FIRST DAY, JANUARY 9, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

FIRST DAYNOON SESSION

Senate Chamber, Olympia, Monday, January 9, 2006

At 12:00 noon, pursuant to law, the Senate of the 2006 Regular Session of the Fifty-ninth Legislature of the state of Washington assembled in the Senate Chamber at the State Capitol. Lieutenant Governor Brad Owen, President of the Senate, called the Senate to order. The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present with the exception of Senators Hargrove and Finkbeiner.

The Washington State Patrol Honor Guard consisting of Trooper Craig Anders, Trooper Ted R. Dehart, Trooper John J. Gunderman, Trooper Jimmie Foster, Trooper Rachael Thompson, Trooper Ryan L. Spurling, Sergeant John Paul Sager and Trooper Barry W. Kirk presented the Colors.

The National Anthem was played on a trumpet by Trooper Ladines.

The President lead the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Wayne Wiltse of the Yakima Nation and President of the Native American Student Association offered the prayer.

The President welcomes the Senators back to Olympia and offered his best wishes for a productive and brief session.

INTRODUCTION OF LAKE FAIR QUEEN

The President welcomed and introduced Ms. Crystal Wade, the 2006 Lakefair Queen, who was at the rostrum and accompanied by her parents, Mr. & Mrs. Anthony and Melissa Wade, President Larry Watkinson and First Vice-President Teri Chmielewsk of the Capital Lake organization who were seated in the Gallery.

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Lakefair Queen Crystal Wade to address the Senate and welcome the Senators to Olympia.

REMARKS BY CRYSTAL WADE

Crystal Wade: "Thank you very much, well, good afternoon. It's an incredible honor to be here with you all today. I don't know many people my age who get opportunities like this so this is great. I want to welcome you to what is in my opinion one of the best cities in this region, even if I am a little biased because I'm from this area. I bet everyone of you are just so eager and ready to get this session underway. You know as I was preparing this speech it hit me, 'What on earth could an eighteen year old girl, a freshman at college and even more so at life, have to say to a group of experience Senators whose very occupation would shape the lives of thousands across the state?' And to be perfectly honest the thought was a bit intimidating but then something rose up inside of me because I believe we are living incredible times where the people of this generation are rising up to their roles and will one day be sitting in the very same chairs you find yourselves, waiting just as you are to write the pages of history. And I thought to myself, 'what an incredible thought, to stand here on this platform and look directly into the faces of history makers.' And as you go through these next months I pray that not only that the Lord will direct and guide you as you go through this session but also that you will become revitalized and infatuated with the idea that this year is going to be awesome and unlike any other. I am a freshman at the University of Washington this year and in one of my geography classes we were asked to make a sketch of how we saw Washington in relation to the rest of this world. In this lecture class, hundreds of young people began to draw many different aspects of our society. Some drew the Space Needle, others Starbucks cups and Microsoft logos, still others depicted the shape of Mt. St. Helens to the Canadian border. Now I find myself in a much larger lecture room with an incredible task and picture to be drawn of our great state. It is with so much honor and pride that I welcome you to the 2006 Legislative Session and it is my hope that this time would fill you with a new sense of purpose and expectancy as we step into this new year. Thank you."

MOTION

There being no objection, the Senate advanced to the third order of business.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

THE HONORABLE PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS,
THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning without my approval, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5719, entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the community commitment disposition alternative pilot program."

This bill would have provided juvenile courts with a "community commitment" alternative to committing delinquent youth to the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS). The state would have paid all costs, including detention and administration. Current law already provides courts with five alternatives to DSHS commitment, but none of them include state funding of county detention costs. This bill, based on a pilot program that was used in only one case, would have encouraged the use of the new alternative instead of the existing ones, and would have unjustifiably shifted costs to the state. The existing alternatives to DSHS commitment have been effective.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5719 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

I would like to take this chance to thank everybody for the well wishes, the blessings and the prayers during my five operations in five days but whose counting. I really appreciated it and the flowers and the notes. They were very sweet. And the black jelly beans, from Senator Thibaudeau. And the staffers, and particular staff from the Secretary of State's office. They got my favorite TV star to sign a bunch of stuff and send it to me. What a bunch of sweeties. As you know, I am now permanently deaf in my right ear but in my committee Senator Benton already sits to my right so I won't have to ask him to move and that kind of worked out. But I do want to thank everybody. He's not here unfortunately, for all their good wishes and it's due to you people, I'm sure, that I'm back."

A bone scan had indicated that the cancer has not spread outside the prostate. I wanted to get through the session and will not start treatment until after session is over. Treatment will consist of radiation and hormone injections. I feel I have always had a deep faith and it sure comes in handy at a time like this. I ask for your thoughts and prayers and in return promise to continue to keep Senator McCaslin in line. The President introduced the members of the Supreme Court: Chief Justice Gerry Alexander; Justice Charles W. Johnson, Justice Barbara A. Madsen; Justice Richard B. Sanders; Justice Bobbe Bridge; Justice Tom Chambers; Justice Susan Owens; Justice Mary Fairhurst and Justice James Johnson.

The President introduced the Statewide Elected Officials in attendance: Secretary of State Sam Reed; State Auditor Brian Sonntag; Attorney General Rob McKenna; Superintendent of Public Instruction Terry Bergeson; Insurance Commissioner Mike Kriedler; and Commissioner of Public Lands Doug Sutherland.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

President Owen: "We are always pleased and privileged to have special guest who join us for the Joint Session for the State of the State. Some very renown in this great state of ours, who have done wonderful things to help it progress over the years. One of Washington's favorites Governor Al Rosellini, Governor Booth Gardner; Congressman Dave Reichert, Congressman Jay Insley and King County Executive Ron Simms.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President introduced the officers and members of the Consular Association of Washington: H. Ronald Masnik Consul of Belgium and President of the Consular Association of Washington; Jeffrey Parker, Consul General of Canada; the Honorable Jorge Gilbert, Consular of Chile; the Honorable Frank Brozovich, Consul of Croatia; Mr. Vassos M. Demetriou, Consul of Cyprus; the Honorable Kazuo Tanaka, Consul General of Japan; the Honorable Kim Jae-Gouk, Consul General of The Republic of Korea; the Honorable Victor Lapatinskas, Consul of Lithuania; the Honorable Jorge Madrazo, Consul of Mexico, the Honorable Vladimir Volnov, Consul General of The Russian Federation; the Honorable Philippe Goetschel, Consul of Switzerland (the newest member of the Consular Association); the Honorable John Gokcen, Consul General of Turkey; the Honorable Gary Furlong, Consul General of Uzbekistan; the Honorable Robert Chen, Director General, Taipei Economic and Cultural Office.

The Sergeant at Arms announced the arrival Her Excellency, Governor Christine Gregoire, Mr. Mike Gregoire and daughters Courtney and Michelle Gregoire to the House of Representatives.

The President instructed the Sergeant at Arms of the House of Representatives and Senate to escort Governor Gregoire and her family to seats at the Rostrum.

The Washington National Guard Joint Color Guard presented the colors.

The President led the Legislature in the Pledge of Allegiance.

The prayer was offered by Dr. Don Argue, President of Northwest University.

Dr. Don Argue: "Please join me in prayer. With the Psalmist of old we declare. 'O Lord our Lord, how majestic is your name in all the earth! When we consider your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars, we ask what is man that you care for us?'"

On this important day in our great State, we observe not a victory of party, but a celebration of freedom. A day that symbolizes a beginning, a renewal!

We are reminded of the words of Thomas Jefferson that the rights of man come not from the generosity of the State but the hand of God. That all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness.

We declare today, that united there is little that we cannot accomplish in a host of cooperative ventures. Divided there is little we can do. Civility is never a sign of weakness.

We specifically pray for our leader, Governor Christine Gregoire and her family. Grant her great wisdom.

For all elected and appointed leaders, we pray for Your blessing and wisdom. While they are conducting the affairs of State, strengthen and protect their families.

May all of us accept personal responsibility for the great opportunities and challenges that face our State. Especially for children and families, the poor and those who suffer the terrible impact of prejudice and racism. In righteousness may we speak for those who cannot speak for themselves.

May we all be reminded that what we are doing here is service to others above our own self interests. Today we declare and affirm your great commandment, that we will 'love our neighbor as ourselves.'

The prophet Micah wrote 'He has shown thee what is good, and what the Lord requires of us, to do Justly, to love Mercy, and to walk Humbly with your God.'

May we rule Justly, love Mercy, and walk in Humility.

We pause to remember those in our armed services, serving around the world. Protect them, bring them home safely! May a just and lasting peace be declared.

We are reminded that dark yesterdays can turn into bright tomorrows.

The responsibilities of those gathered today are huge. May we all remember the words of Scripture that 'Righteousness exalts a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.' As we govern, may be righteous!

Now that the Psalmist we pray 'May the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in your sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer.' Amen."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUEST

President Owen: "Governor, let me personally thank you and your staff for your incredible availability with all the times that we approach you from my office from help on international issues and other things. Would you please share that with the staff so that you know how much we appreciate what they do for us? Ladies and Gentlemen, it is my great honor and privilege to present to you for the State of the State Address, Her Excellency, Governor Christine Gregoire."

STATE OF STATE ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR CHRISTINE GREGOIRE

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, honored officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, former Governors Rosellini and Gardner, Congressman Insley, Congressman Reichert, King County Executive Sims, members of the Consular Association of Washington, my fellow citizens:

Good evening. It is an honor to stand before you for this State of the State Address. To honor our achievements, to appraise the "State of our State," and to preview greater things to come.

Joining me at the rostrum are my daughters, Courtney and Michelle.

This is a big day for our family. This afternoon we were at the Temple of Justice to attend Courtney's swearing in ceremony to the Washington State Bar. Mike and I are obviously very proud of her and delighted, as some of you have heard me say, that she is now going to actually be paid to argue.

Michelle is a college junior and will study abroad this year. Now, more than ever, the study abroad experience is vital for young people so they can better understand the truly competitive global world

My daughters are my best friends, my passion, and a constant reminder of the incredible challenge we face to prepare our children to pursue their dreams.

While the fifth member of our family isn't with us, in light of recent days I'd like to paraphrase from a speech delivered in 1944 by President Franklin Roosevelt.

Some have not been content with attacks on me, or my spouse, or on my daughters. No, not content with that, they now include my little dog, Franz.

Well, of course, I don't resent attacks, and my family doesn't resent attacks, but Franz does resent them.

You know, as soon as he learned that the fiction writers had concocted a story he couldn't defend himself and was a cost to taxpayers, his Pomeranian soul was furious.

He has not been the same dog since.

Our family dog Franz has a real kinship with FDR's dog Fala.

Also joining me is my husband and best friend Mike – also known as First Mike. Mike is a retired Medicaid fraud investigator and a Vietnam combat veteran.

Mike has worked extremely hard in the last year for Veterans. Thanks to his work, the work of Veteran's organizations, and the support of this Legislature, last session was one of the most productive in history for former servicemen and women. It was a fitting outcome considering the incredible debt we owe them.

Mike served as a member of our bipartisan team that last year successfully worked to persuade the Base Realignment Commission to keep the doors of Washington's key military installations open. It was a major victory for our communities, for our economy, and for the men and women who serve this country and have come to love our state.

I would also like to thank Dr. Don Argue who gave today's opening prayer. He shares my belief that the best solutions for many of our problems lie not with government, but with people and organizations in our communities.

Last, and certainly not least, let me introduce some very special guests. The safety of our troops in Iraq and the plight of hurricane victims were heavy on all our minds in 2005. Our National Guard troops have been on the front lines fighting in Iraq and were among the first responders to the devastation left by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita.

We owe these troops a hearty thank you and are indebted to them for their selfless service to others. God Bless them. They serve as a symbol of the patriotism of all of our citizens.

Obviously we can't have all our troops here, but I would like to introduce Staff Sergeant Dale Flory, an Iraq combat veteran.

Staff Sergeant Flory, on behalf of the people of Washington, thank you and your colleagues for your service and we are delighted to have you home safe.

Next I would like to introduce Master Sergeant Michael Readnour. Washington's National Guard was one of the first to step forward and help the people of the Gulf Coast after Katrina's devastation.

SECOND DAY, JANUARY 10, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

They represent the outpouring of generosity by our citizens who opened their hearts, wallets, and homes to our fellow citizens of the Gulf Coast.

Master Sergeant Readnour, thank you and your colleagues for your commitment to service and your willingness to leave your families behind in order to help those in need.

Sadly, 45 men and women who called Washington home died in Iraq and Afghanistan in 2005. I would like to ask you to join me in a moment of silence for these brave soldiers and their families.

Thank you.

In the last year I have been all around this great state and met a lot of people. I found their values and dreams are very similar. They value personal responsibility, service to others, and providing new opportunities for our kids and families.

Consider Megan and Martin Clubb, owners and operators of L'Ecole Number 41 Winery in the Walla Walla Valley. They are carrying on the great vision of Megan's parents, Jean and Baker Ferguson, who had the foresight to recognize the extraordinary wine producing potential of Washington.

Or consider Tatyana Fedorchuk, a 39-year-old mother of five and immigrant from Ukraine. She is building a new life by taking English classes and earning nursing assistant credentials at Everett Community College.

And Barbara and Steve LeVette who live on Hood Canal. Concerned about failing septic systems fouling Hood Canal, they rallied their homeowners association to develop an innovative treatment plan through a public-private partnership.

I tell these stories because they are an important reminder that this is a state of diverse people who are doing exciting things.

Our job isn't to get in the way, but to offer help where needed and carry on the values that have made this state great.

In this magnificent building it is easy to think that our work is terribly difficult and incredibly important.

But our work isn't as tough as what people face back home. Running a small business. Becoming a proud new American. Protecting the environment. Raising a family. Keeping their loved ones safe. Keeping a job. Providing a helping hand to a neighbor.

Our job is to represent them in a way that is worthy of their struggles.

A year ago, we fought for the people. In 2005 we began building a brighter future by putting partisan politics aside, by being bold and demanding change, and by relying on traditional Washington values of opportunity, responsibility, and service to others.

This year, we need to build on that success. We need to continue improvements in our education system. We need to make our families safer and more secure. We need to improve access to quality health care. We need to keep our economy growing. And we need to protect our quality of life.

That foundation – the outstanding legislative session of 2005 – has already elevated Washington to a new level of opportunity.

In our state the news is good. Our economy has turned the corner with 85,000 new jobs—that's a seven-year high.

And around the world, I am pleased to report that Washington State is viewed like a small nation. When you say, "I'm from Washington" in Japan and China, they know that means Washington State.

And our reputation is stellar – we are about quality – quality products, quality agriculture – like our cherries and wine – and a quality environment.

Going beyond our promise, we're providing health insurance to 73,000 additional children. This is a major step toward our vision to guarantee every child has health insurance by 2010.

We made education our number one investment in 2005.

Voters recognized how critical smaller class sizes are by passing Initiative 728. But it wasn't until last year that we fully implemented the will of the voters, and we went one step further, we set up the Education Legacy Trust Account to permanently fund smaller class sizes.

To attract and retain quality teachers we fully funded another citizens' initiative – teacher salaries.

And we took down the "no vacancy" signs at our colleges and universities so nearly 8,000 more students could attend.

The transportation package was truly a bi-partisan effort by legislators who knew that leadership involves risk. Let's have a big hand for you who fought and won passage of our historic transportation package last year – with a special "bow and hurrah" to the leadership of Rep. Ed Murray, Senator Mary Margaret Haugen, Rep. Beverly Woods, and Senator Dan Swecker, and for our voters who supported the plan even though gas prices at the pumps were stretching their family and business budgets to the limits.

Another important bi-partisan vote produced the Life Sciences Discovery Fund. To be honest with you, I don't believe we understand yet the vast potential this initiative has for our state.

This bold investment in a 21st century industry will lead to medical breakthroughs that will save the lives of friends and loved ones by finding cures to some of our most dreaded diseases like Parkinsons and Cancer.

And it will help ensure for human wellness that we continue to produce the highest quality and safest agriculture in the world.

Having been a caseworker myself, I understand the challenge of protecting our children. So, I signed an executive order requiring social service workers to get to a child's doorstep within 24 hours of being notified of a life in danger.

Keeping our promise, we've implemented an initiative to make government more accountable and transparent – and we're well ahead of our goal to eliminate 1,000 state government middle managers.

We also took important steps to improve and protect our quality of life.

At certain times of the year, Hood Canal, one of the jewels of our state, becomes a dead zone where aquatic life is killed off. We are working to bring Hood Canal back to life with real on-the-ground projects that work.

We adopted tough emission standards for new cars and required new "green building" standards for public buildings.

There was much, much more. For example we took steps to ramp up our fight against the ravages of meth.

It is important to note that even though we were handed a $2.2 billion budget shortfall, we did all this without a general tax increase -- no sales tax, no business and occupation and no property tax increases.

So we had a good year – a very good year in 2005. But you know what, we aren't done yet.

One area where we need work is early learning. Let me be candid with you.

How would you grade a system where less than 50 percent of the kids are prepared to learn when they reach kindergarten?

Or a system where half a dozen early learning programs in state government are spread across numerous agencies and have no clear vision?

We know children with early learning success are more likely to finish school, more likely to go to college, less likely to be unemployed and less likely to commit crimes.

Our children are born to learn, and the first and best teacher in a child's life is the parent. But when parents and their families want help with care outside the home, we must be there for our kids.

We need less bureaucracy. We need to stop falling behind the rest of the country. We need to make sure our children are ready to learn when they hit kindergarten.

Business leaders understand the value of early learning. They know it is an investment in the future.

So we're creating public-private partnerships because this is about communities, and no one wants government to tell them how to parent.

For the last month or so we have seen the battle lines forming over requiring certain performance standards for our students.

I traveled to Europe and Asia and witnessed firsthand our competition and, believe me, we don't let our children down with high standards. We let them down if we retreat. And we fail them again if we don't prepare them to succeed.

Before we talk about lowering standards, shouldn't we first:

Show all our students- boys and girls, black and white, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, rich and poor- we believe in them?

Demonstrate we support their teachers by paying them a decent wage?

Provide individualized help to students so they can achieve the standards?

And develop alternative assessments for those who need them?

I have talked to hundreds of high school students in the last year, and I will tell you, I believe in them. I will not give up on them.

And I will not accept 1/3 of our students dropping out of high school.

I have learned that if we entrust students with responsibility for their own future, they will do amazing things.

Many students do not feel their high school classes relate to their future. Programs like Navigation 101 challenge students to choose alternative careers and enroll in courses needed to achieve that dream. As a result, students engage in more rigorous coursework because they are in charge of their future.

We have "Running Start" for college. But what about kids who don't want to go to college?

We need Running Start for the trades.

Education and health care are interwoven: An unhealthy child can't learn.

Too many working families and senior citizens in Washington are uninsured or underinsured and only an accident or illness away from financial hardship.

There are too many disparities in health care.

This is inconsistent with our values. I believe health care is a basic right and not a perk.

Late last year I met with Pam Roberts, a single mom in the Spokane Valley. Like a lot of parents, she is struggling to cope with overwhelming home energy bills. We have watched as gas prices increased a dollar a gallon over the past year.

I am challenging you to pass, in the first week of this session, initial assistance for our neighbors and friends who are struggling with high home heating bills. Washington families shouldn't be left in the cold while the oil companies cash in on record returns.

For the longer term, I am proposing an energy agenda that will help reduce our dependence on foreign oil and create another 21st century industry in Washington.

Farmers like Ted Durfey in Sunnyside are ready to grow the biofuel business in Washington. But they need help getting started. With a strategic investment of low interest loans we can help launch this 21st-Century industry and provide new markets for energy crops like canola or mustard.

It's time we have an energy policy based on Washington grown and Washington owned.

As we work to create and attract business, we need to remember that our quality of life is key to our success.

Our natural resources not only provide beauty and recreation, they are the lifeblood of our economy.

That's why environmentalists, local government, sportsmen, tribal and business leaders have all joined our renewed efforts to preserve and protect Puget Sound.

There's work we must do now. My budget includes money to speed the cleanup of toxic waste, restore salmon habitat, help homeowners repair failing septic systems, and improve oil spill prevention and response.

We're approaching the clean up of Puget Sound by embracing what we call the Washington Way: a bottom-up, grassroots strategy that sparks citizen energy and engages our farmers, environmentalists, and landowners who live and work near the Sound.

It is a legacy we must leave.

Sadly, too many of the 2005 headlines told terrible tales of hurricanes, tsunamis, and attacks by sex offenders and terrorists. The lesson is we have to be prepared and invest in our personal safety and security.

I am, therefore, proposing actions to help protect Washington families. My budget includes funds to improve tsunami warnings in our coastal communities, improve our earthquake readiness and strengthen detection and tracking of a pandemic flu.

I also requested additional funding for the state patrol for ferry security and highway safety.

Our families need to know when a sex offender is moving into the community. We need to toughen the penalties for sex offenders who fail to register.

We have been blessed with higher than expected revenue. My supplemental budget pays the bills, makes targeted investments and saves money for the future.

I know some of you want to spend more money.

So did I.

I know some of you want to cut taxes.

So did I

As we look ahead to the next year, we will need every dime just to cover the increased cost of our existing services, particularly in education and health care.

Our state budgeting has been a roller coaster. We spend when we have a surplus and we struggle to make painful cuts when the economy slumps. It is time to even out the ride. While the roller coaster is fun at the amusement park, it is no model for state budgeting.

By treating our budget like a Washington family budget – we will ensure stability and avoid tax increases or Draconian cuts tomorrow.

So my budget pays the bills and keeps the retirement system sound. It makes targeted investments for the future, and it puts money aside to pay the bills that will come due in a year.

Saving the amount of new revenue I propose is something that has never been done before – but its time has come.

It's a budget that is practical, prudent, and responsible. I accept the fact that we may have differences over how to spend this supplemental budget.

But let me be clear, I cannot sign a budget that next year would require cuts harmful to the people of this state.

As I look out over this great chamber, I am reminded of nine voices that once echoed here fell silent last year.

These are the voices of those who put service to others over their self-interests and who shared our Washington values of responsibility and opportunity.

In March we lost Rep. Ruth Fisher-our state's original "Steel Magnolia." On a sidewalk precisely twenty-five feet outside Heaven's gate, Ruth stands puffing on a Marlboro Light in grudging respect for the passage of Initiative 901. Her rich life and commitment to the greater good offer proof that "surliness" is next to "Godliness!"

We also lost Senators Dick Hemstad, Martin Durkan, and Bob Bailey, and Representatives Charles Kilbury, Stan Bradley, Russ Austin, Geraldine McCormick and Speaker Tom Swayze.

They were Democrats and Republicans, and each was emblematic of what our collective credo should be: that public service transcend partisanship and that politics is about getting real things done for Washington families.

Let's continue to honor their spirit of responsibility, opportunity, and service to others.

Each of us, irrespective of our political party, owes it to the families of our great state not to lose our way; each of us must see ourselves through history's lens, and create a legacy by building on our success.

We cannot be distracted by partisan politics, special interests, or political maneuvering.

We are all here to serve others. That is our call to duty.

So in the spirit of responsibility, opportunity and service, let's get to work and build on the foundation we created together last year.

Thank you, God Bless you, and God Bless the people of Washington State."

"Sec. 1. RCW 49.60.010 and 1997 c 271 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

This chapter shall be known as the "law against discrimination(^(b))."^(b) It is an exercise of the police power of the state for the protection of the public welfare, health, and peace of the people of this state, and in fulfillment of the provisions of the Constitution of this state concerning civil rights. The legislature hereby finds and declares that practices of discrimination against any of its inhabitants because of race, creed, color, national origin, families with children, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, age, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person are a matter of state concern, that such discrimination threatens not only the rights and proper privileges of its inhabitants but menaces the institutions and foundation of a free democratic state. A state agency is herein created with powers with respect to elimination and prevention of discrimination in employment, in credit and insurance transactions, in places of public resort, accommodation, or amusement, and in real property transactions because of race, creed, color, national origin, families with children, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, age, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person; and the commission established hereunder is hereby given general jurisdiction and power for such purposes.

Sec. 2. RCW 49.60.020 and 1993 c 510 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

The provisions of this chapter shall be construed liberally for the accomplishment of the purposes thereof. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be deemed to repeal any of the provisions of any other law of this state relating to discrimination because of race, color, creed, national origin, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, age, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability, other than a law which purports to require or permit doing any act which is an unfair practice under this chapter. Nor shall anything herein contained be construed to deny the right to any person to institute any action or pursue any civil or criminal remedy based upon an alleged violation of his or her civil rights. This chapter shall not be construed to endorse any specific belief, practice, behavior, or orientation. Inclusion of sexual orientation in this chapter shall not be construed to modify or supersede state law relating to marriage.

Sec. 3. RCW 49.60.030 and 1997 c 271 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The right to be free from discrimination because of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person is recognized as and declared to be a civil right. (b) The right to the full enjoyment of any of the accommodations, advantages, facilities, or privileges of any place of public resort, accommodation, assemblage, or amusement;

(c) The right to engage in real estate transactions without discrimination, including discrimination against families with children;

(d) The right to engage in credit transactions without discrimination;

(e) The right to engage in insurance transactions or transactions with health maintenance organizations without discrimination: PROVIDED, That a practice which is not unlawful under RCW 48.30.300, 48.44.220, or 48.46.370 does not constitute an unfair practice for the purposes of this subparagraph; and

(f) The right to engage in commerce free from any discriminatory boycotts or blacklists. Discriminatory boycotts or blacklists for purposes of this section shall be defined as the formation or execution of any express or implied agreement, understanding, policy or contractual arrangement for economic benefit between any persons which is not specifically authorized by the laws of the United States and which is required or imposed, either directly or indirectly, overtly or covertly, by a foreign government or foreign person in order to restrict, condition, prohibit, or interfere with or in order to exclude any person or persons from any business relationship on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability, or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person, or national origin or lawful business relationship: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That nothing herein contained shall prohibit the use of boycotts as authorized by law pertaining to labor disputes and unfair labor practices.

(2) Any person deeming himself or herself injured by any act in violation of this chapter shall have a civil action in a court of competent jurisdiction to enjoin further violations, or to recover the actual damages sustained by the person, or both, together with the cost of suit including reasonable attorneys' fees or any other appropriate remedy authorized by this chapter or the United States Civil Rights Act of 1964 as amended, or the Federal Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 3601 et seq.).

(3) Except for any unfair practice committed by an employer against an employee or a prospective employee, or any unfair practice in a real estate transaction which is the basis for relief specified in the amendments to RCW 49.60.225 contained in chapter 69, Laws of 1993, any unfair practice prohibited by this chapter which is committed in the course of trade or commerce as defined in the Consumer Protection Act, chapter 19.86 RCW, is, for the purpose of applying that chapter, a matter affecting the public interest, is not reasonable in relation to the development and preservation of business, and is an unfair or deceptive act in trade or commerce.

(7) To cooperate and act jointly or by division of labor with the United States or other states, with other Washington state agencies, commissions, and other government entities, and with political subdivisions of the state of Washington and their respective human rights agencies to carry out the purposes of this chapter. However, the powers which may be exercised by the commission under this subsection permit investigations and complaint dispositions only if the investigations are designed to reveal, or the complaint deals only with, allegations which, if proven, would constitute unfair practices under this chapter. The commission may perform such services for these agencies and be reimbursed therefor.

(8) To foster good relations between minority and majority population groups of the state through seminars, conferences, educational programs, and other intergroup relations activities.

Sec. 6. RCW 49.60.130 and 1997 c 271 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

The commission has power to create such advisory agencies and conciliation councils, local, regional, or statewide, as in its judgment will aid in effectuating the purposes of this chapter. The commission may empower them to study the problems of discrimination in all or specific fields of human relationships or in specific instances of discrimination because of sex, race, creed, color, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, age, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person; to foster through community effort or otherwise good will, cooperation, and conciliation among the groups and elements of the population of the state, and to make recommendations to the commission for the development of policies and procedures in general and in specific instances, and for programs of formal and informal education which the commission may recommend to the appropriate state agency.

Such advisory agencies and conciliation councils shall be composed of representative citizens, serving without pay, but with reimbursement for travel expenses in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060 as now existing or hereafter amended, and the commission may make provision for technical and clerical assistance to such agencies and councils and for the expenses of such assistance. The commission may use organizations specifically experienced in dealing with questions of discrimination.

Sec. 7. RCW 49.60.175 and 1997 c 271 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

It shall be an unfair practice to use the sex, race, creed, color, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability of any person, or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person, concerning an application for credit in any credit transaction to determine the credit worthiness of an applicant.

Sec. 8. RCW 49.60.176 and 1997 c 271 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It is an unfair practice for any person whether acting for himself, herself, or another in connection with any credit transaction because of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, or the presence of any sensory,

For the purposes of this section, "insurance transaction" is defined in RCW 48.01.060, health maintenance agreement is defined in RCW 48.46.020, and "health maintenance organization" is defined in RCW 48.46.020.

The fact that such unfair practice may also be a violation of chapter 48.30, 48.44, or 48.46 RCW does not constitute a defense to an action brought under this section.

The insurance commissioner, under RCW 48.30.300, and the human rights commission, under chapter 49.60 RCW, shall have concurrent jurisdiction under this section and shall enter into a working agreement as to procedure to be followed in complaints under this section.

(c) To fail to design and construct covered multifamily dwellings and premises in conformance with the federal fair housing amendments act of 1988 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 3601 et seq.) and all other applicable laws or regulations pertaining to access by persons with any sensory, mental, or physical disability or use of a trained dog guide or service animal. Whenever the requirements of applicable laws or regulations differ, the requirements which require greater accessibility for persons with any sensory, mental, or physical disability shall govern.

Nothing in (a) or (b) of this subsection shall apply to: (i) A single-family house rented or leased by the owner if the owner does not own or have an interest in the proceeds of the rental or lease of more than three such single-family houses at one time, the rental or lease occurred without the use of a real estate broker or salesperson, as defined in RCW 18.85.010, and the rental or lease occurred without the publication, posting, or mailing of any advertisement, sign, or statement in violation of subsection (1)(g) of this section; or (ii) rooms or units in dwellings containing living quarters occupied or intended to be occupied by no more than four families living independently of each other if the owner maintains and occupies one of the rooms or units as his or her residence.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, it shall not be an unfair practice or a denial of civil rights for any public or private educational institution to separate the sexes or give preference to or limit use of dormitories, residence halls, or other student housing to persons of one sex or to make distinctions on the basis of marital or families with children status.

(4) Except pursuant to subsection (2)(a) of this section, this section shall not be construed to require structural changes, modifications, or additions to make facilities accessible to a disabled person except as otherwise required by law. Nothing in this section affects the rights, responsibilities, and remedies of landlords and tenants pursuant to chapter 59.18 or 59.20 RCW, including the right to post and enforce reasonable rules of conduct and safety for all tenants and their guests, provided that chapters 59.18 and 59.20 RCW are only affected to the extent they are inconsistent with the nondiscrimination requirements of this chapter. Nothing in this section limits the applicability of any reasonable federal, state, or local restrictions regarding the maximum number of occupants permitted to occupy a dwelling.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, it shall not be an unfair practice for any public establishment providing for accommodations offered for the full enjoyment of transient guests as defined by RCW 9.91.010(1)(c) to make distinctions on the basis of families with children status. Nothing in this section shall limit the effect of RCW 49.60.215 relating to unfair practices in places of public accommodation.

(6) Nothing in this chapter prohibiting discrimination based on families with children status applies to housing for older persons as defined by the federal fair housing amendments act of 1988, 42 U.S.C. Sec. 3607(b)(1) through (3), as amended by the housing for older persons act of 1995, P.L. 104-76, as enacted on December 28, 1995. Nothing in this chapter authorizes requirements for housing for older persons different than the requirements in the federal fair housing amendments act of 1988, 42 U.S.C. Sec. 3607(b)(1) through (3), as amended by the housing for older persons act of 1995, P.L. 104-76, as enacted on December 28, 1995.

(7) Nothing in this chapter shall apply to real estate transactions involving the sharing of a dwelling unit, or rental or sublease of a portion of a dwelling unit, when the dwelling unit is to be occupied by the owner or sublessor. For purposes of this section, "dwelling unit" has the same meaning as in RCW 59.18.030.

Sec. 15. RCW 49.60.223 and 1997 c 271 s 15 are each amended to read as follows:

It is an unfair practice for any person, for profit, to induce or attempt to induce any person to sell or rent any real property by representations regarding the entry or prospective entry into the neighborhood of a person or persons of a particular race, creed, color, sex, national origin, sexual orientation, families with children status, or with any sensory, mental, or physical disability and/or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a blind, deaf, or physically disabled person.

Sec. 16. RCW 49.60.224 and 1997 c 271 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

(2) It is an unfair practice to insert in a written instrument relating to real property a provision that is void under this section or to honor or attempt to honor such a provision in the chain of title.

Sec. 17. RCW 49.60.225 and 1997 c 271 s 17 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) When a reasonable cause determination has been made under RCW 49.60.240 that an unfair practice in a real estate transaction has been committed and a finding has been made that the respondent has engaged in any unfair practice under RCW 49.60.250, the administrative law judge shall promptly issue an order for such relief suffered by the aggrieved person as may be appropriate, which may include actual damages as provided by the federal fair housing amendments act of 1988 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 3601 et seq.), and injunctive or other equitable relief. Such order may, to further the public interest, assess a civil penalty against the respondent:

(a) In an amount up to ten thousand dollars if the respondent has not been determined to have committed any prior unfair practice in a real estate transaction;

(b) In an amount up to twenty-five thousand dollars if the respondent has been determined to have committed one other unfair practice in a real estate transaction during the five-year period ending on the date of the filing of this charge; or

(c) In an amount up to fifty thousand dollars if the respondent has been determined to have committed two or more unfair practices in a real estate transaction during the seven-year period ending on the date of the filing of this charge, for loss of the right secured by RCW 49.60.010, 49.60.030, 49.60.040, and 49.60.222 through 49.60.224, as now or hereafter amended, to be free from discrimination in real property transactions because of sex, marital status, race, creed, color, national origin, sexual orientation, families with children status, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a blind, deaf, or physically disabled person. Enforcement of the order and appeal therefrom by the complainant or respondent may be made as provided in RCW 49.60.260 and 49.60.270. If acts constituting the unfair practice in a real estate transaction that is the object of the charge are determined to have been committed by the same natural person who has been previously determined to have committed acts constituting an unfair practice in a real estate transaction, then the civil penalty of up to fifty thousand dollars may be imposed without regard to the period of time within which any subsequent unfair practice in a real estate transaction occurred. All civil penalties assessed under this section shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the general fund.

(2) Such order shall not affect any contract, sale, conveyance, encumbrance, or lease consummated before the issuance of an order that involves a bona fide purchaser, encumbrancer, or tenant who does not have actual notice of the charge filed under this chapter.

Expanding the jurisdiction of the human rights commission.

The bill was read on Third Reading.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "One moment Senator Fairley, the President would like to make an announcement prior to action on this bill. This issue that we are about to deal with generates much emotion. The President would like to remind our very welcome guests in the galleries that no responses or outbursts will be allowed in response to any action taking place on the floor of the senate and any debate or any action of the senators. I would very much appreciate it if you would honor that rule of the senate. Thank you. Senator Fairley."

Senators Swecker, Oke, Mulliken, Stevens and Zarelli spoke against passage of the bill.

Senator Hargrove spoke on passage of the bill.

Senators Kline, Shin, Brown and Regala spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

REMARKS BY SENATOR FAIRLEY

Senator Fairley: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, I've been thinking about discrimination a lot since this bill passed out of my committee. I realized that if I wanted to rent a house from you and you looked at the way I walked and you said 'Oh, she's disabled, I'm afraid she'll fall down the stairs and maybe sue me.' That's illegal. Can't discriminate based on disability. I know some people who just hate Vietnamese. They were in the war. They wouldn't hire them for anything. That's illegal. You can't discriminate based on where a person comes from. I know people who hate Jews. I'm not too sure why. I know they're not Christian, but I suppose they wouldn't hire them either. That's illegal. I know, I'm an antique dealer and we've had, a couple of times, we've had signs we've been able to sell that use to be placed in stores back in the East Coast. 'NINA,' No Irish Need Apply. Now, that was because, in the old days, they hated the Irish and were afraid they'd take their jobs. You see, the other face on discrimination is hatred and fear. It always has been. It always will be and I think the people of Washington State are passed that. They don't think it's right, whether they try to discriminate based on physical disability, gender, ethnicity religion or sexual orientation. I'm asking you to vote for this bill, please."

REMARKS BY SENATOR SWECKER

Senator Swecker: "Thank you Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate for allowing me the opportunity to speak here today. I want to begin my comments with the statement that I think we can all agree on. Discrimination against anyone is unacceptable and is wrong. Unfortunately this bill before us today is not the magic tool that will end discrimination in our state. In reality, it takes us in the exactly the opposite direction. Because the measure before us today would offer special protection for some of our citizens while limiting the liberty of others. Our State Constitution guarantees each of us the freedom of religion. Unfortunately, this bill would trample, unrelentingly, on the freedoms of citizens whose religious beliefs are in direct conflict with the bill's premise. In essence, the bill would place homosexual orientation above religious freedom because, although a church might be exempt under this bill, a business owner whose beliefs conflict with homosexuality is not. So, regardless of the business owners' religious beliefs or creed, he would be forced to bend his views. Under that scenario, we the state are telling the people to accept, actually to embrace something that goes directly against their religious views. Why? Because Government says so. When the heavy hand of Government drops down to buckle the rights of free speech and association, we all lose. After all, today it may be gay rights, but tomorrow it might be something the supporters of this bill do not like. The bill before us today is not one that will unite us. It is one that will divide us and close off the lines of communication out of fear that we may be understood."

Just picture the interviewer whose being asked to interpret but certainly not misinterpret another person's sexual orientation, gender expression or identity. Frankly, most people just want to keep that kind of information out of the work place but the definitions of gender expression and gender identity offered in this bill leave the door wide open for dispute and judicial reinterpretation in all kinds of ways. One unintended misstep, even with the best intentions, and someone could be accused of discrimination, be forced to pay penalties and need a lawyer without any intentional wrong doing. Under the bill's terms businesses can be sued for discrimination against someone even for a perceived sexual orientation. If that's not hole big enough from a lawyer to drive a truck through, I don't know what is. You know, the arguments for this bill might make more sense if we were talking strictly about the public sector. In the public sector, people of all persuasions and beliefs come together and make decisions that affect us all and their salaries are paid by public funds. But they cross the lines when government intrudes into the private affairs of people and private sector businesses this way. This is a highly charged issue for many people and we're telling those who have put their sweat and toil into building a company who they must hire. That is the wrong direction to go. I also believe the passage of this legislation places us on a slippery slope towards the legalization of gay marriage in our state. A brand new poll shows support for gay marriage in Washington is eroding. Only about one-third support it and only fourteen percent feel strongly about it. That's why the Governor and others are trying hard to separate this issue from gay rights and gay marriage, but the two are linked. As the Seattle Post-Intelligencer wrote in a recent editorial, 'we've the high court to overturn DOMA, the Defense of Marriage Act, the connection between marriage and civil rights and this civil rights bill would be hard to avoid. The paper right. Yes, this bill has an amendment that it says it won't supersede state law related to gay marriage but are any of us really naive to think that the court won't take judicial notice of our actions as it prepares to issue a ruling on DOMA? Language has also been added to the bill to suggest that the bill is not an endorsement of homo sexuality. However, other elements of the legislation, contradict this assertion. In fact, the opposite is true. The language in the bill directs the Humans Rights Commission to promote goodwill and minimize or eliminate discrimination against homosexuals. The Commission will also be directed to foster good relations between gays and heterosexuals through seminars, conferences, educational programs and other inter-group relationship activities. The Commission would be asked to come up with programs of formal and informal education which the Commission may recommend to the appropriate state agency. That state agency folks, is our schools. This means the Commission can create a state-sponsored pro-homosexual, education program that would be taught in our schools. In fact, it's a poorly kept secret that the agenda for that program is actually ready to go, just waiting for this bill to pass. This is an endorsement and a promotion of homosexuality and today I ask those who have said they would vote against the bill that contained that kind of language to hold true to that commitment. In closing, Mr. President, I'm going to join the sixty percent of voters in Washington who have already said they would come down against the idea of this bill. A few years ago the people voted on Initiative 677 which was similar bill. It went down by a super-majority. I'm going to vote against this legislation and I would urge my colleagues to do the same. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR RASMUSSEN

Senator Rasmussen: "Thank you Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate. I didn't prepare anything for today because I did my homework. Last year when this bill was before us, I put on two amendments and they were put together as one.

One of the amendments was adopted in the House this year and it says, 'This chapter shall not be construed to modify or supersede the state law regarding to marriage.' That's another affirmation in statute that the DOMA is solid and legal in this state. The other portion of the amendment was put on it, the House Committee and it said, 'This chapter shall not construe to endorse any specific belief, practice, behavior or orientation.' That's on page two of this bill. And if anyone wants to construe that this would not hold up in court as an intent on this bill. I would suggest, that as my nineteen years of being here that this would hold up in court. And so, I would think that if you said that this bill was going to lead to dissolving the DOMA I would have to tell you that it would take another bill, another piece of legislation, because this is the intent. And that's why I'm going to support this legislation. The other reason is I have nineteen little grandchildren and I do not want to think, have them think that I would ever discriminate against them or anybody in this world. I would not discriminate. I think people, all people, are equal and I especially thought this morning in the prayer when the Pastor read from the Old Testament, the Book of Micah. She was absolutely right. We are all created equal and that God would not want us to discriminate against anyone and so I would urge your support."

REMARKS BY SENATOR OKE

Senator Oke: "Thank you Mr. President. I'm going to have to turn my back to you but appreciate your acknowledging me and this is my family, I love you all. Joe, Senator Zarelli, I'm so thankful that your back with us today and God's peace to you and your family, I know you had some good news you shared with me about your dad and I really appreciate that. Most of you probably don't know, his dad died with multiple melanoma and that brings me back to the cancer that I still have within me. When I look back on my sixteen years, I will never forget the day you and Bill Finkbeiner presented me and Judy with the most wonderful tribute that a Senator I think has ever had. I just think the most of this body, but this bill is something that I have to speak against. It's a very personal, very personal moment for me. The last couple of weeks, unfortunately I have lost a lot of sleep over this. I wake up at four and I can't go back to sleep, I just keep thinking about this. I know that all you recognize that my faith is my life, the Lord is my leader and everything that I do. It is because of this I can not support this bill. I believe homosexuality is morally wrong. It's through God's eyes that I see homosexuality and to him homosexuality is an abomination. The Bible is very clear on this. I believe this bill is an attempt to legitimize and normalize homosexuality. The bills goal is to teach that choosing homosexuality is okay and I'm deeply, deeply, deeply troubled by that. I can't support that. How many parents would choose this lifestyle for their children? How many parents here? You know, I'd like to just draw a curtain around our family and not pay attention to whose up in the gallery and the presses here and everything else. I think this issue should be amongst us. Having a child who chooses to be homosexual is very, very painful. I know this because my daughter Cindy has chosen the life of a lesbian and I share this, especially with you, not with the press, not with anybody else, but it's very, very painful for both Judy and I. We've been able to help Cindy out, to share our love with her, share our faith with her. Ever since the very first day that she shared to me what her lifestyle was, she has been trying to change me and I quite frankly have been trying to change her. I'll share with you a moment that occurred just a month or so ago. She called, was very distressed and she's going through a couple typhoons and life just hasn't been good for her but she said, 'Dad, I want to come out and visit you. She came out a couple of times and we've sent her tickets and I said, Great, we'll send you a ticket.' She said, 'Dad, I want to bring my partner.' A long hesitation on my part and I said, 'I can't have that. I can't have you two in my home.' I'm sorry if that offends some people but if you take yourself in my position and think about that going on in your home, I just can not accept it. I'm sorry. That's called 'tough love.' I know language was added to this bill saying that the bill should not be construed to endorse homosexuality but it does. It clearly does. The Human Rights Commission educate, advocate for increase acceptance of those who are protected from discrimination. The Commission recommends educational programs to our state agencies which include the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction that Senator Swecker so elegantly said, 'It's our schools' and I don't want to have any part of this being taught as an acceptable, in homosexuality, in our schools. By passing a law that makes homosexuality a protected behavior we are turning our backs on the people who need our love, guidance and understanding to become right in God's eyes. Please don't read in my words that I wish any harm to people who have lost their way in God's eyes. I wish with all my heart that they will find truth and change. But I fear this bill will greatly hinder their journey to the truth this bill will serve as an excuse not to seek the truth. I plead with you and ask you to join me in voting no. You know if this bill is approved today and it appears that it's going, to be the headlines for the next three days?' 'Senate approves homosexually lifestyle.' 'Senate approves homosexually lifestyle.' That's wrong and I don't want to be a part of that. God Bless you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR FRANKLIN

Senator Franklin: "Thank you Mr. President and Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate. This certainly, indeed, is a very, very moving time. I certainly appreciate the civility by which we are discussing and debating this issue. Being civil in a debate and respecting each other is very, very important to me and I appreciate it. You know for quite sometime this issue has been around for many, many years. Thirty? Thirty years. I've prayed about it, I am a Christian. Christians do not, are not in just one party. Christians are everywhere, in each party and I live my faith trying to every day but as an African American woman and one who knows discrimination, one who has experienced discrimination, one who has heard insensitive remarks. I can not, I cannot say, 'discriminate' against anyone. In High School there was a class mate of mine, many, many years ago, before homosexuality was ever mentioned. In fact, there were two and they were young men. They were treated very, very, badly. They were called 'faggots.' They were called 'girlie.' They were called horrible names. I come from a family who has taught and practiced justice and equality for a life time. When that happened in my school and I went to segregated schools and that happened in segregated schools. These two students grew up to be very talented young men. One was a musician, the other was a teacher and that experience that transpires in today's world should not happen. Dr. King, if he were, here and I read his writings a lot, would not tolerate discrimination. And the writing of Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King and I quote, 'The hope of the world is still in dedicated minorities. The trailblazers and human, academic, scientific and religious freedom have always been in the minority.' And as I said, not anyone knows that better than I do. The rights of the minority must always be protected. Otherwise, the majority most times always trample on the minority. It was that creative minority of whites who fought against slavery. It was that creative minority of whites who absolutely committed to civil rights that made it clear to the larger society that vacillation and procrastination on racial justice was unacceptable, and, you know, the rest is history. If some of the civil rights leaders were alive today, I would undoubtedly say, No discrimination. No discrimination on any human being.' This bill simply extends human rights protections, civil liberties, to a group of people who pay their taxes, who work hard every day, who contribute to society, who should have the same rights as each of us do in this chamber. It's not special privileges. It's merely saying, 'Treat me the same, let me have the special, the civil rights that you have. Do not discriminate against me in housing, in employment. Do not. And I say to you ladies and gentlemen, it's not special rights. It's merely extending the rights to a group who have been treated very badly. We can not continue this any longer. Thirty years have been absolutely too long. It took a hundred years for me, they're doing it in thirty but yet it's just too long. Support the bill.'

REMARKS BY SENATOR MULLIKEN

Senator Mulliken: "Thank you Mr. President, and first I'd like to say thank you for recognizing the difficulty of this debate and reminding all of us of what a difficult conversation this is that we have. I think it's most important, as I also with along with the Senator from the Second District, listen to the words of Micah and the prayer that was offered this morning, that all people are equal. We know that God created us equal. He tells us that and we all believe that and our constitution says that we have those rights. To life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and all people are equal, and with that, I certainly do support treating all people with dignity and with respect and to understand that every human life has a value. But then I look at this proposal before me and it's not about, it's not about human value. It's actually about expanding the definition of who is going to be in a special class. So that's not it, the discussion of human value isn't part of it. We're talking about a special class of people being treated under the Human Rights Commissions preview and I think we've had a lot of discussion which is very true, I would just remind a few of you that certainly the Human Rights Commission has already been directed under our law to promote, to advocate, to protect, to present, to offer programs against discrimination for all kinds of classes that are listed and those classes in law, I don't have them in front of me but I know that some of them include age, as I have turned sixty this year, age is a big deal to me, gender, I am a woman, race, some of us have to deal with that differently than others, physical disabilities, we know that people need protecting, economic and social status, we know that for some people it's difficult to get a job when they haven't had an education or they're living off the streets. So we know that there are classes of people that need to have be protected by the Human Rights Commission. But what we're saying now is by identifying sexual orientation which has a lot of subtitles under it it's about homosexuals, lesbians, bisexual all kinds of other kinds subtitles that go under sexual orientation and it's open to a lot of interpretation as to what that can mean. So now we are empowering or we're actually, the Legislature is directing not empowering, they already have the power, we're directing the Human Rights Commission to advocate, educate, promote under sexual orientation and we don't really know what that means because there's a long list of titles under that. One of the concerns that was brought to me about a month ago by a constituent was our education system and what's going on at OSPI. I have a copy here of the self study document of 2006, the spring of 2006. The OSPI's publications are going to include materials, now this is for kindergarten mind you, this is for five year olds; kindergarten and then first, second and third grades, I think it's K-3 but here's the page for the kindergarten self study spring 2006, five year olds.

The cultural responsiveness is going to put into educational materials, presents, all human beings with respect and dignity, this is good, while avoiding images and roles that might be perceived as stereotypic or negative. For example; ability, disability, age, cultural, ethnicity, gender, language, race, religion, all very good, sexual orientation and socioeconomic status. So, our kingergarteners are now going to hear the promotion of a life style that we know isn't even preferred by those who live it. I can share a personal story myself. My sister-in-law, I love her my husband's sister. She carries my same last name and her name is also Cindy and she is kind, she is generous, she is a good family member, she's a good community fellow member. I love her so much and she lives as a lesbian. It doesn't mean I don't love her because of they way she's living because I do. I don't want anyone to treat her unjustly but she's had an education, she lives in a beautiful condominium in West Seattle, she's retired from a very good job because she worked hard and because she was educated and she was good at her job. In my experience with her, she has not been discriminated against because of her life style. So, I'm not sure I understand the reasoning for this except to promote an agenda that, and I'm going to close because I know that I'm going on too long but I want to read one thing from the Catholic Conference Testimony which is important to me. 'In our current cultural context, gay rights are being promoted. Some favor making homosexual relationships as normal as marriage both legally and morally. Under this proposed bill even with the amended version those who wish these relationships promoted and protected may have legal cause for action.' If I were a lawyer I'd be salivating over this. So I urge your opposition and your 'no' on 2661."

2006 REGULAR SESSION

REMARKS BY SENATOR THIBAudeau

Senator Thibaudeau: "Thank you Mr. President, rising, shouldn't surprise you, in support of Substitute House Bill No. 2661. I know that the decisions have been made and I respect those who feel differently than I do but last time we debated this issue I talked about four people, four extremely effective Legislators, Ed, Joe, Dave and Jim. Now, I'd like to talk just about a little bit again putting a face on some of these people as some of you have with relatives. They're successful attorneys, very successful attorneys, quite well off, they're directors of agencies, they're effective administrators and government services both in government and private agencies, they are extremely generous community volunteers and donors, loving mothers and loving family members. They are lesbians. Judy, Carol, Jenny, Pat, Ellen, Tina, Laurie and Jan, don't expect special treatment. They have been very, very successful but as my friend Randy said, 'At least we should be treated as human beings.' I think that this bill reflects that philosophy and certainly mine and I urge your support. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR STEVENS

Senator Stevens: "Thank you Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate. This is indeed a very sad day for the State of Washington. As we all know, this bill is going to pass. It's a sad day for me especially because I remember fourteen years ago when this bill was being debated, the crowd was so large that it couldn't be held in a hearing room. They had to move the entire debate to the House floor where the people were allowed to fill our seats as the audience as this was being debated. We defeated it then because of its very nature and what it would mean for the State of Washington. Nothing has changed. The reasons that we defeated it then are still the same reasons today. We're all aware, though, that we did recently pass a piece of legislation that required a two-thirds vote in both chambers that defined marriage as between one man and one woman. It was referred to earlier by my colleague who reminded us of DOMA. As we're all aware language has been added into this bill that says, 'It will not override the state regulation and relation of one man and one woman being called marriage.' Of course, we're talking about gay marriage when we talk about what other marriages might mean. But I'm sorry to tell you that the meaningless wording in this piece of legislation will not carry us. As we are kidding ourselves to believe that wording in this bill is going to be deemed absolutely meaningless when it comes down to where the rubber meets the road. Because we all know that the courts are about to rule on the Defense of Marriage Act. If they rule against the language, in this law prohibiting what we are saying here today will not have meaning whatsoever. What we need is something in our state constitution that guarantees that we will, of the people, stand for what we say we are standing for in this piece of legislation. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that those who have said they want to keep marriage between one man and one woman to vote for an amendment, an amendment to the constitution. A recent poll on gay marriage shows only one-third of the people in our state support gay marriage and only fourteen percent feels strongly in favor of it. This is what the people in our state want, Mr. Speaker. I urge the members of this chamber to vote for an amendment that would put it in our constitution, once and for all, regardless of what might be coming out of the Supreme Court. If you truly mean what you are saying in this particular bill, you will agree with me and you will help us pass that amendment. Thank you Mr. President."

REMARKS BY SENATOR KOHL-WELLES

Senator Kohl-Welles: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, there's very much that I would like to say with your permission, I instead will read a very short passage from remarks made by Eleanor Roosevelt. Thank you Mr. President. Well, Eleanor Roosevelt's remarks that I'm going to read were made back in 1958 during a presentation of a Human Rights book to the United Nations Commission on Human Rights. I believe they are as relevant today as they were back then. 'Where, after all, do universal human rights begin. In small places, close to home, so close and so small that they can not be seen on any map of the world. Yet they are the world of the individual person: The neighborhood he lives in; the school or college he attends; the factory farm or office where he works. Such other places where every man, woman and child seeks equal justice, equal opportunity, equal dignity without discrimination. Unless these rights have meaning there, they have little meaning anywhere. Without concerted citizen action to uphold them close to home we shall look in vain for progress in the larger world.'"

REMARKS BY SENATOR FINKBEINER

Senator Finkbeiner: "Thank you Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate. You know, a little bit's been said about some of the words that are in this bill and what's in there and what's not and we'll talk a little bit about that. A lot has been said about the impact on business. It's clearly exempts small businesses, anyone with eight employees or fewer is exempted under this law. Some folks have talked about religious organizations and how their constitutional rights will be violated. It's clear that this bill doesn't allow that and even if it did we have a constitution. This is a law. This is not a constitutional amendment. Our constitution still stands. A lot has been said about marriage and where this is going to go. That's in the courts. This bill is clear on what it does. It doesn't effect that. That's in the courts. Some has been said about immutable characteristics and how that's generally covered in the current underlying law. That also covers whether or not you have kids. That's covered in the underlying law. You can't be discriminated against if you have kids or not. You can't be discriminated against, in the underlying law, if you're married or not. You can't be discriminated against because of what religion you practice. I don't think those are any more or less immutable than what we're talking about here. What we're really talking about here, I think, and where the emotion comes in this debate and why we are spending so much energy on this issue is because what the debate is about is not what's in the bill. What the debate is about, and part of what we've heard today, is whether or not it's okay to be gay or homosexual in this state. Whether or not it's appropriate to be discriminated against or to discriminate against someone because of that. Someone earlier, earlier speaker said, 'Well, you know how a parent feel and how would, you feel. Would you choose this lifestyle for your children? Parents don't choose this for their children. People don't choose this. We don't choose who we love. The heart chooses who it will love. I don't believe that it is right for us to say-which I would believe we would be saying at this point if we turned down this bill-to say that it's acceptable to discriminate against people because of that, because who their heart chooses to love. I can not stand with that argument. You know we've also, some people have said, 'Well, this will rip the state apart.' I don't believe that and certainly hope that's not the case. I really believe that there a lot of people out there, who are your neighbors, who are your co-workers, perhaps some of them are in your family and in a lot of these cases you probably don't even know if these people are gay or lesbians. You just don't. And a lot of those cases those people are being sent a message from a lot parts of society and sometimes, I think, from this legislature. Who their hearts chooses to love is wrong and they are wrong, and they are immoral. And I don't believe that's true, I just fundamentally, don't believe that is true. I know that there are some really, kind and generous and loving people here today who disagree with me and I hope, and I know that there's some real kind and loving and generous people who are not here today in this building who disagree with me on this issue. I hope that after the passage of this bill we will see that the world continues to turn, that our lives continue to go on. That the things that we care about and the things that we struggle with in our daily lives continue to be mostly the same but for some people, for some people, who struggle with this issue and struggle with messages that they are being sent, it will be a better day. And maybe for some people that might disagree, they'll see that things keep going, they keep going well, the world does not end. The issues that we struggle with will be the same tomorrow for most of us and that those people are okay, that's there's nothing wrong with them. This is been a terribly difficult issue for me and I appreciate the chance to explain my reasons why I will be voting for this bill today."

NINETEENTH DAY, JANUARY 27, 2006

REMARKS BY SENATOR ZARELLI

Senator Zarelli: "Thank you Mr. President. It is important that we have a civil discussion on this matter, I think and we're doing that today. You know, it's amazed me throughout the debate on this, both in the press and individually and as we talk today, that first of all, it appears to be okay to use religion if your arguing for this bill but it seems to me that, in the press in all of the discussions, if you use religion against this bill then your looked at as extreme. And that really brings us to the point of debate here. Years ago, this whole issue really focused around tolerance. We need be tolerant of other people and what they choose to do. Isn't that what this really boils down to this debate? Take religion out of the debate. What it really boils down to is whether you choose your lifestyle or whether your born with your lifestyle. Nobody can tell us the answer to that question. And because of that, today we're making a decision by that your born with it. Protecting a class of people based on a behavior, we have to first say that's there's nothing that they can do about it. And that's the decision we're making today. And I believe that's really what the debate boils down to. Whether you make it a religious or secular discussion. It's whether, it's important because a group of individuals are discriminated against because of something that they can do nothing about, and that's the decision we're making. And those who vote for this legislation are saying, without a doubt, that your clear in your mind, that we need to protect a class of Americans, in this case Washingtonians, because of something that they are that they can absolutely do nothing about. Well, I don't believe that. And today my vote is going to be no because I think that it's very important that we don't get down the road of deciding to protect people because of how they choose to act because of a behavioral distinction that is different than, in this case, the norm. So what we're going to do today in passing this bill, is we're making that decision. We need to make that very clear. We're deciding that, on behavior, that it's important to protect people's choice and that's vastly different than whether you're married. It's not the state's desire to tell somebody that they ought to get divorced. It's not the state's desire to tell people that they ought to get rid of their kids. It's not the state's desire to tell you that come back when your white because your black. Because those are things that are in the public's best interest and that's to accept each other for the gifts and the distinctions that we're born with. I'm not ready to say today, folks, that we're going to go out and share with people of this state that, because there's a class of people out there who are born with a distinction that can not overcome because it is within them, that we need to protect them. If somebody can make that case to me today I would most definitely we have to do that but that is not proven. We're not close to proving that. So I think it's very important Mr. President, that we understand what we're protecting today and it isn't important what the behavior is, only that it is a behavior, and that takes us down a road that ought to be concerning to everybody. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR MCAULIFFE

Senator McAuliffe: "Thank you Mr. President. I stand in support of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2661. In reference to the Senator from the thirteenth, twentieth and twenty-sixth district speaking about curriculum in our public schools, this does not open the door to that, to what is taught in our public school. This bill is about our children in those schools who have been harassed, dissed and bullied to the point where they can not attend schools. A few years, Governor Gregoire, who then was the Attorney General, and I listened to stories from children all across the state about how they were discriminated against in our schools, isolated and could not learn or attend school because of the bullying. They are denied an education. Their stories saddened me. They have a right. They've a right to an education, free of discrimination for who they are. What will they be taught in our schools? They will be taught tolerance. Tolerance for all people regardless of the color of their skin, how heavy they are or skinny they are, whether they have red hair or black hair. They will be taught tolerance for all people. If I may, Mr. President, I'd like to add that in support of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2661 I wish to vote twice today out of respect of my seat mate in 1995 and our past colleague, Senator Calvin Anderson. I want to honor his integrity, dignity and courage as he fought and strove to make all citizens of Washington State equal under the law."

REMARKS BY SENATOR WEINSTEIN

Senator Weinstein: "Thank you Mr. President. Mr. President I'm proud today to do my small part to end discrimination in our state by voting this long overdue bill. Passing this bill will allow Washington to join the community of states around this country who have said that we can no longer treat gays and lesbians like second-class citizens. We will be joining Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico,

NINETEENTH DAY, JANUARY 27, 2006

New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin. People have said that this bill would tear our state apart. It hasn't torn any of those other states apart. Mr. President, discrimination based on sexual orientation is no more acceptable than discrimination based on race. Throughout our nation's history there have many legislators who in the past have voted to discriminate based on race and many of these legislators around the country have apologized for it, felt bad about it and wished they'd never done it. I feel very strongly today that those who vote against this bill many years from now will be judged very harshly by future generations who will look back when all people will be treated equally and look back and think, 'How can anyone have voted to discriminate?'

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Deccio: "I think the speaker is impugning the motives of those of us who don't favor this bill. I think he ought to stick to the issue and not look to future generations and demean some of us who will not be supporting this legislation."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Deccio stands correct that your not to refer to the reasons for people but rather than debate on the issue itself."

REMARKS BY SENATOR WEINSTEIN

Senator Weinstein: "Mr. President, I was merely saying that future generations, I think, would look unkindly at those who voted against this bill because this is a conservative bill. The Senator from the forty-fifth has said, it is not about gay marriage, it exempts religious institutions, it exempts small businesses. In fact the major businesses the leading businesses of our state support this bill. And many religious leaders around the state support this bill. I've heard some people say that it's an abomination, voting for this bill you'd be supporting an abomination or sin. The Supreme Court of the United States has already said that what goes on behind closed doors in someone's bedroom between two consenting adults is none of the governments business. So, what is the sin we're talking about? Your sexual orientation is a sin? Your identity? Who you are is a sin? God would not make it a sin to be who you are. Mr. President, the gay and lesbian community has waited long enough for this bill. Let's not waste anymore time in doing away with their second-class status. Thank you very much in helping me support this bill and try to pass and once in for all do away with discrimination against gays and lesbians, thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR HARGROVE

Senator Hargrove: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, I really wasn't planning on speaking today and I think that there's been adequate discussion about why you would vote for this bill and why you would vote against this bill so I'm not going to get into that. I would just like to say that tolerance is a two-way street. And that if you believe it's wrong to think that gays and lesbians have a wrong lifestyle, other people believe that it's wrong for me to believe that that is wrong. That's, there's no two ways about it. You have to believe I'm wrong to have the other opinion. As we've discussed, kids in the school, they certainly shouldn't be harassed or bullied but now we have the opportunity to have kids in the school whose parents believe that that lifestyle is wrong. They're going to be told that they are wrong. And that their parents are wrong for having that belief. So, I'm just praying today knowing probably how this is going to turn out today that tolerance will be a two-way street. And that we won't be telling people that believe in a different way, they way I do, that the lifestyle is wrong, but because we believe they are so wrong now we will take it out on them and that's my only prayer for today."

REMARKS BY SENATOR KLINE

Senator Kline: "Thank you Mr. President. I certainly recognize, as I believe most of us do on this floor certainly, that it's personally a very difficult call. For those of us whose family life, whose religious beliefs, whose culture requires a no vote. I believe there are many of us also whose religious beliefs, whose family history and whose culture requires a yes vote. As somebody who comes from a constituency that's almost unanimous about this bill, I certainly recognize the difficulty that many people have on the other side of this room. It's a difficult call for people who think morally, who think in terms of an absolute that is set upon us, that is not entirely our own doing. Are we doing right or wrong. And I believe that forty-nine of us will take that very seriously today. My own religious belief leads me to believe that there is a necessity a demand upon us to do justice. 'Justice, justice shalt though pursue.' Rabbi's tell us that word is repeated because it's the first. It's the foremost. All of the others come from that. The word for justice is tzedakah in Hebrew, is the same as the word for charity. It means the same thing. Charity is not allowed of us. It is demanded of us. I understand that not every religious tradition feels that way. There are forty-nine reasonable people in this room who will come to forty-nine different and very personal conclusions. I want to assure my good friend from the eighteenth and my good friend from the twenty-fourth that this is not a matter of casting aspersions on anybody's personal moral thinking. It is a recognition of the difficulty of this question. I certainly recognize those who come to this with a degree of very serious intellectual participation. My religion requires me to vote yes. I understand there are differences. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR SHIN

Senator Shin: "Thank you Mr. President. I rise in humility to express some of my thoughts. Yes, we all have our religious beliefs, philosophical, moral, academic views. In this chamber those views notwithstanding, we came here to support the justice for all, all people. I believe we humans we are very biased. I'm not who I think I am, I'm not who you think I am, I'm who you think I think I am. We are interdependent beings, therefore we have opinions. Going back to sixteenth century it is Thomas Hobbs who says 'man by nature is an evil and wicked because we're selfish'. On the other hand John Locke says 'man by nature is good because we have love, have a compassion for each other'. In 1815 Austrian foreign minister Count von Mettemich who says 'I tell myself twenty times a day how right I am and how wrong you are', that's human being, ladies and gentlemen. I have a religion, I have a belief. Throughout the half century of trials and tribulations in this country I believe my prayers. My scripture reading, helped me to be the way I am today. You know I'm kind of an example of a discrimination, which is the subject today. Unfortunately, the country where I was born my mother died when I was four, my father abandoned me. I grew up in street corners, kids come and throw rocks at me, beggar boy, street urchin, not deserved to be loved. Going for begging people threw me out saying 'you're not wanted'. That's discrimination! I left my country to find a new rainbow, find the freedom and self confidence. In this country my adopted parents are loving. They couldn't be nicer. My father, who adopted me, has been gone for nineteen years. Even today when I think about him I still care for him and love him so much. Religious views may be different but in this country in 1950's, I was not wanted. In 1958, I got drafted into the U. S. Army, taking training in Texas. Restaurant there was 'whites only' sign, I went in with my soldiers together. I was thrown out. As my seat hit the concrete floor as they threw me out you have no idea the feeling I had within me. It was hard to take. And I prayed to God, why this, why am I subject to discrimination all my life, in my old country, here... I lived in Japan for two years to study and there I was foreigner because I happen to be Korean. Why this and why that? The discrimination that we're talking about, even though there may be evidence of substance, it's assumption. I don't mind telling you for many, many years when I go to different location, first thing come to my mind are these folks going to accept me or reject me? Ladies and gentlemen, it's a terrible feeling to have that. Are they going to accept me or reject me because of what I am? It's hard. Fifty years... It took me a long time to over come that. Going to the barber shop same thing. I've been called many names, gooks, orientals... It hurts. This bill simply talks about discrimination. We're all God's children, God loves all, and Jesus forgives sinners, debtors, prostitutes, and even murderers. And here we are in a body of, we as legislators believe what it says word by word. It says specifically that inclusion of sexual orientation in this chapter shall not construed to modify or supersede state law relating to marriage. Ladies and gentlemen, this bill is not talking about marriage, it's talking about human rights and dignity. I come before you in humility, we all humans, we all have weaknesses, we all have bias and I suggest to you to we open our hearts to accept all people. We are endowed with certain unalienable rights which are life and liberty and pursuit of happiness for all people. I use to think myself as a colored man, colored man was a very ugly thing. As a house boy in 1952, I worked for seven army officers. One day I walked into their tent I saw Lt. Booth sitting on his cot crying. He happened to be African American. I was afraid to see him crying so I ran and then he called me and asked me to come. He asked me to set next to his bed. 'You know why I'm crying', I said, 'No sir, I don't know'. Then he pinched his color, pinched it so hard because this. 'I had a chance to be promoted as a Captain for the last seven years but I have been passed over again'. That hurt me. Only way I could compensate him is to do a little extra spit shine his shoes, do a little bit better job ironing his clothes. My feeling was that I didn't count because I was Korean house boy, but I felt his feeling because I experienced discrimination. You know by coming to this legislature you taught me one thing; as I say I used to think myself as a colored man. I used to be afraid to go places, wondering what people would think about me, my valuation always a question suspected. I was discriminated because minority, Asian, adoptee and orphan but today ladies and gentlemen because of you folks here, you taught me lessen. I'm not a colored man anymore, I'm a man and I'm a child of God which you all believe, therefore I'm not afraid anymore. This is all I'm doing to teach young immigrants to this country, young people of a color you shouldn't be afraid of anything. You have nothing to fear but fear itself and denied that opportunity and still even though assuming inside certain attitude displayed, I think is wrong. Thank you very much."

NINETEENTH DAY, JANUARY 27, 2006

REMARKS BY SENATOR BROWN

Senator Brown: "Thank you Mr. President, thank you all for your indulgence on this long debate. You already know my views on the issue. There are a couple of arguments that have been raised that I would like to address, especially those raised by the last speaker, who I think brings forward a lot of specters, of things that could happen, I think he mentioned a Pandora's Box. Well, let me just suggest that in 1999 the city council of Spokane adopted an ordinance that included sexual orientation within the purview of the local Human Rights Commission. A group of citizens came forward and said they didn't like that, and tried to strike the ordinance down, and the citizens of Spokane upheld the ordinance. And then, since 1999 no Pandora's Box has been opened. Um, there have been eight complaints, some of them based on hateful communication, some have been based on property damage. According to the Human Rights Commission they have been resolved, some with the assistance of the Spokane Police Department. Not a single business has registered a formal complaint about being required to accommodate someone, in some unfortunate way that might have been raised here today. So I think it just doesn't wash that horrible things are going to happen when we pass this bill, I think it stands that, actually, life will go on pretty much the same for pretty much everyone in Washington State. And I guess in some ways I agree the most with the Senator from the 45th when he said that the thing is that you really, for the most part, unless someone chooses to share the information with you, know very little about each others sexuality or sexual orientation. And that is just fine with me. What it really means is that sexual orientation is not related to the job that you do at work, to your ability to rent or buy a home, or to the financial practices that we engage in as a society. That's all we are really saying, is that the sexual orientation is not relevant to those matters. It doesn't mean you should change your views about an individual's sexual orientation, if you want to condemn it, you may condemn it. In your speech you are free to do that, you may speak about it, and write about it, and communicate with people about it. And I would stand for your right to always be able to express your view on it, and for children in schools to be able to express different points of view, as well, based on their beliefs. And when the Human Rights Commission is told to go forth, they are not told to go forth and promote anything except good will and good relations among people, which of course I think should be something that we appreciate and desire for our state. Above all, we don't know for the most part, the sexual orientation or the sexual practices of the adults we meet all the time, and pass on the street, and interact with everyday. There are gay and lesbian Washingtonians sticking IVs in our arms, and serving us hamburgers at Dick's. They are librarians and executives and Legislative Assistants in the Washington State Senate. They are our daughters, our sisters, our uncles and cousins, our friends and neighbors. A good senator from the 6th should know, that we don't know, I would not presume to say, and I do not believe that you know, about the immutability of the particular characteristic. We don't really know about economic deprivation or political powerlessness, because so many people are afraid to come forward with their sexual orientation. How would we even scientifically know that? We do know however, because some people have been proud and dignified and respectful enough to be accepted, to come forward, to accept others. We do know that our gay and lesbian Washingtonian family, friends and neighbors have all kinds of jobs, they live in all kinds of houses. Yes, some are very nice houses, on the South Hill of Spokane, but some open their door and look out on the Palouse, in the most rural parts of our state. And some, sadly, are homeless. And they go to the Spokane Symphony, but the also go to the Cheney Rodeo. They go to church, they watch the Oscars, and they root for the Sea hawks. They serve our country. Gay and lesbian citizens died in 9/11, and are defending our country today in the Armed Services, of this nation. Ladies and Gentlemen, in closing, let me say that when the Senate takes a long time to decide an issue that is very controversial, as you can see it is not because we don't care. It's because we care so much. And it is fairly likely that the debate that we are having today has not changed the minds of the individuals who are about to vote. And ironically, we all know, as you know Mr. President, that often, passing a law does not change someone's mind or heart about an issue. On the other hand, interestingly enough when someone changes their mind, or changes their heart, that can change the law. But as we go forward today, no matter what happens, some of us will walk away with a feeling of victory, perhaps a desire to have a celebration. And some of us will walk away in sorrow, in disappointment, perhaps even a feeling of defeat, or extreme sadness about what they might believe will occur. I would just like to ask us, that as we walk away today, let us walk away with civility and respect for each other, respect for each other's differences and for each other's different point of view. Lets walk away resolving to continue to find common ground to better the lives of the citizens of Washington state in the ways we believe we can best do that. And let us go forward with courage, with the courage to have a conversation, as we have had in a limited way today, with someone who does believe very differently than we do. It sometimes takes a lot of moral courage to have that kind of conversation. Let's go forward, not just here, but those who are listening, as well. Let's all go forward and have such a conversation, because this will not be the end of this discussion. So let's not mark it as the end of something, let's mark it as the beginning of going forward, of having those difficult conversations with our neighbors and our friends, and finding out what is in each other's minds, and in each other's hearts. Thank you Mr. President."

REMARKS BY SENATOR REGALA

Senator Regala: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, I believe today is a very historic day. We have had a number of very thoughtful speeches as someone earlier said 'all forty-nine of us have thought long and hard about our vote today'. Again there have been many excellent speeches with regards to people's convictions about their vote and so in the spirit of non discrimination."

REMARKS BY SENATOR BENSON

Senator Benson: "Thank you Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate. I rise today to oppose House Bill No. 2661. I think it's important to stress that I believe bigotry is wrong. I believe racism is wrong, prejudice, the least to hate, the least of violence is wrong. If that was the question before this body today there would not be a debate and there would not be a descending vote. I also want to stress that I stand proudly as a member of the Republican Party today. Our party was founded during our countries fight against slavery. In fact Lincoln's most famous speech includes the words, 'dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.' Our leader so believed in that principle that he put his reputation, his political career and eventually his life on the line to defend it. I'm proud that in 1964 it was my party that was the key to passing the original Civil Rights Act. I'm proud of my party's commitment to equal treatment under equal laws for all of Washington's citizens. The legislation before us today asks a specific question, 'shall certain individuals receive special legal protection based on a broad definition of sexual orientation,' indeed, this definition includes perception and we have never had anti-discrimination laws before that included perception as a basis. Mr. President, I believe this legislation is unnecessary, it's unwise and it creates uncertainty. It's unnecessary because homosexuals do not meet the three criteria that courts historically use to characterize minority groups in need of protection, economic deprivation, political powerlessness and immutable characteristics. Homosexuals have in many cases and probably on average I guess is the best way to say it, higher incomes, better jobs, higher education levels, drive better cars, have better houses. There is not systemic evidence of a class of people that's discriminated against as we had in other cases. It's unnecessary because there's not a record of government sanction, systemic discrimination. Not only do I believe this is unnecessary, I believe it is unwise, it's unwise to dilute previous civil rights protection that this state has granted. Those people were granted those rights because of governmental and societal abuse. We can't compare this with laws that were designed to protect people being denied the right to vote, the right to sit where they wanted to on a bus, the right to patronize a restaurant and the right to not be rounded up by the government and placed in holding camps. Today is a different world. These are not the same class of people that we have protected in the past. I believe the average citizen in Washington wants tolerance and they want reasonable accommodations based on sexual orientation. This bill however goes well beyond that and I'll give you an example of what I believe to be reasonable accommodations. My wife works at Macy's, you know that and they have a transvestite that comes in and he'll pick out some clothes and try to slip into the women's dressing room. When they see him going in they'll always say 'I'm sorry, but you need to use the men's dressing room.' They don't tell him he can't try on those clothes, nothing along that line but they do draw the distinction that men go in the men's dressing room and women go in the women's dressing room. What happens with this bill? He is being discriminated against because he doesn't get full enjoyment of the facilities based on the liberal interpretation. It's also unwise because the citizen's of this state has spoken on this issue. Sixty percent of our state voters said no. Do not add sexual orientation to existing civil rights laws. Let me reiterate that, Initiative 677 which couldn't be argued was awkwardly worded because it was presented by the other side, passed sixty percent said no. In fact the Initiative only passed in four out of forty-nine districts. Rarely do we vote on an issue here in Olympia where the citizens of the state have spoken so unequivocally. I believe this legislation leads to uncertainty, uncertainty for business's, uncertainty for churches and uncertainty for organizations and associations around the state. Will there be discrimination against people because of their religious beliefs and those expressions of those beliefs? Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, is it fair of the state to label one persons morality as illegal bigotry? Because this new class of rights would be solely perception based and liberally construed, will it supersede all other rights? Will this newly created perceived right now trump all the others, even ones protected by both state and federal constitution. I believe that we're opening a Pandora's box on legal ambiguity today with this legislation. In closing Mr. President, it's very important to me to protect all the rights of all our citizens and many of the speeches today express that belief and I agree with the other side when they talk about life, liberty, pursuit of happiness, no one should have those things denied because of who they are regardless of what that definition is. But I do believe that we are diminishing our rights and our common liberties when we require citizens to publicly interpret one another's sexual orientation, gender expression or gender identity because this is based on perception. It will emphasize our differences and repress the opportunities for greater understanding. In the end I believe it will lead to a more segregated society and more divided society. Mr. President, I urge a no vote on House Bill No. 2661. Thank you."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Ladies and Gentlemen, we have the great privilege this morning of receiving the Boy Scouts of America Report to the State for 2006. We are having attendance a number of very distinguished Eagle Scouts that have done such a wonderful job in scouting over the last several years to reach that incredible accomplishment. One of the finest of the finest is Lucas Green, Eagle Scout Lucas Green, who's with us today who will now present the Boy Scouts of America Report to the State for 2006."

REMARKS BY LUCAS GREEN

Eagle Scout Green: "The mission of the Boy Scouts of America is to prepare young people to make ethical and moral choices over their life times. Through the efforts of over twenty-eight thousand dedicated volunteers, more than ninety-eight thousand youths in Washington State participated in scouting programs during 2005. There are many programs that the Boy Scouts of America offer some of which include: Cub Scouting, which for boys first through fifth grades, served thirty-three thousand, eight hundred seventy four, forty-seven percent participated in a camping program; Boy Scouting, for eleven to seventeen year olds, reached twenty-three thousand, sixty hundred eight boys. Fifty-five percent participated in outdoor camping adventure and one-thousand two-hundred twenty young men earned the Eagle Scout Award, the highest rank a scout can achieve; Venturing, our co-ed high adventure program for kids ages fourteen to twenty, served eight-thousand sixty-five; Learning for Life, also co-ed, is a class room and work-based character educational program which served thirty-two thousand, five hundred five; Scout Reach is an outreach initiative focusing on developing programs in inner-city and in lower income communities; Soccer and Scouting in the Hispanic community and children of incarcerated parents are two of the more significant programs offered in Washington State. Together, our programs reached sixteen percent of the market share, making it one of the largest youth serving programs in the state. The Boy Scouts of America was founded on the premise that to be a good citizen you must serve others. That belief led to the creation of Good Turn for America, a national service initiative that addresses the issues of hunger, homelessness and poor health. It is a collaborative effort with Habitat for Humanity, the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army. In 2005, Washington's Scouts and volunteers donated more than thirty-six thousand, six hundred thirty-nine hours of community hours to our state. That is volunteer time that is valued at six-hundred forty three thousand dollars. According to research conducted by Harris Interactive released in May of 2005, one out of every two American males has had an affiliation with the scouting program. Their combined contributions touch our lives every day by continuing to recruit quality leadership inviting youth from all backgrounds to join and offering a fun and exciting program we seek to help ordinary young people become extraordinary adults. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: "I would like to rise and let the body know that from Green Acres, Washington, which is in my district, two young men came over Eagle Scouts, Christopher Naccarato and Daniel Reid from Green Acres. I just wanted to acknowledge what they've done and congratulate them on achieving Eagle Scouts. Thank you Mr. President."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Megan Warner, the Washington State Dairy Ambassador, who was seated at the rostrum. Accompanied Ms. Warner Alternate Dairy Ambassador Rikki Carter of Moses Lake and Caitlin Gordon of Elma

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Dairy Ambassador Megan to address the Senate.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY, FEBRUARY 1, 2006

REMARKS BY DAIRY AMBASSADOR WARNER

Ms. Warner: "Lt. Governor Owen, members of the Senate and guests. How many of you consider food quality a top priority for your family? I'm happy to tell you the dairy farmers of Washington are committed to producing the highest quality milk for consumers. Dairy products are among the heavily tested and closely regulated foods, consequently one of the safest. All milk produced legally in Washington has a same high nutritional content and complies with the same stringent food safety standards set forth by Federal and State regulations. One of the most common misconceptions of dairy products concerns the use of antibiotics. Just as humans may need medication when they are sick, sick cows may also need attention. While a cow is under treatment her milk is destroyed, it never reaches consumers. Following veterinarian protocols she's only allowed back into the milking streams once certified clean. Every drop of milk is repeatedly tested to ensure that it meets the highest standards for purity. Any milk that doesn't is also destroyed. This guarantees quality control in producing dairy products. On behalf of dairy farm families I want to thank you for the efforts legislature has made to help us to continue to produce top quality milk. Together we can maintain a viable dairy industry in Washington and ensure that our citizens continue to enjoy the nutritional benefit of three servings of dairy every day. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Delvin: "Thank you Mr. President. I'd like to make a recommendation as a lover of milk and ice cream but since I found out that I was diabetic I can't, I had to give up the ice cream. My wife does allow me to have no sugar added low fat ice cream once in awhile. If they could provide that in the rotunda for us diabetics I'd much appreciate it."

Sec. 9 RCW 29A.24.191 and 2004 c 271 s 167 are each amended to read as follows:

A scheduled election shall be lapsed, the office deemed stricken from the ballot, no purported write-in votes counted, and no candidate certified as elected, when: (1) In an election for judge of the supreme court or superintendent of public instruction, a void in candidacy occurs on or after the ~~((sixth))~~ eleventh Tuesday prior to a primary, public filings and the primary being an indispensable phase of the election process for such offices; (2) Except as otherwise specified in RCW 29A.24.181, a nominee for judge of the superior court entitled to a certificate of election pursuant to Article 4, section 29, Amendment 41 of the state Constitution dies or is disqualified on or after the ~~((sixth))~~ eleventh Tuesday prior to a primary; (3) In other elections for nonpartisan office a void in candidacy occurs or a vacancy occurs involving an unexpired term to be filled on or after the ~~((sixth))~~ eleventh Tuesday prior to an election.

Any such special three-day filing period shall be fixed by the election officer with whom declarations of candidacy for that office are filed. For state partisan offices in any political subdivision voted on solely by electors of a single county, an individual shall be appointed to fill such vacancy by the county central committee in the case of a major political party or by the state central committee or comparable governing body in the case of a minor political party. For other partisan offices, including federal or statewide offices, an individual shall be appointed to fill such vacancy by the state central committee or comparable governing body of the appropriate political party. If the vacancy occurs no later than the ~~((sixth))~~ eleventh Tuesday prior to the state primary or general election concerned and the ballots have been printed, it shall be mandatory that they be corrected by the appropriate election officers. In making such correction, it shall not be necessary to reprint complete ballots if any other less expensive technique can be used and the resulting correction is reasonably clear. If the vacancy occurs after the ~~((sixth))~~ eleventh Tuesday prior to the state primary or general election and time does not exist in which to correct ballots (including absentee ballots), either in total or in part, then the votes cast or recorded for the person who has died or become disqualified shall be counted for the person who has been named to fill such vacancy.

When the secretary of state is the person with whom the appointment by the major or minor political party is filed, the secretary shall, in certifying candidates or nominations to the various county officers insert the name of the person appointed to fill a vacancy. If the secretary of state has already sent forth the certificate when the appointment to fill a vacancy is filed, the secretary shall forthwith certify to the county auditors of the proper counties the name and place of residence of the person appointed to fill a vacancy, the office for which the person is a candidate or nominee, the party the person represents, and all other pertinent facts pertaining to the vacancy.

Sec. 12 RCW 29A.28.041 and 2004 c 271 s 118 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Whenever a vacancy occurs in the United States house of representatives or the United States senate from this state, the governor shall order a special election to fill the vacancy. Minor political party candidates and independent candidates may be nominated through the convention procedures provided in chapter 29A.20 RCW. (2) Within ten days of such vacancy occurring, he or she shall issue a writ of election fixing a date for the special vacancy election not less than ninety days after the issuance of the writ, fixing a date for the primary for nominating major political party candidates for the special vacancy election not less than thirty days before the day fixed for holding the special vacancy election, fixing the dates for the special filing period, and designating the term or part of the term for which the vacancy exists. If the vacancy is in the office of United States representative, the writ of election shall specify the congressional district that is vacant. (3) If the vacancy occurs less than six months before a state general election and before the second Friday following the close of the filing period for that general election, the special primary, special vacancy election, and minor party and independent candidate nominating conventions must be held in concert with the state primary and state general election in that year. (4) If the vacancy occurs on or after the first day for filing under RCW 29A.24.050 and on or before the second Friday following the close of the filing period, a special filing period of three normal business days shall be fixed by the governor and notice thereof given to all media, including press, radio, and television within the area in which the vacancy election is to be held, to the end that, insofar as possible, all interested persons will be aware of such filing period. The last day of the filing period shall not be later than the ~~((third))~~sixth Tuesday before the primary at which major political party candidates are to be nominated. The names of major political party candidates who have filed valid declarations of candidacy during this three-day period shall appear on the approaching primary ballot. The requirements of RCW 29A.20.131 do not apply to a minor political party or independent candidate convention held under this subsection. (5) If the vacancy occurs later than the second Friday following the close of the filing period, a special primary, special vacancy election, and the minor party and independent candidate conventions to fill the position shall be held after the next state general election but, in any event, no later than the ninetieth day following the November election.

Sec. 13 RCW 29A.40.070 and 2004 c 266 s 13 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Except where a recount or litigation under RCW ~~((29A.68.010))~~29A.68.011 is pending, the county auditor shall have sufficient absentee ballots available for absentee voters of that county, other than overseas voters and service voters, at least twenty days before any primary, general election, or special election. The county auditor must mail absentee ballots to each voter for whom the county auditor has received a request nineteen days before the primary or election at least eighteen days before the primary or election. For a request for an absentee ballot received after the nineteenth day before the primary or election, the county auditor shall make every effort to mail ballots within one business day, and shall mail the ballots within two business days.

(2) ~~((The county auditor shall make every effort to mail ballots to overseas and service voters earlier than eighteen days before a primary or election))~~ At least thirty days before any primary, general election, or special election, the county auditor shall mail ballots to all overseas and service voters. (4) If absentee ballots will not be available or mailed as prescribed in subsection (1) of this section, the county auditor shall immediately certify to the office of the secretary of state when absentee ballots will be available and mailed. Copies of this certification must be provided to the county canvassing board, the press, jurisdictions with issues on the ballot in the election, and any candidates. (5) If absentee ballots were not available or mailed as prescribed in subsection (1) of this section, for a reason other than a recount or litigation, the county auditor, in consultation with the certification and training program of the office of the secretary of state, shall submit a report to the office of the secretary of state outlining why the deadline was missed and what corrective actions will be taken in future elections to ensure that absentee ballots are available and mailed as prescribed in subsection (1) of this section. (6) Failure to have absentee ballots available and mailed as prescribed in subsection (1) of this section does not by itself provide a basis for an election contest or other legal challenge to the results of a primary, general election, or special election.

Sec. 14 RCW 29A.52.011 and 2004 c 271 s 172 are each amended to read as follows: Whenever it shall be necessary to hold a special election in an odd-numbered year to fill an unexpired term of any office which is scheduled to be voted upon for a full term in an even-numbered year, no ~~((September))~~ primary election shall be held in the odd-numbered year if, after the last day allowed for candidates to withdraw, either of the following circumstances exist: (1) No more than one candidate

The petition shall be filed with the secretary of state not later than ~~((the thirty-ninth day))~~ sixty days before the presidential preference primary. The signature sheets shall also contain the residence address and name or number of the precinct of each registered voter whose signature appears thereon and shall be certified in the manner prescribed in RCW 29A.72.230 and 29A.72.240. The secretary of state shall place the name of the candidate on the ballot unless the candidate, at least ~~((thirty-five))~~ fifty-two days before the presidential preference primary, executes and files with the secretary of state an affidavit stating without qualification that he or she is not now and will not become a candidate for the office of president of the United States at the forthcoming presidential election. The secretary of state shall certify the names of all candidates who will appear on the presidential preference primary ballot to the respective county auditors on or before the fourth Tuesday in April of each presidential election year.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Kastama, the rules were suspended, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6236 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Senators Schmidt, Haugen and Kohl-Welles spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Sheldon: "Mr. President, in fact we know that initiative 872 was passed by the voters last year. The ruling on this I believe last year by you from the rostrum was that this bill would take a two-thirds majority. It is my understanding that the initiative has been overturned by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals by District Court, excuse me, and it is now in appeal at the Ninth Circuit Court level. I may be wrong about my dates but I believe the oral arguments are set for that appeal next month. I wonder, Mr. President, if this bill needs a two-thirds majority or a simple majority to pass?"

REMARKS BY SENATOR KASTAMA

Senator Kastama: "Just to recap the history last year, the Lt. Governor, President of the Senate ruled that a two-thirds majority was necessary to enact a bill moving the dates of the primary. This ruling was based upon the passage of Initiative 872 as Senator Sheldon has pointed out. Initiative 872 was then found unconstitutional by the Federal Courts. Mr. President, I would like to read a paragraph from page thirty-eight of that decision with your permission? Thank you. The effects of the invalidity of the States Statutes is governed by state law. Washington law holds that an invalid statute is a nullity. It is inoperative as if it had never been passed and those are the exact words of the judge. The Washington State Supreme Court has held that the natural effect of this rule is that once the invalid statute has been declared a nullity it leaves the law as it stood prior to the enactment of the invalid statute. In this case the courts holding that Initiative 872 is unconstitutional renders it anility including any provision within it purporting to repeals sections of that revised code of Washington. Therefore, the law as it existed before the passage of Initiative 872 including the Montana primary system stands as if Initiative 872 had never been approved. Mr. President, I would offer these words and ask that in fact we have a simple majority. I know it's your decision. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Regala, Senators Hargrove and Thibaudeau were excused.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Eide, further consideration of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6236 was deferred and the bill held its place on the third reading calendar.

The President Pro Tempore assumed the chair.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "In ruling upon the point of inquiry raised by Senator Sheldon that this measure takes a two-thirds vote for final passage because it amends sections enacted by Initiative Number 872, the President finds and rules as follows:

Last Session, the President did rule that a similar measure required a two-thirds vote for final passage because it amended sections of the law enacted by I-872. Since that time, this has been a high-profile issue that is being litigated in the courts. The President begins by reminding the body that its presiding officers have a long tradition of ruling on parliamentary issues, not legal or constitutional matters. The President's rulings do not, however, take place in a vacuum. When appropriate, the President must, as a matter of comity and parliamentary necessity, take notice of actions undertaken by other branches of government which have a practical impact on parliamentary issues.

On July 15, 2005, a federal judge issued an order declaring, among other things, I-872 to be unconstitutional, and the judge's ruling is relevant to the analysis on this point of order. It is important to note the precise language used by the judge in the case because it bears directly on the state of the law before us. The judge wrote on page 38 of his Order:

In this case, the Court's holding that Initiative 872 is unconstitutional renders it a nullity, including any provisions within it purporting to repeal sections of the Revised Code of Washington. Therefore, the law as it existed before the passage of Initiative 872, including the Montana primary system, stands as if Initiative 872 had never been approved.

It is hard to imagine the Court being clearer in its statement that the law is returned to its former status as if I-872 had never been approved. Since this is the case, it necessarily follows that any change to the law proposed by this body takes only a simple majority vote because there is no initiative left to amend.

It may well be that the federal judge's ruling will not be the final word on this matter. The President is aware that the matter is being appealed and further litigated in the courts, and it is uncertain when or how further court action might change the trial court's decision. It may be prudent for proponents of this measure to seek a two-thirds vote as a means of removing all doubt and risk which may flow from subsequent and different court action.

It is precisely because of this uncertainty, however, that the President cannot engage in speculative analysis, but must instead confine himself to the state of the law as it exists at the time of his ruling. Presently, a duly-constituted Court has declared I-872 unconstitutional and returned the law to its pre-I-872 status. In appropriate deference to this Order, the President finds and rules that the measure before us takes only a simple majority vote for final passage.

The Senate resumed consideration of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6236.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Jacobsen: "If the Appeals Court did reinstate the initiative and we'd acted without two-thirds at that time, would that still be the proper action or would the initiative take affect and repeal the changes in what we enact today, if that became the law?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Jacobsen, if in fact the court ruled as you stated then the action of this body would be in question as of others but the President does not speculate on what the court may determine."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6236.

Senators Sheldon, Jacobsen, Roach, Franklin spoke against passage of the bill.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUEST

The President welcomed and introduced Senator Sheldon's mother, Mrs. Lillian Sheldon, who was seated in the rear of the chamber.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "We would like to give her a very hardy happy birthday having turned ninety yesterday. Welcome Mrs. Sheldon and Happy Birthday."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Sheldon: "Thank you Mr. President for recognizing my mom. My mom always told us that birthdays don't matter unless they ended in five or zero and yesterday, of course was her ninetieth birthday. She was born at Swedish Hospital, January 31, 1916 and, you history buffs, that day in history, ninety years ago was the biggest snow fall that ever occurred ever in Seattle. There was over four feet of snow. Her mother traveled to Swedish Hospital before the birth and it took her father, my grandfather, over four days to get there in the snow. The snow was so heavy that it collapsed the roof of St. James Cathedral. So often the PI will run those pictures of that large snow fall. I just want to say about my mom, she's a proud Husky. She graduated from the University of Washington in 1937, of course from the class of Shelton High School in 1933. She is the proud member of the Panorama Republicans and is very active in politics at ninety years old. I want to just wish her a great Happy Birthday Mom. It's terrific. She's a wonderful person that has had a wonderful life and has a sharp, sharp memory about all the historical things that's happened, is well read and we're going to have a wonderful party, families traveling from all over to meet over the weekend out at Potlatch. So Happy Birthday Mom."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Jacobsen: "Would Mrs. Sheldon yield to a question? How did you end up with a Democratic son?"

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: "I must bring to the body's attention that Senator Deccio and Lucille will be celebrating their sixtieth. I know he looks ninety but the sixtieth wedding anniversary and if you haven't met Lucille, she's the charming one of the group. She's the most wonderful lady. How she put up with him for sixty years heaven only knows. Anyway, I do congratulate

INTRODUCTION OS SPECIAL GUEST

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Mulliken: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, I don't have a resolution to offer. I wanted to let the body know that on January 20 of this year Governor Gregoire recognized one of my constituents in Moses Lake A hero. A teacher named John Lane who was recognized for his heroic action ten years ago when the Frontier Junior High-or Middle School in-Moses Lake had a terrible tragedy in which a school teacher by the name of

TWENTY-SIXTH DAY, FEBRUARY 3, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

Leona Caires and two students, Arnie Fritz and Manuel Vela were fatally shot and wounded. Natalie Hintz was also one of the victims that was wounded and survived. John Lane on the other hand, he was the teacher that stepped in front and saved further tragedy. The reason I'm rising to bring this to our attention is first of all, it was ten years ago yesterday that this event happened and often times in the busyness, we sometimes over look some of the things that have happened. I was contacted by a constituent asking if I would please remember the victims and their families and I think that is important for us to do that. I also would like to share the positive side of the things that have happened in Moses Lake in the last ten years as a result of the tragedy. The community pulled together. There were laws in place that could of prevented but were not able to prevent. So we didn't change any laws because they were already there and the beauty of our recognizing that. It's a community that needed to pull together was what made them successful. The parents are very involved. They've had a lot of community meetings over the years. The teachers, people, are more aware of young students, fourteen year olds, thirteen year olds, when they're going through difficult times. When they have changes that can sometimes put them over the edge. I just wanted to let you know that John Lane, today, is a principal at my St. Rose of Lima Catholic School because he retired from the public school system, and we love having him there. John Lane and I sing in the church choir at Our Lady of Fatima at Moses Lake and I've so enjoyed getting to know him. I wrote him a note congratulating him on the Governor's recognition and in it I said 'Now that I know you personally, I know it was your faith and your trust in God that enabled you to step forward that day and prevent even further tragedy.' So I just wanted to thank the body for the opportunity of recognizing the ten year anniversary of Frontier Junior High's tragedy but also the celebration of the positive things that have happened in Moses Lake and for John Lane. Thank you Mr. President."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McAuliffe: "Thank you Mr. President. I would like to join Senator Mulliken in her recognition of John Lane and his commitment to saving children in that incident in Moses Lake ten years ago. We did learn from that incident and I met with the emergency personnel that had responded that day and with the school people who are also present. What we learned was that, when the school people went to the school, they did not know where to go because they did not know where room 101 was or where room 102 was. Today, we map all of our schools so that when the emergency people are called to a school they know exactly where to go because it is mapped for them. Each of our schools we have done this too and we are continuing to do it now beginning to finish off our elementary schools. We also know that what happened in Moses Lake and many other incidents across the country, the students that felt alone and isolated and alienated and these actions were somewhat a result of that. So we have passed it from this legislature the anti-harassment bill and that was under leadership of Governor Christine Gregoire two years ago. We are, today, seeing that we are training people to know and recognize what harassment is. What it means to children and how it isolates them as well. So we learn from this incident and we always need to look every time something happens in our schools to our children who are in our care how we can better protect them. Thank you Mr. President."

Regulating tattooing and body piercing.

MOTION

Senator Kastama moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Kastama be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds and declares that the practices of body piercing, tattooing, and other forms of body art involve an invasive procedure with the use of needles, single-use disposable sharps, reusable sharps, instruments, and jewelry. These practices may be dangerous when improper sterilization techniques are used, presenting a risk of infecting the client with bloodborne pathogens including, but not limited to, HIV, hepatitis B, and hepatitis C. It is in the interests of the public health, safety, and welfare to establish requirements in the commercial practice of these activities in this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter and RCW 5.40.050 unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Body art" means the practice of physical cosmetic body adornment including the use of branding and scarification. "Body art" also includes the intentional production of scars upon the body. "Body art" does not include medical procedures performed by a licensed physician or medical practitioner.

(2) "Body piercing" means the process of penetrating the skin or mucous membrane to insert an object, including jewelry, for cosmetic purposes. "Body piercing" also includes any scar tissue resulting from or relating to the piercing. "Body piercing" does not include the use of stud and clasp piercing systems to pierce the earlobe in accordance with the manufacturer's directions and applicable United States food and drug administration requirements. "Body piercing" does not include any medical procedures performed by a licensed physician or medical practitioner, nor does anything in this act authorize a person registered to engage in the business of body piercing to implant or embed foreign objects into the human body or otherwise engage in the practice of medicine.

(3) "Director" means the director of the department of licensing.

(4) "Tattoo artist" means a person who practices the business of tattooing for a fee.

(5) "Tattooing" means the introduction of an indelible mark, figure, or decorative design by inserting nontoxic dyes or pigments into or under the subcutaneous portion of the skin upon the body of a live human being for cosmetic or figurative purposes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Any person who practices body art, body piercing, or tattooing shall comply with the rules adopted by the department of health under RCW 70.54.340.

(2) Any person who practices body art, body piercing, or tattooing shall comply with the rules adopted by the department of licensing, after consulting with the department of health, which rules shall include provisions relating to compliance with:

(a) Universal precautions for infection control, as recommended by the United States centers for disease control, and guidelines for infection control, as recommended by the national environmental health association and the alliance of professional tattooists;

(b) Sterilization procedures using sterilization equipment approved by the United States food and drug administration for the purpose of sterilization, and adequate in size to accommodate necessary utensils and instruments; and

(c) Retention of case history information for each client.

(3) Any person engaging in the practice of body art, body piercing, or tattooing shall, within seventy-two hours of becoming aware of the occurrence of any infection or allergic reaction resulting from body art, body piercing, or tattooing performed by the person, provide a written report to the department of health and the department of licensing containing the following information:

(a) The name of the infected client;

(b) The name and address of the salon/shop where the body art, body piercing, or tattooing was performed;

(c) The name, and registration number if any, of the tattoo artist or person that performed the body art or body piercing;

(d) The date that the tattooing, body art, or body piercing was performed;

(e) The location of the infection;

(f) The name and address of the health care practitioner, if any, who was notified of the infection by either the client or the person making the report; and

(g) Any other information that the department of licensing, by rule, deems relevant to the situation.

(4) A violation of this section is a misdemeanor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. No person, firm, or corporation may act or engage in the practice of body art, body piercing, or tattooing unless, prior to engaging in the business of body art, body piercing, or tattooing, the person, firm, or corporation registers with the director under this chapter and rules adopted under this chapter.

(1) The registration number must be conspicuously posted in the place of business and must be included in all advertisements.

(2) The director shall issue duplicate registrations upon payment of a duplicate registration fee to valid registration holders operating more than one office. The duplicate registration fee for each office shall be an amount equal to the original registration fee.

(3) No registration is assignable or transferable.

(4) If a person registered as engaging in the business of body art, body piercing, or tattooing sells his or her business, when the new owner becomes responsible for the business, the new owner must comply with this chapter, including the registration provisions.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. An application to register as engaging in the business of body art, body piercing, or tattooing shall be submitted in the form prescribed by rule by the director, and shall contain but not be limited to the following:

(1) The name, residence address, and telephone number of the person applying to register as engaging in the business of body art, body piercing, or tattooing;

business license or is employed by an entity that holds a valid business license in the jurisdiction where the person will engage in business; and

(4) A registration fee in an amount determined by rule.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Each person registered as engaging in the business of body art, body piercing, or tattooing shall renew his or her registration on or before the registrant's birthday of every year or as otherwise determined by the director.

(2) Renewal of a registration is subject to the same provisions covering disciplinary action as a registration originally issued.

(3) The director may refuse to renew a registration for any of the grounds set out under RCW 18.235.130, and where the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry out the applicant's duties in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The director shall promptly notify the applicant in writing by certified mail of the director's intent to refuse to renew the registration. The registrant may request a hearing on the refusal as provided in RCW 18.235.050. The director may permit the registrant to honor commitments already made to its customers, but no new commitments may be incurred.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) In addition to the unprofessional conduct described in RCW 18.235.130, the director may take disciplinary action based on the following conduct, acts, or conditions if the applicant or registrant:

(a) Was previously the holder of a registration issued under this chapter, and the registration was revoked for cause and never reissued by the director, or the registration was suspended for cause and the terms of the suspension have not been fulfilled;

(b) Suffers a judgment in a civil action involving willful fraud, misrepresentation, or conversion;

(c) Has violated this chapter or failed to comply with a rule adopted by the director under this chapter; or

(d) Has failed to display the registration as provided in this chapter.

(2) If the person registered as engaging in the business of body art, body piercing, or tattooing is found in violation of this chapter or in violation of the consumer protection act, chapter 19.86 RCW, by the entry of a judgment or by settlement of a claim, the director may revoke the person's registration, and the director may reinstate the registration at the director's discretion.

(3) The director shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to RCW 74.20A.320 by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license or certificate shall be automatic upon the director's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the order.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) A nonresident person registered as engaging in the business of body art, body piercing, or tattooing soliciting business or engaging in the business of body art, body piercing, or tattooing in the state of Washington, by mail, telephone, or otherwise, either directly or indirectly, is deemed, absent any other appointment, to have appointed the director to be the nonresident's true and lawful attorney upon whom may be served any legal process against that nonresident arising or growing out of a transaction involving the practice of body art, body piercing, or tattooing. That solicitation signifies the nonresident's agreement that process against the nonresident that is served as provided in this chapter is of the same legal force and validity as if served personally on the nonresident.

(2) Service of process upon a nonresident shall be made by leaving a copy of the process with the director. The fee for the service of process shall be determined by the director by rule. That service is sufficient service upon the nonresident if the

Notwithstanding the foregoing requirements, however, once service has been made on the director as provided in this section, in the event of failure to comply with the requirement of notice to the nonresident, the court may order that notice be given that will be sufficient to apprise the nonresident.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. The director has the following powers and duties:

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: “Ladies and gentlemen, Cowboy Hat Day developed, by God look at Kline, Senator Kline. Where did you get that hat and when do you have to take it back? Or if they’ll take it back, I’m not sure about that. Cowboy Hat developed from the Red Hat Day which all you wonderful wonderful lady Senators developed including crowds in the gallery with red hats on. So, we developed-Senator Honeyford, was this your idea or mine? You can have it because it’s one of the dumbest ideas I have ever heard of in my life. Anyway, I went along with it and I just want to tell you because of my age and we’re talking about cowboys. I’ve got a list of cowboys I remember as a kid. There was Tom Mix. Does anybody remember Tom Mix? Roy Rogers, Hopalong Cassidy, Ken Maynard. Do you remember Ken Maynard? How about Boots Randolph? Well actually, he’s a sax player but I thought I’d slip that in to see if any of you remembered. But this is a wonderful day and I wish to thank the President who is an absolute perfect gentleman. Probably one of the finest President’s that we’ve had in my twenty-six years on this floor. Probably is the finest since I probably want to make some speeches later on in the session, I want him to call on me. Senator Jacobsen and Senator Weinstein. Senator Weinstein. I know you’re a freshman, but try to pay attention to when a senior citizen is on the floor speaking. Senator, it could be my last. I know that your hoping it is but anyway. This is a great day and it will go down in the annuals of the Washington State Senate as Cowboy Day. They’ll be some other speeches made unfortunately, Senator Shin, what are you grinning about? Anyway, this is a wonderful day. I appreciate all you ladies with hats on, especially, Senator Rockefeller, oh your not a lady. Senator Rockefeller I’m glad you look splendid in your hat. A tall, slim, great attorney, anyway whose next?”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Roach: “Actually I’m humbled today, I got these flowers today because someone last night said at the gala that they had. I guess someone said ‘Who needs Oprah Winfrey, we have Pam Roach?’ and so they thought...but anyway. I guess that I wanted to point out that we forgot Dale Evans in that long list of cowboys and certainly cowgirls. I’m surprised and suspected that you didn’t remember Dale Evans and I remember, also Gene Autry, did you get him?”

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Roach: “Will Senator McCaslin yield to a question? Senator McCaslin, how is it that you did not list, I mean you seem to have forgotten, Dale Evans.”

Senator McCaslin: “Poor Senator Roach, the word I used was cowboys. Understand, she’s not a cowboy, she’s a cowgirl.”

Senator Roach: “Well, I appreciate that, but we don’t have any cowboys without the cowgirls!”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Keiser: “Mr. President, I think there’s a famous novelist in our state who wrote ‘Even Cowgirls Get the Blues’.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Oke: “I’m up front here and I hope this offends no one. Nothing to do about me getting bills here either but Senator Eide, you’re just lovely under that hat. You’ve got to be the best looking cow person out there.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Swecker: “Well, I noticed one of the previous speakers mentioned Hopalong Cassidy and I just wanted to share a historical note. I knew the double for Hopalong Cassidy and Hopalong Cassidy was afraid of horses so all the pictures of him on a horse in the distance were his double and the pictures up close riding a horse, he was on a dummy horse on the back of a truck. You know, it was going like this, and so a historical note. Thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Rasmussen: “Well, Mr. President, I feel like I’ve been impugned. I am a cowgirl. Now how many on this floor have cows? Somebody’s got a cow? (1) Any owner of property subject to a recorded claim of lien under this chapter, or contractor, subcontractor, lender, or lien claimant who believes the claim of lien to be frivolous and made without reasonable cause, or clearly excessive may apply by motion to the superior court for the county where the property is located, for an order directing the lien claimant to appear before the court at a time no earlier than six nor later than fifteen days following the date of service of the application and order on the lien claimant, and show cause, if any he or she has, why the relief requested should not be granted. The motion shall state the grounds upon which relief is asked, and shall be supported by the affidavit of the applicant or his or her attorney setting forth a concise statement of the facts upon which the motion is based.

(2) The order shall clearly state that if the lien claimant fails to appear at the time and place noted the lien shall be released, with prejudice, and that the lien claimant shall be ordered to pay the costs requested by the applicant including reasonable attorneys' fees.

(3) If no action to foreclose the lien claim has been filed, the clerk of the court shall assign a cause number to the application and obtain from the applicant a filing fee of thirty-five dollars. If an action has been filed to foreclose the lien claim, the application shall be made a part of that action.

(4) The applicant must give notice of the hearing to the lien claimant by providing copies of the motion, order, and any other documents filed with the court, to the lien claimant by first class mail, by certified or registered mail, or by personal service.

(5) If, following a hearing on the matter, the court determines that the lien is frivolous and made without reasonable cause, or clearly excessive, the court shall issue an order releasing the lien if frivolous and made without reasonable cause, or reducing the lien if clearly excessive, and awarding costs and reasonable attorneys' fees to the applicant to be paid by the lien claimant. If the court determines that the lien is not frivolous and was made with reasonable cause, and is not clearly excessive, the court shall issue an order so stating and awarding costs and reasonable attorneys' fees to the lien claimant to be paid by the applicant.

(6) Proceedings under this section shall not affect other rights and remedies available to the parties under this chapter or otherwise.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 60.08 RCW to read as follows:

In the case of property that is subject to a certificate of title, the department of licensing and the department's agents and subagents shall not transfer title through this process unless the new certificate of title reflects the security interest that is superior to the lien under which the sale is made. If a new certificate of title is issued that does not reflect the security interest that is superior to the lien under which the sale is made, the holder of such interest may request and obtain from the department of licensing a replacement certificate of title reflecting such security interest, and showing the purchaser as the registered owner. I would say in this room it's very appropriate to have law enforcement close by, so just wanted to clarify that. Thank you."

"WHEREAS, Beginning January 1, 2006, 831,000 Medicare enrollees in Washington state were among the 43 million Americans provided prescription drug coverage through the Medicare Part D program, giving many, for the first time, access to prescription drugs that they had previously struggled to afford; and

WHEREAS, Medicare beneficiaries now have numerous choices for prescription drug coverage, allowing them to pick the plan which best suits their personal circumstances, but for which they need sufficient time and information to understand and select; and

WHEREAS, Problems and administrative delays when initiating a nationwide assistance program of this magnitude are extremely unfortunate, but inevitable; and

WHEREAS, It is essential to be particularly attentive to the impact of this program on "dual eligibles," the approximately 96,000 low-income residents of Washington who will now receive prescription drug coverage under Medicare rather than Medicaid; and

WHEREAS, In the transition to this new program, where dual eligibles are particularly vulnerable in the face of technological glitches and poor communication that could delay their access to needed medications, we should insist that as much as possible be done to avoid these problems and that they be addressed immediately when they occur; and

WHEREAS, Even for someone correctly transitioned, there is concern that the particular drugs the person needs will not be covered by Part D, or that newly required co-pays will prove unaffordable; and

WHEREAS, The federal government has been working diligently to address these transition issues, including a $14 million credit which will allow this state to cover any unaffordable co-pays, and the development of a waiver program to assist states with other unanticipated costs, but will benefit from continued input and information from the states regarding particular steps which might be taken to reach the full promise of the Medicare Part D program;

NOW, THEREFORE, Your Memorialists respectfully pray that the Congress and the Administration address concerns with the Medicare Part D program through rule making and, as necessary, through changes to the Medicare Modernization Act, by specifically doing the following:

(1) Upgrading the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid's customer service system to assist clients seeking information;

(2) Extending the enrollment period beyond the May 15, 2006, deadline;

(3) Requiring all health plans that contract with the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services to provide uniform transition policies that provide a 30-day supply of needed drugs;

(4) Reimbursing states and pharmacists who have assumed the costs for covering individuals who have had transition problems; and

(5) Repealing the prohibition on the use of Medicaid funds to provide: Wraparound Medicare prescription drug benefits for the transition of dual eligibles; copayments for dual eligibles and low-income beneficiaries; and needed coverage if a particular plan's restricted formulary or network denies access to the most medically appropriate medications."

Providing electronic product recycling through manufacturer financed opportunities. Revised for 1st Substitute: Providing for electronic product recycling.

MOTION

THIRTY-FIRST DAY, FEBRUARY 8, 2006

On motion of Senator Pridemore, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6428 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6428 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that a convenient, safe, and environmentally sound system for the collection, transportation, and recycling of covered electronic products must be established. The legislature further finds that the system must encourage the design of electronic products that are less toxic and more recyclable. The legislature further finds that the responsibility for this system must be shared among all stakeholders, with manufacturers financing the collection, transportation, and recycling system.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Authority" means the Washington materials management and financing authority created under section 28 of this act.

(2) "Authorized party" means a manufacturer who submits an individual independent plan or the entity authorized to submit an independent plan for more than one manufacturer.

(3) "Board" means the board of directors of the Washington materials management and financing authority created under section 29 of this act.

(4) "Collector" means an entity licensed to do business in the state that gathers unwanted covered electronic products from households, small businesses, school districts, small governments, and charities for the purpose of recycling and meets minimum standards that may be developed by the department.

(5) "Contract for services" means an instrument executed by the authority and one or more persons or entities that delineates collection, transportation, and recycling services, in whole or in part, that will be provided to the citizens of the state within service areas as described in the approved standard plan.

(6) "Covered electronic product" includes a cathode ray tube or flat panel computer monitor having a viewable area greater than four inches when measured diagonally, a desktop computer, a laptop or a portable computer, or a cathode ray tube or flat panel television having a viewable area greater than four inches when measured diagonally that has been used in the state by any covered entity regardless of original point of purchase. "Covered electronic product" does not include: (a) A motor vehicle or replacement parts for use in motor vehicles or aircraft, or any computer, computer monitor, or television that is contained within, and is not separate from, the motor vehicle or aircraft; (b) monitoring and control instruments or systems; (c) medical devices; (d) products including materials intended for use as ingredients in those products as defined in the federal food, drug, and cosmetic act (21 U.S.C. Sec. 301 et seq.) or the virus-serum-toxin act of 1913 (21 U.S.C. Sec. 151 et seq.), and regulations issued under those acts; (e) equipment used in the delivery of patient care in a health care setting; (f) a computer, computer monitor, or television that is contained within a clothes washer, clothes dryer, refrigerator, refrigerator and freezer, microwave oven, conventional oven or range, dishwasher, room air conditioner, dehumidifier, or air purifier; or (g) hand-held portable voice or data devices used for commercial mobile services as defined in 47 U.S.C. If costs are passed on to consumers, it must be done without any fees at the time the unwanted electronic product is delivered or collected for recycling. However, this does not prohibit collectors providing premium or curbside services from charging customers a fee for the additional collection cost of providing this service, when funding for collection provided by an independent plan or the standard plan does not fully cover the cost of that service.

(4) Nothing in this chapter changes or limits the authority of the Washington utilities and transportation commission to regulate collection of solid waste in the state of Washington, including curbside collection of residential recyclable materials, nor does this chapter change or limit the authority of a city or town to provide such service itself or by contract pursuant to RCW 81.77.020.

(5) Manufacturers are encouraged to collaborate with electronic product retailers, certificated waste haulers, processors, recyclers, charities, and local governments within the state in the development and implementation of their plans.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) By January 1, 2007, and annually thereafter, each manufacturer must register with the department.

(2) A manufacturer must submit to the department with each registration or annual renewal a fee to cover the administrative costs of this chapter as determined by the department under section 23 of this act.

(3) The department shall review a registration and notify the manufacturer if their registration does not meet the requirements of this section. Within thirty days of receipt of such a notification from the department, the manufacturer must file with the department a revised registration addressing the requirements noted by the department.

(4) The registration may only include the following information:

(a) The name and contact information of the manufacturer submitting the registration;

(b) The manufacturer's brand names of covered electronic products, including all brand names sold in the state in the past, all brand names currently being sold in the state, and all brand names for which the manufacturer has legal responsibility under section 10 of this act;

(c) The method or methods of sale used in the state; and

(d) Whether the registrant will be participating in the standard plan or submitting an independent plan to the department for approval.

(5) The registrant shall submit any changes to the information provided in the registration to the department within fourteen days of such change.

(6) The department shall determine, using all reasonable means, manufacturers that are in business or that are no longer in business but that have a successor in interest by examining best available return share data and other pertinent data. The department shall notify manufacturers that have been identified and for whom an address has been found of the requirements of this chapter, including registration and plan requirements under this section and section 5 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) A manufacturer must participate in the standard plan administered by the authority, unless the manufacturer obtains department approval for an independent plan for the collection, transportation, and recycling of unwanted electronic products.

(2) An independent plan may be submitted by an individual manufacturer or by a group of manufacturers, provided that:

(a) Each independent plan represents at least a five percent return share of covered electronic products; and

(b) No manufacturer may participate in an independent plan if they are a new entrant or a white box manufacturer.

(3) An individual manufacturer submitting an independent plan to the department is responsible for collecting, transporting, and recycling its equivalent share of covered electronic products.

(4)(a) Manufacturers collectively submitting an independent plan are responsible for collecting, transporting, and recycling the sum of the equivalent shares of each participating manufacturer.

THIRTY-FIRST DAY, FEBRUARY 8, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(b) Each group of manufacturers submitting an independent plan must designate a party authorized to file the plan with the department on their behalf. A letter of certification from each of the manufacturers designating the authorized party must be submitted to the department together with the plan.

(5) Each manufacturer in the standard plan or in an independent plan retains responsibility and liability under this chapter in the event that the plan fails to meet the manufacturer's obligations under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) All initial independent plans and the initial standard plan required under section 5 of this act must be submitted to the department by February 1, 2008. The department shall review each independent plan and the standard plan.

(2) The authority submitting the standard plan and each authorized party submitting an independent plan to the department must pay a fee to the department to cover the costs of administering and implementing this chapter. The department shall set the fees as described under section 23 of this act.

(3) The fees in subsection (2) of this section apply to the initial plan submission and plan updates and revisions required in section 7 of this act.

(4) Within ninety days after receipt of a plan, the department shall determine whether the plan complies with this chapter. If the plan is approved, the department shall send a letter of approval. If a plan is rejected, the department shall provide the reasons for rejecting the plan to the authority or authorized party. The authority or authorized party has sixty days after receipt of the letter of disapproval to submit a new plan.

(5) An independent plan and the standard plan must contain the following elements:

(a) Contact information for the authority or authorized party and a comprehensive list of all manufacturers participating in the plan and their contact information;

(b) A description of the collection, transportation, and recycling systems and service providers used, including a description of how the authority or authorized party will:

(i) Seek to use businesses within the state, including retailers, charities, processors, and collection and transportation services; and

(ii) Fairly compensate collectors for providing collection services;

(c) The method or methods for the reasonably convenient collection of all product types of covered electronic products in rural and urban areas throughout the state, including how the plan will provide for collection services in each county of the state and for a minimum of one collection site or alternate collection service for each city or town with a population greater than ten thousand. A collection site for a county may be the same as a collection site for a city or town in the county;

(d) A description of how the plan will provide service to small businesses, small governments, charities, and school districts in Washington state;

(e) The processes and methods used to recycle covered electronic products including a description of the processing that will be used and the facility location;

(f) Documentation of audits of each processor used in the plan and compliance with processing standards established under section 25 of this act;

(g) A description of the accounting and reporting systems that will be employed to track progress toward the plan's equivalent share;

(h) A timeline describing startup, implementation, and progress towards milestones with anticipated results;

(i) The public information campaign to inform consumers about how to recycle their covered electronic products at the end of the product's life.

(6) The standard plan shall address how it will incorporate and fairly compensate registered collectors providing curbside or premium services such that they are not compensated at a lower rate for collection costs than the compensation offered other collectors providing drop-off collection sites in that geographic area.

(7) All transporters and collectors used to fulfill the requirements of this section must be registered as described in section 24 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) An independent plan and the standard plan must be updated at least every five years and as required in (a) and (b) of this subsection.

(a) If the program fails to provide service in each county in the state or meet other plan requirements, the authority or authorized party shall submit to the department within sixty days of failing to provide service an updated plan addressing how the program will be adjusted to meet program geographic coverage and collection service requirements.

(b) The authority or authorized party shall notify the department of any modification to the plan. If the department determines that the authority or authorized party has significantly modified the program described in the plan, the authority or authorized party shall submit a revised plan describing the changes to the department within sixty days of notification by the department.

(2) Within sixty days after receipt of a revised plan, the department shall determine whether the revised plan complies with this chapter. If the revised plan is approved, the department shall send a letter of approval. If the revised plan is rejected, the department shall provide the reasons for rejecting the plan to the authority or authorized party. The authority or authorized party has sixty days after receipt of the letter of disapproval to submit a new plan revision.

(3) The authority or authorized parties may buy and sell tonnage of covered electronic products with other plans without submitting a plan revision for review.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) A manufacturer participating in an independent plan may join the standard plan by notifying the authority and the department of its intention at least five months prior to the start of the next program year.

(2) Manufacturers may not change from one plan to another plan during a program year.

(3) A manufacturer participating in the standard plan wishing to implement or participate in an independent plan may do so by complying with rules adopted by the department under section 23 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) A program must provide collection services for covered electronic products of all product types that are reasonably convenient and available to all citizens of the state residing within its geographic boundaries, including both rural and urban areas. Each program must provide collection service in every county of the state. A program may provide collection services jointly with another plan or plans.

(a) For any city or town with a population of greater than ten thousand, each program shall provide a minimum of one collection site or alternate collection service described in subsection (3) of this section or a combination of sites and alternate service that together provide at least one collection opportunity for all product types. A collection site for a county may be the same as a collection site for a city or town in the county.

(b) Collection sites may include electronics recyclers and repair shops, recyclers of other commodities, reuse organizations, charities, retailers, government recycling sites, or other suitable locations.

(c) Collection sites must be staffed, open to the public at a frequency adequate to meet the needs of the area being served, and on an on-going basis.

(2) A program may limit the number of covered electronic products or covered electronic products by product type accepted per customer per day or per delivery at a collection site or service. All covered entities may use a collection site as long as the covered entities adhere to any restrictions established in the plans.

THIRTY-FIRST DAY, FEBRUARY 8, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(3) A program may provide collection services in forms different than collection sites, such as curbside services, if those alternate services provide equal or better convenience to citizens and equal or increased recovery of unwanted covered electronic products.

(4) For rural areas without commercial centers or areas with widely dispersed population, a program may provide collection at the nearest commercial centers or solid waste sites, collection events, mail-back systems, or a combination of these options.

(5) For small businesses, small governments, charities, and school districts that may have large quantities of covered electronic products that cannot be handled at collection sites or curbside services, a program may provide alternate services. At a minimum, a program must provide for processing of these large quantities of covered electronic products at no charge to the small businesses, small governments, charities, and school districts.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Any person acquiring a manufacturer, or who has acquired a manufacturer, shall have all responsibility for the acquired company's covered electronic products, including covered electronic products manufactured prior to the effective date of this section, unless that responsibility remains with another entity per the purchase agreement and the acquiring manufacturer provides the department with a letter from the other entity accepting responsibility for the covered electronic products. Cobranding manufacturers may negotiate with retailers for responsibility for those products and must notify the department of the results of their negotiations.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) An independent plan and the standard plan must implement and finance an auditable, statistically significant sampling of covered electronic products entering its program every program year. The information collected must include a list of the brand names of covered electronic products by product type, the number of covered electronic products by product type, the weight of covered electronic products that are identified for each brand name or that lack a manufacturer's brand, the total weight of the sample by product type, and any additional information needed to assign return share.

(2) The sampling must be conducted in the presence of the department or a third-party organization approved by the department. The department may, at its discretion, audit the methodology and the results.

(3) After the fifth program year, the department may reassess the sampling required in this section. The department may adjust the frequency at which manufacturers must implement the sampling or may adjust the frequency at which manufacturers must provide certain information from the sampling. Prior to making any changes, the department shall notify the public, including all registered manufacturers, and provide a comment period. The department shall notify all registered manufacturers of any such changes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. (1) An independent plan and the standard plan must inform covered entities about where and how to reuse and recycle their covered electronic products at the end of the product's life, including providing a web site or a toll-free telephone number that gives information about the recycling program in sufficient detail to educate covered entities regarding how to return their covered electronic products for recycling.

(2) The department shall promote covered electronic product recycling by:

(a) Posting information describing where to recycle unwanted covered electronic products on its web site;

(b) Providing information about recycling covered electronic products through a toll-free telephone service; and

(c) Developing and providing artwork for use in flyers and signage to retailers upon request.

(3) Local governments shall promote covered electronic product recycling, including listings of local collection sites and services, through existing educational methods typically used by each local government.

(4) A retailer who sells new covered electronic products shall provide information to consumers describing where and how to recycle covered electronic products and opportunities and locations for the convenient collection or return of the products. This requirement can be fulfilled by providing the department's toll-free telephone number and web site. Remote sellers may include the information in a visible location on their web site as fulfillment of this requirement.

(5) Manufacturers, state government, local governments, retailers, and collection sites and services shall collaborate in the development and implementation of the public information campaign.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) The electronic products recycling account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All payments resulting from plans not reaching their equivalent share, as described in section 22 of this act, shall be deposited into the account. Any moneys collected for manufacturer registration fees, fees associated with reviewing and approving plans and plan revisions, and penalties levied under this chapter shall be deposited into the account.

(2) Only the director of the department or the director's designee may authorize expenditures from the account. The account is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not required for expenditures.

(3) Moneys in the account may be used solely by the department for the purposes of fulfilling department responsibilities specified in this chapter and for expenditures to the authority and authorized parties resulting from plans exceeding their equivalent share, as described in section 22 of this act. Funds in the account may not be diverted for any purpose or activity other than those specified in this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. (1) By March 1st of the second program year and each program year thereafter, the authority and each authorized party shall file with the department an annual report for the preceding program year.

(2) The annual report must include the following information:

(a) The total weight in pounds of covered electronic products collected and recycled, by county, during the preceding program year including documentation verifying collection and processing of that material. The total weight in pounds includes orphan products. The report must also indicate and document the weight in pounds received from each nonprofit charitable organization primarily engaged in the business of reuse and resale used by the plan. NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. No person may sell or offer for sale a covered electronic product to any person in this state unless the manufacturer of the covered electronic product has filed a registration with the department under section 4 of this act and is participating in an approved plan under section 5 of this act. A person that sells or offers for sale a covered electronic product in the state shall consult the department's web site for lists of manufacturers with registrations and approved plans prior to selling a covered electronic product in the state. A person is considered to have complied with this section if on the date the product was ordered from the manufacturer or its agent, the manufacturer was listed as having registered and having an approved plan on the department's web site.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. (1) The department shall maintain on its web site the following information:

(a) The names of the manufacturers and the manufacturer's brands that are registered with the department under section 3 of this act;

(2) For the first program year, the department shall determine the return share for such manufacturers using all reasonable means and based on best available information regarding return share data from other states and other pertinent data.

(3) For the second and each subsequent program year, the department shall determine the return share for such manufacturers using all reasonable means and based on the most recent sampling of covered electronic products conducted in the state under section 11 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. (1) The department shall determine the total equivalent share for each manufacturer in the standard plan or an independent plan by dividing the return share percentage for each manufacturer by one hundred, then multiplying the quotient by the total weight in pounds of covered electronic products collected for that program year, allowing as needed for the additional credit authorized in subsection (3) of this section.

(2)(a) By June 1st of each program year, the department shall notify each manufacturer of the manufacturer's equivalent share of covered electronic products to be applied to the previous program year. The department shall also notify each manufacturer of how its equivalent share was determined.

(3) Plans that utilize the collection services of nonprofit charitable 501(c)3 organizations that are primarily engaged in the business of reuse and resale must be given an additional five percent credit to be applied toward a plan's equivalent share for pounds that are received for recycling from those organizations. The department may adjust the percentage of credit annually.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. (1) By June 1, 2007, the department shall notify each manufacturer of its preliminary return share of covered electronic products for the first program year.

(2) Preliminary return share of covered electronic products must be announced annually by June 1st of each program year for the next program year.

(3) Manufacturers may challenge the preliminary return share by written petition to the department. The petition must be received by the department within thirty days of the date of publication of the preliminary return shares.

(4) The petition must contain a detailed explanation of the grounds for the challenge, an alternative calculation, and the basis for such a calculation, documentary evidence supporting the challenge, and complete contact information for requests for additional information or clarification.

(5) Sixty days after the publication of the preliminary return share, the department shall make a final decision on return share, having fully taken into consideration any and all challenges to its preliminary calculations.

(6) A written record of challenges received and a summary of the bases for the challenges, as well as the department's response, must be published at the same time as the publication of the final return share.

(7) By August 1, 2007, the department shall publish the final return shares for the first program year. By August 1st of each program year, the department shall publish the final return shares for use in the coming program year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. (1) For an independent plan and the standard plan, if the total weight in pounds of covered electronic products collected during a program year is less than the plan's equivalent share of covered electronic products for that year, then the authority or authorized party shall submit to the department a payment equal to the weight in pounds of the deficit multiplied by the reasonable collection, transportation, and recycling cost for covered electronic products and the administrative fee. Moneys collected by the department must be deposited in the electronic products recycling account.

(2) For an independent plan and the standard plan, if the total weight in pounds of covered electronic products collected during a program year is more than the plan's equivalent share of covered electronic products for that year, then the department shall submit to the authority or authorized party, a payment equal to the weight in pounds of the surplus multiplied by the reasonable collection, transportation, and recycling cost for covered electronic products.

(3) For purposes of this section, the initial reasonable collection, transportation, and recycling cost for covered electronic products is forty-five cents per pound and the administrative fee is five cents per pound.

(4) The department may annually adjust the reasonable collection, transportation, and recycling cost for covered electronic products and the administrative fee described in this section. Prior to making any changes in the fees described in this section, the department shall notify the public, including all registered manufacturers, and provide a comment period. The department shall notify all registered manufacturers of any changes to the reasonable collection, transportation, and recycling cost or the administrative fee by January 1st of the program year in which the change is to take place.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. (1) The department shall adopt rules to determine the process for manufacturers to change plans under section 8 of this act.

(2) The department shall establish annual registration and plan review fees for administering this chapter. An initial fee schedule must be established by rule and be adjusted no more often than once every two years. All fees charged must be based on factors relating to administering this chapter and be based on a sliding scale that is representative of annual sales of covered electronic products in the state. Fees must be established in amounts to fully recover and not to exceed expenses incurred by the department to implement this chapter.

(3) The department shall establish an annual process for local governments and local communities to report their satisfaction with the services provided by plans under this chapter. This information must be used by the department in reviewing plan updates and revisions.

(4) The department may adopt rules as necessary for the purpose of implementing, administering, and enforcing this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. Each collector and transporter of covered electronic products in the state must register annually with the department. The registration must include all identification requirements for licensure in the state and the geographic area of the state that they serve. The department shall develop a single form for registration of both collectors and transporters.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. (1)(a) The authority and each authorized party shall ensure that each processor used directly by the authority or the authorized party to fulfill the requirements of their respective standard plan or independent plan has provided the authority or the authorized party a written statement that the processor will comply with the requirements of this section.

(b) The international export of any unwanted covered electronic products or electronic components or electronic scrap derived from such products destined for disposal or recycling that are capable of leaching lead, cadmium, mercury, hexavalent chromium, or selenium or selenium compounds in concentrations above the limits listed in 40 C.F.R. Sec. 261.24 as of the effective date of this act shall be prohibited except for exports to:

(c) Any unwanted electronic products or electronic components derived from such products that are capable of leaching lead, cadmium, mercury, hexavalent chromium, or selenium or selenium compounds in concentrations exceeding the levels established in 40 C.F.R. Sec. 261.24 as of the effective date of this act and exported to countries that are not members of the organization for economic cooperation and development or the European community or with whom the United States has not entered into an agreement for such export for reuse, must be tested and labeled as fully functional or needing only repairs that do not result in the replacement of components capable of leaching these substances in concentrations exceeding the levels established in 40 C.F.R. Sec. 261.24 as of the effective date of this act.

(d) The department shall establish rules to implement this section, including any requirements necessary to ensure that full compliance is adequately documented.

(5) No plan or program required under this chapter may include the use of federal or state prison labor for processing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 26. (1) No manufacturer may sell or offer for sale a covered electronic product in or into the state unless the manufacturer of the covered electronic product is participating in an approved plan. The department shall send a written warning to a manufacturer that does not have an approved plan or is not participating in an approved plan as required under section 5 of this act. The written warning must inform the manufacturer that it must participate in an approved plan within thirty days of the notice. Any violation after the initial written warning shall be assessed a penalty of up to ten thousand dollars for each violation.

(2) If the authority or any authorized party fails to implement their approved plan, the department must assess a penalty of up to five thousand dollars for the first violation along with notification that the authority or authorized party must implement its plan within thirty days of the violation. After thirty days, the authority or any authorized party failing to implement their approved plan must be assessed a penalty of up to ten thousand dollars for the second and each subsequent violation.

(3) Any person that does not comply with manufacturer registration requirements under section 4 of this act, education and outreach requirements under section 12 of this act, reporting requirements under section 14 of this act, labeling requirements under section 16 of this act, retailer responsibility requirements under section 17 of this act, collector or transporter registration requirements under section 24 of this act, or requirements under section 25 of this act, must first receive a written warning including a copy of the requirements under this chapter and thirty days to correct the violation. After thirty days, a person must be assessed a penalty of up to one thousand dollars for the first violation and up to two thousand dollars for the second and each subsequent violation.

(2) These impacts are resulting in damage to Washington's environment and causing economic hardships.

A landlord who rents to a registered sex offender is immune from civil liability for damages caused by the tenant. In order for a landlord to be protected from liability as provided under this section, a landlord must disclose to residents of the property that he or she rents or has a policy of renting to sex offenders.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3 (1) The Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs shall conduct a study on sex offender registration and sex offender housing laws in every state. The study may be limited to a review and analysis of each state's laws regarding: (a) Whether and how often sex offenders are required to report in person to law enforcement; (b) whether and how often law enforcement is required to make in-person contact with registered sex offenders in the community; (c) the characteristics of sex offenders subject to registration requirements; (d) estimates on the costs and benefits of more frequent in-person contact between law enforcement and sex offenders in the community; (e) restrictions on or supports for sex offender housing units in the community regarding housing more than one offender in the same residence; and (f) the costs and benefits of permitting or encouraging housing in the community for more than one sex offender in the same residence.

(a) The report of the examination shall include at a minimum the following:

(i) The offender's version of the facts and the official version of the facts;

(ii) The offender's offense history;

(iii) An assessment of problems in addition to alleged deviant behaviors;

(iv) The offender's social and employment situation; and

(v) Other evaluation measures used.

The report shall set forth the sources of the examiner's information.

(b) The examiner shall assess and report regarding the offender's amenability to treatment and relative risk to the community. A proposed treatment plan shall be provided and shall include, at a minimum:

(i) Frequency and type of contact between offender and therapist;

(ii) Specific issues to be addressed in the treatment and description of planned treatment modalities;

(iii) Monitoring plans, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members and others;

(iv) Anticipated length of treatment; and

(v) Recommended crime-related prohibitions and affirmative conditions, which must include, to the extent known, an identification of specific activities or behaviors that are precursors to the offender's offense cycle, including, but not limited to, activities or behaviors such as viewing or listening to pornography or use of alcohol or controlled substances.

(c) The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The examiner shall be selected by the party making the motion. The offender shall pay the cost of any second examination ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost.

(4) After receipt of the reports, the court shall consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this alternative, consider whether the alternative is too lenient in light of the extent and circumstances of the offense, consider whether the offender has victims in addition to the victim of the offense, consider whether the offender is amenable to treatment, consider the risk the offender would present to the community, to the victim, or to persons of similar age and circumstances as the victim, and consider the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this section. The court shall give great weight to the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this section. If the sentence imposed is contrary to the victim's opinion, the court shall enter written findings stating its reasons for imposing the treatment disposition. The fact that the offender admits to his or her offense does not, by itself, constitute amenability to treatment. If the court determines that this alternative is appropriate, the court shall then impose a sentence or, pursuant to RCW 9.94A.712, a minimum term of sentence, within the standard sentence range. If the sentence imposed is less than eleven years of confinement, the court may suspend the execution of the sentence and impose the following conditions of suspension:

(a) The court shall order the offender to serve a term of confinement of up to twelve months or the maximum term within the standard range, whichever is less. The court may order the offender to serve a term of confinement greater than twelve months or the maximum term within the standard range based on the presence of an aggravating circumstance listed in RCW 9.94A.535~~((2))~~ (3). In no case shall the term of confinement exceed the statutory maximum sentence for the offense. The court may order the offender to serve all or part of his or her term of confinement in partial confinement. An offender sentenced to a term of confinement under this subsection is not eligible for earned release under RCW 9.92.151 or 9.94A.728.

(b) The court shall place the offender on community custody for the length of the suspended sentence, the length of the maximum term imposed pursuant to RCW 9.94A.712, or three years, whichever is greater, and require the offender to comply with any conditions imposed by the department under RCW 9.94A.720.

(c) The court shall order treatment for any period up to five years in duration. The court, in its discretion, shall order outpatient sex offender treatment or inpatient sex offender treatment, if available. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment. The offender shall not change sex offender treatment providers or treatment conditions without first notifying the prosecutor, the community corrections officer, and the court. If any party or the court objects to a proposed change, the offender shall not change providers or conditions without court approval after a hearing.

(d) As conditions of the suspended sentence, the court shall impose specific prohibitions and affirmative conditions relating to the known precursor activities or behaviors identified in the proposed treatment plan under subsection (3)(b)(v) of this section or identified in an annual review under subsection (7)(b) of this section.

(5) As conditions of the suspended sentence, the court may impose one or more of the following:

(a) Crime-related prohibitions;

(b) Require the offender to devote time to a specific employment or occupation;

(c) Require the offender to remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;

(d) Require the offender to report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;

THIRTY-SECOND DAY, FEBRUARY 9, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(e) Require the offender to pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations as provided in RCW 9.94A.030;

(f) Require the offender to perform community restitution work; or

(g) Require the offender to reimburse the victim for the cost of any counseling required as a result of the offender's crime.

(6) At the time of sentencing, the court shall set a treatment termination hearing for three months prior to the anticipated date for completion of treatment.

(7)(a) The sex offender treatment provider shall submit quarterly reports on the offender's progress in treatment to the court and the parties. The report shall reference the treatment plan and include at a minimum the following: Dates of attendance, offender's compliance with requirements, treatment activities, the offender's relative progress in treatment, and any other material specified by the court at sentencing.

(b) The court shall conduct a hearing on the offender's progress in treatment at least once a year. At least fourteen days prior to the hearing, notice of the hearing shall be given to the victim. The victim shall be given the opportunity to make statements to the court regarding the offender's supervision and treatment. At the hearing, the court may modify conditions of community custody including, but not limited to, crime-related prohibitions and affirmative conditions relating to activities and behaviors identified as part of, or relating to precursor activities and behaviors in, the offender's offense cycle or revoke the suspended sentence.

(8) At least fourteen days prior to the treatment termination hearing, notice of the hearing shall be given to the victim. The victim shall be given the opportunity to make statements to the court regarding the offender's supervision and treatment. Prior to the treatment termination hearing, the treatment provider and community corrections officer shall submit written reports to the court and parties regarding the offender's compliance with treatment and monitoring requirements, and recommendations regarding termination from treatment, including proposed community custody conditions. The court may order an evaluation regarding the advisability of termination from treatment by a sex offender treatment provider who may not be the same person who treated the offender under subsection (4) of this section or any person who employs, is employed by, or shares profits with the person who treated the offender under subsection (4) of this section unless the court has entered written findings that such evaluation is in the best interest of the victim and that a successful evaluation of the offender would otherwise be impractical. The offender shall pay the cost of the evaluation. At the treatment termination hearing the court may:

(a) Modify conditions of community custody, and either (b) terminate treatment, or (c) extend treatment in two-year increments for up to the remaining period of community custody.

(9)(a) If a violation of conditions other than a second violation of the prohibitions or affirmative conditions relating to precursor behaviors or activities imposed under subsection (4)(d) or (7)(b) of this section occurs during community custody, the department shall either impose sanctions as provided for in RCW 9.94A.737(2)(a) or refer the violation to the court and recommend revocation of the suspended sentence as provided for in subsections (6) and (8) of this section.

(b) If a second violation of the prohibitions or affirmative conditions relating to precursor behaviors or activities imposed under subsection (4)(d) or (7)(b) of this section occurs during community custody, the department shall refer the violation to the court and recommend revocation of the suspended sentence as provided in subsection (10) of this section.

(10) The court may revoke the suspended sentence at any time during the period of community custody and order execution of the sentence if: (a) The offender violates the conditions of the suspended sentence, or (b) the court finds that the offender is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment. All confinement time served during the period of community custody shall be credited to the offender if the suspended sentence is revoked.

(11) The offender's sex offender treatment provider may not be the same person who examined the offender under subsection (3) of this section or any person who employs, is employed by, or shares profits with the person who examined the offender under subsection (3) of this section, unless the court has entered written findings that such treatment is in the best interests of the victim and that successful treatment of the offender would otherwise be impractical. Examinations and treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall only be conducted by certified sex offender treatment providers or certified affiliate sex offender treatment providers under chapter 18.155 RCW unless the court finds that:

(a) The offender has already moved to another state or plans to move to another state for reasons other than circumventing the certification requirements; or

(b)(i) No certified sex offender treatment providers or certified affiliate sex offender treatment providers are available for treatment within a reasonable geographical distance of the offender's home; and

(ii) The evaluation and treatment plan comply with this section and the rules adopted by the department of health.

(12) If the offender is less than eighteen years of age when the charge is filed, the state shall pay for the cost of initial evaluation and treatment.

Sec. 2. RCW 13.40.160 and 2004 c 120 s 4 and 2004 c 38 s 11 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) The standard range disposition for a juvenile adjudicated of an offense is determined according to RCW 13.40.0357.

(a) When the court sentences an offender to a local sanction as provided in RCW 13.40.0357 option A, the court shall impose a determinate disposition within the standard ranges, except as provided in subsection (2), (3), (4), (5), or (6) of this section. The disposition may be comprised of one or more local sanctions.

(b) When the court sentences an offender to a standard range as provided in RCW 13.40.0357 option A that includes a term of confinement exceeding thirty days, commitment shall be to the department for the standard range of confinement, except as provided in subsection (2), (3), (4), (5), or (6) of this section.

(2) If the court concludes, and enters reasons for its conclusion, that disposition within the standard range would effectuate a manifest injustice the court shall impose a disposition outside the standard range, as indicated in option D of RCW 13.40.0357. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

A disposition outside the standard range shall be determinate and shall be comprised of confinement or community supervision, or a combination thereof. When a judge finds a manifest injustice and imposes a sentence of confinement exceeding thirty days, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030(2) shall be used to determine the range. A disposition outside the standard range is appealable under RCW 13.40.230 by the state or the respondent. A disposition within the standard range is not appealable under RCW 13.40.230.

(3) When a juvenile offender is found to have committed a sex offense, other than a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030, and has no history of a prior sex offense, the court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the respondent, may order an examination to determine whether the respondent is amenable to treatment.

The report of the examination shall include at a minimum the following: The respondent's version of the facts and the official version of the facts, the respondent's offense history, an assessment of problems in addition to alleged deviant behaviors, the respondent's social, educational, and employment situation, and other evaluation measures used. The report shall set forth the sources of the evaluator's information.

THIRTY-SECOND DAY, FEBRUARY 9, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

The examiner shall assess and report regarding the respondent's amenability to treatment and relative risk to the community. A proposed treatment plan shall be provided and shall include, at a minimum:

- (a)(i) Frequency and type of contact between the offender and therapist;
- (ii) Specific issues to be addressed in the treatment and description of planned treatment modalities;
- (iii) Monitoring plans, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members, legal guardians, or others;
- (iv) Anticipated length of treatment; and
- (v) Recommended crime-related prohibitions.

The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The evaluator shall be selected by the party making the motion. The defendant shall pay the cost of any second examination ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost.

After receipt of reports of the examination, the court shall then consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sex offender disposition alternative and consider the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this section. An offender pleading guilty must voluntarily admit to the commission of all the elements of the crime of conviction. An offender who enters an Alford plea or Newton plea on a sex offense shall not be eligible for the special sex offender sentencing alternative. If the court otherwise determines that this special sex offender disposition alternative is appropriate, then the court shall impose a determinate disposition within the standard range for the offense, or if the court concludes, and enters reasons for its conclusions, that such disposition would cause a manifest injustice, the court shall impose a disposition under option D, and the court may suspend the execution of the disposition and place the offender on community supervision for at least two years. As a condition of the suspended disposition, the court may impose the conditions of community supervision and other conditions, including up to thirty days of confinement and requirements that the offender do any one or more of the following:

- (b)(i) Devote time to a specific education, employment, or occupation;
- (ii) Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment. The respondent shall not change sex offender treatment providers or treatment conditions without first notifying the prosecutor, the probation counselor, and the court, and shall not change providers without court approval after a hearing if the prosecutor or probation counselor object to the change;
- (iii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the probation counselor prior to any change in the offender's address, educational program, or employment;
- (iv) Report to the prosecutor and the probation counselor prior to any change in a sex offender treatment provider. This change shall have prior approval by the court;
- (v) Report as directed to the court and a probation counselor;
- (vi) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations, perform community restitution, or any combination thereof;
- (vii) Make restitution to the victim for the cost of any counseling reasonably related to the offense;
- (viii) Comply with the conditions of any court-ordered probation bond; or
- (ix) The court shall order that the offender shall not attend the public or approved private elementary, middle, or high school attended by the victim or the victim's siblings. The parents or legal guardians of the offender are responsible for transportation or other costs associated with the offender's change of school that would otherwise be paid by the school district. The court shall send notice of the disposition and restriction on attending the same school as the victim or victim's siblings to the public or approved private school the juvenile will attend, if known, or if unknown, to the approved private schools and the public school district board of directors of the district in which the juvenile resides or intends to reside. This notice must be sent at the earliest possible date but not later than ten calendar days after entry of the disposition.

The sex offender treatment provider shall submit quarterly reports on the respondent's progress in treatment to the court and the parties. The reports shall reference the treatment plan and include at a minimum the following: Dates of attendance, respondent's compliance with requirements, treatment activities, the respondent's relative progress in treatment, and any other material specified by the court at the time of the disposition.

At the time of the disposition, the court may set treatment review hearings as the court considers appropriate.

Except as provided in this subsection (3), after July 1, 1991, examinations and treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall only be conducted by certified sex offender treatment providers or certified affiliate sex offender treatment providers under chapter 18.155 RCW. A sex offender therapist who examines or treats a juvenile sex offender pursuant to this subsection does not have to be certified by the department of health pursuant to chapter 18.155 RCW if the court finds that: (A) The offender has already moved to another state or plans to move to another state for reasons other than circumventing the certification requirements; (B) no certified sex offender treatment providers or certified affiliate sex offender treatment providers are available for treatment within a reasonable geographical distance of the offender's home; and (C) the evaluation and treatment plan comply with this subsection (3) and the rules adopted by the department of health.

If the offender violates any condition of the disposition or the court finds that the respondent is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment, the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the disposition or the court may impose a penalty of up to thirty days' confinement for violating conditions of the disposition. The court may order both execution of the disposition and up to thirty days' confinement for the violation of the conditions of the disposition. The court shall give credit for any confinement time previously served if that confinement was for the offense for which the suspension is being revoked.

For purposes of this section, "victim" means any person who has sustained emotional, psychological, physical, or financial injury to person or property as a direct result of the crime charged. "Victim" may also include a known parent or guardian of a victim who is a minor child unless the parent or guardian is the perpetrator of the offense.

A disposition entered under this subsection (3) is not appealable under RCW 13.40.230.

(4) If the juvenile offender is subject to a standard range disposition of local sanctions or 15 to 36 weeks of confinement and has not committed an A- or B+ offense, the court may impose the disposition alternative under RCW 13.40.165.

(5) If a juvenile is subject to a commitment of 15 to 65 weeks of confinement, the court may impose the disposition alternative under RCW 13.40.167.

(6) When the offender is subject to a standard range commitment of 15 to 36 weeks and is ineligible for a suspended disposition alternative, a manifest injustice disposition below the standard range, special sex offender disposition alternative, chemical dependency disposition alternative, or mental health disposition alternative, the court in a county with a pilot program under RCW 13.40.169 may impose the disposition alternative under RCW 13.40.169.

THIRTY-SECOND DAY, FEBRUARY 9, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(7) RCW 13.40.193 shall govern the disposition of any juvenile adjudicated of possessing a firearm in violation of RCW 9A.10.040(2)(a)(iii) or any crime in which a special finding is entered that the juvenile was armed with a firearm.

(8) Whenever a juvenile offender is entitled to credit for time spent in detention prior to a dispositional order, the dispositional order shall specifically state the number of days of credit for time served.

(9) Except as provided under subsection (3), (4), (5), or (6) of this section, or option B of RCW 13.40.0357, or RCW 13.40.127, the court shall not suspend or defer the imposition or the execution of the disposition.

(10) In no case shall the term of confinement imposed by the court at disposition exceed that to which an adult could be subjected for the same offense."

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature declares that:

(1) Marketing is a dynamic and changing part of Washington agriculture and a vital element in expanding the state economy;

(2) The sale in this state and export to other states and abroad of beer made in this state contribute substantial benefits to the economy of the state and provide a large number of jobs and sizeable tax revenues;

(3) The production of beer in this state is a new and important segment of Washington agriculture that has potential for greater contribution to the economy of the state if it undergoes continued development; and

(4) The general welfare of the people of this state will be served by continued development of the activities of the production of beer, that will improve the tax bases of local communities where agricultural land and processing facilities are located, and reduce the need for state and federal funding of local services. The industries are therefore affected with the public interest.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

THIRTY-THIRD DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(1) It is vital to the continued economic well-being of the citizens of this state and their general welfare that beer produced in Washington state be properly promoted;

(2) It is in the overriding public interest that support for the Washington beer industry be clearly expressed and that beer be promoted individually, and as part of a comprehensive industry to:

(a) Enhance the reputation and image of Washington state's agriculture industry;

(b) Protect the public by educating the public in reference to the quality, care, and methods used in the production of beer;

(c) Increase the knowledge of the qualities and value of Washington's beer; and

(d) Support and engage in programs or activities that benefit the production, handling, processing, marketing, and uses of beer;

(3) This chapter is enacted in the exercise of the police powers of this state to protect the health, peace, safety, and general welfare of the people of this state; and

(4) The production and marketing of beer is a highly regulated industry and this chapter and the rules adopted under it are only one aspect of the regulated industry. Other laws applicable to the beer industry include:

(j) Rules under Title 314 WAC.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) Subject to the referendum conducted under section 5 of this act, there is created an agricultural commodity commission, to be known as the Washington beer commission. The commission shall be comprised of seven voting members; six members shall be producers and one voting member shall be the director.

(2) Five voting members of the commission constitute a quorum for the transaction of any commission business.

(3) Each producer member shall be a citizen and resident of this state and over the age of twenty-one. Each producer member must be engaged in producing beer, and must, during his or her term of office, derive a substantial portion of income from the production of beer, or have a substantial investment in the production of beer as an owner, lessee, partner, or the manager or executive officer of such a corporation. No more than one board member may be part of the same person as defined by RCW 15.04.010. These qualifications apply throughout each member's term of office but do not apply to the director.

(4) The producer members shall serve three-year terms. Of the initial voting members, two members shall be appointed for a one-year term, two members shall be appointed for a two-year term, and two members shall be appointed for a three-year term.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) Upon receipt of a petition containing the signatures of five beer producers from a statewide Washington state craft brewing trade association or other affected producers to implement this chapter and to determine producer participation in the commission and assessment under this chapter, the director shall:

(a) Conduct a referendum of beer producers. The requirements of assent or approval of the referendum are met if:

(i) At least fifty-one percent by numbers of affected producers participating in the referendum vote affirmatively; and

(ii) Thirty percent of the affected producers and thirty percent of the production have been represented in the referendum to determine assent or approval of participation and assessment. The referendum shall be conducted within sixty days of receipt of the petition; and

(b) Establish a list of beer producers from information provided by the petitioners, by obtaining information on beer producers from applicable producer organizations or associations or other sources identified as maintaining the information. In establishing a current list of beer producers and their individual production, the director shall use the beer producer's name, mailing address, and production by the producer in the preceding fiscal year. Information on each producer shall be mailed to each beer producer on record with the director for verification. All corrections shall be filed with the director within twenty days from the date of mailing. The list of affected producers shall be kept in a file by the director. The list shall be certified as a true representation of the referendum mailing list. Inadvertent failure to notify an affected producer does not invalidate a proceeding conducted under this chapter. The director shall provide the commission the list of affected producers after assent in a referendum as provided in this section.

(2) If the director determines that the requisite assent has been given in the referendum conducted under subsection (1) of this section, the director shall:

(a) Within sixty days after assent of the referendum held, appoint the members of the commission; and

(b) Direct the commission to put into force the assessment as provided for in section 14 of this act.

(3) If the director determines that the requisite assent has not been given in the referendum conducted under subsection (1) of this section, the director shall take no further action to implement or enforce this chapter.

(4) Upon completion of the referendum conducted under subsection (1) of this section, the department shall tally the results of the vote and provide the results to affected producers. If an affected producer disputes the results of a vote, that producer within sixty days from the announced results, shall provide in writing a statement of why the vote is disputed and request a recount. Once the vote is tallied and distributed, all disputes are resolved, and all matters in a vote are finalized, the individual ballots may be destroyed.

(5) Before conducting the referendum provided for in subsection (1) of this section, the director may require the petitioners to deposit with him or her an amount of money as the director deems necessary to defray the expenses of conducting the referendum. The director shall provide the petitioners an estimate of expenses that may be incurred to conduct a referendum before any service takes place. Petitioners shall deposit funds with the director to pay for expenses incurred by the department. The commission shall reimburse petitioners the amount paid to the department when funds become available. However, if for any reason the referendum process is discontinued, the petitioners shall reimburse the department for expenses incurred by the department up until the time the process is discontinued.

(6) The director is not required to hold a referendum under subsection (1) of this section more than once in any twelve-month period.

THIRTY-THIRD DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) The director shall appoint the producer members of the commission. In making appointments, no later than ninety days before an expiration of a commission member's term, the director shall call for recommendations for commission member positions, and the director shall take into consideration recommendations made by a statewide Washington state craft brewing trade association or other affected producers. In appointing persons to the commission, the director shall seek a balanced representation on the commission that reflects the composition of the beer producers throughout the state on the basis of beer produced and geographic location. Information on beer production by geographic location shall be provided by the commission upon the director's request.

(2) If a position on the commission becomes vacant due to resignation, disqualification, death, or for any other reason, the commission shall notify the director and the unexpired term shall immediately be filled by appointment by the director.

(3) Each member or employee of the commission shall be reimbursed for actual travel expenses incurred in carrying out this chapter as defined by the commission in rule. Otherwise if not defined in rule, reimbursement for travel expenses shall be at the rates allowed by RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Obligations incurred by the commission and any other liabilities or claims against the commission shall be enforced only against the assets of the commission and, except to the extent of such assets, no liability for the debts or actions of the commission exists against either the state of Washington or any subdivision or instrumentality thereof or against any member, employee, or agent of the commission or the state of Washington in his or her individual capacity. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, neither the commission members, nor its employees, may be held individually responsible for errors in judgment, mistakes, or other acts, either of commission or omission, as principal, agent, person, or employee, except for their own individual acts of dishonesty or crime. No person or employee may be held individually responsible for any act or omission of any other commission members. The liability of the commission members shall be several and not joint, and no member is liable for the default of any other member. This provision confirms that commission members have been and continue to be, state officers or volunteers for purposes of RCW 4.92.075 and are entitled to the defenses, indemnifications, limitations of liability, and other protections and benefits of chapter 4.92 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The commission shall:

(1) Elect a chair and officers. The officers must include a treasurer who is responsible for all receipts and disbursements by the commission and the faithful discharge of whose duties shall be guaranteed by a bond at the sole expense of the commission. The commission must adopt rules for its own governance that provide for the holding of an annual meeting for the election of officers and the transaction of other business and for other meetings the commission may direct;

(2) Do all things reasonably necessary to effect the purposes of this chapter. However, the commission has no rule-making power except as provided in this chapter;

(3) Employ and discharge managers, secretaries, agents, attorneys, and employees and engage the services of independent contractors;

(4) Retain, as necessary, the services of private legal counsel to conduct legal actions on behalf of the commission. The retention of a private attorney is subject to review by the office of the attorney general;

(5) Receive donations of beer from producers for promotional purposes under subsections (6) and (7) of this section and for fund-raising purposes under subsection (8) of this section. Donations of beer for promotional purposes may only be disseminated without charge;

(6) Engage directly or indirectly in the promotion of Washington beer, including, without limitation, the acquisition in any lawful manner and the dissemination without charge of beer. This dissemination is not deemed a sale for any purpose and the commission is not deemed a producer, supplier, or manufacturer, or the clerk, servant, or agent of a producer, supplier, distributor, or manufacturer. This dissemination without charge shall be for agricultural development or trade promotion, and not for fund-raising purposes under subsection (8) of this section. Dissemination for promotional purposes may include promotional hosting and must in the good faith judgment of the commission be in the aid of the marketing, advertising, sale of beer, or of research related to such marketing, advertising, or sale;

(7) Promote Washington beer by conducting unique beer tastings without charge;

(8) Fund the Washington beer commission through sponsorship of up to twelve beer festivals annually at which beer may be sold to festival participants. For this purpose, the commission would qualify for issue of a special occasion license as an exception to WAC 314-05-020 but must comply with laws under Title 66 RCW and rules adopted by the liquor control board under which such events may be conducted. If Substitute Senate Bill No. 6838, promoting Washington's craft beer industry by conducting beer festivals, is enacted during the 2006 regular legislative session, the commission may not conduct beer festivals before July 1, 2007;

(9) Participate in international, federal, state, and local hearings, meetings, and other proceedings relating to the production, regulation, distribution, sale, or use of beer including activities authorized under RCW 42.17.190, including the reporting of those activities to the public disclosure commission;

(10) Acquire and transfer personal and real property, establish offices, incur expenses, and enter into contracts, including contracts for the creation and printing of promotional literature. The contracts are not subject to chapter 43.78 RCW, and are cancelable by the commission unless performed under conditions of employment that substantially conform to the laws of this state and the rules of the department of labor and industries. The commission may create debt and other liabilities that are reasonable for proper discharge of its duties under this chapter;

(11) Maintain accounts with one or more qualified public depositories as the commission may direct, for the deposit of money, and expend money for purposes authorized by this chapter by drafts made by the commission upon such institutions or by other means;

(12) Cause to be kept and annually closed, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, accurate records of all receipts, disbursements, and other financial transactions, available for audit by the state auditor;

(13) Create and maintain a list of producers and disseminate information among and solicit the opinions of producers with respect to the discharge of the duties of the commission, directly or by arrangement with trade associations or other instrumentalities;

(14) Employ, designate as an agent, act in concert with, and enter into contracts with any person, council, commission, or other entity to promote the general welfare of the beer industry and particularly to assist in the sale and distribution of Washington beer in domestic and foreign commerce. The commission shall expend money necessary or advisable for this purpose and to pay its proportionate share of the cost of any program providing direct or indirect assistance to the sale and distribution of Washington beer in domestic or foreign commerce, employing and paying for vendors of professional services of all kinds;

(15) Sue and be sued as a commission, without individual liability for acts of the commission within the scope of the powers conferred upon it by this chapter; and

(16) Serve as liaison with the liquor control board on behalf of the commission and not for any individual producer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) The commission shall develop and submit to the director for approval any plans, programs, and projects concerning the following:

(a) The establishment, issuance, effectuation, and administration of appropriate programs or projects for advertising, promotion, and education programs related to beer; and

THIRTY-THIRD DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(b) The establishment and effectuation of market research projects, market development projects, or both to the end that the marketing of beer may be encouraged, expanded, improved, or made more efficient.

(2) The director shall review the commission's advertising or promotion program to ensure that no false claims are being made concerning beer.

(3) The commission, before the beginning of its fiscal year, shall prepare and submit to the director for approval its research plan, its commodity-related education and training plan, and its budget on a fiscal period basis.

(4) The director shall strive to review and make a determination of all submissions described in this section in a timely manner.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. The commission exists primarily for the benefit of the people of the state of Washington and its economy. The legislature hereby charges the commission, with oversight by the director, to speak on behalf of the Washington state government with regard to the marketing and promotion of Washington produced beer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The commission may create, provide for, and conduct a comprehensive and extensive research, promotional, and educational campaign as sales and market conditions reasonably require. It shall investigate and ascertain the needs of producers, conditions of markets, and degree of public awareness of products, and take into account this information in the discharge of its duties under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The commission shall adopt as major objectives of its research, promotional, and educational campaign goals that serve the needs of producers. The goals may include efforts to:

(1) Establish Washington beer as a major factor in markets everywhere;

(2) Promote Washington breweries as tourist attractions;

(3) Encourage favorable reporting of Washington beer and breweries in the press throughout the world;

(4) Establish Washington beer in markets everywhere as a major source of premium beer;

(5) Encourage favorable legislative and regulatory treatment of Washington beer in markets everywhere;

(6) Encourage promotion of Washington agriculture related to beer production, specifically hops, malting barley, and wheat grown in the state; and

(7) Foster economic conditions favorable to investment in the production of Washington beer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) The commission shall prepare a list of all affected producers from information available from the liquor control board, the department, or the producers' association. This list must contain the names and addresses of affected producers within this state and the amount, by barrelage, of beer produced during the period designated by the commission. A qualified person may, at any time, have his or her name placed upon the list by delivering or mailing the information to the commission. This list shall be corrected and brought up-to-date in accordance with evidence and information available to the commission by December 31st of each year. For the purposes of giving notice and holding referendums, the list updated before the date for issuing notices or ballots is the list of all producers entitled to notice, to assent or dissent, or to vote. Inadvertent failure to notify a producer does not invalidate a proceeding conducted under this chapter.

(2) It is the responsibility of affected producers to ensure that their correct address is filed with the commission. It is also the responsibility of affected producers to submit production data to the commission as prescribed by this chapter.

(3) The commission shall develop a reporting system to document that the affected producers in this state are reporting quantities of beer produced and are paying the assessment as provided in section 14 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. (1) Pursuant to referendum in accordance with section 5 of this act, there is levied, and the commission shall collect, upon beer produced by an affected producer, an annual assessment of ten cents per barrel of beer produced, up to ten thousand barrels per location.

(2) The commission shall adopt rules prescribing the time, place, and method for payment and collection of this assessment and provide for the collection of assessments from affected producers who ship directly out-of-state.

(3) The commission may reduce the assessment per affected producer based upon in-kind contributions to the commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. The commission shall deposit money collected under section 14 of this act in a separate account in the name of the commission in any bank that is a state depository. All expenditures and disbursements made from this account under this chapter may be made without the necessity of a specific legislative appropriation. RCW 43.01.050 does not apply to this account or to the money received, collected, or expended as provided in this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. An assessment levied in an amount determined by the commission under section 14 of this act constitutes a personal debt of every person assessed or who otherwise owes the assessment, and the assessment is due and payable to the commission when payment is called for by the commission. If a producer fails to pay the commission the full amount of the assessment by the date due, the commission may add to the unpaid assessment an amount not exceeding ten percent of the assessment to defray the cost of enforcing its collection. If the person fails to pay an assessment, the commission may bring a civil action for collection against the person or persons in a court of competent jurisdiction. The action shall be tried and judgment rendered as in any other cause of action for a debt due and payable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. (1) Under RCW 42.56.380, certain agricultural business records, commission records, and department of agriculture records relating to the commission and producers of agricultural commodities are exempt from public disclosure.

(2) Financial and commercial information and records submitted to either the department or the commission for the purpose of administering this chapter may be shared between the department and the commission. They may also be used, if required, in any suit or administrative hearing involving this chapter.

(3) This section does not prohibit:

(a) The issuance of general statements based upon the reports of persons subject to this chapter as long as the statements do not identify the information furnished by any person; or

(b) The publication by the director or the commission of the name of any person violating this chapter and a statement of the manner of the violation by that person.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. (1) All costs incurred by the department, including the adoption of rules and other actions necessary to carry out this chapter, shall be reimbursed by the commission.

(2) The director may provide by rule for a method to fund staff support for all commodity boards or commissions in accordance with RCW 43.23.033 if a position is not directly funded by the legislature and costs are related to the specific activity undertaken on behalf of an individual commodity board or commission. The commission shall provide funds to the department according to the rules adopted by the director.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. County and state law enforcement officers, the liquor control board and its enforcement agents, and employees of the department shall enforce this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. (1) Any prosecution brought under this chapter may be instituted in any county in which the defendant or any defendant resides, or in which the violation was committed, or in which the defendant or any defendant has his or her principal place of business.

(2) The superior courts may enforce this chapter and the rules and regulations of the commission issued hereunder, and may prevent and restrain violations thereof.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. This act shall be liberally construed to effectuate its purposes.

Sec. 22. RCW 66.44.800 and 1987 c 452 s 17 are each amended to read as follows:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1 A new section is added to chapter 28A.655 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Beginning in the 2006-07 school year, the superintendent of public instruction shall implement three objective alternative assessment methods as provided in this section for students to demonstrate achievement of the state standards in content areas in which the student has not yet met the standard on the high school Washington assessment of student learning. A student may access any alternative if the student meets applicable eligibility criteria in RCW 28A.655.061 and any other eligibility criteria established by the superintendent of public instruction.

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(2) For the purposes of this section, "applicant" means a student seeking to use one of the alternative assessment methods in this section.

(3) The alternative assessment methods shall include:

(a) A combination of the applicant's grades in applicable courses and the applicant's highest score on the high school Washington assessment of student learning, as provided in this subsection.

(i) Using guidelines prepared by the superintendent of public instruction, a school district shall identify the group of students in the same school as the applicant who took the same high school courses as the applicant in the applicable content area. From the group of students identified in this manner, the district shall select the comparison cohort that shall be those students who met or slightly exceeded the state standard on the Washington assessment of student learning.

(ii) The district shall compare the applicant's grades in high school courses in the applicable content area to the grades of students in the comparison cohort for the same high school courses. If the applicant's grades are equal to or above the mean grades of the comparison cohort, the applicant shall be deemed to have met the state standard on the alternative assessment.

(iii) An applicant may not use the alternative assessment under this subsection (3)(a) if there are fewer than six students in the comparison cohort.

(b) An evaluation of a collection of work samples prepared and submitted by the applicant, as provided in this subsection, and for career and technical applicants, the additional requirements of subsection (3)(c).

(i) The superintendent of public instruction shall develop guidelines for the types and number of work samples in each content area that may be submitted as a collection to evidence that the applicant has met the state standard in that content area. Work samples may be collected from academic, career and technical, or remedial courses and may include performance tasks as well as written products.

(ii) The superintendent shall develop protocols for submission of the collection of work samples that include affidavits from the applicant's teachers and school district that the samples are the work of the applicant and a requirement that a portion of the samples be prepared under the direct supervision of a classroom teacher.

(iii) The superintendent shall develop uniform scoring criteria for evaluating the collection of work samples. Collections shall be scored at the state level or regionally by a panel of educators selected and trained by the superintendent to ensure objectivity, reliability, and rigor in the evaluation. An educator may not score work samples submitted by applicants from the educator's school district. If the panel awards an applicant's collection of work samples the minimum required score, the applicant shall be deemed to have met the state standard on the alternative assessment.

(c) An evaluation of a collection of work samples prepared and submitted by an applicant who is enrolled in a career and technical education program approved under section 2 of this act, as provided in this subsection and subsection (3)(b). To meet the state standard on the alternative assessment under this subsection (3)(c), an applicant must also attain the state or nationally recognized certificate or credential associated with the approved career and technical program. The superintendent of public instruction shall develop guidelines for the collection of work samples that evidences that the collection:

(i) Is relevant to the student's particular career and technical program;

(ii) Focuses on the application of academic knowledge and skills within the program;

(iii) Includes completed activities or projects where demonstration of academic knowledge is inferred; and

(iv) Is related to the essential academic learning requirements and state standards that students must meet to earn a certificate of academic achievement or certificate of individual achievement, but also represents the knowledge and skills that successful individuals in the career and technical field of the approved program are expected to possess.

(4) In developing the work samples for subsection (3)(c), the superintendent shall consult with community and technical colleges, employers, the work force training and education coordinating board, apprenticeship programs, and other regional and national experts in career and technical education to create an appropriate collection of work samples and other evidence of a career and technical student's knowledge and skills on the state academic standards.

(5) The superintendent of public instruction shall implement:

(a) By June 1, 2006, a process for students to appeal the score they received on the high school assessments; and

(b) By January 1, 2007, guidelines and appeal processes for waiving specific requirements in RCW 28A.655.061 pertaining to the certificate of academic achievement and to the certificate of individual achievement for students who:

(i) Transfer to a Washington public school in their junior or senior year with the intent of obtaining a public high school diploma, or

(ii) have special, unavoidable circumstances.

(6)(a) The superintendent of public instruction shall study the feasibility of using existing mathematics assessments in languages other than English as an additional alternative assessment option. The study shall include an estimation of the cost of translating the tenth grade mathematics assessment into other languages and scoring the assessments should they be implemented.

(b) The superintendent of public instruction shall begin development of an additional alternative assessment option for mathematics that: presents the mathematics essential learnings in segments for assessment; is comparable in content and rigor to the tenth grade mathematics assessment when all segments are considered together; is reliable and valid; and can be used to determine a student's academic performance level.

(7) The superintendent of public instruction may adopt rules to implement this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2 A new section is added to chapter 28C.04 RCW to read as follows:

The superintendent of public instruction shall develop a list of approved career and technical education programs that qualify for the objective alternative assessment for career and technical students developed under section 1 of this act. Programs on the list must meet the following minimum criteria:

(1) Lead to a certificate or credential that is state or nationally recognized by trades, industries, or other professional associations as necessary for employment or advancement in that field;

(2) Require a sequenced progression of multiple courses, both exploratory and preparatory, that are vocationally intensive and rigorous; and

(3) Have a high potential for providing the program completer with gainful employment or entry into a postsecondary work force training program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3 A new section is added to chapter 28A.655 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Beginning with the high school graduating class of 2008, a certificate of academic progress shall be available to students who have completed all state and local requirements for high school graduation except obtaining a certificate of academic achievement under RCW 28A.655.061 or a certificate of individual achievement under RCW 28A.155.045. The certificate of academic progress is not the equivalent of a high school diploma, but enables students to participate in commencement ceremonies upon meeting the criteria in this section.

(2) To be eligible for a certificate of academic progress, a student must:

(a) Pass all state and local high school graduation requirements except for obtaining a certificate of academic achievement or a certificate of individual achievement and must have taken at least one retake;

(b) Maintain at least a ninety percent attendance level during the senior year of high school, however the school district superintendent may waive this requirement upon the student providing documentation of circumstances such as illness that warrant waiving this requirement; and

(c) Meet with counselors, teachers, and parents, as appropriate, to update the student's high school and beyond plan.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) By January 2007, the superintendent of public instruction shall report the following, in detail, to the education committees of the legislature:

(a) The guidelines, protocols, and procedures used by the superintendent in implementing the alternative assessments, particularly the collection of evidence;

(b) A description of the training to be provided for school districts, educators serving on scoring panels, and teachers assisting students with collections of work samples;

(c) Updated data on the number of students using or likely to be eligible to use the alternative assessment methods; and

The funds shall be used to provide additional support to counties for mental health or substance abuse treatment for persons with methamphetamine addiction. Local governments receiving funds under this section may not use the funds to supplant existing funding.

(2) Counties receiving funding shall: (a) Provide a financial plan for the expenditure of any potential funds prior to funds being awarded; (b) report annually to the appropriate committees of the legislature regarding the number of clients served, services provided, and a statement of expenditures; and (c) expend no more than ten percent for administrative costs or for information technology.

drug prosecution assistance at a minimum of four million dollars.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 104 (1) It is the intent of the legislature to provide assistance for jurisdictions enforcing illegal drug laws that have historically been underserved by federally funded state narcotics task forces and are considered to be major transport areas of narcotics traffickers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 105 Three pilot enforcement areas shall be established for a period of four fiscal years, beginning July 1, 2006, and ending June 30, 2010, with one in the southwestern region of the state, comprising of Pacific, Wahkiakum, Lewis, Grays Harbor, and Cowlitz counties; one in the southeastern region of the state, comprising of Walla Walla, Columbia, Garfield, and Asotin counties; and one in the northeastern part of the state, comprising of Stevens, Ferry, Pend Oreille, and Lincoln counties. It is the intent of the legislature that those counties that have not previously received significant federal narcotics task force funding shall be allocated funding for at least one additional sheriff's deputy. (23) "Threshold detection level" means the level at which the presence of a drug or alcohol can be reasonably expected to be detected by an initial and confirmation test performed by a laboratory meeting the standards specified in this chapter. (a) Is certified by the division of alcohol and substance abuse of the department as provided in section 212 of this act. The employer must maintain an alcohol and drug-free workplace program in accordance with the standards, procedures, and rules established in or under this chapter. If the employer fails to maintain the program as required, the employer shall not qualify for the premium discount provided under this section;

(b) Is in good standing and remains in good standing with the department of labor and industries with respect to the employer's workers' compensation premium obligations and any other premiums and assessments under Title 51 RCW; and

(c) Has medical insurance available to its full-time employees through an employer, union, or jointly sponsored medical plan.

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(2) The premium discount must remain in effect as long as the employer is certified under section 212 of this act, up to a maximum of three years from the date of initial certification.

(3) A certified employer may discontinue operating a drug-free workplace program at any time. The qualification for a premium discount shall expire in accordance with decertification rules adopted by the department under section 212 of this act.

(4) An employer whose drug-free workplace program reasonably meets, as of July 1, 2006, all the requirements for the premium discount provided in this section is not eligible for certification, except that an employer who has had in place for two years prior to the effective date of this section a drug-free workplace program that meets the requirements of section 203 of this act, but whose policy allows termination for an employee's first verified positive test, shall qualify for a two percent workers' compensation premium discount under Title 51 RCW upon adding a provision for job continuation through a last chance agreement following a first verified positive alcohol or drug test, as required by section 207(1)(b) of this act.

(5) Nothing in this chapter creates or alters an obligation on the part of an employer seeking to participate in this program to bargain with a collective bargaining representative of its employees.

(6) An employer may not receive premium discounts from the department of labor and industries under more than one premium discount program. For purposes of this chapter, the retrospective rating program is not considered a premium discount. An employer participating in and meeting all of the requirements for the discount provided in this section and also participating in another premium discount program offered by the department of labor and industries is only entitled to the premium discount that is the highest.

(7) The department of labor and industries will notify self-insured employers of the value of drug-free workplace programs and encourage them to implement programs that are in accord with section 203 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 203 (1) A drug-free workplace program established under this chapter must contain all of the following elements:

(a) A written policy statement in compliance with section 204 of this act;

(b) Substance abuse testing in compliance with section 205 of this act;

(c) An employee assistance program in compliance with section 206 of this act;

(d) Employee education in compliance with section 208 of this act; and

(e) Supervisor training in compliance with section 209 of this act.

(2) In addition to the requirements of subsection (1) of this section, a drug-free workplace program established under this chapter must be implemented in compliance with the confidentiality standards provided in section 211 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 204 (1) An alcohol and drug-free workplace program established under this chapter must contain a written substance abuse policy statement in order to qualify for the premium discount provided under section 202 of this act. The policy must:

(a) Notify employees that the use or being under any influence of alcohol during working hours is prohibited;

(b) Notify employees that the use, purchase, possession, or transfer of drugs or having drugs in their system is prohibited and that prescription or nonprescription medications are not prohibited when taken in accordance with a lawful prescription or consistent with standard dosage recommendations;

(c) Identify the types of testing an employee or job applicant may be required to submit to or other basis used to determine when such a test will be required;

THIRTY-THIRD DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(d) Identify the actions the employer may take against an employee or job applicant on the basis of a verified positive test result;

(e) Contain a statement advising an employee or job applicant of the existence of this chapter;

(f) Contain a general statement concerning confidentiality;

(g) Identify the consequences of refusing to submit to a drug test;

(h) Contain a statement advising an employee of the employee assistance program;

(i) Contain a statement that an employee or job applicant who receives a verified positive test result may contest or explain the result to the employer within five working days after receiving written notification of the positive test result;

(j) Contain a statement informing an employee of the provisions of the federal drug-free workplace act, if applicable to the employer; and

(k) Notify employees that the employer may discipline an employee for failure to report an injury in the workplace.

(2) An employer not having a substance abuse testing program in effect on July 1, 2006, shall ensure that at least sixty days elapse between a general one-time notice to all employees that a substance abuse testing program is being implemented and the beginning of the actual testing. An employer having a substance abuse testing program in place before July 1, 2006, is not required to provide a sixty-day notice period.

(3) An employer shall include notice of substance abuse testing to all job applicants. A notice of the employer's substance abuse testing policy must also be posted in an appropriate and conspicuous location on the employer's premises, and copies of the policy must be made available for inspection by the employees or job applicants of the employer during regular business hours in the employer's personnel office or other suitable locations. An employer with employees or job applicants who have trouble communicating in English shall make reasonable efforts to help the employees understand the policy statement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 205 (1) In conducting substance abuse testing under this chapter, the employer must comply with the standards and procedures established in this chapter and all applicable rules adopted by the department under this chapter and must:

(a) Require job applicants to submit to a drug test after extending an offer of employment. The employer may use a refusal to submit to a drug test or a verified positive test as a basis for not hiring the job applicant;

(b) Investigate each workplace injury that results in a worker needing off-site medical attention and require an employee to submit to drug and alcohol tests if the employer reasonably believes the employee has caused or contributed to an injury which resulted in the need for off-site medical attention. An employer need not require that an employee submit to drug and alcohol tests if a supervisor, trained in accordance with section 209 of this act, reasonably believes that the injury was due to the inexperience of the employee or due to a defective or unsafe product or working condition, or other circumstances beyond the control of the employee. Under this chapter, a first-time verified positive test result may not be used as a basis to terminate an employee's employment. However, nothing in this section prohibits an employee from being terminated for reasons other than the positive test result;

(c) If the employee in the course of employment is referred to the employee assistance program by the employer as a result of a verified positive drug or alcohol test or an alcohol or drug-related incident in violation of employer rules, require the employee to submit to drug and alcohol testing in conjunction with any recommended rehabilitation program. If the employee assistance program determines that the employee does not require treatment services, the employee must still be required to participate in follow-up testing. However, if an employee voluntarily enters an employee assistance program, without a verified positive drug or alcohol test or a violation of any drug or alcohol related employer rule, follow-up testing is not required. If follow-up testing is conducted, the frequency of the testing shall be at least four times a year for a two-year period after completion of the rehabilitation program and advance notice of the testing date may not be given. A verified positive follow-up test result shall normally require termination of employment.

(2) This section does not prohibit an employer from conducting other drug or alcohol testing, such as upon reasonable suspicion or a random basis.

(3) Specimen collection and substance abuse testing under this section must be performed in accordance with regulations and procedures approved by the United States department of health and human services and the United States department of transportation regulations for alcohol and drug testing and must include testing for marijuana, cocaine, amphetamines, opiates, and phencyclidine. Employers may test for any drug listed in section 201(7) of this act.

(a) A specimen must be collected with due regard to the privacy of the individual providing the specimen and in a manner reasonably calculated to prevent substitution or contamination of the specimen.

(b) Specimen collection and analysis must be documented. The documentation procedures must include:

(i) Labeling of specimen containers so as to reasonably preclude the likelihood of erroneous identification of test results; and

(ii) An opportunity for the employee or job applicant to provide to a medical review officer information the employee or applicant considers relevant to the drug test, including identification of currently or recently used prescription or nonprescription medication or other relevant medical information.

(c) Specimen collection, storage, and transportation to the testing site must be performed in a manner that reasonably precludes specimen contamination or adulteration.

(d) An initial and confirmation test conducted under this section, not including the taking or collecting of a specimen to be tested, must be conducted by a laboratory as described in subsection (4) of this section.

(e) A specimen for a test may be taken or collected by any of the following persons:

(i) A physician, a physician's assistant, a registered professional nurse, a licensed practical nurse, a nurse practitioner, or a certified paramedic who is present at the scene of an accident for the purpose of rendering emergency medical service or treatment;

(ii) A qualified person certified or employed by a laboratory certified by the substance abuse and mental health administration or the college of American pathologists; or

(iii) A qualified person certified or employed by a collection company using collection procedures adopted by the United States department of health and human services and the United States department of transportation for alcohol collection.

(f) Within five working days after receipt of a verified positive test result from the laboratory, an employer shall inform an employee or job applicant in writing of the positive test result, the consequences of the result, and the options available to the employee or job applicant.

(g) The employer shall provide to the employee or job applicant, upon request, a copy of the test results.

(h) An initial test having a positive result must be verified by a confirmation test.

(i) An employer who performs drug testing or specimen collection shall use chain of custody procedures to ensure proper recordkeeping, handling, labeling, and identification of all specimens to be tested.

(j) An employer shall pay the cost of all drug or alcohol tests, initial and confirmation, that the employer requires of employees.

THIRTY-THIRD DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(k) An employee or job applicant shall pay the cost of additional tests not required by the employer.

(4)(a) A laboratory may not analyze initial or confirmation drug specimens unless:

(i) The laboratory is approved by the substance abuse and mental health administration or the college of American pathologists;

(ii) The laboratory has written procedures to ensure the chain of custody; and

(iii) The laboratory follows proper quality control procedures including, but not limited to:

(A) The use of internal quality controls including the use of samples of known concentrations that are used to check the performance and calibration of testing equipment, and periodic use of blind samples for overall accuracy;

(B) An internal review and certification process for test results, conducted by a person qualified to perform that function in the testing laboratory;

(C) Security measures implemented by the testing laboratory to preclude adulteration of specimens and test results; and

(D) Other necessary and proper actions taken to ensure reliable and accurate drug test results.

(b) A laboratory shall disclose to the employer a written test result report within seven working days after receipt of the sample. A laboratory report of a substance abuse test result must, at a minimum, state:

(i) The name and address of the laboratory that performed the test and the positive identification of the person tested;

(ii) Positive results on confirmation tests only, or negative results, as applicable;

(iii) A list of the drugs for which the drug analyses were conducted; and

(iv) The type of tests conducted for both initial and confirmation tests and the threshold detection levels of the tests.

A report may not disclose the presence or absence of a drug other than a specific drug and its metabolites listed under this chapter.

(c) A medical review officer shall provide technical assistance to the employer, employee, or job applicant for the purpose of interpreting a positive confirmed drug test result that could have been caused by prescription or nonprescription medication taken by the employee or job applicant. The medical review officer shall interpret and evaluate the laboratory's positive drug test result and eliminate test results that could have been caused by prescription medication or other medically documented sources in accordance with the United States department of health and human services medical review officer manual.

(5) A positive initial drug test must be confirmed using the gas chromatography/mass spectrometry method or an equivalent or more accurate scientifically accepted method approved by the substance abuse and mental health administration as the technology becomes available in a cost-effective form.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 206 (1) The employee assistance program required under this chapter shall provide the employer with a system for dealing with employees whose job performances are declining due to unresolved problems, including alcohol or other drug-related problems, marital problems, or legal or financial problems.

(2) To ensure appropriate assessment and referral to treatment:

(a) The employer must notify the employees of the benefits and services of the employee assistance program;

(b) The employer shall publish notice of the employee assistance program in conspicuous places and explore alternative routine and reinforcing means of publicizing the services; and

(c) The employer shall provide the employee with notice of the policies and procedures regarding access to and use of the employee assistance program.

(3) A list of approved employee assistance programs must be provided by the department according to recognized program standards.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 207 (1)(a) Rehabilitation of employees suffering from either or both alcohol or drug addiction shall be a primary focus of an employee assistance program.

(b) Under any program under this chapter, the employer may not use a first-time verified positive drug or alcohol test as the basis for termination of an employee. After a first-time verified positive test result, the employee must be given an opportunity to keep his or her job through the use of a last-chance agreement. The last-chance agreement shall require an employee to:

(i) Submit to an employee assistance program evaluation for chemical dependency;

(ii) Comply with any treatment recommendations;

(iii) Be subject to follow-up drug and alcohol testing for two years;

(iv) Meet the same standards of performance and conduct that are set for other employees; and

(v) Authorize the employer to receive all relevant information regarding the employee's progress in treatment, if applicable.

Failure to comply with all the terms of this agreement normally will result in termination of employment.

(2) When substance abuse treatment is necessary, employees must use treatment services approved by the department, which include a continuing care component lasting for two years.

(a) The employee assistance program shall monitor the employee's progress while in treatment, including the two-year continuing care component, and notify the employer when an employee is not complying with the program's treatment recommendations.

(b) The employer shall monitor job performance and conduct follow-up testing.

(3) An employer may terminate an employee for the following reasons:

(a) Refusal to submit to a drug or alcohol test;

(b) Refusal to agree to or failure to comply with the conditions of a last-chance agreement;

(c) A second verified positive drug or alcohol test result; or

(d) After the first verified positive drug or alcohol test, any violation of employer rules pertaining to alcohol and drugs.

(4) Nothing in this chapter limits the right of any employer who participates in the worker's compensation premium discount program under this chapter to terminate employment for any other reason.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 208 As part of a program established under this chapter, an employer shall provide all employees with an annual education program on substance abuse, in general, and its effects on the workplace, specifically. An employer with employees who have difficulty communicating in English shall make reasonable efforts to help the employees understand the substance of the education program. An education program for a minimum of one hour should include but is not limited to the following information:

(1) The explanation of the disease model of addiction for alcohol and drugs;

(2) The effects and dangers of the commonly abused substances in the workplace; and

(3) The employer's policies and procedures regarding substance abuse in the workplace and how employees who wish to obtain substance abuse treatment can do so.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 209 In addition to the education program provided in section 208 of this act, an employer shall provide all supervisory personnel with a minimum of two hours of supervisor training, that should include but is not limited to the following information:

(1) How to recognize signs of employee substance abuse;

THIRTY-THIRD DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(2) How to document and collaborate signs of employee substance abuse;

(3) How to refer employees to the employee assistance program or proper treatment providers; and

(4) Circumstances and procedures for postinjury testing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 210 (1) A physician-patient relationship is not created between an employee or job applicant and an employer, medical review officer, or person performing or evaluating a drug or alcohol test solely by the establishment, implementation, or administration of a drug or alcohol testing program.

(2) This chapter may not be construed to prevent an employer from establishing reasonable work rules related to employee possession, use, sale, or solicitation of drugs, including convictions for drug-related offenses, and taking action based upon a violation of any of those rules.

(3) This chapter may not be construed to operate retroactively. This chapter does not abrogate the right of an employer under state or federal law to conduct drug or alcohol tests or implement employee drug or alcohol testing programs. However, only those programs that meet the criteria outlined in this chapter qualify for workers' compensation insurance premiums discounts.

(4) This chapter may not be construed to prohibit an employer from conducting medical screening or other tests required, permitted, or not disallowed by a statute or rule for the purpose of monitoring exposure of employees to toxic or other unhealthy materials in the workplace or in the performance of job responsibilities. The screening or tests must be limited to testing for the specific material expressly identified in the statute or rule, unless prior written consent of the employee is obtained for other tests.

(5) This chapter does not establish a legal duty for employers to conduct alcohol or drug tests of employees or job applicants. A cause of action may not arise in favor of a person based upon the failure of an employer to establish or conduct a program or policy for substance abuse testing or to conduct a program or policy in conformance with the standards and procedures established in this chapter. This chapter does not create individual rights of action and may be enforced only by the department by denial of the workers' compensation premium discount provided in section 202 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 211 Confidentiality standards that apply to substance abuse testing programs implemented under this chapter include the following:

(1) Information, interviews, reports, statements, memoranda, and test results, written or otherwise, received through a substance abuse testing program are confidential communications, and may not be used or received in evidence, obtained in discovery, or disclosed in a civil or administrative proceeding, except as provided in subsection (5) of this section.

(2) An employer, laboratory, medical review officer, employee assistance program, drug or alcohol rehabilitation program, and their agents who receive or have access to information concerning test results shall keep the information confidential, except as provided in subsection (5) of this section.

(3) Any release of the information must be pursuant to a written consent form that complies with RCW 70.02.030 and is signed voluntarily by the person tested, unless the release is compelled by the division of alcohol and substance abuse of the department or a court of competent jurisdiction in accordance with state and federal confidentiality laws, or unless required by a professional or occupational licensing board in a related disciplinary proceeding. Any disclosure by any agency approved by the department must be in accordance with RCW 70.96A.150. The consent form must contain at a minimum:

(a) The name of the person who is authorized to obtain the information;

(b) The purpose of the disclosure;

(c) The precise information to be disclosed;

(d) The duration of the consent; and

(e) The signature of the person authorizing release of the information.

(4) Information on test results may not be released or used in a criminal proceeding against the employee or job applicant. Information released contrary to this subsection is inadmissible as evidence in a criminal proceeding.

(5) Nothing in this chapter prohibits:

(a) An employer from using information concerning an employee or job applicant's substance abuse test results in a lawful manner with respect to that employee or applicant; or

(b) An entity that obtains the information from disclosing or using the information in a lawful manner as part of a matter relating to the substance abuse test, the test result, or an employer action with respect to the job applicant or employee.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 212 The department shall adopt by rule procedures and forms for the certification of employers who establish and maintain a drug-free workplace that complies with this chapter. The department shall adopt by rule procedures for the decertification of employers formally certified for the workers' compensation premium discount provided under this chapter. The department may charge a fee for the certification of a drug-free workplace program in an amount that must approximate its administrative costs related to the certification. Certification of an employer is required for each year in which a premium discount is granted. The department may adopt any other rules necessary for the implementation of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 213 (1) The department of labor and industries may adopt rules necessary for the implementation of this chapter including but not limited to provisions for penalties and repayment of premium discounts by employers that are decertified by the department of social and health services under section 212 of this act.

(2) The department of labor and industries shall conduct an evaluation of the effect of the premium discount provided for under section 202 of this act on workplace safety and the state of Washington industrial insurance fund. The department of labor and industries shall report its preliminary findings to the appropriate committees of the legislature on September 1st of 2007 and 2008 and shall issue a comprehensive final report on December 1, 2009.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 214 The department shall conduct an evaluation to determine the costs and benefits of the program under this chapter. If the department contracts for the performance of any or all of the evaluation, no more than ten percent of the contract amount may be used to cover indirect expenses. The department shall report its preliminary findings to the legislature on September 1st of 2007 and 2008 and shall issue a comprehensive final report on December 1, 2009.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 215 Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter, the total premium discounts available under section 202 of this act shall not exceed five million dollars during any fiscal year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 216 Sections 201 through 215 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 49 RCW.

PART III CLEANUP OF CONTAMINATED PROPERTY

Sec. 301 RCW 64.44.010 and 1999 c 292 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

satisfactorily decontaminated according to procedures established by the state board of health is not "contaminated."

(3) "Department" means the department of health.

(4) "Hazardous chemicals" means the following substances ~~((used in))~~ associated with the ~~illegal~~ manufacture of ~~((illegal drugs))~~ controlled substances: (a) Hazardous substances as defined in RCW 70.105D.020 ~~((and))~~; (b) precursor substances as defined in RCW 69.43.010 which the state board of health, in consultation with the state board of pharmacy, has determined present an immediate or long-term health hazard to humans; and (c) the controlled substance or substances being manufactured, as defined in RCW 69.50.101.

~~((4))~~ (5) "Officer" means a local health officer authorized under chapters 70.05, 70.08, and 70.46 RCW.

~~((5))~~ (6) "Property" means any real or personal property, ((site, structure, or part of a structure which)) or segregable part thereof, that is involved in or affected by the unauthorized manufacture, distribution, or storage of hazardous chemicals. This includes but is not limited to single-family residences, units of multiplexes, condominiums, apartment buildings, motels, hotels, boats, motor vehicles, trailers, manufactured housing, ((or)) any shop, booth, ((or)) garden, or storage shed, and all contents of the items referenced in this subsection.

Sec. 302 RCW 64.44.020 and 1999 c 292 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

Whenever a law enforcement agency becomes aware that property has been contaminated by hazardous chemicals, that agency shall report the contamination to the local health officer. The local health officer shall ~~((post))~~ cause a posting of a written warning on the premises within one working day of notification of the contamination and shall inspect the property within fourteen days after receiving the notice of contamination. The warning shall inform the potential occupants that hazardous chemicals may exist on, or have been removed from, the premises and that entry is unsafe. If a property owner believes that a tenant has contaminated property that was being leased or rented, and the property is vacated or abandoned, then the property owner shall contact the local health officer about the possible contamination. Local health officers or boards may charge property owners reasonable fees for inspections of suspected contaminated property requested by property owners.

A local health officer may enter, inspect, and survey at reasonable times any properties for which there are reasonable grounds to believe that the property has become contaminated. If the property is contaminated, the local health officer shall post a written notice declaring that the officer intends to issue an order prohibiting use of the property as long as the property is contaminated.

If access to the property is denied, a local health officer in consultation with law enforcement may seek a warrant for the purpose of conducting administrative inspections. A superior, district, or municipal court within the jurisdiction of the property may, based upon probable cause that the property is contaminated, issue warrants for the purpose of conducting administrative inspections.

Local health officers must report all cases of contaminated property to the state department of health. The department may make the list of contaminated properties available to health associations, landlord and realtor organizations, prosecutors, and other interested groups. The department shall promptly update the list of contaminated properties to remove those which have been decontaminated according to provisions of this chapter.

The local health officer may determine when the services of an authorized contractor are necessary.

Sec. 303 RCW 64.44.030 and 1999 c 292 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If after the inspection of the property, the local health officer finds that it is contaminated, then the ~~((property shall be found unfit for))~~ local health officer shall issue an order declaring the property unfit and prohibiting its use. The local health officer shall cause the order to be served ((an order

2006 REGULAR SESSION

~~prohibiting use))~~ either personally or by certified mail, with return receipt requested, upon all occupants and persons having any interest therein as shown upon the records of the auditor's office of the county in which such property is located. The local health officer shall also ~~((post))~~ cause the order ~~((prohibiting use))~~ to be posted in a conspicuous place on the property. If the whereabouts of such persons is unknown and the same cannot be ascertained by the local health officer in the exercise of reasonable diligence, and the health officer makes an affidavit to that effect, then the serving of the order upon such persons may be made either by personal service or by mailing a copy of the order by certified mail, postage prepaid, return receipt requested, to each person at the address appearing on the last equalized tax assessment roll of the county where the property is located or at the address known to the county assessor, and the order shall be posted conspicuously at the residence. A copy of the order shall also be mailed, addressed to each person or party having a recorded right, title, estate, lien, or interest in the property. The order shall contain a notice that a hearing before the local health board or officer shall be held upon the request of a person required to be notified of the order under this section. The request for a hearing must be made within ten days of serving the order. The hearing shall then be held within not less than twenty days nor more than thirty days after the serving of the order. The officer shall prohibit use as long as the property is found to be contaminated. A copy of the order shall also be filed with the auditor of the county in which the property is located, where the order pertains to real property, and such filing of the complaint or order shall have the same force and effect as other lis pendens notices provided by law. In any hearing concerning whether property is fit for use, the property owner has the burden of showing that the property is decontaminated or fit for use. The owner or any person having an interest in the property may file an appeal on any order issued by the local health board or officer within thirty days from the date of service of the order with the appeals commission established pursuant to RCW 35.80.030. All proceedings before the appeals commission, including any subsequent appeals to superior court, shall be governed by the procedures established in chapter 35.80 RCW.

(2) If the local health officer determines immediate action is necessary to protect public health, safety, or the environment, the officer may issue or cause to be issued an emergency order, and any person to whom such an order is directed shall comply immediately. Emergency orders issued pursuant to this section shall expire no later than seventy-two hours after issuance and shall not impair the health officer from seeking an order under subsection (1) of this section.

Sec. 304 RCW 64.44.040 and 1999 c 292 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

The city or county may use an authorized contractor if property is demolished, decontaminated, or removed under this section. The city, county, or contractor shall comply with all orders of the health officer during these processes. No city or county may condemn, decontaminate, or demolish property pursuant to this section until all procedures granting the right of notice and the opportunity to appeal in RCW 64.44.030 have been exhausted, but may prohibit use, occupancy, or removal of contaminated property pending appeal of the order.

(2)(a) It is unlawful for any person to enter upon any property, or to remove any property, that has been found unfit for use by a local health officer pursuant to RCW 64.44.030.

The local health officer may charge a reasonable fee for review of the work plan. If the work plan is approved and the decontamination, demolition, or disposal is completed and the property is retested according to the plan and properly documented, then the health officer shall allow reuse of the property. A release for reuse document shall be recorded in the real property records indicating the property has been decontaminated, demolished, or disposed of in accordance with rules of the state department of health. The property owner is responsible for: (a) The costs of any property testing which may be required to demonstrate the presence or absence of hazardous chemicals; and (b) the costs of the property's decontamination, demolition, and disposal expenses, as well as costs incurred by the local health officer resulting from the enforcement of this chapter.

(2) The local health officer has thirty days from the issuance of an order declaring a property unfit and prohibiting its use to establish a reasonable timeline for decontamination. The department of health shall establish the factors to be considered by the local health officer in establishing the appropriate amount of time.

The local health officer shall notify the property owner of the proposed time frame by United States mail to the last known address. Notice shall be postmarked no later than the thirtieth day from the issuance of the order. The property owner may request a modification of the time frame by submitting a letter identifying the circumstances which justify such an extension to the local health officer within thirty-five days of the date of the postmark on the notification regardless of when received.

Sec. 306 RCW 64.44.060 and 1999 c 292 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

PART IV CRIMINAL SANCTIONS AND PROCEDURE

Sec. 401 RCW 9.94A.533 and 2003 c 53 s 58 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The provisions of this section apply to the standard sentence ranges determined by RCW 9.94A.510 or 9.94A.517.

(2) For persons convicted of the anticipatory offenses of criminal attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy under chapter 9A.28 RCW, the standard sentence range is determined by locating the sentencing grid sentence range defined by the appropriate offender score and the seriousness level of the completed crime, and multiplying the range by seventy-five percent.

(3) The following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range for felony crimes committed after July 23, 1995, if the offender or an accomplice was armed with a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any firearm enhancements based on the classification of the completed felony crime. If the offender is being sentenced for more than one offense, the firearm enhancement or enhancements must be added to the total period of confinement for all offenses, regardless of which underlying offense is subject to a firearm enhancement. If the offender or an accomplice was armed with a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any firearm enhancements, the following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range determined under subsection (2) of this section based on the felony crime of conviction as classified under RCW 9A.28.020:

(a) Five years for any felony defined under any law as a class A felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of at least twenty years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(b) Three years for any felony defined under any law as a class B felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of ten years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(c) Eighteen months for any felony defined under any law as a class C felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of five years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(d) If the offender is being sentenced for any firearm enhancements under (a), (b), and/or (c) of this subsection and the offender has previously been sentenced for any deadly weapon enhancements after July 23, 1995, under (a), (b), and/or (c) of this subsection or subsection (4)(a), (b), and/or (c) of this section, or both, all firearm enhancements under this subsection shall be twice the amount of the enhancement listed;

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all firearm enhancements under this section are mandatory, shall be served in total confinement, and shall run consecutively to all other sentencing provisions, including other firearm or deadly weapon enhancements, for all offenses sentenced under this chapter. However, whether or not a mandatory minimum term has expired, an offender serving a sentence under this subsection may be granted an extraordinary medical placement when authorized under RCW 9.94A.728(4);

(f) The firearm enhancements in this section shall apply to all felony crimes except the following: Possession of a machine gun, possession of a stolen firearm, drive-by shooting, theft of a firearm, unlawful possession of a firearm in the first and second degree, and use of a machine gun in a felony;

(g) If the standard sentence range under this section exceeds the statutory maximum sentence for the offense, the statutory maximum sentence shall be the presumptive sentence unless the offender is a persistent offender. If the addition of a firearm enhancement increases the sentence so that it would exceed the statutory maximum for the offense, the portion of the sentence representing the enhancement may not be reduced.

(4) The following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range for felony crimes committed after July 23, 1995, if the offender or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon other than a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any deadly weapon enhancements based on the classification of the completed felony crime. If the offender is being sentenced for more than one offense, the deadly weapon enhancement or enhancements must be added to the total period of confinement for all offenses, regardless of which underlying offense is subject to a deadly weapon enhancement. If the offender or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon other than a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any deadly weapon enhancements, the following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range determined under subsection (2) of this section based on the felony crime of conviction as classified under RCW 9A.28.020:

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(a) Two years for any felony defined under any law as a class A felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of at least twenty years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(b) One year for any felony defined under any law as a class B felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of ten years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(d) If the offender is being sentenced under (a), (b), and/or (c) of this subsection for any deadly weapon enhancements and the offender has previously been sentenced for any deadly weapon enhancements after July 23, 1995, under (a), (b), and/or (c) of this subsection or subsection (3)(a), (b), and/or (c) of this section, or both, all deadly weapon enhancements under this subsection shall be twice the amount of the enhancement listed;

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all deadly weapon enhancements under this section are mandatory, shall be served in total confinement, and shall run consecutively to all other sentencing provisions, including other firearm or deadly weapon enhancements, for all offenses sentenced under this chapter. However, whether or not a mandatory minimum term has expired, an offender serving a sentence under this subsection may be granted an extraordinary medical placement when authorized under RCW 9.94A.728(4);

(f) The deadly weapon enhancements in this section shall apply to all felony crimes except the following: Possession of a machine gun, possessing a stolen firearm, drive-by shooting, theft of a firearm, unlawful possession of a firearm in the first and second degree, and use of a machine gun in a felony;

(g) If the standard sentence range under this section exceeds the statutory maximum sentence for the offense, the statutory maximum sentence shall be the presumptive sentence unless the offender is a persistent offender. If the addition of a deadly weapon enhancement increases the sentence so that it would exceed the statutory maximum for the offense, the portion of the sentence representing the enhancement may not be reduced.

(5) The following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range if the offender or an accomplice committed the offense while in a county jail or state correctional facility and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection. If the offender or an accomplice committed one of the crimes listed in this subsection while in a county jail or state correctional facility, and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection, the following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range determined under subsection (2) of this section:

(b) Fifteen months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(2) (c), (d), or (e);

(c) Twelve months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.4013.

For the purposes of this subsection, all of the real property of a state correctional facility or county jail shall be deemed to be part of that facility or county jail.

(6) An additional twenty-four months shall be added to the standard sentence range for any ranked offense involving a violation of chapter 69.50 RCW if the offense was also a violation of RCW 69.50.435 or 9.94A.605. All enhancements under this subsection shall run consecutively to all other sentencing provisions, for all offenses sentenced under this chapter.

(7) An additional two years shall be added to the standard sentence range for vehicular homicide committed while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug as defined by RCW 46.61.502 for each prior offense as defined in RCW 46.61.5055.

Sec. 402 RCW 9.94A.660 and 2005 c 460 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An offender is eligible for the special drug offender sentencing alternative if:

(a) The offender is convicted of a felony that is not a violent offense or sex offense and the violation does not involve a sentence enhancement under RCW 9.94A.533 (3) or (4);

(b) The offender has no current or prior convictions for a sex offense at any time or violent offense within ten years before conviction of the current offense, in this state, another state, or the United States;

(c) For a violation of the Uniform Controlled Substances Act under chapter 69.50 RCW or a criminal solicitation to commit such a violation under chapter 9A.28 RCW, the offense involved only a small quantity of the particular controlled substance as determined by the judge upon consideration of such factors as the weight, purity, packaging, sale price, and street value of the controlled substance;

(d) The offender has not been found by the United States attorney general to be subject to a deportation detainer or order and does not become subject to a deportation order during the period of the sentence;

(e) The standard sentence range for the current offense is greater than one year; and

(f) The offender has not received a drug offender sentencing alternative more than once in the prior ten years before the current offense.

(2) A motion for a sentence under this section may be made by the court, the offender, or the state. If the sentencing court determines that the offender is eligible for this alternative, the court may order an examination of the offender. The examination shall, at a minimum, address the following issues:

(a) Whether the offender suffers from drug addiction;

(b) Whether the addiction is such that there is a probability that criminal behavior will occur in the future;

(c) Whether effective treatment for the offender's addiction is available from a provider that has been licensed or certified by the division of alcohol and substance abuse of the department of social and health services; and

(d) Whether the offender and the community will benefit from the use of the alternative.

(3) The examination report must contain:

(a) Information on the issues required to be addressed in subsection (2) of this section; and

(b) A proposed treatment plan that must, at a minimum, contain:

(i) A proposed treatment provider that has been licensed or certified by the division of alcohol and substance abuse of the department of social and health services;

(ii) The recommended frequency and length of treatment, including both residential chemical dependency treatment and treatment in the community;

(iii) A proposed monitoring plan, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members and others; and

(iv) Recommended crime-related prohibitions and affirmative conditions.

(4) After receipt of the examination report, if the court determines that a sentence under this section is appropriate, the court shall waive imposition of a sentence within the standard sentence range and impose a sentence consisting of either a prison-based alternative under subsection (5) of this section or a residential chemical dependency treatment-based alternative under subsection (6) of this section. The residential chemical dependency treatment-based alternative is only available if the midpoint of the standard range is twenty-four months or less.

(5) The prison-based alternative shall include:

(a) A period of total confinement in a state facility for one-half of the midpoint of the standard sentence range or twelve months, whichever is greater. During incarceration in the state facility, offenders sentenced under this subsection shall undergo a comprehensive substance abuse assessment and receive, within available resources, treatment services appropriate for the offender. The treatment services shall be designed by the division of alcohol and substance abuse of the department of social and health services, in cooperation with the department of corrections;

THIRTY-THIRD DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(b) The remainder of the midpoint of the standard range as a term of community custody which must include appropriate substance abuse treatment in a program that has been approved by the division of alcohol and substance abuse of the department of social and health services. If the department finds that conditions have been willfully violated, the offender may be reclassified to serve the remaining balance of the original sentence. An offender who fails to complete the program or who is administratively terminated from the program shall be reclassified to serve the unexpired term of his or her sentence as ordered by the sentencing court;

(c) Crime-related prohibitions including a condition not to use illegal controlled substances;

(d) A requirement to submit to urinalysis or other testing to monitor that status; and

(e) A term of community custody pursuant to RCW 9.94A.715 to be imposed upon failure to complete or administrative termination from the special drug offender sentencing alternative program.

(6) The residential chemical dependency treatment-based alternative shall include:

(a) A term of community custody equal to one-half of the midpoint of the standard sentence range or two years, whichever is greater, conditioned on the offender entering and remaining in residential chemical dependency treatment certified under chapter 70.96A RCW for a period set by the court between three and six months. If the court imposes a term of community custody, the department shall, within available resources, make chemical dependency assessment and treatment services available to the offender during the term of community custody. The court shall impose, as conditions of community custody, treatment and other conditions as proposed in the plan under subsection (3)(b) of this section. The department may impose conditions and sanctions as authorized in RCW 9.94A.715 (2), (3), (6), and (7), 9.94A.737, and 9.94A.740. The court shall schedule a progress hearing during the period of residential chemical dependency treatment, and schedule a treatment termination hearing for three months before the expiration of the term of community custody;

(b) Before the progress hearing and treatment termination hearing, the treatment provider and the department shall submit written reports to the court and parties regarding the offender's compliance with treatment and monitoring requirements, and recommendations regarding termination from treatment. At the hearing, the court may:

(i) Authorize the department to terminate the offender's community custody status on the expiration date determined under (a) of this subsection; or

(ii) Continue the hearing to a date before the expiration date of community custody, with or without modifying the conditions of community custody; or

(iii) Impose a term of total confinement equal to one-half the midpoint of the standard sentence range, followed by a term of community custody under RCW 9.94A.715;

(c) If the court imposes a term of total confinement under (b)(iii) of this subsection, the department shall, within available resources, make chemical dependency assessment and treatment services available to the offender during the terms of total confinement and community custody.

(7) If the court imposes a sentence under this section, the court may prohibit the offender from using alcohol or controlled substances and may require that the monitoring for controlled substances be conducted by the department or by a treatment alternatives to street crime program or a comparable court or agency-referred program. The offender may be required to pay thirty dollars per month while on community custody to offset the cost of monitoring. In addition, the court may impose any of the following conditions:

(a) Devote time to a specific employment or training;

(b) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer before any change in the offender's address or employment;

(c) Report as directed to a community corrections officer;

(d) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations;

(e) Perform community restitution work;

(f) Stay out of areas designated by the sentencing court;

(g) Such other conditions as the court may require such as affirmative conditions.

(8)(a) The court may bring any offender sentenced under this section back into court at any time on its own initiative to evaluate the offender's progress in treatment or to determine if any violations of the conditions of the sentence have occurred.

(b) If the offender is brought back to court, the court may modify the terms of the community custody or impose sanctions under (c) of this subsection.

(c) The court may order the offender to serve a term of total confinement within the standard range of the offender's current offense at any time during the period of community custody if the offender violates the conditions of the sentence or if the offender is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment.

(d) An offender ordered to serve a term of total confinement under (c) of this subsection shall receive credit for any time previously served under this section.

(9) If an offender sentenced to the prison-based alternative under subsection (5) of this section is found by the United States attorney general to be subject to a deportation order, a hearing shall be held by the department unless waived by the offender, and, if the department finds that the offender is subject to a valid deportation order, the department may administratively terminate the offender from the program and reclassify the offender to serve the remaining balance of the original sentence.

(10) An offender sentenced under this section shall be subject to all rules relating to earned release time with respect to any period served in total confinement.

(11) Costs of examinations and preparing treatment plans under subsections (2) and (3) of this section may be paid, at the option of the county, from funds provided to the county from the criminal justice treatment account under RCW 70.96A.350.

Sec. 403 RCW 9.94A.500 and 2000 c 75 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Before imposing a sentence upon a defendant, the court shall conduct a sentencing hearing. The sentencing hearing shall be held within forty court days following conviction. Upon the motion of either party for good cause shown, or on its own motion, the court may extend the time period for conducting the sentencing hearing.

Except in cases where the defendant shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement for life without the possibility of release or, when authorized by RCW 10.95.030 for the crime of aggravated murder in the first degree, sentenced to death, the court may order the department to complete a risk assessment report. If available before sentencing, the report shall be provided to the court.

Unless specifically waived by the court, the court shall order the department to complete a chemical dependency screening report before imposing a sentence upon a defendant who has been convicted of a violation of the uniform controlled substances act under chapter 69.50 RCW (~~(or)~~), a criminal solicitation to commit such a violation under chapter 9A.28 RCW, or any felony where the court finds that the offender has a chemical dependency that has contributed to his or her offense. In addition, the court shall, at the time of plea or conviction, order the department to complete a presentence report before imposing a sentence upon a defendant who has been convicted of a felony sexual offense. The department of corrections shall give priority to presentence investigations for sexual offenders. If the court determines that the defendant may be a mentally ill person as defined in RCW 71.24.025, although the defendant has not established that at the time of the crime he or she lacked the capacity to commit the crime, was incompetent to commit the crime, or was insane at the time of the crime, the court shall order the department to complete a presentence report before imposing a sentence.

The court shall consider the risk assessment report and presentence reports, if any, including any victim impact statement and criminal history, and allow arguments from the prosecutor, the defense counsel, the offender, the victim, the survivor of the victim, or a representative of the victim or survivor, and an investigative law enforcement officer as to the sentence to be imposed.

If the court is satisfied by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant has a criminal history, the court shall specify the convictions it has found to exist. All of this information shall be part of the record. Copies of all risk assessment reports and presentence reports presented to the sentencing court and all written findings of facts and conclusions of law as to sentencing entered by the court shall be sent to the department by the clerk of the court at the conclusion of the sentencing and shall accompany the offender if the offender is committed to the custody of the department. Court clerks shall provide, without charge, certified copies of documents relating to criminal convictions requested by prosecuting attorneys.

(2) To prevent wrongful disclosure of information related to mental health services, as defined in RCW 71.05.445 and ~~((71.34.225))~~71.34.345, a court may take only those steps necessary during a sentencing hearing or any hearing in which the department presents information related to mental health services to the court. The steps may be taken on motion of the defendant, the prosecuting attorney, or on the court's own motion. The court may seal the portion of the record relating to information relating to mental health services, exclude the public from the hearing during presentation or discussion of information relating to mental health services, or grant other relief to achieve the result intended by this subsection, but nothing in this subsection shall be construed to prevent the subsequent release of information related to mental health services as authorized by RCW 71.05.445, ~~((71.34.225))~~ 71.34.345, or 72.09.585. Any person who otherwise is permitted to attend any hearing pursuant to chapter 7.69 or 7.69A RCW shall not be excluded from the hearing solely because the department intends to disclose or discloses information related to mental health services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 404 The Washington institute for public policy shall conduct a study of criminal sentencing provisions of neighboring states for all crimes involving methamphetamine. The institute shall report to the legislature on any criminal sentencing increases necessary under Washington law to reduce or remove any incentives methamphetamine traffickers and manufacturers may have to locate in Washington. The report shall be completed by January 1, 2007.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 405 The Washington institute for public policy shall conduct a study of the drug offender sentencing alternative. (2) The rules may require prior notice be provided before an oil transfer, regulated under this chapter, occurs in situations defined by the department as posing a higher risk. The notice may include the time, location, and volume of the oil transfer. The rules may not require prior notice when marine fuel outlets are transferring less than three thousand gallons of oil in a single transaction to a ship that is not a covered vessel and the transfers are scheduled less than four hours in advance. However, this section shall not be construed to prevent the department from requiring prior notice on a case-by-case basis when elevated risks have been documented.

(3) The department may require semiannual reporting of volumes of oil transferred to ships by a marine fuel outlet.

(4) The rules may require additional measures to be taken in conjunction with the deployment of containment equipment or with the alternatives to deploying containment equipment. However, these measures must be scaled appropriately to the risks posed by the oil transfer.

The department shall by rule adopt procedures to determine the adequacy of contingency plans approved under RCW 88.46.060. The rules shall require random practice drills without prior notice that will test the adequacy of the responding entities. The rules may provide for unannounced practice drills of individual contingency plans. The department shall review and publish a report on the drills, including an assessment of response time and available equipment and personnel compared to those listed in the contingency plans relying on the responding entities, and requirements, if any, for changes in the plans or their implementation. The department may require additional drills and changes in arrangements for implementing approved plans which are necessary to ensure their effective implementation.

2006 REGULAR SESSION

Senator Esser moved adoption of the following resolution:

At 11:58 a.m., on motion of Senator Eide, the Senate was declared to be at ease subject to the call of the President.

SENATE RESOLUTION
8704AFTERNOON SESSION

By Senator Esser

The Senate was called to order at 2:00 p.m. by President Owen.

WHEREAS, Colorectal cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths in men and women in the United States; and

WHEREAS, In the United States alone, over 145,000 people are diagnosed with and over 55,000 people die of colorectal cancer every year; and

WHEREAS, It is estimated that in Washington State, 3,000 people are diagnosed with and 1,000 people will die every year of colorectal cancer; and

WHEREAS, Colorectal cancer affects people regardless of age, race, or sex. Nine out of ten diagnoses will occur in people aged 50 and older. Men are slightly more likely to be diagnosed with colorectal cancer than women. Also, African-Americans are 10% more likely to be diagnosed with colorectal cancer than Caucasians and 30% more likely to die of the disease; and

WHEREAS, Despite its high incidence, colorectal cancer is one of the most detectable and, if found early, most treatable forms of cancer. Ninety percent of those diagnosed early, while the cancer is still localized, survive more than five years. Sadly, only 37% of all colorectal cancers are detected early enough for survival to occur. When the cancer is diagnosed at a more advanced stage, having spread to surrounding areas, the five-year survival rate drops from 90% to 65%. When diagnosed at an advanced stage, having spread to distant organs, the five-year survival rate is only 9%; and

WHEREAS, Early detection is the best defense against this devastating, but preventable disease. Over half of all colon cancer deaths in the United States can be prevented by early screening. Yet, a majority of Americans are not being screened early enough to catch the cancer while it is still localized. In a recent survey, the Centers for Disease Control found that only 40% of all Americans reported having used the most inferior of screening methods and just 42% reported having used a more advanced screening. This compares to 85% of all women who had been screened for breast cancer; and

WHEREAS, There are many factors that contribute to such low screening rates: A lack of public awareness and education about the prevention and treatment of colorectal cancer, negative attitudes towards screening procedures, and the absence of symptoms; and

WHEREAS, On November 19, 1999, the United States Senate designated March as National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month and on October 3, 2000, the United States House of Representatives passed House Concurrent Resolution 133, legislation that recognizes the impact of colorectal cancer and urges action to be taken;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That for March, Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month, the Washington State Senate urge Washingtonians to become more educated of the risks facing them regarding this disease and actively fight it by getting regular screenings for colorectal cancer; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the American Cancer Society.

Senator Esser spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8704.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6480, by Senators Kohl-Welles, Haugen, Brown and Keiser

Eliminating the department of transportation's exemption from the public works apprenticeship utilization requirements. Revised for 2nd Substitute: Modifying public works apprenticeship utilization requirements.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Haugen, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6480 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6480 and the second substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Mulliken moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Mulliken and Haugen be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 39.04.300 and 2005 c 3 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

A well-trained construction trades work force is critical to the ability of the state of Washington to construct public works. Studies of the state's work force highlight population trends that, without a concerted effort to offset them, will lead to an inadequate supply of skilled workers in the construction industry. State government regularly constructs public works. The efficient and economical construction of public works projects will be harmed if there is not an ample supply of trained construction workers. Apprenticeship training programs are particularly effective in providing training and experience to individuals seeking to enter or advance in the work force. By providing for apprenticeship utilization on public works projects, state government can create opportunities for training and experience that will help assure that a trained work force will be available, including returning veterans, in sufficient numbers in the future for the construction of public works. Furthermore, the state of Washington hereby establishes its intent to assist returning veterans through programs such as the "helmets to hardhats" program, which is administered by the center for military recruitment, assessment, and veterans employment. It is the state's intent to assist returning veterans with apprenticeship placement career opportunities, in order to expedite the transition from military service to the construction work force.

Sec. 2. RCW 39.04.320 and 2005 c 3 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, from January 1, 2005, and thereafter, for all public works estimated to cost one million dollars or more, all specifications shall require that no less than fifteen percent of the labor hours be performed by apprentices.

(b)(i) This section does not apply to contracts advertised for bid before July 1, 2007, for any public works by the department of transportation.

(ii) For contracts advertised for bid on or after July 1, 2007, and before July 1, 2008, for all public works by the department of transportation estimated to cost five million dollars or more, all specifications shall require that no less than ten percent of the labor hours be performed by apprentices.

(iii) For contracts advertised for bid on or after July 1, 2008, and before July 1, 2009, for all public works by the department of transportation estimated to cost three million dollars or more, all specifications shall require that no less than twelve percent of the labor hours be performed by apprentices.

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(2) Awarding agency directors may adjust the requirements of this section for a specific project for the following reasons:

(a) The demonstrated lack of availability of apprentices in specific geographic areas;

(b) A disproportionately high ratio of material costs to labor hours, which does not make feasible the required minimum levels of apprentice participation;

(c) Participating contractors have demonstrated a good faith effort to comply with the requirements of (~~chapter 3, Laws of 2005~~) RCW 39.04.300 and 39.04.310 and this section; or

(d) Other criteria the awarding agency director deems appropriate, which are subject to review by the office of the governor.

(a) The demonstrated lack of availability of apprentices in specific geographic areas; or

(b) A disproportionately high ratio of material costs to labor hours, which does not make feasible the required minimum levels of apprentice participation.

(4) This section applies only to public works contracts awarded by the state. However, this section does not apply to contracts awarded by state four-year institutions of higher education (:) or state agencies headed by a separately elected public official (~~or the department of transportation~~).

~~((+))~~ (5)(a) The department of general administration must provide information and technical assistance to affected agencies and collect the following data from affected agencies for each project covered by this section:

(i) The name of each apprentice and apprentice registration number;

(ii) The name of each project;

(iii) The dollar value of each project;

(iv) The date of the contractor's notice to proceed;

(v) The number of apprentices and labor hours worked by them, categorized by trade or craft;

(vi) The number of journey level workers and labor hours worked by them, categorized by trade or craft; and

(vii) The number, type, and rationale for the exceptions granted under subsection (2) of this section.

(b) The department of labor and industries shall assist the department of general administration in providing information and technical assistance.

~~((5))~~ (6) The secretary of transportation shall establish an apprenticeship utilization advisory committee, which shall include statewide geographic representation and consist of equal numbers of representatives of contractors and labor. The committee must include at least one member representing contractor businesses with less than thirty-five employees. The advisory committee shall meet regularly with the secretary of transportation to discuss implementation of this section by the department of transportation, including development of the process to be used to adjust the requirements of this section for a specific project. The committee shall provide a report to the legislature by January 1, 2008, on the effects of the apprentice labor requirement on transportation projects and on the availability of apprentice labor and programs statewide.

(7) At the request of the senate labor, commerce, research and development committee, the house of representatives commerce and labor committee, or their successor committees, and the governor, the department of general administration and the department of labor and industries shall compile and summarize the agency data and provide a joint report to both committees. The report shall include recommendations on modifications or improvements to the apprentice utilization

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 39.04 RCW to read as follows:

The Washington state apprenticeship and training council shall lead and coordinate an outreach effort to educate returning veterans about apprenticeship and career opportunities in the construction industry. The outreach effort shall include information about the "helmets to hardhats" program and other paths for making the transition from military service to the construction work force. The outreach effort shall be developed and coordinated with apprenticeship programs, other state agencies involved in work force training, and representatives of contractors and labor."

2006 REGULAR SESSION

SENATE BILL NO. 6433, by Senators Kastama, Jacobsen, Poulsen, Pridemore, Rockefeller, Shin, Haugen, Rasmussen, Keiser, Regala, Thibaudeau, Franklin, McAuliffe and Kohl-Welles

Establishing the emergency management, preparedness, and assistance account.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Doumit, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6433 was not substituted for Senate Bill No. 6433 and the second substitute bill was not adopted.

The measure was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Kastama moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Kastama, Roach and Benton be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that recent events, including the 9/11 terrorist acts, the tsunami in southeast Asia, Hurrricanes Katrina and Rita in the gulf coast, outbreaks of avian flu, and the earthquake in Pakistan, have demonstrated the need for a coordinated, comprehensive all-hazards disaster plan involving citizens, industry, local governments, and the state. Washington state's topography, geography, location, and strategic and economic interests place the state at particular risk from both natural disasters and man-made disasters. In response, Washington state and its local governments have implemented nationally recognized all-hazards emergency management and disaster response plans. However, recent studies have revealed the lack of a secure funding source for resolving impediments to the ability of state and local programs to integrate and coordinate comprehensive disaster preparedness. In addition, local programs suffer disparities in funding and expertise, leaving troublesome gaps in a well-coordinated statewide all-hazards emergency management system.

Recognizing that all disasters are local disasters, the legislature therefore intends to strengthen state and local emergency response, mitigation, preparation, and coordination by establishing a stable source of funding with the intent that Washington state become the nationally recognized leader in emergency management. The funding will be dedicated to the development and coordination of state and local government emergency management programs by supporting joint training exercises, citizen and industry coordination with emergency management efforts, public education, and relationship building among local and state emergency management officials.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The emergency management, preparedness, and assistance account is created in the state treasury. Moneys in the account may be spent only after appropriation. Expenditures from the account may be used only as provided in section 3 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1)(a) The department must use twenty percent of the funds appropriated from the emergency management, preparedness, and assistance account for the department's administration of this section, and to: Fund the assessment required by section 4 of this act; fund state agency activities, including military department activities, that develop and coordinate comprehensive emergency management plans; train elected and appointed state officials on state laws, disaster command and response structures, and the roles and responsibilities of officials before, during, and after a disaster; administer periodic joint emergency management training exercises involving the military department and other state agencies; and implement state agency projects that will strengthen emergency response, mitigation, preparation, and coordination.

(b) The department must allocate eighty percent of the funds appropriated from the emergency management, preparedness, and assistance account for grants to regional agencies, local governments, tribal governments, regional incident management teams, and private organizations to: Develop and coordinate comprehensive emergency management plans; train elected and appointed officials on state laws, ordinances, disaster command and response structures, and the roles and responsibilities of officials before, during, and after a disaster; administer periodic joint emergency management training exercises; and implement projects that will strengthen emergency response, mitigation, preparation, and coordination.

(2) Projects funded under this section must include, but need not be limited to, projects that will promote neighborhood level public education on disaster preparedness and recovery issues, situate all weather radios in public buildings, enhance coordination of public sector and private sector relief efforts, and improve the training and operations capabilities of agencies assigned lead or support responsibilities in the state comprehensive emergency management plan.

(3) Grant funding may also be used as seed money to establish a dedicated, full-time emergency management director in every county that does not have such a director as of the effective date of this section.

(4) The department must establish criteria and procedures for competitive allocation of these funds by rule. At a minimum, the rules must:

(a) Establish preferential funding for projects and exercises addressing needs and recommendations identified by the department in the assessment conducted under section 4 of this act;

(b) Specify a formula that establishes a base grant allocation and weighted factors for funds to be allocated over the base grant amount for regional agencies, local governments, tribal governments, regional incident management teams, and private organizations with existing emergency management and preparedness programs that are located in a part of the state where the risk of exposure to disasters is deemed by the department to be particularly acute;

(c) Specify match requirements; and

(d) Include requirements that, at a minimum, a local emergency management agency have: A comprehensive emergency management plan or be a member of a joint local organization for emergency management; and a local director who works at least forty hours a week in that capacity, or have designated by ordinance or resolution an emergency management coordinator who works at least fifteen hours a week in that capacity.

(5) No more than five percent of any award made under subsection (1)(b) of this section may be used for administrative expenses.

(6) The distribution formula provided in this section may be adjusted proportionally when necessary to meet any matching requirements imposed as a condition of receiving federal disaster relief assistance or planning funds.

(7) Local governments receiving funds under this section may not use the funds to supplant existing funding.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Beginning in January 2008 and biennially thereafter, the department must conduct in conjunction with the emergency management council a strategic assessment of, and issue a report on, the ability of state, local, and tribal emergency management organizations to effectively provide for all phases of comprehensive emergency management. The assessment must:

(1) Evaluate state, local, and tribal emergency management capabilities and needs;

(2) Evaluate the ability of state, local, and tribal emergency management organizations to provide emergency management mitigation, preparedness, response, and recovery;

(3) Evaluate the effectiveness of the emergency management structure at the state, local, and tribal levels;

(4) Provide findings and make recommendations that increase the ability of state, local, and tribal emergency management organizations to meet current and future risks; and

(5) Detail where and for what purpose funds under section 3(1)(b) of this act have been distributed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The joint legislative audit and review committee must study and review the performance of programs implemented under this act. The committee must examine at least the following factors: The number and type of joint exercises conducted under section 3 of this act; the number of programs receiving grant money and the status of those programs; the coordination of comprehensive emergency management plans between state and local jurisdictions; the number of training programs administered; the number of comprehensive emergency management or safety plans created using funds distributed under section 3 of this act; and the number of emergency preparedness officials created and trained with funds distributed under this act. The committee must provide a final report on this review by December 2008. Funds from the emergency management, preparedness, and assistance account may be provided to the committee for the purposes of conducting the study.

EW SECTION. Sec. 6. The legislature shall establish an advisory committee to study issues related to the collection of an annual, per policy surcharge on homeowner's, mobile homeowner's, tenant homeowner's, condominium unit owner's and commercial fire, multiple peril, and business owner's property insurance policies to fund emergency management. The advisory committee will study if and how retaliatory tax provisions may be implicated, costs associated with collecting the fee, costs associated with allowing other insurance surcharges to be excluded from the premium calculation, and any other issues deemed relevant by the committee. The advisory committee, where appropriate, may consult with individuals from the public and private sector. The advisory committee shall report its findings and recommendations to the appropriate committees of the legislature by November 30, 2006.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Sections 2 through 4 of this act are each added to chapter 38.52 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. Section 6 of this act expires January 1, 2007.

Senator Kastama spoke in favor of adoption of the striking amendment.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that state-supported economic development efforts, including work force training, technology transfer, tourism development, and industrial modernization, can make a significant difference in the health and diversification of the state's economy. There are numerous federal and private economic development grant programs and research projects designed to increase the competitiveness of American firms and local work forces, for which state agencies and local consortiums are eligible to apply. There are also numerous opportunities to attract major regional, national, and international business, tourism, and sporting events to the state. State and local agencies in Washington have not maximized the opportunities available to receive federal and private funds to augment economic development efforts.

The legislature declares that it is the state's policy to maximize the use of federal and private funds for economic development purposes and to devote state resources to leverage federal and private dollars to supplement state economic development efforts. In furtherance of this policy, it is the purpose of section 2 of this act to authorize and fund a technical assistance and grant writing program within the department of community, trade, and economic development.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 43.330 RCW to read as follows:

The economic development grants program is created in the department to be staffed by at least one grant writer either on contract or on staff. Program staff shall:

(1) Regularly review the federal register for opportunities to apply for grants, research projects, and demonstration projects;

(2) Stay abreast of grant opportunities with private foundations and businesses;

(9) Garner the political support necessary from federal, state, and local elected and appointed officials for success in grant seeking and the attraction of major events.

The department shall submit to the appropriate committees of the legislature an annual list of grant applications submitted, grant awards received, and the total amount of grant funds received during the year. The list shall be due by December 1st of each year.

MOTIONS

MOTION

There being no objection, the following title amendment was adopted:

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Parlette: "Would the Senator from the thirty-seventh district yield to a question? Senator, does the amendment that you just added change the underlying program at all?"

Senator Kline: "No. It adds, essentially, the one function that I described. Fines are allowed now. DSHS, in addition to its other quasi disciplinary actions, pulling a contract, for example, or non renewing a contract. Now, may take an intermediate level of disciplinary action, that is, impose a fine of up to three-hundred dollars against a provider that for anyway violates the contract. That way, if there is nothing really significant that requires pulling the contract, that can be a lower level of disciplinary action."

MOTION

Senator Poulsen moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Poulsen be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that it is in the public interest to establish a market for alternative fuels in Washington. By requiring a growing percentage of our fuel supply to be renewable biofuel that meets appropriate fuel quality standards, we will reduce our dependence on imports of foreign oil, improve the health and quality of life for Washingtonians, and stimulate the creation of a new industry that benefits our farmers and rural communities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Special fuel licensees under chapter 82.38 RCW, other than international fuel tax agreement licensees and special fuel distributors, shall provide evidence to the department of licensing that at least two percent of total annual diesel fuel sales are biodiesel fuel sales, when the director determines that feedstock grown in Washington state can satisfy a two-percent requirement, or the date November 30, 2008, has passed.

(2) Special fuel licensees under chapter 82.38 RCW, other than international fuel tax agreement licensees and special fuel distributors, shall provide evidence to the department of licensing that at least five percent of total annual diesel fuel sales are biodiesel fuel sales, when the director determines that both in-state oil seed crushing capacity and feedstock grown in Washington state can satisfy a three-percent requirement.

(3) For the purposes of this chapter, "biodiesel fuel" has the meaning provided in RCW 82.29A.135.

(4) The director and the director of licensing shall adopt rules for enforcing and carrying out the purposes of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Beginning December 1, 2008, all gasoline sold or offered for sale in Washington shall contain at least two percent denatured ethanol by volume.

(2) If the director of ecology determines that ethanol content greater than two percent will not jeopardize continued attainment of the federal clean air act's national ambient air quality standard for ozone pollution in Washington and the director of agriculture determines that sufficient raw materials are available within Washington to support economical production of ethanol at higher levels, the director of agriculture may require by rule that all gasoline sold or offered for sale in Washington shall contain up to a maximum of ten percent of denatured ethanol by volume. The director of agriculture shall allow blenders and retailers six months to meet the new minimum content requirement.

(3) The director of agriculture shall adopt rules for enforcing and carrying out the purposes of this section.

Sec. 4. RCW 19.112.020 and 1990 c 102 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) This chapter shall be administered by the director or his or her authorized agent. ~~((For the purpose of administering this chapter,))~~

(2) The director shall adopt rules for maintaining standards for biodiesel fuel or fuel blended with biodiesel fuel by adopting all or part of the standards set forth in the Annual Book of ASTM Standards and supplements ((thereto, and revisions thereof, are adopted)), amendments, or revisions thereof, all or part of the standards set forth in the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) Handbook 130, Uniform Laws and Regulations in the areas of legal metrology and engine fuel quality rules, and any supplements, amendments, or revisions thereof, together with applicable federal environmental protection agency standards. If a conflict exists between federal environmental protection agency standards, ASTM standards, or ((state)) NIST standards, for purposes of uniformity, federal environmental protection agency standards shall take precedence over ASTM and NIST standards. ((Any state standards adopted must be consistent with federal environmental protection agency standards and ASTM standards not in conflict with federal environmental protection agency standards.)) The department of agriculture shall not exceed ASTM standards for diesel.

THIRTY-SIXTH DAY, FEBRUARY 13, 2006

(3) The director may establish a fuel testing laboratory or may contract with a laboratory for testing. The director may also adopt rules on false and misleading advertising, labeling and posting of prices, and the standards for, and identity of, motor fuels. The director shall require fuel pumps offering biodiesel and ethanol blends to be identified by a label stating the percentage of biodiesel or ethanol.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

The governor, by executive order, may suspend all or portions of the minimum renewable fuel content requirements in section 2 or 3 of this act, or both, based on a determination that such requirements are temporarily technically or economically infeasible.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

The governor, by executive order, may suspend all or portions of the minimum renewable fuel content requirements in section 2 or 3 of this act, or both, based on a determination that such requirements are temporarily technically or economically infeasible.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

(1) By November 30, 2008, the director shall determine whether the state's diesel fuel supply is comprised of at least ten percent biodiesel made predominantly from Washington feedstock, and whether the goals of section 2 of this act have been achieved.

(2) By November 30, 2008, the director shall determine whether the state's gasoline fuel supply is comprised of at least five percent ethanol made predominantly from Washington feedstock, without jeopardizing continued attainment of the federal clean air act's national ambient air quality standard for ozone pollution, and whether the goals of section 3 of this act have been achieved.

(3) By December 1, 2008, the director shall notify the governor and the legislature of the findings in subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

(4) If the findings from the director indicate that the goals of section 2 or 3 of this act, or both, have been achieved, then the governor shall issue an executive order declaring that section 2 or 3 of this act, or both, are no longer applicable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

(1) If either or both of the goals in sections 2 and 3 of this act are not achieved by November 30, 2008, the director shall monitor the state's diesel and gasoline fuel supply until such time as those goals, or either of them, is met.

(2) The director shall report to the governor and the legislature November 30th of the year in which a goal is met.

(3) Following notification under this section that a goal has been met, the governor shall prepare executive request legislation repealing section 2 or 3 of this act, or both, as applicable.

MOTION

Senator Esser moved that the Senate advance to the ninth order of business for the purpose of relieving the Committee on Ways & Means of Senate Bill No. 6309.

Senator Esser: "Would the Senator from the forty-seventh District yield to a question? Senator, why is it critical and essential to adopt this motion immediately to go to the ninth order to remove Senate Bill No. 6309 from the Senate Ways & Means Committee?"

Senator Johnson: "Senator, the short answer is, that the bill, the new estate tax stand alone the estate state tax, was effective July 1 of last year so deaths in July mean the tax will be due in April coming up. So it must be acted upon now before that tax is due. The tax is expected to collect less than two-hundred million per biennium and since we were here last year we've had a revenue forecast....."

Senator Eide spoke against the motion.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Eide, do you have a point of order because otherwise I need to let him finish his comments and then you can respond to his comments."

Senator Johnson: "Thank you Mr. President. Since we were in session a year ago, the revenue forecast has shown increases of more than twice the amount to be raised by the state tax and will probably be more with next week's forecast. Finally, just a reminder from last year's debate, this tax is grossly unfair. It favors farm businesses but not other businesses and it factors in out-of-state properties so you can have property in this state under the two million dollar exemption and still pay an estate tax. If that's not unconstitutional, it's at least grossly unfair. Please support the motion."

Senator Doumit spoke against the motion.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The purpose of this act is to confront the problem of insurance fraud in this state by making a concerted effort to detect insurance fraud, reduce the occurrence of fraud through criminal enforcement and deterrence, require restitution of fraudulently obtained insurance benefits and expenses incurred by an insurer in investigating fraudulent claims, and reduce the amount of premium dollars used to pay fraudulent claims. The primary focus of the insurance fraud program is on organized fraudulent activities committed against insurance companies.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Insurance commissioner" means the insurance commissioner of this state.

(2) "Insurance fraud" means an act or omission committed by a person who, knowingly, and with intent to defraud, commits, or conceals any material information concerning, one or more of the following:

(a) Presenting, causing to be presented, or preparing with knowledge or belief that it will be presented to or by an insurer, broker, or its agent, false information as part of, in support of, or concerning a fact material to one or more of the following:

(i) An application for the issuance or renewal of an insurance policy;

(ii) The rating of an insurance policy or contract;

(iii) A claim for payment or benefit pursuant to an insurance policy;

(iv) Premiums paid on an insurance policy;

(v) Payments made in accordance with the terms of an insurance policy; or

(vi) The reinstatement of an insurance policy;

(c) Attempting to commit, aiding or abetting in the commission of, or conspiracy to commit the acts or omissions specified in this subsection.

The definition of insurance fraud is for illustrative purposes only under this chapter to describe the nature of the behavior to be reported and investigated, and is not intended in any manner to create or modify the definition of any existing criminal acts nor to create or modify the burdens of proof in any criminal prosecution brought as a result of an investigation under this chapter.

(3) "Insurer" means an insurance company authorized under chapter 48.05 RCW, a health care service contractor registered under chapter 48.44 RCW, and a health care maintenance organization registered under chapter 48.46 RCW.

The attorney general may employ supervisory, legal, and investigative personnel for the program, who must be qualified by training and experience in the areas of detection, investigation, or prosecution of fraud in which the insurance industry is a victim. The chief of the fraud program is a full-time position that is appointed by the attorney general. The chief serves at the pleasure of the attorney general. The attorney general shall provide office space, equipment, supplies, investigators, clerical staff, and other staff that are necessary for the program to carry out its duties and responsibilities under this chapter.

(2) The attorney general may fund one or more state patrol officers to work with the insurance fraud program and the funding for the officers must be paid out of the budget of the insurance fraud program.

(3) The attorney general may make grants to or reimburse local prosecuting attorneys to assist in the prosecution of insurance fraud. The grants must be paid out of the budget of the insurance fraud program. The attorney general may investigate and seek prosecution of crimes involving insurance fraud upon the request of or with the concurrence of the county prosecuting attorney of the jurisdiction in which the offense has occurred. Before such a prosecution, the attorney general and the county in which the offense occurred shall reach an agreement regarding the payment of all costs, including expert witness fees, and defense attorneys' fees associated with any such prosecution.

(4) Staff levels for this program, until June 30, 2010, shall not exceed 8.0 full-time equivalents.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The annual cost of operating the fraud program is funded from the attorney general's insurance fraud account which is hereby created. Moneys in the account may be spent only after appropriation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The attorney general may:

(a) Employ and train personnel to achieve the purposes of this chapter and to employ legal counsel, investigators, auditors, and clerical support personnel and other personnel as the attorney general determines necessary from time to time to accomplish the purposes of this chapter;

(b) Initiate inquiries and conduct investigations when the attorney general has cause to believe that insurance fraud has been, is being, or is about to be committed;

(c) Conduct independent examinations of alleged insurance fraud;

(d) Review notices, reports, or complaints of suspected insurance fraud activities from federal, state, and local law enforcement and regulatory agencies, persons engaged in the business of insurance, and any other person to determine whether the reports require further investigation;

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6366, by Senators Keiser, Thibaudeau and Kline

Concerning preparation and response to pandemic influenza.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Keiser, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6366 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6366 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Keiser moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Keiser be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause, and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:

(1) Pandemic influenza is a global outbreak of disease that occurs when a new virus appears in the human population, causes serious illness, and then spreads easily from person to person.

(2) Historically, pandemic influenza has occurred on average every thirty years. Most recently, the Asian flu in 1957-58 and the Hong Kong flu in 1968-69 killed seventy thousand and thirty-four thousand, respectively, in the United States.

(3) Another influenza pandemic could emerge with little warning, affecting a large number of people. Estimates are that another pandemic influenza would cause more than two hundred thousand deaths in our country, with as many as five thousand in Washington. Our state could also expect ten thousand to twenty-four thousand people needing hospital stays, and as many as a million people requiring outpatient visits. During a severe pandemic these numbers could be much higher. The economic losses could also be substantial.

(4) The current Avian or bird flu that is spreading around the world has the potential to start a pandemic. There is yet no proven vaccine, and antiviral medication supplies are limited and of unknown effectiveness against a human version of the virus, leaving traditional public health measures as the only means to slow the spread of the disease. Given the global nature of a pandemic, as much as possible, the state must be able to respond assuming only limited outside resources and assistance will be available.

(5) An effective response to pandemic influenza in Washington must focus at the local level and will depend on preestablished partnerships and collaborative planning on a range of best-case and worst-case scenarios. It will require flexibility and real-time decision making, guided by accurate information. It will also depend on a well-informed public that understands the dangers of pandemic influenza and the steps necessary to prevent the spread of the disease.

(6) Avian flu is but one example of an infectious disease that, were an outbreak to occur, could pose a significant statewide health hazard. As such, preparation for pandemic flu will also enhance the capacity of local public health jurisdictions to respond to other emergencies.

It is therefore the intent of the legislature that adequate pandemic flu preparedness and response plans be developed and implemented by local public health jurisdictions statewide in order to limit the number of illnesses and deaths, preserve the continuity of essential government and other community services, and minimize social disruption and economic loss in the event of an influenza pandemic.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Department" means the department of health.

(2) "Local health jurisdiction" means a local health department as established under chapter 70.05 RCW, a combined city-county health department as established under chapter 70.08 RCW, or a health district established under chapter 70.05 or 70.46 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. To the extent state or federal funds are provided for this purpose, by January 1, 2007, each local health jurisdiction shall develop a pandemic flu preparedness and response plan, consistent with requirements and performance standards established by the department and the United States department of health and human services, for the purpose of:

(1) Defining preparedness activities that should be undertaken before a pandemic occurs that will enhance the effectiveness of response measures;

(2) Describing the response, coordination, and decision-making structure that will incorporate the local health jurisdiction, the local health care system, other local response agencies, and state and federal agencies during the pandemic;

(3) Defining the roles and responsibilities for the local health jurisdiction, local health care partners, and local response agencies during all phases of a pandemic;

(4) Describing public health interventions in a pandemic response and the timing of such interventions;

(5) Serving as a guide for local health care system partners, response agencies, and businesses in the development of pandemic influenza response plans; and

(6) Providing technical support and information on which preparedness and response actions are based.

Each plan shall be developed based on an assessment by the local health jurisdiction of its current capacity to respond to pandemic flu and otherwise meet department outcome measures related to infectious disease outbreaks of statewide significance.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Each jurisdiction shall develop its pandemic flu preparedness and response plan in consultation with appropriate public and private sector partners, including departments of emergency management, law enforcement, school districts, hospitals and medical professionals, tribal governments, and business organizations. At a minimum, each plan shall address:

(1) Strategies to educate the public about the consequences of influenza pandemic and what each person can do to prepare, including the adoption of universal infectious disease prevention practices and maintaining appropriate emergency supplies;

(2) Jurisdiction-wide disease surveillance programs, coordinated with state and federal efforts, to detect pandemic influenza strains in humans and animals, including health care provider compliance with reportable conditions requirements, and investigation and analysis of reported illness or outbreaks;

(3) Communication systems, including the availability of and access to specialized communications equipment by health officials and community leaders, and the use of mass media outlets;

(4) Mass vaccination plans and protocols to rapidly administer vaccine and monitor vaccine effectiveness and safety;

(5) Guidelines for the utilization of antiviral medications for the treatment and prevention of influenza;

(6) Implementation of nonmedical measures to decrease the spread of the disease as guided by the epidemiology of the pandemic, including increasing adherence to public health advisories, voluntary social isolation during outbreaks, and health officer orders related to quarantines;

(7) Medical system mobilization, including improving the linkages and coordination of emergency responses across health care organizations, and assuring the availability of adequate facilities and trained personnel; and

(8) Strategies for maintaining social order and essential community services while limiting the spread of disease throughout the duration of the pandemic.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. To the extent state or federal funds are provided for this purpose, the department, in consultation with the state director of emergency management, shall provide technical assistance and disburse funds as needed to support local health jurisdictions in developing their pandemic flu preparedness and response plans. Upon receipt of a plan determined by the department to meet its established requirements and standards, additional funding shall be provided to a district to support the preparedness response activities identified in the plan, including but not limited to:

(1) Education, information, and outreach, in multiple languages, to increase community preparedness and reduce the spread of the disease should it occur;

(2) Development of materials and systems to be used in the event of a pandemic to keep the public informed about the influenza, the course of the pandemic, and response activities;

(3) Development of the legal documents necessary to facilitate and support the necessary government response;

(4) Training and response drills for local health jurisdiction staff, law enforcement, health care providers, and others with responsibilities identified in the plan;

(5) Enhancement of the communicable disease surveillance system; and

(6) Development of coordination and communication systems among responding agencies.

Where appropriate, these activities shall be coordinated and funded on a regional or statewide basis. In the event that a local health jurisdiction does not show adequate progress towards implementing its plan, the department may intervene to provide necessary technical assistance.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Sections 1 through 5 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 70 RCW.

MOTION

Senator Pridemore moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Pridemore, Kastama, Benton and Roach be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. There is a statewide interest in maintaining coordinated planning as called for in the legislative findings of the growth management act, RCW 36.70A.010. It is the intent of the legislature that smaller, slower-growing counties and cities be provided with flexibility in meeting the requirements to review local plans and development regulations in RCW 36.70A.130, while ensuring coordination and consistency with the plans of neighboring cities and counties.

Sec. 2. RCW 36.70A.130 and 2005 c 423 s 6 and 2005 c 294 s 2 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) Each comprehensive land use plan and development regulations shall be subject to continuing review and evaluation by the county or city that adopted them. Except as otherwise provided, a county or city shall take legislative action to review and, if needed, revise its comprehensive land use plan and development regulations to ensure the plan and regulations comply with the requirements of this chapter according to the time periods specified in subsection (4) of this section.

(b) Except as otherwise provided, a county or city not planning under RCW 36.70A.040 shall take action to review and, if needed, revise its policies and development regulations regarding critical areas and natural resource lands adopted according to this chapter to ensure these policies and regulations comply with the requirements of this chapter according to the time periods specified in subsection (4) of this section. Legislative action means the adoption of a resolution or ordinance following notice and a public hearing indicating at a minimum, a finding that a review and evaluation has occurred and identifying the revisions made, or that a revision was not needed and the reasons therefor.

(c) The review and evaluation required by this subsection may be combined with the review required by subsection (3) of this section. The review and evaluation required by this subsection shall include, but is not limited to, consideration of critical area ordinances and, if planning under RCW 36.70A.040, an analysis of the population allocated to a city or county from the most recent ten-year population forecast by the office of financial management.

(d) Any amendment of or revision to a comprehensive land use plan shall conform to this chapter. Any amendment of or revision to development regulations shall be consistent with and implement the comprehensive plan.

(2)(a) Each county and city shall establish and broadly disseminate to the public a public participation program consistent with RCW 36.70A.035 and 36.70A.140 that identifies procedures and schedules whereby updates, proposed amendments, or revisions of the comprehensive plan are considered by the governing body of the county or city no more frequently than once every year. "Updates" means to review and revise, if needed, according to subsection (1) of this section, and the time periods specified in subsection (4) of this section or in accordance with the provisions of subsections (5) and (8) of this section. Amendments may be considered more frequently than once per year under the following circumstances:

(i) The initial adoption of a subarea plan that does not modify the comprehensive plan policies and designations applicable to the subarea;

(ii) The adoption or amendment of a shoreline master program under the procedures set forth in chapter 90.58 RCW;

(iii) The amendment of the capital facilities element of a comprehensive plan that occurs concurrently with the adoption or amendment of a county or city budget; ~~(and)~~

(iv) Until June 30, 2006, the designation of recreational lands under RCW 36.70A.1701. A county amending its comprehensive plan pursuant to this subsection (2)(a)(iv) may not do so more frequently than every eighteen months; and

(v) The adoption of comprehensive plan amendments necessary to enact a planned action under RCW 43.21C.031(2), provided that amendments are considered in accordance with the public participation program established by the county or city under this subsection (2)(a) and all persons who have requested notice of a comprehensive plan update are given notice of the amendments and an opportunity to comment.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in (a) of this subsection, all proposals shall be considered by the governing body concurrently so the cumulative effect of the various proposals can be ascertained. However, after appropriate public participation a county or city may adopt amendments or revisions to its comprehensive plan that conform with this chapter whenever an emergency exists or to resolve an appeal of a comprehensive plan filed with a growth management hearings board or with the court.

(3)(a) Each county that designates urban growth areas under RCW 36.70A.110 shall review, at least every ten years, its designated urban growth area or areas, and the densities permitted within both the incorporated and unincorporated portions of each urban growth area. In conjunction with this review by the county, each city located within an urban growth area shall review the densities permitted within its boundaries, and the extent to which the urban growth occurring within the county has located within each city and the unincorporated portions of the urban growth areas.

(b) The county comprehensive plan designating urban growth areas, and the densities permitted in the urban growth areas by the comprehensive plans of the county and each city located within the urban growth areas, shall be revised to accommodate the urban growth projected to occur in the county for the succeeding twenty-year period. The review required by this subsection may be combined with the review and evaluation required by RCW 36.70A.215.

(4) The department shall establish a schedule for counties and cities to take action to review and, if needed, revise their comprehensive plans and development regulations to ensure the plan and regulations comply with the requirements of this chapter. Except as provided in subsections (5) and (8) of this section, the schedule established by the department shall provide for the reviews and evaluations to be completed as follows:

(a) On or before December 1, 2004, and every seven years thereafter, for Clallam, Clark, Jefferson, King, Kitsap, Pierce, Snohomish, Thurston, and Whatcom counties and the cities within those counties;

(b) On or before December 1, 2005, and every seven years thereafter, for Cowlitz, Island, Lewis, Mason, San Juan, Skagit, and Skamania counties and the cities within those counties;

(5)(a) Nothing in this section precludes a county or city from conducting the review and evaluation required by this section before the time limits established in subsection (4) of this section. Counties and cities may begin this process early and may be eligible for grants from the department, subject to available funding, if they elect to do so.

(b) A county that is subject to a schedule established by the department under subsection (4)(b) through (d) of this section and meets the following criteria may comply with the requirements of this section at any time within the thirty-six months following the date established in the applicable schedule: The county has a population of less than fifty thousand and has had its population increase by no more than

(d) State agencies are encouraged to provide technical assistance to the counties and cities in the review of critical area ordinances, comprehensive plans, and development regulations.

(6) A county or city subject to the time periods in subsection (4)(a) of this section that, pursuant to an ordinance adopted by the county or city establishing a schedule for periodic review of its comprehensive plan and development regulations, has conducted a review and evaluation of its comprehensive plan and development regulations and, on or after January 1, 2001, has taken action in response to that review and evaluation shall be deemed to have conducted the first review required by subsection (4)(a) of this section. Subsequent review and evaluation by the county or city of its comprehensive plan and development regulations shall be conducted in accordance with the time periods established under subsection (4)(a) of this section.

(7) The requirements imposed on counties and cities under this section shall be considered "requirements of this chapter" under the terms of RCW 36.70A.040(1). Only those counties and cities in compliance with the schedules in this section (~~and those counties and cities demonstrating substantial progress towards compliance with the schedules in this section for development regulations that protect critical areas~~) may receive grants, loans, pledges, or financial guarantees from those accounts established in RCW 43.155.050 and 70.146.030. (8) Except as provided in subsection (5)(b) and (c) of this section:

(b) Counties and cities complying with the requirements of this section one year after the dates established in subsection (4)(b) through (d) of this section for development regulations that protect critical areas shall be deemed in compliance with the requirements of this section(-); and

(c) This subsection (8) applies only to the counties and cities specified in subsection (4)(b) through (d) of this section, and only to the requirements of this section for development regulations that protect critical areas that must be satisfied by December 1, 2005, December 1, 2006, and December 1, 2007.

(9) Notwithstanding subsection (8) of this section and the substantial progress provisions of subsections (7) and (10) of this section, only those counties and cities complying with the schedule in subsection (4) of this section may receive preferences for grants, loans, pledges, or financial guarantees from those accounts established in RCW 43.155.050 and 70.146.030.

(10) Until December 1, 2005, and notwithstanding subsection (7) of this section, a county or city subject to the time

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Oke: "Thank you Mr. President. Been having a lot of people come up and saying 'What's going on?' and just to let the body know that this week or last week really I got a call from oncologist said, 'It's back.' So today I was in the Seattle taking two pints of red blood cells. My red bloods are way down and they told me that, they told me, that they came from Seattle, a very liberal district, so I'm getting a little concerned there. I'm feeling well. We're on plan B. They're going to give me some new medicine Friday and some other things and then my brother's waiting to give me his stem cells, if we have to do that this summer. The good part is, it's easy going in. They'll probably kill off all mine Multiple Myeloma cells in me, but then cells might start attacking something else that I need like a liver or something else. So a lot of prayers needs. Appreciate your prayers, support vigil. Always been there for me and I feel good and I feel like we'll make it through this session and we'll do some good things. God bless, thank you."

MOTION

Senator Keiser moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Keiser be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:

(1) Despite sustained efforts at the federal and state level, too many people in Washington remain without access to appropriate health care. Particularly alarming is the increase in the number of small business employees who are uninsured. Without a health home, many low-income and other vulnerable populations are left to inefficiently navigate a fragmented treatment system that fails to support their long-term well-being.

THIRTY-SIXTH DAY, FEBRUARY 13, 2006

2006 REGULAR SESSION

(2) In recent years, numerous community-based organizations have emerged around the state to address health care concerns at a local level. Through innovation and public/private collaboration, they have demonstrated great success and show even greater promise in improving health care access for local residents. Less remote than state and federal agencies, these organizations have built on local relationships to increase the availability and affordability of services, and coordinate care, making efficient use of a wide variety of community resources to meet community needs.

(3) Many of these organizations have relied on grants from the healthy communities access program, an initiative of the United States department of health and human services that provided funding and technical assistance to support collaborative efforts at the local level to coordinate and strengthen health services for the uninsured and underinsured. The program, however, was recently discontinued, placing these local efforts at risk.

It is therefore the intent of the legislature to enhance and support the development of collaborative community-based organizations working at the local level to increase access to health care for Washington residents.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) The community health care collaborative grant program is established to further the efforts of community-based organizations to increase access to appropriate, affordable health care for Washington residents, particularly employed low-income persons who are uninsured and underinsured, through local programs addressing one or more of the following: (a) Access to medical treatment; (b) the efficient use of health care resources; or (c) quality of care.

(2) Grants of up to five hundred thousand dollars per organization shall be awarded pursuant to sections 3 and 4 of this act by the administrator of the health care authority in consultation with the secretary of the department of health, the assistant secretary of the health and recovery services administration within the department of social and health services, and the insurance commissioner.

(3) The health care authority shall provide administrative support for the program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Eligibility for grants shall be limited to nonprofit organizations established to serve a defined substate geographic region and having a formal collaborative governance structure and decision-making process for improving access. The nature and format of the application, and the application procedure, shall be determined by the administrator of the health care authority. At a minimum, each application shall: (1) Identify the geographic region served by the organization; (2) show how the structure and operation of the organization reflects the interests of, and is accountable to, this region; (3) indicate the size of the grant being requested, and how the money will be spent; and (4) include sufficient information for an evaluation of the application based on the criteria established in section 4 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) Grants shall be awarded on a competitive basis based on a determination of which applicant organization will best serve the purposes of the grant program. In making this determination, consideration shall be given to the extent to which:

(a) The programs to be supported by the grant are likely to address, in a measurable fashion, documented health care access needs within the region to be served;

(b) An applicant organization can be expected to successfully implement these programs, including the extent to which the application reflects formal, active collaboration among key community members such as local governments, school districts, large and small businesses, nonprofit organizations, carriers, private health care providers, and public health agencies;

(c) The applicant organization will match the grant with funds from other sources. Grants may be awarded only to organizations providing at least two dollars in matching funds for each grant dollar awarded;

(d) The grant will enhance the long-term capacity of the applicant organization and its partners to serve the region's documented health care access needs, including the sustainability of the programs to be supported by the grant;

(e) The programs to be supported by the grant reflect creative, innovative approaches which complement and enhance existing efforts to address the needs of the uninsured and underinsured and, if successful, could be replicated in other areas of the state; and Creating the Washington bioenergy loan program. Revised for 1st Substitute: Creating the Washington bioenergy assistance program.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Rockefeller, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6501 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6501 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Rockefeller moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Rockefeller be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:

(1) Washington's dependence on energy supplied from outside the state and volatile global energy markets makes its economy and citizens vulnerable to unpredictable and high energy prices;

(2) Washington's dependence on petroleum-based fuels increases energy costs for citizens and businesses;

(3) Diesel soot from diesel engines ranks as the highest toxic air pollutant in Washington, leading to hundreds of premature deaths and increasing rates of asthmas and other lung diseases;

(4) The use of biodiesel results in significantly less air pollution than traditional diesel fuels;

(5) Improper disposal and treatment of organic waste from farms and livestock operations can have a significant negative impact on water quality;

(6) Washington has abundant supplies of organic wastes from farms that can be used for energy production and abundant farmland where crops could be grown to supplement or supplant petroleum-based fuels;

(7) The use of energy and fuel derived from these sources can help citizens and business conserve energy and reduce the use of petroleum-based fuels, would improve air and water quality in Washington, reduce environmental risks from farm wastes, create new markets for farm products, and provide new industries and jobs for Washington citizens; and

(8) The bioenergy industry is a new and developing industry that is, in part, limited by the availability of capital for the construction of facilities for converting farm and forest products into energy and fuels.

Therefore, the legislature finds that it is in the public interest to encourage the rapid adoption and use of bioenergy, to develop a viable bioenergy industry within Washington state, and to support a viable agriculture industry to grow bioenergy crops. To accomplish this, the Washington bioenergy assistance program is established to stimulate the construction of facilities in Washington to generate energy from farm sources or convert organic matter into fuels.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Assistance" includes loans, leases, product purchases, or other forms of financial or technical assistance.

(2) "Department" means the department of agriculture.

(3) "Director" means the director of the department of agriculture.

(4) "Political subdivision" means any port district, county, city, town, special purpose district, and any other municipal corporation or quasi-municipal corporation in the state.

(5) "Project" means the construction of facilities, including the purchase of equipment, to convert farm products or wastes into electricity or gaseous and liquid fuels. These specifically include facilities to generate electricity or methane from the anaerobic digestion of organic matter, and facilities for the extracting oils from canola, rape, mustard, and other oilseeds. "Project" may also include the construction of facilities used to distribute and store fuels that are produced from farm products or wastes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) A bioenergy assistance program is established within the department. The director, in cooperation with the department of community, trade, and economic development, may approve an application providing assistance for a project only if the director finds:

(a) The project will convert farm products or wastes directly into electricity or into gaseous or liquid fuels;

(b) The project demonstrates technical feasibility and probable business success;

(c) The business or facility produces long-term economic benefits to the state, a region of the state, or a particular community in the state;

(d) The project does not require continuing state support;

(e) The assistance will result in new jobs, job retention, or higher incomes for citizens of the state;

(f) The assistance is accompanied by private investment;

(g) The state is provided an option under the assistance agreement to purchase a portion of the fuel or feedstock to be produced by the project, exercisable by the department of general administration;

(h) The project will increase energy independence or diversity for the state;

(i) The project will use feed stocks produced in the state, if feasible, except this criterion shall not apply to the construction of facilities used to distribute and store fuels that are produced from farm products or wastes;

(j) Any product produced by the project will be suitable for its intended use, will meet accepted national or state standards, and will be stored and distributed in a safe and environmentally sound manner;

(k) The application provides for adequate reporting or disclosure of financial and employment data to the director, and permits the director to require an annual or other periodic audit of the project books; and

(l) For applications seeking direct financial assistance, the applicant is unable to secure adequate financing from other sources.

(2) The director may approve an application for assistance up to five million dollars.

(3) The director shall enter into agreements with approved applicants to fix the terms and rates of the assistance to minimize the costs to the applicants, and to encourage establishment of a viable bioenergy industry. The agreement shall include provisions to protect the state's investment, taking into account depreciation and other circumstances or market conditions. In the event the department of general administration coordinates a biodiesel technical assistance team, the agreement shall incorporate the appropriate best management practices developed by the team.

(4) The director may defer any payments for up to twelve months or until the project starts to receive revenue from operations, whichever is sooner.

(5) Political subdivisions and private entities, including economic development councils, may participate in the program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The director may establish policies and procedures necessary for processing, reviewing, and approving applications made under this section.

(2) Each application must show in detail the nature of the project, the source of the feedstock, and the technologies that will be used. Each application must contain a credit analysis of the applicant and a detailed feasibility analysis and business plan.

(3) The director shall consult with those agencies having expertise and knowledge to assess the technical and business feasibility of the project and probability of success. These agencies may include, but are not limited to, Washington State University, the University of Washington, the department of ecology, the department of community, trade, and economic development, and the Washington state conservation commission.

(4) If the total requested dollar amount of assistance exceeds the amount available in the Washington bioenergy assistance account created in section 5 of this act, the applications must be prioritized based upon the following criteria:

(a) The extent to which the project will help conserve energy and reduce dependence on petroleum fuels and imported energy either directly or indirectly;

(b) The extent to which the project will reduce air and water pollution either directly or indirectly;

(c) The extent to which the project will establish a viable bioenergy production capacity in Washington;

(d) The benefits to Washington's agriculture producers; and

(e) The number and quality of jobs and economic benefits created by the project.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The Washington bioenergy assistance account is created in the state treasury. All receipts from appropriations made to the account and any loan payments from principal and interest derived from loans made under this chapter must be deposited into the account. Moneys in the account may be spent only after appropriation. Expenditures from the account may be used only for assistance for projects consistent with this chapter. Administrative costs of the department may not exceed three percent of the total funds available for this program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The director shall report to the legislature and governor on the status of the Washington bioenergy assistance program created under this chapter, on or before December 1st of the years 2006, 2007, and 2009. This report must include information on the projects that have been funded, the status of these projects, and their environmental, energy savings, and job creation benefits.
