As the reigning 2013 Capital Lakefair Queen, it is my pleasure and my privilege to welcome you to an exciting 2013 Senate session in Olympia, Washington. This is a big year for Washington as we recently passed laws that will create large changes for this state as well as welcoming in a new Governor. As a member of the Legislature you carry the weight and the well-being of everyone here in the state; children; businesses; disabled; retirees; workers; owners; consumers; victims; elderly; and the environment. It is your responsibility to regulate, to authorize, to prescribe, to provide, to sanction, to grant, to declare and to restrict certain elements for the well-being of the state as a whole. As you’re representing the state here, I’m representing the Tumwater, Olympia, Lacey, Puget Sound area and the community. Capital Lakefair is a one-hundred percent, academic-based, community scholarship pageant. It is my privilege and honor to serve as Capital Lakefair’s fifty-fifth Lakefair Queen. My school, Olympia High School, has not produced a Queen for the last eight years so I am proud to represent my school in this program. Capital Lakefair is more than rides and food and vendors. It is a community event in which people of all ages and backgrounds and various service clubs and organizations come together to celebrate our Puget Sound area. Lakefair generates a great amount of money which is then put towards numerous local non-profit organizations such as the Other Bank and the YWCA. Lakefair also puts money towards a royalty scholarship program by selecting a court of six girls from local high schools and later a Lakefair Queen. As a 2012 Lakefair Queen, I’m unconditionally gracious for receiving the highest royalty scholarship of five thousand dollars. Of course, this money isn’t just given to us, the Capitalarian’s make us work for our earnings. Capital Lakefair has given me opportunities and experiences I would not have had otherwise. The Royalty Court and I have spoken with thirteen local service organizations and had the opportunity to meet many community leaders as well as my privilege of speaking here today. This is not an experience I could of gained from my part-time jobs. It’s programs like Capital Lakefair that provide opportunities for all areas of the community to come together and form relationships with one another that hold our region together. Olympia and the Puget Sound area is one of the most beautiful areas in this State of Washington and the Northwest region with its miles of beaches, local shops, extensive hiking and biking trails and friendly people. I hope that you enjoy your time here as much as I know that I do. Here’s to a successful community-building 2013 Legislative Session. Thank you.”

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Miss Macy Allaire, 2012 Lakefair Queen, who was seated at the rostrum.

With the permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Lakefair Queen Macy Allaire to address the Senate and welcome the senators to Olympia.

REMARKS BY MISS MACY ALLAIRE

Miss Macy Allaire: “Thank you for having me. Good afternoon everyone. I hope you’re having a good morning so far.
RE: Resignation

Mr. Hoemann, please accept this letter as indication of my resignation to the Washington State Senate, effective the 31st day of May 2012.

It has been with great pleasure and honor that I have been elected to serve the people of the 18th Legislative District in Southwest Washington over the last 17 years. However, given my choice to not seek re-election this fall I think that it would better serve my constituents to have, available to them, a member who has chosen to run and could provide greater continuity of service through the remainder of this year and beyond the fall elections. Thank you for your service and friendship these last many years.

Sincerely,
JOSEPH P. ZARELLI, State Senator, 18th Legislative District

Re: Resignation from the Washington State Senate

Dear Governor Gregoire:

I came to Olympia eight years ago to represent the people of the 26th Legislative District and work on issues of importance to them. Over the last eight years I’ve been proud to work on efforts to encourage economic development, to ensure our students get an education that will help them succeed, and to support military families and veterans, I am proud of our successes, and confident progress will continue.

Most of all, I am hopeful for my little girls, Sophie and Tess. I want a better future for them – where they can get a world-class education, where they can get a great job, and where they will share in all the opportunity our state and our nation can offer. That hope for them and for all families is what drove me to service in the Legislature. I’ve been privileged to work with you and the members of the Legislature to make progress on behalf of the children and families of our great state.

I am grateful to the citizens of the 26th district for giving me the opportunity to represent them. And I am grateful to the people of the 6th Congressional District for choosing me to represent them in the next session of the United States Congress. In order to fulfill my duties as a U. S. Representative, I am resigning from the Washington State Senate, pursuant to RCW 42.12.010, effective immediately.

Sincerely,

Rule 43. Any of the above referenced committees, including subcommittees thereof, or any special committees created by the senate, may have the powers of subpoena, the power to administer oaths, and the power to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses in accordance with the provisions of chapter 44.16 RCW. The committee chair shall file with the committee on rules, prior to issuance of any process, a statement of purpose setting forth the name or names of those subject to process. The rules committee shall consider every proposed issuance of process at a meeting of the rules committee immediately following the filing of the statement with the committee. The process shall not be issued prior to consideration by the rules committee. The process shall be limited to the named individuals and the committee on rules may overrule the service on an individual so named.

Duties of Committees

Rule 44. The several committees shall fully consider measures referred to them.

The committees shall acquaint themselves with the interest of the state specially represented by the committee, and from time to time present such bills and reports as in their judgment will advance the interests and promote the welfare of the people of the state: PROVIDED, That no executive action on bills may be taken during an interim.

Committee Rules

Rule 45. 1. At least five days notice shall be given of all public hearings held by any committee other than the rules committee. Such notice shall contain the date, time and place of such hearing together with the title and number of each bill, or identification of the subject matter, to be considered at such hearing. By a majority vote of the committee members present at any committee meeting such notice may be dispensed with. The reason for such action shall be set forth in a written statement preserved in the records of the meeting.

2. No committee may hold a public hearing during a regular or extraordinary session on a proposal identified as a draft unless the draft has been made available to the public at least twenty-four hours prior to the hearing. This rule does not apply during the five days prior to any cutoff established by concurrent resolution nor does it apply to any measure exempted from the resolution.

3. During its consideration of or vote on any bill, resolution or memorial, the deliberations of any committee or subcommittee of the senate shall be open to the public. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct at any such deliberations, the chair shall order the sergeant at arms to suppress the same and may order the meeting closed to any person or persons creating such disturbance.

4. No committee shall amend a measure, adopt a substitute bill, or vote upon any measure or appointment absent a quorum. A committee may conduct a hearing absent a quorum. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum and committees shall be considered to have a quorum present unless the question is raised. Any question as to quorum not raised at the time of the committee action is deemed waived.

5. Bills reported to the senate from a standing committee must have a majority report, which shall be prepared upon a printed standing committee report form; shall be adopted at a regularly or specially called meeting during a legislative session and shall be signed by a majority of the committee; and shall carry only one of the following recommendations:

   a. Do pass;
   b. Do pass as amended;
   c. That a substitute bill be substituted therefor, and the substitute bill do pass; or

   In addition to one of the above-listed recommendations, a report may also recommend that a bill be referred to another committee.

6. A majority report of a committee must carry the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee. In the event a committee has a quorum pursuant to subsection 4 of this rule, a majority of the members present may act on a measure, subject to obtaining the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee on the majority report.

7. Any measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment still within a committee's possession before it has been reported out to the full senate may be reconsidered to correct an error, change language, or otherwise accurately reflect the will of the committee in its majority and minority reports to the full senate. Any such reconsideration may be made at any time, by any member of the committee, provided that the committee has not yet reported the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out to the full senate. Any such reconsideration made after a vote has been taken or signatures obtained will require a new vote and signature sheet. Any measure which does not receive a majority vote of the members present may be reconsidered at that meeting and may again be considered upon motion of any committee member if one day's notice of such motion is provided to all committee members. For purposes of this rule, a committee is deemed to have reported a measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out when it has delivered its majority and minority reports to the senate workroom. After such delivery, the committee no longer has possession of the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment and no further committee action, including reconsideration, may be taken.

8. Any member of the committee not concurring in the majority report may sign a minority report containing a recommendation of "do not pass" or "without recommendation," which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto, and submitted with the majority report. Unless the signatory of a minority report expressly indicates a "do not pass" recommendation, the member's vote shall be deemed to be "without recommendation." In every case where a majority report form is circulated for signature, a minority report form shall also be circulated.

9. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill with the recommendation that the substitute bill do pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute bill the first time and have the same ordered printed.

   A motion for the substitution of the substitute bill for the original bill shall not be in order until the committee on rules places the original bill on the second reading calendar.

10. No vote in any committee shall be taken by secret ballot nor shall any committee have a policy of secrecy as to any vote on action taken in such committee.

11. All reports of standing committees must be on the secretary's desk one hour prior to convening of the session in order to be read at said session. During any special session of the legislature, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote.

Rule 48. Any standing committee of the senate may be relieved of further consideration of any bill, regardless of prior action of the committee, by a majority vote of the senators elected or appointed. The senate may then make such orderly disposition of the bill as they may direct by a majority vote of the members of the senate.

Joint Resolutions and Memorials

Rule 58. Joint resolutions and joint memorials, up to the signing thereof by the president of the senate, shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills.

Senate Concurrent Resolutions

Rule 59. Concurrent resolutions shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills and may be adopted without a roll call. Concurrent resolutions authorizing investigations and authorizing the expenditure or allocation of any money must be adopted by roll call and the yeas and nays recorded in the journal. Concurrent resolutions are subject to final passage on the day of the first reading without regard to Senate Rules 62, 63, and 64.

Committee Bills

Rule 60. Committee bills introduced by a standing committee during a legislative session may be filed with the secretary of the senate and introduced, and the signature of each member of the committee shall be endorsed upon the cover of the original bill.

Committee bills shall be read the first time by title, ordered printed, and referred to the committee on rules for second reading.

Committee Reference
Rule 61. When a motion is made to refer a subject, and different committees are proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

FIRST: A standing committee.
SECOND: A select committee.

Reading of Bills

Rule 62. Every bill shall be read on three separate days unless the senate deems it expedient to suspend this rule. On and after the tenth day preceding adjournment sine die of any session, or three days prior to any cut-off date for consideration of bills, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the Constitution or concurrent resolution, or during any special session of the legislature, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote. (See also Rule 59).

First Reading

Rule 63. The first reading of a bill shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full.

After the first reading, bills shall be referred to an appropriate committee pursuant to Rule 61.

Upon being reported back by committee, all bills shall be referred to the committee on rules for second reading, unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (See Rule 49.)

A bill shall be reported back by the committee chair upon written petition therefor signed by a majority of its members. The petition shall designate the recommendation as provided in Rule 45, Sub. 5.

No committee chair shall exercise a pocket veto of any bill.

Should there be a two-thirds majority report of the committee membership against the bill, a vote shall be immediately ordered for the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Second Reading/Amendments

Rule 64. Upon second reading, the bill shall be read section by section, in full, and be subject to amendment.

Any member may, if sustained by three members, remove a bill from the consent calendar as constituted by the committee on rules. A bill removed from the consent calendar shall take its place as the last bill in the order of consideration of bills on the second reading calendar.

No amendment shall be considered by the senate until it shall have been sent to the secretary's desk in writing and read by the secretary.

All amendments adopted on the second reading shall then be securely fastened to the original bill.

All amendments rejected by the senate shall be spread upon the journal, and the journal shall show the disposition of all amendments.

When no further amendments shall be offered, the president shall declare the bill has passed its second reading, and shall be referred to the committee on rules for third reading.

Rule 65. Bills on third reading shall be read in full by sections, and no amendment shall be entertained.

When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified to by the secretary, together with the vote upon final passage, noting the day of its passage thereon.

Scope and Object of Bill Not to be Changed

Rule 66. No amendment to any bill shall be allowed which shall change the scope and object of the bill. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 38, State Constitution.) Substitute bills shall be considered amendments for the purposes of this rule. A point of order raising the question of scope and object may be raised at any time during consideration of an amendment prior to voting on the amendment. A proposed amendment to an unamended title-only bill shall be within the scope and object of the bill if the subject of the amendment fits within the language in the title.

Matters Related to Disagreement Between the Senate and House

Rule 67. When there is a disagreement between the senate and house on a measure before the senate, the senate may act upon the measure with the following motions which have priority in the following order:

To concur
To non-concur
To recede
To insist
To adhere

These motions are in order as to any single amendment or to a series of amendments. (See Reed's Rules 247 through 254.)

A senate bill, passed by the house with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the senate, shall be referred to an appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills, unless a motion to ask the house to recede, to insist or to adhere is made prior to the measure being referred to committee.

Bills Committed for Special Amendment

Confirmation of Gubernatorial Appointees

Rule 69. When the names of appointees to state offices are transmitted to the secretary of the senate for senate confirmation, communication from the governor shall be recorded and referred to the appropriate standing committee.

The standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, shall require each appointee referred to the committee for consideration to complete the standard questionnaire to be used to ascertain the appointee's general background and qualifications. The committee may also require the appointee to complete a supplemental questionnaire related specifically to the qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed.

Any hearing on a gubernatorial appointment, held by the standing committee, or subcommittees, pursuant to rule 42, shall be a public hearing. The appointee may be required to appear before the committee on request. When appearing, the appointee shall be required to testify under oath or affirmation. The chair of the committee or the presiding member shall administer the oath or affirmation in accordance with RCW 44.16. (See also Article 2, Sec. 6 of the State Constitution.)

Nothing in this rule shall be construed to prevent a standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, upon a two-thirds vote of its members, from holding executive sessions when considering an appointment.

When the committee on rules presents the report of the standing committee before the senate, the question shall be the confirmation of the name proposed, and the roll shall then be called and the yeas and nays entered upon the journal. In the event a message is received from the governor requesting return of an appointment or appointments to the office of the governor prior to confirmation, the senate shall vote upon the governor's request and the appointment or appointments shall be returned to the governor if the request is approved by a majority of the members elected or appointed. Such motion to reconsider shall be in order only under the order of motions of the day immediately following the day upon which such notice of reconsideration is given, and may be made by any member who voted with the prevailing side.

Rule 43. Any of the above referenced committees, including subcommittees thereof, or any special committees created by the Senate, may have the powers of subpoena, the power to administer oaths, and the power to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses in accordance with the provisions of chapter 44.16 RCW. The committee chair shall file with the committee on rules, prior to issuance of any process, a statement of purpose setting forth the name or names of those subject to process. The process shall be limited to the named individuals and the committee on rules may overrule the service on an individual so named.

Duties of Committees

Rule 44. The several committees shall fully consider measures referred to them.

The committees shall acquaint themselves with the interest of the state specially represented by the committee, and from time to time present such bills and reports as in their judgment will advance the interests and promote the welfare of the people of the state: PROVIDED, That no executive action on bills may be taken during an interim.

Committee Rules

Rule 45. 1. At least five days notice shall be given of all public hearings held by any committee other than the rules committee. Such notice shall contain the date, time and place of such hearing together with the title and number of each bill, or identification of the subject matter, to be considered at such hearing. By a majority vote of the committee members present at any committee meeting such notice may be dispensed with. The reason for such action shall be set forth in a written statement preserved in the records of the meeting.

2. No committee may hold a public hearing during a regular or extraordinary session on a proposal identified as a draft unless the draft has been made available to the public at least twenty-four hours prior to the hearing. This rule does not apply during the five days prior to any cutoff established by concurrent resolution nor does it apply to any measure exempted from the resolution.

4. No committee shall amend a measure, adopt a substitute bill, or vote upon any measure or appointment absent a quorum. A committee may conduct a hearing absent a quorum. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum and committees shall be considered to have a quorum present unless the question is raised. Any question as to quorum not raised at the time of the committee action is deemed waived.

5. Bills reported to the senate from a standing committee must have a majority report, which shall be prepared upon a printed standing committee report form; shall be adopted at a regularly or specially called meeting during a legislative session and shall be signed by a majority of the committee; and shall carry only one of the following recommendations:

7. Any measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment still within a committee's possession before it has been reported out to the full senate may be reconsidered to correct an error, change language, or otherwise accurately reflect the will of the committee in its majority and minority reports to the full senate. Any such reconsideration may be made at any time, by any member of the committee, provided that the committee has not yet reported the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out to the full senate. Any such reconsideration made after a vote has been taken or signatures obtained will require a new vote and signature sheet. Any measure which does not receive a majority vote of the members present may be reconsidered at that meeting and may again be considered upon motion of any committee member if one day's notice of said motion is provided to all committee members. For purposes of this rule, a committee is deemed to have reported a measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out when it has delivered its majority and minority reports to the senate workroom. After such delivery, the committee no longer has possession of the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment and no further committee action, including reconsideration, may be taken.

8. Any member of the committee not concurring in the majority report may sign a minority report containing a recommendation of "do not pass" or "without recommendation," which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto, and submitted with the majority report. Unless the signatory of a minority report expressly indicates a "do not pass" recommendation, the member's vote shall be deemed to be "without recommendation." In every case where a majority report form is circulated for signature, a minority report form shall also be circulated.

9. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill with the recommendation that the substitute bill do pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute bill the first time and have the same ordered printed.

A motion for the substitution of the substitute bill for the original bill shall not be in order until the committee on rules places the original bill on the second reading calendar.

10. No vote in any committee shall be taken by secret ballot nor shall any committee have a policy of secrecy as to any vote on action taken in such committee.

11. All reports of standing committees must be on the secretary's desk one hour prior to convening of the session in order to be read at said session. During any special session of the legislature, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote.

FIRST: A standing committee.
SECOND: A select committee.

Reading of Bills

Rule 62. Every bill shall be read on three separate days unless the senate deems it expedient to suspend this rule. On and after the tenth day preceding adjournment sine die of any session, or three days prior to any cut-off date for consideration of bills, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the Constitution or concurrent resolution, or during any special session of the legislature, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote. Any member may, if sustained by three members, remove a bill from the consent calendar as constituted by the committee on rules. A bill removed from the consent calendar shall take its place as the last bill in the order of consideration of bills on the second reading calendar.

No amendment shall be considered by the senate until it shall have been sent to the secretary's desk in writing and read by the secretary.

All amendments adopted on the second reading shall then be securely fastened to the original bill.

All amendments rejected by the senate shall be spread upon the journal, and the journal shall show the disposition of all amendments.

Substitute bills shall be considered amendments for the purposes of this rule. A proposed amendment to an unamended title-only bill shall be within the scope and object of the bill if the subject of the amendment fits within the language in the title.

These motions are in order as to any single amendment or to a series of amendments. (See Reed's Rules 247 through 254.)

A senate bill, passed by the house with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the senate, shall be referred to an appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills, unless a motion to ask the house to recede, to insist or to adhere is made prior to the measure being referred to committee.

Rule 68. A bill may be committed with or without special instructions to amend at any time before taking the final vote.

Confirmation of Gubernatorial Appointees

The standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, shall require each appointee referred to the committee for consideration to complete the standard questionnaire to be used to ascertain the appointee's general background and qualifications. The committee may also require the appointee to complete a supplemental questionnaire related specifically to the qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed.

Any hearing on a gubernatorial appointment, held by the standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, shall be a public hearing. The appointee may be required to appear before the committee on request. When appearing, the appointee shall be required to testify under oath or affirmation. The chair of the committee or the presiding member shall administer the oath or affirmation in accordance with RCW 44.16. (See also Article 2, Sec. 6 of the State Constitution.)

Nothing in this rule shall be construed to prevent a standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, upon a two-thirds vote of its members, from holding executive sessions when considering an appointment.
When the committee on rules presents the report of the standing committee before the senate, the question shall be the confirmation of the name proposed, and the roll shall then be called and the yeas and nays entered upon the journal. In the event a message is received from the governor requesting return of an appointment or appointments to the office of the governor prior to confirmation, the senate shall vote upon the governor's request and the appointment or appointments shall be returned to the governor if the request is approved by a majority of the members elected or appointed. REMARKS BY SENATOR SCHOESLER

Senator Schoesler: “Thank you Mr. President, I would like to nominate Senator Sheldon to the office of President Pro Tempore. Twenty years ago last month I met Senator Sheldon for the first time. Over the last twenty plus years I’ve found someone who toured gold mines in Northeast Washington with us, the wheat industry and other agricultural industries of Eastern Washington. Someone who’s worked on our state’s energy policy from the local PUD level to regional power issues that impact every citizen and every job in the state of Washington. We’ve watched him as a leader in local government. We’ve watched him as a leader in the timber industry and jobs in general. Senator Sheldon brings this twenty plus years of experience to the senate and will make an excellent President Pro Tempore for this body. I urge your support.”

REMARKS BY SENATOR TOM

Senator Tom: “Thank you Mr. President, I would like to second the nomination. Senator Sheldon makes a great choice. He is a Wharton grad. A very accomplish individual but also has a very unique background as far as not only does he understand the intellectual aspects of what we do but he also has the commonality as far as being involved in the logging community. So it’s kind of a unique dynamic that you have there. For those of us who love to golf, here’s a little tidbit on Senator Sheldon. A lot of us are hackers, Tim actually played collegiate golf so if you want a real golfer Tim’s a real golfer. But I think he offers us a great avenue as far as where we are, what we’re trying to accomplish and his respect for the institution. He’s been here several years, a long time, and I think he will help us move forward and really bring that collaboration back to the senate. Thank you.”

After being here twenty two years and it’s great to follow in the direction, and I’ll look to the big guy back here, my former Senator from the Thirty-fifth, our esteemed President Brad Owen who’s done a wonderful job for us over the years. If I can do a job, when he’s gone, anything like he has done I think I will succeed. Thank you.”

I can’t fathom and believe, can you imagine that an orphan boy in Korea, no schooling or even a grade school education being adopted by American soldier came to this country, started with the ABCs, GED and the Ph. D. Professor for thirty-one years. Now I’ve been in the Senate, legislature for eighteen years. Calling this, I don’t know what to say. My heart is filled with emotion, with gratitude and all I can is thank you America and thank you. My father, Dr. Ray Paull, Amy dentist who, when I was crying in the mountains alone, hugged me and adopted me. Brought me to this country for education that I received and services I performed and all of you, the love and friendship I share with you. I will do best I can as you call me to do so and then but all I can say is that, thank you. Thank you very much.”

The committee of honor escorted Senator Shin to his seat on the floor of the Senate.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY OF SENATE

REMARKS BY SENATOR BENTON

Senator Benton: “Thank you Mr. President, I stand before my colleagues today to nominate for this position an extremely qualified candidate. Hunter Goodman is an accomplished attorney. He’s worked in government at the local level and he’s worked in government at the state level. Many of you know him as the Deputy or Assistant Attorney General but more importantly, and I think this is important for all the citizens of the state of Washington, Hunter also has private business background as the principal of an international freight forwarding company. He brings tremendous private business enterprise skills. Those coupled with his long service in government in terms of administration, brings to us I think one of the most qualified individuals we could find in terms of administrative skills to fulfill our goal of operating and running an efficient and effective Senate that adjourns on time. I’m happy to bring his nomination to you and I ask for your support for Hunter Goodman as the new Secretary of the Senate. Thank you Mr. President.”

REMARKS BY SENATOR SHELDON

Senator Sheldon: “Thank you Mr. President, I rise to second the nomination of Hunter Goodman for office of the Secretary of the Senate. We’re very familiar with Hunter. He’s worked in the legislature, around the legislature for a while certainly and around the capital and most certainly as Attorney General Rob McKenna’s legislative liaison and Deputy Chief of staff. We’ve gotten to know Hunter. He’s done a really a great job. He has wonderful leadership skills and management skills and good relationships on both sides of the aisle and he’ll do a wonderful job for us. Of course, we always say great things about people when they’re nominated like this but I have to note though, maybe you don’t know that Hunter was a running back for the University of Southern California Trojans and I had to wonder a little bit about that for a little while but then I got for Christmas a Husky highlight reel which I played over and over and I think I still feel comfortable so I urge you to vote for Mr. Hunter Goodman.”

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

The President of the Senate appointed a committee of honor consisting of Senators Padden and Harper to escort Associate Chief Justice Charles Johnson from the Senate Chamber.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Parlette: “Thank you Mr. President. I also would like to speak some good words about Tom Hoemann. He’s been very helpful. As Ranking on the F&O Committee, he was always available for both the chair and also for me and I really appreciate it. The most painful thing I had to do was call him over a weekend and say ‘I’m sorry Tom, but I’m moving in your office and you have until Monday morning to get out.’ That was awful. Anyway, we will miss him, I know he has plans for retirement and he certainly has served us well. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Eide: “Well, I, too, would like to thank Tom Hoemann. I have been in leadership for sixteen years and for the last seven being the floor leader and this man that sat up at that rostrum was my life line. He was there at a moment’s notice helping me look good on this floor. Number one, Tom Hoemann is way too young to retire because I think he’s only a year or two older than I am. I just wanted to take this time for all of us, he’s been here a very long time. Thirty years is a long time for someone to be in this institution. He will be sorely missed. And Tom I’m still going to call you.”

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

PARTIAL VETO ON SENATE BILL NO. 6159

March 30, 2012

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 2, Senate Bill 6159 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to a business and occupation tax deduction for amounts received with respect to dispute resolution services."

Senate Bill 6159 allows dispute resolution centers to deduct amounts they receive as contributions from federal, state, and local government or nonprofit organizations from the measure of the business and occupation tax. Nonprofit organizations may also deduct from the measure of tax amounts received from federal, state, or local governments for distribution to a qualified dispute resolution center.

Section 2 would apply this deduction from the measure of the tax both prospectively and retroactively. The retroactive application of the bill would reward delinquent taxpayers, while those who paid on time would not receive a refund under the prohibition on the gift of state funds in Article VIII, Section 5 of the Washington Constitution, as interpreted by the Washington Supreme Court.

For this reason, I have vetoed Section 2 of Senate Bill 6159.

With the exception of Section 2, Senate Bill 6159 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
Christine Gregoire, Governor
MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO ON SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL
NO. 6263

March 30, 2012

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 5 and 6, Second Substitute Senate Bill 6263 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to facilitating marine management planning."

Sections 5 and 6 of the bill would establish the membership and duties of a new Washington State Coastal Solutions Council. Among other duties, this Council would provide a forum to seek consistency in state, local, and tribal policies concerning coastal waters issues; engage other governments on behalf of the state; and provide policy recommendations to the governor, the Legislature, and state and local agencies on specific coastal waters resource management issues.

It is unclear how the Council would exercise these substantial duties in relation to the agencies with jurisdiction, which could participate only as nonvoting members. While the Council would be located within the Governor’s Office, the Council would determine its own membership and be an autonomous body. As we look to regain our strength in the post-recession economy, now is not the time to be creating new state commissions. I remain committed to an efficient, lean government that will better serve the citizens of this state.

I fully agree with the legislative intent to directly engage our coastal communities and give them a stronger voice in shaping their future. To that purpose, I will assign a representative from my office to actively participate in the existing Coastal Advisory Board convened by the Department of Ecology.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Sections 5 and 6 of Second Substitute Senate Bill 6263.

With the exception of Sections 5 and 6, Second Substitute Senate Bill 6263 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
Christine Gregoire, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO ON ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6486

March 30, 2012

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 2, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill 6486 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to collective bargaining for postdoctoral researchers at certain state universities."

Section 2 provides this act is null and void if specific funding is not provided in the omnibus appropriations act. A veto of this section is necessary to ensure collective bargaining rights for postdoctoral and clinical employees at the University of Washington and Washington State University. Further, if specific funding is not provided in the omnibus appropriations act, the administrative costs associated with the collective bargaining can be paid within existing funds or allocated to the funds that support the employees, many of which are not within the State General Fund.

For this reason, I have vetoed Section 2 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill 6486.

With the exception of Section 2, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill 6486 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
Christine Gregoire, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6508

March 30, 2012

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 3, Substitute Senate Bill 6508 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to department of social and health services waivers of overpayment recoveries."

Section 3 requires the Office of Fraud and Accountability within the Department of Social and Health Services to collaborate with the Auditor’s Office and the Department of Early Learning to identify, review, and provide the Legislature with recommendations for integrated monitoring and detection systems to prevent overpayments of public assistance. The Office of Fraud and Accountability was created for the specific purpose of focusing on the prevention and investigation of abuse and fraud in the use of public assistance benefits. To avoid diluting this focus, the Secretary of the Department of Social and Health Services should determine what resources of the Department are best used in advancing measures to prevent non-fraudulent overpayments of public assistance.

For this reason, I have vetoed Section 3 of Substitute Senate Bill 6508.

With the exception of Section 3, Substitute Senate Bill 6508 is approved.
Although I am approving the remainder of the capital budget, I am concerned about the long-term implications of over-approaching the State and Local Toxics Control Accounts, the Aquatic Lands Enhancement Account, and other natural resource accounts in both the capital and operating budgets. I have directed the Office of Financial Management to work with the Department of Ecology and the Recreation and Conservation Office to develop a plan to manage these accounts to prevent a cash deficit. However, there is a risk that lower revenue collections or accelerated project costs could create the need to suspend project to balance the accounts. While I value the economic activity and jobs that are created in the capital budget, I ask the Legislature to return to budgeting practices that result in sustainable capital plans with positive fund balances.

With the exception of Sections 1020, 3017, 6001(5)(b), and 6002, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6074 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
Christine Gregoire, Governor

PARTIAL VETO ON ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 6074
April 23, 2012

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning, without my approval as to Sections 1020, 3017, 6001(5)(b), and 6002, Engrossed Senate Bill 6074 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to funding capital project.”

Section 1020, pages 16-18, Office of Financial Management, Loan Program Consolidation Board
This proviso creates a loan program consolidation board to recommend a plan to consolidate under a single financing authority all existing state lending programs, including infrastructure and student loan programs. There have been five prior studies reviewing consolidation of infrastructure programs within the last six years. The most recent study was completed by the Public Works Board following the 2011 legislative session and provides ample information for a potential consolidation. Additionally, I do not believe it is appropriate for student loan programs to be comingle with infrastructure programs targeted to local governments and community groups. The Student Achievement Council is tasked to convene a work group on the higher education loan program and can better focus on reforming that program to meet the needs of today’s students. For these reason, I have vetoed Section 1020.

Parks and Recreation Commission, Lake Sammamish Concession and Event Facility
The State Parks and Recreation Commission is provided $1 million in general obligation bonds and authorization to enter into a certificate of participation financing contract for $2.1 million to build a concession and event facility at Lake Sammamish. It is not anticipated that the revenue initially generated by the event center will be adequate to cover the associated debt and operating costs. Additionally, other revenue generated by the State Parks and Recreation Commission is not stable enough to cover these costs if facility revenues are inadequate. For these reason, I have vetoed Section 3017 and Section 6001(5)(b), but I encourage the commission to resubmit this project for consideration for the next supplemental capital budget if the revenue outlook improves.

Section 6002, pages 55-56, Department of Commerce
The Department of Commerce is directed to work with stakeholders to develop recommendations for a competitive grant program to assist zoos, aquariums and technology and science centers in acquiring, constructing or rehabilitating their facilities. A funding mechanism for these organizations was the subject of legislation that failed to pass this session.

For this reason, I have vetoed Section 6002, but I encourage the organizations to continue to work with legislators, rather than the department, to address their concerns with developing a capital funding program for their facility needs.

This bill streamlines regulatory programs for managing and protecting the state’s natural environment while increasing the sustainability of program funding and maintaining current levels of natural resource protection.

Section 301 of the bill requires the Department of Ecology to prepare rules to update the categorical exemptions for environmental review under the State Environmental Policy Act (SEPA), revise the SEPA environmental checklist, and improve integration of SEPA with the provisions of the Growth Management Act. In updating the checklist, Section 301(2)(c) of the bill directs the Department of Ecology to “not include any new subjects into the scope of the checklist, including climate change and greenhouse gases.”

I have been assured that the intent of this language is confined to its plain meaning: This subsection addresses only how the Department of Ecology may modify the environmental checklist in its update of WAC 197-11-960. This language does not impact in any way the scope of the environmental analysis required at the threshold determination stage of the SEPA process or the scope of the environmental analysis required in an environmental impact statement. Letters I have received from legislators involved in the drafting of this language confirm that the Legislature’s intent was to address only the scope of the environmental checklist and not to amend any substantive SEPA requirements.

Respectfully submitted,
Christine Gregoire, Governor

PARTIAL VETO ON SECOND ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE
SENATE BILL NO. 6406
May 2, 2012

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 305 and 306 Second Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill 6406 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to modifying programs that provide for protection of the state’s natural resources.”

The Senate of the State of Washington

Respectfully submitted,
Christine Gregoire, Governor
This understanding and interpretation of the bill are set forth in letters to me from legislators directly involved in passage of the legislation, including an April 23, 2012, letter from Senator Sharon Nelson and Representative Dave Upthegrove, respective chairs of the Senate and House Environment Committees; an April 26, 2012, letter from Representatives Richard DeBolt, Joel Kretz, Bruce Chandler, Shelly Short, David Taylor, J. T. Wilcox, and Ed Orcutt; and an April 27, 2012, letter from Senators Jim Honeyford and Mark Schoesler.

This is also the understanding and interpretation set forth in an April 19, 2012, letter to me from Representative Joe Fitzgibbon, the prime sponsor of House Bill No. 2253, where this language first appeared. I have also received letters from stakeholders who participated in legislative proceedings related to this provision. These stakeholders include the Association of Washington Cities, Washington State Association of Counties, Futurewise, Association of Washington Business, and the Washington Chapter of the American Planning Association. These letters affirm that the intent of Section 301 was to eliminate existing duplication between state natural resource programs, and not to amend any substantive SEPA requirements. An April 20, 2012, joint letter from representatives of four environmental organizations notes that ESSB 6406 was the product of “a long and ultimately constructive negotiation amongst a diverse set of stakeholders,” including their organizations’ People for Puget Sound, Washington Conservation Voters, the Washington Environmental Council, and Climate Solutions. This letter quotes the language of Section 301(2)(c)(ii) and states: “Throughout the bill negotiations, there was agreement amongst all parties that the intent of this subsection was to ensure simply that no new line items were added to the SEPA checklist in the process of the checklist update directed by section 301.” However, the letter indicates that after the passage of this bill by the Senate and House, advisers to these organizations raised concerns that the language could be read to make broader changes in SEPA law.

After careful review, I have concluded that these assurances that the Legislature did not intend to limit the scope of SEPA review of adverse effects of climate change and greenhouse gases are fully supported. Section 1 of the bill expresses the Legislature’s intent to maintain current levels of natural resource protection. Additionally, Section 301(2)(c) specifically references the environmental checklist found in WAC 197-11-960. The Legislature did not reference other steps in the SEPA process such as the threshold determination addressed in different sections of chapter 197-11 WAC. Nothing in the letters I have received or in the legislative discussion of this provision negates this understanding.

My action in approving Section 301 is taken with the intent that it will operate only to prohibit inclusion of any new subjects in the scope of the checklist, and that the subjects of climate change and greenhouse gases will be considered in the environmental analysis required at the threshold determination stage of the SEPA process and in the environmental analysis required in a SEPA environmental impact statement. After consulting legal advisers, it is my understanding that this is the proper reading of this section of the bill and that this understanding will be considered by the courts when ascertaining legislative intent, as outline in Lynch v. State, 19 Wn.2d 802 (1944). Without this understanding, I would have vetoed Section 301.

Concern has also been raised that there is a need for a meaningful civil enforcement capacity to support the state’s Hydraulic Project Approval (HPA) program. I share this concern and have asked the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife to clarify the current enforcement mechanisms through rule revision within the ongoing HPA rule update, and to implement an effectiveness survey to measure results.

I am also asking the Department to deliver the survey results to the Office of Financial Management, the Governor’s Office, and the Legislature, with the intent to inform actions needed to create a more effective civil enforcement HPA program.

Amendments to the bill in the final day of the 2012 1st Special Session removed the explicit authority for local governments to collect a fee to recover their costs for a SEPA environmental impact statement prepared in support of certain land use plans. However, remnants of the original fee proposal that are no longer meaningful were left in the bill. Section 305 allows local governments to recover the costs of a SEPA environmental impact statement for certain land use plans from either state funds or private donations. Local governments are already authorized to accept funding from these sources. Section 306 refers to fees that are no longer authorized in Section 305. These two sections of the bill have the potential to create confusion with the existing authorities of local governments.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Sections 305 and 306 of Second Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6406.

With the exception of Sections 305 and 306 of Second Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6406 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
Christine Gregoire, Governor

MOTION

Senator Fain moved the vetoes and partial vetoes be held at the desk.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fraser: “Thank you Mr. President. As we look around and visit the floor and all the offices, everything looks in place and orderly and tidy but the reason this is the case is because we had a small army of people during the last week helping with a lot of moves, there were many offices that moved, we switched sides on the floor, we switched caucus rooms. There were a lot of moves last week and it couldn’t of happened without the exceptional dedicated, hard work and very fast work of many people, I can’t name names but I’d at least like to identify there you might say their employment affiliation. Senate administrative office, Secretary of the Senators office, legislative support services, the administration section, the supply and operations sections, the technology section, our legislative service center, the computer support telecommunications support, information technology support, member offices, very many of them were involved, caucus staff and also would like to recognize the hard and dedicated work of state department of Enterprise Services, administrative staff managers, supervisors who played a key role in the very successful move. So, I would like to compliment everybody involved and thank everybody involved including members of the staff of offices that moved. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE
Senator Parlette: “I would like to echo the good words of the Senator from the Twenty-Second District and say that in my own experience I could not believe it. If you had one of those huge recycle bins and you put it right outside your office, it was gone in a minute and brought back empty for you to do another one. So, everybody really did a great job and we should be thankful. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Tom: “thank you Mr. President. I am excited about the great opportunity that we have in front of us this session. It’s evident that there’s going to be issues that we disagree on but I think more importantly it’s the tone that we have set today, a tone of cooperation, a tone of collaboration. I want to thank Senator Murray and your caucus for the professionalism and the dignity that you’ve held this institution today in the manner we have gone about in this debate. You know, we have a lot of pressing issues in front of us if you look at as far as the joblessness, the education systems, the budget sustainability’s. It’s going to take all of us to move forward in a direction that our citizens expect us to go. It’s going to take all of us working side by side so that government functions for everyone. Albert Einstein was once asked ‘What is the most pressing question facing mankind today’ and his answer was kind of interesting, you would think Einstein one of the greatest minds of the twentieth century could of come up with a lot of different things but here was his answer. ‘Is the universe a friendly place?’ is the universe a friendly place, it is that tone that I hope that we can have in mind as we go forward this session, as we work on each other’s bills, as we work on those difficult issues. Can we make sure that this Senate is a friendly place because if we can we can do great things, we can do great things together and we can do great things for the people of this state. Thank you Mr. President.”

MOTION

At 2:57 p.m., on motion of Senator Fain, the Senate adjourned until 10:00 a.m. Tuesday, January 15, 2013.

The Sergeant at Arms of the House announced the arrival of Her Excellency Governor Christine Gregoire and her family at the Chamber doors. The committee of honor escorted Governor Gregoire and family to the rostrum and the family was introduced: First Gentleman Mike Gregoire, Michelle and Courtney Gregoire, Scott Lindsay and Audrey Christine Lindsay.

The President welcomed state officials and representatives from the State of Nevada as well as representatives from the Republic of Uzbekistan who were also present in the House gallery.

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post 318 Honor Guard, commanded by Ken Wojczynski. The President led the Joint Session in the Pledge of Allegiance. The National Anthem was performed by the Auburn High School Choir Chamber Quartet comprised of Mr. Marcoantonio Garcia, Mr. Ethan Hinze, Miss Linda Karout and Miss Morgan Warren and directed by Ms. Kandy Gilbert. The Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post 318 Honor Guard retired from the Chamber.

The prayer was offered by Father Michael J. Ryan, formerly of St. Michael Parish, of Olympia.

Father Michael J. Ryan: ‘My friends, we read in the Hebrews Scriptures from the Prophet Micah, ‘This is all that I ask of you, to do justice, to love tenderly and to walk humbly with your God.’ My sisters and brothers, let us pray. Good and gracious God, we gather this day to ask your continual blessings on Governor Christine Gregoire as she passes the baton on to Governor-elect Jay Inslee. As she leaves after eight years of service, may she know our gratitude for the selfless ways in which she has led amidst great and unforeseen obstacles in our economy. She stood tall and continued to work tirelessly for the entire human family of the State of Washington. In her quiet wisdom, gentle care and compassion for the vulnerable, and those who were made to feel they are on the fringe of society, she gave them a sense of inclusion in the one human family. Her concern was for all the precious people of God that she was elected to serve. Bless her for the ways she insisted, from the young to the elders among us, would have opportunities to grow through education and public service. As a tribute to Christine Gregoire may all of us here strive to protect the beautiful creation that surrounds us and it is another sign that you, our God, is generous and gracious. Thanks too, today, to Secretary of State Sam Reed, State Auditor Brian Sonntag and Attorney General Rob McKenna and for their daughters and for their son-in-law Scott and this beautiful granddaughter, and, for those that would like, I invite you extend an arm of blessing as we pray: ‘May the Lord bless you and keep you, may the Lord let Gods’ face shine upon you and be gracious to you and the Lord look upon you kindly and give you peace.’ Amen.”

HONORING STATE ELECTED OFFICIALS LEAVING OFFICE
President Owen: “As Washington’s 17th Attorney General, Rob McKenna served as the state’s chief legal officer, directing more than 500 attorneys and 700 professional staff providing legal services to state agencies, the Governor and Legislature. He served two terms, with clear priorities: making communities safer by leading the state in fighting methamphetamine and prescription drug abuse, gang violence, human trafficking, sexual predators and domestic violence; protecting consumers and businesses from identity theft, internet predators, fraud and high-tech crimes, and promoting integrity in government by defending the state’s laws; and implementing new performance management initiatives in his office and encouraging open access to government. Prior to being elected attorney general, Rob was a Metropolitan King County Councilman from 1995-2007. He practiced business and regulatory law at Perkins Coie from 1988-1996, after receiving his J.D. from the prestigious University of Chicago Law School in 1988, where he was a member of the Law Review. He earned a B.A. in Economics and a B.A. in International Studies, both with honors, from the University of Washington. Rob and his wife Marilyn have four beautiful children.”

Attorney General Rob McKenna: “Madam Governor, Mr. President, Mr. Speaker of the House, Members of the House and Senate, I am honored to be here today with so many distinguished and dedicated public servants. I am also honored by the presence here today of a number of outstanding legal professionals from the Washington Attorney General’s Office (AGO) who are with us in the gallery. It has been a tremendous privilege to serve for the past eight years as Attorney General for our great state, and as the leader of the best public law office in America. As all of us do, we in the Attorney General’s Office stand on the shoulders of those who came before us, building on the tradition of excellence in the provision of legal services to this state government, and to the people of Washington State. The 1,100 attorneys, professional staff and support staff in our office handle over 20,000 court cases per year, including thousands of cases involving severely abused and neglected children, vulnerable adults, and victims of crime. We represent every agency of state government, from the largest DSHS, L&I, Ecology and Transportation, to the smallest. We provide them with legal counsel every day, and represent them in court thousands of times every year. The Washington AGO is recognized nationally as an outstanding law office, thanks to the tireless efforts of our staff. Over the past eight years, for example, we have won over 90 percent of our appellate cases, including all seven of the cases we have argued in the United States Supreme Court. We also represent the people of the State of Washington more directly in our role as the state’s Consumer Protection agency and anti-trust enforcement agency. In my two terms alone, we have successfully handled over 200,000 consumer complaints, brought enforcement actions against hundreds of companies that have unfairly and deceptively treated their customers, and gone after scammers of all descriptions from across the country. Thanks to this Legislature’s adoption of laws we have proposed, we have deployed new legal tools against 21st Century forms of fraud, going after spyware and malware purveyors, tackling identity theft, and teaching other state attorneys general offices how to do the same. We also have taken very seriously our role in protecting the public’s safety. We have successfully sought and obtained the legal commitment of sexually violent predators, including some of the most notorious in our state’s recent history. We have prosecuted dozens of violent felonies, stepping in where our county prosecutors have needed the state’s help, and we have assisted in solving many other new and cold-case crimes through our Homicide Investigations Tracking Unit. When four Lakewood police officers were brutally gunned down just after Thanksgiving a few years ago, our senior criminal investigator was on the scene that same morning, bringing to bear the resources of the ‘HIT’S’ Unit. When a state trooper was the victim of an attempted murder in Grays Harbor County, our Chief Deputy was in the local prosecutor’s office within 24 hours, and our office prosecuted the shooter to conviction in what proved to be a very challenging case. We also have sought to protect consumers, to enhance the public’s safety, and to support our law enforcement community, by offering our office’s ideas for strengthening our state’s laws in all these areas. Thanks to members of the legislature from both parties, and to Governor Gregoire, we have seen 45 bills written in the Attorney General’s Office become law, giving hope to survivors of domestic violence, providing new tools to consumers to avoid identity theft, and protecting children from the scourge of methamphetamine and from predators, among other measures we’ve proposed. In these and in many other ways as well, all of us in the Attorney General’s Office have sought to accomplish what all of you seek to accomplish every day when you come to work as leaders and public servants: To make a difference, to improve the lives of our fellow citizens, to leave this wonderful Evergreen State a little better than how we found it. I would like to thank all of you with whom I have been privileged to serve these past eight years, and especially the women and men of the Attorney General’s Office. It has been an extraordinary journey. Thank you all very, very much”.

On behalf of the people of the State of Washington and the Legislature, the President presented Attorney General Rob McKenna with a gift in gratitude for and recognition of his public service. The artwork, a rendering of the state capitol in glass, was created by local artist and former legislative and state employee Ms. Kim Merriman of Olympia, who was introduced and present in the gallery.

The President: “Next we have the opportunity to bid a fond farewell today to one of our state’s longest-standing elected officials, State Auditor Brian Sonntag. Mr. Sonntag was first elected to public office way back in 1978 as Pierce County Clerk, working as the administrative officer for the Superior Courts. He was elected to the office of Pierce County Auditor in 1986, an office his father, Jack W. Sonntag, had held for 21 years, from 1948 to 1969. Mr. Sonntag was elected Washington State Auditor on November 3, 1992. He has been re-elected every four years since then, most recently in 2008 with seventy percent of the vote. He has served our state with distinction and honor. We now turn Mr. Sonntag out to his private life, where he can have more time with his wife, Jann, their five sons and three grandchildren.”

State Auditor Brian Sonntag: “I often thought this would be a pretty good fit. I could get used to this. You know, I don’t get nervous talking to groups of people, or I haven’t until today. This is, this is a little daunting for me. No, this isn’t it. … I, I’d feel better if you just come up here. I first wanted to introduce my wife Jann. I also would like to introduce my sister-in-law Alison Dick, my number two son, Joey, and my granddaughter, Jade. You know, our state’s founders were a bunch of populists who didn’t really like or trust government very much. They had some pretty good reasons too, at that time. They created a very independent check and balance on state and local government operations. They called it the office of State Auditor and put it right smack in the Constitution. For this office, the only issue is accountability. It’s holding governments accountable to the people whom they work for. I define that as government being open, accessible, responsive and responsible, a government that listens to people and when it talks to them, tells them the truth. I think citizens certainly expect that and deserve nothing less from all of us. President Kennedy called public service, ‘a noble profession and a high calling.’ I have believed that my entire life. Like Governor Gregoire and like probably many of you here today, President Kennedy was a huge influence on me getting interested in public service at all. I was in the sixth grade when he came and spoke in Tacoma at Cheney Stadium. The ballpark was filled with students, high school and college students mostly. It was two months before he was killed but I got to go to the ballpark that day with my dad and listen to the President speak. He talked about the future. He talked about government not being a spectator sport. He talked about giving back and that has always meant so much to me. Those of us who the voters have hired are the holders of a trust, a fragile trust. We have an opportunity to serve the public. That opportunity comes with a responsibility, a responsibility, every day, to make a difference. I believe after 20 years as State Auditor, we have made a difference. We raised the visibility of this office so citizens could independently assess the stewardship of their government officials. We advocated for state employee whistleblowers and supported all state employees who are trying to make state government work better. We truly listened to citizens and helped connect them with their government. I’m proud that Governing Magazine credited us with what they described as a ‘one-of-a-kind effort to bring citizens in the decision-making fold.’ Not everyone thought that was such a swell idea but I’m glad we did. Open government is a deeply held value of mine and it must be for all of us in public office. Citizens must have clear and direct access to government meetings, actions and information. It’s the foundation of our state government and government at all levels. When government’s doors are open and elected officials remember who they work for citizens’ trust and confidence in government will increase. I’m proud of the work of our office the financial compliance and performance audits we have done and also some of the broader issues we’ve looked at and reported on. Issues like underfunded liabilities, the state’s financial systems, local governments at risk of financial sustainability and resizing state government’s footprint. We’ve been able to do the work we do because of the talents and commitment of the employees in the State Auditor’s Office, many of whom are here today and I’d like to recognize them and be recognized. I thank you so much. I’m so very blessed and thankful for the opportunity to serve the citizens of Washington, to have served with colleagues like these and others over the years and to have worked with some very wonderful people. Good luck to all of you and thanks for your service to our state”.

On behalf of the people of the State of Washington and the Legislature, the President presented State Auditor Brian Sonntag with a gift of artwork created by Ms. Kim Merriman in gratitude for and recognition of his public service.

The President: “And last but not least, we thank Sam Sumner Reed for his public service. Sam became Washington’s 14th Secretary of State in 2000, and he certainly made his mark in elections history. Sam and Rob McKenna took the people’s case for a wide open, Top-Two Primary to the United States Supreme Court, and won. Sam also is widely recognized for sweeping improvements to the voting process following Washington’s contested 2004 gubernatorial race, the closest in U.S. history. Throughout Secretary Reed’s past two terms in office, the Secretary has worked diligently to make Washington a more business-friendly state by allowing corporations to file electronically. Also in 2004, he launched the nation’s first state government digital archives to rescue disappearing electronic history. Prior to his service as Secretary of State, Reed was elected Thurston County Auditor five times and served as the Assistant Secretary of State. Governor Dan Evans appointed Mr. Reed Director of the Urban Affairs Commission and the Constitutional Reform Commission. Sam, whose family lived in Washington in territorial days, grew up in Wenatchee and later moved to Spokane. He attended Washington State University where he earned a Bachelor’s Degree in Social Studies and Master’s Degree in Political Science. Secretary of State Sam Reed and his wife Margie make their home in Olympia and are looking forward to spending more time traveling and working on their backhand in tennis. They have two adult children, David and Kristen, and two grandchildren.”

Sam Reed: “Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Governor Gregoire, distinguished statewide elected officials, Chief Justice Madsen and members of the Supreme Court, legislators, family and friends, people of Washington and those watching us on TVW: I thank you and I bid you a fond farewell today. Unlike the Governor, I don’t have a darling little granddaughter to show but I do have an ugly old valise. [Reading from the inside flap:] ‘January 13, 1910, Sam Sumner,’ My grandfather was sworn into the Washington State House of Representatives. This valise he bought to serve in the Washington State Legislature and gave this to me as a boy. It means a lot to me because he was the man who inspired me to public service. He really believed it was the highest calling. Our Sunday dinners in Wenatchee, I remember as a boy, he would give us a history lesson and a civics lesson. You know, for a little kid, you’d think this would be awfully boring but it wasn’t. He really inspired us and inspired me, really, to public service. It has been an amazing ride for Margie and me – 45 years of public service for the State of Washington and for Thurston County and actually, another five years of public work, three in education and a couple others and 35 years as an elected official in county and state government! Nearly a lifetime ago, it seems, we came to Olympia from the apple orchards and from the Palouse of Eastern Washington to first teach and then to serve in government. We stayed to raise our family here and to heed the call of service. On even our hardest days, we never regretted that decision. My heart is full today as this Wenatchee boy reflects on the opportunity to be of service and to work with many of you in this room to make Washington a better, more responsive and just government worthy of her people. Whenever we saw a problem to fix or an opportunity to grasp, we went to work. In our better moments, all of us worked collaboratively across the aisle, with common purpose and with civility. Together, we saved the Washington State Library, the oldest cultural institution in Washington going back to 1853 and it has a unique collection in the world of Washington State and Territorial history. Together, we created the nation’s first ground-up Digital Archives which now has three hundred million documents that are available to the public. Together, we handled the closest governor’s race in America – do you remember that? Anyway, I sure remember that. The Court remembers that. Remember? First the Democrats sued me one week, then, the next week, the Republicans sued me and they had to hear both of them real fast. Afterwards, we had this challenge and a challenge, really, for all of you who were here back in 2005, because we had to rebuild public confidence after that. We ended up proposing extensive election reform and with your help, not only did we get it passed but, frankly, now we’re the envy of the nation in terms of our election system in this state. Together also, we ramped up service to our job-creating corporations. We honored our history which means so much to me and so much, I have found, to most of you serving for Washington State. We had displays including women in government and the Suffrage Centennial in my office. We continue to look forward to the day when we have the Heritage Center which is a building for the Washington State Library, Washington State Archives right here on campus that welcomes and educates our visitors and provides a proper home for all our the public records and all our Library services and documents. Obviously, that was a shameless plug. Kim Wyman will carry it forward. I do want to thank my staff and there are a number of them up in the gallery. Would you please stand? I have really been blessed. I and many of you comment on this but I have been really been fortunate. I have such high-quality, bright, capable, articulate people who have worked with me. It’s been one of the great joys of serving. I also want to thank my fellow statewides. We’ve had a good time, we’ve worked together so collaboratively and, really it’s just been, I think, one of the, again, things I’ve truly enjoyed about serving. I want to thank the legislators in both houses and both sides of the aisle. It would have been easy, particularly when we got on these election reform measures, to start getting partisan and, you know, going after one another but, instead, you worked together and most of those measures we managed to pass almost unanimously and that in itself was quite an accomplishment. I would also thank my family and friends for the support that made public service possible and enjoyable all these years. I brought my grandfather’s briefcase along today as a poignant reminder of how we and our families influence each other. Sam Sumner, for whom I am named, was sworn in 100 years ago and his legacy later lived on in our community and in me personally. Politics is, and should be, a noble calling. I believe that. Although I am leaving public life, I am not leaving public service. I expect to be deeply engaged in volunteer working, mentoring and working as a private citizen on my signature issues of civility, bipartisanship and moderation. I feel confident we can look forward to bright and creative days ahead. I wish you well in these years. I have enjoyed serving. Thank you."

On behalf of the people of the State of Washington and the Legislature, the President presented Secretary of State Sam Reed with a gift of artwork created by Ms. Kim Merriman in gratitude for and recognition of his public service.

The President introduced Governor Christine Gregoire.

STATE OF THE STATE

Governor Christine Gregoire: “What a warm greeting. Thank you everyone. Before I begin, join me in remembering two distinguished legislators no longer with us. Senator Sid Snyder of Long Beach was an institution, a great and effective leader. He taught us how to listen, how to come together and how to get things done for the people of Washington. We will always remember Senator Sid Snyder. Senator Lorraine WoJahn of Tacoma was a woman who laid a path for all women to follow. She listened to the voiceless among us and she helped them: our children, the poor, the mentally ill, the disabled. We will always thank her for her service to our state. Let us remember Eva Santos, our Director of Human Resources. She brought so much to a life of public service: skill, compassion and integrity. We will miss Eva Santos. Let us also remember and honor Washington State Patrol Trooper Tony Radulescu. Last February, on a dark, rural road, Tony gave his life protecting all of us. We will never forget Tony’s sacrifice on behalf of the people of the State of Washington. And this morning, let us remember the brave military men and women who gave their lives in service to our nation in the past year. We owe them and their families a debt of gratitude for their sacrifice that can never be repaid. I ask you to pause with me for a moment of silence and remembering all of these who have lost their lives but will forever be remembered.”

The Joint Session observed a moment of silence in remembrance.

Governor Christine Gregoire: “Thank you. Good morning. Thank you, Father Mike, for starting us off with such an inspiring prayer. And thank you to the talented young singers from the Auburn High School Chamber Quartet: Linda Karout, Morgan Warren, Marcosantonio Garcia and Ethan Hinze. That was a beautiful rendition of our national anthem! You made Auburn High School proud and made this alum of Auburn High School proud. Thank you guys very much. Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Madame Chief Justice and distinguished justices of the court, honored officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, former governors, tribal leaders, local government officials, members of the Consular Association of Washington, my fellow citizens: Please, again, join me – and I want to take a moment, if I can, to give a big thanks to three wonderful public servants who I’ve had the privilege to serve with: Secretary of State Sam Reed, Attorney General Rob McKenna and State Auditor Brian Sonntag. Gentlemen, it has been a privilege to serve the people of this great state with you. Thank you for your years of dedicated service and congratulations. Let me introduce my family: my husband, Mike. How about a round of applause for Mike’s eight years of volunteer work to better the lives of our military service men and women and our veterans? Who’s the fellow in the gray suit? Why, that’s former Gov. Mike Lowry, watching from the gallery. Also, my daughter, Michelle, a third-year law student at the University of Washington; our daughter, Courtney, and son-in-law, Scott Lindsay. And of course, the most important thing in my life right now, my two-month-old grandbaby, Audrey Christine Lindsay. It’s true. We’ve already opened her GET account. We’re a family of lawyers. We’ve found the perfect way to lull her to sleep. Turns out reading the Revised Code of Washington to babies does wonders in putting both parent and child to bed. As one chapter of our lives ends, another begins with the arrival of Audrey Christine. And let me tell you, there’s nothing like changing diapers again to bring perspective to life. Being a grandmother is a great gift. To fall in love again and to remember what really matters. You know, the Executive Mansion was our home for eight years, and when I could, I slipped out the door and down the steps for a walk around our beautiful Capitol Campus. That was one time of my day that I could reflect. So today my last full day as Governor I invite you to come with me on my last walk to reflect on the state of the State of Washington what we accomplished this past eight years, and what we still must do to keep the state of our state strong. This particular morning, I see a woman in Beijing or Hyderabad, or Paris or Seoul. She works on a laptop that runs on Microsoft software. She sips a cup of Starbucks coffee. Her laptop ordered from Amazon was delivered to an airport via a Boeing 747. It was hauled to a warehouse on a Kenworth 18-wheeler built by our own Paccar. This woman happens to be a bio scientist. She’s working with hundreds of others on a global health project maybe a malaria vaccine led by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and PATH [Program for Appropriate Technology in Health] and our two great research universities, the University of Washington and Washington State University. Or maybe she just started a small life sciences company and is working with another start-up down in Vancouver on gene therapy for a rare disease. She also happens to be a healthy, discerning consumer, and in her bag is an apple, or bag of cherries, or bread made from Washington wheat or a Today we have the strongest, most integrated aerospace supply chain on earth with 50 percent more suppliers in the past eight years. I'm counting on you guys to make sure that happens. We are home to more than 128,000 Washingtonians to work every day. And we won’t rest on our laurels. Washington will always be the home to aerospace and the good-paying jobs that those companies bring. Along with aerospace, we have a software and IT presence that begins with Microsoft, Amazon, RealNetworks and T-Mobile, but in no way ends there. We are home to more than 4,000 companies across Washington. The fact is, our software and IT sector encompasses a broader range of products and services than just about any state in the United States, and brings more than $30 billion in business a year. Along with software and IT, a life sciences sector that took off in Seattle but now stretches to the Tri-Cities, Spokane, Snohomish County and Vancouver. About 70 Washington cities are home to 480 life sciences companies and research organizations, including biotech, pharma and medical devices. All relieve suffering here and around the world, and today they provide nearly 35,000 good-paying Washington jobs. Along with life sciences, a global health presence powered by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, PATH, our research universities and nonprofits. Thank you for establishing the Life Sciences Discovery Fund. It has proven to be an essential tool in growing the industry, and I ask you to continue to support it. Along with global health: agriculture. Apples, potatoes, wheat, wine and dozens of other products are shipped all over the world, making agriculture our second-largest export after transportation equipment. This $46 billion industry exported $8.6 billion in products in the past 12 months. Ladies and gentlemen, that’s a record! I’ve handed out cherries in South Korea, French fries in Vietnam and Almond Roca in Beijing. I've enjoyed being Promoter-in-Chief but I have to admit I won’t miss being called the French Fry Lady! And along with all this, we have the Hanford Nuclear Reservation, the one-of-its-kind incubator not just for cleanup technology for the world, but for breakthroughs in everything from cancer treatment to an energy-saving electricity grid to scientists and engineers who are following the innovation of their Hanford forbearers and inventing first-time technology, this time to be used to clean up not just the Hanford site, but sites from England to Russia to Japan. It’s very clear. No other state has what we have. So this morning, part way through our walk, I’m ready to report. The state of Washington is coming out of the Great Recession as a world leader in the economies of the 21st century industries that provide good jobs from Spokane to Seattle and from Bellingham to Vancouver. And despite the challenges ahead, I can say today that the state of our state is strong! We can say with confidence that in the past eight years, we have built the future of the Great State of Washington a future of promise and opportunity. On our walk, we now can see the magnificent Capitol dome in the distance and the marble building where you and I have worked together for the past eight years. I think everybody in this Chamber will agree: History will reflect that this was not just any eight years. You were not just any Legislature. And these were not just any times. You and I witnessed a historic economic crisis and with it, wrenching change in our economy and in our social fabric. But we didn’t just witness it. We were called to confront it every day. And we did. Together, we served in good times and bad. And whatever the challenge, we took it on for the people of Washington State. Our biggest challenge started in 2008 when trouble hit trouble not seen since the Great Depression with revenue plunging quarter after quarter as if there were no bottom. In fact, revenue fell almost every quarter 2013 for 13 of 16 until it finally stabilized last February. That was the longest string of revenue drops since the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council was created 28 years ago. You were tested. I was tested. This was not what I expected. It wasn’t what anybody expected. But we stepped up. And together, we guided the state of Washington through the worst economic calamity since the Great Depression and we did it with our heads and our hearts. We did it with compassion. And we did it with our Washington values. So today, I thank you. You have much to do in the months ahead, but let’s pause this morning and be grateful to each other for all we’ve accomplished together to build the future of Washington state. When I came into office in 2005, we were at the tail end of a recession. We were on the road to recovery from the impact of Initiative 695, the dot-com bust and 9-11. There was pent-up need for services, education, health care, our social safety net, the environment, transportation. Money is never unlimited. Even then, we had to make hard choices. Everybody was banging at the door. From the start, we said that just getting by isn’t good enough. We wanted to do better for the people of our state. And we made the best decisions to build the future of Washington. The best decisions for our schoolchildren and our college students. I’m proud that in my first term, we invested more in education than at any other time in our history. We created the Department of Early Learning. The impact we make on our children will benefit our state for generations to come. Harvard has named our early learning program as the most innovative in the country. And we are one of just nine states to receive an Early Learning Race to the Top $60 million grant. We made the best decisions for our K-12 system, and despite the challenges we still face, our public schools are serving our kids in ways that this century demands if they are to succeed in the world economy. We put more money and muscle into science, technology, engineering and math, or STEM, so our children are ready for the jobs of the future. We are implementing a model evaluation system so our teachers can excel and win the confidence of parents. We have innovative schools with targeted, creative approaches to learning. We have Launch Year to prepare seniors for jobs or college. We have College Bound scholarships to give kids who do well in school and stay out of trouble a path to college. Let’s build more schools and fewer prisons! We made the best decisions for our two- and four-year colleges to keep the doors open to more students and more opportunity. We increased enrollment in our community and technical colleges by 31,000 students and launched online learning. Today, we are building the workforce of tomorrow: Twenty-four of our colleges provide training for aerospace jobs. We provided branch campuses to serve more Washingtonians, and today the UW has campuses in Tacoma and Bothell. WSU has campuses in Vancouver, the Tri-Cities and Spokane, and offers four-year degrees at Everett Community College. We expanded enrollment at our universities, and today we are educating 12,000 more students a year. The bottom line: 50,000 more students are getting a college education because we believe in them and our future. We significantly increased financial aid for all our college students even in tough times. We created the Student Achievement Council to focus on our students’ success from high school to higher education. We created a public-private partnership the Opportunity Scholarship so smart young people can afford a college education. The Great Recession has severely tested our higher education system. We had tuition increases because we had to. We had no choice. We had to maintain our values, quality and access. And we did. Now the challenge is clear. Our future is at stake. We must fully fund a seamless education system from early learning through higher education. We made the best decisions for transportation. In 2005, we passed a historic construction package, and voters ratified it because we made our case. And we have delivered on our promise. From the 2005 voter-endorsed gas tax we are close to completing all 421 statewide projects. Eighty-eight percent have been completed early or on time, and 91 percent are on or under budget. Those projects provided thousands of good-paying jobs at a time we needed them most. And importantly, those projects move millions of people every single day. They move moms and dads to work, their kids to school and soccer practice, and products to and from our thriving ports. We are building a world-class infrastructure. In 2015, we will open the two-mile-long tunnel under the heart of Seattle to replace the crumbling, dangerous Alaskan Way Viaduct and give Seattle a world-class waterfront. I’ll be at the ribbon cutting with my granddaughter! We are building the new 520 Bridge across Lake Washington to replace the 50-year-old structure that could fall in the next bad windstorm. I’ll be at that ribbon cutting too maybe with two grandchildren! Today, that part of our future that relies on passage over Snoqualmie Pass is faster and safer for freight and motorists. We have built half of Spokane’s critical North-South Freeway. And we are on our way to building the new Columbia River Crossing to replace the current one built for horse and buggy. Ladies and gentlemen, within the past eight years, we undertook the largest transportation construction package in state history: more than $16 billion. And we – not the next big earthquake or windstorm – are knocking down the old Viaduct, the 520 Bridge and the Columbia River Crossing Bridge and building for our future. We made difficult decisions for our social safety net and health care. We were tested, but I believe we maintained the health and safety of our most vulnerable our seniors, our mentally ill, our developmentally disabled, and our abused and neglected children. We made sure every child in Washington has access to health care, certainly one of our proudest accomplishments. We have built one of the best long-term care systems in the nation, a system of choices for our seniors to live out their lives in dignity. AARP [Association of American Retired Persons] rates our system the second-best in the country. We just became the second state in the nation to assure better, safer health care for our poorest seniors and disabled. We will merge and manage their care under Medicare and Medicaid for better-quality care at a lower cost. In 2005, we set out to cut costs, increase access and provide higher-quality health care. We did, we are, and we lead the nation. While the vast majority of other states are struggling with rising Medicaid-inflation costs, our growth rate is projected to be minus one percent. You heard me right: minus one percent. We are employing evidence-based medicine to ensure better health outcomes for Washingtonians. And because we were already reforming health care, we are among the first states in the nation to implement the Affordable Care Act! This morning I ask you to embrace this historic opportunity to give every Washingtonian the health care coverage they deserve and you will save $140 million in the next biennium. Every Washingtonian deserves an open door to the doctor when they need one! We made the best decisions for public safety. Washingtonians have a right to be safe in their homes and on the streets. We took action in good times and bad, and the crime rate has fallen every year since I took office. Every jurisdiction now has the resources to verify that sex offenders are living where they say they are. We closed three prisons to make better use of space, and did it without letting the serious offenders walk free. We strengthened community supervision and now we concentrate on the offenders who are high risk to reoffend. And I’m proud to say the Washington State Patrol is ranked the best state law enforcement agency in the country. We made the best decisions for our economy. One in three jobs in our state depends on international trade. We sold, traded and created innovative partnerships through 12 trade missions. This fall, we became the first state to establish a sister-state relationship with an Indian state, Andhra Pradesh. China is now our number one trading partner, with Canada, Japan and Korea close behind. Trade with China alone has grown at an average rate of nearly 20 percent a year since 2000, even during the global downturn. In the past eight years, we have recruited and retained shippers at our ports, most recently Hanjin, Korea’s largest container line, at the Port of Seattle. Our export of goods has grown 119 percent, from about $30 billion to $65 billion. Export services have grown up by another $2 billion. Make no mistake. Our trade economy kept us going through the hard times and it is our future. It unites Eastern and Western Washington, impacts every community and provides the jobs we need. We are the most trade-dependent state in the nation, and the fact is our work knows no boundaries. Like never before, we trade with the world! We made the best decisions for clean, renewable energy now and in the future. Our base is legacy hydropower. When I took office, we produced no wind power. Today we are among the top-five wind energy producers. We are pioneering the smart grid and have a strong presence in the solar power supply chain. Clean, renewable energy has been our unique history for 80 years. Today, we are number one in the nation in renewable energy. We made the best decisions for water. I believe a new era is finally here, when bitter wars over water are finally surrendering to partnerships that bring good, clean and new water to our farms, our fish and our growing cities. We’ve made the most progress with water in our history: more water to the Yakima Basin and our growing west side cities, innovative tools through water markets and banking to create flexibility, and protection for our fish-critical basins. Mark Twain said, ‘Whiskey’s for drinking and water’s for fighting.’ Well, no longer will our water policy be defined by who won and who lost. It’s high time that we all win and we will! We made the best decisions for broadband. Today, 99 percent of Washingtonians have access to high-speed internet. We had a plan when the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act was looking to invest in broadband. Today we’ve been named the most-wired state in the nation. We made the best decisions to save the jewel and economic engine of Western Washington, our Puget Sound. We created a partnership among local, state and federal governments, tribes and stakeholders to get it done. We must meet our goal to make Puget Sound fishable, swimmable and diggable by 2020. Let’s be the generation that saves Puget Sound! We made the best decisions to support our brave military men and women and veterans. In fact, you passed, and I signed, more legislation to help veterans than at any other time in our history! We are a step ahead in our efforts to make sure we keep Washington’s second-largest employer, our United States military. I urge you to support our Washington Military Alliance and fund our proposal to maintain our military presence that adds $13 billion a year to our economy. We made the best decisions to reset and reform state government. Our challenges in the past eight years were unprecedented. We said we would not waste this crisis, and we did not. Together, we achieved landmark pension and debt service reforms that will lead to billions of dollars in future savings. Ladies and gentlemen, we are the envy of states around...

Accountability and Performance, successful. Now the y’re doing care premiums and pension payments. They helped make have sacrificed with furloughs and pay cuts, with higher health more people. Our public servants have met the challenge and they workforce has shrunk by nearly 11 percent. The number of state closed was four decades ago. Since 2008, our general government biennium. We closed six institutions. The last time even one was million and is expected to save another $27 million in the next back-office operations under one director at the new Department increases in workers’ comp premiums. In two of those years, the again this year. And over the past eight years, we had little or no weather the recession. Together, we reformed our workers’ compensation and unemployment insurance systems. We saved our businesses including small businesses billions of dollars in the years to come. We held workers’ compensation rates flat again this year. And over the past eight years, we had little or no increases in workers’ comp premiums. In two of those years, the Department of Labor and Industries returned $350 million. At the same time, we reformed the way we serve injured workers, and we’re getting them back on the job faster or trained for new careers. While 36 states’ funds are bankrupt, we have the most stable unemployment insurance (UI) trust fund in the nation and record-low UI rates. Together, we ripped out the walls and pulled up the floors to remodel our 123-year-old house of government. We consolidated and merged all or part of five agencies’ back-office operations under one director at the new Department of Enterprise Services. This has already saved taxpayers $18 million and is expected to save another $27 million in the next biennium. We closed six institutions. The last time even one was closed was four decades ago. Since 2008, our general government workforce has shrunk by nearly 11 percent. The number of state employees is the lowest since 1996, and they serve 1 million more people. Our public servants have met the challenge and they have sacrificed with furloughs and pay cuts, with higher health care premiums and pension payments. They helped make my favorite four-letter word GMAP, for Government Management Accountability and Performance, successful. Now they’re doing Lean management to serve Washingtonians in better and more efficient ways. Today let’s recognize the caseworker called out at midnight to save a battered child, the snowplow driver clearing Snoqualmie Pass at 3 a.m., the agriculture inspector making sure our food is safe, the legislative lawyer who works through the night to get the bills just right, the person at the front desk whose phone is lit up all day long. Today I ask you to stand and join me in well-deserved recognition for our dedicated state employees! Finally, we made the best decision for our gay and lesbian citizens, and the people of Washington agreed. We clearly saw that separate but equal is not equal. We gave all couples the right to marry and to help us build a better Washington and a better world. I’m proud that our gay and lesbian couples became the first in the country to marry because their friends and neighbors stood up at the ballot box and said they should have that right. I’m proud that our citizens passed marriage equality by the widest margin of any state. And I’m proud of my daughters for showing the way and helping me realize that their generation understands that who you are is not about who you love. Thank you. So thanks for taking this walk with me today. It’s my last one, and I appreciate your company. Tomorrow at noon, I will be the former Governor of the Great State of Washington. And you will be writing new history with Governor Jay Inslee. I know this won’t surprise you but before I go, I have two recommendations for you about the future of the Great State of Washington. First, this Legislature must give our children what we were given: good schools, good teachers and the chance to be part of the world economy. We cannot falter. Education is the heart of everything we do and it is our future. Second, if education is the heart of our economic future, transportation is the backbone. Our state will remain strong only if our roads, highways, bridges and ferries are effectively getting our people to work and our goods to market. Remember our competition. China isn’t waiting. India isn’t waiting. Korea isn’t waiting. We can’t wait either. The decision of the Supreme Court in McCleary told us we are failing in our paramount duty. Our moral and legal responsibility is to give every child in Washington the chance for a good basic education, the same one you and I got. There is no free lunch. We cannot cut our way out of this. We cannot save our way out of this. To meet the McCleary ruling, we will need at least a $1 billion down payment in the next biennium and $3.4 billion by 2018. Today is the day. Now is the time. We must invest in our children and their future! We must also have the transportation infrastructure for our economic corridors to get employees to work and goods to market if we want to remain a vibrant economic competitor in the years to come. These projects and more demand funding: The Columbia River Crossing; Spokane’s North-South Freeway, Snoqualmie Pass; State Route 167 between Tacoma and Puyallup; the 40-mile I-405 corridor; a new 144-car ferry; and I-5 at Joint Base Lewis-McChord. Freight-dependent businesses account for nearly 45 percent of our jobs. Companies move nearly $40 million worth of freight on our roads every single hour. We must maintain our very valuable transportation system, from highways and bridges to ferries and city streets. If we step up to our commitment to build a new Columbia River Crossing with Oregon this year, the federal government will too. I urge you to invest the $450 million to make certain that this critical West Coast economic corridor moves forward. Now is the time to build the future of Washington! In the end, these two challenges are only that challenges. You’ve met tougher ones in the past eight years, and you delivered for the people of Washington. I know you will deliver again. You will do what you always do. You will keep the state of our state strong! Finally, today, in my last appearance as governor I still feel the need to pinch myself a little to make sure the past eight years weren’t just a dream. My mother was a short-order cook at the Rainbow Café in Auburn for so many years, a single mom who worked so hard and kept a watchful eye on her daughter, Chris O’Grady, sitting on a stool in the kitchen doing her homework. I always believed what my mom said, ‘You can make it in America if you work hard enough. If you respect yourself and serve those around you. If you keep the faith and don’t give up.’ That’s what I did. I was just a Washington girl who loved to play basketball, pick blueberries, ride horses in the summer. I was just a young Washington woman who became the first in her family to graduate from college. I was just a Washington woman who got that gift of education, who admired John F. Kennedy and who chose a career of public service as a clerk typist, a caseworker, an Assistant Attorney General, a Director of Ecology, an Attorney General and then the ultimate privilege: to serve as Governor of the state I love, the Great State of Washington. And on my last full day as Governor, I can speak from experience and say we still live in the greatest state in the nation and the greatest country in the world. Thank you to the people of Washington, for the pleasure of serving you. And thank you, ladies and gentlemen of the Legislature, for hearing me one last time. I appreciate it. I will miss governing and I will miss all of you. Please accept my deepest thanks for your public service. Farewell, God bless you and God bless the great State of Washington.”

President Owen: “Thank you Governor for you very, very profound remarks. I can see why you are such an excellent politician, emphasized by a couple of our colleagues. For instance, Auditor Sonntag pulls out a grocery list during his remarks, as a prop. Okay. Sam Reed? A used up old briefcase. The Governor? A two-month old baby. Nice going. Governor you have been proven to be a very skilled mediator, a tough negotiator, and extremely effective leader in the toughest of times. We thank you very much and wish you all the best. Personally, I would like to thank you for your tremendous accessibility, your guidance and your friendship over the years that we’ve had. Thank you very much. We would also like to present you with a little remembrance of your time serving the great State of Washington."

On behalf of the people of the State of Washington and the Legislature, the President presented Governor Christine Gregoire

Give us in these moments of prayer a spirit of true unity as we attune our souls to a Higher Power. God of Grace, we ... Amen.”

OATHS OF OFFICE

Governor Jay Inslee: “

GOVERNOR’S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Governor Inslee: “Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Madam Chief Justice, distinguished Justices of the court, my fellow statewide elected officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, members of our armed forces and National Guard, members of the Consular Corps, Governor Mike Lowry and Governor Christine Gregoire and all of my fellow Washingtonians: This we know: Our world is changing faster and more dramatically than ever before. Once-in-a-lifetime events now seem to happen with startling regularity. We’ve seen the greatest financial crisis since the Great Depression, natural disasters fueled by climate change and unimaginable human tragedies, like Sandy Hook Elementary. But we also bear witness to rapid breakthroughs in technology, medicine and the fundamental understanding of our universe. Every day I am left in awe at how much we are able to achieve and heartbroken over the tragedies that we have had to endure. We truly live in extraordinary times. We also live in an extraordinary state, filled with extraordinary people. Where the world sees uncertainty, we Washingtonians see opportunity. And we all feel a profound responsibility to our children and our grandchildren. We have a spirit of innovation here in Washington that has changed the world, from aerospace to software to e-commerce. And you know what? We are not done. A new world economy is emerging from the depths of this recession. While its contours and relationships are not fully understood to us, understood to us, we do know two things: First: With our uniquely powerful fusion of values and talents, Washington state has the potential to lead the next wave of world changing innovations. Second: The world will not wait for us. We face fierce and immediate global competition for the jobs of tomorrow. Leading this next wave of growth is our opportunity, not our entitlement. We must move, swiftly and boldly, to put this recession behind us and bring forward a unique economic strategy that brings the best of Washington state to the world. As Franklin Delano Roosevelt said, ‘Never before have we had so little time in which to do so much.’ Today, I’d like to share my vision of our path ahead. I know that to achieve this vision we’ve all got to work together. Democrat and Republican, House and Senate, East and West, to answer the challenges of our age. I have represented both sides of our state, first as a state representative from Yakima Valley, then in Congress representing both Eastern and Western Washington. I want to thank the people of Washington for electing me to be your governor. I am truly humbled to represent all of Washington, and to deliver the change in Olympia all the people asked for me last November. Now I would like to do something very difficult to do as a University of Washington Husky, and that is to honor a Washington State Cougar. I would like to introduce all of you to my wife of 40 years, Trudi Inslee, a great Washington State Cougar. We met at Ingraham High School in 1966 and any who doubt the power of public education, it can create great marriages, I can tell you that. We raised our family in a century-old farmhouse in the Yakima Valley. I’d also like you to meet my three boys and their families: Connor; Joe; Jack and his wife, Megan; our grandson, Brody; and the newest Inslee, Zoe Ann. Hey Brody. This is a very special day for my family, all of our electeds’ families. And this is a very special time for many other families in our state for this reason. People all across Washington stood up for fairness and family in approving marriage equality last November. We should all be proud. The vote on Referendum 71 represents the best of who we are as a state. It should be an inspiration for the progress we can make always towards equality, always towards fairness, always towards justice all across of Washington. It has been an amazing journey for me and Trudi over the past year and a half, as we’ve traveled to all corners of the state. I am a fifth generation son of the state of Washington. I’m proud to have roots in this state that are as wide as they are deep. My family came to this state as fishermen and gold mining engineers. My grandmother raised four boys as a single mother working at Bartell’s drugstore. My uncles and cousins built the best airplanes in the world at Boeing, my dad was a biology teacher, a great biology teacher, and I am proud that my mom and dad worked to restore the alpine meadows of Mount Rainier. But I am mostly proud of the working people of Washington, and I believe I know their work. I’ve driven bulldozers in Bellevue, painted houses in Burien, I know the business end of a jackhammer, I’ve prosecuted drunk drivers and I raised hay in the Yakima Valley. Washington has welcomed many people to our great state from all points of the compass, but no matter when you and your family arrived here, in our souls all of us in Washington are pioneers. That is what makes us unique. We push the world forward. We take risks. We take pride in what we do and who we are. I look forward to a true partnership with Senate Majority Leader Rodney Tom and with Democratic Leader Ed Murray, and with House Speaker Frank Chopp and Minority Leader Richard DeBolt. I want us to collaborate early and often on a legislative agenda that benefits all of Washington. I want to work with every member of the Legislature, personally. Our economy draws its strength from a marketplace of ideas, and so should our state. I have called all of you in the Legislature already and I’m ready to begin this partnership. If you got a call from me in the last several weeks, that wasn’t a robocall. I need to talk to each one of you so we can work together to better the future of our state. When the people of Yakima sent me here to Olympia more than two decades ago, Washington had just completed its first century. I sat and listened as former Governor Booth Gardner presented us with a challenge heading into Washington’s second century. He said, ‘Either we respond to international competition, or we doom ourselves and our children to a dramatic slide to second-rate status in the world.’ We chose to answer this challenge with a unique formula for international success that has made us who we are today: the businesses, entrepreneurs, state government, all working together. Now it’s 24 years later. I have a new job, a new vantage point, and the world looks much different. A once-vibrant and growing state economy was brought low by the gross irresponsibility of those on Wall Street. As a result we have suffered four years of recession, with almost 300,000 people in Washington looking for work. Too many of our families are on the brink of losing their home. Parents lie awake at night wondering how they can provide for their children’s future. But we do remain an optimistic state, a visionary state and an innovative state. Time has not dimmed and the recession has not diminished our thirst for innovation and our talent for technological growth. We are the most creative, entrepreneurial group of businessmen and women, scientists, educators and workers on the planet. Companies like Silicon Energy in Marysville are leading the world with some of the most durable solar cells ever built. Janicki Industries in Sedro Woolley is driving innovation in aerospace. Valve, a software company in Bellevue, has grown into a worldwide leader in interactive entertainment. And in Grays Harbor an across-the-board effort led to the re-opening of the paper mill last year, putting 175 people back to work making 100 percent recycled paper. I have this to say about Washington: Innovation is in our genes. We create. We invent. We build. So now we must go forward, with both high ambition and a recognition that the power of innovation will fuel the next wave of job growth in Washington. Make no mistake: Our top priority today, tomorrow, and every single day for the next four years, is jobs. We must build a working Washington, capable of sustained economic leadership in a rapidly changing world. During the campaign I put out a plan to get Washington back to work that grew to more than 100 points of action. My plan focuses on job growth in seven industry clusters: aerospace, life sciences, military, agriculture, information technology, clean energy technology and the maritime trades. These clusters represent both the present and the future key drivers of economic growth and job creation in our state. We must support innovators in these areas with incentives to take risks and bring ideas from dream to reality. I have proposed a tradable R and D [research and development] tax credit to help early-stage companies to develop and commercialize their idea. It’s worked in other states, and it’s something we can do this session. I will work with the Legislature to make it more desirable for small and medium-size businesses to hire more people and to do a better job commercializing the technologies developed in our world-class research institutions, connecting the dots from the classrooms to the laboratory to the marketplace. We’ve got to get that job done. No economic strategy would be complete without a transportation plan that facilitates this growth. This session I expect to work with stakeholders that have already committed to a bipartisan plan to build an infrastructure for the next generation. In the next 10 years, our population will grow by approximately three-quarters of a million people, but we will not add one more square inch of dirt. To honestly address our infrastructure, we’ve got to recognize that in transportation creativity is just as important as concrete. I want to turn our innovative spirit towards crafting a transportation package that includes roads, trains, light rail, buses, bike routes, pedestrian and every other mode of transportation. We need ways to free capacity for freight and commerce, and to fundamentally rethink how we do the business of transportation in our state and how we use our transportation infrastructure. If we’re serious about long-term economic growth, innovation must become part of the very culture of Olympia. I heard a clear and powerful message on Election Day. The people of Washington State are tired of a state government that doesn’t change with the times. They expect me, and all of us here, to be as innovative as the people we represent. Since the recession, the debate over the state budget seems to be stuck in the movie ‘Groundhog Day.’ We have the same arguments and we revisit the same untenable options. It’s time we made it to a new day. Today we begin a multi-year effort to bring disruptive change to Olympia, starting with the very core of how we do business. With authentic, courageous leadership, we will bring the principles of Lean management to all of state government, following the lead of Boeing, Virginia Mason and a growing number of state and local governments. We will provide efficiency, effectiveness and transparency. Importantly, we will introduce performance metrics where it counts, giving us the data we need to fix what’s broken, cut what we don’t need and replace rhetoric with quantifiable results. But this effort is about more than measurement. It’s about instituting a culture shift that will endure well beyond my administration. Moving forward, all state agencies will be rooted in the same three principles: First, we will measure success by the results we produce, not the money we put in. Second, we will know our customers and what they value. Third, every agency will adopt a unique process for continual improvement that engages our state employees. Change is coming to Olympia, and I want all state employees to be an active part in it. I know how much state employees have sacrificed. You’ve been on the front lines, figuring out how to do more with less during this recession just like every family in Washington right now. You will be empowered as change agents, and we will need your ingenuity and dedication more than ever. I am serious about reform. I will be taking action to transition to a results- and data-driven government, with continuous quality improvement, employee engagement and clear accountability. And to honestly address our budget problems, we must admit the difficult truth that the road to a balanced budget and a fully-funded educational system runs directly through health care reform. This means investing in preventative care and aligning incentives with patients to encourage healthy lifestyle choices. King County is already doing this, and it is working. We’ll improve the health of all of us in Washington as we move from ‘sick care’ to the true health care system we deserve. We need to leverage our Medicaid and state employee health systems, and engage health care providers, carriers and community clinics, to find innovative payment models and health care delivery systems that incentivize quality over quantity, value over volume. Effectively implementing the Affordable Care Act will save us money by removing the hidden tax of hundreds of dollars paid monthly by all our state’s insured citizens. We can do this for the health of our family and the health of our economy. When we make our health care system more efficient, we lower the cost of doing business in our state. The states that get this right will have a clear advantage in recruiting and retaining the jobs of tomorrow. This session, we must make sure Washington gets this right, first. And I look forward to working with you. Now, as we do this we must also protect the quality and choice that we expect from a health care system that works. For that reason, Washington women need the freedom and privacy to make the health care decisions that are best for themselves and their families. That’s why I look forward to the Legislature sending the Reproductive Parity Act to my desk, which I will sign. Let’s get this done. For Washington to be successful, our economy, our government and our schools must all work together, but before we continue, I want to take a moment to honor the courage and heroism of public school teachers, educators and all of our public employees. The tragedy at Sandy Hook Elementary School in Connecticut showed us all that our nation’s educators put the welfare of their students above everything, even their own lives. You may have heard the story about the parent who was in the principal’s office when the sounds of gunshots began. That parent said she ran to get under the nearest desk, as most people would have done, but the educators in the room ran another way. They ran toward the sound of the gunfire. They did not return. It is my fervent hope that the country sees the sacrifices made at this one school, in this one state, as entirely consistent with what teachers and educators do every day, in every school, protect the children in their care. We should honor them today. The tragedy at Sandy Hook was unimaginable, but, unfortunately, not unfamiliar. We have lost too many loved ones in Washington state: in a Seattle cafe, in Lakewood, at the Seattle Jewish Federation, in a house in Carnation, all victims of a lethal combination of untreated mental illness, evil intent and easy access to deadly weapons. Any failure to address this issue of violence in our communities and our schools this year will be intolerable, and in the coming weeks I will work with the Legislature to address this crisis responsibly. I don’t have all the answers, but I know the sooner we reject the extremes and embrace common sense, the sooner we’ll be able to get a public health solution to a public health crisis. And common sense tells us that this solution will involve mental health and keeping guns out of the wrong hands while respecting the right of my son to hunt and my uncle to defend his home. This is common sense. All of us have an obligation to provide for the well-being of our families, to ensure their safety and to make sure our children are prepared for the world. I’m proud of our students across Washington. In Pasco, they’ve improved school graduation rates through intervention teams they created. In Renton, they closed the achievement gaps with a world-class approach that demands continuous quality improvement in how we educate our children. I visited the TAF [Technology Access Foundation] Academy where, thanks to a unique public-private partnership, young students are applying the latest technological tools to solve real-world problems. Across our state we need this kind of real innovation, real reform using proven models and real accountability. We need to increase the emphasis on STEM education. Science, technology, engineering and math [STEM] are just as important to the next generation as the three R’s were to my generation. They are the essential tools for success in this new economy. We need to invest more where we get the biggest return, in quality early learning programs. We need a system that aligns from early learning to K-12 [kindergarten to 12th grade] to our universities. Accountability must be present at every level. We should continue the progress we are making on improving the teacher and principal evaluation system, and make it a significant part of personnel decisions. And yes, we need to meet the funding obligations set out by the McCleary decision, but we cannot continue to allow funding debates to mask deeper problems in our schools that do demand innovation and reform. I want us to be able to look our children in the eyes, knowing that we honored our commitment to provide them with a world-class education through systemic, sustainable reform of our schools. It’s also critical for us to preserve the leading role of our research institutions play in inventing the future, growing our economy and growing and creating jobs. While we do this, we can no longer accept the misalignment between what our schools teach and what skills our employers need. This is something I will act on immediately to sharpen the relationship between our schools and the economy they are preparing our young people to enter. It will be hard work, but it is required work if we want Washington to rise to the challenges the world will present us. There is no challenge greater for Washington, with more opportunity for job growth in Washington and more suited to our particular brand of genius and ingenuity, than leading the world’s clean energy economy. It is clear to me that we are the right state, at the right time, with the right people. It’s also clear to me that we face grave and immediate danger if we fail to act. Nine of 10 of the hottest years on record happened in the past decade. We’ve had epic flooding, searing drought, devastating wildfires, including last summer’s fires in Central Washington and the rising tides along our coast. Our Pacific Northwest waters, including in Puget Sound, are becoming too acidic due to carbon pollution, forcing parts of our shellfish industry already to have had to move last year. In Eastern Washington, our long tradition of agriculture could be threatened if snowpack melts more rapidly. Water stored as snow is money in the bank for Washington’s rural economies and the bank could fail if we don’t act. As a parent and a grandparent, I cannot consciously accept the dangers of climate change for my family or yours. As a Governor, I can’t afford to look the other way or point fingers or deny these realities and I cannot allow our state to miss this moment which is our destiny to lead the world in clean energy. All of us in Washington will have to square up to both our responsibility and our opportunity on climate change, and when we do, I’d like all of us to remember what Dr. Martin Luther King once said: ‘The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy.’ On climate change, we have settled the scientific controversy. That’s resolved. What remains now is how we respond to the challenge. Now I know Washington can’t solve this global problem alone, but we must embrace our role as first responders as our children’s health is in clear and immediate danger. We must also embrace our role as entrepreneurs and pioneers, ensuring that economic solutions to climate change begin here. Companies in this state are already moving forward, and we will not hand over our destiny to lead the world in clean energy to any other state or to any other nation. You know, I hope to embrace all of us in this effort for this reason: we don’t deny science in Washington; we embrace it. We do not follow technological innovation; we lead it. And we will not pass up a golden opportunity to create jobs across this state. We need these clean energy jobs that work for the long haul. These jobs will be in Bellingham at the Itec solar company, in Seattle at MacDonald-Miller, a great efficiency company, in Spokane at the McKinstry Company and at Boeing where we, today, are making the world’s most fuel efficient jet. These jobs won’t just fall into our laps. Washington has what it takes to win, but the clean energy race is highly competitive. Germany, China and California are not waiting. Neither should we. So over the next four years, we need to show our commitment with policies to promote economic growth, research and development on a clean energy program, to lock in the next wave of growth and opportunity for the next generation. I look forward to having a real dialogue with each and every one of you in the Legislature in the coming weeks on creating jobs, on educating our children, on changing how we do business in state government and on creating a culture of leading the world toward a clean energy economy. But as we move forward to determine what we will do, let’s remember who we are as a state. Washington is a state that embraces all people for who they are. A state that allows all to love who they will. A state that is never content with today but is always leading the world in inventing tomorrow. A state whose very name commits itself to the preservation of its own beauty for its own grandchildren and its own great-grandchildren. The Evergreen State. Thank you. Now let’s get to work. Thanks a lot.”

of compassion. May the spirit of goodness fill their souls and may they continue to see one another and the people they serve as full, whole human beings, created in the divine image and worthy of love and respect. And on this day when we focus on the judiciary, we ask for blessing not only for those who are charged with making the laws, but those who are charged with their interpretation and application. May all those who serve in the judiciary be blessed with a sense of fairness and of justice, of equality and of service, of righteousness and of peace. We are mindful of that universal charge we find in Scripture, in the book of Deuteronomy: tzedek tzedek tirdof—justice, justice shall you pursue. It is asked, ‘Why is the word ‘justice’ repeated?’ One interpretation is that this verse first teaches that our desired outcome is justice—justice must be the goal of a well-ordered society. The repetition of the word implies that not only must our goal be justice, but the path to justice—the process by which we achieve justice in our society—must also be just. We are blessed that our system of government allows for the separation of powers, provides for the orderly execution of justice and establishes a dynamic system of legal interpretation. May this continue to be so. And may all those who serve the public good, in any capacity, from any place, find favor in Your eyes and may the work of their hands benefitting the people of our state and country long endure. Amen.”

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Chief Justice Barbara Madsen: “Thank you Mr. President, Speaker Chopp, elected officials, members of the House and Senate, fellow justices and judges, ladies, and gentlemen. Let me add my welcome to all of you new legislators and to those of you who have changed houses. I had the chance to meet many of you over the last week or so, either swearing you or dancing at the Ball with you, or celebrating the Temple of Justice’s birthday with you. For those of you I have not yet met, I do look forward to meeting all you as the course of this legislative session runs. Whatever the occasion to bring us together, I believe that time spent getting to know one another is time well spent.

I am honored to be here today, along with my colleagues on the Washington Supreme Court, to deliver this report on the state of Washington’s judiciary. As many of you know, our court system operates through a system of trial courts and appellate courts. Many of the leaders of our court associations are with us today, in the gallery. I would like to take a moment to introduce them: in particular, Presiding Chief Judge Christine Quinn-Brintnall from the Court of Appeals, Division Two in Tacoma; Benton/Franklin County Superior Court Judge Craig Matheson, president of the Superior Court Judges’ Association of Washington; Judge Sara Derr from Spokane County District Court, president of the District and Municipal Court Judges’ Association and she’s with us as well. These judges are joined by members of the Board for Judicial Administration, that’s the policy-setting board for the courts. I am very proud of these judges and the people they represent who work in our court system. I would like to have them stand up, members of the Board for Judicial Administration. And I’d like to single out, Judge Chris Wickham who is my co-chair. Thank you Judge Wickham. Judge Wickham is a Superior Court judge here in Thurston County. And we have the administrative heads of our three agencies with us as well: The Washington State Court Administrator who heads the Administrative Office of the Courts, Callie Dietz; the Executive Director of the Office of Civil Legal Aid, Jim Bamberger; and the Director for the Office of Public Defense, Joanne Moore. It is no secret that we are experiencing very challenging times here in our state and in our nation. I have not spoken to anyone who is predicting that you will have an easy session this year. I think you will be spending long days and late nights in Olympia.

As the spokesperson for the courts, I also feel a great weight on my shoulders. Even in the best of times, our divided government requires careful leadership in each branch. As you begin this legislative session, I know that many of you are thinking about the issue of divided government. The gray areas around the edges of our respective powers can give rise to debate and even disagreement about the areas of authority in which each of the branches operate. Such debate and disagreement is healthy — indeed I think this is a part of the checks and balances that our founders intended. Even in a divided government, the branches are meant to work together. As many of you know, this is the 100th anniversary of the Temple of Justice. The Temple, which is home to the Supreme Court, was the first building on our capitol campus. If you look at the campus from Budd Inlet, you will see that the Temple appears to blend into the capitol building and together, the Temple and the Capitol are covered by one dome. In designing the capitol group in this way, the architects were intending to make a statement to reflect the reality that, together, the three branches form one government. As the legislature and the governor, the judiciary also has a role to play. I want to assure all of you that the courts are committed to working with all of you on matters of common interest and concern within the limits of our branch’s authority.

Unlike the legislature and the governor, our courts generally operate under the radar screen. More than two million individual civil and criminal cases are filed every year in our trial courts. Thousands of cases are decided in our appellate courts every year. We have one constitutional duty. That is to fairly, effectively, and timely adjudicate the civil and criminal disputes that come before us.

At a judge’s swearing-in a few weeks ago, I heard a story from John Ladenburg, who is formerly the Pierce County Executive. John was telling us that he was on a trade mission to China along with Microsoft, Amazon, and some other U.S. companies. According to John, one of the delegates asked a Chinese government minister what he thought was needed to attract new businesses to China. His answer: ‘Lawyers.’ You might laugh — you might clap! The Washington delegation laughed. But when they laughed, according to John, the minister became incensed. He said, ‘Without lawyers there are no courts. Without courts there is no legal system. Without a legal system there is no protection. There are no commercial laws. You do not understand the advantage you have in your country. You have the rule of law. Your courts protect people and their property. That makes all the difference.’ Now, lest you think I am claiming all the credit for the courts, I believe that it is the legislature, the executive, and the courts working together that provide the kind of environment that is necessary for individuals and businesses to grow and prosper. Even with its flaws, our system is the envy of the world.

We know that the law is complex. Cases are complex. And disagreements are predictable. Cases like McCleary that address school funding, and the pending case of League of Education Voters which involves a challenge to restrictions on the power of the legislature to tax, these will always provoke controversy. That comes with the constitutional responsibility placed on courts. But it’s how we work together to meet the very complex and difficult challenges that will determine the future for the public that we all serve. Last week, we heard comments from outgoing Governor Gregoire and newly-elected Governor Inslee. Though their plans for meeting the future differed, the common theme was the same: We are all facing significant challenges maybe now more than ever as year upon year of economic difficulties continue.

I recently learned that the Chinese symbol for crisis is a combination of two concepts, opportunity and danger. The opportunity is to redefine how we deliver services to the public. The danger is in failing to adapt. The extensive budget cuts of the past four years have required the courts to become creative and to be innovators. And we’re committed to continue looking for new, efficient processes to help us fulfill our responsibility to deliver justice. Though being the Chief does carry its challenges, the position also gives me a bird’s eye view of the tremendous job that our courts are doing to innovate in these tough budget times. I want to mention just a few of these creative solutions: At the Administrative Office of the Courts, we have created online education that allows judges and court personnel to stay current with changes in law and practices while reducing or eliminating travel costs and time away from court.

We are also modernizing our aging computer systems by looking at commercial, off-the-shelf products to meet the growing demands of technology in courts throughout our state.

Local courts are also working in innovative ways to help curb costs and improve service. Pierce County juvenile courts, just one example, have reduced the ‘failure to appear’ rates and detention rates by implementing a two-tiered warrant system, by calling and even conducting home visits to remind juveniles that they have to be in court, and using a continuum of alternatives to detention. This strategy is one of six that Pierce County has implemented to reduce racial and ethnic disparities in their juvenile court system. The result has been a 47% decrease in detention from 2007 to 2011.

In Seattle Municipal Court, my old alma mater, the probation department has formed a partnership with social work programs at three schools: Seattle University, the University of Washington, and the University of Southern California. Volunteers and interns from these schools have a wide range of experience and are placed in positions in anything from answering phones to assisting with assessments and collecting program data. Last year, volunteers gave nearly 16,000 hours of service. In Kitsap County District Court, the judges began transitioning to an electronic filing system, which has resulted in 80% reduction in supplies, copy machines contracts, forms, filing cabinets, and so on, as well as a 23% reduction in staffing. In King County, eight municipal courts, led by Tukwila Municipal Court, have pioneered a system for scheduling and sharing precious interpreter resources. This has reduced cost and increased availability of translators. And right here in Thurston County, the judges are developing a risk assessment tool for domestic violence defendants. Through the Washington Supreme Court Gender and Justice Commission we hope to make that tool available to judges across the state.

In this vein, we are also exploring ways to foster regional courts. District and municipal courts are where most citizens impact the justice system, and we need to foster an approach that best serves the public. More than 170 municipalities now contract with district or municipal courts. It is imperative that we examine the most efficient and cost effective method of providing judicial services to everyone coming to court in Washington State. More and more, community leaders are interested in exploring cooperative arrangements for the delivery of court services. Thanks to a grant from the State Justice Institute, we are currently exploring a concept that is broadly described as regional courts. Combined courts can contribute to better court performance, customer service, and fiscal efficiency. We want to work with you on this important court reform.

Along with the Temple of Justice centennial, this year is also the 50th anniversary of the United States Supreme Court’s decision in Gideon v. Wainwright. As Justice Hugo Black wrote in that ground breaking decision, ‘Lawyers in criminal courts are necessities, not luxuries.’ We can be proud that long before the United States Supreme Court expressed that belief, our legislature acted to guarantee the right to counsel in Washington State. Recently, however, we have learned that in areas of our state, the promise of access to effective assistance of counsel guaranteed by both the constitution and the legislature has not been met. Public trust and confidence in our criminal justice system depends on people knowing and believing they are being treated fairly and that their rights are being protected. A conviction may have a lifetime of consequences—including the ability to get a job, an apartment, a student loan. A conviction may separate a family or mean losing the custody of a child. As judges, it is our duty to ensure not just the presence of counsel, but effective counsel. And it takes time to be effective. As far back as 2004, the Blue Ribbon Panel on Criminal Defense concluded that the standards for public defense services enacted in RCW 10.101 were being ignored in many jurisdictions and that the lack of enforceable standards, especially case load standards, ‘jeopardizes the ability of even the most dedicated defenders to provide adequate representation.’ After more than a year of debate, a four-month public comment period, and intense internal discussion, the Washington Supreme Court recently adopted indigent defense certification, which requires development of case load standards. But adopting the court rules is just the beginning. Now, attorneys, trial judges, and administrators must work together to find the best ways to implement certification in their courts.

We know that some legislators have concerns about how this will impact local communities but, through the Office of Public Defense, we are committed to working with cities and counties to help design workable systems. Last December, the Supreme Court ordered the Office of Public Defense to prepare a new report on how the standards and attorney certification rules were being implemented across the state. The report is due this March and will focus on how jurisdictions are working with attorney case loads and methods for addressing them successfully and with creativity. The case load limits do not become effective under our rules until October of 2013.

I want to mention also one other new initiative that the Office of Public Defense is undertaking. Because of its great success with the Parents Representation Program, you in this legislature have asked the office to take on the enormous task of reforming defense of sexually violent predators. I have no doubt that the Office of Public Defense will exercise the same scrupulous care in evaluating the most efficient and cost-effective ways of delivering services to this population that it has exercised in all of its innovative programs. We look forward to working with you on this important initiative.

Another challenge facing the branch is to effectively address racial disparities in our court system. The Washington State Center for Court Research, which operates within the judicial branch, has been hard at work collecting and sharing data on a statewide level and county-by-county. The specific details at the county and court level will help us determine the causes for disproportional and will guide us in finding solutions. Based on data gathered so far, the task force has submitted a number of recommendations for action by the Supreme Court, for judicial branch agencies, for the different court levels, and for our justice partners, including law schools and law enforcement agencies. We need to examine the causes of disproportionality and work toward solutions. We know that ‘Justice is the Guardian of Liberty.’ These words are etched on the facade of the United States Supreme Court. It will take all of us working together to ensure that justice is equally applied. We will be asking for your help as we meet this challenge.

Likewise, we must recognize that not all people who use our court systems are able to speak English. Seventy-eight different languages were interpreted in Washington trial courts in 2012, and King County keeps a running tally that shows that they have provided interpreters for 130 different languages. However, our state has certified and registered interpreters in 35 languages, meaning that we are not able to ensure meaningful access for persons speaking many of the languages in our courts. Legal proceedings, with their technical language and complex processes, are confusing enough when you understand English. But just imagine walking into a high stakes situation where you
TENTH DAY, JANUARY 23, 2013

As we look back on an extraordinarily challenging year, Washington can be proud of its judiciary and its ability to adapt, modernize, and innovate. But this is just the beginning. We will continue to devise innovative and cost efficient ways to ensure that all persons—including the most vulnerable in our society—are provided with fair and timely justice and that they have their day in court in a modern and technologically-advanced court system.

With the leadership of Board for Judicial Administration, the efforts of our exceptional judges and court staff, I am confident we will continue to turn the challenges we face into opportunities to transform the court system today and in the future. We will continue to balance the scales so that we can adapt to fiscal realities and never stray from our constitutional mission. The pursuit of justice is what this court system is all about—from its inception two centuries ago to this very day and in all the years to come. I want to thank you for the warm welcome that you have given to me and my fellow justices, and I wish you all well during the upcoming session. Thank you.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Chief Justice, we appreciate very much your very profound comments and your commitment and spirit of unity and cooperation of the Legislature. As well as we want to thank the courts throughout the state for their incredible efforts to provide more efficient and effective through the creative concepts that they have developed. Thank you very much for that information.”

don’t understand a word of what was going on. As Washington’s diversity continues to grow, the need for interpreters is exploding. With limited resources, we must find a way to provide interpreter services in the most efficient and effective ways possible. That is why the Supreme Court included in the budget submission to the legislature a request for funding for a pilot program for video remote interpreting. Reducing both the cost and time of travel can better focus the scarce resources where they belong. We need your help in finding a solution. We also recognize that the Great Recession has caused a host of profound legal problems for low-income Washingtonians. In 2011 alone, more than a quarter of a million calls were placed to our statewide legal aid hotline. Demand for help is particularly high in recession-sensitive areas of law such as housing, foreclosure, help with governmental support programs, domestic violence, and family safety issues. In Washington, legal aid is delivered through an innovative public private partnership. State funding supports our nationally recognized statewide legal aid provider-the Northwest Justice Project—but also 17 local volunteer legal aid programs. I’m very proud of the thousands of volunteer attorneys across the state who together delivered nearly 60,000 hours of free legal aid, worth more than $10 million to over 20,000 individuals and families. But deep federal budget cuts have crippled legal aid. There are only 87 state-funded legal aid attorneys left to meet the needs of more than 1.8 million low-income people who are eligible for state-funded civil legal aid. Today, there is one legal aid attorney serving all of Clallam and Jefferson Counties; one legal aid attorney serves all of Southeast Washington, from Walla Walla to Clarkston; and one legal aid lawyer serves all low-income people in Grays Harbor and Pacific Counties. In our urban areas, it’s not much better. There are more than 22,000 eligible clients for every single state-funded legal aid attorney. Legal aid helps to resolve cases quickly and often keeps cases out of court – and if they are in court, often helps to resolve them more quickly. Legal aid is a smart and cost-effective investment. The legal aid system, administered by our Office of Civil Legal Aid, has received strong bipartisan support from this legislature in years past. For this, the judicial branch is grateful. But we need your continuing support to meet the civil justice needs of our state’s poorest residents.

Finally, I would like to address the critical challenges that we face in keeping our courthouses safe for thousands of attorneys, jurors, court staff, litigants and members of the public. As Judge David Edwards of Grays Harbor County can attest, this is a challenge in every local jurisdiction. He is a shining example of courage in what can only be described as a terrifying ordeal that occurred in his courthouse. Given Judge Edwards’ experience, the recent attack on Judge Brett Buckley at his home here in Olympia, the multiple bomb threats in courthouses throughout Washington just last month, we know that courthouse security is a continuing challenge that needs to be resolved quickly. We are truly blessed in each situation that I’ve mentioned, there was not a tragic ending. But hoping that this remains the case is not a policy. At a fundamental level, our democracy is dependent on a judicial branch that can decide disputes in safety. No one should be afraid to walk into a courthouse. In 2012, the security staff at Spokane County District Court confiscated over 1,000 handguns, 9,000 knives, 80 tasers, 1,700 razor blades, 1,100 cans of mace and hundreds of other items that could be used as weapons. In courts without security, these items are entering our courthouses every day. The reality is that at any given time, people who are charged with violent crimes or who are engaged in intensely emotional situations are all together in the same place. Simply hoping that nothing bad happens is no longer good enough.

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE
NO. 517

Pursuant to Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434-379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 517 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 346,906 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 10,606 signatures was taken from those submitted;
2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 9,122 valid signatures, 1,459 signatures that were invalid and 25 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;
3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (57) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;
4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (49,596) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;
5. We determined the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the petition (56,157) by subtracting the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;
6. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the petition which were invalid (49,596) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;
7. We determined the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;
8. The number of pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of pairs of signatures in the sample. Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 517 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 23rd day of January, 2013.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Miss Abby Lohman, the 2012-2013 Washington State of Skagit County Dairy Ambassador, who was seated at the rostrum.

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Dairy Ambassador Abby Lohman.

REMARKS BY MISS ABBY LOHMAN

Miss Abby Lohman: “Good morning. My name is Abby Lohman. I am 19 years old and I was raised on my family’s two-hundred acre seed crop farm in Edison, Washington. I have been involved in the dairy industry since before I was strong enough to hold a calf’s milk bottle. To this day I’m still a proud, ‘Ambassador for Milk’ in the dairy industry. Milk is the most highly regulated food in the United States and that regulation begins on the farm itself. Dairy farmers are held to strict standards when it comes to animal well-being, labor, milk safety and environmental stewardship. Dairy farmers are committed to supporting and raising healthy environments and healthy communities. One prominent way dairy farmers ensure their farming practices are compliant with strict environmental standards is our dairy nutrient management plans which are required and tailored to each farm’s unique needs and characteristics. Dairy farmers have been proactive and innovative in utilizing waste by recycling high quality fertilized for crops, compost, energy and other uses. Proper waste management not only protects water quality but promotes the health and well-being of our animals. Dairy farms also create thousands of acres of habitat for wildlife, particularly for migrating waterfowl such as trumpeter swans and snow geese that frequent the Skagit Valley where I’m from. Ninety-eight percent of farms in this county are family owned. They have been passed down for generations. While dairy farmers use many time-tested traditional farming practices, new innovations and technologies are embraced and implemented in our ever evolving world. Beside environmental stewardship, the dairy industry plays an important economic role in the state of Washington, contributing 2.3 billion dollars in economic benefits a year. We invite you to get to know us and visit our family dairy farms, especially as you consider voting on items that could significantly impact us. Thank you for the opportunity to speak with you this morning. I hope to see you at a local agriculture event or family dairy farm in the future and invite you to the rotunda at noon to enjoy some delicious ice cream. Thank you.”

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced the remaining representatives of the Washington State Dairy Women’s Ambassador Program: Alternate Dairy Ambassadors Miss Jennifer Callanan, King-Pierce Counties, and Miss Elizabeth Beck, Lewis County, who were seated at the

The President also welcomed and introduced County and regional Dairy Ambassadors: Whatcom County Dairy Ambassador Miss Rebecca Steiger, Miss Lily Kroontje and Miss Mary Kahle, Alternates; Skagit County Dairy Ambassador Miss Samantha Mesman; Snohomish County Dairy Ambassador Miss Shana Morcom and Miss Haley Grillo, Alternate; King-Pierce Counties Dairy Ambassador Miss Annie Birklid and Miss Samantha Lanting, Alternate; Lewis County Dairy Ambassador Miss Jennifer Swenson; Inland Northwest Dairy Ambassador Miss Alayna Loveall; and Mid-Columbia Dairy Ambassador Olivia Zurcher who were present in the gallery.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: “I’d like to address the ambassadors. Thank you Mr. President. I really wanted to say thank you to the current Ambassador, the Dairy Ambassador. It is such a privilege to see you here. I know I’ve talked for the last few years but I grew up in Enumclaw on a dairy farm and when you’re talking about dairies it brings back all sorts of memories for me. It’s the time when dairy farms were a lot smaller and I can remember running out and getting the cows and my horse and the cow knocking me off my horse and things like that, but being in 4-H and living and breathing the dairy industry for all the years that I did, it was a remarkable way to grow up. I want to thank you. One of the other things that I had the privilege to do a few years GO and I’ll never forget IT was to be a judge for the Dairy Ambassador position. It was like interviewing all sorts people that all had skills and abilities and desires to succeed like I’ve never seen before. It was one of the hardest things that I ever did but one of the most enjoyable. So, to this day, I believe that everybody should drink milk and to this day I drink milk every day and it is a wholesome way of life. It is an awesome way that you will now represent the state in your role and I thank you very much.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Honeyford: “Well thank you Mr. President. I stand and recognize the women behind you there and the contribution they are making to the dairy industry being from Yakima County being one of the largest, is the largest dairy producing county in the state. Also want to mention that my wife was once a dairy princess so you may be a legislator or a wife of a legislator in the future. Thank you.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Becker, the President doesn’t drink a lot of milk but he does believe that ice cream is an essential food group.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hewitt: ‘Thank you Mr. President. Well, when I first came here thirteen years ago, I kind of looked around for a mentor and decided, because Senator Morton was such a held in high esteem, we shared a cubicle next to each other over in the INB Building, that he would be my mentor. I thought.’ You know anything that he does I would be very safe and I can follow his lead.’ Well, I signed a letter that had something to do with a French chef because Bob had signed the letter and I thought, ‘This is going to be safe.’ This will be
ok. It’s nice that we have a French chef downstairs and if Bob likes it I’m going to like it to. Probably the largest mistake I’ve made in the thirteen years that I’ve been here because remember that went United States-wide, Fox news covered it, and we were in trouble and I thought, ‘My God I’ll never get elected again because I’m supporting this French chef downstairs.’ Anyway Bob, my highlight with you I think was that trip to Alaska where we got in that jet sled of yours, that eighteen foot jet sled and drove for eleven hours solid. Left at eleven in the morning and got there at ten-thirty, eleven o’clock at night. Thank god they had long days because it was quite an experience. All the way Bob was keeping track of how much gas we were using because gas stations are not prevalent when you get back in the tundra, right. I mean we drove one hundred eighty miles back in this river and Bob was always calculating the gasoline that we burned and how much we have left and how many gallons he’s going to have to get back to get more gas. It was phenomenal for me to watch that as a younger person then. What a wonderful experience that was to get to see all that wildlife and seriously was one of the, by the way it was my first trip to Alaska ever too, so it was marvelous to do that but to drive in little boat with Linda, his wife, and the three of us and listen to that roar for eleven hours it was absolutely wonderful. I’m going to miss you not only as a colleague but I’m going to miss you as a person. You are a very outstanding person. I think all of us really hold you in high esteem. I’m happy for you because I kind of feel the new life you have. There is life after. I think you’re going to enjoy that. You’re going to enjoy your first trip to Mexico in the winter time for many, many years. So Bob, we all love you and God Bless you.”

Senators Ranker, Shin and Sheldon spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8610.

The motion by Senator Honeyford carried and the resolution was adopted by voice vote.

Now I’d also like to have you thank those who have put up with my shenanigans and yours during the last few years and that’s my family. I won’t name them all off Mr. President, it would take too long but they’re up there to my left, left hand corner waving their hands at you to say thank you to all of you. Thank you very much. Without their patience and their support many of the things that we accomplished would not have been accomplishable. Mr. President, there is a lot of information that I’d love to share with you. As elected officials, we’re very challenging times that we are in and as I look at those whom I know, here in front of me, I am confident of the direction that you’re moving in will be a good one. I talked yesterday with both of your leaders and I was encouraged. Now, they’ve got to have your backing as you know but I also look at the rest of you, who are new to me, I am encourage so don’t let me down. We are blessed with challenges in a wonderful age and we have a God to guide us and being able to fulfill not what we think is best but which the Creator has sent us to determine. So, I wish you well and I thank you from the bottom of my heart. And from my family, who are probably much like yours, and the sprouting of young people who are going to live the results of what we leave them with it new laws, codes and recommendations. MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE

No. 522

Pursuant to Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434.379.010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 522 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 353,331 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 10,762 signatures was taken from those submitted;
2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 9,503 valid signatures, 1,241 signatures that were invalid and 18 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;
3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (53) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;
4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (42,479) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;
5. We determined the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the petition (69,699) by subtracting the sum of the number required by Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution (241,153) and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;
6. We determined the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample (65) by multiplying the square root of the sampling ration by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;
7. We determined the acceptable number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and
8. The number of pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of pairs of signatures in the sample.

Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 522 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the State of Washington this 31st day of January, 2013.

KIM WYMAN, Secretary of State

WHEREAS, A fire at the historic Jack Rottle Stadium grandstands on the night of September 16, 2012, forced the Montesano High School football team to play all but one of its remaining home games on the road; and

WHEREAS, The Montesano High School football team's season is a testament to the fruits of hard work, determination, and sacrifice; and

WHEREAS, The Montesano High School football team members' efforts on the field were mirrored by their success in the classroom, where team members achieved a cumulative 3.5 grade point average and 2012 1A Football State Academic Championship; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to Washington State Senator Jerome Delvin.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Parlette: “Senator Delvin, I will miss your sense of humor. We had the respectful workplace training. I let it be very clear with all of my members, let it be known, that all members had to attend. Who didn’t show up? Senator Delvin. I gave direction to somebody, ‘Please call his office and make sure he gets here.’ He showed up and then the next day in caucus he stood up and he said, ‘I must be honest, I was going to wear a tee shirt but I decided after the respectful workplace training, what it said on the back would not be appropriate so I changed my mind.’ So I appreciate your attendance for that. Most of all I appreciate Jerome’s direct, sincere, consistent honesty. It takes courage to say things sometimes that nobody else has the courage to say and Jerome is honest and he has the courage. I will really miss you. Thank you.”

Senators Eide, Schoesler and Kline spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8612.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Delvin: “Thank you Mr. President. First as, Janea said, I couldn’t of done this all this time without my wife, Josie. Who I love dearly, who has been there for me for a lot of tough times. It is bitter sweet that I’m leaving but I think I’m going out on my own terms. You know when I decided that it was time. The opportunity came and I chose to run for the commissioner. Someone else I have to who’s been with me. I told her we don’t hug, that’s my assistant Jeri May whose been with me sixteen years now and, you all know, once you have an LA that’s good and you know I get more compliments on her than I do back in the district. You know you have a good LA, you got to support that LA and she’s been a dear and she’s been there for a lot of tough times and I really appreciate that Jeri, really appreciate that. All of you, you know, gotten to have some really good friends when we’ve traveled but working, working on issues. I always told myself you know this place is bigger than you are as an individual but, you know, you can be successful, you can get things done by relationships. I always tell new members, you know, you got to build those relationships because that’s important. You got to be able to have a cigar or an espresso or a drink after hours and sit down and bond and appreciate the perspectives that everyone else has, that they bring to this institution. Yeah, I guess from being a police officer for so many years, you know, levity sometimes is a good way to break up a tense moments because as a police officer you learn that. You learn sometimes, especially if it’s a domestic violence, sometimes you know a little joke now and then can break the tension and also it can piss off the people to though. But, so, I guess that’s me. I’m just going to miss everyone here, you know, the experiences I’ve had. I mean how many people get to fly off an aircraft carrier? You know you can do that as a legislator, you know, if you’re at the time with Ralph Munro or something. All the opportunities I’ve had. You know, I was offered yeah, you need to bring, you know, Tom Fitzsimmons shouldn’t come back. You know, I said, ‘Show me the money. Show me the money.’ You know, no one ever came up with any money and that was spending a tent with him, sometimes, four days in a row, you know, in a snow storm. He did pull me out of a crevasse. I’ve never forgiven him for that so, I really appreciate that. Just all the good times, Mr. President, with you on some trips and but it’s just been a, I can’t complain one bit. You know the staff that I’ve been fortunate to work with too, that staff all of our committees. They are professional. They’re excellent. The caucus and the nonpartisan staff. I mean just truly some great people here that I’ll certainly miss. But, you know, I will be coming back here as a County Commissioner with my hand out for, you know, more authority and money. You know, I’ll be telling you, ‘What were you thinking when you passed this one?’ You know. So, I’ll be grace your doorsteps now and then. Also let me, with the press, I’ll end with the press. You know, some of you guys I’ve known for a long time, you know, and I really respect you, like Eric and Peter Callaghan and John Stang. He’s been around for a long time you know, I really appreciate you guys have a job to do. Always, sometimes referred to as the evil necessary for this place but you need to. The latest one. I want you to know, I have two cell phones now. I have two cell phones and I am proud to have two cell phones. But, you know, you have to do what you need to do to bring the press but I thought of some other things but I won’t say those about the press. I’ll be nice to you all. Well, wait a minute, it’s my turn to take a dig at you all. You know, now I have to comply with this open meeting act thing you know, I can’t talk to another commissioner because that’s considered as a meeting. You know I get that and that’s fine but some of this stuff recently just I don’t know if that one AP reporter is here but I had one phone call and one email about the article about cell phones but once I explained it they were all good with it. So, you know, some of you guys were awful upset about that. You know, get used to that. It happens every year. They go searching for you know, I’ve had it for travel before but I think once you explain it to your constituents they get that. So, thank you for highlighting those nice things about us here, appreciate that. But, for all of you, good-bye. I’ll be back. You know, it’s really been an honor and privilege to serve with all of you and get to know all of you even though maybe we didn’t agree sometimes but I’m really going to miss this place and all of you and your all in my prayers. Thank you very much Mr. President.”

So mentioning the other house is allowed, mentioning the actions of the other house and how it would affect your legislation is not allowed.”

Miss Knight is a junior at the University of Washington-Tacoma and co-founded the charitable organization Queens for A Cure in 2009 a benefit pageant for the Susan G. Komen for the Cure organization, raising awareness of breast cancer and funds for breast cancer research.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fain: “Yes, I rise because I gave a little bit of issue with some of our incoming freshman that many of them had a lot to say prior to their first speech and I wanted to compliment the good member from the Twenty-Fifth District because I believe that his honoring of women in sports today actually qualifies as his first speech. I have a feeling we may be hearing from him again in a moment and so I just wanted to thank him for heeding my advice to get on with it and share the better part of your district with all of us and we look forward to hearing that. So, I for one, would like to welcome Senator Dammeier to the State Senate.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schoesler: “Well thank you Mr. President. Regarding the previous speaker and the new senator’s gift I don’t ask for a set of keys to a car like the previous speaker but knowing that the new member served on the Goodwill Board of Directors I hope that he didn’t take that role literally in shopping for our gifts. While I realized that he supplements his own wardrobe by cutting to the front of the line at the Goodwill store, I hope that we don’t get that and I also hope that he rises above the agricultural commodity of rhubarb in the gift. We learned long ago that Pierce County were the top producers of rhubarb. It’s out of season and not really here for us and it’s a little early for daffodils from Pierce County so I hope somewhere between rhubarb and daffodils and the keys to cars in Puyallup we will find an appropriate gift for this body.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Dammeier: “Thank you Mr. President. I think that the good gentleman from the forty-eighth may have mistaken me for Oprah Winfrey there for a second. Having gone to the Naval Academy I must admit the hazing here is far less than that which I experienced there and since it is we are honoring women in sports I feel compelled to point out that Senator Braun’s daughter is a track athlete at the United States Naval Academy as we speak. So, Mr. President, I was a little bit torn as to what would be an appropriate gift to provide the Senate in celebration of my inaugural speech here but I thought I’d been hearing a lot recently about how senators are extremely hungry and don’t have time to satisfy their hunger. So what I thought I would do would share with this body one of the favorite food groups from my hometown and that is some fresh hot fair scones today. I realize I am walking a fine line here with the President because it is food on the floor and I want the President to know that I am respectful of his rule of no food on the floor but I’m hoping that the members can restrain from eating the food on the floor and being subject to your wrath Mr. President but that will be on them. Thank you very much Mr. President.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Dammeier, the President is a great fan of Puyallup fair scones and as long as one makes it up this way he is willing to suspend his own rule of decorum for this moment in time and allow the members if they so desire to eat their scones on the floor.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hewitt: “Thank you Mr. President. This is my thirteenth year in the legislature and I’m just now starting to understand the reason we don’t get along in this state. The good senator from the forty-eighth said he’s from the east side. He is definitely not from the east side. He does not resemble anyone from the east side. He doesn’t think like anyone from the east side. He is not from the east side Mr. President. I could name the senators in this body that are from east side. He is not from the east side and I just wanted to make that point clear. Senator Tom, you are not from the east side.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Benton: “Mr. President, I want to point out to the good senator from the twenty-fifth is well prepared today, obviously. We are receiving his wonderful gift here on the very same day he’s made his maiden speech. I just wanted to point out his timeliness is very much appreciated and I’m hoping that Senator Hasegawa will take note of Senator Dammeier’s punctuality in terms of the gift. It’s been, I think, three weeks now since were subjected to the screeching of the good senator and as a result of listening to that we are supposed to be receiving a gift and we have yet to receive that gift and I think that gift needs to have compounding interest added to it the longer we wait to receive it. So, I see that he’s conveniently not in his seat to hear this talk but I’m sure that his colleagues will pass our concerns along to him. Thank you Mr. President.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “The President has located him in the back couch there. That’s Senator Hasegawa right back there.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Very good.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Darneille: “We had a resolution earlier on the floor regarding President Reagan’s legacy and I too wanted to speak but that resolution got passed before me because now I have with me my gift from my district that I wanted to give to all of you, it is, it starts with jelly beans and it is an homage, if you will, to bi-partisanship and to President Reagan’s well-published love for jelly beans. The jelly beans themselves are jelly bellies. There are, indeed, forty-nine flavors of jelly bellies. So I thought it also very symbolic of our gathering here today that there are, in fact, forty-nine of us so there forty-nine flavors of us I guess. I have also attached to each of my packets of jelly beans a playing card. Now, I don’t think that there are gamblers here. It’s not that kind of a card but it’s actually a unique card to my district. These are cards that are done by artists in my district. They have self-published all of these. These are called the Tacoma Washington playing cards. Each of the cards is different and depicts artistic or photographic renderings of sights in my district. So, they’re all unique; Java Jive; Pt. Defiance Park; The Art Museum; Bridge of Glass; many, many reasons for all of you, as you’re driving by on the freeway through Tacoma and thinking that that is what Tacoma is, need to pull off at exit 133 and really see my district. So, as these come around, they’ll each have a different card of course and two of you, completely random-Senator Tom, I know you won’t get one of these-but there are two jokers in the deck and so I hope that those of you that do receive the jokers know that you will receive a full deck of the cards. So, these are actually great artistic works. They show great diversity of my district and I hope that you will enjoy them very much. I will need some help handing them out so I don’t know what the procedure is for doing that but hope you’ll all come to the Twenty-seventh district. Thank you very much.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fraser:  “I would just like to say welcome to Senator Pearson to the Washington State Senate.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Pearson: “Thank you Mr. President and thank you all. I would like to acknowledge what’s on your table. This was put together by, if you look at the items, they’re items throughout the state of Washington. Carolyn Eslick from my district in Sultan has a company called Grow Washington and these are products and actually, when I went to her some of the people that make these products were very excited that they’re coming before all of you here and I hope that you know these are all locally grown products. I have no, I heard that there is soap and I’m not trying to insult anybody saying they smell or anything like that but all kinds of things in here. I hope you enjoy and if there are businesses in your district, please visit them because they are very excited. Thank you Mr. President.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Pearson, I don’t see anything.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hargrove: “Well, I’d like to welcome Senator Pearson to the Senate. It’s nice to finally have somebody here that has a bigger neck than I have. I’ve gotten lots of comments from your caucus saying how they’re glad you’re here to protect them from me so that it even things out. I wanted to know, however, are there some of those dog bones in here that you were talking about? I’m looking forward to that. Anyway, welcome.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Ranker: “I want to welcome the good Senator from the Thirty-ninth whose taken over a past jurisdiction that is mine that is very near and dear to me, Natural Resources. I think your tenure in the last few weeks as chair of that very important jurisdiction has been fascinating from hearing bills about killing wolves, to stealing bills that should be in other jurisdictions, to just a wonderful, wonderful plethora of brand new remarkable ideas. I am very pleased to see you in that jurisdiction but most of all I’m pleased because the shininess coming off the top of your head makes the President a little less visible sometimes, so, thank you for that. I know that will cost me something Mr. President. In all seriousness Mr. Chair, welcome to the Senate. It’s great to have you hear and I really appreciate your thoughtfulness with the issues and your willingness to hear all sides of points of views and I think that’s going to carry you a long way. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Baumgartner: “I would also like to welcome the good Senator to this august body. He’s a true gentleman. I think he’s going to be a superstar talent here and we’re just very, very pleased that he is here. I’m also very happy for a couple of other reasons which, as the good Senator Hargrove having a bigger neck, I’m sure that his head is still smaller. Also when I first showed up in this body Senator Hargrove grabbed my arm and said something about my scrawny biceps and I’m just glad our team has somebody that can power lift Senator Hargrove should we need to. Welcome.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Shin: “I’ve known Senator Kirk for many, many years. Tuesday morning devotionals. I’ve learned to love him and respect him and all the things too but you know what? His wife is much, much prettier than he is. You’re a very lucky man.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Roach: “Thank you. Well, I wanted to tell the good Senator from actually Aberdeen, Hoquiam area. Where did he go? There two reasons that a man may have a big neck. Senator Pearson is a weight lifter. So he can bench press over three hundred pounds, we just talked about it today and for those of you that have big necks for other reasons we all have to work about that. We should join him in the gym. But when you go by his office at the end of the day he’s got a pair of shorts on, he’s going out to work out and I appreciate the good example that you are. It didn’t help that my daughter-in-law does this. I didn’t follow the example, but you’re going out every day may help. Thanks so much and great to have you here.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kline: “You know the members may not know this but Senator Pearson and I share constituents. It’s not because of re-districting but the in the correctional institution in Monroe we have a number of constituents who are common, you might say. Unfortunately, due to antiquated laws of our own, they can’t vote. But with that I know that given his committee assignments and mine we are going to continue to work for those mutual constituents and do a very good job across the aisle. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hobbs: “I’d like to thank and welcome Senator Pearson coming to this body. I know that Senator Hargrove is pleased too because now, finally, he can start his troll caucus so he’s really happy about that. I do question his fiscal conservatism. I was talking to the Senate Cafeteria and they told me since he’s been here they’ve had to increase their food orders by twenty percent so they may have to charge us more. Thank you for coming here.”

Senator Padden: “Would the lady from the Thirty-sixth district yield to a question? Senator, I just wondered, did you read all four hundred seventy four pages of this bill?”

Senator Kohl-Welles: “I did not have to read all four hundred seventy some pages of this bill because I have great faith in the Code Reviser’s Office but what I did read was the two and a half page list of the actual terms that are being amended, being changed. ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 5113 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 49; Nays, 0; Absent, 0; Excused, 0.

SENATE BILL NO. 5113, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schoesler: “Would the kind lady from the Tenth district yield to a question or two? Senator Bailey, been very busy lately with affairs of the majority caucus and I haven’t had time to study legislation as closely as I should have. Having worked with you on the other side of the rotunda, I came up with several questions I should have asked before I voted on this bill. First, does it have an emergency clause? Second, is there anything to do with gain sharing? Third, was there anything in this bill related to retire-rehire policies?”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Conway: “I want to welcome Senator Bailey. Senator Bailey and I worked for years on the pension policy together and Senator Schoesler brought that up. We called her ‘EC Bailey’ for Emergency Clause Bailey’, alright. You know it’s great to have her with us to continue our work. She’s been a great partner on pension policy issues on the select committee and also, incidentally, a great participant on the Select Committee on Veterans and Military Affairs. Welcome. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Chase: “Well, I would like to extend my welcome also to Senator Bailey and second some of the comments that Senator Schoesler made. You know, I used to sit across the floor from Senator Bailey and she was up on every single bill that ever went through there asking those very same questions and I, Mr. President, had intended to ask her some questions about this homeowner bill and I, against my better judgment, decided to join in with you passing this bill and welcome you. I look forward in working with you again.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: “Thank you Mr. President. Well, I have to tell you I think each and every person out here has a different style of communication and a different speed. When I met Barbara, Senator Bailey, I heard this woman that talks slow and here I am la la la and Barbara, Senator Bailey, is just this slow talking, southern lady. It is so much fun to sit and listen to you, number one, but listen to the thinking that goes behind that slow speech. I totally appreciate you. I have totally enjoyed you and I welcome you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kohl-Welles: “Thank you Mr. President. Well, there’s been a lot going on in the senate over the last four weeks and I have changed committees from chairing the Senate Labor and Commerce Committee and now I’m ranking member on the Higher Education Committee and regardless of all the issues that have come up, where there’s been some disagreement in our Senate I’d like to say it’s been a real pleasure working with Senator Bailey. She is now Chair of the Higher Education Committee and I’m the Ranking Minority Member and I don’t believe there could be anybody better with whom to work. She’s been so gracious and has been working in a bipartisan way, collaboratively, and I think it’s just wonderful she’s in the position.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator King: “Well, I would like to welcome the good Senator Bailey to this floor and I would like to say to you that if we could find more bills that we could get Senator Bailey and Senator Kohl-Welles to talk on, we would only pass half the bills out of here that we normally would.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Parlette: “Well, I know there is a good Senator, on the opposite side of the aisle, that does like everything to be gender-neutral, but I have to tell you it’s wonderful to have another women in our caucus.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Ericksen: “Well, thank you Mr. President. I would like to welcome the good Senator here to join us in this body. Served many years with her in the house and a wonderful person and every chamber needs a little bit of southern charm and southern spirit in their midst. If you haven’t had a chance yet, you need to call up Senator Bailey’s cell phone and listen all the way to the end of the message. You get there and you hear that that’s been there the entire time I’ve have known you, in that great voice, saying ‘Go out there and make it a great day.’ It’s a great message so I really hope you’ll listen all the way through it the next time you call Senator Bailey and hear her message. The other thing that I want to stress, I know that this chamber is all about gender equity and neutrality, I’d like to say the way that we treated the gentleman from the Thirty-ninth, compared to the way the good gentle lady from the tenth shows a very big difference in how we treat our members here on the floor so I’m not sure how Kirk should feel about that with the treatment of him today.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Darneille: “Both the previous new freshman in our body, came into the house the same year I did so I’ve known
Senator Bailey: “Well, first of all let me say thank you to the comments that were made. I do speak a little slower at times but if you get me riled up you’ll find out that I can also speak very fast and some of you have actually heard that before. I want to talk about, today about the gift that I am giving each of you from the Tenth district and, if you will indulge me Mr. President, I want to take this body on a bit of a journey. In the tenth district. If you notice it on your gift there is a small ferry boat, Mr. Chairman of the transportation system, which is very important to our district. So when you first arrive on south Whidbey Island, you’ve just gotten off the ferry, you make your way up the Island, you’re going to come past other places like Langley and Coupeville and on then to Oak Harbor where you’ll also find a little goodie in this bag from Oak Harbor from a place called Seabolts Restaurant. Seabolts is one of the larger groups, restaurant and actually producer of smoked salmon. They, without giving too much comments that were made. I do speak a little slower at times but if you get me riled up you’ll find out that I can also speak very fast and some of you have actually heard that before. I want to talk about, today about the gift that I am giving each of you from the Tenth district and, if you will indulge me Mr. President, I want to take this body on a bit of a journey. In the tenth district. If you notice it on your gift there is a small ferry boat, Mr. Chairman of the transportation system, which is very important to our district. So when you first arrive on south Whidbey Island, you’ve just gotten off the ferry, you make your way up the Island, you’re going to come past other places like Langley and Coupeville and on then to Oak Harbor where you’ll also find a little goodie in this bag from Oak Harbor from a place called Seabolts Restaurant. Seabolts is one of the larger groups, restaurant and actually producer of smoked salmon. They, without giving too much commercial, they also ship all over the country and outside of the country. Very well known. I would invite you to enjoy that piece of salmon that’s in this. You would also note in your card the factory boat actually I bought from Oak Harbor and with the help of one our merchants there in Oak Harbor. Then you travel on across Deception Pass bridge which is, Mr. President there’s a picture of Deception Pass bridge on your little note that you will find tucked in your goodie bag, and take a view there and then work your way on Highway 20 over to Skagit Valley where Deception Pass Bridge, the picture there in your mind is only surpassed by the picture you’ll see in Skagit Valley where the tulips grow. It’s a wonderful, wonderful beautiful place. As you come down then Highway I-5 towards, back toward your destination, wherever that might be, you’ll also come upon a little sign that says Stanwood, Camano Island. I would invite you to go to Camano Island and you will find in your goodie bad a little bag of coffee from Camano Island Roasters, who have been very good to us here at the legislature in some of our international trade trips that we’ve made by supplying some items for us to take with us. It’s a wonderful district, full of lots of things to see and I am actually thrilled and very humbled and privileged to be able to represent them here in the State Senate. If that’s not enough, when you leave my district right at the edge of the district there’s a little place called Angle of the Wind’s Casino so you can stop there, some of you, fill your cup that they gave you and if it’s raining outside you can still use the umbrella to get back to your car and on your way home. Please come see my district. I thank you so much. This is really such a privilege to be able to serve in this body. Thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Bailey: “Well, first of all let me say thank you to the comments that were made. I do speak a little slower at times but if you get me riled up you’ll find out that I can also speak very fast and some of you have actually heard that before. PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Mullet: “So the Fifth district is, they’re helping me out, I like it. So the fifth district, I’m from Issaquah it’s famous for a lot of things, Snoqualmie Falls is one of the top five tourist attractions in the state and when we have paragliding off of Tiger Mountain and we also have the best pizza restaurant in the State of Washington along with the best ice cream store in the State of Washington. Many people travel from across the state to visit these locations. So as the gift for this body, pizza doesn’t travel very well, ice cream does. I did some research. Ben & Jerry’s Ice Cream has some flavors based on famous celebrities so I wanted to find a flavor that would reflect my Republican colleagues in the Senate Chamber so I did some research and I found a show that’s called the Colbert Report, I guess, and its hosted by Steven Colbert who seems to have ideology that match a lot of the Republican Party and he has his ice cream flavor, ‘AmeriCone Dream’ and so at the conclusion of this I will be scooping ‘AmeriCone Dream’ for everyone in the Republican Caucus. For my Democratic counterparts, the flavor I found is actually a flavor that kind of connects with I-502, that recently passed and it was Jimmy Fallon’s flavor ‘Late Night Snack’ which is officially the cone that he invented while he was high in college. The ‘AmeriCone Dream’ is vanilla-based, fudged covered waffle cones. ‘Late Night Snack’ is also vanilla-based, chocolate covered potato chips. Some of you may be wondering why you’re not able to eat ice cream as your listening to me right now. Our office did contact the President and we were informed that this body is rich in history and tradition and the rules are not to be broken. Food is not allowed on the floor and as we did our staff research he is correct that this is very unusual. We had to go all the way back to the time, there was a legendary Senator from the Twenty-fifth, I think he’s name was Dammeier, who was allowed to break those rules and that was, it was February 6, 2013. Very long ago. So I did respect that this doesn’t get broken but at the conclusion of this, outside the senate floor, I will be happy to scoop your ice cream.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Mullet, the reason the President had denied your request to have ice cream on the floor was the members have a habit of leaving their gifts on their desks and I was afraid how that might turn out.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Sheldon: “Well thank you Mr. President. I had to rise quickly after I heard our new senator’s speech. I certainly want to welcome him to the senate but I can tell you right now he has broken many rules right away. Now, first of all, he’s unabashedly plugging his own business on the floor which is just isn’t done. And for an individual who has the Olympic Mountain Ice Cream Company in their district is most famous in Washington state. I really think he should have checked with some other members before he made that personal plug. Of course, when you are elected to the senate and that’s a great thing for you and come into this body, and of course, you make your first speech and there’s two things that you first learn. Now, first of all, you have got the secret hand shake yet I can tell you that. You probably will not after that opening speech. And the second thing that we do is, of course, the background check. You know that’s always done and I’ve gotten some results back here. Of course, you have quite a business background and some other things but I do have an email here from the King County Health Department. They’ve some inspections in your district and they said that you might want to give them a call very, very quickly. Welcome to the State Senate.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hewitt: “Well, we’ve heard about the new senator breaking the rules. I actually have one that goes a little bit further than that. As you all know my wife runs the fairgrounds in Walla Walla and she has fifty amp plugs everywhere out there. She does not get her electricity free. She has to actually buy that from the power companies. A couple of years ago there was a red Tesla parked in one of the spots, one of these fifty amp spots, taking the electricity out of the fairgrounds without permission and it disturbed me, actually, because I thought that was like stealing gasoline. Most of us get to steal gasoline, others get to steal electricity. So I wrote the number, the license of this red Tesla down and I think I’ve run down who this Tesla belongs too. And I’m just wondering if the good Senator from the Fifth and the color of your face be the reaction here Senator. Do you live at 3129 NE Harining Street, Issaquah, Washington? My wife actually has something for you. It’s called a receipt and now that we know who it belongs too we’ll make it gets delivered to the right place. Welcome Senator.”

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Dammeier: “Would the gentleman from the Fifth district yield to a question? Senator Mullet, I just want to make sure, did you check for food allergies of the members before you decided to provide us ice cream?”

Senator Mullet: “And I have no epi-pens, obviously. It’s not allowed yet. That’s why I announced the contents.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Frockt: “Well, I too want to welcome our friend, my friend Mark Mullet to the senate. I have couple points of advice, first of all Mark, when you offer an amendment, you have to speak to the amendment. We just adjourned sine die. I don’t know if you guys noticed that. Second thing I want to say, Mark is known as, well-known as a good moderate. Just to show you how moderate he was, I have child with a peanut allergy and I was very excited about this bill. When he came to me my first reaction was, ‘Well why don’t we just ban peanuts?’ Mark said, ‘No, no, no, that goes too far David.’ So, we’ve done a good piece of public policy here. We are very excited to have Mark. He’s a great guy. All of you are going to have a great time working with him and I just want to say welcome to the senate and look forward to it.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Tom: “Well, I just want to welcome the good member to the true, east-side coalition. Now I do have to admit, on his last bill, I had several members from the other east side coalition come up to me, maybe this is just because he’s a Telsa kind of guy, wondering what a yuppie-pen was.”

MOTION

At 12:09 p.m., on motion of Senator Fain, the Senate adjourned until 12:00 noon, Monday, February 11, 2013.

BRAD OWEN, President of the Senate

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Schlicher just for your information, since you did ask, Rule 29 as I stated earlier does suggest, not only suggest but tells you that you will address your remarks to the President. However, I will tell the members here that the very distinguished and highly-regarded and respected Senator, Senator Bob Morton of the Seventh district, who sat where you sit would stand up and he would address the President and ask my permission or he would say, ‘Pardon me Mr. President,’ or he would say, ‘if I may.’ The President recognizes that, although I do love to listen to your big speeches and have you address me, that your remarks are better spent given to the members of the senate and so any of those approaches would be respected and honored by the President—which you didn’t do.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Darneille: “Thank you. You know, this is the first floor speech of our most junior member as recognized and I have just a couple of concerns. He’s a fellow Pierce County senator and so I have to give him all due respect for joining our delegation. But I do have one complaint and it has to do, Mr. President, with the fact that I think all of us now suffer from great inferiority complexes. The good Senator is both a doctor and a lawyer and he has 2.5 children which is exactly the national average. I just can’t imagine what could be more perfect than that but I want to quickly move on so that the forty-seven other people don’t actually say that they are more perfect than that but I do have one other concern, it has to do with the name itself that we call this good senator. Schlicher, Senator Schlicher Senator Schlicher, Senator Schlicher, Senator Snickers I heard. You know when a word has the letters ‘ich’ and there pronounced ‘ick’ there’s a great deal of confusion Mr. Speaker, Mr. President. Twelve years of bad training, but I have to say that my name is Darneille and it has an ‘eille’ at the end and it is quite confusing to people how to pronounce my name. So, now I am very happy that I have the second-most difficult name to pronounce in Washington State Senate this year and I just wanted to comment that Senators Tom and Chase and Brown and Shin, they just have no idea what life is like having a very difficult to pronounce name. So, I’m sure we’re all delighted in having the good senator with us and he responds to virtually to any pronunciation to his name so I think we’re all good. I am very happy that he’s here.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: “Thank you. Well, senator Delly, manelli and Senator Schlicher, it’s been quite interesting trying to say your name but I grew up with the name of Randi and you may be able to say the name but most of you may spell it wrong. So, it’s those things, when we come to names, it’s really interesting how we all think about that it may be easier, it may be hard but it’s just something that I thought I would share. It’s Randi with an ‘i.’”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schlicher: “Thank you Mr. President. If I may address the august body behind me. Thank you Mr. President. Well, that was meek and tame. I expected worse from you all. Such good material. I want to distribute to you my gifts from the district and a little kind a plethora. Well done Mr. President. [Music begins] I expected that at some point. Well, to the beat of the music here you know.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “It’s the ‘Doogie Houser’ theme song, in case you didn’t know.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schlicher: “Thank you Mr. President. I may not be old enough to remember the show but I hear it’s got re-runs. Maybe you can tell me sometime how it was.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Maybe not.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schlicher: Maybe not. Well, anyways included in your gift bag is a little tour of the Twenty-sixth district. What the cup is, is from the city of Gig Harbor, a picturesque little town on the other side of that green bridge that has a toll attached to it. So, we want to invite you to Gig Harbor to see our picturesque town that has been called one of the most livable cities and to offset your tolls and encourage you to visit one of our local proprietors is one of our gift cards to Cutters Point, a local artist and coffee roaster and shop. We encourage you to come out to the district, there is one in Lacey as well so, should you choose not to come all the way to the good city of Gig Harbor. Additionally, there’s some salt water taffy that represents the shore lines of our district from Key Peninsula to Port Orchard to Bremerton, this is from a local Port Orchard business and I hope you enjoy it. Additionally, you’ll see the lone sailor pen which represents the military service of our district. As you know we have Kitsap Base Bangor in our city in Bremerton, Naval Base Kitsap. I remember it as PSN as always, growing up in Bremerton. The lone sailor pen is reflection of a copy of the statute that is in downtown Bremerton. It’s marker, significance is representing the service and the lives of those that have committed to defend our freedom and our opportunity to gather in this place to make the laws of the land. So, from me to you, a little gift and I appreciate the gentle-natured ribbing. My rib back to all of you; I knew this place needed a doctor, I just didn’t realize it was a physiatrist that you all needed. And with that Mr. President, I rest.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Schlicher.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schlicher: “I know that we got you one and I hope that the Pages will be soon bringing one up to the good President for his enjoyment. Having noticed the failure of prior presenters to appropriately do so, we made sure that we had you covered Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fain: “Thank you Mr. President, as the former youngest member of this body I congratulate you. I’m happy to be an old timer now so… That whole year and a half that separates us.”

The Senate was called to order at 10:00 a.m. by President Owen. The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present with the exception of Senator Carrell.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Fain, the reading of the Journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Padden: “Mr. President, my vote on Substitute Senate Bill No. 5381 in the Ways & Means Committee yesterday was a yes vote, ‘do pass.’ The majority of the committee cast a vote to advance the bill without recommendation. This bill deals with cell phone usage for state employees and I am a co-sponsor of the bill and wanted to go on record as casting a yes vote. Our rules and procedures make that difficult to do electronically, in fact almost impossible, so I’m doing this via point of personal privilege which will also be in the journal. Hopefully we will look at perhaps changing our rules or at least examining it in the future. Thank you very much Mr. President.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Message received.”

Senators Fraser and Parlette spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “The President may have given the wrong directive recently because a couple of people have done the same thing. It is not necessary to ask for a point of personal privilege on a resolution.”

Senators Eide, King, Billig, Kohl-Welles, Ericksen, Chase, Padden and McAuliffe spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8616.

The motion by Senator Fraser carried and the resolution was adopted by voice vote.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “The President would like to note that the rule about eating on the floor, of course, is suspended today even though it is not Valentine’s Day. I nearly was thrown out of the house when I suggested that cookies may not have to be made since we would not be on the floor tomorrow. So, just for your enjoyment and just to give you a little idea what you’re dealing with: ten pounds of flour, two dozen eggs, six pounds of butter, four pounds of brown sugar, four pounds of white sugar, six twenty-four ounce bags of chocolate chips, three whatever pound bags of walnuts and ten hours in the kitchen. So, enjoy.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Billig: “Thank you Mr. President and thank you for the cookies and thank you for having the Spokane Indians hat up on your podium. I thought I should explain why everybody has those on their desks. As is the tradition in the Senate, when a senator gives their first speech we give a gift to our colleagues and to the President. We’re a citizen legislature and we all have other jobs or other parts of our life. And the other part of my life is that I’m the co-owner of the Spokane Indians Professional Baseball team and have served as the (general) Manager and President of that team over the last twenty years. So, a gift from my district and it’s actually right on the border of my district and Senator Padden’s district. And actually Senator Padden’s been a great supporter of youth baseball in our community and certainly appreciate his service. So, there’s two parts to the gift. The first is a Spokane Indians baseball and then the other part is the Spokane Indians cap. We were the first professional sports team, first Indian-named sports teams to work with our local tribes to create a logo and identity, we actually have two logos. One is in English and one is in Salish, the Spokane Tribe of Indians language. We have the English version on the desks but I have the Salish version here if anybody’s interested. I hope you enjoy. The one last thing, in case there’s anybody that wants to throw baseballs at me, I also have a hard hat version that I’ll be wearing for the rest of the day. Thank you.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “The President is not suspending the no throwing baseballs in the chamber, however.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Honeyford: “Thank you Mr. President. First of all thank you for the dispensation to eat the cookies. They’re very good. Give thanks to your wife. Secondly, for Senator Billig with his gifts I’m a little concerned about the out-sourcing. I noticed that the cap ‘Made in China, baseball made in China.’ I think we could have some improvement there Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Frockt: “Thank you Mr. President, and we all know that we are the most trade-dependent state in the country. I wanted to just welcome Senator Billig to the Senate. I had the pleasure of coming in, two years ago, to the House with him and I think our paths had been different but both led us here to the senate and I am really excited to work with him. I think a great legislator. Really going to do amazing things here. We have a personal connection. Andy’s first cousin was one of my wife’s closest friends in college and we didn’t know each twenty years ago when our wives, well, my wife and his first cousin were close friends. Our paths have led here today and we have become great friends since then. I think all of you who don’t have not had a chance to work yet with Senator Billig will find him to be someone open, thoughtful, wanting to reach out and find common ground. Also you know, someone who when necessary will also make his point, as I think we’ve seen. But we need to welcome him and I know he’s going to make a great member of this body. So, welcome Andy.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator King: “Well, I too would like to welcome the good gentleman. He’s been a great addition to the Transportation Committee. I just think that’s there’s only one piece of advice that I would give him. Find something else to talk about between or besides north/south, we’ll probably do alright.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Keiser: “Thank you Mr. President. Please thank Linda for the wonderful cookies as well. I want to congratulate the good senator from Spokane for hitting a home run and to know that it’s important not to get three strikes here or to, What’s it called? Whiffle ball, but most important is the strategy of good baseball. Strategy and baseball go hand in hand and that’s what happens on the floor in this august body as well and I know we’re going to get to that ninth inning eventually.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Padden: “I also want to thank you for those delicious cookies. I wanted to welcome Senator Billig as a fellow Spokane County Legislator and I know I speak for the other members of the delegation, want to welcome you to the senate. I feel a little funny welcoming you because I haven’t been here all that long myself but one thing that I’ve noticed so far with Senator Billig is how cautious he is on signing on bills or even sponsoring bills. So, that’s probably a good quality that many of us could emulate. Sometimes there’s probably too many bills here. But Senator Billig is a very hard worker obviously we share a great love for the game of baseball and the Spokane Indians franchise has been voted time and time again for one of the best franchises in all of minor league baseball, so, we want to make sure he continues to work hard doing that job. Thank you very much. Welcome to the Senate.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fain: “Thank you Mr. President. I too want to welcome the good senator from the Third district here. Appreciate his unique words here on the floor of the senate. Clearly he came up with those all by himself which is important as he’s reminded us before in committee.”

MOTION

At 10:33 a.m., on motion of Senator Fain, the Senate was declared to be at ease subject to the call of the President.

The Senate was called to order at 11:23 a.m. by President Owen.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Honored members of the Legislature, Ladies and Gentlemen, the purpose of this Joint Session is to conduct a memorial service in memory of departed former members of the legislature. This has been our longstanding custom. For more than a century the Senate and House have met as we meet today, to pay special and fitting tribute to the lives and service of these valued public servants, and to express our sympathies to their families and friends.

On behalf of the Senate and the House of Representatives, I would like to extend a warm welcome to the family members, friends and colleagues who are with us today.”

The President called upon the Speaker Pro Tempore Moeller to preside over the Joint Session.

Rabbi Bogomilsky: “Almighty God, we gather here today to pay respectful tribute to dear friends, family members and colleagues who have served as legislators for this great state of Washington and who have passed to your sheltering presence. May your families and friends know no more harm or sorrow. May they receive their rich reward for their days, months and years of dedicated service towards assuring and promoting the well-being, peace and tranquility of all the citizens of our great state. Almighty God, in the book of Genesis you have legislated human kind, since the times of Adam and Eve and Noah and his family, to establish a just and fear government. A government dedicated to the protecting the weak, champion the rights of the down trodden and uplifting the lives of all and, as citizens of our great country, we proudly proclaim our commitment to this system of justice in the ‘Pledge of Alliance.’ One nation under God, with liberty and justice for all. The bible teaches us that when we establish just and moral laws we are doing God’s work. As we read in Psalms 111, ‘The work of his hands or truth and justice. All his precepts are sure. They are established for ever and ever. They are done in truth and uprightness.’ Indeed, the job of our dedicated legislators demands both humility and strength. The willingness to compromise while simultaneously maintaining the highest of moral standards. In the words of the Prophet Isaiah, ‘Learn to do well; Seek justice; Relieve the preset, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow.’ We beseech you dear God, Master of the universe, send your divine inspiration and blessings to their noble colleagues, our elected officials, who selflessly serve the public. May these great men and women be blessed with the wisdom to know the path that will find favor in your eyes and to have the compassion and courage and conviction to follow that course, regardless of any pressure or difficulties that may arise. Merciful God, grant each member of this august body, good health and compassionate wisdom. May they and their families be blessed with kindness, graciousness and peace and let us all say, ‘Amen.’”

REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Mr. Speaker (Representative Moeller presiding): “We gather today to pay tribute to the contributions of the distinguished former members of the Washington State Senate and House of Representatives who have passed from among us. The people of our state are grateful for their service.

The Sixty-Third Legislature conveys its respects for these deceased legislators. They once sat in these chambers, answered roll calls on critical bills, attended committee meetings and through it sought always to make our state a better place to live. While their journey in this life is complete, their achievements, public record and valued service are recorded in the journals of the Senate and House and are forever a permanent part of our state’s history.

We express our sympathies to the families, friends and colleagues of these public servants. We also share with them on this memorial occasion, the fond and happy memories of these legislators. They leave a legacy of dedicated service that remains always in our hearts, our memories and the history of our state.”

Speaker Pro Tempore Moeller and the President called the roll of the deceased former members of the Senate and the House of Representatives. The deceased former members were memorialized by the Governor, the senators and representatives and assisted by candle lighters: Miss Emily Grubbs, Senate Page and Mr. Zach Barker, House Page.

Reverend Williams, “God of our weary years, God of our silent tears, Thou who has brought us thus far on the way, Thou who has by Thy I might, led us into the light, keep us forever in the path that we pray. Father, as we pause to remember the lives of those who have gone before us, we know that whenever You want to accomplish something in the world. You take an idea and wrap it in human flesh. We want to thank for the men and women whom You have sent our way to accomplish great things in the State of Washington and these United States of America. We thank You for the investment of their time and talents and their tireless commitment to make a difference for the betterment of all people. Our lives have been enriched and blessed beyond measure as a result of their work and diligence. For their work has not gone unnoticed nor has it been done in vain. We thank You for the many lives that they have touched and the polices and bills they have fought for, to get passed through these chambers. Their voices will be missed but not forgotten. We thank You for their families who are still here with us. We ask that You will continue to comfort and strengthen them as they continue to live out their lives and continue the legacy of their loved ones. As we ponder over the lives of these great men and women who have transitioned into eternity where there is neither Democrat nor Republican, where there is neither rich nor poor, that place where there is no debt ceiling or fiscal cliff, that place where we will study politics and study war no more. That place where Job declared that, ‘The wicked shall cease from troubling, and the weary shall be at rest.’ As we await that day when the final roll call will be made, may we live out the rest of our days in the spirit and conviction of those sacred words of Micah 6:8, ‘He has told you O man, what is good; and what does the Lord require of you but to do justice, to love kindness and to walk humbly with your God?’ Lord, may we strive as public servants to do the work of justice and loving kindness and walk humbly with You oh God. We ask all of these things of you Father in the mighty matchless and marvelous name of Jesus. Amen.”

The Speaker (Representative Moeller presiding) introduced the North Thurston High School Jazz Choir, directed by Mrs. Rachel Landowski, who performed “Carpenters of God” by Vijay Singh.

The Speaker (Representative Moeller presiding) welcomed and introduced Reverend Kojo Kakihara of the Buddhist Temple, Tacoma who offered the Closing Prayer.

Reverend Kakihara: “Every life is interconnected and resonates to each other. This moment we share is a precious gift, given by those whom we remember and honor today. We share this moment and we share their life.

Buddha said, ‘The action of benefitting others brings true happiness.’ Those whom we honor today contributed much by dedicating themselves in serving for the betterment of our lives and communities.

Let us keep their legacies and continue forward in the same spirit.

As the sun shines upon the earth awakening into the growth the seeds that lie dormant in the soil, may the Light of Truth cast its splendor upon the minds and hearts that they may continue to guide this State of Washington, Nation, and the world with great wisdom and deep compassion.

May the same Light shine upon us all, giving us the insight to realize that all in One, All is one.

In Oneness of all forms of life, let us continue to strive for the wellbeing, not only for ourselves, but also, for all people and forms.
Please join me and let us have a moment of meditation as we extend gratitude to the past, dedication the present and aspiration for the future.

You are welcome to express words in your own respective religious traditions.

Namaamidabutsu (I take refuge in the Guddha of Immeasurable Light and Life).”

Representative Hans Dunshee performed “The Skye Boat Song” on the Scottish pipes from rear of the Chamber.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Thank you Mr. Speaker and thank you to member of our memorial committee. Our deepest gratitude to all who have participated in this service today. Special thanks, of course, to the members of the Washington State Patrol who always do a magnificent job for us. We are very proud of them. Our participating clergy, thank you for being with us and making this special today. As well as, of course, the North Thurston High School Jazz Choir which did a magnificent job with ‘Carpenters of God.’ The President does hope that the loved ones of those we honor today will draw comfort from today’s observance and recognize that we will not forget our fellow colleagues that have served before us to make this state the great state that it is.”

WHEREAS, Seventy one years ago, on February 19, 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued Executive Order 9066, which authorized the forced assembly, evacuation, and internment of approximately 13,000 Japanese-Americans residing in the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, The order for assembly and detention at Camp Harmony on the Puyallup Fairgrounds in Puyallup, Washington, prior to evacuation and subsequent internment caused Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington to lose millions of dollars in property and assets, to suffer immeasurable physical and psychological damage, and to be deprived of their constitutional liberties without due process of law; and

WHEREAS, The alleged purpose of this drastic course of action was to prevent Japanese-Americans, all of whom were deemed disloyal and untrustworthy, from committing acts of espionage and sabotage against the United States during the period of its involvement in World War II; and

WHEREAS, In 1943, an overwhelming number of Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington responded to questions of their loyalty and patriotism by volunteering from within barbed wire camps to serve in the United States Army, amassing a battle record that is unmatched in United States military history with seven Presidential Unit Citations, 21 Medals of Honor, 29 Distinguished Service Crosses, 1 Distinguished Service Medal, 588 Silver Stars, more than 4,000 Bronze Stars, 22 Legion of Merit Medals, 15 Soldier’s Medals, 9,486 Purple Hearts, and a total of 16 decorations from France and Italy; and

WHEREAS, A few equally patriotic Japanese-Americans, like Minoru Yasui, Fred Korematsu, and University of Washington student Gordon Hirabayashi who passed away on January 2, 2012, were willing to face imprisonment to seek justice by challenging the constitutionality of the evacuation and internment orders; and

WHEREAS, Throughout the fact-finding work of the Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians, the United States Congress later found “there was no military or security reason for the internment” of individuals of Japanese ancestry, it “was caused by racial prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership;” and

WHEREAS, In 1976 President Gerald Ford formally rescinded Executive Order 9066 saying, “I call upon the American people to affirm with me this American Promise—that we have learned from the tragedy of that long-ago experience forever to treasure liberty and justice for each individual American, and resolve that this kind of action shall never again be repeated;” and

WHEREAS, In 1988 President Ronald Reagan signed the Civil Liberties Act apologizing to the survivors of internment camps saying, “what is most important in this bill has less to do with property than with honor. For here we admit a wrong; here we reaffirm our commitment as a nation to equal justice under the law.;” and

WHEREAS, In 2010, the United States Congress recognized the unparalleled record of Nisei soldiers by authorizing the creation of “a single gold medal of appropriate design to the 100th Infantry Battalion, the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, and the Military Intelligence Service, United States Army” and, in November 2011, President Barack Obama bestowed this highest civilian honor on these units collectively; and

WHEREAS, Throughout Washington state, survivors of the European and Asian battlefields of World War II and of American internment camps continue to live their golden years quietly, in unassuming contrast to their extraordinary acts of patriotism and valor;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate, along with the people of Washington, pause to acknowledge the seventy-first anniversary of the signing of Executive Order 9066, the seventieth anniversary of the establishment of the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the signing of the Civil Liberties Act, and to recognize the Japanese-American internees and World War II veterans from the state of Washington, to honor their patience, heroism, sacrifice, and loyalty, and to remember the lessons and blessings of liberty and justice for all; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Nisei Veterans Committee, the Military Intelligence Service - Northwest Association, the Japanese-American Citizens League, the Japanese Cultural & Community Center of Washington State, and the Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience.

1971 through 1990 and sponsored Senate Bill 3163, an act relating to war reparations, during his tenure and was present in the gallery. The President noted that Senator Fleming set several records during his days as a University of Washington football player – one lasting for decades before it too, finally, fell.”

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Ms. Toshiko Hasegawa, the youngest daughter of Senator Hasegawa, who was present in the gallery.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hasegawa: “Thank you Mr. President, as you know my first speech has been going on for about a month and a day now. I finally have the occasion to offer my appreciation to you all for having suffered through my lengthy first speeches that’s lasted over a month and a day. So, you know, Renton which is the heart of my district, started off as a coal mining town and so, as a token of my appreciation to you all, I have lumps of coal. These are diamonds in the rough. All you have to do is, which we all know how to put pressure on things to get it done. I’m sure we can put enough pressure on these to create fine jewels. But, do not despair, the Eleventh district is probably the most strategically important transportation district in the Pacific Northwest because the district stretches from the cranes of the Port of Seattle all the way through the intermodal rail hubs. It’s the intersection of major interstate, commerce. It’s where the warehousing and manufacturing and industrial centers are in south Seattle and south central King County. So, as everybody’s been keeping tally and you expected my seat mate back here to present you with a car from Puyallup, I imagine you were probably expecting maybe a 737 Max or something from Renton. Well I can’t afford that but in your gift bags that are being distributed there’s a little airplane eraser. I don’t know if that counts. So, add that to the mix. There is a, in recognition of the internationalism of the Eleventh district, there’s a little red envelope. In Chinese tradition, they offer red envelopes for good fortune and it’s, you just put a little token of money in it so that’s to wish you all good fortune for the coming year. There are also a few chocolates from Seattle Chocolate company which is located in Tukwila, Washington. And you will find a bag of Starbucks coffee which is enough to brew you one little pot at least. I didn’t want to go broke on, but you were expected much so hopefully much will be given. There’s also, maybe I should of given this to you before you had to suffer through my speech, but a bottle of fine imported Sake handpicked by the owner of Uwajimaya which is within my, an Asian grocery store, which is in my district. Along with some of Japanese milk candy. Then to top it off, Boeing Field is in my district. It used to heart of the district now it’s on the periphery of it but you know every 737, formally 757, that were built out of the Renton plant had to go through Boeing Field before it was, they were shipped off to their customers. Well, you know you all did a fantastic job of helping us build the Museum of Flight at the sound end of Boeing Field and, through the graciousness of the Museum of Flight, you’ll also find two passes to the Museum of Flight in the district which is actually pretty valuable but I would like to thank Bonnie Dunbar, who is the former Executive Director there. She is a local astronaut from Sunnyside, actually, who has been on five space shuttle missions and helped me get those for you. But, what I wanted to say about that was you all funded, you passed a resolution a few years ago that was a Joint Memorial to Congress, normally we just call them Christmas letters, letters to Santa but this one actually returned a benefit because we actually did get a space shuttle training unit and you all also voted to provide funding to help build the enclosure there. It’s a beautiful facility.
I really hope you, it’s amazing to see even when you’re driving past in front, the space shuttle behind this glass wall inside the building that you all helped build. So, in recognition of this, I’m getting the cut signal, so when I spoke to the bill on the House floor I got to say, ‘Kapla’, ‘live long and prosper,’ and ‘make it so,’ and I would like to repeat that in the Senate because I want to be the first to speak Klingon on the Senate floor. Thank you very much.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schoesler: “Thank you. First to the members of the body, our side has a new Floor Leader. If I was the Floor Leader, already I would of revoked Rule 29, long ago today. Seeing the new gentleman here and finally getting the gifts, Mr. President, I thought he was part of Senator Padden’s class last year he gave so many speeches. I was going over and thinking about the good Senator and I saw the coal and I was so happy to see he’s endorsed more coal trains coming to our ports. The enlightened attitude of new freshman senators is always very welcome. And going through the gifts it reminded me of when new banks used to open. They always had many small gifts for their new depositor’s.
Well, knowing his interest in banking, I think he’s already found ideas for the gifts for his bank he wants to create. So, in closing
Mr. President, I would offer this to the gentleman from the Eleventh district, the key to my twenty-one years of political success is brevity. Please use it.”
PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hargrove: “Well thank you Mr. President. Well, first of all one of the Senate Rules says that the number of gifts needs to be in proportion to the number of speeches and so, even though we got a whole lot of gifts here, by my calculation. You’re still short by the length of the speech so we need a few more. The next thing is we are very concerned about accuracy and this is not Klingon. It’s Vulcan. You must not be a Trekkie. That’s all I can say there. The last thing is, we really appreciate the coal and looking for the diamond in it. I’m sure we’ll be looking for the diamond in you for some time. But you know we know it’s in there some place and we really appreciate coming to the senate and looking forward to working with you. Welcome.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Sheldon: “Thank you Mr. President. I too want to rise and welcome Senator Hasegawa to the floor of the Senate. I enjoyed your resolution and, like every organization, we have a budget. And the senate has a very tight budget and I just wanted to warn any member, if you ever make a motion to have any remarks by Senator Hasegawa spread upon the journal we are going to create several new jobs and bust the budget here in the senate.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Braun: “Thank you Mr. President. With your permission I would like to turn and address my fellow senators? Thank you for the warm welcome to the State Senate. I’m pleased to be here and I am pleased to present gifts to each of you and in doing so to introduce you to the Twentieth legislative district. My first gift is being delivered as we speak and it’s a small sampler of genuine Chehalis flood water and mud. So, just to alleviate any concerns that the President might have, it’s not for consumption. It is, however, very powerful. In fact, used in the appropriate quantities, it will completely shut down I-5. I present this to you as a means of thanking you for your assistance for the legislation that has been provided as we work towards a long term solution to the flooding in the Chehalis River basin. This is a problem we’ve struggled with for over a hundred years and thanks to your support and the work of elected officials and tribal officials and citizens throughout the basin, we’re on a path to solving this problem permanently. I ask you for your continued support as we work through this next phase. There’s also a gift bag coming around and it contains three gifts from three great family companies in my district and I’d like to talk about each of them briefly. The first one is a small company started in Chehalis. The mint is then mixed with flood water first. I don’t know if there is a message there but…”

Thank you for coming for eventually for this gift and welcome to the Senate.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Chase: “Thank you Mr. President. I would like to point out that my colleague, Senator Braun, delivered your package first. I believe he is attempting to curry some special favor with giving you that sack which I still haven’t received. Thank you for coming for eventually for this gift and welcome to the Senate.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Holquist Newbry: “Thank you Mr. President. I just wanted to welcome the new Senator from the Twentieth district, Senator John Braun. I think he’s not a typical freshman, to the point here that he was such a pro here with his maiden bill and maiden speech that many of us were unaware that he is a freshman. Sitting with him on the committee that he chairs the Economic Development Committee as well as Vice Chairs with me, the Commerce and Labor Committee, I can just say is a breath of fresh air. You have a savvy common sense, business sense as well as a demeanor that is going to bring a lot to this body and we welcome you whole-heartedly.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Carrell: “Thank you Mr. President. Well, I’m looking at this bottle and there’s always a question. I’m looking at the level of the liquid in there and some people ask, ‘Is it half empty or is it half full?’ The question I always ask myself, ‘Is it drinkable and after shaking this, I know the answer.’

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schoesler: “I’ve heard the young gentleman’s remarks today and I heard and I heard them. After his election I went and visited him at his company and I’ve had him in leadership meetings, committee meetings, caucus meetings and every other meeting. He’s said more in one floor speech than he had since I met him. And as the gentle lady from the Thirteenth district spoke and I thought about it. And the part about the three hundred Spartans in his floor speech, doesn’t it remind you of Harold Hochstatter? I really didn’t know that Harold Hochstatter had come back to us in a new form because only Harold could of recited that so eloquently. So, now that we know you can speak, eloquently, and please, feel free to do so again."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Honeyford: “I’m trying to figure out the significance of this. We’ve been in committee. We heard of the millions of dollars they want in the Chehalis Basin for flood control and I’ve had a visit from the good senator. So, I don’t know if it’s a gift or non-gift but I didn’t receive any of that dirty flood water, so, I’m trying to figure out what the importance of that is. Thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: “Thank you Mr. President. Well, I really welcome Senator Braun to this body. You know if you drive down the freeway going through Chehalis you will notice Braun Enterprises, I believe it is, on the left hand side going south. It’s pretty impressive but I have to tell you I’m really glad. I’ve been around that district a lot and I have traveled from one end to the other and I’m glad you gave us the dirty water because there is a another big thing that is in his district and it’s the Centralia Cattle Auction and it could have been something else. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Dammeier: “I hope to rise in support of my good colleague from the Twentieth being a fellow Naval Officer and served in the Submarine Navy. However, I have a question of rule interpretation for the President. I realize that the good senator is new to the legislative body but he may not be aware of the rule about impugning others. And Mr. President, when he got up and said that his employees are the absolute best in the Northwest, the employees that work for a company that I am part of felt impugned and I personally was insulted. Mr. President so I would appreciate your admonishing the good senator from the Twentieth about such in bold statements.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “I’ll take it under consideration. I think the rule is insulting you, not the employees, and then I’ll still take it under consideration.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fain: “I was just thinking back with all of these great new freshman that have joined, excuse me, first-year legislators, my apology Senator Kohl-Welles, that have joined this body and then I thought back to when Senator Litzow and Senator Hill, Baumgartner and myself were new and came in. We probably spoke of a grand total of about between four and five minutes collectively between the three of us on the floor the entire first year we were here and it worked out really well for us. So, that’s just a piece of advice that I might pass on our very precocious new members.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Parlette: “Thank you Mr. President. I would like to welcome all of you to join the Majority Caucus room, if you would like. Today is my assistant’s Shiloh’s last day after serving

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Smith: “Thank you Sir. So, the Pages are passing out a token of my appreciation for your indulgence in allowing me to speak for the first time. These are items that do come from my home district but there a little bit unusual. There were some recommendations that I had from a number of people in my district, one of which was that I bring each one of the senators one of our rare grey wolves. That could have accomplished addressing several different issues but I felt that might break the decorum rules of the chamber so I decided to pass on that. What we do have here are a number of items people might not associate with our district. First of all we do have some locally roasted coffee. We do not raise the beans but I do know these people. They’re good friends of mine. The Crandalls work with a broker that only seeks to work directly with growers people who are engaged in moral and ethical behavior in their home countries. I like that. Also, we have a sampling from Spo-candy. Also that Spokane is a larger part of our district, I hope you enjoy that. I would not recommend eating the wood pellets unless you have a severe problem, well, we won’t talk about that but what they do is give a nod to the fact, in my district, the timber industry is incredible. I do believe that in the future we will be looking more and more to the timber industry for energy instead of merely building homes. Finally the last part, is the paper bag itself. Which, in Pend Oreille County, we do have a strong pulp and paper industry working with the latest technology to have environmentally sound and efficient ways of producing that product. I would simply also, in this as one final point, I would like to say for me and my family the fact that I am sitting in this seat is an incredible step. My grandmother also served in the Idaho State Legislature and it was a long run for our family to be involved in this way again and I do appreciate the support and the encouragement that I have received from my colleagues up to this point. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Ericksen: “Well, I just wanted to say, welcome to the senate to the good gentleman from Eastern Washington. It’s a pleasure to have you here, to serve on the Transportation Committee with you and also help you get that first bill out of our committee, dealing with the very wood pellets that he’s passing out today. It was a phenomenal story, but he was too humble in his opening speech. When he was actually talking about the wolf issue from over in his district because you’ll notice that today the good gentleman from the Fortieth district is not here, not on the floor with us today. So, while he wasn’t able to get the wolves on the floor with us I do believe you did relocate some to Orcas Island to keep the good senator happy. I think that’s where he’s at today is now dealing with his own wolf problem over on Orcas Island.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kline: “Thank you Mr. President. I have the benefit of working on the Natural Resources and Parks Committee with our new member and I want to tell you he actually does get the bills rolling with a lot the help from the Chair which I noticed because I’m definitely kept awake and alert during these meetings. You never know what might happen. Those of you who have been here for years know that, as they say in the programs. ‘My name is Adam and I am an addict.’ The substance you see here is my substance and if any of you tea-drinking liberals or for that matter other friends decide you don’t need this little eight ounces of heaven well then just send it over my way. Thank you.”

(e) A provision that if it is determined at the hearing under (d) of this subsection that the vehicle was placed on the land without the consent of the landowner and that he or she has not subsequently acquiesced in its presence, then the local agency shall not assess costs of administration or removal of the vehicle against the property upon which the vehicle is located or otherwise attempt to collect the cost from the owner:
(((\(\text{#1#1}\))) (f) A provision that after notice has been given of the intent of the city, town, or county to dispose of the vehicle and after a hearing, if requested, has been held, the vehicle or part thereof shall be removed at the request of a law enforcement officer with notice to the Washington state patrol and the department of licensing that the vehicle has been wrecked. The city, town, or county may operate such a disposal site when its governing body determines that commercial channels of disposition are not available or are inadequate, and it may make final disposition of such vehicles or parts, or may transfer such vehicle or parts to another governmental body provided such disposal shall be only as scrap.

Senator Chase, to show you how grateful I am for the fact that you’re out there on this issue helping to help children, I have provided each of you at your floor desks with two of the coloring books that the National Rifle Association does provide and take at them you’ll see the safety that is encouraged. Just like we encourage kids if they are crossing the street to you know look both ways and if they somehow their clothing is on fire you drop and you roll. When you, if they should come across a fire arm, you stop. You don’t touch it. You go tell an adult and that’s the content of these booklets and I just wanted to commend the good Senator for her efforts and her ability to put down partisanship in this to protect the children of the state of Washington, our grandchildren, our children and those yet to come. Thank you very much Senator.”

It is very important rule of decorum— which is no food or beverages are allowed on the senate floor and I’m looking around and I’m seeing all your well hydrated smiling faces and it’s really making me think that we need to have a rule change so I don’t just, I guess that’s just, that’s just me. REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Ladies and Gentleman, it has become a tradition for the Senate to hear a Report from the Boy Scouts who do great and very generous work around the state of Washington helping in communities throughout our state. This morning we are very honored to have Eagle Scout Nick Co of Troop 609 in Issaquah to deliver the annual report to the state. The President has learned this amazing young man, as many of the scouts that are with us today, are so outstanding, has been accepted by the Naval and the Coast Guard Academies. So it’s a great privilege for the President to present to you Eagle Scout Nick Co to give the annual Report of the Boy Scouts.”

REMARKS BY MR. NICK CO

Nick Co: “Thank you Mr. President. Good afternoon. My name is Nicholas Co and I am an Eagle Scout, Boy Scout Troop 609 in Issaquah Washington. I and twenty one Eagle Scouts are here today representing the six Boy Scout Councils in our state. Collectively we are here today to present the annual Report to the State of Washington. This past year nearly sixty seven thousand young people in Washington State participated in Scouting programs through the mentorship of more than twenty-thousand adult volunteers. Of these Scouts twenty four thousand four hundred and sixty nine attending camp and a record of one thousand three hundred achieved the pinnacle of Scouting by earning the rank of Eagle in our state last year. The Boy Scouts of America was founded on the premise, to be a good citizen you must do for others. Since its inception Scouts and volunteers have committed to serving others at all times with enthusiasm and conviction. Over the years Scouts have worked diligently to protect the environment and learn the value of ‘leave no trace.’ Through these and many other efforts the Boy Scouts of America has established a tradition of service. In 2012 Washington Scouts and volunteers donated more than three hundred thirty four thousand hours of community service to our state. This volunteer time is valued at nearly 7.3 billion dollars. By continuing to whereas, the students of Tahoma High School who are enrolled in the program known as "We The People: The Citizen and Constitution" have exhibited exceptional knowledge of the Constitution of the United States and the lessons taught by our forefathers; and whereas, on Saturday, January 11, 2013, the state We The People competition was won by the team from Tahoma High School, making it the school's eighteenth state championship; and

whereas, from April 26 to 29, 2013, these students will represent their state at the twenty-sixth anniversary We The People National Finals in Washington, D.C., where they will aspire to uphold the standards of excellence for which Tahoma High School is known; and

whereas, these students have immersed themselves in the United States Constitution and Bill of Rights, and their extraordinary understanding of the country's founding documents and principles and formidable debate skills have inspired those who have watched them progress to the level of state champions; and

whereas, the Tahoma team is coached by Gretchen Wulfing, who was named Washington's Civic Educator of the Year in 2011 and who continues to impress upon her students the importance of learning about American constitutional democracy and the contemporary relevance of the nation's founding documents and principles; and

whereas, these students and their advisor were aided by countless hours of help from We The People alumni, former students who helped prepare this year's debaters by volunteering as guest judges; and

whereas, since the creation of We The People in 1987, nearly thirty million students and ninety thousand teachers from across the country have participated in enhancing civic education; and

whereas, studies have shown that eighty percent of high school seniors in this program are registered to vote, compared to an average of thirty-seven percent among other high school seniors, proof that We The People promotes a greater interest in participating in government; and whereas, Tahoma High School has a distinguished record in competitions at the national level, having placed fourth in the nation in 2000, capturing the Western Regional Award in 2002 and 2008, taking the top Unit Two in the Nation Award in 2003, and placing in the top ten in 2012;

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hewitt: "Thank you Mr. President, well, I do believe that that was Senator Brown’s, I think that was a floor speech, I’m not so sure. That’s got to be probably the shortest floor speech I’ve ever heard but maybe that matches her stature. I’m not sure about that either, Senator, it’s nice to have you here. I have to tell you, you are a couple of steps up from the last Senator we had from Eighth District and it’s very nice. I think most of us are very happy. You’re very scurrish, Mr. President, that’s a word. You’ve been very busy around here. You have more bills out of Rules already than I have and I have been here for a dozen years. I don’t know how this all happens but it does. It’s fun to watch you. You’ve hit the road running. You’re doing very, very well, but I got to tell you again, that’s the shortest floor speech I’ve ever heard for a floor speech. That’s a nice sound coming out of very nice young-looking lady but I’m confused why you had to bring the Bishop here with you today. I don’t know if you have some things you want to confess and maybe there’s some other people on the floor want to confess with you but anyway it’s nice to see the Bishop here supporting you and part of your family. Thank and welcome to the Senate, I’m sure you’re going to do very, very well. Thank you Mr. President.”

Addressing the Washington state health insurance pool.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Parlette, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5449 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5449 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Parlette moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Parlette and Keiser be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The federal patient protection and affordable care act of 2010, P.L. 111-148, as amended, prohibits the imposition of any preexisting condition coverage exceptions in the individual market for insurance coverage beginning January 1, 2014. The affordable care act also extends opportunities for individuals to enroll in comprehensive coverage in a health benefit exchange beginning January 1, 2014. The legislative finds that some individuals may still be barred from enrolling in the new comprehensive coverage options and it is the intent of the legislature to continue some limited access to the Washington state health insurance pool for a transitional period, and to provide for modification to the pool to reflect changes in federal law and insurance availability.

Sec. 2. RCW 48.41.060 and 2011 c 314 s 13 are each amended to read as follows:

(a) [(Designate or establish the standard health questionnaire to be used under RCW 48.41.100 and 48.43.018, including the form and content of the standard health questionnaire and the method of its application. The questionnaire must provide for an objective evaluation of an individual's health status by assigning a discreet measure, such as a system of point scoring to each individual. The questionnaire must not contain any questions related to pregnancy, and pregnancy shall not be a basis for coverage by the pool. The questionnaire shall be designed such that it is reasonably expected to identify the eight percent of persons who are the most costly to treat who are under individual coverage in health benefit plans, as defined in RCW 48.43.005, in Washington state or are covered by the pool, if applied to all such persons;]

(b) Obtain from a member of the American academy of actuaries, who is independent of the board, a certification that the standard health questionnaire meets the requirements of (a) of this subsection; [c) Approve the standard health questionnaire and any modifications needed to comply with this chapter. The standard health questionnaire shall be submitted to an actuary for certification, modified as necessary, and approved at least every thirty-six months unless at the time when certification is required the pool will be discontinued before the end of the succeeding thirty-six month period. The designation and approval of the standard health questionnaire by the board shall not be subject to review and approval by the commissioner. The standard health questionnaire or any modification thereto shall not be used until ninety days after public notice of the approval of the questionnaire or any modification thereto, except that the initial standard health questionnaire approved for use by the board after March 23, 2000, may be used immediately following public notice of such approval;]

(c) Establish appropriate rates, rate schedules, rate adjustments, expense allowances, claim reserve formulas and any other actuarial functions appropriate to the operation of the pool. Rates shall not be unreasonable in relation to the coverage provided, the risk experience, and expenses of providing the coverage. Rates and rate schedules may be adjusted for appropriate risk factors such as age and area variation in claim costs and shall take into consideration appropriate risk factors in accordance with established actuarial underwriting practices consistent with Washington state individual plan rating requirements under RCW 48.44.022 and 48.46.064;
Assess members of the pool in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, and make advance interim assessments as may be reasonable and necessary for the organizational or interim operating expenses. Any interim assessments will be credited as offsets against any regular assessments due following the close of the year.

(ii) Self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangements are subject to assessment under this subsection only in the event that assessments are not preempted by the employee retirement income security act of 1974, as amended, 29 U.S.C. Sec. 1001 et seq. The arrangements and the commissioner shall initially request an advisory opinion from the United States department of labor or obtain a declaratory ruling from a federal court on the legality of imposing assessments on these arrangements before imposing the assessment. Once the legality of the assessments has been determined, the multiple employer welfare arrangement certified by the insurance commissioner must begin payment of these assessments.

(iii) If there has not been a final determination of the legality of these assessments, then beginning on the earlier of (A) the date the fourth multiple employer welfare arrangement has been certified by the insurance commissioner, or (B) April 1, 2006, the arrangement shall deposit the assessments imposed by this subsection into an interest bearing escrow account maintained by the arrangement. Upon a final determination that the assessments are not preempted by the employee retirement income security act of 1974, as amended, 29 U.S.C. Sec. 1001 et seq., all funds in the interest bearing escrow account shall be transferred to the board;

(iv) (c) Issue policies of health coverage in accordance with the requirements of this chapter;

(v) (d) Establish procedures for the administration of the premium discount provided under RCW 48.41.200(3)(a)(iii);

(vi) (e) Contract with the Washington state health care authority for the administration of the premium discounts provided under RCW 48.41.200(3)(a) (i) and (ii);

(vii) (f) Set a reasonable fee to be paid to an insurance producer licensed in Washington state for submitting an acceptable application for enrollment in the pool; and (viii) (g) Provide certification to the commissioner when assessments will exceed the threshold level established in RCW 48.41.037.

(2) In addition thereto, the board may:

(a) Enter into contracts as are necessary or proper to carry out the provisions and purposes of this chapter including the authority, with the approval of the commissioner, to enter into contracts with similar pools of other states for the joint performance of common administrative functions, or with persons or other organizations for the performance of administrative functions;

(b) Sue or be sued, including taking any legal action as necessary to avoid the payment of improper claims against the pool or the coverage provided by or through the pool;

(c) Appoint appropriate legal, actuarial, and other committees as necessary to provide technical assistance in the operation of the pool, policy, and other contract design, and any other function within the authority of the pool; and

(d) Conduct periodic audits to assure the general accuracy of the financial data submitted to the pool, and the board shall cause the pool to have an annual audit of its operations by an independent certified public accountant.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed to require or authorize the adoption of rules under chapter 34.05 RCW.

Sec. 3. RCW 48.41.100 and 2011 c 315 s 5 and 2011 c 314 s 15 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

As a means to minimize the number of policy changes for enrollees, replacement policies provided under this subsection also may include the plan modifications authorized in RCW 48.41.100, 48.41.110, and 48.41.120.

(2) A pool policy shall contain a guarantee of the individual's right to continued coverage, subject to the provisions of subsections (4) ((and)), (5), (7), and (8) of this section.

The replacement plan must include all of the services covered under the replaced plan, and must not significantly limit access to the kind of services covered under the replacement plan through unreasonable cost-sharing requirements or otherwise. The pool may also allow individuals who are covered by a plan that is being replaced an unrestricted right to transfer to a fully comparable plan.

(b) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section requires that if the pool discontinues offering a plan: (i) The pool must provide notice to each individual of the discontinuation at least ninety days prior to the date of the discontinuation; (ii) the pool must offer to each individual provided coverage under the discontinued plan the option to enroll in any other plan currently offered by the pool for which the individual is otherwise eligible; and (iii) in exercising the option to discontinue a plan and in offering the option of coverage under (b)(ii) of this subsection, the pool must act uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor of enrolled individuals or individuals who may become eligible for this coverage.

(c) The pool cannot replace or discontinue a plan under this subsection (4) until it has completed an evaluation of the impact of replacing the plan upon:

(i) The cost and quality of care to pool enrollees;
(ii) Pool financing and enrollment;
(iii) The board's ability to offer comprehensive and other plans to its enrollees;
(iv) Other items identified by the board.

In its evaluation, the board must request input from the constituents represented by the board members.

(d) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section does not apply if the pool has zero enrollment in a plan.

(5) The pool may not change the rates for pool policies except on a class basis, with a clear disclosure in the policy of the pool's right to do so.

(6) A pool policy offered under this chapter shall provide that, upon the death of the individual in whose name the policy is issued, every other individual then covered under the policy may elect, within a period specified in the policy, to continue coverage under the same or a different policy.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “The President is greatly honored to be able to introduce this amazing man. Let me tell you a little bit about the coach. He’s the eighth; he joined the Seattle Seahawks January 11 bringing eighteen years of NFL experience and nineteen years of college experience. He was head coach at University of Southern Cal between 2001-2009 and much to the dismay of the Huskies and the Cougars he led the Trojans to seven consecutive PAC 10 titles and two national championships. In 2003 he helped develop A Better LA, a non-profit group working to reduce gang violence by empowering change in individuals in communities and in 2009 received a Crystal Heart Award from the SC School of Social Work for those efforts. Based on a model of A better LA, Pete Carroll created A Better Seattle, a 2011 partnership with the YMCA of Greater Seattle and the Seattle Youth Violence Prevention Initiative. Coach Carroll and his wife Glenna have three children, one grandson and a granddaughter. It is a great honor for the President to be able to introduce to you Coach Pete Carroll.”

REMARKS BY PETE CARROLL

Pete Carroll: “Thank you very much. Thank you Senator Brown. I just want to start off by saying I know we have a really exciting football team and all. We’re led by a very exciting Brown. I just want to start off by saying I know we have a really building okay with the Democrats/Republicans but now that we’re here today so I did the preliminary work on the other end of the something. I’m really proud to be part of it and having a blast the community that were involved, to Chief of Police department, I loved that Maxine Waters showed up, people from all walks of life, to introduce to you Coach Pete Carroll.”

Pete Carroll: “Thank you very much. Thank you Senator Brown. I just want to start off by saying I know we have a really exciting football team and all. We’re led by a very exciting Brown. I just want to start off by saying I know we’ve been in five terms, you better watch out, he’s coming for your job. There’s nothing to stop this guy and we’re so thrilled to be part of representing the Twelfth man and I know representing your constituents. This is an extraordinary area, the energy; the love of supporting their teams as well as just having this pioneer spirit that’s so cool about being in the Northwest is really something. I’m really proud to be part of it and having a blast doing it. Could you imagine. Look where I am, I can’t believe I’m here today so I did the preliminary work on the other end of the building okay with the Democrats/Republicans but now that we’re here with you guys at the Senate, this is big time isn’t it? Yeah it is isn’t it. I’m in deep trouble over there now. We’re fired up about football but we’re here for a different reason today and I’ve been given this opportunity to come and tell you a little story and give you a little background on some work that we’ve done that really does reach out to your world. It was years ago in SC when, the second year I think at the Trojans driving in on a Monday morning on Notre Dame week and I heard a report on the radio where four kids got killed in the streets over the weekend. That same news report going down Figueroa Avenue right down through South Central every day. I got the report that in related incidences three more kids were killed from what had happened over the weekend. And then by Thursday eleven kids had been killed in retaliation’s and I had an old friend that some of you may know Lou Tice who ran the Pacific Institute here for years and he said, ‘We’re interested. What’s going on?’ We found a young man Kevin Griffin who worked for the Seahawks, I don’t know where Kevin is now, but he’s in the building somewhere here. Kevin has been an extraordinary factor who has worked out of the Seahawks office so the NFL backed up our mission here. Steve Ballmer and Connie Ballmer decided that this was something they wanted to be involved with and they made a statement from the private sector that we would support. Well, we found that the YMCA was already supporting a group called ‘Alive and Free’ that has been doing marvelous outreach work but it also connected us with the Y and so we took this model of the NFL private sector, the YMCA and also with the corporate help that we’ve received created a beautiful model here in Seattle to really even take it a step further than what had happened in Los Angeles. LA has continued to be supportive and we exchange information, groups and we teach, we bring people down there, we bring people up here so that all of what we’ve learned in the past is shared here. That’s why A Better LA, A Better Seattle is connected and we hope to continue to spread the model. We’re not just in Seattle. We’re spreading out to the surrounding areas. We just heard today from Eastern Washington needs help. We’ll listen to everybody and help everywhere we can. In an effort to help kids live a safer life and to help them get home and show up to their mom and dad when they get home after school. In that effort by quelling the youth issues that occur we can make communities more thriving, more safe and more prosperous and just as they should be. We’re trying to do the right thing and we have found a really cool model to do this and it works and it’s at hand and it’s already happening in your area. We’re here today to say we need your help. The big step, that’s why I’m so thrilled to be here, the big step for us in California is we need to get to the next level because private funding won’t get it done. We need state support and we’re going to need federal support as well. Well, we just heard two weeks ago from the President, he just talked exactly about creating the ladder that kids could climb for opportunity to get out of their issues. Well, he’s talking about exactly what we’re talking about. Here’s where it really hits home. If we do a great job here in Washington you can be the first state that sets in the motion how this problem can be dealt with and really it’s not something we can’t understand. It’s done one person at a time. One person talking to one kid sitting on a park bench helping them create a vision of hope that would not have happened otherwise and then it’s the next one and then you reach into a family, you’re saving lives directly and you’re also saving communities and we’re saving the state millions and millions of dollars as well. It’s extraordinary, its staggering how much it cost to process a gang order in LA, you’d be shocked. It’s a million to million and half a person, it’s extraordinary amount of funds that go out, by spending money we’ll save an extraordinary amount in just the work that we do. That’s a financial way of looking at it but really we’re doing wonderful work. So, we’re here to make a call to you, wherever you can help us we want to help us. If you say you’re going to help us then do it and if you can’t, just sit back and let us do the good stuff we’re going to do and don’t get in our way because we’re going to do something great. I’m thrilled to be here. Thank you so much for this opportunity to speak to you and I hope we’ll do a lot of great things in the future. Thank you. Go Hawks.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Ericksen: “Thank you Mr. President. I just wanted to announce to the members here today that tomorrow morning at 8:00 a.m. the Energy, Environment & Telecommunications Committee will be holding a briefing on the situation over at Hanford regarding the leaking tanks. So, if anybody would like to join us for that briefing it will be 8:00 a.m. tomorrow over in Senate Hearing Room 1.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kohl-Welles: “Thank you Mr. President. Given our guests being here today representing the Seahawks, I would like to acknowledge that former and late Senator Alex Deccio was a real leader here in our legislature. He and I were kind of a tag team in getting the legislation through to have a measure sent to the ballot for the voters to determine whether there would be a new Seahawks Stadium. It was one of the most challenging bills, as those of you who will remember, who were here at that time, there was a lot of back and forth. I had been on the Kingdome Task Force that made the recommendation to provide for a measure to have a new stadium being constructed. Former Senator Luke Esser and I went to the Super Bowl the year when the Seahawks were in it as did a couple of House members and it’s really been exciting, I believe it’s really paid off. I frequently think of Senator Deccio and all he put into that challenge. Thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator King: “I would just like to point out to the body that the Sun Dome is still standing. Thank you.”

MOTION

Senator Honeyford moved adoption of the following resolution:

SENATE RESOLUTION

By Senators Honeyford, Baumgartner, Parlette, Hewitt, Bailey, Rivers, Becker, Smith, Dammeier, Conway, Rolfes, Mullet, WHEREAS, The Civil Air Patrol was born on December 1, 1941, just days before the attack on Pearl Harbor, for the purposes of liaison flying and interdiction of infiltrators on the east coast and the southern border of the United States, and the Civil Air Patrol insignia, a red three-bladed propeller in the Civil Defense white-triangle-in-blue-circle, began appearing everywhere; and

WHEREAS, When German submarines began to prey on American ships, the Civil Air Patrol’s mission grew to include a 1,000-member coastal patrol, 64 of whom died in service and 26 of whom were lost at sea; and

WHEREAS, After Civil Air Patrol planes were issued bombs and depth charges in response to a crew watching in vain as a grounded sub off Cape Canaveral, Florida, escaped before the military arrived, the Civil Air Patrol Coastal flew 24 million miles and found 173 subs, attacked 57, hit 10, and sank two; and

WHEREAS, By presidential executive order, the Civil Air Patrol became an auxiliary of the Army Air Force on April 28, 1943, and some months later the Germans withdrew coastal U-boat operations “because of those damned little red and yellow airplanes”; and

WHEREAS, The Civil Air Patrol went on to target-towing operations, courier service for the Army, liaison and cargo flights between war plants, and southern border patrol against enemy infiltrators crossing from Mexico, and air, search and rescue, and nonflying Civil Air Patrol members guarded airfields and trained a rapidly growing corps of Civil Air Patrol cadets; and

WHEREAS, During the postwar years, the Civil Air Patrol was put to work in search and rescue missions, saving the United States millions of dollars in operational costs, because there was no other organization with the equipment and training to continue this vital job as military aircraft was far too expensive to operate and flew too fast to accurately spot downed planes and personnel; and

WHEREAS, During floods and other natural disasters, the Civil Air Patrol has flown vital serum and vaccines to areas unreachable by heavier aircraft, and ground teams have helped in the evacuation of cities and towns; and

WHEREAS, In 2012, over one hundred air crews from three Civil Air Patrol regions began conducting a post-Hurricane Sandy aerial photo mission, the largest in Civil Air Patrol history, covering more than 300 miles of coastline from Cape Cod, Massachusetts to Cape May, New Jersey, and taking more than 120,000 photos for the Federal Emergency Management Agency, which used the images for damage assessment; and

WHEREAS, Civil Air Patrol members from three counties in Indiana assisted the Federal Emergency Management Agency alongside neighbors, citizen volunteers, and emergency response workers throughout the night and into the daylight hours, searching vehicles and outdoor areas for victims after a rash of tornadoes devastated the area in 2011; and

WHEREAS, The Civil Air Patrol has a cadet program with over 26,000 young people between the ages of 12 and 20, one of its major attractions being the aerospace program which provides both classroom and practical instruction in flight and rocketry, and each cadet is offered the opportunity to participate in orientation flights in both powered and glider aircraft, while learning search and rescue techniques and many other valuable skills, with an emphasis on military history, leadership, and service to others both within the squadron and the community as a whole; and

WHEREAS, On May 18, 1980, when Mt. St. Helens in Washington state exploded, devastating approximately 150 square miles and triggering massive mud flows, floods, and ash fall, the Civil Air Patrol quickly responded to the county sheriff's request for help by establishing a 24-hour headquarters, aiding search and rescue missions, updating weather advisories, and assisting in ash cleanup; and

WHEREAS, Today's Civil Air Patrol continues its service and commitment to our state and country with three primary missions: Aerospace Education, Cadet Programs, and Emergency Services; and

WHEREAS, In Washington state alone, the Civil Air Patrol is composed of approximately 800 senior members and approximately 730 cadets, who in 2011 flew their eleven aircraft 2,578.8 hours in service to our state, at a value of 3 million dollars in volunteer hours, and, primarily for cadet aerospace education, their Washington state gliders flew 658 sorties;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington state Senate recognize the Washington state wing of the Civil Air Patrol for its courageous and unwavering dedication to our citizens; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to Civil Air Patrol Wing Commander, Colonel David Lehman, and to Civil Air Patrol Colonel Theodore Tax.

Senators Honeyford, Cleveland, Shin and Smith spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8621.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “The President is greatly honored to be able to recognize a number of people that are here with the Civil Air Patrol. First off, we had additional Color Guard members that joined us this morning that were not able to do the Color Guard but have brought dignity and honor to many events around the state. They are seated in the back and they are with us today. In addition we have other representatives in the back and in our gallery today from the Civil Air Patrol from Lewis County, Overlake, Olympia and Yakima that we would like to recognize as well. Would you all please stand and be recognized by the Senate? And the Color Guard team had left before I could acknowledge but you did a great job, very dignified. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Cleveland: “Thank you Mr. President. Well today is the occasion of my first floor speech and before I present the customary gift and explain it to you from my district. I want to briefly share a little bit with you about my district. The Forty-Ninth Legislative District encompasses Vancouver as well as parts of Clark County and our area is often referred to as the cradle of the Pacific Northwest due to the fact that Fort Vancouver is the oldest non-native settlement in the Pacific Northwest, serving as headquarters for the Hudson’s Bay Company beginning in 1825. Since being the anchor for the settlement of the Pacific Northwest our community has been the site of many other firsts. From the establishment of the first hospital by Mother Joseph in 1858 today known as PeaceHealth Southwest Medical Center; to the soldiers who served our country based at Vancouver Barracks including General Ulysses S. Marshall Grant, General O. O. Howard and General George C. Marshall that today is the center piece of our city known as Officers Row and the Fort Vancouver National Historic Reserve; to the vital role that our community played in World War II, as a major ship building center at Kaiser Shipyards and, as we know, part of the beginning of Kaiser Pelmanente. We are rich in history and we value that history. My district also has a very proud aviation history and is the home of one of the oldest continuing operated airports in the nation, Pearson Airpark which was the site of the landing of the first transpolar flight in 1937. Today Vancouver is our fourth largest city in the state and our community sits on the shores of the Columbia River and continues to be a hub of commerce & trade. I am extremely proud to represent the Forty-Ninth Legislative District. We lovingly refer to has America’s Vancouver, my birthplace and my home so I hope you enjoy the gifts that I present to you today. These gifts are aimed at your health and your well-being. They highlight just a few of the tremendous businesses that we have in my community because if there’s one thing that I’ve learned in my few short weeks is that we work very long days. There’s very little time to devote to our health and wellness so I do hope you enjoy these gifts. I thank you for welcoming me to the Senate. I am very much looking forward to our work together. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Chase: “I would like to extend my welcome to Senator Cleveland and I know that Senator Cleveland thinks that the Senate is a sand box and so we know have our little pails and our shovels. I think we’ll all get along and we’re very pleased to have you here.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Honeyford: “Thank you Mr. President. I feel honored the Senator would use her maiden speech to honor the Civil Air Patrol and because of that I will no offer no disparaging comments.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Conway: “Thank you Mr. President. Also, want to welcome Senator Cleveland to this lovely chamber but I was thinking here from bags to buckets. We must be sinking.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Smith: “So I would like to point out, as a resident of Colville, that there is some question within the state as to when the first fort was officially established. There are many who would suggest that Fort Colville was in fact the first fort, the first official military fort to be established within the State of Washington. I will humbly submit to my friend across the aisle and perhaps we will speak of this some other time.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kline: “Thank you. I notice that for the first time we have in our gifts a first aid kit. Now clearly the new member anticipates what it’s like to be in the minority here and for this we thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator King: “Well, I too would like to welcome the good Senator to the senate. We’ve had several conversations in regards to a little bridge down in her area and those conversations will continue. But she, also serves with her in the Transportation Committee, she’s been a great addition and very much look forward to working with her through this session and the coming years so welcome.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fraser: “Thank you Mr. President. Well, I too would like to welcome Senator Cleveland, my new side by side seat mate. Glad to see your desk is in order and you know how to work your microphone really well and it’s especially nice you’re using your first speech to stimulate discussion about the history of the State of Washington. I think that is great and while there may be debate over which fort was the first one and there was some in South Puget Sound too. There’s no doubt yours was the biggest.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Eide: “Well, the young lady must not know how to count because I’m the only one that didn’t get a bucket. I don’t know what it is about this seat but I’ve had to go a searching a couple times with a couple of you members and I take names. By the way, I love your bridge. Thank you Mr. President.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Cleveland, the President did recognize that you did talk about, something about the bucket for health and I’m thrilled to find that eating at Burgerville is considered healthy.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Cleveland: “Thank you Mr. President. Well, comfort is most certainly part of health and that is where the Burgerville spread comes in.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fraser: “Well, thank you Mr. President. Well, I have a different point of personal privilege. We got on the topic of history here and I would like to note that today is an historic day. It is the anniversary of the Nisqually Earthquake so it was, well I’m pleased to report that this building is much safer than it used to be and our presiding officer did preside over a big commission that did improve, a number of our members did, that improved the stability of the dome that actually rose up to zero gravity and started to move. We were in session that day, pieces started falling down from the ceiling. We were in caucus and for the interest of members who are newer, the two caucuses that time had the same caucus rooms we now have so we just go back and forth over time. But I do have some snap shots at my desk that I took of the damage if anybody would like to see them your welcome. Thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Honeyford: “Well, I noticed there’s an argument over which fort was the first one and there was some in South Puget Sound too. There’s no doubt yours was the biggest.”
Senator Eide: “Thank you. Well, it is indeed a historic day because I remember the day of the Nisqually Earthquake.

It happened to be my twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and today is my thirty-seventh wedding anniversary. So, I just wanted to say, so needless to say it’s an anniversary I will never forget it was our twenty-fifth. But I just want to say I love you baby because I know he’s watching this morning. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Shin: Well, Senator Eide was bragging about thirty-seventh wedding anniversary. We’re celebrating a fiftieth wedding anniversary this year and my wife is dreaming and planning for a long cruise into the Pacific Ocean. The reason I stand up is because the young folks behind us. I saw them this morning, brought tears to my eyes. They are our future. They’re training now to defend this country freedom and the value of which it stands for. Publically I want to thank them for your dreams and your future and may your futures be peaceful and humbling for you. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kohl-Welles: “Thank you Mr. President. I believe I stood up on this day, this anniversary of the Nisqually Earthquake for quite a few years but I was the only one in the Senate Chamber at that time. We were all in our caucuses and I came out to make a phone call. There weren’t even any people here from our staff up at the rostrum. I experienced some really severe earthquakes in California and I always thought the place I would most not want to be when an earthquake struck was right here and when that happened and I was totally alone it was truly terrifying. It is important to remember there were over a thousand people in the building at that time. And, of course, we all rushed out and no one was seriously injured or fortunately no one was killed here. It was something that gives us all pause I believe and it’s important to remember how close a huge tragedy was averted and I will always remember coming back into the building when it was dark later in the day, in the evening and rescuing Senator Edie’s flowers and taking them out of the building. To this day I still take my purse around with me because with most people we were trapped outside without coats on a very, very cold day, without keys with nothing for hours and hours and then taking part of the adjournment of the Senate out by the bus stop right outside where the Lieutenant Governor adjourned the session. It was pretty memorable, we learned a lot through that and I think the caucuses and members became closer as we held the Senate in the Senate Hearing Room 4 for the remainder of that session. We couldn’t help but be closer as we were physically. I think we should reflect on that sometimes about the collegiality and the importance of that when we are working on public policy efforts. Thank you.”

(b) "Sexually explicit act" means a public, private, or live photographed, recorded, or videotaped act or show intended to arouse or satisfy the sexual desires or appeal to the prurient interests of patrons for which something of value is given or received.
(2) Evidence of the victim's past sexual behavior including but not limited to the victim's marital history, divorce history, or general reputation for promiscuity, nonchastity, or sexual mores contrary to community standards is inadmissible on the issue of credibility and is inadmissible to prove the victim's consent except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, but when the perpetrator and the victim have engaged in sexual intercourse with each other in the past, and when the past behavior is material to the issue of consent, evidence concerning the past behavior between the perpetrator and the victim may be admissible on the issue of consent to the offense.

(3) In any prosecution for the crime of rape, trafficking pursuant to RCW 9A.40.100, or any of the offenses in chapter 9.68A RCW, or for an attempt to commit, or an assault with an intent to commit any such crime evidence of the victim's past sexual behavior including but not limited to the victim's marital behavior, divorce history, or general reputation for promiscuity, nonchastity, or sexual mores contrary to community standards is not admissible if offered to attack the credibility of the victim and is admissible on the issue of consent, except where prohibited in the underlying criminal offense only pursuant to the following procedure:

(a) A written pretrial motion shall be made by the defendant to the court and prosecutor stating that the defense has an offer of proof of the relevancy of evidence of the past sexual behavior of the victim proposed to be presented and its relevancy on the issue of the consent of the victim.

(b) The written motion shall be accompanied by an affidavit or affidavits in which the offer of proof shall be stated.

(c) If the court finds that the offer of proof is sufficient, the court shall order a hearing out of the presence of the jury, if any, and the hearing shall be closed except to the necessary witnesses, the defendant, counsel, and those who have a direct interest in the case or in the work of the court.

(d) At the conclusion of the hearing, if the court finds that the evidence proposed to be offered by the defendant regarding the past sexual behavior of the victim is relevant to the issue of the victim's consent; is not inadmissible because its probative value is substantially outweighed by the probability that its admission will create a substantial danger of undue prejudice; and that its exclusion would result in denial of substantial justice to the defendant; the court shall make an order stating what evidence may be introduced by the defendant, which order may include the nature of the questions to be permitted. The defendant may then offer evidence pursuant to the order of the court.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit cross-examination of the victim on the issue of past sexual behavior when the prosecution presents evidence in its case in chief tending to prove the nature of the victim's past sexual behavior, but the court may require a hearing pursuant to subsection (3) of this section concerning such evidence.

Sec. 9. RCW 9A.44.150 and 2005 c 455 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

On motion of the prosecuting attorney in a criminal proceeding, the court may order that a child under the age of fourteen may testify in a room outside the presence of the defendant and the jury while one-way closed-circuit television equipment simultaneously projects the child's testimony into another room so that the defendant and the jury can watch and hear the child testify if:

(a) The testimony will:
   (i) Describe an act or attempted act of sexual contact performed with or on the child witness by another person or with or on a child other than the child witness by another person;
   (ii) Describe an act or attempted act of physical abuse against the child witness by another person or against a child other than the child witness by another person; ((iii))
   (iii) Describe a violation of RCW 9A.40.100 (trafficking) or any offense identified in chapter 9.68A RCW (sexual exploitation of children); or
   (iv) Describe a violent offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030 committed against a person known by or familiar to the child witness or by a person known by or familiar to the child witness;
(b) The testimony is taken during the criminal proceeding;
(c) The court finds by substantial evidence, in a hearing conducted outside the presence of the jury, that requiring the child witness to testify in the presence of the defendant will cause the child to suffer serious emotional or mental distress that will prevent the child from reasonably communicating at the trial. If the defendant is excluded from the presence of the child, the jury must also be excluded;
(d) As provided in (subsection (1))((a)) and (b) of this subsection, the court may allow a child witness to testify in the presence of the defendant but outside the presence of the jury, via closed-circuit television, if the court finds, upon motion and hearing outside the presence of the jury, that the child will suffer serious emotional distress that will prevent the child from reasonably communicating at the trial in front of the jury, or, that although the child may be able to reasonably communicate at trial in front of the jury, the child will suffer serious emotional or mental distress from testifying in front of the jury. If the child is able to communicate in front of the defendant but not the jury the defendant will remain in the room with the child while the jury is excluded from the room;
(e) The court finds that the prosecutor has made all reasonable efforts to prepare the child witness for testifying, including informing the child or the child's parent or guardian about community counseling services, giving court tours, and explaining the trial process. If the prosecutor fails to demonstrate that preparations were implemented or the prosecutor in good faith attempted to implement them, the court shall deny the motion;
(f) The court balances the strength of the state's case without the testimony of the child witness against the defendant's constitutional rights and the degree of infringement of the closed-circuit television procedure on those rights;
(g) The court finds that no less restrictive method of obtaining the testimony exists that can adequately protect the child witness from the serious emotional or mental distress;
(h) When the court allows the child witness to testify outside the presence of the defendant, the defendant can communicate constantly with the defense attorney by electronic transmission and be granted reasonable court recesses during the child's testimony for person-to-person consultation with the defense attorney;
(i) The court can communicate with the attorneys by an audio system so that the court can rule on objections and otherwise control the proceedings;
(j) All parties in the room with the child witness are on camera and can be viewed by all other parties. If viewing all participants is not possible, the court shall describe for the viewers the location of the prosecutor, defense attorney, and other participants in relation to the child;
(k) The court finds that the television equipment is capable of making an accurate reproduction and the operator of the equipment is competent to operate the equipment; and
(l) The court imposes reasonable guidelines upon the parties for conducting the filming to avoid trauma to the child witness or abuse of the procedure for tactical advantage.

The prosecutor, defense attorney, and a neutral and trained victim's advocate, if any, shall always be in the room where the child witness is testifying. The court in the judge's discretion depending on the circumstances and whether the jury or defendant or both are excluded from the room where the child is testifying, may remain or may not remain in the room with the child.

During the hearing conducted under subsection (1) of this section to determine whether the child witness may testify outside the presence of the defendant and/or the jury, the court may conduct the observation and examination of the child outside the presence of the defendant if:

(a) The prosecutor alleges and the court concurs that the child witness will be unable to testify in front of the defendant or will suffer severe emotional or mental distress if forced to testify in front of the defendant;
(b) The defendant can observe and hear the child witness by closed-circuit television;
(c) The defendant can communicate constantly with the defense attorney during the examination of the child witness by electronic transmission and be granted reasonable court recesses during the child's examination for person-to-person consultation with the defense attorney; and
(d) The court finds the closed-circuit television is capable of making an accurate reproduction and the operator of the equipment is competent to operate the equipment. Whenever possible, all the parties in the room with the child witness shall be on camera so that the viewers can see all the parties. If viewing all participants is not possible, then the court shall describe for the viewers the location of the prosecutor, defense attorney, and other participants in relation to the child.

The court shall make particularized findings on the record articulating the factors upon which the court based its decision to allow the child witness to testify via closed-circuit television pursuant to this section. The factors the court may consider include, but are not limited to, a consideration of the child's age, physical health, emotional stability, expressions by the child of fear of testifying in open court or in front of the defendant, the relationship of the defendant to the child, and the court's observations of the child's inability to reasonably communicate in front of the defendant or in open court. The court's findings shall identify the impact the factors have upon the child's ability to testify in front of the jury or the defendant or both and the specific nature of the emotional or mental trauma the child would suffer. The court shall determine whether the source of the trauma is the presence of the defendant, the jury, or both, and shall limit the use of the closed-circuit television accordingly.

(4) This section does not apply if the defendant is an attorney pro se unless the defendant has a court-appointed attorney assisting the defendant in the defense.

(5) This section may not preclude the presence of both the child witness and the defendant in the courtroom together for purposes of establishing or challenging the identification of the defendant when identification is a legitimate issue in the proceeding.

(7) All recorded tapes of testimony produced by closed-circuit television equipment shall be subject to any protective order of the court for the purpose of protecting the privacy of the child witness.

(8) Nothing in this section creates a right of the child witness to a closed-circuit television procedure in lieu of testifying in open court.

(9) The state shall bear the costs of the closed-circuit television procedure.

(10) A child witness may or may not be a victim in the proceeding.

(11) Nothing in this section precludes the court, under other circumstances arising under subsection (1)(a) of this section, from allowing a child to testify outside the presence of the defendant and the jury so long as the testimony is presented in accordance with the standards and procedures required in this section.

Senator Padden spoke in favor of adoption of the striking amendment.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Kohl-Welles: “Will the sponsor of the amendment, Senator Padden yield to a question? Senator Padden, what is the intent and the effect of the proposed striking amendment to the committee substitute to this bill?”

Senator Padden: “Thank you Senator Kohl-Welles. The changes in the striking amendment are intended simply to clarify language and make technical corrections to the committee substitute.

Both internal and external references and definitions are harmonized in the amendment to eliminate possible confusion.

Language is added that clarifies that the crimes of trafficking and commercial sexual abuse of a minor are aggravating factors for termination of parental rights. The amendment also removes language that may have unintentionally limited the sex offenses that can currently be used as aggravating circumstances sufficient to order the termination of parental rights.

And finally, the section regarding patronizing a prostitute is removed. The committee substitute included unneeded references which may have unintentionally limited the charging discretion of a prosecuting attorney."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the striking amendment by Senators Padden and Kohl-Welles to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5669.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Honeyford: “Would the Senator from the Thirty-Sixth District yield to a question? As I read this it says ‘To receive an initial certification as a teacher in this state after August 31, 1991 the applicant shall have successfully competed’ and on.’ Is this going to be retroactive?”
Senator Kohl-Welles: “No, and that’s not a new part of the legislation Senator Honeyford. The underlying part is what this amendment does. And so currently those individuals who are seeking to be certified school employees are required to have training and that’s been in place since 1991. This amendment just adds an additional part to that training requirement.”

Senator Honeyford: “So it’s not retroactive?”

Senator Kohl-Welles: “No.”

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Mr. David Della and other representatives of the Filipino community who were seated in the gallery and recognized by the Senate.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Rivers: “Thank you Mr. President. It is my honor to introduce to this fine body a most excellent student from the University of Washington, Tacoma who is also my Intern who is gracing the rostrum today. Rosemary Delgado who has worked so hard for me and who puts up with me and I am very grateful for her presence in my office.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Roach: “Well, I too have an honor this week. My granddaughter, ah, she’s just dying, Emily Arras. Emily, can you stand up for us? …”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “No, no because you’re making her stand up.”

Senator Roach: “Emily, wave your hand. I’m the greatest grandmother. And you want a Christmas present? That’s what I thought. Emily is an outstanding student and soccer player. She’s fourteen. She’s the daughter of my only daughter. I have four sons but I have a daughter. Emily is the number one grandchild, number one of sixteen. What a wonderful girl. High values, hard-working, a lot like her mother, I think, in many ways. Thank you, Emily, for putting up with this. I appreciate it. Thank you, Mr. President and members of the Senate, I hope you’ll welcome her here.”
REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Of course, now we expect great things out of her while she’s here of course.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Shin: “Thank you Sir. I just walked in and I wasn’t here prepared to greet this delegation, friends from Filipino American community. Historically, the United States relations with Philippines goes back, way back into the nineteen century. It is through the efforts and assistance alliance between the United States and Philippines were able to much, much prevent the World War to become bigger. Also the Filipinos provided their bases for the American naval stations there. They helped us to also bring us a victory. For that reason the United States and the Filipinos and the theme was ‘tangere me nech’ which means ‘touch me not.’ Spanish colonialism became much worse so that they worked towards independence and the United States helped them to gain independence. Today, we’re still the best friends. So I want to thank the Filipino American community, friends there, who are here and am honored to sponsor this legislation to congratulate them. Thank you Mr. President.”

The apple is from Rosemary McAuliffe and myself and it’s more of a symbol that we may not agree how to get there, we’re all here with the same goal. How do we make more kids successful? How do we increase the graduation rate and do we close the opportunity gap? Unfortunately there is no silver bullet and obviously there is no perfect legislation but I’d like to thank Senator McAuliffe and the rest of the Education Committee for their efforts and ideas to get us closer to those ideals. So, thank you.”

One of the particular bills that I want to recognize today for his efforts is the Senator from the Twenty-fifth district. Actually him and I worked together on one of the bills that you’ll hear today and I want to say how much I appreciate that effort. So, it’s Education Day, let’s roll it.”

SENATE BILL NO. 5587, by Senators Litzow, Dammeier, Rivers, Fain and Tom

MOTION

On motion of Senator Dammeier, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5587 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5587 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Dammeier moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Dammeier and McAuliffe be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the superintendent of public instruction was authorized to align the state essential academic learning requirements for mathematics, reading, writing, and communication with the common set of standards for students in grades kindergarten through twelve, known as the common core state standards, which were developed by a multistate consortium in which Washington took part. The legislature further finds that Washington has joined one of two multistate consortia using a federal grant to develop new language arts and math assessments in grades three through eight and grade eleven that are, among other factors, aligned with the common core state standards and test college and career readiness at the high school level. The legislature further finds that the assessments are required to be ready for use by the 2014-15 school year. The legislature intends to make changes to the assessment system in order to use the consortia-developed assessments for both high school graduation and to meet the federal accountability requirements. As the state transitions from the current assessments to the consortia-developed assessments the legislature intends that both the current tenth grade assessments and the consortia-developed assessments may be used for high school graduation purposes by the graduating classes of 2016 and 2017. Beginning with the graduating class of 2018, students must meet the state standards on the consortia-developed assessments to earn the certificate of academic achievement and graduate from high school.

Sec. 2. RCW 28A.655.061 and 2011 1st sp.s. c 22 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The high school assessment system shall include but need not be limited to the statewide student assessment, opportunities for a student to retake the content areas of the assessment in which the student was not successful, and, if approved by the legislature pursuant to subsection (10) of this section, one or more objective alternative assessments for a student to demonstrate achievement of state academic standards. The objective alternative assessments for each content area shall be comparable in rigor to the skills and knowledge that the student must demonstrate on the statewide student assessment for each content area.

(2) Subject to the conditions in this section, a certificate of academic achievement shall be obtained (by most students at about the age of sixteen) and is evidence that the students have successfully met the state standard in the content areas included in the certificate. With the exception of students satisfying the provisions of RCW 28A.155.045 or 28A.655.0611, acquisition of the certificate is required for graduation from a public high school but is not the only requirement for graduation.

(3) Beginning with the graduating class of 2008 through the graduating class of 2015, with the exception of students satisfying the provisions of RCW 28A.155.045, a student who meets the state standards on the reading, writing, and mathematics (content areas of the) high school statewide student assessment shall earn a certificate of academic achievement. Beginning with the graduating class of 2018, a student who meets the state standards on the English language arts and revised mathematics high school statewide assessments shall earn a certificate of academic achievement. The graduating classes of 2016 and 2017 must meet the requirements in accordance with RCW 28A.655.066. If a student does not successfully meet the state standards in one or more content areas required for the certificate of academic achievement, then the student may retake the assessment in the content area (up to four times) at least twice a year at no cost to the student. If the student successfully meets the state standards on a retake of the assessment then the student shall earn a certificate of academic achievement. Once objective alternative assessments are authorized pursuant to subsection (10) of this section, a student may use the objective alternative assessments to demonstrate that the student successfully meets the state standards for that content area if the student has taken the statewide student assessment at least once. If the student successfully meets the state standards on the objective alternative assessments then the student shall earn a certificate of academic achievement.

(4) Beginning with the graduating class of 2015, a student must meet the state standards in science in addition to the other content areas required under subsection (3) of this section on the statewide student assessment or the objective alternative assessments in order to earn a certificate of academic achievement.

(5) The state board of education may not require the acquisition of the certificate of academic achievement for students in home-based instruction under chapter 28A.200 RCW, for students enrolled in private schools under chapter 28A.195 RCW, or for students satisfying the provisions of RCW 28A.155.045.

(6) A student may retain and use the highest result from each successfully completed content area of the high school assessment.

(7) School districts must make available to students the following options:

(a) To retake the statewide student assessment ((up to four times)) at least twice a year in the content areas in which the student did not meet the state standards if the student is enrolled in a public school; or

(b) To retake the statewide student assessment ((up to four times)) at least twice a year in the content areas in which the student did not meet the state standards if the student is enrolled in a high school completion program at a community or technical college.

The superintendent of public instruction and the state board for community and technical colleges shall jointly identify means by which students in these programs can be assessed.

(8) Students who achieve the standard in a content area of the high school assessment but who wish to improve their results shall pay for retaking the assessment, using a uniform cost determined by the superintendent of public instruction.

(9) Opportunities to retake the assessment at least twice a year shall be available to each school district.

(10)(a) The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall develop options for implementing objective alternative assessments, which may include an appeals process for students' scores, for students to demonstrate achievement of the state academic standards. The objective alternative assessments shall be comparable in rigor to the skills and knowledge that the student must demonstrate on the statewide student assessment and be objective in its determination of student achievement of the state standards. Before any objective alternative assessments in addition to those authorized in RCW 28A.655.065 or (b) of this subsection are used by a student to demonstrate that the student has met the state standards in a content area required to obtain a certificate, the legislature shall formally approve the use of any objective alternative assessments through the omnibus appropriations act or by statute or concurrent resolution.

(b)(i) A student's score on the mathematics, reading or English, or writing portion of the SAT or the ACT may be used as an objective alternative assessment under this section for demonstrating that a student has met or exceeded the state standards for the certificate of academic achievement. The state board of education shall identify the scores students must achieve on the relevant portion of the SAT or ACT to meet or exceed the state standard in the relevant content area on the statewide student assessment. A student's score on the science portion of the ACT or the science subject area tests of the SAT may be used as an objective alternative assessment under this section as soon as the state board of education determines that sufficient data is available to identify reliable equivalent scores for the science content area of the statewide student assessment. After the first scores are established, the state board may increase but not decrease the scores required for students to meet or exceed the state standards.

(ii) A student who scores at least a three on the grading scale of one to five for selected AP examinations may use the score as an objective alternative assessment under this section for demonstrating that a student has met or exceeded state standards for the certificate of academic achievement. The state board of education shall identify the scores students must achieve on the relevant portion of the SAT or ACT to meet or exceed the state standard in the relevant content area on the statewide student assessment. A student's score on the science portion of the ACT or the science subject area tests of the SAT may be used as an objective alternative assessment under this section as soon as the state board of education determines that sufficient data is available to identify reliable equivalent scores for the science content area of the statewide student assessment. After the first scores are established, the state board may increase but not decrease the scores required for students to meet or exceed the state standards.

(c) Any credit deficiencies;
(d) The student's attendance rates over the previous two years;
(e) The student's progress toward meeting state and local graduation requirements;
(f) The courses, competencies, and other steps needed to be taken by the student to meet state academic standards and stay on track for graduation;
(g) Remediation strategies and alternative education options available to students, including informing students of the option to continue to receive instructional services after grade twelve or until the age of twenty-one;
(h) The alternative assessment options available to students under this section and RCW 28A.655.065;
(i) School district programs, high school courses, and career and technical education options available for students to meet graduation requirements; and
(j) Available programs offered through skill centers or community and technical colleges, including the college high school diploma options under RCW 28B.50.535.

Sec. 3. RCW 28A.655.066 and 2011 c 25 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) In consultation with the state board of education, the superintendent of public instruction shall develop statewide end-of-course assessments for high school mathematics that measure student achievement of the state mathematics standards. The superintendent shall take steps to ensure that the language of the assessments is responsive to a diverse student population. The assessments shall be implemented statewide in the 2010-11 school year.

(b) The superintendent shall develop end-of-course assessments for the first year of high school mathematics that include the standards common to algebra I and integrated mathematics I and for the second year of high school mathematics that include the standards common to geometry and integrated mathematics II. The assessments under this subsection (1)(b) shall be used to demonstrate that a student meets the state standard on the mathematics content area of the high school ((Washington)) statewide student assessment ((of student learning)) for purposes of RCW 28A.655.061.

(c) The superintendent of public instruction shall also develop subtests for the end-of-course assessments that measure standards for the first two years of high school mathematics that are unique to algebra I, integrated mathematics I, geometry, and integrated mathematics II. The results of the subtests shall be reported at the student, teacher, school, and district level. These end-of-course assessments shall not be administered and shall not be used for state or federal accountability after the 2014-15 school year.

(2) For the graduating classes of 2013 and 2014 and for purposes of the certificate of academic achievement under RCW 28A.655.061, a student may use: (a) Results from the end-of-course assessment for the first year of high school mathematics or the results from the end-of-course assessment for the second year of high school mathematics; or (b) results from a high school mathematics retake assessment.

(3) ((Beginning with)) The graduating class of 2015 ((and)), for purposes of the certificate of academic achievement under RCW 28A.655.061, ((the mathematics content area of the Washington assessment of student learning)) shall be assessed using the end-of-course assessment for the first year of high school mathematics plus the end-of-course assessment for the second year of high school mathematics, ((ae)) results from a high school mathematics retake assessment for the end-of-course assessments in which the student did not meet the standard, or an approved alternative assessment.

(4) As the state transitions from the reading and writing assessments to the comprehensive English language arts assessment and from the end-of-course mathematics assessments to a comprehensive mathematics assessment, the graduating classes of 2016 and 2017, for purposes of the certificate of academic achievement under RCW 28A.655.061 may be assessed using:

(a) The end-of-course assessment for the first year of high school mathematics plus the end-of-course assessment for the second year of high school mathematics, the new comprehensive mathematics assessment, the appropriate retake assessment, or an approved alternative assessment; and

(b) The reading and writing assessment or the comprehensive English language arts assessment, a retake, or an approved alternative.

(5) All of the objective alternative assessments available to students under RCW 28A.655.061 and 28A.655.065 shall be available to any student who has taken the ((sequence of)) end-of-course assessment((ae)) once but does not meet the state mathematics standard on the ((sequence of)) end-of-course assessment((ae)).

((55)) (6) The superintendent of public instruction shall report at least annually or more often if necessary to keep the education committees of the legislature informed on each step of the development and implementation process under this section.

Sec. 4. RCW 28A.655.070 and 2008 c 163 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The superintendent of public instruction shall develop essential academic learning requirements that identify the knowledge and skills all public school students need to know and be able to do based on the student learning goals in RCW 28A.150.210, develop student assessments, and implement the accountability recommendations and requests regarding assistance, rewards, and recognition of the state board of education.

(2) The superintendent of public instruction shall:

(a) Periodically revise the essential academic learning requirements, as needed, based on the student learning goals in RCW 28A.150.210. Goals one and two shall be considered primary. To the maximum extent possible, the superintendent shall integrate goal four and the knowledge and skill areas in the other goals in the essential academic learning requirements; and

(b) Review and prioritize the essential academic learning requirements and identify, with clear and concise descriptions, the grade level content expectations to be assessed on the ((Washington)) statewide student assessment ((of student learning)) and used for state or federal accountability purposes. The review, prioritization, and identification shall result in more focus and targeting with an emphasis on depth over breadth in the number of grade level content expectations assessed at each grade level. Grade level content expectations shall be articulated over the grades as a sequence of expectations and performances that are logical, build with increasing depth after foundational knowledge and skills are acquired, and reflect, where appropriate, the sequential nature of the discipline. The office of the superintendent of public instruction, within seven working days, shall post on its web site any grade level content expectations provided to an assessment vendor for use in constructing the ((Washington)) statewide student assessment ((of student learning)).

(3)(a) In consultation with the state board of education, the superintendent of public instruction shall maintain and continue to develop and revise a statewide academic assessment system in the content areas of reading, writing, mathematics, and science for use in the elementary, middle, and high school years designed to determine if each student has mastered the essential academic learning requirements identified in subsection (1) of this section. In accordance with RCW 28A.655.071, by the 2014-15 school year, an English language arts assessment and the mathematics assessment shall be created. School districts shall administer the assessments under guidelines adopted by the superintendent of public instruction. The academic assessment system may include a variety of assessment methods, including criterion-referenced and performance-based measures.

(b) Effective with the 2009 administration of the Washington assessment of student learning and continuing with the statewide student assessment, the superintendent shall redesign the assessment in the content areas of reading, mathematics, and science in all grades except high school by shortening test administration and reducing the number of short answer and extended response questions.

(4) If the superintendent proposes any modification to the essential academic learning requirements or the statewide assessments, then the superintendent shall, upon request, provide opportunities for the education committees of the house of representatives and the senate to review the assessments and proposed modifications to the essential academic learning requirements before the modifications are adopted.

(5) The assessment system shall be designed so that the results under the assessment system are used by educators as tools to evaluate instructional practices, and to initiate appropriate educational support for students who have not mastered the essential academic learning requirements at the appropriate periods in the student's educational development.

(6) By September 2007, the results for reading and mathematics shall be reported in a format that will allow parents and teachers to determine the academic gain a student has acquired in those content areas from one school year to the next.

(7) To assist parents and teachers in their efforts to provide educational support to individual students, the superintendent of public instruction shall provide as much individual student performance information as possible within the constraints of the assessment system's item bank. The superintendent shall also provide to school districts:

(a) Information on classroom-based and other assessments that may provide additional achievement information for individual students; and

(b) A collection of diagnostic tools that educators may use to evaluate the academic status of individual students. The tools shall be designed to be inexpensive, easily administered, and quickly and easily scored, with results provided in a format that may be easily shared with parents and students.

(8) To the maximum extent possible, the superintendent shall integrate knowledge and skill areas in development of the assessments.

(9) Assessments for goals three and four of RCW 28A.150.210 shall be integrated in the essential academic learning requirements and assessments for goals one and two.

(10) The superintendent shall develop assessments that are directly related to the essential academic learning requirements, and are not biased toward persons with different learning styles, racial or ethnic backgrounds, or on the basis of gender.

(11) The superintendent shall consider methods to address the unique needs of special education students when developing the assessments under this section.

(12) The superintendent shall consider methods to address the unique needs of highly capable students when developing the assessments under this section.
FIfty second day, March 6, 2013

(13) The superintendent shall post on the superintendent's web site lists of resources and model assessments in social studies, the arts, and health and fitness.

Sec. 5. RCW 28A.655.071 and 2010 c 235 s 601 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) By August 2, 2010, the superintendent of public instruction may revise the state essential academic learning requirements authorized under RCW 28A.655.070 for mathematics, reading, writing, and communication by provisionally adopting a common set of standards for students in grades kindergarten through twelve. The revised state essential academic learning requirements may be substantially identical with the standards developed by a multistate consortium in which Washington participated, must be consistent with the requirements of RCW 28A.655.070, and may include additional standards if the additional standards do not exceed fifteen percent of the standards for each content area. (However, the superintendent of public instruction shall not take steps to implement the provisionally adopted standards until the education committees of the house of representatives and the senate have an opportunity to review the standards.)

(2) By January 1, 2011, the superintendent of public instruction shall submit to the education committees of the house of representatives and the senate:

(1) A detailed comparison of the provisionally adopted standards and the state essential academic learning requirements as of June 10, 2010, including the comparative level of rigor and specificity of the standards and the implications of any identified differences; and

(2) An estimated timeline and costs to the state and to school districts to implement the provisionally adopted standards until the 2011 legislative session, unless otherwise directed by the legislature.

(2) The superintendent of public instruction, in consultation with the state board of education, shall modify and implement statewide student assessments developed with a multistate consortium in English language arts and mathematics. The assessments must be implemented in the 2014-15 school year. Beginning with the graduating class of 2018, the English language arts and mathematics assessments or approved alternatives are required for graduation from a public high school in accordance with RCW 28A.655.061. The English language arts and mathematics assessments must be comprehensive assessments and not end-of-course assessments.

(1) School districts should make efforts to have suspended or expelled students return to the educational setting they were suspended or expelled from as soon as possible. School districts should convene a school reentry meeting with the student and the student's parents or guardians within twenty days of the student's long-term suspension or expulsion to discuss a plan to reenter and reengage the student in a school program.

(2) In developing a reentry and reengagement plan, school districts should consider shortening the length of time that the student is suspended or expelled, other forms of corrective action, and supportive interventions that aid in the student's academic success and keep the student engaged and on track to graduate. School districts must create a reentry and reengagement plan tailored to the student's individual circumstances, including consideration of the incident that led to the student's long-term suspension or expulsion. The plan should aid the student in taking the necessary steps to remedy the situation that led to the student's suspension or expulsion.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Benton: “Thank you Mr. President. Members and colleagues, you received today, there on your desks or in your office, a survey from me asking you for your feedback and your input on a number of different senate services that are provided. It would greatly, your responses are going to be shared with the entire F & O Committee. The intent behind the survey is try to do a better job in the areas that you think we need to do a better job, whatever areas those might be. So, I just want to impress upon colleagues to please take the few moments, maybe ten minutes tops that it takes to complete that, get it back to us and we will provide you and the Committee and anybody that would like a summary of those results. It’s hard to stay on course or correct course in any organization if you’re not soliciting feedback from the people that operate within that organization. So, this is an attempt to try to get your feedback on what you think and what you feel that we’re doing well in or what we’re not doing well in. And so I want to encourage you to take a few moments to share with me your thoughts on the things that you’re interested in. Thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fraser: “Thank you Mr. President, I haven’t really looked through the questionnaire, speaking on the questionnaire. As a member of the Senate Facilities and Operations Committee and actually the Ranking Member for the Democratic side. I’d just like to notify the senate members that this is not a questionnaire from the F & O Committee. This, the F & O Committee has not met since mid-January and the F & O Committee has not met on this questionnaire. We’ve never talked about it and so I think it should be treated as a questionnaire from a member. Personally do not think that the title of a Chair should be used unless your acting in the capacity as Chair, where you’ve talked to the members of the committee. So, I think this should be taken as a request from one member. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Roach: “Thank you Mr. President. I would like to inform the body that as Chair of the Governmental Operations Committee, I don’t ask every member of the Committee nor do I ask every member of my caucus before I set agendas and move forward on certain issues. If you’re the Chair, you’re the Chair. You’re chair, you don’t necessarily have to, you are charged with leading. I don’t know about the questionnaire but I welcome it. There’s some new things that are going on here that are costing the taxpayer’s money that I certainly don’t support and I’m looking forward to handing the questionnaire back in. I think when a person’s a Chair, we all understand what that means and I think trivial remarks about it really don’t help the body. Thank you.”

Sec. 10. RCW 28A.655.061 and 2011 1st sp.s. c 22 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The high school assessment system shall include but need not be limited to the statewide student assessment, opportunities for a student to retake the content areas of the assessment in which the student was not successful, and, if approved by the legislature pursuant to subsection (10) of this section, one or more objective alternative assessments for a student to demonstrate achievement of state academic standards. The objective alternative assessments for each content area shall be comparable in rigor to the skills and knowledge that the student must demonstrate on the statewide student assessment for each content area.

(2) Subject to the conditions in this section, a certificate of academic achievement shall be obtained by most students at about the age of sixteen, and is evidence that the students have successfully met the state standard in the content areas included in the certificate. With the exception of students satisfying the provisions of RCW 28A.155.045 or 28A.655.0611, acquisition of the certificate is required for graduation from a public high school but is not the only requirement for graduation.

(3) Beginning with the graduating class of 2008, with the exception of students satisfying the provisions of RCW 28A.155.045, a student who meets the state standards on the reading, writing, and mathematics content areas of the high school statewide student assessment shall earn a certificate of academic achievement. If a student does not successfully meet the state standards in one or more content areas required for the certificate of academic achievement, then the student may retake the assessment in the content area up to four times at no cost to the student. If the student successfully meets the state standards on a retake of the assessment then the student shall earn a certificate of academic achievement. Once objective alternative assessments are authorized pursuant to subsection (10) of this section, a student may use the objective alternative assessments to demonstrate that the student successfully meets the state standards for that content area if the student has taken the statewide student assessment at least once. If the student successfully meets the state standards on the objective alternative assessments then the student shall earn a certificate of academic achievement.

(4) Beginning with the graduating class of 2015, a student must meet the state standards in science in addition to the other content areas required under subsection (3) of this section on the statewide student assessment or the objective alternative assessments in order to earn a certificate of academic achievement.

(5) The state board of education may not require the acquisition of the certificate of academic achievement for students in home-based instruction under chapter 28A.200 RCW, for students enrolled in private schools under chapter 28A.195 RCW, or for students satisfying the provisions of RCW 28A.155.045.

(6) A student may retain and use the highest result from each successfully completed content area of the high school assessment.

(7) School districts must make available to students the following options:

(a) To retake the statewide student assessment up to four times in the content areas in which the student did not meet the state standards if the student is enrolled in a public school; or

(b) To retake the statewide student assessment up to four times in the content areas in which the student did not meet the state standards if the student is enrolled in a high school completion program at a community or technical college. The superintendent of public instruction and the state board for community and technical colleges shall jointly identify means by which students in these programs can be assessed.

(8) Students who achieve the standard in a content area of the high school assessment but who wish to improve their results shall pay for retaking the assessment, using a uniform cost determined by the superintendent of public instruction.

(9) Opportunities to retake the assessment at least twice a year shall be available to each school district.

(10)(a) The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall develop options for implementing objective alternative assessments, which may include an appeals process for students' scores, for students to demonstrate achievement of the state academic standards. The objective alternative assessments shall be comparable in rigor to the skills and knowledge that the student must demonstrate on the statewide student assessment and be objective in its determination of student achievement of the state standards. Before any objective alternative assessments in addition to those authorized in RCW 28A.655.065 or (b) of this subsection are used by a student to demonstrate that the student has met the state standards in a content area, the state board shall formally approve the use of any objective alternative assessments through the omnibus appropriations act or by statute or concurrent resolution.

(b)(i) A student's score on the mathematics, reading or English, or writing portion of the SAT or the ACT may be used as an objective alternative assessment under this section for demonstrating that a student has met or exceeded the state standards for the certificate of academic achievement. The state board of education shall identify the scores students must achieve on the relevant portion of the SAT or ACT to meet or exceed the state standard in the relevant content area on the statewide student assessment. A student's score on the science portion of the ACT or the science subject area tests of the SAT may be used as an objective alternative assessment under this section as soon as the state board of education determines that sufficient data is available to identify reliable equivalent scores for the science content area of the statewide student assessment. After the first scores are established, the state board may increase but not decrease the scores required for students to meet or exceed the state standards.

(ii) A student who scores at least a three on the grading scale of one to five for selected AP examinations may use the score as an objective alternative assessment under this section for demonstrating that a student has met or exceeded the state standards for the certificate of academic achievement. A score of three on the AP examinations in calculus or statistics may be used as an alternative assessment for the mathematics portion of the statewide student assessment. A score of three on the AP examinations in English language and composition may be used as an alternative assessment for the writing portion of the statewide student assessment. A score of three on the AP examinations in English literature and composition, microeconomics, microeconomics, psychology, United States history, world history, United States government and politics, or comparative government and politics may be used as an alternative assessment for the reading portion of the statewide student assessment. A score of three on the AP examination in biology, physics, chemistry, or environmental science may be used as an alternative assessment for the science portion of the statewide student assessment.

(11) By December 15, 2004, the house of representatives and senate education committees shall obtain information and conclusions from recognized, independent, national assessment experts regarding the validity and reliability of the high school Washington assessment of student learning for making individual student high school graduation determinations.

((12) To help assure continued progress in academic achievement as a foundation for high school graduation and to assure that students are on track for high school graduation, each school district shall prepare plans for and notify students and their parents or legal guardians as provided in this subsection. Student learning plans are required for eighth grade students who were not successful on any or all of the content areas of the state assessment during the previous school year or who may not be on track to graduate due to credit deficiencies or absences. The parent or legal guardian shall be notified about the information in the student learning plan, preferably through a parent conference and at least annually. To the extent feasible, schools serving English language learner students and their parents shall translate the plan into the primary language of the family. The plan shall include the following information as applicable:

(a) The student's results on the state assessment;
(b) If the student is in the transitional bilingual program, the score on his or her Washington language proficiency test II;
(c) Any credit deficiencies;

(g) Remediation strategies and alternative education options available to students, including informing students of the option to continue to receive instructional services after grade twelve or until the age of twenty-one;

(h) The alternative assessment options available to students under this section and RCW 28A.655.065;
(i) School district programs, high school courses, and career and technical education options available for students to meet graduation requirements; and

(j) Available programs offered through skill centers or community and technical colleges, including the college high school diploma options under RCW 28B.50.535.)

(1) All major facility projects of public school districts receiving any funding in a state capital budget must be designed and constructed to at least the LEED silver standard or the Washington sustainable school design protocol. To the extent appropriate LEED silver or Washington sustainable school design protocol standards exist for the type of building or facility, this subsection applies to major facility projects that have not received project approval from the superintendent of public instruction prior to: (a) July 1, 2006, for volunteering school districts; (b) July 1, 2007, for class one school districts; and (c) July 1, 2008, for class two school districts.

The form and content of each report must be mutually developed by the office of the superintendent of public instruction in consultation with school districts.

(3) The superintendent of public instruction shall consolidate the reports required in subsection (2) of this section into one report and report to the governor and legislature by September 1st of each even-numbered year beginning in 2006 and ending in 2016. The superintendent of public instruction shall make recommendations regarding the ongoing implementation of this chapter, including a discussion of incentives and disincentives related to implementing this chapter.

(4) The superintendent of public instruction shall develop and issue guidelines for administering this chapter for public school districts. The purpose of the guidelines is to define a procedure and method for employing and verifying compliance with the LEED silver standard or the Washington sustainable school design protocol.

(5) The superintendent of public instruction shall utilize the school facilities advisory board as a high-performance buildings advisory committee comprised of affected public schools, the superintendent of public instruction, the department, and others at the superintendent of public instruction's discretion to provide advice on implementing this chapter. Among other duties, the advisory committee shall make recommendations regarding an education and training process and an ongoing evaluation or feedback process to help the superintendent of public instruction implement this chapter.

(6) For projects that comply with this section by meeting the LEED silver standard, the superintendent of public instruction must credit one additional point for a project that uses wood products with a credible third-party sustainable forest certification or from forests regulated under chapter 76.09 RCW, the Washington forest practices act. For projects that qualify for this additional point, and for which an additional point would have resulted in formal certification under the LEED silver standard, the project must be deemed to meet the requirements of subsection (1) of this section.

(7) School districts are required to comply with this section only to the extent federal or state funds are available.

(1)(a) The term of the sentence of an offender committed to a correctional facility operated by the department may be reduced by earned release time in accordance with procedures that shall be developed and adopted by the correctional agency having jurisdiction in which the offender is confined. The earned release time shall be for good behavior and good performance, as determined by the correctional agency having jurisdiction. The correctional agency shall not credit the offender with earned release credits in advance of the offender actually earning the credits.

(b) Any program established pursuant to this section shall allow an offender to earn early release credits for presentence incarceration. If an offender is transferred from a county jail to the department, the administrator of a county jail facility shall certify to the department the amount of time spent in custody at the facility and the amount of earned release time. The department may approve a jail certification from a correctional agency that calculates earned release time based on the actual amount of confinement time served by the offender before sentencing when an erroneous calculation of confinement time served by the offender before sentencing appears on the judgment and sentence.
An offender who has been convicted of a felony committed after July 23, 1995, that involves any applicable deadly weapon enhancements under RCW 9.94A.533(3) or (4), or both, shall not receive any good time credits or earned release time for that portion of his or her sentence that results from any deadly weapon enhancements.

(3) An offender may earn early release time as follows:

(a) In the case of an offender convicted of a serious violent offense, or a sex offense that is a class A felony, committed on or after July 1, 1990, and before July 1, 2003, the aggregate earned release time may not exceed fifteen percent of the sentence.

(b) In the case of an offender convicted of a serious violent offense, or a sex offense that is a class A felony, committed on or after July 1, 2003, the aggregate earned release time may not exceed ten percent of the sentence.

Subsection (3)(c) of this section does not apply to offenders convicted after July 1, 2010.

All offenders with community custody terms eligible for release to community custody in lieu of earned release shall provide an approved residence and living arrangement prior to release to the community;

(c) The community may deny transfer to community custody in lieu of earned release time if the department determines an offender's release plan, including proposed residence location and living arrangements, may violate the conditions of the sentence or conditions of supervision, place the offender at risk to violate the conditions of the sentence, place the offender at risk to reoffend, or present a risk to victim safety or community safety. The department's authority under this section is independent of any court-ordered condition of sentence or statutory provision regarding conditions for community custody;

(d) If the department is unable to approve the offender's release plan, the department may do one or more of the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

(2) The department shall give preference to housing providers that provide a small, family oriented, living environment. For living environments with between four and eight beds, or a greater number of individuals if permitted by local code, the department shall provide transition support that verifies an offender is participating in programming or services including, but not limited to, substance abuse treatment, mental health treatment, sex offender treatment, educational programming, development of positive living skills, or employment programming. In addition, when selecting housing providers, the department shall consider the compatibility of the proposed offender housing with the surrounding neighborhood and underlying zoning. The department shall adopt procedures to limit the concentration of housing providers who provide housing to sex offenders in a single neighborhood or area.

(3)(a) The department shall provide the local law and justice council or other designated county authority, and a city's chief law enforcement officer if such housing is located within a city, with notice any time a housing provider or new housing location is added to the list within that county.

“NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that in 2010 an accountability system was created for the Washington public schools, which was to be implemented in two phases. The first phase used federal guidelines to designate the persistently lowest-achieving schools that were eligible for federal Title I funds to apply for a federal school improvement grant to implement federal intervention strategies to improve student performance. The system was initially voluntary but a required action process was to begin in 2011. The legislature further finds that under the required action process four of the persistently lowest-achieving schools that were on a downward trend were offered the opportunity to use the federal school improvement grants to take required actions. The legislature further finds that the Renton and Onalaska school districts show promising improvement that other districts can build upon. The legislature intends to implement phase two of the accountability process beginning in the 2013-14 school year with the ten most persistently lowest-achieving schools.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 28A.657 RCW to read as follows:
(1) By June 1, 2013, the office of the superintendent of public instruction must identify the ten most persistently lowest-achieving schools using the student results on the statewide reading and mathematics assessments.

(2) A school district with at least one school identified as one of the ten most persistently lowest-achieving schools shall be designated as a required action district.

(3) The superintendent of public instruction shall provide each required action school district superintendent with written notice by certified mail or personal service of the identification of the school within the district as one of the most persistently lowest-achieving schools causing the district to be designated a required action district.

(4) A district designated as a required action district must notify all parents of students attending a school identified as one of the most persistently lowest-achieving schools in the district, the designation of the district as a required action district, and the process for complying with the requirements in RCW 28A.657.040 through 28A.657.100.

(5) Each required action district designated under this section must follow the process and comply with the requirements in RCW 28A.657.040 through 28A.657.100.

Sec. 3. RCW 28A.657.050 and 2012 c 53 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The local district superintendent and local school board of a school district designated as a required action district must submit a required action plan to the state board of education for approval. Unless otherwise required by subsection (3) of this section, the plan must be submitted under a schedule as required by the state board. A required action plan must be developed in collaboration with administrators, teachers, and other staff, parents, unions representing any employees within the district, students, and other representatives of the local community. The superintendent of public instruction shall provide a district with assistance in developing its plan if requested. The school board must conduct a public hearing to allow for comment on a proposed required action plan. The local school district shall submit the plan first to the office of the superintendent of public instruction to review and approve that the plan is consistent with federal guidelines. After the office of the superintendent of public instruction has approved that the plan is consistent with federal guidelines, the local school district must submit its required action plan to the state board of education for approval.

(2) A required action plan must include all of the following:
(a) Implementation of one of the four federal intervention models required for the receipt of a federal school improvement grant, for those persistently lowest-achieving schools that the district will be focusing on for required action. However, a district may not establish a charter school under a federal intervention model without express legislative authority, unless the district is designated a required action district in accordance with section 2 of this act. If a required action district chooses to establish a charter school as the intervention model, then the charter school that is established counts towards the maximum number of charter schools that may be established in accordance with RCW 28A.710.150. The intervention models are the turnaround, restart, school closure, and transformation models. The intervention model selected must address the concerns raised in the academic performance audit and be intended to improve student performance to allow a school district to be removed from the list of districts designated as a required action district by the state board of education within three years of implementation of the plan;

(b) Submission of an application for a federal school improvement grant or a grant from other federal funds for school improvement to the superintendent of public instruction, except that a district designated as a required action district in accordance with section 2 of this act shall receive the state funds appropriated for this purpose;

(c) A budget that provides for adequate resources to implement the federal model selected and any other requirements of the plan;

(d) A description of the changes in the district's or school's existing policies, structures, agreements, processes, and practices that are intended to attain significant achievement gains for all students enrolled in the school and how the district intends to address the findings of the academic performance audit; and

(e) Identification of the measures that the school district will use in assessing student achievement at a school identified as a persistently lowest-achieving school, which include improving mathematics and reading student achievement and graduation rates as defined by the office of the superintendent of public instruction that enable the school to no longer be identified as a persistently lowest-achieving school.

(3)(a) For any district designated for required action, the parties to any collective bargaining agreement negotiated, renewed, or extended under chapter 41.59 or 41.56 RCW after June 10, 2010, and for a school district designated a required action district in accordance with section 2 of this act after the effective date of this section, must reopen the agreement, or negotiate an addendum, if needed, to make changes to terms and conditions of employment that are necessary to implement a required action plan. For any district applying to participate in a collaborative schools for innovation and success pilot project under RCW 28A.630.104, the parties to any collective bargaining agreement negotiated, renewed, or extended under chapter 41.59 or 41.56 RCW after June 7, 2012, must reopen the agreement, or negotiate an addendum, if needed, to make changes to terms and conditions of employment that are necessary to implement an innovation and success plan.

(b) If the school district and the employee organizations are unable to agree on the terms of an addendum or modification to an existing collective bargaining agreement, the parties, including all labor organizations affected under the required action plan, shall request the public employment relations commission to, and the commission shall, appoint an employee of the commission to act as a mediator to assist in the resolution of a dispute between the school district and the employee organizations. Beginning in 2011, and each year thereafter, mediation shall commence no later than April 15th. All mediations held under this section shall include the employer and representatives of all affected bargaining units.

(c) If the executive director of the public employment relations commission, upon the recommendation of the assigned mediator, finds that the employer and any affected bargaining unit are unable to reach agreement following a reasonable period of negotiations and mediation, but by no later than May 15th of the year in which mediation occurred, the executive director shall certify any disputed issues for a decision by the superior court in the county where the school district is located. The issues for determination by the superior court must be limited to the issues certified by the executive director.

(d) The process for filing with the court in this subsection (3)(d) must be used in the case where the executive director certifies issues for a decision by the superior court.

(i) The school district shall file a petition with the superior court, by no later than May 20th of the same year in which the issues were certified, setting forth the following:

(A) The name, address, and telephone number of the school district and its principal representative;

(B) The name, address, and telephone number of the employee organizations and their principal representatives;

(C) A description of the bargaining units involved;

(D) A copy of the unresolved issues certified by the executive director for a final and binding decision by the court; and

(E) The academic performance audit that the office of the superintendent of public instruction completed for the school district in the case of a required action district, or the comprehensive needs assessment in the case of a collaborative schools for innovation and success pilot project.

Contemporaneously with the filing of the proposal, a party must file a brief with the court setting forth the reasons why the court should order implementation of its proposal in the final plan.

(iii) Following receipt of the proposals and briefs of the parties, the court must schedule a date and time for a hearing on the petition. The hearing must be limited to argument of the parties or their counsel regarding the proposals submitted for the court's consideration. The parties may waive a hearing by written agreement.

(iv) The court must enter an order selecting the proposal for inclusion in a required action plan that best responds to the issues raised in the school district's academic performance audit, and allows for the award of a federal school improvement grant or a grant from other federal or state funds for school improvement to the district from the office of the superintendent of public instruction to implement one of the four federal intervention models. In the case of an innovation and success plan, the court must enter an order selecting the proposal for inclusion in the plan that best responds to the issues raised in the school's comprehensive needs assessment. The court's decision must be issued no later than June 15th of the year in which the petition is filed and is final and binding on the parties; however the court's decision is subject to appeal only in the case where it does not allow the school district to implement a required action plan consistent with the requirements for the award of a federal school improvement grant or other federal or state funds for school improvement by the superintendent of public instruction.

(e) Each party shall bear its own costs and attorneys' fees incurred under this statute.

(f) Any party that proceeds with the process in this section after knowledge that any provision of this section has not been complied with and who fails to state its objection in writing is deemed to have waived its right to object.

(4) All contracts entered into between a school district and an employee must be consistent with this section and allow school districts designated as required action districts to implement one of the four federal models in a required action plan.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that Washington state uses debt financing to meet many of its essential capital and transportation needs. This debt capacity is limited by the amount of discretionary state government operating and transportation revenues available to repay the debt. A comprehensive approach to manage the state's debt capacity will help guide Washington's policymakers' choices about the amounts, types, and uses of debt financing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 39.42 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The state finance committee shall advise and make recommendations to the governor and the legislature on the levels and types of state debt to be authorized to fund essential capital and transportation projects while protecting the state's credit rating, maintaining financial market access, and also preserving future budgetary flexibility.

(2) The state finance committee's recommendations must take at least the following into consideration:

(a) The overall amount of all types of debt issued by or on behalf of the state as reflected in the debt affordability study prepared annually by the state treasurer; and

(b) The impact of planned and proposed debt issuance on the state's ability to access the bond market and the cost of those borrowings.

(3) On or before November 1st of each year, they must recommend the following:

(a) The level of various purpose general obligation debt service payments as a percentage of general state revenue; and

(b) The level of various purpose general obligation debt to be authorized for the following biennium when taking into account:

(i) Capital needs for that biennium;

(ii) Projected capital needs reflected in the ten-year capital project plan;

(iii) Debt capacity with respect to the constitutional debt limit for that biennium;

(iv) Projected constitutional debt capacity for the following four biennia; and

(v) The economic, revenue, and interest rate forecast;

(c) The amount of other methods of financing, including but not limited to limited obligation bonds and financings authorized under chapter 39.94 RCW, that is available to fund capital projects when taking into account the factors set forth in (b) of this subsection;

(d) The level of motor vehicle fuel tax general obligation debt service payments as a percentage of current and projected motor vehicle fuel tax revenues, taking into consideration the amount directed to local governments, the amounts needed to pay current debt service, and any other amounts directed to any other lawful source;

(e) The level of motor vehicle fuel tax general obligation debt to be authorized for the following biennium when taking into account:

(i) The transportation needs for the following biennium according to the transportation plan;

(ii) The projected transportation needs as reflected in the transportation plan; and

(iii) The motor vehicle fuel tax capacity available when taking into consideration the amount directed to local governments, the amounts needed to pay current debt service, and any other amounts directed to any other lawful purposes;

(f) The amount of other methods of financing, including but not limited to limited obligation bonds and financings authorized under chapter 47.29 RCW, available to fund transportation projects when taking into account the factors set forth in (e) of this subsection. A maximum level of debt to be authorized in any bond authorization bill required under section 7 of this act for capital projects; and

(g) A maximum level of debt to be authorized in any bond authorization bill required under section 7 of this act for transportation projects.

(4) The state finance committee must evaluate and include in its recommendations, the following:

(a) The combined impact of issuing the proposed debt as identified in the capital plan and transportation plan on the state's cost of capital;

(b) The combined impact of issuing the proposed debt as identified in the capital plan and the transportation plan on the general fund and the motor vehicle fund; and

The biennial budget document or documents shall also describe performance indicators that demonstrate measurable progress towards priority results. (2) “Employee” means any individual employed or holding office in any department or agency of state government.
(3) “Good faith” means the individual providing the information or report of improper governmental activity has a reasonable basis in fact for reporting or providing the information. An individual who knowingly provides or reports, or who reasonably ought to know he or she is providing or reporting, malicious, false, or frivolous information, or information that is provided with reckless disregard for the truth, or who knowingly omits relevant information is not acting in good faith.
(4) "Gross mismanagement" means the exercise of management responsibilities in a manner grossly deviating from the standard of care or competence that a reasonable person would observe in the same situation.

(5) "Gross waste of funds" means to spend or use funds or to allow funds to be used without valuable result in a manner grossly deviating from the standard of care or competence that a reasonable person would observe in the same situation.

(6)(a) "Improper governmental action" means any action by an employee undertaken in the performance of the employee's official duties:

(i) Which is a gross waste of public funds or resources as defined in this section;

This provision is not meant to preclude the discretion of agency management to adopt a particular scientific opinion or technical finding from among differing opinions or technical findings to the exclusion of other scientific opinions or technical findings. Nothing in this subsection prevents or impairs a state agency's or public official's ability to manage its public resources or its employees in the performance of their official job duties. This subsection does not apply to de minimis, technical disagreements that are not relevant for otherwise improper governmental activity. Nothing in this provision requires the auditor to contract or consult with external experts regarding the scientific validity, invalidity, or justification of a finding or opinion.

(b) "Improper governmental action" does not include personnel actions, for which other remedies exist, including but not limited to employee grievances, complaints, appointments, promotions, transfers, assignments, reassignments, reinstatements, reassignments, performance evaluations, reductions in pay, dismissals, suspensions, demotions, violations of the state civil service law, alleged labor agreement violations, reprimands, claims of discriminatory treatment, or any action which may be taken under chapter 41.06 RCW, or other disciplinary action except as provided in RCW 42.40.030.

(9) "Use of official authority or influence" includes threatening, taking, directing others to take, recommending, processing, or approving any personnel action such as an appointment, promotion, transfer, assignment including but not limited to duties and office location, reassignment, reinstatement, restoration, reemployment, performance evaluation, determining any material changes in pay, provision of training or benefits, tolerance of a hostile work environment, or any adverse action under chapter 41.06 RCW, or other disciplinary action.

(10)(a) "Whistleblower" means:

(i) An employee who in good faith reports alleged improper governmental action to the auditor or other public official, as defined in subsection (7) of this section, initiating an investigation by the auditor under RCW 42.40.040; or

(ii) An employee who is perceived by the employer as reporting, whether they did or not, alleged improper governmental action to the auditor or other public official, as defined in subsection (7) of this section, initiating an investigation by the auditor under RCW 42.40.040.

(b) For purposes of the provisions of this chapter and chapter 49.60 RCW relating to reprisals and retaliatory action, the term "whistleblower" also means:

(i) An employee who in good faith provides information to the auditor or other public official, as defined in subsection (7) of this section, in connection with an investigation under RCW 42.40.040 and an employee who is believed to have reported asserted improper governmental action to the auditor or other public official, as defined in subsection (7) of this section, or to have provided information to the auditor or other public official, as defined in subsection (7) of this section, in connection with an investigation under RCW 42.40.040 but who, in fact, has not reported such action or provided such information; (ii)

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Everybody’s telling stories on Norm, well he’s a hard core fisherman, I think you might all know. And I’ve had the privilege fishing with him many times. When we fish, we have a process where you decide whether you’re going to take turns when the fish hit; doesn’t matter which pole their on or whether you’re going to each guard your own rod so I asked Norm and Norm said ‘Well, you just watch your own rod.’ So, by the time I had the third fish and he had none he said, ‘You know we should be taking turns.’ That’s a true story by the way.”

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced members of the Norm Dicks family, wife, Susie, sons Ryan and David who were seated in the gallery.

REMARKS BY US CONGRESSMAN NORM DICKS

Norm Dicks: “Thank you Mr. President, Nathan, Jeannie and all of you for presenting this resolution. I love the state of Washington and it’s been an honor to serve for forty-four years, eight years with Senator Magnuson and thirty-six years in the House of Representatives. The only other time I was here was with my good friend Joel Pritchard when he was President of the Senate. Joel and I worked together on a bi-partisan basis and I just want to say one thing today. It is so important, both in Washington D.C. and here in Olympia, that we work together. Once the elections over you got to work in the best interest of the people of this state and I have always believed that. Last year in the House of Representatives Chairman Rogers and I, we passed eleven appropriations bills through the committee, regular order, record votes. We wanted to prove that Congress could still work. Now that task has been left to others this year and we have some great new people from our state: Derek Kilmer; Denny Heck; Susan DelBene. We have a great delegation led by Senator Murray and Senator Cantwell. So, I just want to thank the people who did all the work, presented the resolution. Nathan, I wish you the best. And again it has been a wonderful honor to serve the people of this state and we look forward to our retirement but we’re still going to be active in trying to move forward on Puget Sound, Hood Canal and the major issues. We’re going to take care of that National Park over there in Eastern Washington. Again, I just want to thank you for this resolution. Want to thank my family, my wife Suzie, Ryan and David. Kathy Callison is a relative of ours that is here today and all my friends and my staff. I’ve had a great staff and you can’t get this done without good people surrounding you. Tim Thompson, Tom Luis, Kirk Becket are here today, Sarah Crumb and Joe Daccia and another great friend, Ralph Munro, our Secretary of State. He and I have always had a bi-partisan relationship. We work together on important issues facing our state. Again, I just hope it will be a message that good people can work together to get things done for Washington State. Thank you.”

MOTION

On motion of Senator Fain, the Senate reverted to the fifth order of business.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kohl-Welles: “Thank you Mr. President. I am rising just to remind everybody here that today there’s a celebration of International Women’s Day. We know that it began in the early 1900s in various forms around the world. It’s been over a hundred years and we can recognize that there’s been a great deal of accomplishments for women in our country and in our state and in the world, since then but there are remaining challenges facing women in our society. National Women’s Day was first celebrated in 1909 in the United States and in 1911 a new International Women’s Day was celebrated in parts of Europe. However, it was just a week later that in New York City the tragedy that’s been known as the Triangle Fire occurred in which one hundred forty women, who were locked in a factory in New York City, perished because they could not escape the fire. They were primarily Italian and Jewish immigrants. There have been different forms of International Women’s Day over the last one hundred years in many different countries but in our own country starting in 1981 the United States Congress determined that the week of March 8 would be National Women’s History Week and 1987 Congress determined that March would be National Women’s History Month. We have challenges. We have accomplishments. Around the world ninety-one countries have greater representation in their parliaments or national assemblies or congresses than we do. We rank seventy seventh in the world. So, I’d like to celebrate this day. Every day we take a lot of it for granted but we know that historically there were enormous efforts with loss of life, women being arrested for protesting that they did not have the right to vote until 1920 in the United States. Thank you.”

MOTION

On motion of Senator Fain, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5187 was immediately transmitted to the House of Representatives.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Keiser: “I also want to acknowledge that this is a day for paying attention to the status of women around the world. I think it’s important for us to realize that the status for women in our country is not going forward. In fact, the wage gap between men’s and women’s wages has actually widened in the last year. It has dropped by a percentage point. In addition, a very concerning health development has occurred in the last few years. Women’s longevity is actually dropping in our country. For women under the age of seventy five, the report from the Center for Disease Control now shows that longevity has been reduced in forty three percent of all of the counties in our country. This is a huge reversal in the progress that we had made in both wage gains and health gains and it’s a concern. We need to look at what is causing this trend backwards because that’s not the way for the future. We should not be having lives that are shorter. We should not be having pay checks that are smaller. It’s time to turn around that trend. So, please keep that in mind as we celebrate International Women’s Day.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fraser: “Thank you Mr. President. I would like to offer a few remarks on the occasion of International Women’s Day. We are very fortunate to live in America, in the United States of America. Every woman and ever man is very fortunate to live here but on the occasion on a day like this it’s worth reflecting on why is it so controversial for women to be alive and live normal lives in so many parts of the world. We’ve made huge, in terms of our own country, we’ve made huge advances in the last century but in some other parts of the world, women do not have the right to inherit from their deceased husband and maybe the rest of the family will come in and just take everything and leave her destitute. In many parts of the world, women, girls lack opportunity for education. They lack opportunity for health care. They suffer from institutionally sanctioned violence from which there is really no escape. They often have a lack of job and business opportunities. In some countries they’re virtually confined to their homes, can’t get around their own communities. In some countries they’re prohibited from driving. It’s like why is all of this? In the United States, yes, we have lots left to do but we remain a beacon of hope, a beacon of opportunity for so many people around the world. And I think as Americans we should think about the status of women who live with so many troubles in so many parts of the world and we should encourage our, through all the resources that we have, to help and assist and provide models and above all assist in helping women around the world have better living conditions where they need them. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Roach: “Thank you Mr. President, I appreciate asking me to take the floor for a second. I wanted to thank Senator Fraser for bringing this forward and I want to thank Senator Kohl-Welles for bringing this forward and thank Senator Fraser... for speaking so eloquently about it. I agree with the comments. I’m glad to see it in front of us. America is the greatest land in the world and we have a great obligation that goes with it. If you’re women or men, we need to be looking at what’s happening in the rest of the world. And I think a lot of us try to do that. I wanted to report, to let Senator Fraser know and others, last November I was in Zambia and while there met with the women in Parliament; Believe me, there aren’t very many. There are just a few and once they get elected, they never get re-elected. Don’t know why. They have six year terms. There are reasons for it. I met with women’s group and I will be leading a group of women to Zambia within the next year to help them realize how the future can be for them and for Zambia. But, right now, if you’re a woman in Zambia you can’t own property. You can’t own any property. You can’t own land. You can’t own a car. And so imagine, if you’re a man in Parliament and you vote to reverse that, do you think you would get re-elected the next time? Probably not. Every man who wouldn’t probably like that is not going to vote for you. So, it’s politically very difficult to change that custom. And Zambia is just one country around the world where women do not have the same rights let alone some of the atrocities that are done to women just because they are women. And all the trafficking that we’ve been talking about here and so forth. But even little things, seemingly little things to us, to be able to inherit something. You know? If you’re in a family with all girls nothing comes your way. It goes to a distant cousin. So I wanted to thank everyone for this, International Women’s Year is an important thing. And I can remember, by the way Senator Fraser, years ago going to the IWY in Houston, I think that was like 1977. Maybe didn’t share a lot of similar views at that time but as we’ve all grown, in these issues we certainly agree. Thank you Mr. President.”

MOTION

Senator Fain moved that the Senate be at ease subject to the call of the President for the purposes of caucuses.

Hearing an objection, the President declared the question before the Senate be to the motion by Senator Fain that the Senate be at ease subject to the call of the President. PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Ranker: “Thank you Mr. President. I want to share something really special with the members of the Senate today. This evening I will be leaving to fly across the country for my father’s wedding. He’s been with his partner, Sean, for eighteen years and due to the courage of the people of New York and Washington State and Connecticut and Iowa and Maine and Maryland, and Massachusetts and New Hampshire and Vermont and Washington D.C., all loving couples now have the right to be married in those states. Last year we passed historic legislation out of this body and we had an incredibly respectful dialogue when we did so. I want to thank you all again for that and I want to share with the absolute wonderful experience that I am going to have this weekend getting to see my father say, do’ to his partner Sean. (b) For the purposes of this subsection, "quick title" has the same meaning as in RCW 88.02.540.

Sec. 2. RCW 79.100.100 and 2010 c 161 s 1161 are each amended to read as follows:
(1)(a) The derelict vessel removal account is created in the state treasury. All receipts from RCW 79.100.050 and 79.100.060 and those moneys specified in RCW 88.02.640 must be deposited into the account. The account is authorized to receive fund transfers and appropriations from the general fund, deposits from the derelict vessel removal surcharge under RCW 88.02.640(4), as well as gifts, grants, and endowments from public or private sources as may be made from time to time, in trust or otherwise, for the use and benefit of the purposes of this chapter and expend the same or any income according to the terms of the gifts, grants, or endowments provided those terms do not conflict with any provisions of this section or any guidelines developed to prioritize reimbursement of removal projects associated with this chapter.
(b) Moneys in the account may only be spent after appropriation. Expenditures from the account may only be used by the department for developing and administering the vessel turn-in program created in section 40 of this act and to reimburse authorized public entities for up to ninety percent of the total reasonable and auditable administrative, removal, disposal, and environmental damage costs of abandoned or derelict vessels when the previous owner is either unknown after a reasonable search effort or insolvent. Reimbursement may not be made unless the department determines that the public entity has made reasonable efforts to identify and locate the party responsible for the vessel, or any other person or entity that has incurred secondary liability under section 36 of this act, regardless of the title of owner of the vessel.
(c) Funds in the account resulting from transfers from the general fund or from the deposit of funds from the watercraft excise tax as provided for under RCW 82.49.030 must be used to reimburse one hundred percent of costs and should be prioritized for the removal of large vessels.
(d) Costs associated with the removal and disposal of an abandoned or derelict vessel under the authority granted in RCW 53.08.320 also qualify for reimbursement from the derelict vessel removal account.
(e) In each biennium, up to twenty percent of the expenditures from the derelict vessel removal account may be used for administrative expenses of the department of licensing and department of natural resources in implementing this chapter.
(2) (If the balance of the account reaches one million dollars as of March 1st of any year, exclusive of any transfer or appropriation of funds into the account or funds deposited into the account collected under RCW 88.02.640(5), the department must notify the department of licensing and the collection of any fees associated with this account must be suspended for the following fiscal year.)
(3) Priority for use of this account is for the removal of derelict and abandoned vessels that are in danger of sinking, breaking up, or blocking navigation channels, or that present environmental risks such as leaking fuel or other hazardous substances. The department must develop criteria, in the form of informal guidelines, to prioritize removal projects associated with this chapter, but may not consider whether the applicant is a state or local entity when prioritizing. The guidelines must also include guidance to the authorized public entities as to what removal activities and associated costs are reasonable and eligible for reimbursement.
(3) (The department must keep all authorized public entities apprised of the balance of the derelict vessel removal account and the funds available for reimbursement. The guidelines developed by the department must also be made available to the other authorized public entities. This subsection (3) must be satisfied by utilizing the least costly method, including maintaining the information on the department's internet web site, or any other cost-effective method.
An authorized public entity may contribute its ten percent of costs that are not eligible for reimbursement by using in-kind services, including the use of existing staff, equipment, and volunteers.

This chapter does not guarantee reimbursement for an authorized public entity. Authorized public entities seeking certainty in reimbursement prior to taking action under this chapter may first notify the department of their proposed action and the estimated total costs. Upon notification by an authorized public entity, the department must make the authorized public entity aware of the status of the fund and the likelihood of reimbursement being available. The department may offer technical assistance and assure reimbursement for up to two years following the removal action if an assurance is appropriate given the balance of the fund and the details of the proposed action.

Sec. 3. RCW 79A.65.020 and 2002 c 286 s 21 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The commission may take reasonable measures, including but not limited to the use of anchors, chains, ropes, and locks, or removal from the water, to secure unauthorized vessels located at or on a commission facility so that the unauthorized vessels are in the possession and control of the commission. At least ten days before securing any unauthorized registered vessel, the commission shall send notification by registered mail to the last registered owner or registered owners of the vessel at their last known address or addresses.

(2) The commission may take reasonable measures, including but not limited to the use of anchors, chains, ropes, locks, or removal from the water, to secure any vessel if the vessel, in the opinion of the commission, is a nuisance, is in danger of sinking or creating other damage to a commission facility, or is otherwise a threat to the health, safety, or welfare of the public or environment at a commission facility. The costs of any such procedure shall be paid by the vessel's owner.

(3) At the time of securing any vessel under subsection (1) or (2) of this section, the commission shall attach to the vessel a readily visible notice or, when practicable, shall post such notice in a conspicuous location at the commission facility in the event the vessel is removed from the premises. The notice shall be of a reasonable size and shall contain the following information:

(d) A description of the owner's or secured party's rights under this chapter.

(4) With respect to registered vessels: Within five days of the date that notice is attached or posted under subsection (3) of this section, the commission shall send such notice, by registered mail, to each registered owner.

(5) If a vessel is secured under subsection (1) or (2) of this section, the owner, or any person with a legal right to possess the vessel, may claim the vessel by:

(a) Making arrangements satisfactory to the commission for the immediate removal of the vessel from the commission's control or for authorized storage or moorage; and

(b) Making payment to the commission of all reasonable charges incurred by the commission in securing the vessel under subsections (1) and (2) of this section and of all moorage fees owed to the commission.

A vessel is considered abandoned if, within the thirty-five day period following the date of attachment or posting of notice in subsection (3) of this section, the vessel has not been claimed under subsection (5) of this section.

If the owner or owners of a vessel are unable to reimburse the commission for all reasonable charges under subsections (1) and (2) of this section within a reasonable time, the commission may seek reimbursement of ((seventy-five)) ninety percent of all reasonable and auditable costs of the derelict vessel removal account established in RCW 79.100.100.

The contract must provide for the ((marina owner)) private moorage facility owner to be financially responsible for the removal and disposal costs that are not reimbursed by the department as provided under RCW 79.100.100, and any additional reasonable administrative costs incurred by the local government during the removal of the derelict or abandoned vessel.

Prior to the commencement of any removal which will seek reimbursement from the derelict vessel removal program, the contract and the proposed vessel removal shall be submitted to the department for review and approval. The local government shall use the procedure specified under RCW 79.100.100(6).

(4) If the private moorage facility owner has already seized the vessel under chapter 88.26 RCW and title has reverted to the moorage facility, the moorage facility is not considered the owner under this chapter for purposes of cost recovery for actions taken under this section.

(1) Prior to exercising the authority granted in RCW 79.100.030, the authorized public entity must first obtain custody of the vessel. To do so, the authorized public entity must:

(a) Mail notice of its intent to obtain custody, at least twenty days prior to taking custody, to the last known address of the previous owner to register the vessel in any state or with the federal government and to any lien holders or secured interests on record. A notice need not be sent to the purported owner or any other person whose interest in the vessel is not recorded with a state or federal agency;

(b) Post notice of its intent clearly on the vessel for thirty days and publish its intent at least once, more than ten days but less than twenty days prior to taking custody, in a newspaper of general circulation for the county in which the vessel is located; and

(c) Post notice of its intent on the department's internet web site on a page specifically designated for such notices. If the authorized public entity is not the department, the department must facilitate the internet posting.

(2) All notices sent, posted, or published in accordance with this section must, at a minimum, explain the intent of the authorized public entity to take custody of the vessel, the rights of the authorized public entity after taking custody of the vessel as provided in RCW 79.100.030, the procedures the owner must follow in order to avoid custody being taken by the authorized public entity, the procedures the owner must follow in order to reclaim possession after custody is taken by the authorized public entity, and the financial liabilities that the owner may incur as provided in RCW 79.100.060.

(3)(a) ((If a)) Any authorized public entity may tow, beach, or otherwise take temporary possession of a vessel if the owner of the vessel cannot be located or is unwilling or unable to assume immediate responsibility for the vessel and if the vessel ((ia)):

(i) Is in immediate danger of sinking, breaking up, or blocking navigational channels; or

(ii) Poses a reasonably imminent threat to human health or safety, including a threat of environmental contamination(; and (iii) the owner of the vessel cannot be located or is unwilling or unable to assume immediate responsibility for the vessel, any authorized public entity may tow, beach, or otherwise take temporary possession of the vessel)).

(b) Before taking temporary possession of the vessel, the authorized public entity must make reasonable attempts to consult with the department or the United States coast guard to ensure that other remedies are not available. The basis for taking temporary possession of the vessel must be set out in writing by the authorized public entity within seven days of taking action and be submitted to the owner, if known, as soon thereafter as is reasonable. If the authorized public entity has not already provided the required notice, immediately after taking possession of the vessel, the authorized public entity must initiate the notice provisions in subsection (1) of this section. The authorized public entity must complete the notice requirements of subsection (1) of this section before using or disposing of the vessel as authorized in RCW 79.100.050.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 36. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:
(1) A vessel owner must obtain a vessel inspection under this section prior to transferring a vessel that is:
(a) More than sixty-five feet in length and more than forty years old; and
(b) Either:
   (i) Is registered or required to be registered under chapter 88.02 RCW; or
   (ii) Is listed or required to be listed under chapter 84.40 RCW.
(2) Where required under subsection (1) of this section, a vessel owner must provide a copy of the vessel inspection documentation to the transferee and, if the department did not conduct the inspection, to the department prior to the transfer.
(3) Failure to comply with the requirements of subsections (1) and (2) of this section will result in the transferor having secondary inspection, to the department prior to the transfer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 37. (1) By December 31, 2013, the department shall adopt by rule procedures and standards for the vessel inspections required under section 36 of this act. The procedures and standards must identify the public or private entities authorized to conduct inspections, the required elements of an inspection, and the manner in which inspection results must be documented. The vessel inspection required under this section must be designed to:
(a) Provide the transferee with current information about the condition of the vessel, including the condition of its hull and key operating systems, prior to the transfer;
(b) Provide the department with information under (a) of this subsection for each applicable vessel and, more broadly, to improve the department’s understanding of the condition of the larger, older boats in the state’s waters;
(c) Discourage the future abandonment or dereliction of the vessel; and
(d) Maximize the efficiency and effectiveness of the inspection process, including with respect to the time and resources of the transferor, transferee, and the state.
(2) The department shall work with appropriate government agencies and stakeholders in designing the inspection process and standards under this section.
(3) This section expires July 31, 2014.

Sec. 38. RCW 79.100.060 and 2006 c 153 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The owner of an abandoned or derelict vessel, or any person or entity that has incurred secondary liability under section 36 of this act, is responsible for reimbursing an authorized public entity for all reasonable and auditable costs associated with the removal or disposal of the owner’s vessel under this chapter. These costs include, but are not limited to, costs incurred exercising the authority granted in RCW 79.100.030, all administrative costs incurred by the authorized public entity during the procedure set forth in RCW 79.100.040, removal and disposal costs, and costs associated with environmental damages directly or indirectly caused by the vessel. An authorized public entity that has taken temporary possession of a vessel may require that all reasonable and auditable costs associated with the removal of the vessel be paid before the vessel is released to the owner.
(2) Reimbursement for costs may be sought from an owner, or any person or entity that has incurred secondary liability under section 36 of this act, who is identified subsequent to the vessel’s removal and disposal.
(3) If the full amount of all costs due to the authorized public entity under this chapter is not paid to the authorized public entity within thirty days after first notifying the responsible parties of the amounts owed, the authorized public entity or the department may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction to recover the costs, plus reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs incurred by the authorized public entity.

Sec. 39. RCW 88.26.020 and 1993 c 474 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Any private moorage facility operator may take reasonable measures, including the use of chains, ropes, and locks, or removal from the water, to secure vessels within the private moorage facility so that the vessels are in the possession and control of the operator and cannot be removed from the facility. These procedures may be used if an owner mooring or storing a vessel at the facility fails, after being notified that charges are owing and of the owner's right to commence legal proceedings to contest that such charges are owing, to pay charges owed or to commence legal proceedings. Notification shall be by two separate letters, one sent by first-class mail and one sent by registered mail to the owner and any lienholder of record at the last known address. In the case of a transient vessel, or where no address was furnished by the owner, the operator need not give notice prior to securing the vessel. At the time of securing the vessel, an operator shall attach to the vessel a readily visible notice. The notice shall be of a reasonable size and shall contain the following information:
   (a) The date and time the notice was attached;
   (b) A statement that if the account is not paid in full within ninety days from the time the notice is attached the vessel may be sold at public auction to satisfy the charges; and
   (c) The address and telephone number where additional information may be obtained concerning release of the vessel.
   After a vessel is secured, the operator shall make a reasonable effort to notify the owner and any lienholder of record by registered mail in order to give the owner the information contained in the notice.
(2) A private moorage facility operator, at his or her discretion, may move moored vessels ashore for storage within properties under the operator's control or for storage with a private person under their control as bailees of the private moorage facility, if the vessel is, in the opinion of the operator, a nuisance, in danger of sinking or creating other damage, or is owing charges. The costs of any such procedure shall be paid by the vessel's owner.
(3) If a vessel is secured under subsection (1) of this section or moved ashore under subsection (2) of this section, the owner who is obligated to the private operator for charges may regain possession of the vessel by:
   (a) Making arrangements satisfactory with the operator for the immediate removal of the vessel from the facility or for authorized moorage; and
   (b) Making payment to the operator of all charges, or by posting with the operator a sufficient cash bond or other acceptable security, to be held in trust by the operator pending written agreement of the parties with respect to payment by the vessel owner of the amount owing, or pending resolution of the matter of the charges in a civil action in a court of competent jurisdiction. After entry of judgment, including any appeals, in a court of competent jurisdiction, or after the parties reach agreement with respect to payment, the trust shall terminate and the operator shall receive so much of the bond or other security as agreed, or as is necessary, to satisfy any judgment, costs, and interest as may be awarded to the operator. The balance shall be refunded immediately to the owner at the last known address.
(4) If a vessel has been secured by the operator under subsection (1) of this section and is not released to the owner under the bonding provisions of this section within ninety days after notifying or attempting to notify the owner under subsection (1) of this section, the vessel is conclusively presumed to have been abandoned by the owner.
(5) If a vessel moored or stored at a private moorage facility is abandoned, the operator may authorize the public sale of the vessel by authorized personnel, consistent with this section, to the highest and best bidder for cash as follows:

(a) Before the vessel is sold, the vessel owner and any lienholder of record shall be given at least twenty days' notice of the sale in the manner set forth in subsection (1) of this section if the name and address of the owner is known. The notice shall contain the time and place of the sale, a reasonable description of the vessel to be sold, and the amount of charges owed with respect to the vessel. The notice of sale shall be published at least once, more than ten but not more than twenty days before the sale, in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the facility is located. This notice shall include the name of the vessel, if any, the last known owner and address, and a reasonable description of the vessel to be sold. The operator may bid all or part of its charges at the sale and may become a purchaser at the sale.

(b) Before the vessel is sold, any person seeking to redeem an impounded vessel under this section may commence a lawsuit in the superior court for the county in which the vessel was impounded to contest the validity of the impoundment or the amount of charges owing. This lawsuit must be commenced within sixty days of the date the notification was provided under subsection (1) of this section, or the right to a hearing is deemed waived and the owner is liable for any charges owing the operator. In the event of litigation, the prevailing party is entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.

(c) The proceeds of a sale under this section shall be applied first to the payment of any liens superior to the claim for charges, then to payment of the charges, then to satisfy any other liens on the vessel in the order of their priority. The balance, if any, shall be paid to the owner. If the owner cannot in the exercise of due diligence be located by the operator within one year of the date of the sale, the excess funds from the sale shall revert to the department of revenue.

(d) In the event no one purchases the vessel at a sale, or a vessel is not removed from the premises or other arrangements are not made within ten days of sale, title to the vessel will revert to the operator.

(e) Either a minimum bid may be established or a letter of credit may be required from the buyer, or both, to discourage the future abandonment of the vessel.

(6) The rights granted to a private moorage facility operator under this section are in addition to any other legal rights an operator may have to hold and sell a vessel and in no manner does this section alter those rights, or affect the priority of other liens on a vessel.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 40. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department may develop and administer a voluntary vessel turn-in program.

(2) The purpose of the voluntary vessel turn-in program is to allow the department to dismantle and dispose of vessels that pose a high risk of becoming a derelict vessel or abandoned vessel, but that do not yet meet the definition of those terms. The department shall design the program with the goal of dismantling and disposing of as many vessels as available resources allow, particularly those vessels posing the greatest risk of becoming abandoned or derelict in the future.

(3) The department shall disseminate information about the vessel turn-in program, including information about the application process, on its internet site and through appropriate agency publications and information sources as determined by the department. The department shall disseminate this information for a reasonable time as determined by the department prior to accepting applications.

(4) The department shall accept and review vessel turn-in program applications from eligible vessel owners, including private marinas that have gained legal title to a vessel in an advanced state of disrepair, during the time period or periods identified by the department. In order to be eligible for the vessel turn-in program, an applicant must demonstrate to the department's satisfaction that the applicant:

(a) Is a Washington resident or business;

(b) Owns a vessel that is in an advanced state of disrepair, has minimal or no value, and has a high likelihood of becoming an abandoned or derelict vessel; and

(c) Has insufficient resources to properly dispose of the vessel outside of the vessel turn-in program.

(5) Decisions regarding program eligibility and whether to accept a vessel for dismantling and disposal under the turn-in program are within the sole discretion of the department.

(6) The department may take other actions not inconsistent with this section in order to develop and administer the vessel turn-in program.

(7) The department may not spend more than two hundred thousand dollars in any one biennium on the program established in this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 41. (1) In compliance with RCW 43.01.036, the department of natural resources must provide a brief summary of the vessel turn-in program authorized under section 40 of this act to the legislature by September 1, 2014, including information about applications for the program, the vessels disposed of, and any recommendations for modification of the program.

(2) This section expires July 31, 2015.

Sec. 42. RCW 43.21B.305 and 2005 c 34 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In an appeal that involves a penalty of fifteen thousand dollars or less or that involves a derelict or abandoned vessel under RCW 79.100.120, the appeal may be heard by one member of the board, whose decision shall be the final decision of the board. The board shall define by rule alternative procedures to expedite appeals involving penalties of fifteen thousand dollars or less or involving a derelict or abandoned vessel. These alternatives may include: Mediation, upon agreement of all parties; submission of testimony by affidavit; or other forms that may lead to less formal and faster resolution of appeals.

(2) For appeals that involve a derelict or abandoned vessel under RCW 79.100.120 only, an administrative law judge employed by the board may be substituted for a board member under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 43. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:

(1) An officer or employee of an authorized public entity, or the department of ecology at the request of an authorized public entity, may, consistent with subsection (2) of this section, board any vessel at any reasonable time for the purpose of administering this chapter including identifying ownership of a vessel, assessing the structural integrity of a vessel, and assessing whether a vessel meets the criteria described under RCW 79.100.040(3).

(2)(a) Prior to boarding any vessel under the authority of this section, an officer or employee of an authorized public entity, or the department of ecology at the request of an authorized public entity, must apply for and obtain an administrative search warrant in either Thurston county superior court or the superior court in the county where the vessel is located, unless a warrant is not otherwise required by law. The court may issue an administrative search warrant for purposes consistent with subsection (1) of this section.

(b) Prior to requesting an administrative search warrant under this subsection, the officer or employee must make a reasonable effort to contact the owner or the owner's designee and obtain consent to board the vessel.

(3) Nothing in this section affects actions taken by an authorized public entity under RCW 79.100.040 or by an authorized public entity or other agency under a separate statutory authority.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 44. (1) The department of natural resources must, in consultation with the department of ecology and appropriate stakeholders, evaluate potential changes to laws and rules related to abandoned and derelict vessels that increase vessel owner responsibility and address challenges associated with the economics of removing vessels from the water. This evaluation must include the development and analysis of:

(a) Administrative and legislative vessel owner responsibility options that seek to ensure the prevention and cleanup of derelict and abandoned vessels, including through the development of requirements applicable to the transfer of vessels at high risk of becoming abandoned or derelict by public and private moorage facility operators; and

(b) The identification of challenges and roadblocks to deconstructing derelict vessels and transforming them into a viable scrap metal product.

(2) The department of natural resources may choose which appropriate stakeholders are consulted in the implementation of this section. However, persons with relevant expertise on financial responsibility mechanisms, such as insurance and surety bonds and letters of credit, must be included. The department of natural resources must also seek to ensure opportunities for interested members of the senate and house of representatives to provide input into the work group process and conclusions.

(3) The department of natural resources must provide a summary of the options developed by the work group, or a draft of proposed legislation, to the legislature consistent with RCW 43.01.036 by December 15, 2013.

(4) This section expires June 30, 2014.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 45. Section 33 of this act expires June 30, 2019.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 46. Section 34 of this act takes effect June 30, 2019.

FIFTY SEVENTH DAY, MARCH 11, 2013

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5219, by Senators Honeyford, Hatfield, Smith, Schoesler, Delvin and Hewitt

Retaining water resources to assure the vitality of local economies.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Honeyford, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5219 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5219 and the second substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Hargrove moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Hargrove and Honeyford be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that purchase of lands by state agencies for less intensive economic uses may affect the economic vitality of local communities by reducing essential water resources necessary to retain economic activity of the area. The legislature finds that a number of parcels of land purchased by state agencies have water rights appurtenant to them. The legislature continues to support agency efforts to allow continued use of portions of land parcels that contribute to the local economy by actions such as leasing back irrigated parcels to local producers for continued production of food and other agricultural commodities. The legislature finds that the economies in many rural areas of the state have declined and are in need of retaining water resources to prevent further decline.

The purpose of this act is to establish a process to retain water rights when they are no longer used on state purchased lands and to make this resource available for alternate uses to continue to support the local economy, jobs, and the tax base rather than be permanently lost to the economy of the area through relinquishment under chapter 90.14 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 90.42 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Within existing appropriations, the department of fish and wildlife, the parks and recreation commission, and the department of natural resources shall each maintain an inventory of water rights appurtenant to each parcel of land purchased by their agencies. Each agency shall seek assistance from the department of ecology in maintaining this inventory. At least once each year, each agency shall review and record whether all or a portion of the water right for each of these lands purchased by the agency has been beneficially used. If the agency does not plan on continuing beneficial use of all or a portion of the water right on the state-owned land, or if all or a portion of a water right as required under subsection (1) of this section, but subsequently placed the water right to beneficial use on the state-owned land before the end of the fifth year, and plans to continue to fully use the water right in subsequent years, the agency shall notify the department of ecology to terminate the transfer of the water right to the local economy trust water account.

(2) Water rights temporarily held by the department of ecology under this section shall be available for transfer to a new use or uses within the same WRIA as the original use, consistent with RCW 90.03.380 or 90.44.100, as appropriate. Once a water right is transferred to the local economy trust water account and the department has completed a trust water agreement and identified the area of suitability for transfer consistent with chapter 90.38 or 90.44 RCW, the department must provide notification that a water right may be available to the person who filed an application for a new water right under chapter 90.03 or 90.44 RCW as appropriate, based on whose water right appropriation is next in line for processing within the area of suitability for transfer within the WRIA.

(4)(a) A request to transfer the water right may be processed if:

(i) The applicant responds to the department within thirty calendar days; and

(ii) The applicant agrees to pay the department's costs associated with placing the new water supplies into the local economy trust water account and completing the transfer from the local economy trust water account to the applicant's new use.

(b) If the thirty-day period elapses and an affirmative written response is not received from the applicant by the department, the department shall provide the notice to the next applicant in line in accordance with subsection (3) of this section.

(5) If the department has not issued a permit within three years of the date that the water right was transferred into the local economy trust water account, the department shall submit a written report to the standing committees of the legislature with jurisdiction over water right matters, and to the legislators representing the area in which the original water right was used providing the reasons for the failure to approve a transfer of the water right to a new use.

(6) If a person does not indicate an interest in obtaining a water right from the local economy trust water account, it does not affect the standing of the original water right application.

(7) This section does not apply to properties with deed restrictions in conflict with this section or where application of this section would otherwise violate law.

(8) The provisions of this section and section 3 of this act apply to all WRIAs in the state.

(9) This section does not apply to nonconsumptive water rights used by fish hatcheries and associated rearing ponds, or to water rights associated with permit-exempt wells established under RCW 90.44.050.

(10) This section does not apply to state lands as defined in RCW 79.02.010, managed by the department of natural resources, or to state forest lands as defined in RCW 79.02.010.

(11) As used in this section and section 3 of this act, "WRIA" means a water resource inventory area established in accordance with RCW 79.02.010.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 90.42 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Within existing appropriations, the department of fish and wildlife, the parks and recreation commission, and the department of natural resources shall each maintain an inventory of water rights associated with permit-exempt wells established under RCW 90.44.050.

(2) These water rights may be transferred to other beneficial uses after the completion of the permit-exempt well, or to state forest lands as defined in RCW 79.02.010.

(ii) The applicant agrees to pay the department's costs associated with transferring the water right.

(j) The department may approve a transfer to another beneficial use as provided in subsection (3) of this section.

(k) If the department has not issued a permit within three years of the date that the water right was transferred into the local economy trust water account, it does not affect the standing of the original water right application.

(l) This section does not apply to properties with deed restrictions in conflict with this section or where application of this section would otherwise violate law.

(m) The provisions of this section and section 3 of this act apply to all WRIAs in the state.

(n) This section does not apply to nonconsumptive water rights used by fish hatcheries and associated rearing ponds, or to water rights associated with permit-exempt wells established under RCW 90.44.050.

(2) Upon the transfer of a water right under section 2(1) of this act, the department shall establish a local economy trust water account for the WRIA in which the water right had been used. The department shall place and hold the water right in the account pending completion of a transfer to another beneficial use as provided in this section and section 2 of this act.
(3) The department may transfer all or a portion of a water right held in the local economy trust water account to a new water use identified through the process in section 2 of this act upon occurrence of all of the following:

(a) The department receives a request from a qualified applicant identified pursuant to section 2 of this act for transfer of a water right or portion thereof; and

(b) The request is reviewed and approved under RCW 90.03.380 or 90.44.100, as applicable, for the new beneficial use or uses. The department may not authorize the use of a water right if it causes detriment or injure to existing rights.

(4) The priority date of the water right or portion thereof transferred by the department from the local economy trust water account shall be the priority date of the underlying water right that had been transferred into the local economy trust water account, but as between the underlying water right and the new transferred right, the underlying water right shall be deemed to be senior in priority unless otherwise specified by agreement between the agency holding the underlying water right and the new water right holder.

(5) The department shall issue documentation for that water right or portion thereof to the new water right holder based on the requirements applicable to the transfer of other water rights from the trust water program, as provided under this chapter or chapter 90.38 RCW, as applicable. Documentation must include a description of the property to which the water right will be appurtenant after the water right or portion thereof is transferred from the local economy trust water account to the new water right holder.

(6) The department's decision on the transfer of a water right or portion thereof from the local economy trust water account may be appealed to the pollution control hearings board under RCW 90.03.210.

(7) Notice of application for transfer of a water right under this section must be published by the applicant as provided under RCW 90.03.380. The department must provide electronic notice and opportunity to comment to affected local governments and affected federally recognized tribal governments before initiating use of the local economy trust water account for the first time in a WRIA.

(8) Water rights are not subject to loss by statutory relinquishment under RCW 90.14.130 through 90.14.200 while such water rights are:

(a) Waiting for a final determination from the department on a change or transfer application filed under RCW 90.03.250, 90.03.380, or 90.44.100;

(b) In a local economy trust water account while being held by the department as a trust water right under this chapter or chapter 90.38 RCW; or

(c) Within a construction or development schedule period granted in the approved water right transfer document or any development schedule granted under RCW 90.03.320 for the new water right holder to place the water right to beneficial use.
