as we move through this session, we are looking for solutions. We are looking for solutions to problems. Sometimes, our solutions may be different than what you would propose. Sometimes, your solutions may be different than what we might propose, but let’s work through that, so that we can get through solutions. That is what the people expect. If we are ever going to restore credibility to government, which is desperately needed, we are going to have to produce results. We can disagree; we can argue; we can be contentious; but when it is all said and done, we better have something that makes the people’s lives better in the state of Washington.

"Thank you, each and everyone of you. I look forward to working with each and everyone of you. I am sure that there are things that we can make happen, so let’s do it."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Haugen: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I would like to take this opportunity to say ‘thank you’ to all of you for your cards. They meant a lot to me. My brother died, for those of you who don’t know, my brother died on Christmas Day. It was a real sad day."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Deccio: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you for the cards and letters that you sent to my wife. She is recovering. She has advanced from a wheel chair to a walker and the next advancement is to a cane, which she will probably beat me over the head with. She is getting along fine and thank you very much from the bottom of my heart."

The Clerk of the House called the roll of the House.

The Secretary of the Senate called the roll of the Senate.

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES

The President of the Senate appointed Senator Eide, Hale, Horn and Spanel and Representatives Armstrong, Hunter, Morrell and Sharbro as a special committee to escort the State Elected Officials to the Chamber.

The President of the Senate appointed Senators Deccio and Franklin and Representatives McCoy and Newhouse as a special committee to escort Governor Gary Locke and Mrs. Locke to the Chamber.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President of the Senate welcomed and introduced the State Elected Officials: Secretary of State Sam Reed, Superintendent of Public Instruction Terry Bergeson, State Treasurer Mike Murphy, State Auditor Brian Sonntag, State Attorney General Christine Gregoire, Commissioner of Public Lands Doug Sutherland and Insurance Commissioner Mike Kreidler.
Governor Locke: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Chief Justice, distinguished Justices of the Supreme Court, members of the Consular Association, statewide elected officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, people of Washington. It's great to welcome many friends back to Olympia. I'd also like to especially welcome the new members of this Fifty-eighth Legislature. I share your pride in the opportunity to serve the people of Washington. I look forward to a productive session in which we work together across party lines to meet our state's pressing challenges, advance our vision of Washington's future, and leave at the end of the session with the people's business completed. We will be tested by difficult decisions. And I believe we have uniquely promising opportunities to advance our agenda for a better Washington.

"Today we face tough economic times. A national recession, the nation's third highest unemployment rate, and the largest deficit in the history of our state—$2.4 billion. Washington families are struggling, and uncertain about their future. We will direct such a future by focusing on what matters most. The way to get back on our feet economically is to live within our means. By sticking together and sacrificing together, we will get through these tough times."

"The results-oriented budget I have proposed is a bold response to our deficit. Nearly every state in America faces serious economic challenges, but we are the first state in the nation to tackle our problems head on by reexamining how we govern—and fundamentally changing how we govern. Our Priorities of Government approach is becoming a model for other states to follow. We exhaustively studied all that we do—examining some 1,400 state government activities. Then, like a family on a very tight budget, we sat down and looked at how we've typically spent our money. We decided how we now need to spend it to get the results we want."

"My budget proposal clearly states what we believe are the priorities of state government: education, jobs, healthy families, safe communities, and protection of vulnerable children and adults. We must all be disciplined in our approach. In preparing this proposal, I made decisions that were personally difficult. There are programs and services we will each be reluctant to see reduced or eliminated, but we must focus on our core priorities."

"The budget I've proposed will let us do what matters most without a general tax increase. A general tax increase in these tough economic times will hurt, not help, our economic recovery. The $2.4 billion dollar deficit would require a sales tax increase of over one percent. That will not help struggling families; that will not help struggling businesses. The tough choices we make today will lead us to a better, more secure tomorrow."

"Even as we make necessary reductions, we must still aggressively pursue our highest priorities—and we will. Education remains my highest priority. We are committed to building a world-class education system. Education is the key to a vital economy and a prosperous future for our children. We must continue to invest in the future—their future."

The President of the Senate welcomed and introduced Governor and Mrs. Gary Locke and instructed the committee to escort them to the rostrum.

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by the Washington Sate Patrol Color Guard.

The prayer was offered by Rabbi Michael Latz of the Temple Bnai Torah in Seattle.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT OWEN

President Owen: “The purpose of this joint session is to receive the State of the State Address from his Excellency, Governor Locke.”

The President of the Senate introduced the Honorable Gary Locke.

STATE OF STATE ADDRESS

BY GOVERNOR GARY LOCKE

The $2.4 billion dollar deficit would require a sales tax increase of over one percent.

The tough challenges we face today mean a better tomorrow. We must restore public trust in government by making the hard choices—and the right choices—choices that strongly position our state for a sustainable future—a future of stronger communities, a more vibrant economy, a healthier environment, and a continued high quality of life.

“I think of our state as a family, struggling through difficult economic times right now. Like every family, we will continue to take care of one another. We will continue to plan for the future and better times for our children and grandchildren. We will build such a future by focusing on what matters most. The way to get back on our feet economically is to live within our means. By sticking together and sacrificing together, we will get through these tough times.

“The results-oriented budget I have proposed is a bold response to our deficit. Nearly every state in America faces serious economic challenges, but we are the first state in the nation to tackle our problems head on by reexamining how we govern—and fundamentally changing how we govern. Our Priorities of Government approach is becoming a model for other states to follow. We exhaustively studied all that we do—examining some 1,400 state government activities. Then, like a family on a very tight budget, we sat down and looked at how we’ve typically spent our money. We decided how we now need to spend it to get the results we want.

“My budget proposal clearly states what we believe are the priorities of state government: education, jobs, healthy families, safe communities, and protection of vulnerable children and adults. We must all be disciplined in our approach. In preparing this proposal, I made decisions that were personally difficult. There are programs and services we will each be reluctant to see reduced or eliminated, but we must focus on our core priorities.

“The budget I’ve proposed will let us do what matters most without a general tax increase. A general tax increase in these tough economic times will hurt, not help, our economic recovery. The $2.4 billion dollar deficit would require a sales tax increase of over one percent. That will not help struggling families; that will not help struggling businesses. The tough choices we make today will lead us to a better, more secure tomorrow.

“Even as we make necessary reductions, we must still aggressively pursue our highest priorities—and we will. Education remains my highest priority. We are committed to building a world-class education system. Education is the key to a vital economy and a prosperous future for our children. We must continue to invest in the future—their future.
It is vitally important that we protect the core of education even as we make deep and painful budget cuts in other areas. That’s why fifty-six percent of the proposed budget is allocated to education. K-12 education is one of the very few areas in which we will be spending more in the upcoming biennium than in the current one.

There has been some confusion about my intentions regarding Initiative 728 and 732. I want to emphasize that my budget proposal delays—not cancels—both voter-approved initiatives. During the past two years, Initiative 728 provided $400 million to reduce class size in public schools. Under my proposal, schools will continue to receive that money during the next two years. Further enhancements will resume again in the 2005-2006 school year.

My plan also calls for the automatic cost-of-living adjustments for teachers to be reinstated beginning in 2005. I acknowledge the many teachers and supporters who are in Olympia today, rallying in support of education. I appreciate the dedication and hard work of our educators. We ask you to do so much. You are not paid enough. I wish we could do more. I remain committed to high standards, goals and expectations for achievement for every student in every school.

We must continue the gains we have made. The test scores of our students have consistently improved. We’ve seen great progress at schools like Garfield Elementary in Spokane, where the percentage of fourth graders meeting the math standards has gone from only fourteen percent to eighty-one percent in just a few years. Schools like Union Gap Elementary, where the percentage of fourth graders meeting the reading standards has gone from only twenty-one percent to seventy-four percent.

“We’ve seen reading scores climb for all grades in our state, thanks to programs like the Washington Reading Corp, which has helped 22,000 struggling readers advance in their reading skills by more than one full grade level. While test scores are on the rise, there’s a widening disparity between minority and white students. That growing achievement gap is unacceptable. A good education is a universal right and must never depend on circumstances of social or economic standing. We’ll close the gaps by reforming the Learning Assistance Program to ensure that the schools with at risk kids receive and keep the money they need. As I announced yesterday, we must also simplify and reform the WASL high school graduation requirements.”

I support a constitutional amendment to allow the passage of school levies by a simple majority of the voters. If we can build police stations, symphony halls, low-income housing and professional sports stadiums with a simple majority, then it should also be sufficient for our schools. It’s time to remove artificial distinctions between neighboring school districts. Currently, some school districts right next door to one another have vastly different levy limits. That’s not fair, and that’s why I’m proposing legislation that would allow all school districts the opportunity to ask their local voters for levies up to thirty-six percent of their levy base. That will also help those districts with high costs of living meet the needs of their teachers.

“We are honoring our commitment to education. As I said, K-12 education is one of the very few areas in which we will be spending more in the upcoming biennium than in the current one. But, we can and must do more. Building an education system where every child achieves his or her potential requires new approaches and new commitments. The structure and funding of our education system has not changed even as we have learned more about what’s needed and even as we have demanded more of our students and teachers. We must recognize that the lines we have traditionally drawn between pre-school and K-12, and between K-12 and college are artificial. Our education system must be seamless, with all components—from early learning to graduate school—working together as one. That system needs stable and dedicated funding.

“I intend to work with education and legislative leaders in establishing an Education Trust Fund to address urgent needs and reforms not covered in the education budget. We may be facing tough economic times, but education, and especially higher education, is a key part of our economic engine. I will not propose a general tax increase to fund this Trust. Rather, we will consider other funding sources such as ‘sin taxes.’

“A strong education system prepares our workforce for good, family-wage jobs. And jobs are the key to economic recovery. We must do all we can this session to create and support jobs in our state. That’s why I have a five-point plan for jobs and economic recovery. First, we will create new jobs by building a better Washington. Approving my state construction budget will mean more than 13,000 new private sector construction and other family-wage jobs during the next two years—jobs building and renovating buildings on the campuses of our colleges and universities, public schools and our prisons. Let’s approve the state construction budget as early as possible and get those family-wage jobs to the workers who need them. Let’s build a better Washington.

“Second, we must intensify our focus on trade and the jobs that trade creates. Last year, our trade missions to Japan, Korea, China and Singapore were successful in advancing trade partnerships with some of the world’s most promising markets. We returned from Japan and Korea with immediate new sales for Washington businesses. Last month we promoted Boeing airplane sales in China and promoted biotechnology in Singapore. China is already our third largest export trade partner. It is a huge market with great potential for the sale of Washington products and services and Singapore is now interested in funding biotech companies in our state. We must continue to pursue these golden opportunities to create jobs in our state.

“Third, we must continue to improve our business climate to keep our state competitive in attracting and keeping businesses. We are making exceptional progress. Over the years, we’ve reduced the B&O tax on businesses, cut red tape, and streamlined regulatory processes. The Department of Ecology has set a goal to act on ninety percent of all permits within ninety days. We’re on target to meet this goal. We approved a Safeway distribution center—the largest construction project in Safeway’s history—in less than sixty days. Indeed, in the last twelve months, three national companies chose Washington over other Northwest states for major facilities and hundreds of jobs: Safeway in Auburn, WalMart in Grandview, and Ferguson Enterprises in the Tri-Cities. I am directing that these successful practices be implemented all across our state government. These successes can and will increase.

“The fourth point in my jobs and economic recovery plan is new economic development tools. Our Constitution prohibits many incentives that other states use to attract businesses. I am proposing to add a new funding tool that will allow local governments to finance the critical infrastructure that businesses are looking for in making location and expansion decisions. Our proposal will help attract at least $400 million in private sector investment.

“The Community Economic Revitalization Board program has attracted a British Columbia manufacturing company to Blaine, a grass seed cleaning operation to Odessa, and a technology center to the Port of Chelan County. This program has created thousands of jobs for rural areas, but has lost its funding source. So, I’m submitting legislation to provide permanent funding to keep this program going. It’s a strong source of good jobs for rural families and I hope you’ll support it.

“Fifth and finally, we must continue to create jobs with investments in education, especially by supporting industries of the future like biotechnology and software. I’m proposing $20 million in higher education funding to expand enrollments at our colleges and universities by more than 1,500 students, dedicated exclusively to such high-demand fields as engineering, computer science and health care. Our state’s businesses continue to need these critical skills.

“I don’t want Washington companies to have to hire people from out-of-state to meet their needs. I want Washington citizens to have the first chance at filling these good paying jobs. We’re also providing funding to retain more than 7,200 unemployed workers. Following this five-point plan and working together will lead us to more jobs and accelerate our economic recovery.

“Of course, we need an efficient transportation system to attract and retain businesses. The transportation crisis is too important to ignore. We still need to fix our deadliest roads and highways. Making improvements to Washington’s roads, public transit, and ferries will also bring more family-wage jobs—thousands of them.

“For too many legislative sessions, we have deferred, delayed and postponed. Our state’s transportation problems must be solved here in Olympia. We will do it by working together—Democrats and Republicans. The longer we wait, the more it will cost. So, let’s get started.

“As the Competitiveness Council emphasized, a strong business climate does not mean lowering environmental standards. Just last month, businesses, environmentalists and local government announced an historic agreement to protect our shorelines. I want to thank our Attorney General Christine Gregoire for helping mediate that agreement. I’m proposing funding to implement that agreement. We can be proud that we have a rescue tug to protect our coastline and the Strait of Juan de Fuca from oil spills. Funding for that rescue tug must continue.

“Over the years, my administration has worked hard on other environmental issues critical to our state, such as salmon restoration and modernizing our water laws. I congratulate the Legislature for the great strides we’ve made, but there’s more to do. We need to help more communities fix unlit drinking water systems, and move forward on water storage projects.

“The soaring costs of medical care have exacerbated our state’s fiscal condition. We can’t handle these skyrocketing costs alone and forever at the state level. We must continue to push Congress and the Administration to provide a national solution to the nation’s health care woes. The good news is that even in these tough economic times, my budget proposal continues to fund all existing health care programs for children. We will still be among the top three or five in the nation in providing health care for our kids.

“Let’s recognize that the cost of prescription drugs is a key driver of our escalating health care costs. As a purchaser of prescription drugs, the state must implement a preferred drug list of safe, effective and affordable drugs to reduce the costs to state government. Let’s work together to extend the state’s buying power to benefit seniors and others without prescription drug coverage. I’m also proposing that we establish a new Senior Prescription Drug Information Clearinghouse. This program will help low-income seniors obtain drugs that are available free, or at low cost, from pharmaceutical companies. It will also provide information on generic drugs and discount purchasing clubs.

“As we strive to do more with less, we will continue to work hard to make state government more efficient, more effective and less costly. We’ll continue to find ways to better serve the people of our state through technology.

“Many of our agencies and their services have been rated the best in the nation, thanks to the work of state employees. Unfortunately, state government employees will feel the pain of cutbacks. The state workforce will continue to shrink—a total of 2,500 full-time jobs will be eliminated in the next twelve months. These employment reductions are necessary, but not easy.

“I deeply appreciate the hard work of our state employees. Their dedication to their jobs and to our state is remarkable and I ask for their continued dedication. State workers are the face of our government, and directly interact with our citizens. We count on state employees every day to make government work—and work well. So, on behalf of the people of Washington, I thank our state employees.

“Difficult times remind us that we cannot do everything, but we can do the things that matter most by being disciplined, creative and determined. Like any family, we can do our best to learn from hard times and plan for the future. I am proposing a constitutional amendment for a constitutionally-protected ‘rainy day fund.’ As our economy recovers, we must make every effort to protect ourselves and set aside resources to help our state the next time we experience hard times. I am confident that we will overcome our challenges. Tough decisions today will bring us a better tomorrow.

“I want a Washington known across America as ‘The Education State.’ I want a Washington where every person has ample opportunity to earn a good living and hold a family-wage job. I want a Washington that protects and takes care of its most vulnerable children and adults, a state where people feel safe and secure and part of a caring community. I want a Washington that attracts new businesses and is confidently geared toward the prosperous industries of the future. I want a Washington with an unrivaled quality of life, and a sustainable future of exceptional education, economic vitality and a healthy environment—a state where our children and grandchildren will want to live, work, and raise their families. Join me in making this happen. If we work hard, if we work together, if we make the tough choices, we will accomplish great things.

“Thank you and God bless you all.”

MOTION

At 10:31 a.m., on motion of Senator Sheahan, the Senate was declared to be at ease to retire to the Temple of Justice for a Joint Session to hear the State of the Judiciary Report.

JOINT SESSION

The President of the Senate called the Joint Session to order at 11:00 a.m. in the Supreme Court Courtroom of the Temple of Justice.

The Clerk of the House called the roll of the House.

The Secretary of the Senate called the roll of the Senate.
Good morning, and welcome to the Supreme Court of Washington. We have a very fine court and I am immensely proud of it and my colleagues. I was very honored when two years ago they elected me to serve a four-year term as Chief Justice. I can assure all of you that my colleagues and I are absolutely unified in our desire to work together with our judicial colleagues at all levels of court, to keep the promise of providing equal and quality justice to all who enter the courts of this state.

The membership of the Supreme Court has not changed very much since I addressed you two years ago. Eight of the nine justices before you now were on the court then and I think most of you are somewhat familiar with us. You may not, though, be as well acquainted with our newest member, so let me say a brief word about Justice Mary Fairhurst, who swore her oath in this courtroom on Monday of this week. Justice Fairhurst comes to our court from Attorney General Gregoire’s office where she served for sixteen years as an Assistant Attorney General, most recently as the Chief of the very important Revenue, Bankruptcy and Collections Division. Justice Fairhurst is a former president of the Washington State Bar Association, only the third justice in the long history of this court to have served in that important position prior to coming to this court. Interestingly, Justice Tom Chambers who sits next to her on the bench was the second former Washington State Bar Association president to come to this court.

Although it has been extensively reported, it bears repeating that Justice Fairhurst’s entry onto the Supreme Court alters the gender balance of the court for the first time in our state’s one hundred-fourteen year history, and, as I said at the induction ceremony, this is an historic event. You may recall that two years ago I told you that when Justice Owens took the oath a few days before my address to you, our court instantly had more women among its membership than any Supreme Court of the fifty states. We still enjoy that distinction, but we also have a majority of women, a distinction that is shared only by the Ohio Supreme Court. Please join me in thanking Justice Fairhurst to the Washington Supreme Court.

"Whenever a new person comes on the court, it is a happy occasion, but it is always accompanied by a tinge of sadness. That is because when someone new comes on the court that means that a veteran has left to create the opening. So, as happy as we are to welcome Justice Fairhurst, we will still miss our friend and colleague, Justice Charles Z. Smith, at our conference table. I have asked Justice Smith to be here today and I would like him to stand so that you can join me in thanking him for his fifty plus years of devoted service to the people of the state of Washington, as a justice, judge, educator, prosecutor, news commentator, civil rights pioneer, and in countless other activities--Justice Smith.

"Let me now, in my capacity as this state’s fifty-second chief justice, speak to you about the state of Washington’s justice system. I feel comfortable telling you, as I did two years ago, that our justice system is in relatively good shape. The system is not perfect, to be sure, but the judicial branch is managing to hold its head above water despite the many and increasing demands that have been placed upon it. This would not be true, of course, without the hard work and ingenuity of the judicial officers of this state and the many dedicated employees of the judicial branch, including the excellent elected and appointed county clerks in each of our counties.

"I can’t begin to convey to you the depth of my admiration for the outstanding work of the two hundred-seventeen full and part-time judges of our district and municipal courts who hold forth in the towns, cities, and counties of our state and who manage caseloads made heavy with over two million filings each year. Our one hundred-seventy-five superior court judges are equally dedicated and hard working, managing to stay on top of caseloads that are enriched each year by over a quarter of a million new filings in those courts located in every county of our state. Collectively, our two levels of trial court entertain approximately one case filing for every 2.5 citizens each year--cases that run the gamut from parking citations to aggravated first degree murder, and from small claims to cases that involve millions and, in some cases, billions of dollars and significant public issues.

"I also feel very proud of our two levels of appellate courts. I have already made reference to the court on which I sit, the Supreme Court. Let me brag a bit about our State Court of Appeals, that workhorse court which sits in three divisions and doesn’t get near the credit that it deserves. Unlike the Supreme Court, it is without discretion to decline an appeal--it must take all cases that are ripe for review. In 2002, that court managed to maintain its tradition of staying current despite an influx of approximately 4,200 appeals, personal restraint petitions, and other petitions.

"I wish I could have invited every judicial officer in the state to be here today, but, obviously, space limitations wouldn’t permit that and besides, as you can tell from my remarks, they have work to do at home. I did, though, ask a few judges to be here to represent all of our state’s judges--allow me to introduce them to you. Representing the district and municipal court judges, one of our state’s very fine young judges, Judge Stephen Dwyer, of the Snohomish County District Court. Judge Dwyer is president of the District and Municipal Court Judges’ Association. Representing the Superior Courts, we have one of the state’s most energetic judges, King County Superior Court Judge Deborah Fleck. Judge Fleck is president of the Superior Court Judges’ Association. Representing the twenty-three judges of our Court of Appeals, a veteran judge and old friend, Judge John Schultheis, from Division Three in Spokane. He is presiding Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals.

"Let me take just a few minutes to describe to you some of the really positive things that have taken place in the judicial branch since I addressed you two years ago. Frankly, it is hard to know where to begin because there is so much energy and creativity out there in the field. Consequently, I am just going to scratch the surface.

"I will start by saying that one of our proudest accomplishments was gaining passage of Engrossed Senate Joint Resolution No. 8208. As you know, that constitutional amendment provides our hard-pressed superior court jurisdictions with greater flexibility in harnessing the assistance of elected judges from other levels of court as judges pro tem when those courts are faced with backlog problems. Of course, we would never have achieved this important reform without the support of the Fifty-seventh Legislature, of which most of you were a part. That Legislature passed, what was then a proposed constitutional amendment, and sent it to the people and gave it a large boost with over a two-thirds vote in each house. The people then approved the measure in November of 2001, by an almost seventy percent affirmative vote, the highest affirmative vote given to any ballot measure that year.

"I can tell you that this amendment, which we in the judiciary refer to as the ‘portability of judges’ amendment, is working well and is helping jurisdictions keep on top of ever increasing caseloads without having to ask you in the Legislature to increase the number of judgeships. For example, in the King County Superior Court, our state’s largest superior court jurisdiction, that court is utilizing the service of elected judges from other levels, primarily the King County District Court, to the tune of 4.1 full-time equivalents. That has been a life saver for that busy court, but the life ring could disappear if the number of district court judges for that county is reduced, as some have suggested.

"I am proud to report to you on the progress we have made toward revising our time for trial rules for criminal cases--the so-called ‘speedy trial’ rules. You may recall that these rules, which apply to all criminal cases in superior court and courts of limited jurisdiction, came to the attention of the 2002 Session of the Legislature, when the rules came under some criticism. You may recall that I thereafter appeared before a Committee of the House of Representatives and indicated that even though we had not received any recommendations for modification of these rules in recent years, we were willing to look at the rules from top to bottom to see if they should be modified in light of the concerns that were then being expressed.

"The Supreme Court immediately followed up on that promise and appointed a broad-based task force to examine the rules. Four legislators, two from the House and two from the Senate, served on that task force, which was chaired by Professor David Boerner of the Seattle University Law School, a former King County Deputy Prosecutor. We received the report of the task force this past October together with suggested revisions to the rules. The Supreme Court then asked the Board for Judicial Administration, which is the policy setting body for the entire court system, to consider the task force proposal and give us the benefit of their recommendations. We felt this was important because two-thirds of the membership of that board are trial judges, and it is our trial judges who are ultimately responsible for assuring compliance with the time for trial rules. That board will consider the proposal for the second time at its meeting on January 24, after which it will send its recommendations on to our court. I can tell you, speaking for myself, that the task force did a fine job in drafting rules that appear to be designed to preserve the values of the current rule--which is moving criminal cases through the system promptly--while at the same time providing trial judges with greater flexibility in managing their caseloads and dealing with
I am confident that the Supreme Court will take action on the task force’s proposal before this legislative session is completed.

“I wish time permitted me to expand at length about the continued expansion of our so-called problem solving courts. I’m speaking of our drug courts, mental illness courts, and domestic violence courts. The drug courts, in particular, have been hugely successful in employing tough love to resurrect the lives of many of our young people who had literally reached bottom due to drug dependency. I am pleased to tell you that while two years ago we had drug courts in twelve of our counties, we now have them in fourteen counties and more are on the way.

“I wish also that time permitted me to go into detail about the court rule we enacted since I last addressed you that tightens up the qualifications that court appointed counsel must have in order to represent a person charged with a capital offense. Let me simply say that we now have the strictest rules in the nation and, again thanks to the Fifty-seventh Legislature, the Office of Public Defense had funds which enabled it to provide training to interested attorneys so that we could enlarge the pool of counsel deemed qualified in cases where the death penalty is sought.

“Finally, let me tell you very briefly about the rule the Supreme Court adopted very recently requiring all judicial officers in this state, from municipal court judges up to and including Supreme Court justices, to obtain the same number of continuing education credit hours as attorneys have been required to obtain. This rule also requires each judge, justice, or court commissioner to attend our State Judicial College within one year of assuming office. On Monday, I spoke to the judges who are just now attending our week long Judicial College in Tacoma. I am pleased to inform you that there were about sixty judges in attendance, the largest attendance ever in the long history of the college.

“Now if up to this point I sound a bit like a Pollyanna, I must plead guilty. As I have said, I am immensely proud of the many accomplishments that I have told you about and many more that I have not mentioned. At the same time I must again say that our justice system is not perfect. There is no institution that has been created by humans that can’t be made better and we recognize that in the judicial branch. We are, therefore, committed to making improvements and that is what I would like to discuss with you now very briefly. Again, I won’t permit me to discuss all of our goals with you. Let me, if I may, mention three, and then close by telling you about one goal in progress.

“First, we are requesting the creation of five additional superior court judgeships, and one additional district court judgeship. It has been four years since the number of superior courts in this state was increased and despite the best efforts of our judges, the caseloads in some jurisdictions have expanded to the point where new judges are needed. We are requesting two additional superior court judges and one additional district court judge for Clark County, the state’s fastest growing county. We are asking for one additional superior court judge for the Benton-Franklin County joint judicial district, and one each in Kittitas and Kitsap Counties.

“Next, let me advise you that the judiciary is asking the Legislature to increase funding for our state’s judicial information system. We have, for a number of years, been fortunate in Washington to have one of the most efficient judicial information systems in the nation, one that has truly been a model for other states. Unfortunately, the system has to some extent become a victim of its own success. While it was a state of the art system twenty years ago, it is now underfunded and not entirely prepared for the internet revolution. Our Judicial Information System Committee, which is chaired by Justice Bridge, has compared our system to an eight track tape system, an aging relic that costs too much to maintain. We need to invest in the Judicial Information Committee because judges, prosecutors, and law enforcement officers all over the state rely on it for information that they use in making decisions. We are in danger of losing this system and we hope that you will make certain that this does not happen. Because we know that money is scarce, our Administrative Office of the Courts has reduced its staff by over six percent to absorb a portion of the cost of the upgrades. Fortunately, the Judicial Information Committee has a dedicated funding source, the State’s Public Safety and Education account, and we are asking that you appropriate additional dollars from this account in order to complete the upgrading of the Judicial Information Committee.

“Let me next speak to you about a very great problem that the poor and vulnerable people of this state face. It is an increasing inability to obtain legal assistance in civil matters. Frankly, this has been a problem for some time, but it has become more acute in recent years what with dwindling support of civil legal services for the poor coming from the public purse. Indeed, it has been estimated that our state’s dedicated legal services providers, both full-time and volunteers, are able to serve only a small percentage of the needs of our indigent citizens. The Supreme Court and the other courts of this state have been concerned about this for some time, and in November 2001, our concerns resulted in the Supreme Court creating a Task Force on Civil Equal Justice Funding. It is chaired by Justice Charles Johnson and has among its broad membership four members of the Legislature. That task force has been charged with overseeing a comprehensive study of the legal needs of the poor and vulnerable in Washington and developing a plan for long term, sustained and permanent state funding for essential legal services for the poor.

“Unfortunately, since the task force began its work, the circumstances that prompted creation of the task force worsened. In February 2002, the Governor eliminated so-called TANF funding that had been previously committed for civil equal justice services. Although the Fifty-seventh Legislature thankfully restored $1.5 million of the $2.4 million dollar cut, the loss of $900,000 meant that our state’s two principal legal services providers, Columbia Legal Services and Northwest Justice Project, have had to reduce staff. These offices now have twenty fewer attorneys than they had in 1999. On top of that, low interest rates and reduced business activity has caused a decline in IOLTA revenue of about $1.2 million dollars annually.

“In light of this bad news, the task force made an interim recommendation to the Supreme Court, asking us to support legislation that would place a $90 surcharge on the superior court civil filing fee. This would raise the fee to $200. They recommended that the split of the surcharge be in the same proportion that it is now—fifty-four percent to the county general fund and forty-six percent to the state, with the state portion being earmarked for a newly created equal justice account. The Supreme Court has approved this recommendation, as did the Board for Judicial Administration and the Washington State Bar Association. We commend it to you. Some might say, why should we support this when we face tough financial times? Well times are tough, as we heard last night, but it seems to me in America where we rejoice in the fact that we are a nation devoted to the rule of law, we should not ration access to justice. This week, we have all pledged allegiance to our flag and said these familiar words, ‘Liberty and Justice for all.’ We should not make those words hollow by taking action that would say, ‘Justice is only for those who can afford it.’
“I indicated that I would mention a goal in progress. I will close with that. Many of us have been concerned in recent years about the manner in which our trial courts are funded. As you know, the great bulk of funding for both levels of our trial courts is provided by local government. This is not all bad as a concept, because it results in decentralized administration of our trial courts. I, for one, endorse that idea. On the other hand, local governments are, as we know, experiencing increasing difficulties in providing support for the courts and other components of the justice system. Furthermore, the degree to which local government is able to support the courts varies widely throughout the state.

“Consequently, there is growing interest in exploring the question of whether the state government should share a greater portion of the expense of what is really a state court system. You might be interested to know that currently, the state government of Washington pays the lowest percentage of the cost of its trial courts of any state government in the Union—in many states, the costs of trial courts are shared on about a fifty-fifty basis.

“To address this issue, we have created yet another task force and have charged it with looking at the issue from top to bottom and making recommendations as to the fairest and most efficient way to fund our state’s courts. Like the other task forces it has representatives from both houses of the Legislature. It is chaired by a very distinguished lawyer, a former president of the Washington State Bar Association, Wayne Blair, and I am happy to introduce Mr. Blair. We plan to report to you at your next session as to the findings and recommendations of that body.

“There is a lot more I could say. I understand that you may be considering sentencing issues this session as well as other issues on which the judges of this state are knowledgeable. I can assure you that the judges of this state and the Administrative Office of the Courts stand ready to give you the benefit of our views on these subjects whenever you deem it to be beneficial to you.

“Let me close by thanking all of you for your service to the state of Washington and for your willingness to listen to the report on the State of the Judiciary. Thank you and best wishes.”

The President of the Senate thanked Chief Justice Alexander for his interesting and informative report to the Legislature.

The President of the Senate asked the special committee to escort the state elected officials from the courtroom.

APPLES IMPORTED BY COMMISSION MERCHANTS

December 31, 2002

Prepared by Jerry Buendel
Commission Merchants Program Manager
Washington State Department of Agriculture

Background

The Commission Merchants Program was established to protect producers, buyers and sellers of agricultural products against illegal business practices. Chapter 20.01 RCW, Agriculture Products–Commission Merchants, Dealers, Brokers, Buyers, Agents, was first enacted in 1959. The statute gives the Department of Agriculture the authority to regulate individuals and businesses that receive on consignment, take possession or control of or act as brokers in the resale or processing of unprocessed agricultural products, i.e. Commission Merchants. The department regulates individuals and businesses through licensing and bonding. The program investigates complaints from consignors and carries out enforcement activities. Funding for the Commission Merchants Program is provided solely through license fees and other charges.

The Washington State Department of Agriculture (WSDA) was directed by the 2002 Legislature, under Chapter 235, Laws of 2002, to require each Commission Merchant handling apples imported into the United States between January 1, 2002, and November 30, 2002, to report the volume of each variety of imported apples that was received by and packed and sold by the Commission Merchant by December 15, 2002. WSDA was to compile the information and provide a report to the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives by December 31, 2002.

WSDA tasked the Commission Merchants Program to gather and report the information. The program office, after coordinating with stakeholder associations, devised a form and method to collect the required information.

Results
Commission Merchants reported selling 3.09 million boxes of imported apples in the 11-month period of January 1 to November 30, 2002. Businesses reported importing 23 different varieties of apples, with Braeburn, Fuji and Royal Gala accounting for 70 percent of the imported apples.

Table 1 provides a breakout of the volume of imported apples by variety reported by those licensed as Commission Merchants. The apples were reported in 42-pound equivalent units, the approximate weight of a box of apples.

MESSAGES FROM STATE OFFICES

The Washington State Auditor’s Office has submitted the following reports, all for the Audit Period July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002:

AUDIT SUMMARY
University of Washington
July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002

ABOUT THE AUDIT
This report contains the results of our independent audit of the University of Washington for the period July 1, 2001, through June 30, 2002. Our work focused on determining whether the University complied with state laws and regulations and federal grant requirements. We evaluated internal controls established by management. We also performed audit procedures on specific areas that have potential for abuse and misuse of public resources.

RESULTS
University officials have designed internal controls to achieve objectives in three categories: effectiveness of operations, including performance goals and safeguarding of resources; reliability of financial report; and compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

In general, the University’s internal controls allow officials to effectively operate the University and safeguard its resources. In most areas we examined, the University of Washington complied with state and federal laws and regulations and its own policies and procedures. We did not identify any conditions significant enough to report as a finding. However, we noted some issues that we communicated to University management.

RELATED REPORTS
A report on the University’s compliance with federal assistance program requirements is included in the State of Washington Single Audit Report.

A report on the University’s compliance with laws and regulations and the adequacy of its internal controls is included in the State of Washington Accountability Report.

The University’s financial information is also included in the State of Washington Comprehensive Annual Financial Report issued by the Office of Financial Management.

CLOSING REMARKS

ABOUT THE AUDIT
This report contains the results of our audit of the Washington State Dry Pea and Lentil Commission for the period July 1, 2001, through June 30, 2002.

The audit was performed by a certified public accounting firm through a contract with our Office. Our office reviewed the work done by the firm to determine whether the Commission complied with state laws and regulations and established adequate internal controls. In keeping with general auditing practices, the firm did not examine every portion of the Commission’s financial activities during the audit. The audit focused on the Commission’s compliance with the Open Public Meetings Act, budget requirements and the overall legality of the Commission’s expenditures. Also audited were the financial statements and internal controls over cash and investments as established by Commission management.

ABOUT THE COMMISSION
The Commission was created by the Washington Agricultural Enabling Act of 1961. The Commission was formed to enable producers of dry peas and/or lentils to establish orderly, fair, sound, efficient and unhampered marketing, grading and standardization of dry peas and/or lentils and in promoting and increasing the sale of these commodities.

A nine-member Board governs the Commission. Seven members are producers elected from their respective Districts. The dealer processors elect one member, and one member is appointed by the Director of the Washington Department of Agriculture to represent the Department and public.

The Commission is funded by assessments that are levied upon dry peas and lentils sold in Washington. The Commission operates on an annual budget of approximately $250,000.

RELATED REPORTS
Our opinion on the Commission’s financial statements for fiscal year 2002 is provided in a separate report, which includes the Commission’s financial statements.

RESULTS
The Commission generally complied with states laws in the areas examined and established adequate internal controls over cash and investments. The Commission’s financial statements were complete and accurate.

We thank Commission officials and personnel for their assistance and cooperation throughout the audit.

The State Auditor’s Summary of The Washington State Dry Pea and Lentil Commission is on file in the Office of the Secretary of the Senate.

STATUS OF AUTOMATED TRAFFIC SAFETY CAMERA PILOT PROJECTS

Washington Traffic Safety Commission
Report to the Legislature
Executive Summary
January 13, 2003

The 2001 Transportation Budget Bill contained a proviso authorizing the Washington Traffic Safety Commission to oversee pilot projects implementing the use of automated traffic safety camera (cameras). Limitations were placed on use of cameras, requiring, for example, the cameras to photograph only the vehicle and vehicle license. The owner of the vehicle was responsible for the infraction. Traffic infractions captured by the cameras were not to become part of the owner’s driving record. Law enforcement was also required to notify its citizens of the locations where the cameras were used.
The cities of Spokane, Tacoma, Vancouver, Seattle and Lakewood applied to become part of these pilot projects. Because of budget problems and the costs associated with starting the projects, the city of Lakewood was the only jurisdiction that actually got a pilot project up-and-running. Lakewood installed four cameras to detect red light running at two high-violation intersections. Between July 2001 and June 2002, violations at those intersections decreased by 54.1%, 45.4%, 74.2% and 85.5%. Lakewood also used cameras for speed enforcement in many of its twenty-seven school zones, with emphasis on those school zones on high-volume, high-speed arterials. The cameras record 16.29 violations per hour in those locations. In July 2002, Lakewood began residential speed control, recording an average of 6.94 violations per hour of enforcement.

Although the enforcement numbers were excellent, the city of Lakewood sustained substantial costs from use of the cameras. Besides the costs of adjudicating the tickets, which required hiring four additional clerks in the municipal court, and the on-going costs to the vendor for use of the equipment, the city found that the revenue generated by the tickets was statutorily required to be split with the state. Under this distribution, the city did not generate sufficient revenue to cover its costs.

Despite this drawback, local jurisdictions are interested in pursuing this technology to promote safety, prevent collisions, and to provide an affordable response to an issue that is very important to its citizens.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL AND HEALTH SERVICES

Division of Developmental Disabilities

PO Box 45310 - Olympia, WA 98504-5310

January 21, 2003

Dear Interested Party,

The Developmental Disabilities Strategies for the Future Stakeholder Workgroup (SWG), established in 1997, completed their work with the delivery to the Legislature of the Strategies for the Future Long-Range Plan Report Phase 3: Final Report. The SWG worked with the Division of Developmental Disabilities (DDD) for almost six years developing recommendations on future directions and strategies for service delivery improvement for people with developmental disabilities and their families. The SWG was a group of twenty people representing the varying interests of self-advocates, service providers, counties, labor, community advocates and RHC advocates. Each member participated with a desire to offer assistance to the division in improving and monitoring the supports and delivery of services needed by people with developmental disabilities. The effort resulted in many significant recommendations for a service system where individual choice and self-determination would be the cornerstone for future decisions.

I am pleased to provide you with copies of the three reports.
The first report titled The Strategies for the Future Long-Range Plan Report Phase 1: 1999-2000 was delivered to the Legislature on December 1, 1998. It describes the approach that the SWG and DDD recommended to restructure the system around individual/family choice and self-determination.

Strategies for the Future Long-Range Plan Report Phase II: 2001-2003 was sent to the Legislature on December 1, 2000. This report represented the efforts of four workgroups (consisting of more than one hundred-twenty stakeholders) who met for fourteen months to give their perspective, skills and passions to a plan for building a better system. Their work resulted in seventy-four recommendations to the SWG and DDD for system change.

The third report, Strategies for the Future Long-Range Plan Report Phase 3: Final Report was completed on December 1, 2002. It makes recommendations on the implementation of self-directed services and on the respective roles of RHCs and community support services.

The three reports taken together provide important information for future budget and policy decisions regarding developmental disabilities services in Washington State. The department will continue to build upon the work accomplished by the Strategies for the Future Stakeholder Workgroup, as represented in these three reports.

If you would like additional copies or require an alternate format, please contact Linda Johnson, by phone, 306-902-0200 or by email, johnls@dshs.wa.gov.

All three reports are available on the DDD website under Stakeholder Workgroup, http://www1.dshs.wa.gov/ddd/stakehold.shtml.

Yours sincerely,
Linda Rolfe,
Director, Division of Developmental Disabilities

AUDIT REPORT

Washington State Barley Commission
July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002

ABOUT THE AUDIT

This report contains the results of our independent audit of the Washington State Barley Commission for the period July 1, 2001, through June 30, 2002.

The audit was performed by a certified public accounting firm through a contract with our office. Our office reviewed the work done by the firm to determine whether the Commission complied with state laws and regulations and established adequate internal controls. In keeping with general auditing practices, the firm did not examine every portion of the Commission’s financial activities during the audit. The audit focused on the Commission’s compliance with the Open Public Meetings Act, conflict of interest requirements, budget requirements and the overall legality of the Commission’s expenditure. Also audited were the financial statements and internal controls over cash and investments as established by Commission management.

ABOUT THE COMMISSION

The Commission was created by the Washington Agricultural Enabling Act of 1955. The purpose of the Commission is to:
Establish plans and conduct programs for advertising and sales promotion of barley.
Maintain present and create new or larger markets for barley growers.
Carry on research studies to find more efficient methods or production, processing, handling and marketing of barley.
Provide for improving standards and grades of barley by defining, establishing and providing labeling requirements.

The Commission is governed by an elected seven-member Board of Commissioners and funded by assessments levied on barley sold in Washington. The Commission employs two people and operates on an annual budget of approximately $580,000.

RELATED REPORTS
Our opinion on the Commission’s financial statements for fiscal year 2002 is provided in a separate report, which includes the Commission’s financial statements.

RESULTS
The Commission complied with state laws in the areas examined and established adequate internal controls over cash and investments. In addition, the Commission’s financial statements were complete and accurate.

We thank Commission officials and personnel for their assistance and cooperation throughout the audit.

The State Auditor’s Independent Audit of the State Barley Commission is on file in the Office of the Secretary of the Senate.

AUDIT SUMMARY
Washington State University
July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002

ABOUT THE AUDIT
This report contains the results of our accountability audit of Washington State University for the period July 1, 2001, through June 30, 2002.

We performed audit procedures to determine whether the University complied with state laws and regulations, its own policies and procedures, and federal grant requirements. Our work focused on specific areas that have potential for abuse and misuse of public resources. Audit procedures performed included an evaluation of internal controls established by management.

RESULTS
In most areas we examined, the University complied with state laws and regulations and its own policies and procedures. In general, the University’s internal controls allow officials to effectively operate the University and safeguard its assets. These internal controls are designed to safeguard University assets; check the accuracy and reliability of accounting data; promote operations efficiency; and encourage adherence to applicable policies.

We noted certain issues we communicated to University management. We appreciate the University’s commitment to resolving these issues.

RELATED REPORTS
Our opinion on the state’s general purpose financial statements is expressed in the Washington State Comprehensive Annual Financial Report issued by the Office of Financial Management. In providing that opinion, we reviewed certain University account balances considered material to the state.

In addition, the report on compliance with federal requirements is provided within the State of Washington Single Audit Report.

We also provide an opinion of the University’s financial statements, which will be provided in a separate report. This report is issued by the University on an annual basis and includes the University’s financial statements and other required financial information.

CLOSING REMARKS
The Office of Administration, Business Affairs, Provost and Academic Vice President, Internal Audit, and Controller are committed to establishing strong internal controls and ensuring compliance with legal requirements in this highly complex organization. Safeguarding assets was a major focus of our audit. We reviewed how various colleges, units and departments established internal controls related to cash receipting, payroll, purchasing cards, and property and merchandise inventory. During the current audit, University management continued to strengthen policies and guidelines related to internal controls. These guidelines were formalized in the Business Policies and Procedures Manual. In addition, the importance of these guidelines was communicated in meetings to deans, administrative managers of all University colleges and administrative units. We believe this should increase awareness of the need for sufficient internal controls to reduce the potential for fraud and abuse.

We appreciate the University’s commitment to establishing strong internal controls and ensuring compliance in a highly decentralized organization. We thank University management and personnel for their assistance and cooperation during the audit.

The State Auditor’s Summary for Washington State University is on file in the Office of the Secretary of the Senate.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE
Senator McCaslin: “A point of personal privilege, Madam President. Well, I want to welcome Senator Doumit, who passed out--pardón the expression--fish. I wanted a whole one. Now, we know that he is a cheap skate. Obviously, you have heard about our long-standing rule about a freshman’s first speech. That is what he called it. It is a speech and you have to pass out a gift. I just want to warn the Democratic Caucus to be very careful. I understand that he is one of eleven children, so if you are not nice to him, you could lose ten votes to the Republicans. But, I doubt it seriously.

“As one of the shorter members in the Senate, I want to congratulate you, because we have three caucuses--Republican, Democrat and the short member’s caucus. In fact, I haven’t seen you stand too much, but you might make President. People have been telling me about your endeavors. You were a farmer; you were or are a commercial fisherman. Then you were a County Commissioner; then you were in the House of Representatives; and now you are in the Senate. Can’t you hold a steady job? I just want to tell the Republicans--they want me to sit down and shut up--but I just want to tell the Republicans that we would have lunch if they hadn’t had so many amendments. Then, of course, you guys had to respond to each one of their amendments. So, don’t blame me for missing lunch. Senator Doumit, we welcome you with open arms and we look forward to working with you. We know you will be an excellent member, so congratulations on being a Senator.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Doumit: “A point of personal privilege, Madam President. Thank you, Madam President, and thank you, Senator McCaslin. My only recommendation is to eat the fish right away or freeze it or put it in the refrigerator.”

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5001, by Senators Zarelli, McCaslin, Kastama, T. Sheldon, Carlson, Esser and Sheahan

Revising the felon-murder statute.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTION

On motion of Senator McCaslin, the rules were suspended, Senate Bill No. 5001 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator McCaslin: “Senator Zarelli, what is the ‘merger doctrine’ and has the Washington State Supreme Court ever considered adoption of the merger doctrine in relation to second degree felony murder?

Senator Zarelli: “The merger doctrine is a rule of statutory construction for determining if the Legislature intended to impose only one punishment for multiple crimes. The doctrine only applies when there is clear Legislature intent to do so. There was no such legislative intent in this case and there is none now.

“In 1978, Justice Horowitz stated that the adoption of the merger doctrine by the court in the case of second degree felony murder would be, and I am quoting the court here: ‘An unwarranted and insupportable invasion of the legislative function in defining crimes.’ This is exactly what the present Supreme Court decision has now done.”

Senator McCaslin: “Is this amendment to the second degree murder statute meant to be retroactive?”

Senator Zarelli: “Yes, absolutely. The Washington Supreme Court has indicated in the past that in order for a statute to be applied retroactively, the amendment must be remedial, curative in nature, and the Legislature must clearly indicate its intention to apply the statute retroactively. Today’s amendment is clearly intended only to cure the court’s misinterpretation of legislative intent and reemphasize that assault is and always has been a predicate offense for second degree felony murder.

“Today, we are also urging the court to retroactively apply the Legislature’s original and continuing intent to include assault as a predicate offense for second degree felony murder.”

Senator McCaslin: “Thank you, Senator Zarelli.”

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 5001.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 5001 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 49; Nays, 0; Absent, 0; Excused, 0.

SENATE BILL NO. 5001, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill will stand as the title of the act.

MOTION
On motion of Senator Schmidt, the following resolution was adopted:

SENATE RESOLUTION 8606

By Senators Schmidt, Roach, Rasmussen, Hale, Johnson, Carlson, Honeyford, B. Sheldon, Regala, Fraser, Brown, Zarelli, Benton, Shin, T. Sheldon, Eide, McAuliffe, Mulkien, Spanel, Stevens and Kohl-Welles

WHEREAS, Over eight thousand men and women of the Washington National Guard comprised of Air National Guard and Army National Guard continue to serve the country as Guardians of American interests at home and abroad; and

WHEREAS, These recognized leaders in state, regional, and national preparedness, who reside in every legislative district throughout Washington, volunteer their time and personal efforts to serve the needs of the people of Washington State; and

WHEREAS, The Washington National Guard continues to be prepared to answer the state's call in response to floods, fires, civil disturbances, and all other natural or manmade emergencies and disasters; and

WHEREAS, The Washington National Guard has provided additional security at our state's airports, at our international borders, during the 2002 Winter Olympic Games, and at numerous locations across the globe, in protection of our state and nation in answer to the war on terrorism and response to the horrific terrorist attacks on our nation September 11, 2001; and

WHEREAS, The Washington National Guard continues its promoting of positive lifestyles and activities for Washington's youth through involvement and support in highly effective drug prevention programs with school-aged children and community-based organizations; and

WHEREAS, The Washington National Guard continues an active participation in the state's counterdrug efforts by providing soldiers, airmen, and specialized equipment in support of many local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies. The dedication of these men and women last year contributed to hundreds of drug-related arrests and seizures and the destruction of millions of dollars of illegal drugs; and

WHEREAS, The Washington National Guard adds value to communities by opening armories for public use, assistance to food banks, and other community and youth activities. The Washington National Guard continues to build upon these readiness centers/armories throughout the state to enhance education, add to quality of life, and increase economic vitality; and

WHEREAS, Select members and units of the Washington National Guard are now serving throughout the world in critical missions, supporting the nation in the war on terrorism with dedication, valor, and courage, and at great personal risk and sacrifice;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Senate express its thanks and appreciation to the devoted families and dedicated employers of our Washington National Guard soldiers and airmen for their support, without which the Washington National Guard’s missions could not be successful; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Senate specifically and particularly recognize the value and dedication of a strong Washington National Guard to the viability, economy, safety, security, and well-being of this state. This is accomplished through the outstanding performance of its state emergency and disaster relief missions and through the continued benefit to local communities by the presence of productively employed, drug-free, and well-equipped and trained Guard units and the readiness center/armories that house them; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Adjutant General of the Washington National Guard, the Governor of the state of Washington, the Secretaries of the Army and Air Force, and the President of the United States.

Senators Schmidt, Poulsen and Betti Sheldon spoke to Senate Resolution 8606.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: “A point of personal privilege Madam President. I know, just relax everyone, we will get to lunch. I am a little ashamed. Everyone got a gift from the vote of Senator Mark Doumit and I got one from your friendly new Senator Dave Schmidt. I sent out an e-mail to all the Senators informing them of your maiden speech. Here are some of the replies: ‘Don’t worry, it won’t be his last; It is only the beginning. There will be more.’ Twenty-two said, ‘Who is Schmidt?’ One of them said, ‘Is he the guy on Seinfeld, who calls himself George Costanza?’ They must not watch the program. Otherwise, they would be laughing more than you folks. But, welcome to the Senate, Senator Schmidt. Get together with Mark. Is it Mark? I shouldn’t say that. I should say, ‘Senator Doumit–not Doumit.’ Anyway, welcome.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schmidt: “Thank you, Madam President. A point of personal privilege. To the fine Senator Hargrove, you may not be able to eat it, but if you win what is in there, the question is, ‘Are you going to give it back to the State General Fund?’ We are scratching lotto tickets for a few extra dollars this year, folks. Good luck.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Sheahan: “Madam President, a point of personal privilege. Before we adjourn and go to lunch, very, very quickly. We have one of our Senate family that is going to retire. Sue LaVack, who has worked in the Senate for many, many years and is leaving us very soon. I know that we have all enjoyed working with her, because she is the one that makes sure that we get our pay check—which is very important. She has done a wonderful job for us; she has worked in the Senate for twenty-three years and a total of twenty-nine for the state of Washington. She has been an excellent servant of the people of the state and an excellent servant to the people of the Senate. I just wanted to rise to wish her well and to pass along our best wishes.”

The President Pro Tempore introduced and thanked Sue LaVack, who was seated in the back of the chamber.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Spanel: “A point of personal privilege. I, too, want to say ‘thank you’ to Sue for her long years of service. As time goes on, there is a rotation of Senators and other employees and some of the old leave and that. I think a lot of us always rely on staff to have a lot of the knowledge that we have to learn over the years. With her leaving, she is the last of the long-terms in the accounting office. That is a great loss to the Senate—that you are now going to go off to Spring Training, instead of writing our checks. I hope you have trained your successors well. I know the ones that I have dealt with are doing a good job. You leave a lot of that institutional memory; you are taking it with you. Pass it on. Do you have one more day or two more days? Two more days--make sure you pass it on.

“I just thank you for always being helpful and being loyal to the Senate--trustworthy and all those good things that you have done to help us out. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Sheahan: “A point of personal privilege, Madam President. Before we adjourn, I just want to thank and congratulate you, Madam President, for the wonderful job that you have done today. I would ask the whole Senate to give her a round of applause. I know you have been here many years, but it is different being up there on the podium. I just really commend you for your great job.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

President Pro Tempore Winsley: “Well, thank you. I didn’t realize this was that difficult on the feet.”

MOTION

At 12:43 p.m., on motion of Senator Sheahan, the Senate adjourned until 12:00 noon, Thursday, January 30, 2003.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hewitt: “A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. Well, members, you may have noticed that I am the only one from my caucus that is sitting on this side of the aisle. That was by choice, I might add. I have had some concerns since I have moved over here and I would like to share those with the body, if I could. First, we put Altoids on the desk for Senator Hargrove, but I would like to remind the good Senator from the Third District, who is also the minority leader that just because I am sitting here doesn’t count twenty-five. So, that is observation number one. The second is that the debate in my caucus is who is going to rub off on who with the Senator from the Twenty-fourth District? Well, my last concern and probably my biggest concern is that I am sitting right in front of the good Senator from the Thirty-seventh District. So, when he gives one of his less than conservative speeches on the floor, I am going to apologize in advance, because I will be moving because I will be on TV with him. There is no possible way that I can have my face on TVW with the Senator from the Thirty-seventh District. I apologize in advance and thank you for listening.”

MOTION

At 10:39 a.m., on motion of Senator Sheahan, the Senate adjourned until 12:00 noon, Thursday, February 6, 2003.

(See 1. RCW 34.05.320 and 1995 c 403 s 302 are each amended to read as follows:
1) At least twenty days before the rule-making hearing at which the agency receives public comment regarding adoption of a rule, the agency shall cause notice of the hearing to be published in the state register. The publication constitutes the proposal of a rule. The notice shall include all of the following:
(a) A title, a description of the rule’s purpose, and any other information which may be of assistance in identifying the rule or its purpose;
(b) Citations of the statutory authority for adopting the rule and the specific statute the rule is intended to implement;
(c) A summary of the rule and a statement of the reasons supporting the proposed action;
(d) The agency personnel, with their office location and telephone number, who are responsible for the drafting, implementation, and enforcement of the rule;
(e) The name of the person or organization, whether private, public, or governmental, proposing the rule;
(f) Agency comments or recommendations, if any, regarding statutory language, implementation, enforcement, and fiscal matters pertaining to the rule;
(g) Whether the rule is necessary as the result of federal law or federal or state court action, and if so, a copy of such law or court decision shall be attached to the purpose statement;
(h) When, where, and how persons may present their views on the proposed rule;
(i) The date on which the agency intends to adopt the rule;
(j) A short explanation of the rule, its purpose, and anticipated effects, including in the case of a proposal that would modify existing rules, a short description of the changes the proposal would make;
(k) A copy of the small business economic impact statement prepared under chapter 19.85 RCW, or an explanation for why the agency did not prepare the statement;
(l) A statement indicating whether RCW 34.05.328 applies to the rule adoption; and
(m) If RCW 34.05.328 does apply, a statement indicating that a copy of the preliminary cost-benefit analysis described in RCW 34.05.328(1)(c) is available;
(2) Upon filing notice of the proposed rule with the code reviser, the adopting agency shall have copies of the notice on file and available for public inspection and shall forward three copies of the notice to the rules review committee.
(3) No later than three days after its publication in the state register, the agency shall cause a copy of the notice of proposed rule adoption to be mailed to each person, city, and county that has made a request to the agency for a mailed copy of such notices. An agency may charge for the actual cost of providing a requesting party mailed copies of these notices.
(4) In addition to the notice required by subsections (1) and (2) of this section, an institution of higher education shall cause the notice to be published in the campus or standard newspaper of the institution at least seven days before the rule-making hearing.

Sec. 2. RCW 34.05.328 and 1997 c 430 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Before adopting a rule described in subsection (5) of this section, an agency shall:
(a) Clearly state in detail the general goals and specific objectives of the statute that the rule implements;
(b) Determine that the rule is needed to achieve the general goals and specific objectives stated under (a) of this subsection, and analyze alternatives to rule making and the consequences of not adopting the rule;
(c) Provide notification in the notice of proposed rule making under RCW 34.05.320 that a preliminary cost-benefit analysis is available. The preliminary cost-benefit analysis must fulfill the requirements of the cost-benefit analysis under (d) of this subsection. If the agency files a supplemental notice under RCW 34.05.340, the supplemental notice shall include notification that a revised preliminary cost-benefit analysis is available. A final cost-benefit analysis shall be available when the rule is adopted under RCW 34.05.360;
(d) Determine that the probable benefits of the rule are greater than its probable costs, taking into account both the qualitative and quantitative benefits and costs and the specific directives of the statute being implemented;
(e) After considering alternative versions of the rule and the analysis required under (b) ((1)(b)), (c), and (d) of this subsection, that the rule being adopted is the least burdensome alternative for those required to comply with it that will achieve the general goals and specific objectives stated under (a) of this subsection;
(f) Determine that the rule does not require those to whom it applies to take an action that violates requirements of another federal or state law;
(g) Determine that the rule does not impose more stringent performance requirements on private entities than on public entities unless required to do so by federal or state law;

SECOND READING
((a)(h)) Determine if the rule differs from any federal regulation or statute applicable to the same activity or subject matter and, if so, determine that the difference is justified by the following:
(I) A state statute that explicitly allows the agency to differ from federal standards; or
(ii) Substantial evidence that the difference is necessary to achieve the general goals and specific objectives stated under (a) of this subsection; and
(iii) A significant legislative rule is a rule other than a procedural or interpretive rule that (A) adopts substantive provisions of law pursuant to legislative standards; or
(ii) Rules the content of which is explicitly and specifically dictated by statute; or
(iii) Rules adopting or incorporating by reference without material change federal standards; or
(iv) Rules that set or adjust fees or rates pursuant to legislative standards; or
(v) Rules that only correct typographical errors, make address or name changes, or clarify language of a rule without changing it;
(vi) Rules of the department of social and health services relating only to client medical or financial eligibility and rules concerning liability for care of dependents.
(c) For purposes of this subsection:
(I) A "procedural rule" is a rule that adopts, amends, or repeals (A) any procedure, practice, or requirement relating to any agency hearings; (B) any filing or related process requirement for making application to an agency for a license or permit; or (c) any policy statement pertaining to the consistent internal operations of an agency.
(ii) An "interpretive rule" is a rule, the violation of which does not subject a person to a penalty or sanction, that sets forth the agency’s interpretation of statutory provisions it administers.
(iii) A "significant legislative rule" is a rule other than a procedural or interpretive rule that (A) adopts substantive provisions of law pursuant to legislative standards; or (B) establishes, alters, or revokes any qualification or standard for the issuance, suspension, or revocation of a license or permit; or (c) adopts a new, or makes significant amendments to, a policy or regulatory program.
(iv) In the notice of proposed rule making under RCW 34.05.320, an agency shall state whether this section applies to the proposed rule pursuant to (a)(d) of this subsection, or if the agency will apply this section voluntarily.
(6) By January 31, 1996, and by January 31st of each even-numbered year thereafter, the office of financial management, after consulting with state agencies, counties, and cities, and business, labor, and environmental organizations, shall report to the governor and the legislature regarding the effects of this section on the regulatory system in this state. The report shall document:
(a) The rules proposed to which this section applied and to the extent possible, compliance with this section affected the substance of the rule, if any, that the agency ultimately adopted;
(b) The costs incurred by state agencies in complying with this section;
(c) Any legal action maintained based upon the alleged failure of any agency to comply with this section, the costs to the state of such action, and the result;
(d) The extent to which this section has adversely affected the capacity of agencies to fulfill their legislatively prescribed mission;
(e) The extent to which this section has improved the acceptability of state rules to those regulated; and
(f) Any other information considered by the office of financial management to be useful in evaluating the effect of this section.
Sec. 3. RCW 50.13.060 and 2000 c 134 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Governmental agencies, including law enforcement agencies, prosecuting agencies, and the executive branch, whether state, local, or federal shall have access to information or records deemed private and confidential under this chapter if the information or records are needed by the agency for official purposes and:

(a) The agency submits an application in writing to the employment security department for the records or information containing a statement of the official purposes for which the information or records are needed and specific identification of the records or information sought from the employment security department; and

(b) The director, commissioner, chief executive, or other official of the agency has verified the need for the specific information in writing either on the application or on a separate document; and

(c) The agency requesting access has served a copy of the application for records or information on the individual or employing unit whose records or information are sought and has provided the department with proof of service. Service shall be made in a manner which conforms to the civil rules for superior court. The requesting agency shall include with the copy of the application a statement to the effect that the individual or employing unit may contact the public records officer of the employment security department to state any objections to the release of the records or information. The employment security department shall not act upon the application of the requesting agency until at least five days after service on the concerned individual or employing unit. The employment security department shall consider any objections raised by the concerned individual or employing unit in deciding whether the requesting agency needs the information or records for official purposes.

(2) The requirements of subsections (1) and (9) of this section shall not apply to the state legislative branch. The state legislature shall have access to information or records deemed private and confidential under this chapter, if the legislature or a legislative committee finds that the information or records are necessary and for official purposes. If the employment security department does not make information or records available as provided in this subsection, the legislature may exercise its authority granted by chapter 44.16 RCW.

(3) In cases of emergency the governmental agency requesting access shall not be required to formally comply with the provisions of subsection (1) of this section at the time of the request if the procedures required by subsection (1) of this section are complied with by the requesting agency following the receipt of any records or information deemed private and confidential under this chapter. An emergency is defined as a situation in which irreparable harm or damage could occur if records or information are not released immediately.

(4) The requirements of subsection (1)(c) of this section shall not apply to governmental agencies where the procedures would frustrate the investigation of possible violations of criminal laws or to the release of employing unit names, addresses, number of employees, and aggregate employer wage data for the purpose of state governmental agencies preparing small business economic impact statements under chapter 19.85 RCW or preparing cost-benefit analyses under RCW 34.05.328(1)(c) and (d). Information provided by the department and held to be private and confidential under state or federal laws must not be misused or released to unauthorized parties.

(5) Governmental agencies shall have access to certain records or information, limited to such items as names, addresses, social security numbers, and general information about benefit entitlement or employer information possessed by the department, for statistical purposes with records or information possessed by the requesting agency to detect improper or fraudulent claims, or to determine potential tax liability or employer compliance with registration and licensing requirements. In those cases the governmental agency shall not be required to comply with subsection (1)(c) of this section, but the requirements of the remainder of subsection (1) of this section must be satisfied.

(6) Governmental agencies may have access to certain records and information, limited to employer information possessed by the department for purposes authorized in chapter 50.38 RCW. Access to these records and information is limited to only those individuals conducting authorized statistical analysis, research, and evaluation studies. Only in cases consistent with the purposes of chapter 50.38 RCW are government agencies not required to comply with subsection (1)(c) of this section, but the requirements of the remainder of subsection (1) of this section must be satisfied. Information provided by the department and held to be private and confidential under state or federal laws shall not be misused or released to unauthorized parties subject to the sanctions in RCW 50.13.080.

(7) Disclosure to governmental agencies of information or records obtained by the employment security department from the federal government shall be governed by any applicable federal law or any agreement between the federal government and the employment security department where so required by federal law. When federal law does not apply to the records or information state law shall control.

(8) The department may provide information for purposes of statistical analysis and evaluation of the WorkFirst program or any successor state welfare program to the department of social and health services, the office of financial management, and other governmental entities with oversight or evaluation responsibilities for the program in accordance with RCW 43.20A.080. The confidential information provided by the department shall remain the property of the department and may be used by the authorized requesting agencies only for statistical analysis, research, and evaluation purposes as provided in RCW 74.08A.410 and 74.08A.420. The department of social and health services, the office of financial management, or other governmental entities with oversight or evaluation responsibilities for the program are not required to comply with subsection (1)(c) of this section, but the requirements of the remainder of subsection (1) of this section and applicable federal laws and regulations must be satisfied. The confidential information used for evaluation and analysis of welfare reform supplied to the authorized requesting entities with regard to the WorkFirst program or any successor state welfare program are exempt from public inspection and copying under RCW 42.17.310.

(9) The disclosure of any records or information by a governmental agency which has obtained the records or information under this section is prohibited unless the disclosure is directly connected to the official purpose for which the records or information were obtained.

(10) In conducting periodic salary or fringe benefit studies pursuant to law, the department of personnel shall have access to records of the employment security department as may be required for such studies. For such purposes, the requirements of subsection (1)(c) of this section need not apply.

(11)(a) To promote the reemployment of job seekers, the commissioner may enter into data-sharing contracts with partners of the one-stop career development system. The contracts shall provide for the transfer of data only to the extent that the transfer is necessary for the efficient provisions of work force programs, including but not limited to public labor exchange, unemployment insurance, worker training and retraining, vocational rehabilitation, educational activities, adult education, transition from public assistance, and support services. The transfer of information under contracts with one-stop partners is exempt from subsection (1)(c) of this section.

(b) An individual who applies for services from the department and whose information will be shared under (a) of this subsection (11) must be notified that his or her private and confidential information in the department’s records will be shared among the one-stop partners to facilitate the delivery of one-stop services to the individual. The notice must advise the individual that he or she may request that private and confidential information not be shared among the one-stop partners and the department must honor the request. In addition, the notice must:

(i) Advise the individual that if he or she requests that private and confidential information not be shared among one-stop partners, the request will in no way affect eligibility for services;

(ii) Describe the nature of the information to be shared, the general use of the information by one-stop partner representatives, and among whom the information will be shared;

(iii) Inform the individual that shared information will be used only for the purpose of delivering one-stop services and that further disclosure of the information is prohibited under contract and is not subject to disclosure under RCW 42.17.310; and
(iv) Be provided in English and an alternative language selected by the one-stop center or job service center as appropriate for the community where the center is located.

If the notice is provided in-person, the individual who does not want private and confidential information shared among the one-stop partners must immediately advise the one-stop partner representative of that decision. The notice must be provided to an individual who applies for services telephonically, electronically, or by mail, in a suitable format and within a reasonable time after applying for services, which shall be no later than ten working days from the department’s receipt of the application for services. A one-stop representative must be available to answer specific questions regarding the nature, extent, and purpose for which the information may be shared.

(12) To facilitate improved operation and evaluation of state programs, the commissioner may enter into data-sharing contracts with other state agencies only to the extent that such transfer is necessary for the efficient operation or evaluation of outcomes for those programs. The transfer of information by contract under this subsection is exempt from subsection (1)(c) of this section.

(13) The misuse or unauthorized release of records or information by any person or organization to which access is permitted by this chapter subjects the person or organization to a civil penalty of five thousand dollars and other applicable sanctions under state and federal law. Suit to enforce this section shall be brought by the attorney general and the amount of any penalties collected shall be paid into the employment security department administrative contingency fund. 'The attorney general may recover reasonable attorneys' fees for any action brought to enforce this section.'

The bill was read the third time.

MOTION

Senator Kastama moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Kastama and Roach be adopted:

"Sec. 1. RCW 34.05.360 and 1988 c 288 s 311 are each amended to read as follows:

The order of adoption by which each rule is adopted by an agency shall contain all of the following:

(1) If the head of the agency is appointed by the governor, then the signature of the governor is required for significant legislative rules; (2) The date the agency adopted the rule; (3) A reference to the provisions of the purpose of the rule; (4) A reference to all rules repealed, amended, or suspended by the rule; (5) A reference to the specific statutory or other authority authorizing adoption of the rule; (6) Any findings required by any provision of law as a precondition to adoption or effectiveness of the rule; and (7) The effective date of the rule if other than that specified in RCW 34.05.380(2)."

Debate ensued.
The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the striking amendment by Senators Kastama and Roach to Senate Bill No. 5257.

The motion by Senator Kastama carried and the striking amendment was adopted:

MOTION

On motion of Senator Roach, the rules were suspended, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5257 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

Senator Horn: “Senator Roach, I notice that we’ve had testimony from the Governor’s Office that this would mean the end of hunting and fishing as we know it. Now, I know that the Senator from the Twenty-sixth District is always into something if it affects hunting and fishing and I see him very, very relaxed down there in the front row. Could you tell me how this bill would end hunting and fishing as we know it?”

Senator Roach: “Well, I thought you were going to ask the Senator from the Forty-fifth District how the Senator from the Twenty-sixth District thinks—and I couldn’t do it—I can’t answer that. Your question did regard Fish and Wildlife. That is the way the bill originally was—the way the bill was originally put together. The Governor would be signing for each one. I suppose if you were testifying against the bill as it was originally constructed, they would not want to have the Governor deciding what happens to Fish and Wildlife. So, obviously, the opponent of that bill at that time was worried that the Governor, himself, would be hacking up the Fish and Wildlife and nothing left for all of us. I don’t know. As it turns out, the Fish and Wildlife and any other that is headed by a commission will not be affected by this.

“Other statewide elected officials—Secretary of State, the Auditor, Treasurer and so forth—will not have their rules reviewed by the Governor, because they are separate in their elected offices. Any rule that is promulgated through a commission process is not included—only those that are through departments headed by the Governor—Gubernatorial Appointees, which in this case would be a vast array. We are certainly doing a lot here. Thank you.”

Senator Horn: “Thank you, Senator Roach, for sharing the Senator from the Twenty-sixth District and myself that hunting and fishing would continue as we know it today.”

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5257.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5257 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 41; Nays, 8; Absent, 0; Excused, 0.

ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 5257, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill will stand as the title of the act.

SECOND READING

Limiting the rule-making authority of certain entities to those instances where there is a specific grant of legislative authority.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Hargrove moved that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 1, after line 10 insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 43.06 RCW to read as follows:

Upon issuance of a proclamation of an emergency by the governor as authorized by RCW 43.06.210, nothing in sections 2 through 36 of this act shall prohibit an agency from adopting emergency rules to address circumstances affecting life, health, property or the public peace addressed in the emergency proclamation.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: “A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I have the dubious honor of listening for freshman making their first speech. I wish I had a film of this back here. Several of you held up the wrong finger. Now, I want to point out that Senator Schmidt passed out lottery tickets. It took me two days to figure that I had lost, so we don’t need lottery tickets. The fish was excellent! Let’s see who else passed out something. Anyway, Senator Brandland talked twice as much as the two freshmen Democrats. I think he should give us twice as much as they gave him. Most of the preference in this body is food--as you can tell--we enjoy eating and speaking. I have to be careful because I understand he still has his equipment from his old job as sheriff and he is taller than I am and younger and heavier and probably a better fighter. I would appreciate and so would the others of having something eatable, delicious, so we don’t have to have salt or pepper or spices. Can you handle that Senator Brandland? There is no need to respond, you made your speech.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Brandland: “A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I am not sure how to respond to that, Mr. President, but I do come prepared for a response. I know that in the past, some of you have done your best to supply Senator McCaslin and the rest of the group with food and other delicacies. I know that Senator Parlette brought cherries. I have to tell you that I am afraid that I tend to go the other direction. I was thinking more in the line of a six pack, but what I came up with was a six pack of toilet paper. Now, I would like you to know that this is not a reflection on the regulatory bills that we passed here today. I would also appreciate, if you do not need to comment on how you use this or whether you enjoyed it. I would like you to know that the Georgia Pacific Corporation--I went to a great deal of effort to get seven cases of these up here. I will be making sure that each one of you is given one of these.

“Now, it also came to my attention that Senator Hargrove--he actually brought it up today--because early in my campaign I was told that when I go to Olympia I might not be the brightest bulb in the room. I don’t know if you are aware of it, but my wife owns the nicest lighting store in Western Washington. So, naturally, I assumed what I would need would be light bulbs. I was assuming that some of you might have dim bulbs, as well, and so I will have a package of light bulbs delivered to each of you, as well. Thank you very much.”

Senator Deccio asked Senator Brandland to yield to a question, but the Senator declined.

MOTION

At 11:53 a.m., on motion of Senator Sheahan, the Senate adjourned until 12:00 noon, Wednesday, February 12, 2003.

WASHINGTON STATE AUDITOR
BRIAN SONNTAG
Dear citizens, policymakers and other interested parties:

We are pleased to issue our 2002 statewide report on state government accountability. This report looks at what we found during our audits in 2002. It reflects our continuing efforts to look at issues on a statewide, rather than agency-by-agency basis. We believe this approach gives a more balanced and comprehensive view of state government operations.

In 2002, we continued to look at whether people receiving benefits from the state were eligible to do so; state contracts; and controls over cash-handling and computer access, among other areas. We did identify several areas in which improvements could be made, and also recognized areas in which agencies had made improvements. We appreciate our good working relationship with agencies that want to ensure they are accounting for precious public dollars.

Finally, I would like to thank our staff for their diligence and professionalism as they go about their work each day, finding issues and making suggestions for improvements to agencies’ financial operations. Their expertise is invaluable to the state’s citizens.

I hope you find this report useful. I encourage you to contact our office with any questions or comments you may have.

Sincerely,

BRIAN SONNTAG, CGFM

We need to set this amendment down and get it correctly drawn so that the members can see what is in front of them. The amendment is incorrectly drawn. It is gibberdegook. PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: “A point of personal privilege, Madam President. This isn’t lunch. This relieves itching, burning and spread of eczema, psoriasis, acne and other skin disorders and I resent it. I don’t have psoriasis; the rest of them, I have. It soothes the pain of rheumatism, arthritis and bursitis. I do want to apologize to our new Senator. I thought it was Senator Hochstatter. She is much better looking than Senator Hochstatter. You know I have to stand up here and say something about her, but I don’t know anything about her, except some told me she was a biker. I don’t know what that means, whether it is a paddle pusher or a real motorcycle. Then you owned a tavern? Couldn’t you have thought of a better gift, having owed a tavern? Some of you young people should resent this, because you don’t look scabby to me. You look pretty good, even us bald headed people. I was wondering why a House member was making speeches on the Senate floor and then Senator Zarelli told me you had been elected to the Senate. I do want to congratulate you and welcome you. For your second speech, you can pass out a six-pack to all of us.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Mulliken: “A point of personal privilege, Madam President. Actually, I did want to tell you a little bit— the good gentleman just kind of gave away my speech. This also soothes the pain of rheumatism, arthritis and bursitis. This is condensed Soap Lake water. I bet you all thought you were going to get a baked potato or maybe a box of apples or maybe some carrots or some other wonderful agriculture products that the Thirteenth District has. I wanted you to know that I have a lake that is know around the world. It is a mineral lake and it is all in the water. It is in Soap Lake! It is known as a sudsy, soapy lake. Sometimes, if you swim in it, you can get cooties, so you want to take a fresh water shower right away. If you don’t want to use any of this condensed water for any of the diseases that are mentioned on it, you dip your finger in it and taste it. It won’t hurt you; it will clean things out if you want to drink it. I have been told that if you don’t have eczema, psoriatis or acne and you put this on your skin, you may get them.

“The other gift that I have is— I do want to brag about the Trout Lodge. I have three facilities of Trout Lodge in the Thirteenth District. It is a fifty-eight year old farm—family fish farm, owned and founded by Edward McClery— that many of you know—eighty-five years old, who is still active. He wanted all of us to enjoy the product of the Trout Lodge facilities— and this is excellent.

“So, with that, I thank you, Madam President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: “A point of personal privilege, Madam President. With these forty-nine bottles, Soap Lake is now extinct.”

MESSAGES FROM STATE AGENCIES

Olympic Community College
July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002

ABOUT THE AUDIT

This report contains the results of our independent accountability audit of Olympic Community College for the period July 1, 2001, through June 30, 2002.

We performed audit procedures to determine whether the College complied with state laws and regulations and its own policies and procedures. We also evaluated the internal controls established by College management. Our work focused on specific areas that have potential for abuse or misuse of public resources.

RESULTS

In most areas, the College complied with state laws and regulations and its own policies and procedures. However, we identified one condition significant enough to report as a finding:
Weak cash receipting internal controls at the Food Service Department increased the risk that errors and irregularities could occur and not be detected by management in a timely manner.

The College has a proactive approach to responding to audit concerns and is committed to resolving the issues we identified.

RELATED REPORTS
In accordance with the Single Audit Act Amendments of 1996, we annually audit major federal programs administered by the state of Washington. Rather than perform a single audit at each agency, we audit the state as a whole and publish the results in a separate statewide single audit report.

Our opinion on the state’s general purpose financial statements is expressed in the Washington State Comprehensive Annual Financial Report issued by the Office of Financial Management. In providing our opinion, we limit our audit scope to those agencies that have large account balances.

The College is part of the state community and technical college system. All public community and technical colleges submit their financial information to the State Board for Community and Technical Colleges where the information is combined and we examine the large consolidated account balances as part of our audit of the state’s general purpose financial statements.

CLOSING REMARKS
We appreciate the College’s prompt attention and commitment to address the condition reported in this audit. We also thank College officials and personnel for their assistance and cooperation.

The State Auditor’s Audit Summary Report for Olympic Community College is on file in the Office of the Secretary of the Senate.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE WINSLEY

President Pro Tempore Winsley: “We are assembled today to pay tribute to the lives and services of the distinguished former members of the Senate and House of Representative of the state of Washington who are no longer with us. On behalf of the people of our state, the Fifty-eighth Legislature of the state of Washington conveys its respects to those deceased legislators who once sat in the Chambers of the House and Senate, answered roll calls on sometimes critical perplexing bills, attended committee meetings and above all else, served to the best of their abilities in order to make our state a better and more enriching place in which to live. While their journey in this life is completed, their achievements, records and valued services have been recorded in the Journals of the Senate and House and are now a permanent part of the history of the state of Washington.

“We express our sympathies to the bereaved families and their friends and also share with them on this memorable occasion the fond and happy memories of these legislators, who served well beyond their call of duty and responsibilities and truly loved this great state of Washington. They have indeed left a legacy of dedicated service that will remain forever etched in our hearts, our memories and our legislative records.”

Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick and President Pro Tempore Winsley called the roll for the deceased former members of the Senate and House of Representatives.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: “A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. My age group used to watch these movies with Jimmy Cagney and Edward G. Robinson and they would capture them and then they would get one of their cohorts in and they would beat them with a rubber hose and they would never talk--never talk. Now, the Senate is different. As soon as Senator Reardon got up, I saw more fingers pointing at him, saying, 'It is his first time, it's the first time.'
“Anyway, I don’t think I would want to commit a crime with anyone of you in here. Aaron, are you from the Twenty-eighth or Thirty-eighth? Thirty-eighth, thank you. I had to look through my bifocals to see that. I offered Senator Brown—where is she? I asked her if I came into her caucus, would you go into our caucus and she said, ‘No, we like good looking young men, not homely old ones.’ So, I was a little embarrassed about that and I will never forgive Senator Brown.

“I don’t know if Senator Reardon is prepared to give us a gift and I was talking to him earlier, not knowing he was going to make his maiden speech. I said, ‘If you don’t have food, I think we will all take money,’ won’t we? Is that okay, but not lotto tickets? I am still waiting for something decent to be passed out. You know, you shamed me, you really did. We got fish; we got toilet paper. By the way, I ran out. Do you have any more, Senator Brandalund? I would appreciate it. So, I am really, really looking forward to what this young handsome— that is about as far as I am going, Senator. I’ve never had that rumor about me. I don’t know about you. But anyway, we all look forward to his gift. Do you have anything to comment on or for rebuttal? The next time you buy a suit, get the right size, would you?”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Reardon: “A point of personal privilege, Madam President. I recognize fully that I am a huge disappointment to this body. I apologize for my shortcomings. However, Senator, you will be getting a five by seven glossy of me later on this afternoon. I have a huge amount of respect for Senator Schmidt and I do not want to upstage him with his wonderful lottery tickets, which I still have not figured out if I have won or lost either. I was not prepared to speak on the amendment this morning. I apologize, but I will be providing a gift in addition to the five by seven glossy on Monday. In addition to that, you are most welcome to come into my office today and get a picture of me personally, which I will sign and provide a frame. Thank you”

Pending such hearing and the decision thereon, the commission may suspend the operation of such rate, charge, rental, or toll for a period not exceeding ten months from the time the same would otherwise go into effect((and))). After a full hearing, the commission may make such order in reference thereto as would be provided in a hearing initiated after the same had become effective."

The commission may allow temporary rates during the suspension period. Rates shall not exceed the rates charged when the company was last regulated. Upon a showing of good cause by the company, the commission may establish a different level of temporary rates.

When any change is made in any rate, toll, rental, or charge, the effect of which is to increase any rate, toll, rental, or charge then existing, attention shall be directed on the copy filed with the commission to the increase by some character immediately preceding or following the item in the schedule, which character shall be in such a form as the commission may designate.

(2(a)) A telecommunications company may file a tariff that decreases any rate, charge, rental, or toll with ten days' notice to the commission and publication without receiving a special order from the commission when the filing does not contain an offsetting increase to another rate, charge, rental, or toll, and the filing company agrees not to file for an increase to any rate, charge, rental, or toll to recover the revenue deficit that results from the decrease for a period of one year.

(b) A telecommunications company may file a promotional offering to be effective, without receiving a special order from the commission, along with the filing and publication for the purposes of this section, "promotional offering" means a tariff or price list that, for a period of up to ninety days, waives or reduces charges or conditions of service for existing or new subscribers for the purpose of retaining or increasing the number of customers who subscribe to or use a service.

Sec. 3. RCW 80.36.320 and 1996 c 337 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The commission shall classify a telecommunications company as a competitive telecommunications company if the services it offers are subject to effective competition. Effective competition means that the company’s customers have reasonably available alternatives and that the company does not have a significant captive customer base. In determining whether a company is competitive, factors the commission shall consider include but are not limited to:

(a) The number and sizes of alternative providers of service;

(b) The extent to which services are available from alternative providers in the relevant market;

(c) The ability of alternative providers to make functionally equivalent or substitute services readily available at competitive rates, terms, and conditions; and

(d) Other indicators of market power which may include market share, growth in market share, ease of entry, and the affiliation of providers of services.

The commission shall conduct the initial classification and any subsequent review of the classification in accordance with such procedures as the commission may establish by rule.
(2) Competitive telecommunications companies shall be subject to minimal regulation. Minimal regulation means that competitive telecommunications companies may file, instead of tariffs, price lists (that shall be effective after ten days’ notice to the commission and customers. The commission shall prescribe the form of notice)). The commission may also waive other regulatory requirements under this title for competitive telecommunications companies when it determines that competition will serve the same purposes as public interest regulation. The commission may waive different regulatory requirements for different companies if such different treatment is in the public interest. A competitive telecommunications company shall at a minimum:

(a) Keep its accounts according to regulations as determined by the commission;
(b) File financial reports with the commission as required by the commission and in a form and at times prescribed by the commission;
(c) Keep on file at the commission such current price lists and service standards as the commission may require; and
(d) Cooperate with commission investigations of customer complaints.

(3) When a telecommunications company has demonstrated that the equal access requirements ordered by the federal district court in the case of U.S. v. Atand T, 552 F. Supp. 131 (1982), or in supplemental orders, have been met, the commission shall review the classification of telecommunications companies providing inter-LATA interexchange services. At that time, the commission shall classify all such companies as competitive telecommunications companies unless it finds that effective competition, as defined in subsection (1) of this section, does not then exist.

(4) The commission may revoke any waivers it grants and may reclassify any competitive telecommunications company if the revocation or reclassification would protect the public interest.

(5) The commission may waive the requirements of RCW 80.36.170 and 80.36.180 in whole or in part for a competitive telecommunications company if it finds that competition will serve the same purpose and protect the public interest.

Sec. 4. RCW 80.36.330 and 1998 c 337 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The commission may classify a telecommunications service provided by a telecommunications company as a competitive telecommunications service if the service is subject to effective competition. Effective competition means that customers of the service have reasonably available alternatives and that the service is not provided to a significant captive customer base. In determining whether a service is competitive, factors the commission shall consider include but are not limited to:

(a) The number and size of alternative providers of services;
(b) The extent to which services are available from alternative providers in the relevant market;
(c) The ability of alternative providers to make functionally equivalent or substitute services readily available at competitive rates, terms, and conditions; and
(d) Other indicators of market power, which may include market share, growth in market share, ease of entry, and the affiliation of providers of services.

(2) When the commission finds that a telecommunications company has demonstrated that a telecommunications service is competitive, the commission may permit the service to be provided under a price list ((effective on ten days’ notice to the commission and customers. The commission shall prescribe the form of notice)). The commission may adopt procedural rules necessary to implement this section.

(3) Prices or rates charged for competitive telecommunications services shall cover their cost. The commission shall determine proper cost standards to implement this section, provided that in making any assignment of costs or allocating any revenue requirement, the commission shall act to preserve affordable universal telecommunications service.

(4) The commission may order refunds or credits to any class of subscribers to a noncompetitive telecommunications service which has paid excessive rates because of below cost pricing of competitive telecommunications services.

(5) Telecommunications companies shall provide the commission with all data it deems necessary to implement this section.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: “A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. At last ladies and gentlemen, we have reached the bottom of the barrel. I have never been good with words. Perhaps, I should rephrase that. The last freshman has made his initial maiden speech. I asked Senator West, ‘Now that my job is done, could I go home?’ He said, ‘No, Senator Reardon hasn’t passed out a gift yet.’ So, the only thing that I can tell him is if you are waiting for a hot deal on e-bay, you best hurry, because, I understand that there is a bill in to tax those things.

“Now, back to Senator Esser. Could you identify yourself, please, so that I know who I am talking about? The Democrats hired a CIA Operative and this is what they found out. You are one of those few students who was on a ten year plan at the UW for a two year course, but I don’t know if you would fit into Senator Carlson’s bill about career students. He is also a free lance sports writer, so he gets to cover UW basketball games. Of course, the real reason is, I understand he likes girls’ basketball--and I will stop right there. Who said that? Anyway, they are screaming for you, Senator.

“When he was in the House, Senator Esser went through something like four ‘PIOs’ in his four years. He finally found one that could write and he could understand his writing. Now, the current PIO in the Senate, if he can go more than a year with him, the Senate should give him or her a special bonus. Now, the last thing—not completely the last thing—because I have a few other comments. With his deep powerful voice, you would think Senator Esser would have chosen a career in radio instead of print. Maybe someday, he will put that voice to good use and become a talking host. But, the Senate probably has reached its quota on talk show hosting members, because Senator Roach does an excellent job, so why should we even try Esser? I have a CD here; I have no idea what it is. Are you buying lunch--oh that is his? Can you play it? Do you have anything else? I am really not wild about chocolate.

“Here are the things I found out about Senator Esser: He is tall; He is lawyer--they didn’t tell me if he is a good one or a bad one, but he is a lawyer; He has a mustache--does that bother girls when you kiss them--is it kind of ticklish; He has lots of hair--that hurts; He knows Senator Jim Horn--whooppee; He knows Senator Dino Rossi--that is more important, because he is in charge of the budget; He loves wrestling--don’t know if it is womens, mud wrestling or just the regular wrestling. He comes from the Forty-eighth District. Now that is an interesting district, because years ago McDonald and Sanders had a conflict and McDonald won. Now, we have had a fight between Esser and Representative Van Luven--not a fight really--you guys got along. Anyway, we are happy you are here. We are happy for the chocolate you just passed out and you are going to have to pay to have my pants expanded.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Esser: “Thank you, Mr. President. I rise to a point of personal privilege. I hope the Senators will accept this small gift--this small treat--as a symbol of what a treat it is for me to be here with you in the Senate and to serve as the Chair of the Technology and Communications Committee. I would especially like to thank the distinguished chair of the Senate Judiciary Committee. I simply could not aspire to any greater height than to stand tall with you on the floor of the Senate. Thank you, Mr. President.”

Further discussion occurred.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Deccio: “Senator McCaslin, back in the pioneer days, what did you give as a result of your maiden speech?”

Senator McCaslin: “Senator Deccio, I can’t remember yesterday; I can’t remember that far back. I think it was Cadillacs or some car.”

Senator Deccio: “I think it was a shovel to pile it higher and deeper.”

MOTION

On motion of Senator Carlson, the following resolution was adopted:

SENATE RESOLUTION 8627

By Senators Carlson, Schmidt, Honeyford, Brandland, Mulliken, Stevens, Benton, Parlette, Rossi, Esser, Sheahan, Horn, Roach, Finkbeiner, Hale, West, Zarelli, McCaslin, Morton, Swecker, Deccio, Winsley, Oke, Johnson, Haugen, Jacobsen, Reardon, Eide, Keiser, Doumit, Hargrove, Fairley, Thibaudeau, Regala,
WHEREAS, One Hundred and Fifty years ago on November 23, 1852, a group of forty-four pioneers assembled at a small settlement called Monticello at present day Longview and petitioned the United States Congress to divide the Oregon Territory and create a New Territory; and

WHEREAS, One Hundred and fifty years ago on March 2, 1853, President Fillmore signed the bill creating the territory of Washington; and

WHEREAS, We honor the thousands upon thousands of settlers who came here with their hopes and dreams--truly the American dream in its pioneer form--who settled this state and created the cities and towns, with the best intentions of self-governance and loyalty to our nation, laying the groundwork for the state we are today; and

WHEREAS, We honor those who inhabited this land thousands of years prior to the first landings of the Spanish in 1775. Their strong sense of family, reverence for the wildlife and the environment, pride in who they are, and continued hope for their thriving communities belies the struggle and difficulties the advent of the European explorer brought to them. They are, in their own right, the early pioneers who brought to our history a tradition that lives today—not only in their cultural centers and museums—but in their daily lives and communities; and

WHEREAS, We honor those who brought the notion of self-governance and populist spirit, who became towering figures in the history of their respective communities and provided each with a notion of government that was based on the best ideals of our nation at the time, fair play, and the rule of law over the rule of man; and

WHEREAS, We honor all those who keep this history alive in small community-based museums and historical societies to large heritage complexes as staff and volunteers. It is in the best sense of community service that people donate so much of their time to keep many of these organizations alive and thriving; and

WHEREAS, We honor the generations of school children throughout Washington who are our future. Our history cannot live in just those adults who show interest, it must be cultivated in our youth through the family and our educational institutions. It is our history and the particular episodes in that history that set us apart from the rest of this nation, just as it is that history which integrates us into the fabric of the United States of America; and

WHEREAS, We honor our communities, even those created after 1889, that make up this great state. Just as governance started with a band of forty-four people assembled here one hundred-fifty years ago, so too our sesquicentennial observance depends on those local communities throughout this state who will take this commemoration as its own and make it a theme for fairs, community celebrations, tribal gatherings, historical writings, and other events too numerous to name; and

WHEREAS, The Governor, through Executive Order 02-02, set up the Sesquicentennial Commission with membership from across the state and headed by Secretary of State Sam Reed and First Lady Mona Locke;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate call on the people of the state of Washington to honor its early settlers and the indigenous people of the region by celebrating and commemorating our Territorial Sesquicentennial in the grand manner befitting this One Hundred Fiftieth Anniversary of Washington’s Charter as a part of the United States.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator West: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I just want to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that outside in the plaza area, there is an experimental car that has been brought to Olympia. The manufacturer of this prototype car is from my legislative district in Spokane. It is called the ‘Ultra Narrow Car.’ It is approximately about forty inches wide; it is a two passenger car. You sit one in front of the other. It is a commuter car. It is designed to relieve traffic congestion and the gentleman that has the car is out there. You can sit in the car and if you are really good, you might even be able to talk him into letting you drive the car. I have had that experience. It is quite a thrill. It is battery operated and goes from zero to sixty in like nothing flat--nothing flat. Anyway, I would like to have you Senators take a look at the car when you get a chance."

“NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) Effective, natural science, wildlife, and environmental education programs provide the foundation for the development of literate children and adults, setting the stage for lifelong learning. Furthermore, integrating the basic subject areas of the common school curriculum in chapter 28A.230 RCW through natural science, wildlife, and environmental education offers many opportunities for achieving excellence in our schools. Well-designed programs, aligned with the state’s essential academic learning requirements, contribute to the state’s educational reform goals.

(2) Washington is fortunate to have institutions and programs that currently provide quality natural science, wildlife, and environmental education and teacher training that is already aligned with the state’s essential academic learning requirements.

(3) The legislature intends to further the development of natural science, wildlife, and environmental education by establishing a competitive grant program, funded through state moneys to the extent those moneys are appropriated, or made available through other sources, for proven natural science, wildlife, and environmental education programs that are fully aligned with the state’s essential academic learning requirements.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 28A.300 RCW to read as follows:

The Washington natural science, wildlife, and environmental education partnership account is hereby created in the custody of the state treasurer to provide natural science, wildlife, and environmental education opportunities for teachers and students to help achieve the highest quality of excellence in education through compliance with the essential academic learning requirements. Revenues to the account shall consist of appropriations made by the legislature or other sources. Grants and their administration shall be paid from the account. Only the superintendent of public instruction or the superintendent’s designee may authorize expenditures from the account. The fund is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not required for expenditures.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 28A.300 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The natural science, wildlife, and environmental education grant program is hereby created, subject to the availability of funds in the natural science, wildlife, and environmental education partnership account. The program is created to promote proven and innovative natural science, wildlife, and environmental education programs that are fully aligned with the state’s essential academic learning requirements and includes but is not limited to instruction about renewable resources, responsible use of resources, and conservation.

(2) The superintendent of public instruction shall establish and publish funding criteria for environmental, natural science, wildlife, forestry, and agricultural education grants. The office of superintendent of public instruction shall involve a cross-section of stakeholder groups to develop socially, economically, and environmentally balanced funding criteria. These criteria shall be based on compliance with the essential academic learning requirements and use methods that encourage critical thinking. The criteria must also include environmental, natural science, wildlife, forestry, and agricultural education programs with one or more of the following features:

(a) Interdisciplinary approaches to environmental, natural science, wildlife, forestry, and agricultural issues;
(b) Programs that target underserved, disadvantaged, and multicultural populations;
(c) Programs that reach out to schools across the state that would otherwise not have access to specialized environmental, natural science, wildlife, forestry, and agricultural education programs.

(3) Eligible uses of grants include, but are not limited to:

(a) Continuing in-service and preservice training for educators with materials specifically developed to enable educators to teach essential academic learning requirements in a compelling and effective manner;
(b) Proven, innovative programs that align the basic subject areas of the common school curriculum in chapter 28A.230 RCW with the essential academic learning requirements; the basic subject areas should be integrated by using environmental education, natural science, wildlife, forestry, agricultural, and natural environment curricula to meet the needs of various learning styles; and
(c) Support and equipment needed for the implementation of the programs in this section.

(4) Grants may only be disbursed to nonprofit organizations exempt from income tax under section 501(c) of the federal internal revenue code that can provide matching funds or in-kind services.

(5) Grants may not be used for any partisan or political activities.”

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Franklin: “Senator Oke, I would just like to ask for a clarification. I have received mail that you may trap these animals and sell the fur. Along with that, of course, there have been other e-mails in regards to this whole issue of trapping. The second question, will everyone who sets a trap be required to have a permit?”

Senator Oke: “Thank you, Senator Franklin, for the question. What we have before us is a bill that if you have a problem animal on your property, it allows you to go ahead and trap them. If you trap them and the animal is killed swiftly, that would allow you to sell that fur. In other words, if you take any type of animal out there, and I use the situation with my grandson with a BB gun, anything that he takes, we eat and anything that you take, I think you need to use. That is in there for the purpose of not wasting something. I would be against taking of something out there that needs to be controlled and then just wasting it. I hope that answers your question.”

Senator Franklin: “And the second question that I asked? I asked you a second question about permits.”

Senator Oke: “The permits are needed in certain situations. We do have permits not being required by those people that do this federally for us. That is about four different departments. This is what they do in the state of Washington--go out and control those areas that need to be controlled and this is allowed by this bill. Those are professionals and the trappers that are out there are professionals. They need to report to the department the number of the animals that they do capture, so we can keep control on it. The Fish and Wildlife Department totally supports this bill in its present form. They think that they can control our issues out there. Again, for the airports, I have seen a picture where a small plane hit a coyote. It wasn’t a pleasant event for the plane or for the coyote.”

Senator Franklin: “Thank you for your answer.”

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5179.

The fire protection district may elect, by a vote of a majority of the persons residing outside the annexed area who vote on the proposition, to require the annexing code city to assume responsibility for the provision of fire protection, and for the operation and maintenance of the district's property, facilities, and equipment throughout the district and to pay the code city a reasonable fee for such fire protection, operation, and maintenance.

If all of a fire protection district is included in an area that incorporates as a city or town or is annexed to a city or town or fire protection district, all of the assets and liabilities of the fire protection district shall be transferred to the newly incorporated or annexed area.

Renumber the remaining sections and correct any internal references.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Kline: "A point of order, Mr. President. I have read the amendment and I see it has to do with annexation of fire districts with fire protection districts only. I believe, under Rule 25, under the single subject rule, that we have a problem here and I would request your ruling as to whether this amendment, if it were to be adopted, would render Substitute Senate Bill No. 5409 with two subjects in violation of the rule. Thank you."

There being no objection, Senator Mulliken withdrew the amendment on page 12, after line 14, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5409.

MOTION

"Sec. 1. RCW 34.05.570 and 1995 c 403 s 802 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Generally. Except to the extent that this chapter or another statute provides otherwise:

(a) The burden of demonstrating the invalidity of agency action is on the party asserting invalidity; and

(b) The validity of agency action shall be determined in accordance with the standards of review provided in this section, as applied to the agency action at the time it was taken;

(c) The court shall make a separate and distinct ruling on each material issue on which the court’s decision is based; and

(d) The court shall grant relief only if it determines that a person seeking judicial relief has been substantially prejudiced by the action complained of.

(2) Review of rules. (a) A rule may be reviewed by petition for declaratory judgment filed pursuant to this subsection or in the context of any other review proceeding under this section. In an action challenging the validity of a rule, the agency shall be made a party to the proceeding.

(b) The validity of any rule may be determined upon petition for a declaratory judgment addressed to the superior court of Spokane county or Thurston county, when it appears that the rule, or its threatened application, interferes with or impairs or immediately threatens to interfere with or impair the legal rights or privileges of the petitioner. The declaratory judgment order may be entered whether or not the petitioner has first requested the agency to pass upon the validity of the rule in question.

(c) In a proceeding involving review of a rule, the court shall declare the rule invalid only if it finds that: The rule violates constitutional provisions; the rule exceeds the statutory authority of the agency; the rule was adopted without compliance with statutory rule-making procedures; or the rule is arbitrary and capricious.

(3) Review of agency orders in adjudicative proceedings. The court shall grant relief from an agency order in an adjudicative proceeding only if it determines that:

(a) The order, or the statute or rule on which the order is based, is in violation of constitutional provisions on its face or as applied;

(b) The order is outside the statutory authority or jurisdiction of the agency conferred by any provision of law;

(c) The agency has engaged in unlawful procedure or decision-making process, or has failed to follow a prescribed procedure;

(d) The agency has erroneously interpreted or applied the law;

(e) The order is not supported by evidence that is substantial when viewed in light of the whole record before the court, which includes the agency record for judicial review, supplemented by any additional evidence received by the court under this chapter;

(f) The agency has not decided all issues requiring resolution by the agency;

(g) A motion for disqualification under RCW 34.05.425 or 34.12.050 was made and was improperly denied or, if no motion was made, facts are shown to support the grant of such a motion that were not known and were not reasonably discoverable by the challenging party at the appropriate time for making such a motion;

(h) The order is inconsistent with a rule of the agency unless the agency explains the inconsistency by stating facts and reasons to demonstrate a rational basis for inconsistency; or

(I) The order is arbitrary or capricious.

(4) Review of other agency action.

(a) All agency action not reviewable under subsection (2) or (3) of this section shall be reviewed under this subsection.

(b) A person whose rights are violated by an agency’s failure to perform a duty that is required by law to be performed may file a petition for review pursuant to RCW 34.05.514, seeking an order pursuant to this subsection requiring performance. Within twenty days after service of the petition for review, the agency shall file and serve an answer to the petition, made in the same manner as a reply to a complaint in a civil action. The court may hear evidence, pursuant to RCW 34.05.562, on material issues of fact raised by the petition and answer.

(c) Relief for persons aggrieved by the performance of an agency action, including the exercise of discretion, or an action under (b) of this subsection can be granted only if the court determines that the action is:

(I) Unconstitutional;

(ii) Outside the statutory authority of the agency or the authority conferred by a provision of law;

(iii) Arbitrary or capricious; or

(iv) Taken by persons who were not properly constituted as agency officials lawfully entitled to take such action."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Roach: “A point of order, Mr. President. I think I should be speaking to my own amendment, rather than having him speak to mine, if you don’t mind. Shouldn’t he be keeping his remarks pertinent to his own amendment?”

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “The President believes that there is some latitude, when having two amendments at the desk, to explain the differences. However, if he was to go into a long dissertation about your amendment, you would be right, he would be out of order.”

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Hargrove: “Senator Mulliken, I think this bill came out of your committee. My issue here is if we have an emergency situation. We had a bill earlier in the session where we added a provision that if we had some kind of an emergency where the Governor declared--because maybe we have a major earthquake or something like that. Oh, it is Pam’s committee? I will ask Pam: I am asking the wrong person. I am going to ask Senator Roach if she will yield to a question.”

Senator Roach: “I object to the venue shopping.”

Senator Hargrove: “Will you yield to the question?”

Senator Roach: “Certainly, I will.”

Senator Hargrove: “Thank you. The question is there a provision--would this prevent an agency adopting a significant rule if we had some major emergency, whether it be a terrorist attack or an earthquake or something, where our agencies needed to act in the interim--before we get back? Would there still be a way for them to do that?”

Senator Roach: “Yes, there definitely would be. We are very cognizant of those kinds of concerns, especially, over the last couple of years, Senator Hargrove. We want to make sure that government can act when it needs to under an emergency situation. This bill, I think, allows that definitely.”

Senator Hargrove: “So, it is just a permanent rule--emergency rule--so those kinds of things could still continue?”

Senator Roach: “Right.”

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5192, by Senators Zarelli and Oke

Promoting job creation through state investments.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The outset for the state's pension system is dramatically affected by the performance of the state investment board. The recent performance of all pension funds throughout the country has resulted in a greater emphasis on investment expertise and accountability for investment decisions.

The legislation has determined that particular roles and responsibilities are appropriate for various members of the investment board. In delineating these roles and responsibilities, a system of accountability for performance is an essential element.

The legislature also finds that an examination of Washington investment opportunities within the context of Washington's overall investment strategy for diversification and maximizing returns is an appropriate role of the state investment board and that additional resources may be necessary to fully consider those investments.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) The state investment board shall maintain a portion of the board's investment portfolio in the technology investment account, an account that shall be accounted for separately and apart from other moneys invested by the board.

Investments from the account may be made in technology businesses. These investments may be made directly by the board or through the board's investment advisors, including venture capital firms. PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Rasmussen: “A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. Well, as many of you know, my son is with the 446th at McChord. They were activated over the weekend—the aerial port squadron. I think what we need to do is remember the employers of these reservists, because they need to be honored. They let their reservists go now for up to six months. Some of those employers are from the state of Washington; some of them are State Troopers. Of course, there are many, many businesses and then the local employers of the counties and the cities. I think we need to take a moment to say ‘thank you’ to those employers that do honor our reservists and allow them the opportunity to serve our country. While my son is not activated as yet, his aerial port squadron is and so he oversees the forty-eight young men and women that are going to be deployed—some of them will stay at McChord and will serve their activation there and some of them will be all over the world. I just think it is fitting to be able to honor the people that employ these individuals and certainly honor those that serve our country.”

"PART I
General Provisions

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature declares that an individual with capacity has the ability to control decisions relating to his or her own mental health care. The legislature finds that:
(a) Some mental illnesses cause individuals to fluctuate between capacity and incapacity;
(b) During periods when an individual’s capacity is unclear, the individual may be unable to access needed treatment because the individual may be unable to give informed consent;
(c) Early treatment may prevent an individual from becoming so ill that involuntary treatment is necessary; and
(d) Mentally ill individuals need some method of expressing their instructions and preferences for treatment and providing advance consent to or refusal of treatment.

The legislature recognizes that a mental health advance directive can be an essential tool for an individual to express his or her choices at a time when the effects of mental illness have not deprived him or her of the power to express his or her instructions or preferences.

(2) The legislature further finds that:
(a) A mental health advance directive must provide the individual with a full range of choices;
(b) Mentally ill individuals have varying perspectives on whether they want to be able to revoke a directive during periods of incapacity;
(c) For a mental health advance directive to be an effective tool, individuals must be able to choose how they want their directives treated during periods of incapacity; and
(d) There must be clear standards so that treatment providers can readily discern an individual’s treatment choices.

Consequently, the legislature affirms that, pursuant to other provisions of law, a validly executed mental health advance directive is to be respected by agents, guardians, and other surrogate decision makers, health care providers, professional persons, and health care facilities.

(4) An agent may make decisions on behalf of the principal. Unless the principal has revoked the directive, the decisions must be consistent with the instructions and preferences the principal has expressed in the directive, or if not expressed, as otherwise known to the agent. If the principal’s instructions or preferences are not known, the agent shall make a decision he or she determines is in the best interest of the principal.

(5) Except to the extent the right is limited by the appointment or any federal or state law, the agent has the same right as the principal to receive, review, and authorize the use and disclosure of the principal’s health care information when the agent is acting on behalf of the principal and to the extent required for the agent to carry out his or her duties. This subsection shall be construed to be consistent with chapters 70.02, 70.24, 70.96A, 71.05, and 71.34 RCW, and with federal law regarding health care information.

(6) Unless otherwise provided in the appointment and agreed to in writing by the agent, the agent is not, as a result of acting in the capacity of agent, personally liable for the cost of treatment provided to the principal.

(7) An agent may resign or withdraw at any time by giving written notice to the principal. The agent must also give written notice to any health care provider, professional person, or health care facility providing treatment to the principal. The resignation or withdrawal is effective upon receipt unless otherwise specified in the resignation or withdrawal.

(8) If the directive gives the agent authority to act while the principal has capacity, the decisions of the principal supersede those of the agent at any time the principal has capacity.

(9) Unless otherwise provided in the durable power of attorney, the principal may revoke the agent’s appointment as provided under other state law.

PART III
Capacity and Process for Incapacitated Persons

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) For the purposes of this chapter, a principal, agent, professional person, or health care provider may seek a determination whether the principal is incapacitated or has regained capacity.

(2)(a) For the purposes of this chapter, no adult may be declared an incapacitated person except by:

(i) A court, if the request is made by the principal or the principal’s agent;

(ii) One mental health professional and one health care provider; or

(iii) Two health care providers.

(b) One of the persons making the determination under (a)(i) or (iii) of this subsection must be a psychiatrist, psychologist, or a psychiatric advanced registered nurse practitioner.

(3) When a professional person or health care provider requests a capacity determination, he or she shall promptly inform the principal that:

(a) A request for capacity determination has been made; and

(b) The principal may request that the determination be made by a court.

(4) At least one mental health professional or health care provider must personally examine the principal prior to making a capacity determination.

(5)(a) When a court makes a determination whether a principal has capacity, the court shall, at a minimum, be informed by the testimony of one mental health professional familiar with the principal and shall, except for good cause, give the principal an opportunity to appear in court prior to the court making its determination.

(b) To the extent that local court rules permit, any party or witness may testify telephonically.

(6) When a court has made a determination regarding a principal’s capacity and there is a subsequent change in the principal’s condition, subsequent determinations whether the principal is incapacitated may be made in accordance with any of the provisions of subsection (2) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. A principal may bring an action to contest the validity of his or her directive. If an action under this section is commenced while an action to determine the principal’s capacity is pending, the court shall consolidate the actions and decide the issues simultaneously.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) An initial determination of capacity must be completed within forty-eight hours of a request made by a person authorized in section 11 of this act. During the period between the request for an initial determination of the principal’s capacity and completion of that determination, the principal may not be treated unless he or she consents at the time or treatment is otherwise authorized by state or federal law.

(2)(a)(I) When an incapacitated principal is admitted to inpatient treatment pursuant to the provisions of his or her directive, his or her capacity must be reevaluated within seventy-two hours or when there has been a change in the principal’s condition that indicates that he or she appears to have regained capacity.

(ii) When an incapacitated principal has been admitted to and remains in inpatient treatment for more than seventy-two hours pursuant to the provisions of his or her directive, the principal’s capacity must be reevaluated when there has been a change in his or her condition that indicates that he or she appears to have regained capacity.

(iii) When a principal who is being treated on an inpatient basis and has been determined to be incapacitated requests, or his or her agent requests, a redetermination of the principal’s capacity the redetermination must be made within five days of the first request following a determination.

(3)(a) When a principal who has appointed an agent for mental health treatment decisions requests a determination or redetermination of capacity, the agent must make reasonable efforts to obtain the determination or redetermination.

(b) When a principal who does not have an agent for mental health treatment decisions is being treated in an inpatient facility and requests a determination or redetermination of capacity, the mental health professional or health care provider must complete the determination or, if the principal is seeking a determination from a court, must make reasonable efforts to notify the person authorized to make decisions for the principal under RCW 7.70.065 of the principal’s request.

(c) When a principal who does not have an agent for mental health treatment decisions is being treated on an outpatient basis, the person requesting a capacity determination must arrange for the determination.

(4) If no determination has been made within the time frames established in subsection (1) or (2) of this section, the principal shall be considered to have capacity.

(5) When an incapacitated principal is being treated pursuant to his or her directive, a request for a redetermination of capacity does not prevent treatment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. (1) A principal who:

(a) Chose not to be able to revoke his or her directive during any period of incapacity;
(b) Consented to voluntary admission to inpatient mental health treatment, or authorized an agent to consent on the principal’s behalf; and
(c) At the time of admission to inpatient treatment, refuses to be admitted, may only be admitted into inpatient mental health treatment under subsection (2) of this section.
(2) A principal may only be admitted to inpatient mental health treatment under his or her directive if, prior to admission, a physician, and if applicable, his or her agent and shall document the reason in the principal’s medical record.
(a) Evaluates the principal’s mental condition, including a review of reasonably available psychiatric and psychological history, diagnosis, and treatment needs, and determines, in conjunction with another health care provider or mental health professional, that the principal is incapacitated;
(b) Obtains the informed consent of the agent, if any, designated in the directive;
(c) Makes a written determination that the principal needs an inpatient evaluation or is in need of inpatient treatment and that the evaluation or treatment cannot be accomplished in a less restrictive setting; and
(d) Documents in the principal’s medical record a summary of the physician’s findings and recommendations for treatment or evaluation.
(3) In the event the admitting physician is not a psychiatrist, the principal shall receive a complete psychological assessment by a mental health professional within twenty-four hours of admission to determine the continued need for inpatient evaluation or treatment.
(4)(a) If it is determined that the principal has capacity, then the principal may only be admitted to, or remain in, inpatient treatment if he or she consents at the time or is detained under the involuntary treatment provisions of chapter 70.96A, 71.05, or 71.34 RCW.
(b) If a principal who is determined by two health care providers or one mental health professional and one health care provider to be incapacitated continues to refuse inpatient treatment, the principal may immediately seek injunctive relief for release from the facility.
(5) If, at the end of the period of time that the principal or the principal’s agent, if any, has consented to voluntary inpatient treatment, but no more than fourteen days after admission, the principal has not regained capacity or has regained capacity but refuses to consent to the provision for additional treatment, the principal must be released during reasonable daylight hours, unless detained under chapter 70.96A, 71.05, or 71.34 RCW.
(6)(a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, any principal who is voluntarily admitted to inpatient mental health treatment under this chapter shall have all the rights provided to individuals who are voluntarily admitted to inpatient treatment under chapter 71.05, 71.34, or 72.23 RCW.
(b) Without notice, RCW 71.05.050 regarding consent to inpatient treatment for a specified length of time, the choices an incapacitated principal expressed in his or her directive shall control, provided, however, that a principal who takes action demonstrating a desire to be discharged, in addition to making statements requesting to be discharged, shall be discharged, and no principal shall be restrained in any way in order to prevent his or her discharge.
(7) Consent to inpatient admission in a directive is effective only while the professional person, health care provider, and health care facility are in substantial compliance with the material provisions of the directive related to inpatient treatment.

PART IV Provider Responsibilities and Immunities

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. (1) Upon receiving a directive, a health care provider, professional person, or health care facility providing treatment to the principal, or persons acting under the direction of the health care provider, professional person, or health care facility, shall make the directive a part of the principal’s medical record and shall be deemed to have actual knowledge of the directive’s contents.
(2) When acting under authority of a directive, a health care provider, professional person, or health care facility shall act in accordance with the provisions of the directive to the fullest extent possible, unless in the determination of the health care provider, professional person, or health care facility:
(a) Compliance with the provision would violate the accepted standard of care established in RCW 7.70.040;
(b) The requested treatment is not available; or
(c) Compliance with the provision would violate applicable law; or
(d) It is an emergency situation and compliance would endanger any person’s life or health.
(3)(a) In the case of a principal who is incarcerated or detained under the involuntary treatment provisions of chapter 10.77, 70.96A, 71.05, 71.09, or 71.34 RCW, those provisions of a principal’s directive that, in the determination of the health care provider, professional person, or health care facility, are inconsistent with the purpose of the commitment or with any order of the court relating to the commitment are invalid during the commitment.
(b) Remaining provisions of a principal’s directive are advisory while the principal is committed or detained.
(4) The treatment provider is encouraged to follow the remaining provisions of the directive, except as provided in (a) of this subsection or subsection (2) of this section; and (b) if, without the benefit of the specific treatment measure, there is a significant possibility that the person will harm self or others before an improvement of the person’s condition occurs.
(5)(a) If the health care provider, professional person, or health care facility is, at the time of receiving the directive, unable or unwilling to comply with any part or parts of the directive for any reason, the health care provider, professional person, or health care facility shall promptly notify the principal and, if applicable, his or her agent and shall document the reason in the principal’s medical record.
(b) If the health care provider, professional person, or health care facility is acting under authority of a directive and is unable to comply with any part or parts of the directive for the reasons listed in subsection (2) or (3) of this section, the health care provider, professional person, or health care facility shall promptly notify the principal and, if applicable, his or her agent, and shall document the reason in the principal’s medical record.
(6) In the event that one or more parts of the directive are not followed because of one or more of the reasons set forth in subsection (2) or (4) of this section, all other parts of the directive shall be followed.
(7) If no provider-patient relationship has previously been established, nothing in this chapter requires the establishment of a provider-patient relationship.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. Where a principal consents in a directive to electroconvulsive therapy, the health care provider, professional person, or health care facility, or persons acting under the direction of the health care provider, professional person, or health care facility, shall document the therapy and the reason it was used in the principal’s medical record.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. (1) For the purposes of this section, “provider” means a private or public agency, government entity, health care provider, professional person, health care facility, or person acting under the direction of a health care provider or professional person, health care facility, or long-term care facility.
PART V Interpretive Provisions

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. (1) Where an incapacitated principal has executed more than one valid directive and has not revoked any of the directives:
   (a) The directive most recently created shall be treated as the principal’s mental health treatment preferences and instructions as to any inconsistent or conflicting provisions, unless provided otherwise in either document.
   (b) Where a directive executed under this chapter is inconsistent with a directive executed under any other chapter, the most recently created directive controls as to the inconsistent provisions.
   (2) Where an incapacitated principal has appointed more than one agent under chapter 11.94 RCW with authority to make mental health treatment decisions, RCW 11.94.010 controls.
   (3) The treatment provider shall inquire of a principal whether the principal is subject to any court orders that would affect the implementation of his or her directive.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. (1) Directives validly executed before the effective date of this section shall be given full force and effect until revoked, superseded, or expired.
   (2) A directive validly executed in another political jurisdiction is valid to the extent permitted by Washington state law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. Any person with reasonable cause to believe that a directive has been created or revoked under circumstances amounting to fraud, duress, or undue influence may petition the court for appointment of a guardian for the person or to review the actions of the agent or person alleged to be involved in improper conduct under RCW 11.94.090 or 74.34.110.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. The fact that a person has executed a directive does not constitute an indication of mental disorder or that the person is not capable of providing informed consent.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. A person shall not be required to execute or to refrain from executing a directive, nor shall the existence of a directive be used as a criterion for insurance, as a condition for receiving mental or physical health services, or as a condition of admission to or discharge from a health care facility or long-term care facility.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. No person or health care facility may use or threaten abuse, neglect, financial exploitation, or abandonment of the principal, as those terms are defined in RCW 74.34.020, to carry out the directive.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. A directive does not limit any authority otherwise provided in Title 10, 70, or 71 RCW, or any other applicable state or federal laws to detain a person, take a person into custody, or to admit, retain, or treat a person in a health care facility.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. (1) If a principal who is a resident of a long-term care facility is admitted to inpatient mental health treatment pursuant to his or her directive, the principal shall be allowed to be readmitted to the same long-term care facility as if his or her inpatient admission had been for a physical condition on the same basis that the principal would be readmitted under state or federal statute or rule when:
   (a) The treating facility’s professional staff determine that inpatient mental health treatment is no longer medically necessary for the resident.
   (b) The provider provides treatment to a principal in the absence of actual knowledge of the existence of a directive, or provides treatment pursuant to a directive in the absence of actual knowledge of the revocation of the directive;
   (c) A health care provider or mental health professional determines that the principal is or is not incapacitated for the purpose of deciding whether to proceed according to a directive, and acts upon that determination;
   (d) The provider does not provide treatment according to the directive for one of the reasons authorized under section 15 of this act; or
   (e) The provider provides treatment according to the principal’s directive.

Mental Health Advance Directive

NOTICE TO PERSONS CREATING A MENTAL HEALTH ADVANCE DIRECTIVE

This is an important legal document. It creates an advance directive for mental health treatment. Before signing this document you should know these important facts:

(1) This document is called an advance directive and allows you to make decisions in advance about your mental health treatment, including medications, short-term admission to inpatient treatment and electroconvulsive therapy.
YOU DO NOT HAVE TO FILL OUT OR SIGN THIS FORM.
IF YOU DO NOT SIGN THIS FORM, IT WILL NOT TAKE EFFECT.

If you choose to complete and sign this document, you may still decide to leave some items blank.

(2) You have the right to appoint a person as your agent to make treatment decisions for you. You must notify your agent that you have appointed him or her as an agent. The person you appoint has a duty to act consistently with your wishes made known by you. If your agent does not know what your wishes are, he or she has a duty to act in your best interest. Your agent has the right to withdraw from the appointment at any time.

(3) The instructions you include with this advance directive and the authority you give your agent to act will only become effective under the conditions you select in this document. You may choose to limit this directive and your agent’s authority to times when you are incapacitated or to times when you are exhibiting symptoms or behavior that you specify. You may also make this directive effective immediately. No matter when you choose to make this directive effective, your treatment providers must still seek your informed consent at all times that you have capacity to give informed consent.

(4) You have the right to revoke this document in writing at any time you have capacity.

YOU MAY NOT REVOKE THIS DIRECTIVE WHEN YOU HAVE BEEN FOUND TO BE INCAPACITATED UNLESS YOU HAVE SPECIFICALLY STATED IN THIS DIRECTIVE THAT YOU WANT IT TO BE REVOCABLE WHEN YOU ARE INCAPACITATED.

(5) This directive will stay in effect until you revoke it unless you specify an expiration date. If you specify an expiration date and you are incapacitated at the time it expires, it will remain in effect until you have capacity to make treatment decisions again unless you chose to be able to revoke it while you are incapacitated and you revoke the directive.

(6) You cannot use your advance directive to consent to civil commitment. The procedures that apply to your advance directive are different than those provided for in the Involuntary Treatment Act. Involuntary treatment is a different process.

(7) If there is anything in this directive that you do not understand, you should ask a lawyer to explain it to you.

(8) You should be aware that there are some circumstances where your provider may not have to follow your directive.

(9) You should discuss any treatment decisions in your directive with your provider.

(10) You may ask the court to rule on the validity of your directive.

PART I.
STATEMENT OF INTENT TO CREATE A MENTAL HEALTH ADVANCE DIRECTIVE

I, . . . . . . . . . . being a person with capacity, willfully and voluntarily execute this mental health advance directive so that my choices regarding my mental health care will be carried out in circumstances when I am unable to express my instructions and preferences regarding my mental health care. If a guardian is appointed by a court to make mental health decisions for me, I intend this document to take precedence over all other means of ascertaining my intent.

The fact that I may have left blanks in this directive does not affect its validity in any way. I intend that all completed sections be followed. If I have not expressed a choice, my agent should make the decision that he or she determines is in my best interest. I intend this directive to take precedence over any other directives I have previously executed, to the extent that they are inconsistent with this document, or unless I expressly state otherwise in either document.

I understand that I may revoke this directive in whole or in part if I am a person with capacity. I understand that I cannot revoke this directive if a court, two health care providers, or one mental health professional and one health care provider find that I am an incapacitated person, unless, when I executed this directive, I chose to be able to revoke this directive when incapacitated.

I understand that, except as otherwise provided in law, revocation must be in writing. I understand that nothing in this directive, or in my refusal of treatment to which I consent in this directive, authorizes any health care provider, professional person, health care facility, or agent appointed in this directive to use or threaten to use abuse, neglect, financial exploitation, or abandonment to carry out my directive.

I understand that there are some circumstances where my provider may not have to follow my directive.
PART II.
WHEN THIS DIRECTIVE IS EFFECTIVE

YOU MUST COMPLETE THIS PART FOR YOUR DIRECTIVE TO BE VALID.

I intend that this directive become effective (YOU MUST CHOOSE ONLY ONE):

. . . . . . Immediately upon my signing of this directive.

. . . . . . If I become incapacitated.

. . . . . . When the following circumstances, symptoms, or behaviors occur:

I want this directive to (YOU MUST CHOOSE ONLY ONE):

. . . . . . Remain valid and in effect for an indefinite period of time.

. . . . . . Automatically expire . . . . . . years from the date it was created.

PART IV.
WHEN I MAY REVOKE THIS DIRECTIVE

YOU MUST COMPLETE THIS PART FOR THIS DIRECTIVE TO BE VALID.

I intend that I be able to revoke this directive (YOU MUST CHOOSE ONLY ONE):

. . . . . . Only when I have capacity.

I understand that choosing this option means I may only revoke this directive if I have capacity. I further understand that if I choose this option and become incapacitated while this directive is in effect, I may receive treatment that I specify in this directive, even if I object at the time.

. . . . . . Even if I am incapacitated.

I understand that choosing this option means that I may revoke this directive even if I am incapacitated. I further understand that if I choose this option and revoke this directive while I am incapacitated I may not receive treatment that I specify in this directive, even if I want the treatment.

PART VII
Amendatory Sections

Sec. 27. RCW 11.94.010 and 1995 c 297 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever a principal designates another as his or her attorney in fact or agent, by a power of attorney in writing, and the writing contains the words "This power of attorney shall not be affected by disability of the principal," or "This power of attorney shall be exercisable notwithstanding the principal’s disability," the authority of the attorney in fact or agent is exercisable on behalf of the principal as provided notwithstanding later disability or incapacity of the principal at law or later unincorporate as to whether the principal is dead or alive. All acts done by the attorney in fact or agent pursuant to the power during any period of disability or incompetence or uncertainty as to whether the principal is dead or alive have the same effect and inure to the benefit of and bind the principal or the principal’s guardian or heirs, devisees, and personal representative as if the principal were alive, competent, and not disabled. A principal may nominate, by a durable power of attorney, the guardian or limited guardian of his or her estate or person for consideration by the court if protective proceedings for the principal’s person or estate are thereafter commenced. The court shall make its appointment in accordance with the principal’s most recent nomination in a durable power of attorney except for good cause or disqualification. If a guardian thereafter is appointed for the principal, the attorney in fact or agent, during the continuance of the appointment, shall account to the guardian rather than the principal. The guardian has the same power the principal would have had if the principal were not disabled or incompetent, to revoke, suspend or terminate all or any part of the power of attorney or agency.

(2) Persons shall place reasonable reliance on any determination of disability or incompetence as provided in the instrument that specifies the time and the circumstances under which the power of attorney document becomes effective.

(3)(a) A principal may authorize his or her attorney-in-fact to provide informed consent for health care decisions on the principal’s behalf. If a principal has appointed more than one agent with authority to make mental health treatment decisions in accordance with a directive under chapter 71. -- RCW (sections 1 through 26 of this act), to the extent of any conflict, the most recently appointed agent shall be treated as the principal’s agent for mental health treatment decisions unless provided otherwise in either appointment.

(b) Unless he or she is the spouse, or adult child or brother or sister of the principal, none of the following persons may act as the attorney-in-fact for the principal: Any of the principal’s physicians, the physician’s employees, or the owners, administrators, or employees of the health care facility or long-term care facility as defined in RCW 43.190.020 where the principal resides or receives care. Except when the principal has consented in a mental health advance directive executed under chapter 71. -- RCW (sections 1 through 26 of this act) to inpatient admission or electroconvulsive therapy, this authorization is subject to the same limitations as those that apply to a guardian under RCW 11.92.043(5) (a) through (c).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 28. A new section is added to chapter 11.94 RCW to read as follows:

No person appointed by a principal as an agent to make mental health treatment decisions pursuant to a mental health advance directive under chapter 71. -- RCW (sections 1 through 26 of this act) shall be compensated for the performance of his or her duties as an agent to make mental health treatment decisions. This section does not prohibit an agent from receiving reimbursement for reasonable expenses incurred in the performance of his or her duties under chapter 71. -- RCW (sections 1 through 26 of this act).

Sec. 29. RCW 7.70.065 and 1987 c 162 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Informed consent for health care for a patient who is not competent, as defined in RCW 11.88.010(1)((b)) (c), to consent may be obtained from a person authorized to consent on behalf of such patient. Persons authorized to provide informed consent to health care on behalf of a patient who is not competent to consent shall be a member of one of the following classes of persons in the following order of priority:

(a) The appointed guardian of the patient, if any;

(b) The individual, if any, to whom the patient has given a durable power of attorney that encompasses the authority to make health care decisions;

(c) The patient’s spouse;

(d) Children of the patient who are at least eighteen years of age;

(e) Parents of the patient; and

(f) Adult brothers and sisters of the patient.

(2) If the physician seeking informed consent for proposed health care of the patient who is not competent to consent makes reasonable efforts to locate and secure authorization from a competent person in the first or succeeding class and finds no such person available, authorization may be given by any person in the next class in the order of descending priority. However, no person under this section may provide informed consent to health care:

(a) If a person of higher priority under this section has refused to give such authorization; or

(b) If there are two or more individuals in the same class and the decision is not unanimous among all available members of that class.

(3) Before any person authorized to provide informed consent on behalf of a patient not competent to consent exercises that authority, the person must first determine in good faith that that patient, if competent, would consent to the proposed health care. If such a determination cannot be made, the decision to consent to the proposed health care may be made only after determining that the proposed health care is in the patient’s best interests.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 30. A new section is added to chapter 7.70 RCW to read as follows:

Consent to treatment or admission contained in a validly executed mental health advance directive constitutes informed consent for purposes of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 31. A new section is added to chapter 9A.60 RCW to read as follows:

(1) For purposes of this section "mental health advance directive" means a written document that is a "mental health advance directive" as defined in section 2 of this act.

(2) A person is guilty of fraudulent creation or revocation of a mental health advance directive if he or she knowingly:

(a) Makes, completes, alters, or revokes the mental health advance directive of another without the principal’s consent;

(b) Utters, offers, or puts off as true a mental health advance directive that he or she knows to be forged; or

(c) Obtains or prevents the signature of a principal or witness to a mental health advance directive by deception or duress.

(3) Fraudulent creation or revocation of a mental health advance directive is a class C felony.

On motion of Senator Fraser, the following amendment by Senators Fraser, Thibaudeau and Kohl-Welles was adopted:

"Sec. 4. RCW 9.94A.535 and 2002 c 169 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The court may impose a sentence outside the standard sentence range for an offense if it finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence. Whenever a sentence outside the standard sentence range is imposed, the court shall set forth the reasons for its decision in written findings of fact and conclusions of law. A sentence outside the standard sentence range shall be a determinate sentence unless it is imposed on an offender sentenced under RCW 9.94A.712. An exceptional sentence imposed on an offender sentenced under RCW 9.94A.712 shall be to a minimum term set by the court and a maximum term equal to the statutory maximum sentence for the offense of conviction under chapter 9A.20 RCW.

If the sentencing court finds that an exceptional sentence outside the standard sentence range should be imposed, the sentence is subject to review only as provided for in RCW 9.94A.585(4).

A departure from the standards in RCW 9.94A.589 (1) and (2) governing whether sentences are to be served concurrently or concurrently is an exceptional sentence subject to the limitations in this section, and may be appealed by the offender or the state as set forth in RCW 9.94A.585 (2) through (6).

The following are illustrative factors which the court may consider in the exercise of its discretion to impose an exceptional sentence. The following are illustrative only and are not intended to be exclusive reasons for exceptional sentences:

(1) Mitigating Circumstances

(a) To a significant degree, the victim was an initiator, willing participant, aggressor, or provoker of the incident.

(b) Before detection, the defendant compensated, or made a good faith effort to compensate, the victim of the criminal conduct for any damage or injury sustained.

(c) The defendant committed the crime under duress, coercion, threat, or compulsion insufficient to constitute a complete defense but which significantly affected his or her conduct.

(d) The defendant, with no apparent predisposition to do so, was induced by others to participate in the crime.

(e) The defendant’s capacity to appreciate the wrongfulness of his or her conduct, or to conform his or her conduct to the requirements of the law, was significantly impaired. Voluntary use of drugs or alcohol is excluded.

(f) The offense was principally accomplished by another person and the defendant manifested extreme caution or sincere concern for the safety or well-being of the victim.

(g) The operation of the multiple offense policy of RCW 9.94A.589 results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly excessive in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.

(h) The defendant or the defendant’s children suffered a continuing pattern of physical or sexual abuse by the victim of the offense and the offense is a response to that abuse.

(i) Aggravating Circumstances

(a) The defendant’s conduct during the commission of the current offense manifested deliberate cruelty to the victim.

(b) The defendant knew or should have known that the victim of the current offense was particularly vulnerable or incapable of resistance due to extreme youth, advanced age, disability, or ill health.

(c) The current offense was a violent offense, and the defendant knew that the victim of the current offense was pregnant.

(d) The current offense was a major economic offense or series of offenses, so identified by a consideration of any of the following factors:

(I) The current offense involved multiple victims or multiple incidents per victim;

(ii) The current offense involved attempted or actual monetary loss substantially greater than typical for the offense;

(iii) The current offense involved a high degree of sophistication or planning or occurred over a lengthy period of time; or
(iv) The defendant used his or her position of trust, confidence, or fiduciary responsibility to facilitate the commission of the current offense.
(e) The current offense was a major violation of the Uniform Controlled Substances Act, chapter 69.50 RCW (VUCSA), related to trafficking in controlled substances, which was more onerous than the typical offense of its statutory definition: The presence of ANY of the following may identify a current offense as a major VUCSA:
(i) The current offense involved at least three separate transactions in which controlled substances were sold, transferred, or possessed with intent to do so;
(ii) The current offense involved an attempted or actual sale or transfer of controlled substances in quantities substantially larger than for personal use;
(iii) The current offense involved the manufacture of controlled substances for use by other parties;
(iv) The circumstances of the current offense reveal the offender to have occupied a high position in the drug distribution hierarchy;
(v) The current offense involved a high degree of sophistication or planning, occurred over a lengthy period of time, or involved a broad geographic area of disbursement; or
(vi) The offender used his or her position or status to facilitate the commission of the current offense, including positions of trust, confidence or fiduciary responsibility (e.g., pharmacist, physician, or other medical professional).
(f) The current offense included a finding of sexual motivation pursuant to RCW 9.94A.835.
(g) The offense was part of an ongoing pattern of sexual abuse of the same victim under the age of eighteen years manifested by multiple incidents over a prolonged period of time.
(h) The current offense involved domestic violence, as defined in RCW 10.99.020, and one or more of the following was present:
   (I) The offense was part of an ongoing pattern of psychological, physical, or sexual abuse of the victim manifested by multiple incidents over a prolonged period of time;
   (ii) The offense occurred within sight or sound of the victim’s or the offender’s minor children under the age of eighteen years; or
   (iii) The offender’s conduct during the commission of the current offense manifested deliberate cruelty or intimidation of the victim.
(i) The operation of the multiple offense policy of RCW 9.94A.589 results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly too lenient in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.
(j) The defendant’s prior unscored misdemeanor or prior unscored foreign criminal history results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly too lenient in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.
(k) The offense resulted in the pregnancy of a child victim of rape.
(l) The defendant established or promoted the relationship for the primary purpose of victimization.
(m) The operation of the multiple offense policy of RCW 9.94A.589 results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly too lenient in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.
(n) The defendant established or promoted the relationship for the primary purpose of victimization.

SENATE BILL NO. 5106, by Senators Hewitt, Hale, T. Sheldon, Doumit, Sheahan, Rasmussen, Morton, Mulliken, Honeyford, Deccio and Parlette

Concerning the annual consumptive quantity of a water right.

MOTION

Senator Morton moved that Substitute Senate Bill No. 5106 be substituted for Senate Bill No. 5106.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Fraser: “A point of order, Mr. President. I believe that the substitute bill exceeds the scope and object of the underlying bill, and I would like to explain my reasons therefore. The President has been very consistent and very clear over the years that in considering whether an amendment is consistent with the scope and object of the bill. You look not only at the title, but you also look at the subject matter of the bill. In this case, the title of the bill is water rights and the content of the bill is very specific. It substitutes one standard for another in determining the amount of water that can be involved in the change or transfer to either expand acreage or add usage.

“The original bill has one sentence to add one section to the RCW. In contrast, the substitute bill has a vast expansion of the scope and object of the bill. It includes the entire content of two other bills before the Senate. One of which is still in the Rules Committee and one which is in the original Natural Resources Committee. It adds the entirety of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5025, which repeals relinquishment, which is one of the fundamental pillars of water law in our state--surface and ground water and affects all water rights in the state. It also incorporates Senate Bill No. 5481, which would greatly expand the kinds of agricultural water transfers that can occur without any general review and notice to change from crop to animal without any review--just could do it.

“So, I respectfully request that the President rule the substitute bill is beyond the scope and object of Senate Bill No. 5106.”

Granting authority to the department of ecology to address concerns with lead-based paint activities.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Sheahan, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5586 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5586 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Hargrove, the following striking amendment by Senators Hargrove, Morton and Doumit was adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that lead hazards associated with lead-based paint represent a significant and preventable environmental hazard. Lead-based paint activities are a major source of lead exposure to the public.

Census data show that one million five hundred sixty thousand homes in Washington state were built prior to 1978 when the sale of residential lead-based paint was banned. These homes are believed to contain some lead-based paint.

Lead negatively affects every system of the body. It is harmful to individuals of all ages and is especially harmful to children, fetuses, and adults of childbearing age. The effects of lead on a child’s cognitive, behavioral, and developmental abilities may necessitate large expenditures of public funds for health care and special education. The irreversible damage to children and subsequent expenditures could be avoided if exposure to lead is reduced.

(2) The federal government regulates lead poisoning and lead hazard reduction through:

(a)(i) The lead-based paint poisoning prevention act;
(ii) The lead contamination control act;
(iii) The safe drinking water act;
(iv) The resource conservation and recovery act of 1976; and
(v) The residential lead-based paint hazard reduction act of 1992; and
(b) Implementing regulations of:
(i) The environmental protection agency;
(ii) The department of housing and urban development;
(iii) The occupational safety and health administration; and
(iv) The centers for disease control and prevention.

(3) In 1992, congress passed the federal residential lead-based paint hazard reduction act, which allows states to provide for the accreditation of lead-based paint activities programs, the certification of persons completing such training programs, and the licensing of lead-based paint activities contractors under standards developed by the United States environmental protection agency.

(4) The legislature recognizes the state’s need to protect the public from exposure to lead hazards. A qualified and properly trained work force is needed to assist in the prevention, detection, reduction, and elimination of hazards associated with lead-based paint. The purpose of training workers, supervisors, inspectors, risk assessors, and project designers engaged in lead-based paint activities is to protect building occupants, particularly children ages six years and younger from potential lead-based paint hazards and exposures both during and after lead-based paint activities. Qualified and properly trained individuals and firms will help to ensure lead-based paint activities are conducted in a way that protects the health of the citizens of Washington state and safeguards the environment. The state lead-based paint activities program requires that all lead-based paint activities be performed by certified personnel trained by an accredited program, and that all lead-based paint activities meet minimum work practice standards established by the department of community, trade, and economic development. Therefore, the lead-based paint activities accreditation, training, and certification program shall be established in accordance with this chapter. The lead-based paint activities accreditation, training, and certification program shall be administered by the department of community, trade, and economic development and shall be used as a means to assure the protection of the general public from exposure to lead hazards.

(5) For the welfare of the people of the state of Washington, this chapter establishes a lead-based paint activities program within the department of community, trade, and economic development to protect the general public from exposure to lead hazards and to ensure the availability of a trained and qualified work force to identify and address lead-based paint hazards.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Abatement" means any measure or set of measures designed to permanently eliminate lead-based paint hazards.
(a) Abatement includes, but is not limited to:
(i) The removal of paint and dust, the permanent enclosure or encapsulation of lead-based paint, the replacement of painted surfaces or fixtures, or the removal or permanent covering of soil, when lead-based paint hazards are present in such paint, dust, or soil; and
(ii) All preparation, cleanup, disposal, and postabatement clearance testing activities associated with such measures.
(b) Specifically, abatement includes, but is not limited to:
(i) Projects for which there is a written contract or other documentation, which provides that an individual or firm will be conducting activities in or to a residential dwelling or child-occupied facility that:
(A) Shall result in the permanent elimination of lead-based paint hazards; or
(B) Are designed to permanently eliminate lead-based paint hazards and are described in (a)(i) and (ii) of this subsection;
(ii) Projects resulting in the permanent elimination of lead-based paint hazards, conducted by certified firms or individuals, unless such projects are covered by (c) of this subsection;
(iii) Projects resulting in the permanent elimination of lead-based paint hazards, conducted by firms or individuals who, through their company name or promotional literature, represent, advertise, or hold themselves out to be in the business of performing lead-based paint activities as identified and defined by this section, unless such projects are covered by (c) of this subsection; or
(iv) Projects resulting in the permanent elimination of lead-based paint hazards, that are conducted in response to state or local abatement orders.
(c) Abatement does not include renovation, remodeling, landscaping, or other activities, when such activities are not designed to permanently eliminate lead-based paint hazards, but, instead, are designed to repair, restore, or remodel a given structure or dwelling, even though these activities may incidentally result in a reduction or elimination of lead-based paint hazards. Furthermore, abatement does not include interim controls, operations and maintenance activities, or other measures and activities designed to temporarily, but not permanently, reduce lead-based paint hazards.

(2) "Accredited training program" means a training program that has been accredited by the department to provide training for individuals engaged in lead-based paint activities.

(3) "Certified training program" means an individual who has been trained by an accredited training program, meets all the qualifications established by the department, and is certified by the department to conduct inspections.
NEW SECT. Sec. 3. (1) The department shall administer and enforce a state program for worker training and certification, and training program accreditation, which shall include those program elements necessary to assume responsibility for federal requirements as set forth in Title IV of the toxic substances control act (15 U.S.C. Sec. 2601 et seq.), the residential lead-paint hazardous activity reduction act of 1992 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 4851 et seq.), 40 C.F.R. Part 745, Subparts L and Q (1996), and Title X of the housing and community development act of 1992 (P.L. 102-550).

(2) The department is authorized to adopt rules that are consistent with federal requirements to implement a state program. Rules adopted under this section shall:

(a) Establish minimum accreditation requirements for lead-based paint activities for training providers;

(b) Establish work practice standards for conduct of lead-based paint activities;

(c) Establish certification requirements for individuals and firms engaged in lead-based paint activities including provisions for recognizing certifications accomplished under existing certification programs;

(d) Require the use of certified personnel in all lead-based paint activities;

(e) Be revised as necessary to comply with federal law and rules and to maintain eligibility for federal funding;

(f) Facilitate reciprocity and communication with other states having a lead-based paint certification program;

(g) Provide for decertification, deaccreditation, and financial assurance for a person certified or accredited by the department to conduct risk assessments and sample for the presence of lead in dust and soil for the purposes of abatement clearance testing.

(3) The department may accept federal funds for the administration of the program.

(4) This program shall equal, but not exceed, legislative authority under federal requirements as set forth in Title IV of the toxic substances control act (15 U.S.C. Sec. 2601 et seq.), 40 C.F.R. Part 745, Subparts L and Q (1996), and Title X of the housing and community development act of 1992 (P.L. 102-550).

(5) Any rules adopted by the department shall be consistent with federal laws, regulations, and requirements relating to lead-based paint activities specified by the residential lead-based paint hazard reduction act of 1992 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 4851 et seq.) and Title X of the housing and community development act of 1992 (P.L. 102-550), and rules adopted pursuant to chapter 70.105D RCW, to ensure consistency in regulatory action. The rules may not be more restrictive than corresponding federal and state regulations unless such stringency is specifically authorized by this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The department shall establish a program for certification of persons involved in lead-based paint activities and for accreditation of training providers in compliance with federal laws and rules.

(2) Rules adopted under this section shall:

(a) Establish minimum accreditation requirements for lead-based paint activities for training providers;

(b) Establish work practice standards for conduct of lead-based paint activities;

(c) Establish certification requirements for individuals and firms engaged in lead-based paint activities including provisions for recognizing certifications accomplished under existing certification programs;

(d) Require the use of certified personnel in any lead-based paint hazard reduction activity;

(e) Be revised as necessary to comply with federal law and rules and to maintain eligibility for federal funding;

(f) Facilitate reciprocity and communication with other states having a lead-based paint certification program;

(g) Provide for decertification, deaccreditation, and financial assurance for a person certified or accredited by the department to conduct risk assessments and sample for the presence of lead in dust and soil for the purposes of abatement clearance testing.

(3) This program shall equal, but not exceed, legislative authority under federal requirements as set forth in Title IV of the toxic substances control act (15 U.S.C. Sec. 2601 et seq.), 40 C.F.R. PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator West: "Mr. President, a parliamentary inquiry. We are currently on the substitute bill and the gentle lady from the Twenty-eighth District has offered amendments to the substitute bill. I believe she has the same amendments proposed to the striking amendment that will follow. If these amendments were adopted on the substitute bill, and then the striking amendment be adopted, these amendments would then go away. So, we would have to consider these current amendments again to the striking amendment. I think she has a draft if that was her choice. If she were to withdraw these amendments now--her amendments to the striking amendment--could we still consider them?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT
President Owen: “That is correct, Senator. If the striking amendment passed, she could prefert the striking amendment with the amendments together. If she withdrew these amendments, she could still offer the amendments to the striking amendment. If these amendments should go down, she would not be able to offer the amendments again.”

MOTION

On motion of Senator Winsley, the amendments by Senators Winsley and Kline on page 17, lines 5 and 9 were withdrawn.

MOTION

Senator Finkbeiner moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Finkbeiner and Prentice be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds, declares, and determines that:
(a) Washington’s cities and counties under the growth management act are required to encourage urban growth in urban growth areas as determined by the state’s twenty-year growth projections;
(b) One of the growth management act’s planning goals is to encourage the availability of affordable housing for all residents of the state and promote a variety of housing types;
(c) Condominium construction needs to be encouraged to achieve growth management act mandated urban densities and ensure that residents of the state, particularly those in urban growth areas, have a broad range of homeownership choices;
(d) Ambiguity in the condominium act, particularly relating to implied warranties of quality, has led to legal actions and threats of legal action that allege minor or immaterial defects and deviations in construction that have no effect on the structure, safety, or marketability of condominiums;
(e) The result of these legal challenges is that many home builders cannot obtain insurance to build condominiums and as a result condominium construction is declining thereby reducing rather than expanding home ownership opportunities for the residents of Washington state; and
(f) Legislative action is needed to encourage residential condominium construction by:
(i) Requiring alternative methods of dispute resolution such as arbitration and setting standards to allow resolution of disputes in an expeditious and fair manner;
(ii) Requiring expanded disclosure to owners if implied warranties are excluded, modified, or replaced with an express warranty of quality;
(iii) Protecting associations, boards, and officers from liability for deciding to not commence a judicial proceeding or arbitration;
(iv) Requiring expanded disclosure to purchasers of legal proceeding;
(v) Clarifying that an express written warranty applies to claims against the declarant brought by the association or subsequent unit owners;
(vi) Clarifying that implied warranties of quality extend only to defects or deviations that affect the structural integrity of the unit; the safety of unit owners; or substantially impair the marketability of the unit for its intended purpose. Defects or deviations that can be discovered through normal purchaser inspections are not intended to be covered by the implied warranty of quality; and
(vii) Allowing an express written warranty of quality to replace implied warranties;
(2) It is the intent of the legislature that this act clarify procedures for resolving claims relating to condominium construction and ensure that both a broad range of homeownership opportunities continue to be available to the residents of the state and that cities and counties can achieve density mandates of the growth management act.
(3) It is the further intent of the legislature that this act eliminate litigation over minor defects and deviations that have no material effect on the use of a condominium for its intended purpose.
Sec. 2. RCW 64.34.100 and 1989 c 43 s 1-113 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The remedies provided by this chapter shall be liberally administered to the end that the aggrieved party is put in a good position as if the other party had fully performed. However, consequential, special, or punitive damages may not be awarded except as specifically provided in this chapter or by other rule of law.
(2) Except as set forth in this chapter, any right or obligation declared by this chapter is enforceable by judicial proceeding. Any claim by an association and/or its board of directors relating to construction defects or deviations or claims by more than one unit owner relating to the same defects or deviations shall be resolved through binding arbitration.
(3) Binding arbitration involving construction defects or deviations under RCW 64.34.445 or 64.34.450 shall comply with the following minimum standards:
(a) Unless the parties agree otherwise, all disputes must be heard by one qualified arbitrator. When three arbitrators are used, one shall be appointed by each of the disputing parties and the third, who will chair the panel, appointed by the first two arbitrators. Should the required number of arbitrators fail to be appointed, an arbitrator or arbitrators shall be appointed by the superior court of the county in which the condominium is located pursuant to RCW 7.04.050;
(b) Arbitrators must have experience with construction and engineering standards and practices, written construction warranties, or construction dispute resolution and a person shall not serve as an arbitrator in any arbitration in which that person has any financial or personal interest;
(c) The arbitration hearing must be conducted in a manner that permits full, fair, and expeditious presentation of the case by both parties. The arbitrators are bound by the law of Washington state. Parties may but are not required to be represented by attorneys. The arbitrators may permit discovery to ensure a fair hearing but may limit the scope or manner of discovery for good cause to avoid excessive delay costs to the parties. Unless the parties agree otherwise or the arbitrator or arbitrators grant an extension for good cause, the arbitration hearing shall be completed within one year of the initial demand for arbitration;
(d) Arbitration shall be conducted under the condominium or construction dispute resolution rules of the American arbitration association and chapter 7.04 RCW unless the parties elect to use the rules of the superior court. The expenses of witnesses including expert witnesses shall be paid by the party producing such witnesses. All other expenses of arbitration shall be borne equally by the parties, unless they agree otherwise or unless the arbitrator or arbitrators award such expenses or any part thereof to any specified party or parties, and
(e) Arbitration shall be used only after the parties first attempt to resolve the dispute through mediation. Mediation shall be before a mediator who may not serve subsequently also as an arbitrator for the same dispute. All cost of mediation shall be borne equally by the parties.
Sec. 3. RCW 64.34.216 and 1992 c 220 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

(j) A description of any development rights and other special declarant rights under RCW 64.34.020(29) reserved by the declarant, together with a description of the real property to which the development rights apply, and a time limit within which each of those rights must be exercised;
(k) If any development right may be exercised with respect to different parcels of real property at different times, a statement to that effect together with: (I) Either a statement fixing the boundaries of those portions and regulating the order in which those portions may be subject to the exercise of each development right, or a statement that no assurances are given in those regards; and (ii) a statement as to whether, if any development right is exercised in any portion of the real property subject to that development right, that development right must be exercised in all or in any other portion of the remainder of that real property;

(2) All amendments to the declaration shall contain a cross-reference by recording number to the declaration and to any prior amendments thereto. All amendments to the declaration adding units shall contain a cross-reference by recording number to the survey maps and plans relating to the added units and set forth all information required by RCW 64.34.216(1) with respect to the added units.
(3) The declaration may contain any other matters the declarant deems appropriate.

Sec. 4.
RCW 64.34.308 and 1992 c 220 s 15 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Except as provided in the declaration, the bylaws, subsection ((()) of this section, or other provisions of this chapter, the board of directors shall act in all instances on behalf of the association. The performance of their duties, the officers and members of the board of directors are required to exercise:
(a) If appointed by the declarant, the care required of fiduciaries of the unit owners; or
(b) If elected by the unit owners, ordinary and reasonable care.
(2) Neither an association nor its directors or officers or managing agents shall be liable for a decision, including a decision not to commence a judicial proceeding under any section of this chapter, if such a decision has been made by a board of directors elected pursuant to subsection (3) of this section which does not include any members who are affiliates of a declarant, and if, in reaching such a decision, the directors and officers and managing agents have acted in good faith, in a manner such directors and officers and managing agents believe to be in the best interests of the corporation; and with such care, including reasonable inquiry, as an ordinarily prudent person in a like position would use under similar circumstances.

Sec. 5.
The board of directors shall not act on behalf of the association to amend the declaration in any manner that requires the vote or approval of the unit owners pursuant to RCW 64.34.264, to terminate the condominium pursuant to RCW 64.34.268, or to elect members of the board of directors or determine the qualifications, powers, and duties, or terms of office of members of the board of directors pursuant to subsection ((()) of this section; but the board of directors may fill vacancies in its membership for the unexpired portion of any term.
(1) Within thirty days after adoption of any proposed budget for the condominium, the board of directors shall provide a summary of the budget to all the unit owners and shall set a date for a meeting of the unit owners to consider ratification of the budget not less than fourteen nor more than sixty days after mailing of the summary. Unless at that meeting the owners of units to which a majority of the votes in the association are allocated or any larger percentage specified in the declaration reject the budget, the budget is ratified, whether or not a quorum is present. In the event the proposed budget is rejected or the required notice is not given, the periodic budget last ratified by the unit owners shall be continued until such time as the unit owners ratify a subsequent budget proposed by the board of directors.
(2) Regardless of the period provided in the declaration, a period of declarant control terminates no later than the earlier of:
(a) Sixty days after conveyance of seventy-five percent of the units which may be created to unit owners other than a declarant; or (ii) two years after the last conveyance or transfer of record of a unit except as security for a debt; (iii) two years after any development right to add new units was last exercised; or (iv) the date on which the declarant records an amendment to the declaration pursuant to which the declarant voluntarily surrenders the right to further appoint and remove officers and members of the board of directors.
(3) A declarant may voluntarily surrender the right to appoint and remove officers and members of the board of directors before the termination of that period pursuant to (I), (ii), and (III) of this subsection ((()) of this section, but if in that event the declarant may require, for the duration of the period of declarant control, that specified actions of the association or board of directors, as described in a recorded instrument executed by the declarant, be approved by the declarant or they become effective.

Not later than sixty days after conveyance of twenty-five percent of the units which may be created to unit owners other than a declarant, at least one member and not less than twenty-five percent of the members of the board of directors must be elected by unit owners other than the declarant. Not later than sixty days after conveyance of fifty percent of the units which may be created to unit owners other than a declarant, not less than thirty-three and one-third percent of the members of the board of directors must be elected by unit owners other than the declarant.
Within thirty days after the termination of any period of declarant control, the unit owners shall elect a board of directors of at least three members, at least a majority of whom must be unit owners. The number of directors need not exceed the number of units then in the condominium. The board of directors shall elect the officers. Such members of the board of directors and officers shall take office upon election.

Notwithstanding any provision of the declaration or bylaws to the contrary, the unit owners, by a two-thirds vote of the voting power in the association present and entitled to vote at any meeting of the unit owners at which a quorum is present, may remove any member of the board of directors with or without cause, other than a member appointed by the declarant. The declarant may not remove any member of the board of directors elected by the unit owners. Prior to the termination of the period of declarant control, the unit owners, other than the declarant, may remove by a two-thirds vote, any director elected by the unit owners.

Sec. 6. RCW 64.34.425 and 1992 c 220 s 23 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Except in the case of a sale where delivery of a public offering statement is required, or unless exempt under RCW 64.34.400(2), a unit owner shall furnish to a purchaser before execution of any contract for sale of a unit, or otherwise before conveyance, a resale certificate, signed by an officer or authorized agent of the association and based on the books and records of the association and the actual knowledge of the person signing the certificate, containing:

(3) The association, within ten days after a request by a unit owner, and subject to payment of any fee imposed pursuant to RCW 64.34.304(1)(l), shall furnish a resale certificate signed by an officer or authorized agent of the association and containing the information necessary to enable the unit owner to comply with this section. For the purposes of this chapter, a reasonable charge for the preparation of a resale certificate may not exceed one hundred fifty dollars. The association may charge a unit owner a nominal fee for updating a resale certificate within six months of the unit owner’s request. The unit owner shall also sign the certificate but the unit owner is not liable to the purchaser for any erroneous information provided by the association and included in the certificate unless and to the extent the unit owner had actual knowledge thereof.

(3) A purchaser is not liable for any unpaid assessment or fee against the unit as of the date of the certificate greater than the amount set forth in the certificate prepared by the association unless and to the extent such purchaser had actual knowledge thereof. A unit owner is not liable to a purchaser for the failure or delay of the association to provide the certificate in a timely manner, but the purchaser’s contract is voidable by the purchaser until the certificate has been provided and for five days thereafter or until conveyance, whichever occurs first.

Sec. 7. RCW 64.34.445 and 1992 c 220 s 26 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A declarant and any dealer warrants that a unit will be in at least good condition at the earlier of the time of the conveyance or delivery of possession as it was at the time of contracting, reasonable wear and tear and damage by casualty or condemnation excepted.

(2) A declarant and any dealer impliedly warrants that a unit and the common elements in the condominium are suitable for the ordinary uses of real estate of its type and that any improvements made or contracted for by such declarant or dealer will be:

(a) Free from defective materials; and

(b) Constructed in accordance with sound engineering and construction standards, and in a workmanlike manner in compliance with all laws then applicable to such improvements. However, an implied warranty of quality applies only to substantial defects or deviations. The implied warranty extends only to defective materials of deviations in construction practices that have a material effect on the structural integrity of a unit or common area; or have a material effect on the safety of unit owner; or substantially impair the marketability of the unit for its intended purpose. Defects or deviations that are discoverable through the purchaser’s normal and prudent inspection are not covered by the implied warranty of quality. As used in this chapter, “material defect,” “substantial,” and “substantially impair” refer to a defect or deviation that prevents the unit or common element from being used for its intended purpose.

(c) A declarant and any dealer warrants to a purchaser of a unit that may be used for residential use that an existing use, continuation of which is contemplated by the parties, does not violate applicable law at the earlier of the time of conveyance or delivery of possession.
(4) Warranties imposed by this section may be replaced, excluded, or modified as specified in RCW 64.34.450 and an express written warranty between a declarant and a unit purchaser applies to claims against the declarant that may be brought by subsequent purchasers.

(5) For purposes of this section, improvements made or contracted for by an affiliate of a declarant, as defined in RCW 64.34.020(1), are made or contracted for by the declarant.

(6) Any conveyance of a unit transfers to the purchaser all of the declarant's implied warranties of quality unless replaced by an expressed warranty.

Sec. 8. RCW 64.34.450 and 1989 c 43 s 4-113 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (Except as limited by subsection (2) of this section) For units intended for nonresidential use: implied warranties of quality:

(a) May be excluded or modified by written agreement of the parties; and

(b) Are excluded by written expression of disclaimer, such as "as is," "with all faults," or other language which in common understanding calls the buyer's attention to the exclusion of warranties.

(2) (With respect to a purchaser of a unit that may be occupied for residential use, as) For units intended for residential use:

(a) A general disclaimer of implied warranties of quality is effective, ((but)) if a declarant ((and any)) or dealer ((may)) disclaim liability in an instrument signed by the purchaser for a specified defect or specified failure to comply with applicable law, if the defect or failure entered into and became a part of the basis of the bargain) replaces, excludes, or modifies the implied warranty as specified in this section with an expressed warranty as specified in (b) of this subsection;

(b) The implied warranties of quality under RCW 64.34.445 may be replaced with an express written warranty of quality if:

(i) The disclosure required by RCW 64.34.410(1)(z) is contained in a public offering statement as provided by RCW 64.34.410(3) and such disclosure is set forth in ten-point bold face type in the declaration or amendment thereto;

(ii) The express written warranty is set forth in full in the declaration, an amendment to the declaration, or a document recorded with the declaration; and

(iii) The unit purchaser who initially acquires the unit from the declarant expressly acknowledges in a recorded written conveyance or another recorded written instrument that the implied warranties of quality have been replaced by the express written warranty; and

(c) An express written warranty approved by the United States veterans administration or the United States department of housing and urban development shall be deemed to have satisfied the requirements of (b) of this subsection.

Sec. 9. RCW 64.34.452 and 2002 c 323 s 11 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A judicial proceeding or arbitration for breach of any obligations arising under RCW 64.34.443 and 64.34.445 must be commenced within four years after the cause of action accrues: PROVIDED, That the period for commencing an action for a breach accruing pursuant to subsection (2)(b) of this section shall not expire prior to one year after termination of the period of declarant control, if any, under RCW 64.34.308((44)) (5). Such period may not be reduced by either oral or written agreement.

(2) Subject to subsection (3) of this section, a cause of action or breach of warranty of quality, regardless of the purchaser's lack of knowledge of the breach, accrues:

(a) As to a unit, the date the purchaser to whom the warranty is first made enters into possession if a possessory interest was conveyed or the date of acceptance of the instrument of conveyance if a nonpossessory interest was conveyed; and

(b) As to each common element, at the latest of (i) the date the first unit in the condominium was conveyed to a bona fide purchaser, (ii) the date the common element was completed, or (iii) the date the common element was added to the condominium.

(3) If a warranty of quality explicitly extends to future performance or duration of any improvement or component of the condominium, the cause of action accrues at the time the breach is discovered or at the end of the period for which the warranty explicitly extends, whichever is earlier.

(4) If a written notice of claim is served under RCW 65.50.020 within the time prescribed for the filing of an action under this chapter, the statutes of limitation in this chapter and any applicable statutes of repose for construction-related claims are tolled until sixty days after the period of time during which the filing of an action is barred under RCW 65.50.020.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and takes effect July 1, 2003."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Fraser that Substitute Senate Bill No. 5106 is outside of the scope and object of the bill, the President finds as follows:

“Senate Bill No. 5106 is a measure which sets forth a process by which the annual consumptive quantity of a water right shall remain at its peak historic use for purposes of a change or transfer, even if the right is not presently being fully exercised.

“The proposed substitute bill maintains this process, but it also makes two other changes: First, it further defines a ‘beneficial use’ right; and Second, it effectively restricts the ability of the Department of Ecology to limit or relinquish water rights.

“With respect to the first change in the proposed substitute, the President believes that the further definition of a ‘beneficial use’ right does little more than further explain the basis for the process set forth in the original bill. As a result, these associated sections would be within the scope and object of the bill.

“The sections which restrict the Department’s ability to limit or relinquish water rights, however, go beyond the process originally set forth in the bill. While the President certainly recognizes that relinquishment processes affect the overall ability to change or transfer a water right and while it is logical that the two be considered together, the President finds that this language does change the scope and object of the original bill.

“The President, therefore, finds that Senator Fraser’s point is well taken and that the substitute bill is outside the scope and object of the original bill.”

The President ruled that the Substitute Bill to Senate Bill No. 5106 to be out of order.

On motion of Senator Sheahan, further consideration of Senate Bill No. 5106 was deferred.

MOTION

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 90.03.380 and 2001 c 237 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The right to the use of water which has been applied to a beneficial use in the state shall be and remain appurtenant to the land or place upon which the same is used: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That the right may be transferred to another or to others and become appurtenant to any other land or place of use without loss of priority of right theretofore established if such change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. The point of diversion of water for beneficial use or the purpose of use may be changed, if such change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. A change in the place of use, point of diversion, and/or purpose of use of a water right to enable irrigation of additional acreage or the addition of new uses may be permitted if such change results in no increase in the annual consumptive quantity of water used under the water right. For purposes of this section, "annual consumptive quantity" means the estimated or actual annual amount of water diverted pursuant to the water right, reduced by the estimated annual amount of return flows ("averaged over the two years of greatest use within the most recent five year period of continuous beneficial use of the water right"). The annual consumptive quantity of a water right may not be deemed to be less than the actual peak historic use of a water right, even if the right is not being fully exercised at the time of change or transfer, if: (a) The reduced use is due to cropping patterns or system efficiencies; (b) the water right holder intends to fully exercise the right; and (c) the water right holder has the facilities in place to make beneficial use of the full right. Before any transfer of such right to use water or change of the point of diversion of water or change of purpose of use can be made, any person having an interest in the transfer or change, shall file a written application therefor with the department, and the application shall not be granted until notice of the application is published as provided in RCW 90.03.280. If it shall appear that such transfer or such change may be made without injury or detriment to existing rights, the department shall issue to the applicant a certificate in duplicate granting the right for such transfer or for such change of point of diversion or of use. The certificate so issued shall be filed and be made a record with the department and the duplicate certificate issued to the applicant may be filed with the county auditor in like manner and with the same effect as provided in the original certificate or permit to divert water.

(2) If an application for change proposes to transfer water rights from one irrigation district to another, the department shall, before publication of notice, receive concurrence from each of the irrigation districts that such transfer or change will not adversely affect the ability to deliver water to other landowners or impair the financial integrity of either of the districts.

(3) A change in place of use by an individual water user or users of water provided by an irrigation district need only receive approval for the change from the board of directors of the district if the use of water continues within the irrigation district, and when water is provided by an irrigation entity that is a member of a board of joint control created under chapter 87.80 RCW, approval need only be received from the board of joint control if the use of water continues within the area of jurisdiction of the joint board and the change can be made without injury or detriment to existing rights.

(4) This section shall not apply to trust water rights acquired by the state through the funding of water conservation projects under chapter 90.38 RCW or RCW 90.42.010 through 90.42.070.

(a) Pending applications for new water rights are not entitled to protection from impairment, injury, or detriment when an application relating to an existing surface or ground water right is considered.

(b) Applications relating to existing surface or ground water rights may be processed and decisions on them rendered independently of processing and rendering decisions on pending applications for new water rights within the same source of supply without regard to the date of filing of the pending applications for new water rights.

(d) Nothing in this subsection (5)(c) does not affect any other existing authority to process applications.

(e) Pending applications for new water rights are not entitled to protection from impairment, injury, or detriment when an application relating to an existing surface or ground water right is considered.

(f) Applications relating to existing surface or ground water rights may be processed and decisions on them rendered independently of processing and rendering decisions on pending applications for new water rights within the same source of supply without regard to the date of filing of the pending applications for new water rights.

(g) Nothing in this subsection (5)(c) does not affect any other existing authority to process applications.

(h) Pending applications for new water rights are not entitled to protection from impairment, injury, or detriment when an application relating to an existing surface or ground water right is considered.

(i) Applications relating to existing surface or ground water rights may be processed and decisions on them rendered independently of processing and rendering decisions on pending applications for new water rights within the same source of supply without regard to the date of filing of the pending applications for new water rights.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE:

Senator Franklin: “Madam President Pro Tempore, a point of personal privilege. A few minutes ago we debated 5953. In that debate, it was stated about the Birmingham Jail. If we go back in history, those were not cheap heros in the Birmingham Jail. The Birmingham Jail was Martin Luther King and Rosa Parks. She was tired and sat on the bus and would not give up her seat. If you remember, Dr. King wrote a letter from the Birmingham Jail. What took place in the sixties has changed the base of our country forever. We should never say that what took place during those turbulent years, where people were striving for equal rights to be not counted as not being a citizen— not given full rights— people died.

"Do not ever—ever—refer to those heros as cheap heros. This is very heart wrenching to sit and to hear that in the debate. Now, let me say that we can debate issues—disruption of traffic has nothing to do with the social changes of the sixties. Be very careful in the words when you debate issues on this floor, because what comes out of your mouth injures those who have been involved. Be very, very careful. Birmingham Jail is historical—go back and read about what happened if you don’t know. You know, sometimes in these heated debates, we pass out words we can never recall. So, be very careful. I just have to say that. You pierced a lot of hearts here today when you mentioned cheap heros and the Birmingham Jail."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Swecker: “A point of personal privilege. I just want to agree with the previous speaker wholeheartedly. In fact, in my mind, Martin Luther King was the preeminent Christian leader of the Twentieth Century in our country. I think Martin Luther King set the standard for the value of protest. Let me say that the value of our protests is directly proportional to the injustice of our punishment. I think Martin Luther King epitomized that. Thank you.”

The legislature intends to authorize the establishment of charter schools for the purpose of providing more, high quality public school choices for families, students, and teachers. High quality public school choices are those proven and promising learning environments that are likely to result in improved student achievement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. DEFINITIONS. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) “Applicant” means a nonprofit corporation that has submitted an application to a sponsor to obtain approval to operate a charter school. The nonprofit corporation must either be a public benefit nonprofit corporation as defined in RCW 24.03.490, or a nonprofit corporation as defined in RCW 24.03.005 that has applied for tax-exempt status under section 501(c)(3) of the internal revenue code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. Sec. 501(c)(3)). The nonprofit corporation may not be a sectarian or religious organization and must meet all of the requirements for a public benefit nonprofit corporation before receiving any funding under section 12 of this act.

(2) “Charter” means a contract between an applicant and a sponsor. The charter establishes, in accordance with this chapter, the terms and conditions for the management, operation, and educational program of the charter school.

(3) “Charter school” means a public school managed by an applicant’s board of directors and operating independently of any school district board under a charter approved in accordance with this chapter.

(4) “Board of directors” means the board of directors of the public benefit nonprofit corporation that manages and operates the charter school.

Charter schools sponsored under (b) or (c) of this subsection shall be approved by the governing board of the sponsoring institution or by an official or agency designated by and accountable to the governing board.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. CHARTER SCHOOLS--POWERS. (1) The charter school’s board of directors may hire, manage, and discharge any charter school employee in accordance with the terms of this chapter and that school’s charter.

(2) The charter school’s board of directors may enter into a contract with any school district, or any other public or private entity, also empowered to enter into contracts, for any and all real property, equipment, goods, supplies, and services, including educational instructional services.

(3) Charter schools may rent, lease, or own property, but may not acquire property by eminent domain. All charters and charter school contracts with other public and private entities must include provisions regarding the disposition of the property if the charter school fails to open as planned, closes, or the charter is revoked or not renewed. Charter schools may accept gifts and donations from other governmental and private entities, excluding sectarian or religious organizations. Charter schools may not accept any gifts or donations the conditions of which violate this chapter.

(4) Neither a charter school sponsor nor the school district in which the charter school is located is liable for acts or omissions of a charter school, including acts or omissions related to the application, the charter, the operation, and the performance of the charter school.

(5) Charter schools may not charge tuition, levy taxes, or issue bonds, however they may charge fees for optional noncredit extracurricular events.

(6) Charter schools may issue secured and unsecured debt to manage cash flow, improve operations, or finance the acquisition of real property or equipment. Such an issuance does not constitute an obligation, either general, special, or moral of the state, the charter school sponsor, the school district in which the charter school is located or any other political subdivision or agency of the state. Neither the full faith and credit nor the taxing power of the state, the charter school sponsor, the school district in which the charter school is located, or any other political subdivision or agency of the state may be pledged for the payment of such debt.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. LEGAL STATUS. A charter school is a public school including one or more of grades kindergarten through twelve, operated by a public benefit nonprofit corporation, according to the terms of a renewable five-year contract granted by a sponsor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. CHARTER SCHOOLS--EXEMPTIONS. (1) A charter school shall operate independently of any school district board, under a charter approved by a sponsor under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS. (1) A charter school must enroll all students who submit a timely application. If capacity is insufficient to enroll all students who submit a timely application, the charter school must give enrollment priority to students who reside within the school district boundaries in which the charter school is physically located. Priority also must be given to students who are currently enrolled in the school. Applicants who are selected through an equitable selection process, such as a lottery, may fill any remaining spaces. Schools that convert to charter schools must also give priority to the students who are currently enrolled in school.

(2) A charter school may not limit admission based on race, religion, ethnicity, national origin, gender, income level, intellectual ability, disabling condition, proficiency in the English language, or athletic ability. A charter school may limit admission to students within a given age group or grade level.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. CHARTER APPLICATION—CHARTERING PROCESS.

(2) An application for a charter school may be submitted to any qualified sponsor.

(3) The school district board of directors must elect whether to hold a public hearing in the school district on the application within twenty days of receipt of the application. If the school board is going to accept the application, a public hearing must be held before the granting of a charter. The school board must either accept or reject the application within sixty days after the receipt of the application. The sixty-day deadline for acceptance or rejection of the charter school application may be extended for an additional thirty days if both parties agree in writing.

(4) If the school board elects not to hold a hearing or rejects the application, the school board must notify the applicant in writing of the reasons for that decision. The applicant may submit a revised application for the school board’s reconsideration. The school board may provide assistance to improve the applicant’s application. If the school board rejects the application after submission of a revised application, the school board must notify the applicant in writing of the reasons for the rejection.

(5) Sponsors other than school districts must comply with the procedures in subsections (1) through (4) of this section for consideration of the charter application. A sponsor is not bound by another sponsor’s findings or decision to deny the application. The superintendent of public instruction shall maintain copies of all approved charter applications. An applicant may obtain copies of those applications from the office of the superintendent of public instruction.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS. The charter school application is a proposed contract and must include:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. CHARTER AGREEMENT—AMENDMENT. (1) A charter application approved by a sponsor with any changes constitutes a charter.

(2) A charter may be amended during its term at the request of the charter school board of directors and on the approval of the sponsor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. CHARTER RENEWAL AND REVOCATION. (1) An approved plan to establish a charter school is effective for five years from the first day of operation. At the conclusion of the first three years of operation, the charter school may apply to the sponsor for renewal. A request for renewal must be submitted no later than six months before the expiration of the charter.

(2) A charter school renewal application must include:

(a) A report on the progress of the charter school in achieving the goals; student performance standards, including the student performance standards adopted by rule by the academic achievement and accountability commission in accordance with RCW 28A.655.030; and other terms of the charter; and

(c) The charter school failed to meet generally accepted standards of fiscal management;

(d) The charter school violated provisions in law that have not been waived in accordance with this chapter.

(4) A sponsor shall give written notice of its intent not to renew the charter school’s request for renewal to the charter school within three months of the request for renewal to allow the charter school an opportunity to correct identified deficiencies in its operation. At the request of the board of directors of the charter school, the sponsor shall review its decision for nonrenewal after the charter school has corrected any identified deficiencies.

(5) The sponsor may revoke a previously approved charter before the expiration of the term of the charter, and before application for renewal, for any of the reasons specified in subsection (3) of this section. Except in cases of emergency where the health and safety of children are at risk, a charter may not be revoked unless the sponsor first provides written notice of the specific violations alleged, a public hearing, and a reasonable opportunity for the charter school to correct the identified areas of concern. The sponsor of a charter school shall provide for an appeal process upon a determination by the sponsor that grounds exist to revoke a charter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. FUNDING. (1) When the sponsor is a school district:

(a) For purposes of funding, students in charter schools shall be considered students of the sponsoring district for general fund apportionment purposes. Without violating section 13 of this act, the sponsoring school district shall provide prompt and timely funding for charter schools on a per student basis in amounts the schools would have received if the students were enrolled in a noncharter public school in the district except that a charter school shall not generate eligibility for small school assistance. Funding for charter schools shall include regular apportionment, categorical and nonbasic education funds, as appropriate and shall be based on enrollment and other financial information submitted by the charter school to the school district as is required to determine state apportionment amounts;

(b) Local levy moneys approved by the voters before the effective date of a charter between a school district and an applicant shall not be allocated to a charter school unless the sponsoring school district determines it has received sufficient authority from voters to allocate maintenance and operation excess tax levy money to the charter school. For levies approved after the effective date of a charter, charter schools shall be included in levy planning, budgets, and funding distribution in the same manner as other schools in the district only to the extent agreed to by the school district board of directors. In making the decision, the school district board of directors shall consult with the charter school board of directors; and

(c) A charter school is eligible for state matching funds for common school construction if a sponsoring school district determines it has received voter approval of local capital funds for the project.

(2) Public schools converting to charter schools shall receive funding in the same manner as other charter schools sponsored by school districts.

(3) If the sponsor is not a school district, students in the charter school shall still be considered students of the district in which the charter school is located for general fund apportionment purposes. Without violating section 13 of this act, the superintendent of public instruction shall provide prompt and timely funding for charter schools on a per student basis in amounts the schools would have received if the students were enrolled in a noncharter school in the district except that a charter school shall not generate eligibility for small school assistance. The funding shall include regular apportionment, categorical, and nonbasic education funds and shall be based on enrollment and other financial information submitted by the charter school to the school district or the superintendent of public instruction, as is required to determine state apportionment amounts.

(4) No local levy money may be allocated to a charter school if the charter school is sponsored by a sponsor that is not a school district.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. ADMINISTRATION FEE. To offset costs of oversight and administering the charter, a sponsor may retain up to three percent of state funding and local excess levy funding, if applicable, that is being driven to the charter school. Except for the administration fee in this section, no other offsets or deductions are allowed, whether for central administration or other off-site support services, from a charter school’s per-pupil share of state appropriations, local levies, or other funds, unless the charter school has contracted with a school district to obtain specific additional services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. LEAVES OF ABSENCE. If a school district employee makes a written request for an extended leave of absence to work at a charter school, the school district shall grant the request. The school district may require that the request for a leave be made up to ninety days before the employee would otherwise have to report for duty. The leave shall be granted for up to three years. If the employee returns to the school district within the three-year period, the employee shall be hired before the district hires anyone else with fewer years of service, with respect to any position for which the returning employee is certificated or otherwise qualified.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. STUDY OF CHARTER SCHOOLS. The Washington institute for public policy shall study the implementation and effectiveness of this act. The institute shall make recommendations to the legislature about the effectiveness of charter schools and the impact of charter schools. The institute shall also recommend changes to this chapter including improvements that could be made to the application and approval process. A preliminary report of the study is due to the legislature by March 1, 2006, and a final report is due September 1, 2007.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. NUMBER OF CHARTER SCHOOLS. (1) Applications for charter schools may begin on the effective date of this section. The maximum number of charters that can be granted under this chapter is five in the first year commencing July 1, 2003, five in the second year, and fifteen in each of the next four years. These annual allocations shall be cumulative so that if the maximum is not reached in any given year the maximum shall be increased accordingly for the successive years.

(2) A sponsor may not sponsor a charter school in a school district with a student enrollment of less than three thousand students, except that a sponsor may sponsor a charter school in a school district with a student enrollment between two and three thousand students in counties where the population exceeds five hundred thousand persons.

(3) For purposes of monitoring compliance with this section and providing information to new charter school applicants, the superintendent of public instruction shall maintain a running total of the projected and actual enrollment at charter schools and the number of charters granted.

(4) For purposes of implementing this subsection, a sponsor shall notify the office of the superintendent of public instruction when it receives a charter school application, when it approves a charter school, and when a charter school is terminated.

(5) The maximum number of charter schools allowed under this section does not include public schools converting to charter schools.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. A new section is added to chapter 41.56 RCW to read as follows: This chapter applies to charter schools as defined in section 2 of this act and the charter school’s employees included in the bargaining unit. The bargaining unit of employees of charter schools must be limited to the employees of the charter school and must be separate from other bargaining units in the school district or educational service district.

This section, designating charter schools as employers and charter schools as members under the teachers’ retirement systems, the school employees’ retirement systems, and the public employees’ retirement systems, takes effect only if the department of retirement systems receives determinations from the internal revenue service and the United States department of labor that such participation does not jeopardize the status of these retirement systems as governmental plans under the federal employees’ retirement income security act and the internal revenue code.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. A new section is added to chapter 41.59 RCW to read as follows: This chapter applies to collective bargaining agreements between charter schools and the employees of charter schools included in the bargaining unit. This section, designating charter schools as employers and charter schools as members under the teachers’ retirement systems, the school employees’ retirement systems, and the public employees’ retirement systems, takes effect only if the department of retirement systems receives determinations from the internal revenue service and the United States department of labor that such participation does not jeopardize the status of these retirement systems as governmental plans under the federal employees’ retirement income security act and the internal revenue code.

(1) A unit including nonsupervisory educational employees shall not be considered appropriate unless it includes all such nonsupervisory educational employees of the employer; and

(7) Notwithstanding the definition of collective bargaining, a unit that contains only supervisors and/or principals and assistant principals shall be limited in scope of bargaining to compensation, hours of work, and the number of days of work in the annual employment contracts; and

(8) The bargaining unit of certificated employees of school districts, educational service districts, or institutions of higher education that are education providers under chapter 28A.193 RCW must be limited to the employees working as education providers to juveniles in each adult correctional facility maintained by the department of corrections and must be separate from other bargaining units in school districts, educational service districts, or institutions of higher education; and

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. INTENT. The legislature finds that passenger-only ferry service is a key element to the state's transportation system and that it is in the interest of the state to ensure provision of such services. The legislature further finds that diminished state transportation resources require that regional and local authorities be authorized to develop, operate, and fund needed services.

It is the intent of the legislature that the state provide for a transition from state-provided to local service and that the department of transportation provide resources to assist in this effort.

It is the intent of the legislature to encourage interlocal agreements to ensure passenger-only ferry service is maintained on routes that the Washington state ferry system eliminates.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 36.57A RCW to read as follows:

"PTBA AUTHORIZATION FOR PASSENGER-ONLY FERRIES. A public transportation benefit area having a boundary located on Puget Sound may implement a passenger ferry service. For the purposes of this chapter and sections 7, 8, and 10 of this act, Puget Sound is considered as extending north as far as the Canadian border and west as far as Port Angeles. The benefit area must develop a passenger ferry investment plan including elements to operate or contract for the operation of passenger ferry services, purchase, lease, or rental of ferry vessels and dock facilities for the provision of transit service, and identify other activities necessary to implement the plan. The plan must set forth terminal locations to be served, projected costs of providing services, and revenues to be generated from tolls, locally collected tax revenues, and other revenue sources. The benefit area may use any of its powers to carry out this purpose, unless otherwise prohibited by law. In addition, the public transportation benefit area may enter into contracts and agreements to operate passenger-only ferry service and public-private partnerships and design-build, general contractor/construction management, or other alternative procurement process substantially consistent with chapter 39.10 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 36.57A RCW to read as follows:

"TAXES, FEES, AND TOLLS. (1) A public transportation benefit area, as part of a passenger ferry investment plan, may impose taxes and fees on ferry passengers, toll collecting entities, or ferry companies to generate revenues for providing passenger ferry services. (2) The tax rates, fees, or tolls imposed by a public transportation benefit area may be subject to review and appeal by the Washington state ferry system. The legislature further finds that the Washington state ferry system eliminates.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 47.52 RCW to read as follows:

"CONVEYANCE OF FERRY VESSELS. The department of transportation may enter into contracts with public transportation benefit areas meeting the requirements of section 2 of this act and ferry districts created under section 10 of this act to convey passenger ferry vessels and other properties associated with passenger-only ferry service that serve to provide passenger ferry service, as full or part consideration for the benefit area or ferry district assuming all future maintenance and operation obligations and costs required to maintain and operate the vessels and facilities. The conveyances must provide that the vessels or properties revert to the department if the vessels are not used for providing passenger ferry service.

Sec. 5. RCW 47.60.120 and 1993 c 427 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

"TEN-MILE RULE EXEMPTION. (1) If the department acquires or constructs, maintains, and operates any ferry crossings upon or toll bridges over Puget Sound or any of its tributary or connecting waters, there shall not be constructed, operated, or maintained any other ferry crossing upon or bridge over any such waters within ten miles of any such crossing or bridge operated or maintained by the department excepting such bridges or ferry crossings in existence, and being operated and maintained under a lawfully issued franchise at the time of the location of the ferry crossing or construction of the toll bridge by the department.

(2) The ten-mile distance in subsection (1) of this section means ten statute miles measured by air line distance. The ten-mile restriction shall be applied by comparing the two end points (termini) of a state ferry crossing to those of a private ferry crossing.

(3) The Washington utilities and transportation commission may, upon written petition of a commercial ferry operator certificated or applying for certification under chapter 81.84 RCW, and upon notice and hearing, grant a waiver from the ten-mile restriction. The waiver must not be detrimental to the public interest. The commission shall act upon a request for a waiver within ninety days after the conclusion of the hearing. A waiver is effective for a period of five years from the date of issuance. At the end of five years the waiver becomes permanent unless appealed within ninety days by the department, or on its own motion, the department, or an interested party.

(4) The department shall not maintain and operate any ferry crossing or toll bridge over Puget Sound or any of its tributary or connecting waters that would infringe upon any franchise lawfully issued by the state and in existence and being exercised at the time of the location of the ferry crossing or toll bridge by the department, without first acquiring the rights granted to such franchise holder under the franchise.

(5) This section does not apply to the operation of passenger-only ferry service operated by public transportation benefit areas meeting the requirements of section 2 of this act or by ferry districts created under section 10 of this act.

This rate does not apply to vehicles licensed under RCW 46.16.079, 46.16.085, or 46.16.090.

(2) The department of licensing shall administer and collect the tax. The department shall deduct a percentage amount, as provided by contract, not to exceed two percent of the taxes collected, for administration and collection expenses incurred by it. The remaining proceeds must be remitted to the state treasurer for distribution to the public transportation benefit area.

(3) The public transportation benefit area imposing this tax shall delay the effective date at least six months from the date the fee is approved by the qualified voters of the authority area to allow the department of licensing to implement administration and collection of the tax.

(4) Before an authority may impose a tax under this section, the authorization for imposition of the tax must be approved by a majority of the qualified electors of the authority area voting on that issue.

(5) An authority imposing a tax under subsection (1) of this section may also impose a sales and use tax solely for the purpose of providing passenger ferry service, in addition to the tax authorized by RCW 82.14.030, upon retail car rentals within the authority’s jurisdiction.

(2) When established, a ferry district is a municipality as defined by the statutes of the state and is entitled to all the powers conferred by law and exercised by municipal corporations in this state. A ferry district may levy a property tax in an amount not to exceed one dollar and twenty-five cents per thousand dollars of assessed value against the assessed valuation of the property lying within the district.
A ferry district has the right of eminent domain according to the laws of the state.

A ferry district may operate any vessel over its authorized routes upon any of the waters of the state that touch any of the area of the district.

NEW SECTION Sec. 10. The legislature finds that access to health care services is an unavoidable need of all human beings, and that the primary method used to pay for care is health insurance whether financed by private or public funds. The cost of health care insurance is rising at three times the rate of inflation, having a significant impact on the solvency of state and local governments. Fourteen percent of citizens nationally and about five hundred thousand citizens in the state are without health care insurance. Employers, whether large or small, public or private, are finding it increasingly difficult to find and provide health care benefits to employees, with employees and their families being forced to bear an increasing portion of this rising health care insurance burden. Health care providers are struggling to remain competitive in an increasingly complex market.

NEW SECTION Sec. 11. A new section is added to Chapter 48.21 RCW as follows:

(1) A health care access options task force is created to be composed of nineteen members appointed as follows:

(a) Twelve members are to be appointed jointly by the speaker of the House of Representatives and the president of the Senate: (i) a representative of a major state corporation, selected in consultation with the Association of Washington Business; (ii) a representative of small businesses, to be selected from a list of nominees submitted jointly by the national federation of independent business and the independent business association; (iii) two representatives of health care consumers, one of whom shall represent people with individual health insurance, and one of whom shall represent the interests of people without health insurance; (iv) two representatives of organized labor, one representing a trust that purchases insurance through a Taft-Hartley plan, to be selected in consultation with the Washington State Labor Council; (v) three members selected to represent health care providers, including a hospital representative, a licensed physician, and a rural health care provider, selected in consultation with appropriate health care provider organizations; (vi) two representatives of health insurance carriers; and (vii) the insurance commissioner, who shall serve as the chair of the task force and shall, in addition, be responsible for coordinating its administrative and ministerial duties. One of the health care consumer representatives shall serve as the chair of the task force, to be elected by the members of the task force.

(b) Four members shall be selected to represent the Legislature, to be chosen by each of the four caucuses.

(c) The Secretary of the Department of Social and Health Services, the Secretary of the Department of Health, and the Administrator of the Washington State Health Care Authority shall serve as ex officio members of the task force.

(2) The health care access options task force shall examine the privately funded health insurance system in the State of Washington and make recommendations for its improvement, emphasizing the availability of health insurance for businesses with fewer than 51 employees. The underserved areas of Washington and the total aspect of the delivery of health care in Washington, including telemedicine, shall also be reviewed. The task force shall prepare a report of its findings, including health insurance laws in other states that are providing greater choice, more participating insurance carriers offering health insurance, and greater price flexibility as compared to Washington state.

The task force shall seek testimony and information from a broad range of health care stakeholders, and actively solicit public comment in a community meeting process to build a consensus on the values to be used as a guide to improving the privately and publicly funded health care system. The task force shall review the recommendations of previous health care system analyses. The task force is authorized to establish subcommittees and technical advisory committees as needed to carry out its responsibilities. The task force shall seek grant funds for the community meeting process, and is encouraged to coordinate its efforts with ongoing efforts such as those of the Washington health foundation. The task force shall prepare a report including its findings and recommendations and transmit this report to the Legislature and the Governor no later than January 1, 2005."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Honeyford: “Thank you Senator Hewitt. Yes, on January 24, 2003, the Washington State Court of Appeals issued its decisions in Kim v. PCHB. The decision interpreted the intent of the 1945 Legislature, when it enacted RCW 90.44.050, as follows, and I quote: ‘The overall scheme of this statute is to require a permit except for certain ‘small withdrawals.’ The 1945 Legislature defined ‘small withdrawal’ as (1) any amount of water for livestock; (2) any amount of water for a noncommercial garden of a half acre or less; (3) not more than five thousand gallons per day for domestic use; and (4) not more than five thousand gallons per day for an industrial purpose.

‘Further the Court stated that ‘When a statute is rendered obsolete by changing conditions, the remedy is for the Legislature to amend it; neither the administrative agency nor the courts may read it in a way that the enacting Legislature never intended.’

‘While this statute is not obsolete, it obviously needs some clarification based on recent Pollution Control Hearings Board decisions. To meet this need, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5077 codified language from the Kim decision.

PART II
HUMAN SERVICES

Sec. 201. 2002 c 371 s 201 (uncodified) is amended to read as follows:

FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL AND HEALTH SERVICES. (1) Appropriations made in this act to the department of social and health services shall initially be allotted as required by this act. Subsequent allotment modifications shall not include transfers of moneys between sections of this act except as expressly provided in this act, nor shall allotment modifications permit moneys that are provided solely for a specified purpose to be used for other than that purpose, except as expressly provided in subsection (3) of this section.

(2) The department of social and health services shall not initiate any services that will require expenditure of state general fund moneys unless expressly authorized in this act or other law. The department may seek, receive, and spend, under RCW 43.79.260 through 43.79.282, federal moneys not anticipated in this act as long as the federal funding does not require expenditure of state moneys for the program in excess of amounts anticipated in this act. If the department receives unanticipated unrestricted federal moneys, those moneys shall be spent for services authorized in this act or in any other legislation providing appropriation authority, and an equal amount of appropriated state general fund moneys shall lapse. Upon the lapping of any moneys under this subsection, the office of financial management shall notify the legislative fiscal committees. As used in this subsection, "unrestricted federal moneys" includes block grants and other funds that federal law does not require to be spent on specifically defined projects or matched on a formula basis by state funds.

(3)(a) The appropriations to the department of social and health services in this act shall be expended for the programs and in the amounts specified in this act. However, after May 1, 2002, unless specifically prohibited by this act, the department may transfer general fund—state appropriations for fiscal year 2002 among programs after approval by the director of financial management and after May 1, 2003, the department may transfer general fund—state appropriations for fiscal year 2003 among programs after such approval. However, the department shall not transfer state moneys that are provided solely for a specified purpose except as expressly provided in subsection (3)(b) of this section.

(b) To the extent that transfers under subsection (3)(a) of this section are insufficient to fund actual expenditures in excess of fiscal year 2002 or fiscal year 2003 caseload forecasts and utilization assumptions in the medical assistance, long-term care, foster care, adoption support, and child support programs, the department may transfer state moneys that are provided solely for a specified purpose after approval by the director of financial management.
(c) The director of financial management shall notify the appropriate fiscal committees of the senate and house of representatives in writing prior to approving any allotment modifications.

(4) In the event the department receives additional unrestricted federal funds or achieves savings in excess of that anticipated in this act, the department shall use up to $5,000,000 of such funds to initiate a pilot project providing integrated support services to homeless individuals needing mental health services, alcohol or substance abuse treatment, medical care, or who demonstrate community safety concerns. If a pilot project is initiated, the department shall notify the fiscal committees of the legislature of the plans for such a pilot project including the source of funds to be used.

The appropriations in this section are subject to the following conditions and limitations:

1. $2,27,275,000 of the fiscal year 2002 general fund--state appropriation, $2,27,275,000 of the fiscal year 2003 general fund--state appropriation, and $1,584,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for the category of services titled "intensive family preservation services."

2. $685,000 of the general fund--state fiscal year 2002 appropriation and $701,000 of the general fund--state fiscal year 2003 appropriation are provided to contract for the operation of one pediatric interim care facility. The facility shall provide residential care for up to thirteen children through two years of age. Seventy-five percent of the children served by the facility must be in need of special care as a result of substance abuse by their mothers. The facility shall also provide on-site training to biological, adoptive, or foster parents. The facility shall provide at least three months of consultation and support to parents accepting placement of children from the facility. The facility may recruit new and current foster and adoptive parents for infants served by the facility. The department shall not require case management as a condition of the contract.

3. $524,000 of the general fund--fiscal year 2002 appropriation, $375,000 of the general fund--fiscal year 2003 appropriation, and $161,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided for up to three nonfacility-based programs for the training, consultation, support, and recruitment of biological, foster, and adoptive parents of children through age three in need of special care as a result of substance abuse by their parents, except that each program may serve up to three medically fragile nonsubstance-abuse--affected children. In selecting nonfacility-based programs, preference shall be given to programs whose federal or private funding sources have expired or that have successfully performed under the existing pediatric interim care program.

4. $1,260,000 of the fiscal year 2002 general fund--state appropriation, $1,248,000 of the fiscal year 2003 general fund--state appropriation, and $4,150,000 of the violence reduction and drug enforcement account appropriation are provided solely for the family policy council and community public health and safety networks. Funding levels shall be reduced 25 percent for both the family policy council and network grants. Reductions to network grants shall be allocated so as to maintain current funding levels, to the greatest extent possible, for projects with the strongest evidence of positive outcomes and for networks with substantial compliance with contracts for network grants.

5. $2,215,000 of the fiscal year 2002 general fund--state appropriation, $4,394,000 of the fiscal year 2003 general fund--state appropriation, and $5,604,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for reducing the average caseload per case--carrying social worker. Average caseload reductions are intended to increase the amount of time social workers spend in direct contact with the children, families, and foster parents involved with their open cases. The department shall use some of the funds provided in several local offices to increase staff that support case-carrying social workers in ways that will allow social workers to increase direct contact time with children, families, and foster parents. To achieve the goal of reaching an average caseload ratio of 1:24 by the end of fiscal year 2003, the department shall develop a plan for redeploying 30 FTEs to case-carrying social worker and support positions from other areas of the children, families, and community public health and safety networks budget. The FTE redeployment plan shall be submitted to the fiscal committees of the legislature by December 1, 2001.

The department shall report quarterly to the appropriate committees of the legislature progress against appropriate baseline measures for foster parent retention and stability of foster placements.

7. $1,050,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation is provided solely for increasing kinship care placements for children who otherwise would likely be placed in foster care. These funds shall be used for extraordinary costs incurred by relatives at the time of placement, or for extraordinary costs incurred by relatives after placement if such costs would likely cause a disruption in the kinship care placement. $50,000 of the funds provided shall be contracted to the Washington institute for public policy to conduct a study of kinship care placements. The study shall examine the prevalence and needs of families who are raising related children and shall compare services and policies of Washington state with other states that have a higher rate of kinship care placements in lieu of foster care placements. The study shall identify possible changes in services and policies that are likely to increase appropriate kinship care placements.

8. $3,366,000 of the fiscal year 2002 general fund--state appropriation, $5,710,000 of the fiscal year 2003 general fund--state appropriation, and $19,819,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for increases in the cost per case for foster care and adoption support. $16,000,000 of the general fund--federal amount shall remain unallotted until the office of financial management approves a plan submitted by the department to achieve a higher rate of federal earnings in the foster care program. That plan shall also be submitted to the fiscal committees of the legislature and shall indicate projected federal revenue compared to actual fiscal year 2001 levels. Within the amounts provided for foster care, the department shall increase the basic rate for foster care to an average of $420 per month on July 1, 2001. The department shall use the remaining funds provided in this subsection to pay for increases in the cost per case for foster care and adoption support. The department shall seek to control rate increases and reimbursement decisions for foster care and adoption support cases such that the cost per case for family foster care, group care, receiving homes, and adoption support does not exceed the amount assumed in the projected caseload expenditures plus the amounts provided in this subsection.

9. $1,767,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2002, $1,767,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2003, and $1,241,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for rate and capacity increases for child placing agencies. Sec. 204. 2002 c 371 s 204 (uncodified) is amended to read as follows:

FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL AND HEALTH SERVICES MENTAL HEALTH PROGRAM

(1) COMMUNITY SERVICES/REGIONAL SUPPORT NETWORKS

General Fund—State Appropriation (FY 2002) $194,566,000

General Fund—State Appropriation (FY 2003) ($177,206,000)

General Fund—Federal Appropriation ($358,377,000)

General Fund—Local Appropriation $25,596,000

Health Services Account—State Appropriation $2,450,000

TOTAL APPROPRIATION ($761,485,000)

The appropriations in this subsection are subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(a) Regional support networks shall use portions of the general fund—state appropriation for implementation of working agreements with the vocational rehabilitation program which will maximize the use of federal funding for vocational programs.

(b) From the general fund—state appropriations in this subsection, the secretary of social and health services shall assure that regional support networks reimburse the aging and adult services program for the general fund—state cost of medicaid personal care services that enrol regional support network consumers who are developmentally disabled.

(c) $388,000 of the general fund—state appropriation for fiscal year 2002, $2,829,000 of the general fund—state appropriation for fiscal year 2003, and $3,157,000 of the general fund–federal appropriation are provided solely for development and operation of community residential and support services for persons whose treatment needs constitute substantial barriers to community placement, who no longer require active psychiatric treatment at an inpatient hospital level of care, who no longer meet the criteria for involuntary commitment, and who are clinically ready for discharge from a state psychiatric hospital. In the event that enough patients are not transitioned or diverted from the state hospitals to close at least two hospital wards by July 2002, and four additional wards by April 2003, a proportional share of these funds shall be transferred to the appropriations in subsection (2) of this section to support continued care of the patients in the state hospitals.

Primary responsibility and accountability for provision of appropriate community support for persons placed under these funds shall reside with the mental health program and the regional support networks, with partnership and active support from the alcohol and substance abuse and from the aging and adult services programs. The department shall negotiate performance-based incentive contracts to provide appropriate community support services for individuals leaving the state hospitals under this subsection. The department shall first seek to contract with regional support networks before offering a contract to any other party. The funds appropriated in this subsection shall not be considered “available resources” as defined in RCW 71.24.025 and are not subject to the standard allocation formula applied in accordance with RCW 71.24.035(13)(a).

(d) At least $1,000,000 of the federal block grant funding appropriated in this subsection shall be used for (1) initial development, training, and operation of the community support teams which will work with long-term state hospital residents prior and subsequent to their return to the community; and (ii) development of support programs which will reduce the unnecessary and excessive use of state and local hospitals for short-term crisis stabilization services. Such strategies may include training and technical assistance to community long-term care and substance abuse providers; the development of diversion beds and stabilization support teams; examination of state hospital policies regarding admissions; and the development of new contractual standards to assure that the statutory requirement that 85 percent of short-term detentions be managed locally is being fulfilled. The department shall report to the fiscal and policy committees of the legislature on the results of these efforts by November 1, 2001, and again by November 1, 2002.

(e) The department is authorized to implement a new formula for allocating available resources among the regional support networks. The distribution formula shall use the number of persons eligible for the state medical programs funded under chapter 74.09 RCW as the measure of the requirement for the number of acutely mentally ill, chronically mentally ill, severely emotionally disturbed children, and seriously disturbed in accordance with RCW 71.24.035(13)(a). The new formula shall be phased in over a period of no less than six years. Furthermore, the department shall increase the medicaid capitation rates which a regional support network shall receive based on the amount actually paid to that regional support network in fiscal year 2001, and by up to an additional 5.0 percent in fiscal year 2003, if total funding to the regional support network would otherwise increase by less than those percentages under the new formula, and provided that the nonfederal share of the higher medicaid payment rate is provided by the regional support network from local funds.

(f) Within funds appropriated in this subsection, the department shall contract with the Clark county regional support network for development and operation of a project demonstrating collaborative methods for operation of a mental health services in the school setting for severely emotionally disturbed children who are medicaid eligible. Project services are to be delivered by teachers and teaching assistants who qualify as, or who are under the supervision of, mental health professionals meeting the requirements of chapter 275-57 WAC.

The department shall increase medicaid payments to the regional support network by the amount necessary to cover the necessary and allowable costs of the demonstration, not to exceed the upper payment limit specified for the regional support network in the department’s medicaid wastewater treatment agreement with the federal government after meeting all other medicaid spending requirements in this subsection. The regional support network shall provide the department with (I) periodic reports on project service levels, methods, and outcomes; and (ii) an intergovernmental transfer equal to the state share of the increased medicaid payment provided for operation of this project.

(g) The health services account appropriation is provided solely for implementation of strategies which the department and the affected regional support networks conclude will best assure continued availability of networks catered inpatient psychiatric services in all areas of the state. Such strategies may include, but are not limited to, emergency contracts for continued operation of inpatient facilities otherwise at risk of closure because of demonstrated uncompensated care; startup grants for development of evaluation and treatment... facilities; and increases in the rate paid for inpatient psychiatric services for medically indigent and/or general assistance for the unemployed patients. The funds provided in this subsection must be: (i) Prioritized for use in those areas of the state which are at greatest risk of lacking sufficient inpatient psychiatric treatment capacity, rather than being distributed on a formula basis; (ii) prioritized for use by those hospitals which do not receive low-income disproportionate share hospital payments as of the date of application for funding; and (iii) matched on a one-quarter local, three-quarters state basis by funding from the regional support network or networks in the area in which the funds are expended. Payments from the amount provided in this subsection shall not be made to any provider that has not agreed that, except for prospective rate increases, the payment shall offset, on a dollar-for-dollar basis, any liability that may be established against, or any settlement that may be agreed to by the state, regarding the rate of state reimbursement for inpatient psychiatric care. The funds provided in this subsection shall not be considered "available resources" as defined in RCW 71.24.025 and are not subject to the distribution formula established pursuant to RCW 71.24.035.

(d) The department must be: (i) Prioritized for use in those areas of the state which are at greatest risk of lacking sufficient inpatient psychiatric treatment capacity, rather than being distributed on a formula basis; (ii) prioritized for use by those hospitals which do not receive low-income disproportionate share hospital payments as of the date of application for funding; and (iii) matched on a one-quarter local, three-quarters state basis by funding from the regional support network or networks in the area in which the funds are expended. Payments from the amount provided in this subsection shall not be made to any provider that has not agreed that, except for prospective rate increases, the payment shall offset, on a dollar-for-dollar basis, any liability that may be established against, or any settlement that may be agreed to by the state, regarding the rate of state reimbursement for inpatient psychiatric care. The funds provided in this subsection shall not be considered "available resources" as defined in RCW 71.24.025 and are not subject to the distribution formula established pursuant to RCW 71.24.035.

(44) (h) The department shall assure that each regional support network increases spending on direct client services in fiscal years 2002 and 2003 by at least the same percentage as the total state, federal, and local funds allocated to the regional support network in those years exceeds the amounts allocated to it in fiscal year 2001.

(45) The department shall reduce state funding otherwise payable to a regional support network in fiscal years 2002 and 2003 by the full amount by which the regional support network’s reserves and fund balances as of December 31, 2001, exceed the required reserve for that regional support network. The required reserve amount shall be calculated by applying the reserve percentage specified in the department’s contract with the regional support network to the total state and federal revenues for which the regional support network would otherwise be eligible and in accordance with this subsection. As used in this subsection, “reserves” does not include capital project reserves established in accordance with state accounting and reporting standards before January 1, 2002.
