FIRST DAY

NOON SESSION

Senate Chamber, Olympia
Monday, January 11, 2016

At 12:00 o'clock noon, pursuant to state law, the Senate of the 2016 Regular Session of the Sixty-Fourth Legislature was called to order by the President of Senate, Lieutenant Governor Owen presiding.

The presiding Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present with the exception of Senator Benton.

The Washington State Patrol Honor Guard consisting of Sergeant Jason Greer, Corporal Ian T. Morhous, Trooper MaKayla R. Morgan, Trooper William Rutherford, and Trooper Ethan Wynecoop presented the Colors.

The President led the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance.

INTRODUCTION OF GUEST

The President introduced U.S. Army Reserve Specialist Thomas O'Ban, son of Senator Steve O'Ban, who performed the National Anthem.

The Washington State Honor Guard retired from the chamber.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "U.S. Army Reserve Specialist Thomas O'Ban just stepped out in the wings. I want to thank him very much for an incredible job with the National Anthem."

"Once again, the Washington State Patrol Honor Guard makes us proud. They do an excellent job. I see them all over the state representing the state of Washington providing their skills, talents, and dignity to functions throughout the state. We should be very proud of that Honor Guard here as well."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Every year we are privileged to have the Capital Lakefair Queen welcome us on the opening day of legislative session. It's always something very special. Joining me at the rostrum this afternoon is Queen Madeline Poultridge from Avanti High School in Olympia. I understand that Madeline is the first member of the Lakefair Court, in addition to being the first Queen, selected from Avanti High School. She's accompanied today by Mr. George Sharp, 2015 Capital Lakefair President; Ms. Karen Griggs, 2015 Royalty Chair; Mr. Andrew Poultridge and Ms. Noelle Nordstrom parents of Miss Poultridge and Ms. Joan Poultridge, grandmother of Miss Poultridge."

With the permission of the senate, business was suspended to allow Lakefair Queen Madeline Poultridge to address the senate and welcome the senators to Olympia.

REMARKS BY MADELINE POULTRIDGE

Miss Madeline Poultridge: "Welcome ladies and gentlemen and senators. Thank you very much for coming to Olympia to represent your communities. I was born and raised here in Olympia and I love everything about this city. As the 58th Capital Lakefair Queen, I have had the opportunity to explore the state of Washington and beyond as a representative of Thurston County. During my reign, I have learned so much about our state and all the driven and inspired people that call it home. I connected with other queens and princesses from across the Pacific Northwest, and though our individual experiences varied greatly, we bonded over our shared experiences. I would like to share a short story from my time as queen that makes me incredibly proud."

"During parade season, all the royalty courts in Washington travel around to attend each other's local festivals. Not only did I become great friends with the princesses on my own court, but all the royalty statewide as well. Although each court competes at the parades for the best float, we knew we were all there for the same reasons, and we looked out for each other. At a parade in late June, about halfway through the season, a terrible accident occurred. The princesses and I were still on our float riding back to the staging area when we heard the news: Port Townsend's Rhododendron float had caught fire. Hoping for the best, we assumed it was just a little singe and smoke, but as we passed the debris we realized the true extent of what had happened. The gas tank had exploded, and the entire float had burned to the ground. We were relieved to hear that no one had been hurt, but many possessions had been lost, and no part of the float was salvageable. After the initial shock had passed, a new problem arose. The Rhododendron girls had no float, what were they going to do for the rest of the parades? We weren't about to let their season be cut short, and Lakefair was only three weeks away, so we needed to act fast. Almost every court pitched in, gathering supplies, money, and the Spokane Lilac Festival even donated one of their floats for the Rhododendron court to redecorate and use. With the help of many volunteers and queens and princesses from around Washington, the Rhododendron Royalty Court made their debut on the new float in the Capital Lakefair Parade. Even though we were technically in competition, we accomplished so much when we worked together."

"My hope for the year ahead is that collaboration like this becomes a theme, even when the metaphorical float catches on fire. Alone, we know a little. But together, we know a lot, and we can do a lot; the possibilities are endless. You are here today representing your friends and neighbors, you are Washington's grand royalty court. I am immensely grateful for every senator, every representative, and your service to our beautiful state. Thanks again for taking this time to be here now and do such great work. I wish you all the best for 2016. Thank you."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Queen Madeline thank you for your comments. I've learned that this amazing young lady gives presentations on conflict resolution and collaboration. Later on during the session you may want to give her a call and see if we can work out some differences. I understand she's quite good. Queen Madeline, thank you very much. It's a privilege to have you here."

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO ON ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL
NO. 5785

May 18, 2015

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5785 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the definition of official duties of state officers."

This bill changes definition of official duty for a state officer holding an elective office in the state Ethics Act. The definition is expanded to mean not only those duties prescribed in the state Constitution, state statutes or agency rules, legislatively funded or mandated authority and responsibilities, but also any activities described in an agency's strategic plan and tasks or action directly related to carrying out the state officer's other official duties.

I believe this is an unnecessary change to the Ethics Act. First, this legislation creates a different standard of ethics for elected officials. While they have different roles, I believe all public employees should be held to the same rules. Moreover, elected officials - as head of agencies - already define much of their job duties. There is no need to create an expanded definition of official duty. By doing so, we unnecessarily risk endangering the public's trust.

For these reasons I have vetoed Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5785 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
Jay Inslee
Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO ON SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE
BILL NO. 5052

April 24, 2015

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 36, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, and 52, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5052 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to establishing the cannabis patient protection act."

After tremendous deliberation, compromise and hard work from our outstanding bipartisan sponsors and co-sponsors, committee chairs and ranking members from both houses, we have a measure that will create a medical marijuana system that works for our state.

I am committed to ensuring a system that serves patients well and makes medicine available in a safe and accessible manner, just like we would do for any medicine. That's what this bill strives to provide. It will help families of patients in real need.

As significant an accomplishment as this bill is for our state - and for patients to be ensured of having a safe place to get medicine they need - I know some remain concerned. These perspectives are important and compelling. I recognize the solution is not perfect. However, I do think this is far better than today's wholly unregulated system.

We will have options for patients and a system of strong enforcement to ensure public safety, especially for children. It is a good thing that this bill allows immediate enforcement of dispensaries to ensure they are not selling marijuana to kids.

I want to be clear that I am committed to implementing this law effectively by ensuring cooperatives are safe for patients in need, not sources of illicit diversion in our communities. To this end, I have directed the Liquor Control Board to work with the Attorney General's Office and local law enforcement to consider all options to ensure patient and public safety.

I also want to reassure you that the Department of Health will create an authorization form that will continue to honor the doctor-patient relationship.

While this bill takes a tremendous step forward, a large volume remains of unfinished work on marijuana tax policy, enforcement, local revenue sharing and funding for public health prevention programs. I strongly support efforts to address these items - and call on legislators to finish the job and provide the tools necessary to ensure a well-regulated and functioning marijuana market in our state.

I am vetoing the following sections:

Section 36. This section prohibits employers of health care providers from limiting medical marijuana recommendations to patients. This is an employment law provision that may cause confusion and potential unintended consequences. This section was added without adequate input. The sponsors of this legislation have also requested this provision be vetoed to allow time for further discussion to develop appropriate policy.

Sections 42 and 43. These sections remove from Schedule I of our state's Controlled Substances Act any medical marijuana product. This is a laudable idea and I appreciate the intent to reduce the stigma of medical marijuana by rescheduling it from a Schedule I - an illegal - controlled substance to something more appropriate. However, our state's rescheduling system has very limited effect, and rescheduling just medicinal marijuana - not the entire cannabis plant and derivatives - may cause serious problems such as having the unintended effect of limiting the types of marijuana that are considered medicine. To that end, I have instructed the Department of Health to thoroughly consider this idea in consultation with medical professionals and stakeholders, and bring an appropriate resolution to me and the Legislature by next year. Furthermore, I will continue to advocate for the federal government to consider a national rescheduling solution, which may be most beneficial, considering the limited power that state rescheduling has in this respect.

Sections 44, 45 and 46. These sections create new felonies in our criminal code. Washington state does not need additional criminal penalties related to medical marijuana. Moreover, these sections were added as part of the same amendment that created sections 42 and 43 that would have rescheduled medical marijuana. Because I have vetoed sections 42 and 43, sections 44, 45, and 46 are also unnecessary.

Section 52. This section makes Senate Bill 5052 contingent on the enactment of some version of House Bill 2136 by October 1, 2015. This contingent effective date causes confusion and potentially conflicts with other effective dates in Senate Bill 5052. In addition, if the Legislature is unable to pass a version of House Bill 2136, the Code Reviser's Office has advised me that this provision acts as a null and void clause, in which case we risk jeopardizing the integrity of the system created in this bill. I strongly agree with the need for additional policy and administrative changes to ensure a well-regulated and functioning marijuana market. However, this bill should not be made contingent on those changes.

For these reasons I have vetoed Sections 36, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, and 52 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5052.

With the exception of Sections 36, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, and 52, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5052 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
Jay Inslee

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR PARTIAL VETO ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5824

April 24, 2015

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 6, and 8, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5824 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to certain recreational guides."

Sections 6 and 8 of this bill are technical changes that are meant to simplify this chapter by placing game fish guide license fees in the same section as food fish guide license fees (RCW 77.64.440). However, House Bill 1232 and Senate Bill 5464 both contain a reference to the original location of the game fish guide license (RCW 77.65.480). To avoid creating a reference error, I am vetoing sections 6 and 8.

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 11, 2016

PARTIAL VETO ON SENATE BILL NO. 5024

May 11, 2015

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 19, 25, 48, 49, and 127, Senate Bill No. 5024 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to conforming amendments made necessary by reorganizing and streamlining central service functions, powers, and duties of state government."

The following sections contain conflicting or double amendments to sections of law amended in legislation I have already signed into law and are not necessary:

Section 19 amends RCW 19.27A.020, which was also amended in House Bill No. 1011, already signed into law.

Section 25 amends RCW 27.48.040, which was also amended in Senate Bill No. 5176, already signed into law.

Sections 48 and 49 amend RCW 39.35C.050 and 39.35C.090, which were also amended in Senate Bill No. 5075, already signed into law.

Section 127 decodifies RCW 43.19.533, which was repealed in Senate Bill No. 5075, already signed into law.

For these reasons I have vetoed Sections 19, 25, 48, 49, and 127 of Senate Bill No. 5024.

PARTIAL VETO ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5501

May 11, 2015

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 7, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5501 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the prevention of animal cruelty."

Section 7, by expanding the exceptions for "accepted husbandry practices" used in commercial farming to noncommercial farming, could potentially leave livestock and other animals subject to neglect or cruelty. Contrary to the purpose of this bill, animal control officers and prosecutors will have more difficulty enforcing animal cruelty laws in cases involving backyard farming and hobby farms.

For these reasons I have vetoed Section 7 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5501.

With the exception of Section 7, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5501 is approved.

PARTIAL VETO ON ENGROSSED SECOND
SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5564

May 14, 2015

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 39(2), Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5564 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to decreasing the barriers to successful community participation for individuals involved with the juvenile justice system."

This bill lowers the financial burden on juvenile offenders and their families, making it more likely that they will be able to turn their lives around and be productive members of society. Section 39(2) eliminates the legal financial obligation associated with a diversion program. The revenue from the financial obligation in section 39(2) provides substantial funding for Community Youth Services, a diversion program in Thurston county that is very successful in providing diversion services to juveniles. It is vital to continue to provide adequate funds for these diversion services.

For these reasons I have vetoed Section 39(2) of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5564.

With the exception of Section 39(2), Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5564 is approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

PARTIAL VETO ON ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE
SENATE BILL NO. 6052

June 30, 2015

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 130, page 27, line 29; 204(2)(f); 501(1)(f); 950(3); 963; and 1213, page 381, lines 6-7, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6052 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to fiscal matters."

Section 130, page 27, line 29, Office of Financial Management, Data Processing Revolving Account

The Data Processing Revolving Account will be abolished, effective January 1, 2016, pursuant to passage of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5315. Because this appropriation to the Office of Financial Management is no longer necessary, I have vetoed Section 130, page 27, line 29.

Section 204(2)(f), pages 58-59, Department of Social and Health Services, Study on Clinical Role of Psychiatrists

This proviso requires the Department of Social and Health Services, within existing resources, to contract with a consultant to conduct a workload study and to examine the clinical role of psychiatrists at the state psychiatric hospitals with respect to patients who are the subject of both forensic and civil commitment. In addition to findings and recommendations on those topics, the consultant must identify factors other than compensation that are negatively affecting job retention for psychiatrists and make recommendations for addressing those issues. Although I welcome additional expertise to address factors that may influence job retention, funding is not provided for the cost of an independent contractor. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 204(2)(f).

Section 501(1)(f), page 126, Superintendent of Public Instruction, School District Accounting Rules and Reporting

This proviso requires the Superintendent of Public Instruction to revise the accounting rules for school districts, as well as accounting and financial information technology systems, to separate expenditures of levy and local effort assistance revenues from all other expenditures. It also requires additional detailed reporting of school district compensation data. The Superintendent estimated $400,000 would be needed to implement this proviso, and no funding was provided. In addition, the new rules and systems must be in place by the 2016-17 school year, leaving no time for the Superintendent to test the system with pilot districts prior to implementation. For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 501(1)(f).

Section 950(3), page 257, Law Enforcement Officers' and Firefighters' Retirement System (LEOFF) Distribution in 2017

I support funding for the Local Law Enforcement Officers' and Firefighters' Retirement System Benefits Improvement Account, and included funding for this account in my budget proposal. Rather than provide a General Fund--State appropriation to this account, the Legislature transferred money from the LEOFF retirement system pension fund to the benefits improvement account. While I am approving this one-time transfer, I am concerned that repeated transfers would undermine the stability of the pension fund and increase the cost of existing pension benefits for plan members, local governments, and the state of Washington. Because I believe that future funding for the benefits improvement account should be made through General Fund appropriations, as envisioned by the legislation that created that account, I am vetoing language that indicates legislative intent for future transfers from the pension fund. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 950(3).

2016 REGULAR SESSION

Section 963, page 268, Life Sciences Discovery Fund

The Life Sciences Discovery Fund Authority (LSDFA) provides valuable and innovative research that improves the health of all Washingtonians. I am disappointed the Legislature could not come to an agreement on providing some new funding for the LSDFA. I am concerned that Section 963 unduly restricts the awarding of grants with money currently in the Life Sciences Discovery Fund and abruptly ends the work of the LSDFA. This prohibition also restricts the LSDFA from using new revenue provided by marijuana research licenses pursuant to Senate Bill No. 5121. We must provide maximum flexibility for the LSDFA to carry out its mission and expend all remaining money in the Life Sciences Discovery Fund. For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 963.

Section 1213, page 381, lines 6-7, Health Care Authority, Savings Through Waiver Request

The budget assumes that the Health Care Authority (HCA) can achieve General Fund--State savings in state fiscal year 2015 by, among several savings steps, seeking a waiver from the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services. This waiver would provide federal flexibility in the area of innovative reimbursement methods. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services has indicated that it will not approve this waiver request, and therefore, the savings cannot be achieved. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 1213, page 381, lines 6-7, and directed HCA to place any unused funds in reserve status.

For these reasons I have vetoed Sections 130, page 27, line 29; 204(2)(f); 501(1)(f); 950(3); 963; and 1213, page 381, lines 6-7 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6052.

With the exception of Sections 130, page 27, line 29; 204(2)(f); 501(1)(f); 950(3); 963; and 1213, page 381, lines 6-7, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6052 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO ON SECOND ENGROSSED
SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5996

July 6, 2015

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 9, Second Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5996 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to Washington state department of transportation projects."

This bill is one of several substantive transportation reform bills I am signing into law today. The goal of this particular bill is to streamline the environmental decision making process for transportation projects without sacrificing environmental protections. Section 9 contains additional reporting requirements for the Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT) on lean efforts and to complete a Baldrige assessment. I wholeheartedly support adequately measuring and reporting on performance metrics and lean management efforts. The transportation investment package, however, already includes a number of studies and reports WSDOT must complete and prioritize within available funding. The unfunded requirements in Section 9 of this bill unnecessarily hinder efforts to implement this and other reform bills.

For these reasons I have vetoed Section 9 of Second Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5996.

With the exception of Section 9, Second Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5996 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
Jay Inslee

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO ON SECOND ENGROSSED
SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5988

July 15, 2015

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 204, page 3, lines 31-35, and page 4, lines 1-15, Second Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5988 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to additive transportation funding and appropriations."

Section 204, page 3, lines 31-35, and page 4, lines 1-15, Department of Transportation, Beaver Dams

This proviso creates a complicated process for managing beaver dams on private property that pose a threat to Washington state highways, individual personal property, and public safety. The proposed process would require the Washington State Department of Transportation to notify private property owners of impending threats from beaver dam failure, to produce wildlife management plans, and to provide potential remedies that could create liability for the state. Therefore, I have vetoed Section 204, page 3, lines 31-35, and page 4, lines 1-15.

For these reasons I have vetoed Section 204, page 3, lines 31-35, and page 4, lines 1-15 of Second Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5988.

With the exception of Section 204, page 3, lines 31-35, and page 4, lines 1-15, Second Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5988 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

WHEREAS, Mr. Wharton submitted a petition to the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board in 2012, requesting that his Life Sentence without the Possibility of Parole on Cause Number 97-1-00657-7 be commuted by Governor Christine Gregoire.

no reason to believe he would ever be released from prison, he proactively sought out and participated in whatever classes or programs were available to improve his life skills and enhance his education, in addition to counseling and treatment for his previous substance abuse and his ongoing recovery from addiction.

WHEREAS, following Mr. Wharton’s Clemency and Pardons Board hearing on December 7, 2012, the Board issued a unanimous recommendation in support of a commutation of Mr. Wharton’s life without the possibility of parole sentence. King County Prosecutor Daniel Satterberg supported his conditional release; and the sentencing judge for his “third strike” offense, then-retired King County Superior Court Judge Michael J. FULL AND UNCONDITIONAL PARDON
ANGUS BRENT TATE

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, Angus Brent Tate pleaded guilty to SECOND DEGREE ARSON in July 1968, Yakima County Superior Court Cause No. 14894. He also pleaded guilty to SECOND DEGREE BURGLARY in February 1972, Yakima County Superior Court Cause No. 16735.

WHEREAS, Mr. Tate accepts full responsibility for his past conduct in these incidents, expresses remorse, and has satisfied the conditions of his judgements and sentences.

WHEREAS, Mr. Tate has had no further criminal law violations since the 1972 burglary, and following his release from prison, he has devoted his life to improving the lives of others in his community.

WHEREAS, Mr. Tate is married and has 16 grandchildren, 13 of whom he and his wife have helped raise. Mr. Tate and his wife currently have temporary custody of three of their young grandchildren whose parents suffer from addiction and are in and out of the justice system. When Mr. Tate and his wife took custody of these three grandchildren, the grandchildren were underweight and developmentally behind where they should be at their age. Since moving in with Mr. Tate and his wife, the grandchildren have made significant strides and are doing much better.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board reviewed Mr. Tate’s pardon petition, which included over 40 letters of support from friends, family, and community members. The testimony before the Board was that, since his release from incarceration, Mr. Tate has dedicated his life to serving his community. He has been continuously employed for roughly 40 years. He has worked as a social worker for the state since 1986 and served as his church’s pastor for over 20 years.

WHEREAS, the presence of these two convictions on Mr. Tate’s record may prevent him from obtaining full legal custody of his grandchildren; and, if he does not obtain permanent custody, the grandchildren may be forced into foster care.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board voted unanimously to recommend that Mr. Tate receive a full pardon. The Yakima County Prosecuting Attorney does not object to pardoning Mr. Tate and commends his commitment to the community. FULL AND UNCONDITIONAL PARDON
TAYLOR ROBINSON CHOYCE

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, Taylor Robinson Choyce pleaded guilty to SECOND DEGREE ASSAULT in April 2001, Thurston County Superior Court Cause No. 00-1-1733-6. He was 18 years old at the time of the assault, when he chased, with a decorative sword, his two college roommates and their associate who had broken into his bedroom and were rummaging through his private belongings. In the course of the chase, Mr. Choyce stabbed the victim in the lower back with his sword, causing a two to three centimeter wound which resulted in no permanent damage.

WHEREAS, Mr. Choyce accepts full responsibility for his conduct in this incident, expresses remorse, and he has satisfied the conditions of his judgment and sentence, including paying all fines and costs.

WHEREAS, Mr. Choyce had no prior criminal conduct and has had no further criminal law violations in his life, aside from this single incident.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board reviewed Mr. Choyce’s pardon petition, which included numerous letters of support from friends, family, and community members. The testimony before the Board was that, since this incident, Mr. Choyce has flourished, completing his education, finding steady employment, and starting a family.

WHEREAS, the sentencing judge, Judge Richard Strophy, testified at Mr. Choyce's clemency hearing. He characterized Mr. Choyce's conviction as "a miscarriage of justice," given Mr. Choyce's lack of criminal history and the circumstances of the offense. During the case's prosecution, Judge Strophy felt so compelled by what he perceived as an injustice, that he did something he had never done before and would never do again during his 24 years on the Superior Court bench—he encouraged the parties to work out a deal whereby Mr. Choyce could avoid facing a felony. And because Judge Strophy felt so passionately that the State had overstepped its bounds by prosecuting Mr. Choyce for a felony, Judge Strophy testified on Mr. Choyce's behalf before the Board.

WHEREAS, this conviction's presence on Mr. Choyce's record prevents him from pursuing his desired career opportunities. The conviction also prevents Mr. Choyce the opportunity to volunteer at Big Brothers.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board voted to recommend that Mr. Choyce receive a full pardon. The Thurston County Prosecuting Attorney expressed no objection to the pardon.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the involved crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board and, in light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interest of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jay Inslee, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the state of Washington, hereby grant to Taylor Robinson Choyce this FULL AND UNCONDITIONAL pardon of his 2001 conviction for SECOND DEGREE ASSAULT.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia on this 16th day of April, A. D., two thousand and fourteen.

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, Shayne Lyle Rochester was found guilty of ATTEMPTED FIRST DEGREE ROBBERY including a firearm enhancement, in January 2010, King County Superior Court Cause No. 09-C-4235-3-SEA. Mr. Rochester drove to his former roommate's residence with two women, who he knew were both armed with handguns, and directed them to collect money that Mr. Rochester's former roommate owed him. The women entered the roommate's home without permission and, after refusing to leave, produced their weapons and demanded money, before discharging an errant shot and fleeing. The State prosecuted Mr. Rochester as an attempted robbery accomplice; Mr. Rochester was found guilty and sentenced to 37 months for the robbery and 36 months on the firearm enhancement.

WHEREAS, Mr. Rochester successfully challenged an alleged jury instruction error on direct appeal, and Division One of the Court of Appeals overturned his firearm enhancement and its 36 month sentence, basing its decision on the Washington State Supreme Court's opinion in State v. Bashaw, 169 Wn.2d 133, 234 P.3d 195 (2010). The State then appealed Division One's ruling to the Washington Supreme Court, where it was stayed pending an anticipated ruling in a case that would reconsider the Bashaw opinion, State v. Nunez, 174 Wn.2d 707, 285 P.3d 21 (2012).

WHEREAS, following his successful direct appeal at Division One, Mr. Rochester was released from prison on his own personal recognizance, pending the stay in his case. At the time of his release, Mr. Rochester had served approximately 28 months of his 37 month sentence on his attempted first degree robbery conviction. The Department of Corrections, after factoring his earned release time, determined that Mr. Rochester had completed his robbery sentence.

WHEREAS, the Washington Supreme Court subsequently issued its anticipated decision in Nunez, overturning the decision in Bashaw. Consequently, our Supreme Court remanded Mr. Rochester's case to Division One for action consistent with the Nunez opinion, and Division One affirmed Mr. Rochester's firearm enhancement, along with its 36 month sentence. When Division One issued its opinion on remand, Mr. Rochester had been out of prison on his own personal recognizance for over 13 months. Mr. Rochester has now been out of custody since October 2011, pending ongoing appeals associated with his case. Since his release from custody, Mr. Rochester has complied with the terms of his release.

WHEREAS, Mr. Rochester accepts full responsibility for his conduct in this incident and has expressed remorse. He has taken affirmative steps to confront and overcome his substance abuse additions, which led to this offense. Mr. Rochester has also established custody of his young son and has cultivated a strong relationship. He has dedicated himself to community groups that provide social rehabilitative support to parents in the child welfare and prison system.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board reviewed Mr. Rochester's clemency petition, which included several letters of support from his family, social workers, and other community members, including retired King County Superior Court Judge Anthony Wartnik. The victim of the offense and the King County Prosecuting Attorney's Office also support Mr. Rochester's clemency petition.

WHEREAS, denial of this clemency petition would return Mr. Rochester to prison for 36 months and cause great upheaval to his family. In a letter supporting Mr. Rochester's petition, the Department of Social And Health Services expressed that the best interests of Mr. Rochester's son would be served if Mr. Rochester were not returned to prison.

WHEREAS, at a March 14, 2014, clemency hearing, the Clemency and Pardons Board unanimously voted to recommend that Mr. Rochester's 36 month sentence on his firearm enhancement be commuted; and,

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the involved crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board and, in light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jay Inslee, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the state of Washington, adopt the recommendation of the Clemency and Pardons Board and hereby COMMUTE Shayne Lyle Rochester's 36 month sentence for his 2010 firearm enhancement on his ATTEMPTED FIRST DEGREE ROBBERY conviction.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia on this 23rd day of July, A. D., two thousand and fourteen.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jay Inslee, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the state of Washington, adopt the recommendation of the Clemency and Pardons Board and hereby COMMUTE John William Wheeler's 1999 sentence for two SECOND DEGREE ROBBERY convictions, conditioned on his agreement to comply with all terms outlined by the Department of Corrections (DOC) in a transition plan. Under this transition plan, Mr. Wheeler will complete 12 months in custody, to terminate no later than January 1, 2016. Following this in-custody period, Mr. Wheeler will serve an additional 12 months of community custody, to end no later than January 1, 2017. During this transition, Mr. Wheeler will comply with any conditions set forth by the DOC and its community corrections officers (CCO). These conditions shall include, but no be limited to the following:

Mr. Wheeler shall:

- 1 Report as directed and be available for contact with the DOC;
- 2 Remain in a geographic area as directed by his CCO;
- 3 Participate in DOC approved education, employment and/or community service obligations, to include additional chemical dependency treatment if appropriate;
- 4 Receive prior approval from DOC for living arrangements and residence locations;
- 5 Notify his CCO before changing residence or employment;
- 6 Abide by written and verbal instructions issued by the CCO;
- 7 Not possess, receive, ship, or transport any explosive device, dangerous weapons, ammunition or firearms;
- 8 Not consume or possess controlled substances without a legal prescription;
- 9 Abstain from alcohol and marijuana use and possession;
- 10 Have no direct or indirect contact with any victims and/or their families;

- 12 Comply with all conditions of community custody as directed by the CCO.

PROVIDED that Mr. Wheeler shall remain under the supervision of the DOC and explicitly follow conditions established by that agency during the term of his community custody. Violation of any of the above conditions shall result in sanctions as deemed appropriate by the DOC and may result in the termination of this conditional commutation as provided below. The Department may require Mr. Wheeler to perform affirmative acts deemed appropriate to monitor compliance with the conditions and may issue warrants or detain Mr. Wheeler if he violates a condition.

ADDITIONALLY PROVIDED that in the event Mr. Wheeler is convicted anywhere at any time of any offense the elements of which would classify the crime as a gross misdemeanor or felony in the state of Washington or violates the conditions of this conditional commutation as determined by the Governor, this conditional commutation is revoked and the sentence of the court reinstated, whereupon Mr. Wheeler will be immediately returned to a corrections facility as the Secretary of the DOC deems appropriate. The DOC shall provide a written report to the Governor regarding any violation of this conditional commutation. A written notice of the Governor's intent to revoke the conditional commutation will be mailed to the most recent address Mr. Wheeler has provided to the Office of the Governor

The hearing officer shall present findings of fact and a transcript of the hearing to the Governor for the Governor's final and conclusive decision on whether Mr. Wheeler has violated the conditions of this conditional commutation.

ADDITIONALLY PROVIDED that Mr. Wheeler may be detained pending judicial disposition of any new criminal charge or a final determination of whether a condition of this conditional commutation has been violated if the Governor determines there are reasonable grounds to believe he has violated the above conditions of this conditional commutation, reason to be concerned that he would pose a risk to any person or to the community, or that there is a possibility that Mr. Wheeler may abscond if not detained. If detained, Mr. Wheeler will be provided a preliminary hearing as promptly as convenient after arrest, to determine whether there are reasonable grounds to believe he has violated the above conditions.

The National Anthem was performed by the Ballard High School Concert Choir led by Ms. Courtney Rowley. The President led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. The prayer was offered by Father Steve Werner, St. Patrick Catholic Parish, Pasco.

Father Werner: "Let us pray. Creator and Ruler of the universe, we give You thanks for the beauty and richness of our state, from the arid Snake River Canyon to the temperate rainforest of the western Olympic Peninsula. From the Salmo-Priest Wilderness Area to the Willapa National Wildlife Refuge; from Mount Adams to Mount Baker; from the Blues Mountains to the San Juan Islands; from the waves of grain on the Palouse to the waves of the ocean on the Pacific Coast; from the Spokane Valley to the Puget Sound; from the Columbia River's entrance near Northport to its delta near Ilwaco.

You entrusted Your world to us as a gift. Help us to care for it and all people, that we may live in right relationship--with You, with ourselves, with one another, and with creation.

You created human beings in Your image and likeness. Help us to imitate your love for the human family by recognizing that we are all connected. To our brothers and sisters around our state, around our nation, around our world, and to past and future generations.

Giver of wisdom and love, You breathe life in us and guide us. Help us to hear the cry of those in need, and the cry of creation, so that we may care for our common home.

Help us as a state to be merciful as You are merciful. May all who live in poverty be nourished, sheltered, clothed and cared for. May families be strengthened, and workers who support those families receive just compensation and treatment. May all children have access to a quality education. May the immigrant, refugee and unborn be welcomed. May the physically and mentally ill receive adequate medical care, and the healthy have access to preventative care. May the imprisoned be rehabilitated. May the elderly and vulnerable be revered and respected.

Help us to live according to Your vision, stirring to action the hearts of all—individuals and families, communities of faith and goodwill, and civil and political leaders.

Spirit of God, in Your goodness, guide those in authority. Bless our Governor and the servants of our state who are engaged in the noble profession of legislation for the common good of all.

Give them wisdom in all of their decision-making, so that people throughout our state may enjoy freedom, security and peace.

Amen.”

The President introduced the Governor Jay Inslee

STATE OF THE STATE

Governor Inslee: “Good afternoon and thank you, Father Werner, for those inspirational words. And thank you to the Ballard High School Concert Choir for that beautiful rendition of a most beautiful anthem.”

“Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Madam Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, honored officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, tribal leaders, local government officials, members of our Consular Corps and my fellow Washingtonians:

It is an honor to stand here once again to talk about the great state of Washington.

And I do consider it a tremendous privilege to serve as governor of the most innovative, the most forward-thinking, and most dynamic state in the nation.

And I couldn’t do this job without the incredible support of the people who are a constant reminder of why everything we do here matters: My family, Trudi, my sons, and my three grandchildren. Thank you, Trudi.

Now since we all last met here, we have celebrated some big moments in the state of Washington. And I’d like to begin today by just taking a moment to highlight some of these.

We witnessed a new milestone in space exploration. Remember those incredible photos of Pluto we saw last year? We know how that spacecraft got there. Because nine years ago, brilliant propulsion engineers over at Aerojet Rocketdyne in Redmond, Washington were working on the rockets for the New Horizons mission.

And now we’re at the forefront with companies like Blue Origin and Space X. They’ve brought the future of space travel to our state, successfully launching and landing rockets over the past year. It’s exciting that these companies recognize that the greatest aerospace workers in the world are found right here in the state of Washington.

We’ve saluted the accomplishments of amazing educators like Jennifer Cullison, a science teacher from Woodland High School in Clark County. She was named a Claes Nobel Educator of the Year. Isn’t it great this prestigious honor was given to one of our own outstanding, hard-working teachers? Please join me in welcoming Jennifer and thanking her for her achievements.

We also celebrated the nation’s oldest working registered nurse, Seesee Rigney, who is still practicing at 90 years of age. If you want to be inspired, if any of you Legislators get tired a little bit during session, go down to see Seesee making the rounds at Tacoma General Hospital, where she has been working for nearly 70 years.

Now we’ve also had some sad moments over the past year in our state. For me, one of those moments was when we said goodbye to Washington State University President Elson Floyd.

Elson was one of my most-trusted advisers. He played a key role in shaping my administration. And I miss him. And I know we all miss him. But his legacy will live on in our state’s second medical school, a school that will carry his name.

And I hope you’ll honor again Elson’s widow, Carmenta, for her individual help in education in our state as well. Carmenta, thank you for accepting my invitation here today. Thank you. Thank you.

We also lost a member of our Washington State National Guard in Afghanistan last week, Staff Sergeant Matthew McClintock. Our thoughts our prayers are with his family, especially his wife and infant son in Des Moines. Please join me in a moment of silence to honor his sacrifice and his service.

Thank you.

One year ago, I stood here and said it was time to reinvest in ourselves, to reinvest in our future, to reinvest in our children’s future. And to do these things, we knew then we’d have to work in a bipartisan way. And let’s be honest — that’s not always easy.

But I’m happy to say that we did exactly that. We accomplished some big things last year in a bipartisan fashion, like transportation.

Remember back in the fall of 2014, there were those who thought we ought to just fix a few potholes and call it good.

But I didn’t give up. And I continued working together with the House and the Senate, with Republicans and Democrats, with business and labor. And together, we passed a $16 billion package, the largest, and the greenest, transportation package in the history of the state of Washington.

We also authorized another $15 billion for Sound Transit light rail expansion.

And not only will this help in congestion relief, but this package supports 200,000 family-wage jobs across our state.

We’ve been out formally kicking off these projects. I’ve been to Everett, Tacoma, and tomorrow, I’ll be in Vancouver, celebrating the projects funded by this package. And we were able to get that done because we worked together.

Speaking of investments, let’s talk about the most important investment we know we can make, and that’s in our children. Last year we put an additional $2.3 billion in early learning, K through 12 and higher education funding and we did it on a bipartisan basis. Since 2013, education funding in our state has increased by 35 percent.

I believe it is altogether fitting and proper we take a moment to recognize this incredible investment. We should be proud that we have made the largest dollar-amount investment in education in the history of the state of Washington. This is a significant achievement.

At the same time, no one should believe we’re done. We have more work to do, and I’ll talk about that in a moment. But we have taken major steps that will have major impacts in the lives of our children.

We’ve given nearly 7,000 more children access to high-quality early education over the past three years.

We’ve provided funding for every child to have all-day kindergarten. This and early learning were some of my highest priorities because they are critical educational opportunities that come along only once in the life of a child.

Of all the things we do, I believe this will have the most impact in our communities, and do the most to close the opportunity gap.

And I believe this because in our state, every single child deserves a great education in our public schools. Every single child.

We’ve reduced class sizes in our kindergarten-through-third grade classrooms.

And because we know that a high-quality teacher is the single most important asset in every classroom, we provided funding for more teacher mentoring opportunities, especially for new teachers.

And we were able to provide them with a modest and fully justified cost-of-living adjustment, the first since 2008.

We also did something to make paying for college easier on family budgets.

SECOND DAY, JANUARY 12, 2016

2016 REGULAR SESSION

Isn't it great we're the only state in the United States that passed a tuition cut this year for our students? I think this has been a good thing.

Republicans had a great idea to do that. And I gladly give them credit.

I also gladly give Democrats credit for coming in and saying that we ought to cut tuition for everyone, including for students at our community and technical colleges. And together, we found a way to pay for this. So this is something everyone in this chamber, I believe, can celebrate.

And finally, we restored funding for one of our most precious public assets, our state parks. It was heartbreaking to have to even consider having to close these parks.

You know, one day last year I stopped down at Twanoh State Park on Hood Canal and there was this family just frolicking with this young child in the water on this little beach, this little swim area. And when I saw it, it really took me back to my own childhood, when my dad and mom would throw us in the back of the station wagon and take us out to Twanoh for the day or if we were lucky maybe the weekend.

And just knowing this tradition will continue is extremely gratifying, and it keeps with the spirit of one of our state's biggest outdoor recreation proponents, my friend, the late Doug Walker. Doug's deep love of Washington's wilderness will continue to be felt through the impact of his philanthropic efforts and his work on the Blue Ribbon Task Force on Parks and Outdoor Recreation. Our thoughts are with the Walker family as they mourn his recent passing.

Finally, we gave state employees their first wage increase since 2008, and I'd like to take a moment to speak directly to our state employees.

A lot of you are doing really great work. I was happy to finally be able to get you a modest raise.

Under my Results Washington initiative, our state has become a national leader in using performance management strategies to improve government. This fellow named John Shook, he's known for being the godfather of lean management in the country, and he's told us that he believes Washington is at the very forefront of this effort in the country. And we know that thousands of you are showing the world how the public sector can use lean thinking to manage growing workloads, to increase efficiency and improve quality. I commend you for that.

And those of you on the front lines of our state agencies really do important work. In part of that effort is that we hold ourselves to the highest standards. So if the public trust is violated, we blow the whistle on it, and we provide absolute accountability. And that is what is happening with the sentencing errors that went on for 13 years at the Department of Corrections.

Now you are often the first ones to see when something is not working right. That's why you should feel empowered to bring these things to management's attention and know that you are being heard. And I expect all state employees, and especially your managers, to act responsibly in this regard, and you can expect that those who do not will be held accountable.

We always have to remember that our core mission is serving the people of Washington. And every single thing we do ought to reflect that mission.

Now, I came into office focused on creating jobs and growing our economy. It's why I've pushed for these investments in education, in transportation, and in our quality of life. So let's look at how we're doing.

I'm pleased to report that Washington continues to rank in the top five states in the country in job growth.

We have the fastest GDP growth in the nation, more than twice the national growth rate.

And over the past few years, Washington exports grew a whopping 20 percent more than any other state. California, New York, Texas, we beat them all.

Look, I've been focused on jobs since I took this office. So it's very gratifying to be able to say that we have added nearly a quarter million jobs since 2013.

There are more than 30,000 people working today in the building trades sector than there were three years ago. And I'm so glad they are able to get up every day and go to good-paying jobs, and help us build our economy.

And although our economic growth has not been uniform, we do know that unemployment in all our state's counties is now, for the first time in eight years, back in the single digits.

Folks, there is a lot of good economic news in our state these days. And it means that we are doing something right.

And we should have confidence, because we know what we've already achieved together in these past three years.

So with all of us gathered here, I'd like to talk about what I think our business now is for the next 60 days. Between now and March 10th, there are four things that must get done for our state.

First, we have a serious statewide teacher shortage from Kennewick to Kent, from Yakima to Everett. All told, we need more than 7,000 teachers in our schools.

Now, I've proposed a way to do this. It's a small but important first step to address a very real problem.

To recruit and retain teachers, my plan would raise their beginning salary from just under $36,000 to $40,000 per year. Nearly 8,800 beginning teachers would see a raise next year under this proposal.

Then, to help make all teacher salaries more competitive, my plan also provides a minimum 1 percent raise to all other teachers. It also increases funding for our teacher mentoring programs, so teachers in their first or second year on the job have the support they need and don't end up leaving the profession, which half of them are now doing.

And I propose we pay for it through elimination of some tax breaks whose benefits simply do not outweigh our obligations to our students, to our teachers and to our schools.

And for those who wonder how we're going to get this done, here's a reminder what we've done before. In the past three years, we've closed tax breaks on a bipartisan basis that generate $1.1 billion over six years. We did it because we recognized we had some critical needs in our state. And we can do it again.

And the reason is pretty simple. Because it doesn't matter if we have the best mentors for our teachers, or the smallest class sizes in the nation. If nobody is standing in front of the classroom, we've got zip.

The second thing we need to focus on is last year's record-setting wildfires.

A million acres of our state were scorched an area larger than the state of Delaware. More than 300 homes primarily in Eastern Washington were destroyed. And tragically, three firefighters lost their lives.

I've proposed using our Budget Stabilization Account to cover the $180 million dollars in costs related to battling these wildfires. It's exactly what these reserves were meant for.

Additionally, I've proposed using $29 million dollars from the Disaster Response Account to help communities recover from these devastating fires and to help to ensure we are better prepared to fight them in the upcoming fire season.

The third thing we need to focus on is our mental health system. We know this, during the Great Recession, the state made devastating cuts to services for our most vulnerable, and we continue to be hobbled by those cuts.

And while we have acted together to add more than $700 million dollars to our state's mental health system, we still have significant work to do.

It is not acceptable to let people with severe mental illness languish in our emergency rooms and in our jails.

In the last legislative session, we added hundreds of treatment beds, psychologists and psychiatrists, nurses and other staff to get people treated more quickly.

My December supplemental budget also included a number of investments to keep people out of our hospitals and keep them safely in their communities, with their family and their friends. I think this is important.

After all, only three percent of the people who access mental health services in our state go to our state hospitals. So the other 97 percent are served in our communities, and we need to make sure that we have the appropriate services in place for them.

These aren't nameless, faceless people. They are our loved ones. They are our colleagues. They are our friends. We're talking about the elderly person with dementia, or the college freshman who experiences a psychotic break, or the wounded veteran with a traumatic brain injury. And we need to make sure they get the treatment to stabilize them and to help them.

This is why my budget proposal funds four new 16-bed crisis triage facilities and three new mobile crisis teams across the state to reach these folks in need.

But all of these investments we've made requires skilled staff to set them up and keep them running. Right now, we know we have a serious staffing shortage, particularly at our state psychiatric hospitals.

We need to ensure we have enough doctors, nurses, social workers and treatment staff so that everyone is safe and that's patients and staff.

These are investments we ought to have confidence in, because we know when people get the mental health treatment they need, they can improve dramatically. People walk out of Western State Hospital and they go on to have great, productive lives.

So we have urgent short-term needs. But we also need to take the long view on how to organize and deliver a stronger mental health care system for our citizens. That's why my budget includes funding for just this purpose.

Our aim is simple here: timely access to high-quality treatment in the appropriate setting.

We've all known someone struggling with mental illness. Let's get this job done for these folks this year.

Now, let's talk about our fourth pressing need. We need to put in place a framework for our future K through 12 education investments. This is absolutely necessary this session.

We are on track. I convened a bipartisan group of legislators who met during the summer and fall to develop this framework for the next, the most complex, part of our K through 12 financing plan. Legislation has been introduced that contains the first step so we can be successful when we return next year.

And I'm confident we'll take the second step next year because legislators have met every deadline they've set for themselves. Our next deadline requires the legislature to fully fund basic education in the 2017 session, and there's no reason we can't do that too. And we're not going to just fix a few potholes, we're going to finish the job. That means actually financing these critical investments so our kids and grandkids get the education they deserve.

And we are going to do this not just because it's a constitutional imperative, not just because it's a judicial decree, but because it's the right thing to do for our kids. That's why we are going to do this.

I'd also like to talk today about other issues that engage people beyond this chamber, and are important enough for a statewide conversation.

There are a variety of ways our state can move forward, and one way is the voters take things into their own hands through the initiative process.

And first and foremost is the issue of working families not being able to keep up, even as our economy improves.

There's a simple fact, our economy is not working for everyone. On the one hand, we have the biggest boomtown in North America. On the other hand, we have working families and communities falling behind even though they're working hard and even though they are doing a great job.

I'm seeing Washingtonians hard-working people in every corner of this state struggling with rising housing prices, with student loan debt, with medical bills.

That's why I'm supporting the initiative that was filed yesterday that phases in a true minimum wage and provides paid sick leave for hard-working Washingtonians.

I stand on this rock-solid belief: if you work 40 hours a week, you deserve a wage that puts a roof over your head and food on the table. Period. And you shouldn't have to give up a day's pay if you or your kids get sick.

But it is not just minimum-wage workers who are falling behind in this economy. The problem is that most workers are not sharing in the fruits of their own increased productivity. Workers are producing more goods and services per hour than at any time in our state's history.

In a nutshell: People are working harder, they're working longer hours and they're getting paid less in real dollars.

Now, this is not true for corporate executives. The CEO-to-worker pay ratio was 20-to-1 in 1965. Today it's more than 300-to-1.

And look, I'm fine paying for exceptional results and investing in talent. I believe in that. But I also believe that these gaps and practices should be transparent.

I think the State Investment Board can help.

As a shareholder in companies, the board currently votes against executive compensation packages if they do not align with the company's financial performance.

I've asked the investment board to go further, and exercise its voting authority to reduce the widening pay gap between CEOs and their workers.

And I'm encouraging the board to promote this policy with other states and institutional investors.

Small steps like this can be the beginnings of bigger journeys. I started a different journey last week with my new executive order on public health and firearms.

You know, more people in Washington are dying from firearm fatalities than even from traffic accidents. We have a public health crisis and we need a public health solution. Every single day, someone in our state dies from gun violence. We can and must reduce accidental shootings, gun crime and suicide by gun.

My executive order will strengthen the background check system approved by voters in 2014. It will also allow us to collect information that will drive smart, data-driven solutions to gun violence. And it implements the statewide Suicide Prevention Plan recommended by a task force I convened.

And no matter how this conversation advances, these are important actions that we can take now.

Now we also need to continue to take action on protecting our clean air and our clean water, particularly from the threat of carbon pollution.

In my mind's eye, the older I get, the more beautiful Washington becomes. Our verdant and healthy place for our kids to grow up is just a wonder. So I'm glad that the needle is moving on this because the problem of carbon pollution is not going away.

SECOND DAY, JANUARY 12, 2016

2016 REGULAR SESSION

Everyone knows I'm a technology optimist about this. We need and are getting more of our homegrown leaders and innovators devising solutions to this problem.

I'm also heartened by the engagement we're getting from the business community as our Department of Ecology drafts its Clean Air Rule. People are robustly participating in the process. They're looking for solutions. And I'm really excited about that progress, and I invite everyone to get involved as part of this.

And in this effort, we know we're not alone. The world is moving on this, and so are we.

Three years ago, I stood up here as the newly inaugurated Governor and said that as Washington moves forward, we need to remember who we are as a state.

And looking at what we've accomplished together, I believe we've stayed true to the values we cherish as Washingtonians.

We've remained confident in our ability to innovate, because we're continually recognized for the groundbreaking things our businesses and our universities are doing.

We've remained confident in the brightness of our future because we've invested record amounts of money in our children's education — which is the truest measure of our commitment.

We've remained confident in the inclusiveness that has built our economy and today is building our communities. Whether it's at big companies or at small businesses, we're one of the most successful economies in the world because we embrace diversity and because we welcome all people to our great state.

This is a confident state. It deserves a confident Legislature. It deserves a confident Governor. And I have to tell you, as a fifth-generation Washingtonian, I stand here today with confidence.

I see the greatness of this state. I feel it. And I believe it. It's who we are.

And that is how we're going to approach this session. Not with temerity. But with confidence. With recognition of the depths of our challenges, and with confidence that together we can solve them.

So now together let's get to work. And Go Hawks."

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE NO. 732

Pursuant to Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434-379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 732 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 363,126 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 11,061 signatures was taken from those submitted;
2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 9,187 valid signatures, 1,837 signatures that were invalid and 37 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;

3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (64) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;
4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (62,418) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;
5. We determined the maximum allowable number of duplicate pairs of signatures on the petition (54,336) by subtracting the sum of the number of signatures required by Article 11, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution (246,372) and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;
6. We determined the expected number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (50) by multiplying the square of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;
7. We determined the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (39) by subtracting 1.65 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and
8. The number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample.

Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 732 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 21st day of January, 2016.

KIM WYMAN, Secretary of State
SEAL

SENATE RESOLUTION

By Senator Hasegawa

WHEREAS, Aviation pioneer Wong Tsoo became a naval cadet at age 12 in his native country of China and traveled to England in 1909 at age 16 to advance his naval studies before going on to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to study aeronautics; and

WHEREAS, Upon becoming one of the first graduates of MIT's aeronautics program, Wong Tsoo was hired as an engineer directly by Bill Boeing in 1916 at his newly incorporated "Pacific Aero Products Company" in Seattle, the predecessor to what would later become the Boeing Company; and

WHEREAS, Wong Tsoo extensively redesigned the company's Model C seaplane, a biplane trainer that had been passed over by the United States Navy until the government's World War I order for 56 of his redesigned aircraft established Boeing as a profitable production company; and

WHEREAS, Without Wong Tsoo's careful eye for detail on the Model C project it is uncertain if the Boeing Company would have become the corporate giant that it is today, employing more than 80,000 people in Washington and about 164,000 worldwide; and

WHEREAS, Wong Tsoo returned to China in 1917 to become who many consider to be the "father of aviation" in China, with a hand in designing about 30 planes and rising to the position of chief secretary of the China National Aviation Corporation and professor of aviation at the National Cheng Kung University in Taiwan before his death in 1965; and

WHEREAS, Wong Tsoo's legacy has been passed on through his students, many of whom went on to distinguished careers with some of the largest aerospace companies in the world; and

WHEREAS, United States aviation history may have largely forgotten the pioneering contributions of Wong Tsoo if not for the extensive research efforts of Key Donn, a Senior System Architect at Boeing and past president of the Boeing Asian-American Professional Association; and

WHEREAS, Thanks to the efforts of Mr. Donn, a permanent display paying tribute to Wong Tsoo is now in the historical "Red Barn" section of the Museum of Flight in Seattle;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate honor the 100th anniversary of Wong Tsoo's short, but remarkable, tenure with Boeing as its first engineer and his lifetime of achievements to the aviation industry as a whole; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Museum of Flight and to the Taipei Economic and Cultural Office in Seattle for further transmission to the National Cheng Kung University Museum in Tainan, Taiwan.

Senator Hasegawa spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE NO. 735

Pursuant to Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434-379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 735 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 333,040 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 10,124 signatures was taken from those submitted;
2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 8,895 valid signatures, 1,209 signatures that were invalid and 20 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;
3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (52) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;
4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (41,487) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;

NINETEENTH DAY, JANUARY 29, 2016

2016 REGULAR SESSION

5. We determined the maximum allowable number of duplicate pairs of signatures on the petition (45,181) by subtracting the sum of the number of signatures required by Article 11, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution (246,372) and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;
6. We determined the expected number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (42) by multiplying the square of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;
7. We determined the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (31) by subtracting 1.65 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and
8. The number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample.

Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 735 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the Seal of the State of Washington this 26th day of January, 2016

Kim Wyman
Secretary of State

(Mark Neary, Assistant Secretary of State)

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Miss Nicole Buell, Dairy Ambassador of Marysville; Miss Lydia Johnson, Washington State Alternate Dairy Ambassador of Ethel; and Miss Amanda Howe, Washington State Alternate Dairy Ambassador of Lynden who were seated at the rostrum.

The President also welcomed and introduced County Dairy Ambassadors: Miss Jana Plagerman, Whatcom County; Miss Alicia Smaczarz, Lewis County; Miss Grace Kuipers, Skagit County; Miss Becca Bartelheimer, Snohomish County; Miss Ashley Hanson, Inland Northwest; Miss Tiana Peterson, King-Pierce Counties; Miss Caitlin Meek, Grays Harbor; Miss Jessica Stoutjesdyk, Yakima Valley, Miss Pamela Roosma, Whatcom County Alternate; Miss Kaitlyn Meissner, Snohomish County Alternate; Miss Allyson Carothers, Snohomish County Alternate. Miss Katelyn Bank, Yakima Valley Alternate, Miss Natalie Banges, Yakima Valley Alternate. The Dairy Ambassadors were accompanied by their families; representatives from the Washington State Dairy Women; the Washington Dairy Products Commission commissioners and staff; and the Washington State Dairy Federation Board and staff who were all present in the gallery.

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow State Dairy Ambassador, Miss Nicole Buell to address the senate.

MISS NICOLE BUELL, STATE DAIRY AMBASSADOR

Miss Buell: “Good Morning, it’s so wonderful to be speaking with you all here today; my name is Nicole Buell and I am your Washington State Dairy Ambassador. As a dairy ambassador, many assume that I come from a long line of dairy farmers but the truth is I live in the city of Marysville and I have never owned a dairy cow. My passion for the dairy industry grew out of the generosity and support of all our local dairy farmers like the Renevolts who allowed me to show their dairy cows and provided many opportunities to learn how a dairy farm is operated. I witnessed first-hand the dairy farmer’s hard work and commitment to proving all of us with safe and high quality dairy products. Dairy families are just like yours and mine, with husbands, wives, and children. In fact those family dairies own and operate ninety-seven percent of all United States Dairy Farms reassuring that dairy farming in Washington is deeply rooted in family values. These values generate a strong sense of responsibility and community which is reflected in the economic impact that dairy farming has in Washington. Dairy Farms can be found in twenty-nine of Washington’s thirty-nine counties, providing jobs and supporting other businesses in their communities. Statistical values from 2013 show that dairy farms directly generated 6,184 jobs and 12,159 jobs were created as a result of dairy farming. The total combined number of jobs created by dairy farming in Washington was over18,000 which supports Washington’s second largest agricultural commodity and contributes 5.2 billion dollars to Washington’s economy. Therefore where milk goes jobs follow. Jobs follows milk as it moves from the farm to retail and are also created within the supply and services that support the industry. In addition I supporting our economy, dairy farmers invest in the youth which is why they continue to support programs such as WIAA state sports and scholastic achievements, as well as programs like ‘fuel up to play sixty’ which encourage a life style of healthy eating and physical activity. They are also involved in many community outreach programs, such as Northwest Farmers Fighting Hunger and Give a Gallon milk drives. Caring for the air, land, and water is another high priority for dairy farmers. Taking care of the natural resources that we all share. For example, dairy farmers reuse the water on their farms up to eight times, and they invest in new technologies such as methane digesters that can convert manure into electricity, which can then be used to power their homes, their farms, and their communities. Dairy farmers are highly committed to providing for the health and wellbeing of their communities, which is why your local farmers need your continued support. So the next time you go to consume your favorite dairy product, please remember the dairy family that gives sixteen hours or more every single day of the year to support Washington state. I thank you for your time today, and I appreciate the opportunity to speak here on behalf of all the Washington state dairy industry. I’d also like to invite everyone again to join us for some delicious ice cream and cheese in the rotunda at noon. Thank you.”

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced members of the family of late Senator Max Benitz who were seated in the gallery.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Carlyle: "Thank you Mr. President. Mr. President I rise to acknowledge the gracious welcome of my colleagues and provide a modest honoraria in recognition of the distinguished honor of joining this institution. Mr. President I've had the honor of succeeding the indefatigable Jeanne Kohl-Welles and the gracious Helen Sommers in the House and it's a real honor to stand with you and not only join this institution but to do so in their footsteps. In Senator Kohl-Welles' footsteps. Mr. President I have in the caucus rooms, homemade Eltana bagels which are not normal, New York bagels or something fancy like that. They are a small company that I am an investor in in Seattle where we have a handful of stores. But what's special about Eltana bagels is that they have the Jewish soul that comes from Jewish values. We founded this company on this very idea that family values and Jewish values are integral to successful business. And if I may Mr. President great companies like Costco are founded on some of those core principles as is the great company of Starbucks as well. Mr. President my legislative district includes northwest Seattle, the iconic Space Needle and my good friend Senator Ericksen often makes remarks about the shadow of the Space

Needle and sometimes he does so with a little less than a compliment intended. But the fact of the matter is that we are one Washington. And the fact of the matter is that the economy, the social fabric, the cultural values of my district of Seattle, of King County, of our entire state are so united in a deeper sense of commitment to our civic quality of life. For me, Mr. President, a few weeks ago I had a decision to make. And that decision was to join this institution or to seek other opportunities. And I came home that very night in making that decision and something struck me. I walked in and I had one of those deeply personal and spiritual and emotional opportunities where I walked into my home and my wife, Wendy Carlyle, and my four children age 18, 16, 14, and 9 were on the living room floor playing a game of cards. And they were laughing. And it was so deeply moving. And I thought for a moment that the honor of public service in a citizen legislature is profoundly different than being consumed by the challenges of the type of full-time work that serving another body sometimes entails. And so Mr. President, I made a choice at that very moment, that our part-time citizen legislature represented by this institution is not only an honor but it is an opportunity to engage in civic life and we can do so in a way that honors our families. That connects with our children in such a deep way. That allows us to turn off the computers, turn off the noise, and reconnect to our own children. There are a number of members, Senator Mullet, Senator Baumgartner, Senator Pedersen, all of us have four children, and there are others that have of course many. And I find it such a blessing, it's the blessing of my life and it reminds me every day how extraordinary it is to serve in a part-time citizen legislature and to have the quality of life, to be present emotionally and spiritually for your family, for your community, and with that I am so grateful for the opportunity to be with you. I hope you enjoy Eltana's homemade bagels which were made about three hours ago and a small token. Mr. President thank you so much for the gracious and kind welcome."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fain: "Thank you Mr. President I just wanted to also welcome the good senator from the 36th district to the chamber. I appreciate his speech it was very heartfelt, somewhat long, but I've heard from our colleagues in the other chamber that that is not necessarily out of character with this particular member. But I do know that everything you share with this chamber will be both, will be transparent, will be data driven, it'll be authentic, I imagine great courageous conversations, because Mr. President we are so much better than what we've become. But I'm very glad that you are here Senator Carlyle. Welcome to the Senate."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hobbs: "Yeah, I'd like to also welcome the new Senator. You represent your district well, the 36th district, the people there are very verbose, they are very smart people, they will tell you that themselves. They're a proud, strong people, and they will tell you that, over and over again, about their personal lives and struggles, even if you've heard it multiple times. And so, I know the last senator represented the district well, and Senator Carlyle, you are definitely representing your district, so thank you for coming here."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Dammeier: "Thank you Mr. President. I want to follow on the good Senator Fain's words, I had the privilege of serving with Senator Carlyle in the other body for four years and you did a pretty good job, because I can assure you that we are going to have many courageous conversations, but they are going to be incredibly meaningful, and incredibly powerful about incredibly important topics of significant fiduciary responsibilities. So, with all that said, I welcome the good senator and look forward to serving with him.”

NINETEENTH DAY, JANUARY 29, 2016

2016 REGULAR SESSION

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Baumgartner: “I would like to start by reading the definition of hyperbole. If I may? Hyperbole - use of exaggeration as a rhetorical device or figure of speech. Now some might say that we already have too much hyperbole on this Senate floor, but I say we need more. And some might say that any mundane bill could just be addressed for the facts within it, but I like to think that each and every bill should be described as perhaps a great challenge. You know illuminating things such as the invasion at D day, or the great struggle of civil rights, you know it might be moving a comma, might be simply honoring a person, but if we don’t have enough hyperbole, on this Senate floor, the people won’t listen. And I am so excited about what we have happening today, this new member, that I dressed for the occasion, so I would like to welcome my new friend to the Senate with both a celebration of hyperbole and a celebration of plaid. Thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Ericksen: “Thank you Mr. President. Well for those of you who did not have the pleasure at some point in your legislative career to actually serve in the House of Representatives, you will not always appreciate what happens there at two or three in the morning when certain members of the legislature feel the need to speak, for long periods of time, on the House floor. Eloquently yes, but long always. And one of the best, that I shall never forget from my days over in the other chamber was late at night when one gentleman that represented an area that, that great sea of concrete, as we refer to it there in the greater Seattle area, where you’ll have more concrete you can see from towers there, you can see in my entire legislative district. One night he brought to us a new term I hadn’t heard before, and it was a great concept of rural socialism. And he reminded all of us that do not live within the shadow of the Space Needle, that all we are really are rural socialists, just feeding off the graciousness and goodness of the people that live within that great sea of concrete in Seattle, and without them we would be unable to exist because we are dependent upon their graciousness as the socialists that he informed us we truly are in those hither regions of Washington state that only earn and desire to someday live in the concrete jungle. And I must say that I do enjoy those trips you know through Seattle, now most of the time I spend it on I-5 stuck in traffic looking at the Space Needle, which is always enjoyable trying to get out of there as quickly as possible, unless I’m going to a Mariner’s game and it is a great place. And I have to say truly as one of those rural socialists that he talked about so frequently and so eloquently on the House floor I truly, under his tutelage, have come to appreciate and love the Space Needle.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schoesler: “Mr. President, I’ve already reverted to rookie form after that gentleman joined us. I will say unlike his predecessor, we’re not sure if he actually inhaled, we’ll have to find out. The other thing is that I’ve never criticized a member’s gift in this body and the bagels are a wonderful gift, but the suggestion I made a few days ago would have been the ultimate gift. Welcome Senator.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: “Thank you Mr. President. Well, when I was elected, so is now Senator Carlyle, and they didn’t have any training for the senators so I went to the House training, and I being a new legislator was really nervous and at that time, Representative Carlyle, and Representative White, kind of got me by both arms and said we’ll take care of you. It has been a real honor to know you a little bit, but I’m really excited about you being here, simply because we’re going to harass the heck out of you and give you such a bad time and unlike your predecessor I’m glad you haven’t inhaled.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Jayapal: “Thank you Mr. President. I wanted to welcome Senator Carlyle to this body, this is taking me back to a year ago when I got roasted like this here and it’s really great to have you here. The day that I, I think shortly after I announced that I was running for the state Senate, Senator Carlyle, then Representative Carlyle, reached out to me and we had a great conversation at a coffee shop downtown and we talked about how we need to reform the tax system and all of the things that we need to do there and he’s done so much work on that and on accountability issues and it’s really wonderful to have another partner here in the state Senate. And I do have to say I’m so pleased on numerous levels that you made the choice you did. Thank you Senator Carlyle and welcome.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Parlette: “Thank you Mr. President. Well, I’m not sure how I feel about having this new senator here. It’s been called to my attention because I tried to forget it, but now I remember it. I think this new senator, when he was a representative, wrote a letter to the people of Wenatchee, and it was in the Wenatchee World about some building there, and he never told me. And normally we learned, as a legislator, the rule of no surprises when you visit somebody’s district, or if you send a letter to the biggest newspaper in the area. So, I still haven’t gotten over that, but maybe he will, maybe he will give me two of these. Nope, he only gave me one. And the other thing is, I had the wonderful opportunity to serve with, in the House of Representative, for four years, Helen Sommers. I had the wonderful opportunity to be ranking on a committee that Senator Kohl-Welles chaired. We had a wonderful relationship. I did with both of those ladies. One spoke a lot, the other, Representative Sommers, did not speak a lot, but when she spoke, we all listened. I think that’s advice, I’m not trying to be patronizing, even though that letter to the editor of the people of Wenatchee, the good people of Wenatchee, was sort of that way. But I look forward to working together with the new senator, I’m sure we have a lot to learn from each other. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Nelson: “Well I also rise welcoming the new senator and he will be a good addition to this body, with a lot of thoughtfulness and a lot of intellect. But I hope from your welcome Senator Carlyle, you’ve learned that we are a body that also will give lessons to new members and I hope today is when you will remember, welcome to the Senate.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Carlyle, your reputation comes before, along with you about the length of your speeches which fits right into that district and your predecessor. It is one of those things that has caused us to implement the three minute rule on many more occasions than my first twenty-five years that I’ve served here. But I do appreciate the fact that you did give me a deck of cards, because now with you in caucus, I expect I’ll have a lot more time to play cards. So something to do. Welcome to the Senate, we appreciate the gifts, thank you very much.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Takko: “Well I’d like to also as the good gentleman in the back came over with me, give a little gift and say a few words. Unlike Senator Carlyle, I didn’t have a spiritual moment, I had a senior moment and I realized I probably belong in the Senate. I have a feeling I’m going to have a good time over here. I did bring a gift for everyone and it kind of represents my district and if you don’t mind, I’d like to take a few moments to explain what the gift is and why it represents the district. I’ll try not to be as lengthy as Senator Carlyle. A lot of you think of the 19th district as just being a lot of trees, which is true, we have a big timber industry down there with many pulp and paper mills and saw mills but there’s more to the district than that. What I’ve brought was some craisins, we grow a lot of cranberries in the 19th district, 1.5 million pounds on average each year, and we also have large processing plants down there, so enjoy your craisins. Also, I have in there a bar of soap, and you’re probably wondering ‘what’s a bar of soap doing in there?’ One thing that you probably don’t realize about my district, and probably many others, is we’ve got businesses that make a lot of products that we don’t even realize, and then down at the beach I have a soap company called Harmony Soapworks that makes a lot of soap and you probably haven’t heard about it because almost all their product is shipped to Japan. When we talk about Washington state being one of the, that exports is one of the biggest things we have going for us, we export a lot of things out of our district besides lumber and timer, we also export the soap, crabs, there’s a lot of things going on in my district. Also in there is a can of smoked oysters and one factoid that I really enjoy telling people, is one quarter of all the oysters in the United States come from my district. And it employs, I don’t know how many, but it’s a huge employer in the 19th district and something, Mr. President, you might be interested in, many people refer to the oyster as nature’s Viagra. So I hope you’ll enjoy it. So with that, I’m very pleased to be over here. I’ve been warmly welcomed and I look forward to serving a long time. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hargrove: “Yes, Senator Takko you have very big shoes to fill, because your predecessor Senator Hatfield was also known to all of us as Mr. Furious, so you’re going to need to learn how to hold your breath, have the veins stick out on your neck, your face get very red as you scream at us about something. So unless you can do that, you’re going to be a cut below your predecessor. So I’m imploring you to take lessons. I think he’s in the wings, he might actually be able to share some of that with you today. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Dammeier: “I’m not sure, but I thought as I was listening to the good senator from the 19th speech, I thought after his reference, in conjunction with his reference to Viagra, which I wasn’t quite familiar with, I thought that he said the 19th district also exports crabs and that they have a lot of things going on in there so I’m not quite sure I want to visit the 19th Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Liias: “I appreciate the fact that Senator Takko included the soap because my mother would tell us that him and Senator Dammeier could wash their mouths out with it at this point. I rise to welcome Senator Takko. Senator Takko is actually half Finnish, and for the rest of you in the chamber, that means he’s fifty percent better than you. Senator Carlyle also teases me a lot about the amount of time I spend in his district because I do enjoy beautiful downtown Seattle, but truth be told, in the course of my life, I’ve probably spent the most time outside my district in the 19th. My grandparents live in Astoria, Oregon and so weekends, every summer, driving down through Longview, and along the coast, enjoying the beautiful scenery that Senator Takko’s described, I’m excited to have someone who’s spent almost as much time in Astoria as I have, here representing the people of the coast and I know we look forward to welcoming Senator Takko. The one final note I’ll make is last fall I had an opportunity to go on an extended trip to learn about climate change and some other things in Denmark, and I had the great fortune of spending six hours in the Toronto airport with Senator Takko, one on one, and if any of you are wondering if he can talk continuously for six hours, I’m here to report he can, actually. And he had a lot of great stories to tell, I encourage you to ask him about his travels. He’s traveled to I think every continent on the planet at this point, or maybe he’s missed Antarctica, but he’s trying to get there. He’s got a lot of great stories and we welcome you to the chamber.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hobbs: “You know I just want to take this moment, I don’t know if you noticed, but I’ve been kind of depressed this session. Many of you may not know this, maybe you do but my ten year marriage with my session wife, we’re not together anymore, we had to go our separate ways, apparently he wanted to have a better life and a better paycheck, I don’t know. But things are starting to look up, I’m happier again, I’ve met a new person. It’s not session wife stage but it’s a good relationship. You know our new senator from the 19th district, I hope it blossoms. Now there are some differences, and people have made some comments, they said this is kind of a spring autumn relationship or spring winter relationship, there are some difference, I mean he’s not the snappy dresser like the previous senator, he takes the fashion sense of the 24th district. He’s not as angry, so he’s calm all the time and I appreciate that because he’s kind of an old fashioned guy. In fact, he’s so old fashioned that he smells like my grandfather, with the old aftershave to try to make up for his age. But I welcome you to the senate, I’m glad that you and I probably vote the same, I hope that you’ll speak up more in caucus and maybe be angry. We need that angry person in there. As you know we had a bad cop good cop, and I can’t be the bad cop, maybe you can be the bad cop I don’t know. But welcome to the Senate and I’m looking forward to the gifts.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Angel: “We go back a long ways, back to county government, and then we worked together on local government as chair and ranking member and I’ll tell you what there’s got to be something with this guy that I think we all need to watch because he ends up being friendly and approachable and he's always got a smile on his face so I think we better watch and see what he's up to. Thank you Mr. President."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Darneille: "Thank you Mr. President, and thank you Senator Conway, you know with all these mentions of age I stand with some trepidation about making my remarks about welcoming Senator Takko to the Senate because it is in fact true and if you believe in the zodiac and read the predictions every day in the paper, you might think that two people born on the same day would be very in tune with one another and quite alike. In fact, Senator Takko did have the good fortune to be born on my birthday a year later, so all these messages about age and hair and everything else that's come up, just remember Senator Takko you can always say at least I'm not as old as Senator Darneille. But in the House when we worked together, we had the great good fortune of being the chair and co-chair of what was called the general government appropriations committee. Now you have to kind of look at this scenario, this is the first year of the recession, we had just gotten our jobs, we come into session and we find out the very first day that there are eighty agencies of general government and we have to make a proposal to the chair of the Ways & Means committee by the Friday of the first week on how to cut sixty-five million dollars out of those eighty agencies, and it's just sort of a first round of the many cuts we would have to make. So we took upon ourselves the task of meeting with our staff from the Ways & Means committee starting that very first night and every night during that session and we had the reputation for having had the first time when we met after midnight, the first week of the session with caucus staff. So we took our job seriously, but during the course of all those nights over all that long session, my office was in the far reaches of the legislative building and Senator Takko insisted on taking the stairs and so he often would arrive to the meetings late and I can't really demonstrate because of the condition of my knee Mr. President, but he would often enter the office where we've already been working on the issues of the day, the line item budget issues of the day, and quite like a gazelle, would enter with a big flourish, his arms thrown to each side and leaping into my office. So I expect we'll see quite a bit of this gazelle-like activity over the course of Senator Takko's service as a Senator, in the Senate. I'm glad he's here so we have another July 9th birthday to celebrate at home because we won't ever be in session again on our birthday. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Warnick: "Thank you. I can't tell this body how relieved I am that Senator Takko is here. I had a great working relationship with that sometimes angry man that came in and was the ranking on the ag committee but when I heard he wasn't coming back and I heard that Senator Carlyle might be coming this direction too, I thought oh my gosh what am I going to do if they put Senator Carlyle on the ag committee. How am I going to teach him what the east side of the state is all about? So when I heard that Senator Takko was coming in and he was going to be serving on my committee, it's kind of like an old home week role reversal from our House committees but very very pleased that he's here and very pleased that we're working together again. But I'm also disappointed that we don't have salmon rolls here or the salmon balls because you make those very very well too. So someday I'd like to ask for that present. So welcome to the Senate."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: "Thank you Mr. President. Well all I have is one short question, do you sing? Because I'll tell you, I went to Taiwan with Senator Hatfield and that guy can sing and so I just want to make sure that we have somebody that will lighten it up with a song. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Ericksen: "Thank you Mr. President. Well it's great to be, it's terrible to hear the news about the gentleman from the 44th district, about the separation anxiety he's currently going through over here and also the bad news about the anger that was present over in the Democratic caucus room last year from the former Senator from the area. Hate to hear about that kind of stuff. And of course Senator Takko is definitely not going to be the man of anger but I do believe he's probably the most interesting man in the legislature in many ways. He can run that commercial for Dos Equis and I think it's what's going to unite and be so good at those late night sessions for the Democrat caucus will be when Senator Takko breaks out his big game hunting films in the Democrat caucus and shows the other members of the caucus how to field gut a deer and some good hunting videos of taking down large game and nothing I think will bring that caucus together more and ease the tension and get rid of the anger like those slide shows of big game hunts all around the world. So it's great to have you here, you're going to be a great senator, we're going to enjoy having you in this body, so feel free to come over and show us a slide show also sometime of those big game hunts."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fain: "Thank you Mr. President. I just wanted to sincerely thank Senator Carlyle from the 36th district for scheduling his gifts for the floor with me ahead of the time. It was really quite courteous of him to do that so that I could plan for today's floor action, I mean welcome to the Senate Senator Takko it's great to have you here."

Senator Rolfes: "Thank you Mr. President, so I wanted to say that I, that we, had concerns about Senate Bill 6618, which is called the 'voter fraud protection act.' I'll just add to my earlier comments by saying it seems like it should be the 'candidate fraud protection act' and that the bill should be referred to the Government Operations and Security Committee. We don't know why it was referred to Accountability and Reform, but we will defer to the majority's judgment on that."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Ranker: "Thank you, Mr. President. I'd like to take a moment to honor a senator who passed away yesterday, Senator Harriet Spanel, who represented the 40th district that I now represent, right before me. Harriet was a very dear friend and a mentor of mine, and to many of you as well. She was a tireless advocate for children, for women, for the environment, and particularly for Puget Sound. She was a warrior for Puget Sound, advancing some of our strongest oil spill protection laws, habitat protection laws, making sure that our fisheries were sustainable, that the jobs associated with those fisheries were sustained into the future. I know that I, and all of us, will deeply miss her."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fraser: "Well thank you, Mr. President. I am among those who are very deeply saddened by the passing of former Senator Harriet Spanel, and former state Representative. I worked very closely with her. She's left a tremendous legacy in natural resources and salmon recovery, fisheries management, the crabbing industry, oil spill prevention and response. It goes on and on and she also left a large imprint on higher education policy, very dedicated to higher education. She was a math major and so she was excellent at evaluating fiscal notes, was very collaborative and always lived up to the highest standards of democracy and collaboration here. She'll be greatly missed and I hope she'll be well-remembered. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Pearson: "Thank you, Mr. President. As senator for the east part of Skagit County, I got to know former Senator Spanel way back when I was a congressional liaison, and found her just amazing. Her wealth of knowledge regarding fisheries, just a tremendous resource to go to. The folks in my district, especially the Wildcat Steelhead Club, they are really going to miss Harriet for always attending their barbeques, but always being that friend to fisheries and our state's lost a wonderful lady and I'll truly miss her. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Carlyle: "Thank you, Mr. President. I also rise, I had the great honor of being Senator Spanel's paper boy. I grew up on Mason Street in Bellingham, she lived a block away and she was a dear friend and a dear mentor and I just adored her and her family. It's a moment of deep sadness for the Bellingham community. Anyone who grew up in that area knew that she carried extraordinary moral authority in the community politically, socially, economically, all kinds of roles in the community really. I miss her, and deeply appreciate the role she played. Thank you Mr. President."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Parlette: "Thank you, Mr. President. So when I first became the caucus chair for the Republican Caucus at that time, Harriet was the caucus chair for the Democrats. She was so good to work with and really a good role model for many of us. So I'm happy she's in peace and I feel very fortunate to have had that personal relationship with her. Thank you, Mr. President."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Chase: "Thank you, Mr. President. You know we hear about Harriet as a leader in the legislature, but Harriet was also a leader in the peace movement in this state. For years and years she was out organizing, talking to people about antiwar issues, nuclear issues, she was an amazing person, she was a champion and I would like to say a drum major for peace and justice. And we will miss her."

"PART 1

FINDINGS AND INTENT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. The legislature finds that local governments that borrow small amounts or access capital markets infrequently can have difficulty accessing low-cost financing for their essential public infrastructure projects. Competition has increased between prior efforts to finance essential public infrastructure projects with state tax resources and other growing essential demands on those same state taxes. This competition has eroded the reliability of state tax funded public infrastructure financing programs that in turn has created uncertainty and delay in improving local public infrastructure. The state's excellent credit standing and frequency of access to capital markets allows the state to issue bonds at a significantly lower total cost than can be obtained by many local governments. Therefore, the legislature intends to improve access and reliability to low-cost financing for local government infrastructure projects by authorizing public works bonds when local governments can demonstrate: (1) The importance of the project; (2) their difficulties accessing existing private credit markets for borrowings at reasonable interest rates; and (3) the ability to reliably repay their share of the state's total cost of retiring the public works bonds.

((((8))) (9) "Technical assistance" means training and other services provided to local governments to: (a) Help such local governments plan, apply, and qualify for loans and financing guarantees from the board, and (b) help local governments improve their ability to plan for, finance, acquire, construct, repair, replace, rehabilitate, and maintain public facilities.

PART 2

Sec. 202. RCW 43.155.040 and 1985 c 446 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

The board may:

(1) Accept from any state or federal agency, loans or grants for the planning or financing of any public works project and enter into agreements with any such agency concerning the loans or grants;

(2) Provide technical assistance to local governments;

(3) Accept any gifts, grants, or loans of funds, property, or financial or other aid in any form from any other source on any terms and conditions which are not in conflict with this chapter;

(4) Adopt rules under chapter 34.05 RCW as necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter;

(5) Do all acts and things necessary or convenient to carry out the powers expressly granted or implied under this chapter;

(6) Implement the public works financing assistance program.

Sec. 203. RCW 43.155.050 and 2015 3rd sp.s. c 4 s 959 and 2015 3rd sp.s. c 3 s 7032 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

The public works assistance account is ((hereby)) established in the state treasury. ((Money may be placed in the public works assistance account from the proceeds of bonds when authorized by the legislature or from any other lawful source.)) Money in the public works assistance account shall be used to make loans ((and to give financial guarantees)) to local governments for public works projects. Moneys in the account may also be appropriated or transferred to the water pollution control revolving account and the drinking water assistance account to provide for state match requirements under federal law ((for projects and activities conducted and financed by the board under the drinking water assistance account. Not more than fifteen percent of the biennial capital budget appropriation to the public works board from this account may be expended or obligated)). Money in the account may also be appropriated for the administration of the public works financing assistance program. Money in the account may also be appropriated for preconstruction loans((,)) and emergency loans((, or loans for capital facility planning under this chapter; of this amount, not more than ten percent of the biennial capital budget appropriation may be expended for emergency loans and not more than one percent of the biennial capital budget appropriation may be expended for capital facility planning loans. During the 2015-2017 fiscal biennium, the legislature may transfer from the public works assistance account to the general fund, the water pollution control revolving account, and the drinking water assistance account such amounts as reflect the excess fund balance of the account. During the 2013-2015 fiscal biennium, the legislature may transfer from the public works assistance account to the education legacy trust account such amounts as specified by the legislature)). During the 2015-2017 fiscal biennium, the legislature may appropriate moneys from the account for activities related to the growth management act and the voluntary stewardship program. During the 2015-2017 fiscal biennium, the legislature may transfer from the public works assistance account to the state general fund such amounts as specified by the legislature. In the 2017-2019 fiscal biennium the legislature intends to allocate seventy-three million dollars of future loan repayments paid into the public works assistance account to support basic education.

Sec. 204. RCW 43.155.060 and 1988 c 93 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In order to aid the financing of public works projects, the board may:

((1)) (a) Make low-interest or interest-free loans to local governments from the public works assistance account ((or other funds and accounts)) for the purpose of assisting local governments in financing public works projects. The board may require such terms and conditions and may charge such rates of interest on its loans as it deems necessary or convenient to carry out the purposes of this ((chapter)) section. Money received from local governments in repayment of loans made under this section shall be paid into the public works assistance account for uses consistent with this chapter.

((2)) Pledge money in the public works assistance account, or money to be received by the public works assistance account, to the repayment of all or a portion of the principal of or interest on obligations issued by local governments to finance public works projects. The board shall not pledge any amount greater than the sum of money in the public works assistance account plus money to be received from the payment of the debt service on loans made from that account, nor shall the board pledge the faith and credit or the taxing power of the state or any agency or subdivision thereof to the repayment of obligations issued by any local government.

(3)) (b) Create such subaccounts in the public works assistance account as the board deems necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

((4)) (c) Provide a method for the allocation of loans ((and financing guarantees)) and the provision of technical assistance under this chapter.

(2) All local public works projects aided in whole or in part under the provisions of this chapter shall be put out for competitive bids, except for emergency public works under RCW 43.155.065 for which the recipient jurisdiction shall comply with this requirement to the extent feasible and practicable. The competitive bids called for shall be administered in the same manner as all other public works projects put out for competitive bidding by the local governmental entity aided under this chapter.

Sec. 205. RCW 43.155.065 and 2001 c 131 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

The board may make low-interest or interest-free loans to local governments for emergency public works projects from the public works assistance account. Emergency public works projects shall include the construction, repair, reconstruction, replacement, rehabilitation, or improvement of a public water system that is in violation of health and safety standards and is being operated by a local government on a temporary basis. The loans may be used to help fund all or part of an emergency public works project less any reimbursement from any of the following sources: (1) Federal disaster or emergency funds, including funds from the federal emergency management agency; (2) state disaster or emergency funds; (3) insurance settlements; or (4) litigation.

Sec. 206. RCW 43.155.068 and 2001 c 131 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The board may make low-interest or interest-free loans to local governments from the public works assistance account for preconstruction activities on public works projects before the legislature approves the construction phase of the project. Preconstruction activities include design, engineering, bid-document preparation, environmental studies, right-of-way acquisition, and other preliminary phases of public works projects as determined by the board. The purpose of the loans authorized in this section is to accelerate the completion of public works projects by allowing preconstruction activities to be performed before the approval of the construction phase of the project by the legislature.

(2) Projects receiving loans for preconstruction activities under this section must be evaluated using the priority process and factors in RCW 43.155.070((2)) (4). The receipt of a loan for preconstruction activities does not ensure the receipt of a construction loan for the project under this chapter. Construction loans for projects receiving a loan for preconstruction activities under this section are subject to legislative approval under RCW 43.155.070 ((4) and (5)) (7) and (8). The board shall adopt a single application process for local governments seeking both a loan for preconstruction activities under this section and a construction loan for the project from the public works assistance account.

Sec. 207. RCW 43.155.070 and 2015 3rd sp.s. c 3 s 7033 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) To qualify for financial assistance from the public works assistance account under this chapter the board must determine that a local government meets all of the following conditions:

(a) The city or county must be imposing a tax under chapter 82.46 RCW at a rate of at least one-quarter of one percent;

THIRTY FIRST DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2016

2016 REGULAR SESSION

(b) The local government must have developed a capital facility plan; and

(c) The local government must be using all local revenue sources which are reasonably available for funding public works, taking into consideration local employment and economic factors.

(2) Except where necessary to address a public health need or substantial environmental degradation, a county, city, or town planning under RCW 36.70A.040 may not receive financial assistance from the public works assistance account under this chapter unless it has adopted a comprehensive plan, including a capital facilities plan element, and development regulations as required by RCW 36.70A.040. This subsection does not require any county, city, or town planning under RCW 36.70A.040 to adopt a comprehensive plan or development regulations before requesting or receiving financial assistance under this chapter if such request is made before the expiration of the time periods specified in RCW 36.70A.040. A county, city, or town planning under RCW 36.70A.040 that has not adopted a comprehensive plan and development regulations within the time periods specified in RCW 36.70A.040 may apply for and receive financial assistance under this chapter if the comprehensive plan and development regulations are adopted as required by RCW 36.70A.040 before executing a contractual agreement for financial assistance with the board.

(3) In considering awarding financial assistance from the public works assistance account for public facilities to special districts requesting funding for a proposed facility located in a county, city, or town planning under RCW 36.70A.040, the board must consider whether the county, city, or town planning under RCW 36.70A.040 in whose planning jurisdiction the proposed facility is located has adopted a comprehensive plan and development regulations as required by RCW 36.70A.040.

(4) The board must develop a priority process for public works projects financed from the public works assistance account as provided in this section. The intent of the priority process is to maximize the value of public works projects accomplished with assistance under this chapter. The board must attempt to ((assure)) ensure a geographical balance in assigning priorities to projects. The board must consider at least the following factors in assigning a priority to a project:

(a) Whether the local government receiving assistance has experienced severe fiscal distress resulting from natural disaster or emergency public works needs;

(b) Except as otherwise conditioned by RCW 43.155.110, whether the entity receiving assistance is a Puget Sound partner, as defined in RCW 90.71.010;

(c) Whether the project is referenced in the action agenda developed by the Puget Sound partnership under RCW 90.71.310;

(d) Whether the project is critical in nature and would affect the health and safety of a great number of citizens;

(e) Whether the applicant's permitting process has been certified as streamlined by the office of regulatory assistance;

(f) Whether the applicant has developed and adhered to guidelines regarding its permitting process for those applying for development permits consistent with section 1(2), chapter 231, Laws of 2007;

(g) The cost of the project compared to the size of the local government and amount of loan money available;

(h) The number of communities served by or funding the project;

(i) Whether the project is located in an area of high unemployment, compared to the average state unemployment;

(j) Whether the project is the acquisition, expansion, improvement, or renovation by a local government of a public water system that is in violation of health and safety standards, including the cost of extending existing service to such a system;

(k) Except as otherwise conditioned by RCW 43.155.120, and effective one calendar year following the development of model evergreen community management plans and ordinances under RCW 35.105.050, whether the entity receiving assistance has been recognized, and what gradation of recognition was received, in the evergreen community recognition program created in RCW 35.105.030;

(l) The relative benefit of the project to the community, considering the present level of economic activity in the community and the existing local capacity to increase local economic activity in communities that have low economic growth; and

(m) Other criteria that the board considers advisable.

(5) For the 2015-2017 fiscal biennium, in place of the criteria, ranking, and submission processes for construction loan lists provided in subsections (4) and (7) of this section:

(a) The board must develop a process for numerically ranking applications for construction loans submitted by local governments. The board must consider, at a minimum and in any order, the following factors in assigning a numerical ranking to a project:

(i) Whether the project is critical in nature and would affect the health and safety of many people;

(ii) The extent to which the project leverages nonstate funds;

(iii) The extent to which the project is ready to proceed to construction;

(iv) Whether the project is located in an area of high unemployment, compared to the average state unemployment;

(v) Whether the project promotes the sustainable use of resources and environmental quality;

(vi) Whether the project consolidates or regionalizes systems;

(vii) Whether the project encourages economic development through mixed-use and mixed income development consistent with chapter 36.70A RCW;

(viii) Whether the system is being well-managed in the present and for long-term sustainability;

(ix) Achieving equitable distribution of funds by geography and population;

(x) The extent to which the project meets the following state policy objectives:

(A) Efficient use of state resources;

(B) Preservation and enhancement of health and safety;

(C) Abatement of pollution and protection of the environment;

(D) Creation of new, family-wage jobs, and avoidance of shifting existing jobs from one Washington state community to another;

(E) Fostering economic development consistent with chapter 36.70A RCW;

(F) Efficiency in delivery of goods and services, public transit, and transportation;

(G) Avoidance of additional costs to state and local governments that adversely impact local residents and small businesses; and

(H) Reduction of the overall cost of public infrastructure; and

(xi) Other criteria that the board considers necessary to achieve the purposes of this chapter.

(b) Before November 1, 2016, the board must develop and submit to the appropriate fiscal committees of the senate and house of representatives a ranked list of qualified public works projects which have been evaluated by the board and are recommended for funding by the legislature. The maximum amount of funding that the board may recommend for any jurisdiction is ten million dollars per biennium. For each project on the ranked list, as well as for eligible projects not recommended for funding, the board must document the numerical ranking that was assigned.

(6) Existing debt or financial obligations of local governments may not be refinanced under this chapter. Each local government applicant must provide documentation of attempts to secure additional local or other sources of funding for each public works project for which financial assistance is sought under this chapter.

(7) Before November 1st of each even-numbered year, the board must develop and submit to the appropriate fiscal committees of the senate and house of representatives a description of the loans made under RCW 43.155.065, 43.155.068, and subsection (10) of this section during the preceding fiscal year and a prioritized list of projects which are recommended for funding by the legislature, including one copy to the staff of each of the committees. The list must include, but not be limited to, a description of each project and recommended financing, the terms and conditions of the loan or financial guarantee, the local government jurisdiction and unemployment rate, demonstration of the jurisdiction's critical need for the project and documentation of local funds being used to finance the public works project. The list must also include measures of fiscal capacity for each jurisdiction recommended for financial assistance, compared to authorized limits and state averages, including local government sales taxes; real estate excise taxes; property taxes; and charges for or taxes on sewerage, water, garbage, and other utilities.

(8) The board may not sign contracts or otherwise financially obligate funds from the public works assistance account before the legislature has appropriated funds for a specific list of public works projects. The legislature may remove projects from the list recommended by the board. The legislature may not change the order of the priorities recommended for funding by the board.

(9) Subsection (8) of this section does not apply to loans made under RCW 43.155.065, 43.155.068, and subsection (10) of this section.

(10) Loans made for the purpose of capital facilities plans are exempted from subsection (8) of this section.

(11) To qualify for loans ((or pledges)) from the public works assistance account for solid waste or recycling facilities under this chapter, a city or county must demonstrate that the solid waste or recycling facility is consistent with and necessary to implement the comprehensive solid waste management plan adopted by the city or county under chapter 70.95 RCW.

(12) After January 1, 2010, any project designed to address the effects of storm water or wastewater on Puget Sound may be funded from the public works assistance account under this section only if the project is not in conflict with the action agenda developed by the Puget Sound partnership under RCW 90.71.310.

(13) During the 2015-2017 fiscal biennium, for projects funded from the public works assistance account involving repair, replacement, or improvement of a wastewater treatment plant or other public works facility for which an investment grade efficiency audit is obtainable, the public works board must require as a contract condition that the project sponsor undertake an investment grade efficiency audit. The project sponsor may finance the costs of the audit as part of its public works assistance account program loan.

(14)((a)) For public works assistance account application rounds conducted during the 2015-2017 fiscal biennium, the board must implement policies and procedures designed to maximize local government use of federal funds to finance local infrastructure including, but not limited to, drinking water and clean water state revolving funds operated by the state departments of health and ecology. Projects that are eligible for the drinking water and clean water state revolving funds may receive public works board preconstruction loans. Projects that are eligible for the drinking water and clean water state revolving funds are not eligible for public works board construction loans. For purposes of this subsection "eligible for drinking water and clean water state revolving funds" means:

((i)) (a) Projects that have applied to the state revolving funds and are awaiting a funding decision;

((ii)) (b) Projects that have been rejected for funding solely due to not meeting readiness requirements; and

((iii)) (c) Projects that have not applied, but would likely be eligible if the project applied and met the project readiness requirements.

((b) For all construction loan projects proposed to the legislature for funding during the 2015-2017 fiscal biennium, the board must base interest rates on the average daily market interest rate for tax-exempt municipal bonds as published in the bond buyer's index for the period from sixty to thirty days before the start of the application cycle. For projects with a repayment period between five and twenty years, the rate must be sixty percent of the market rate. For projects with a repayment period under five years, the rate must be thirty percent of the market rate. The board must also provide reduced interest rates, extended repayment periods, or forgivable principal loans for projects that meet financial hardship criteria as measured by the affordability index or similar standard measure of financial hardship.)

Sec. 208. RCW 43.155.075 and 2001 c 227 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

In providing loans for public works projects from the public works assistance account, the board shall require recipients to incorporate the environmental benefits of the project into their applications, and the board shall utilize the statement of environmental benefits in its prioritization and selection process. The board shall also develop appropriate outcome-focused performance measures to be used both for management and performance assessment of the loan program. To the extent possible, the department should coordinate its performance measure system with other natural resource-related agencies as defined in RCW 43.41.270. The board shall consult with affected interest groups in implementing this section.

Sec. 209. RCW 43.155.120 and 2008 c 299 s 30 are each amended to read as follows:

When administering funds from the public works assistance account under this chapter, the board shall give preference only to an evergreen community recognized under RCW 35.105.030 in comparison to other entities that are eligible to receive evergreen community designation. Entities not eligible for designation as an evergreen community shall not be given less preferential treatment than an evergreen community.

PART 3 PUBLIC WORKS FINANCING ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

NEW SECTION. Sec. 301. A new section is added to chapter 43.155 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A public infrastructure project eligible for the public works financing assistance program is a capital project by an eligible local government, as identified in subsection (2) of this section, that is necessary to:

(a) Provide safe and adequate drinking water;

(b) Collect, manage, and treat wastewater and storm water;

(c) Provide safe and efficient transportation, including public parking facilities, public transit facilities, and nonmotorized transportation;

(d) Provide or renovate facilities for safe and readily accessible recreation;

THIRTY FIRST DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2016

2016 REGULAR SESSION

(e) Provide flood control and floodplain management facilities and improvements;

(f) Provide water supply improvements and water basin management enhancements, including culvert replacement projects to improve fish passage;

(g) Provide or renovate county or city criminal justice facilities;

(h) Provide or renovate fire protection or emergency medical response services facilities; or

(i) Provide or renovate public library facilities.

(2) In order to be eligible for the public works financing assistance program a local government must:

(a) Demonstrate difficulties accessing existing private credit markets for borrowings at reasonable interest rates. The public works board must determine compliance with this requirement under guidance and advice by the state treasurer's office;

(b) Demonstrate the ability to reliably pay all periodic financing costs to retire the loan or loans provided under the public works financing assistance program. The public works board must determine compliance with this requirement under guidance and advice by the state treasurer's office; and

(c) Demonstrate that bond proceeds loaned to the local government would be expended for capital expenditures on a public works project eligible to be financed with the proceeds of tax-exempt bonds under the internal revenue code. The public works board must determine compliance with this requirement under guidance and advice by the state treasurer's office.

(3) The board must prioritize applications for assistance under the public works financing assistance program to achieve the greatest community benefit in jurisdictions that would most benefit from this assistance as measured by the difference in the total cost of financing under this program compared to financing cost from private capital markets. The board must adopt criteria for prioritizing applications and submit the scoring under those criteria in the annual report required in section 302 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 302. A new section is added to chapter 43.155 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The board must not sign contracts or otherwise financially obligate funds from the public works financing assistance account created in section 303 of this act unless the legislature has authorized the necessary bonds and appropriated sufficient amounts from the account for the approved projects.

(2) The board must execute contracts for project loans with local governments under the public works financing program to ensure that:

(a) Disbursements against authorized loans are in predictable amounts as required to meet project expenditures without resulting in prolonged and excessive project fund balances;

(c) All other requirements are met, including compliance with state laws regarding the issuance and limits on local government debt.

(3) By July 1st of each year, the board must submit a report to the state treasurer, the office of financial management, and the fiscal committees of the legislature. The report must include:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 305. A new section is added to chapter 43.155 RCW to read as follows:

(a) The board:

(i) May charge an additional amount on public works financing loans to local governments to create a reserve to meet potential shortfalls; or

(ii) Must take other actions as are necessary to ensure that sufficient revenues are collected to meet debt service obligations on bonds issued to support a public works financing loan.

(2) If the board is unable to collect sufficient revenues to meet debt service obligations on bonds issued to support public works financing loans, the legislature must take any action legally authorized to raise such revenue from loan repayments to meet this obligation, including, but not limited to, collect loan repayments directly from distributions to local governments in the event of nonpayment, or any other method deemed appropriate to ensure that adequate revenues are received to meet debt service obligations.

(3) If there is insufficient revenue to meet projected debt service obligations, as determined by the office of the state treasurer, the state finance committee may not approve the issuance or sale of bonds for this purpose until such time as the projected amount of revenue is at least equal to the projected amount of debt service then owed on bonds issued to support public works financing loans.

Beginning on page 1, at the beginning of line 8, strike all material through page 5, line 17, and insert the following:

"Article VIII, section 1. (a) The state may contract debt, the principal of which shall be paid and discharged within thirty years from the time of contracting thereof, in the manner set forth herein.

(b) The aggregate debt contracted by the state, as calculated by the treasurer at the time debt is contracted, shall not exceed that amount for which payments of principal and interest in any fiscal year would require the state to expend more than the applicable percentage limit of the arithmetic mean of its general state revenues for the six immediately preceding fiscal years as certified by the treasurer. The term "applicable percentage limit" means eight and one-half percent from July 1, 2014, through June 30, 2016; eight and one-quarter percent from July 1, 2016, through June 30, 2034; eight percent from July 1, 2034, and thereafter. The term "fiscal year" means that period of time commencing July 1 of any year and ending on June 30 of the following year.

(c) The term "general state revenues," when used in this section, shall include all state money received in the treasury from each and every source, including moneys received from ad valorem taxes levied by the state and deposited in the general fund in each fiscal year, but not including: (1) Fees and other revenues derived from the ownership or operation of any undertaking, facility, or project; (2) Moneys received as gifts, grants, donations, aid, or assistance or otherwise from the United States or any department, bureau, or corporation thereof, or any person, firm, or corporation, public or private, when the terms and conditions of such gift, grant, donation, aid, or assistance require the application and disbursement of such moneys otherwise than for the general purposes of the state of Washington; (3) Moneys to be paid into and received from retirement system funds, and performance bonds and deposits; (4) Moneys to be paid into and received from trust funds and the several permanent and irreducible funds of the state and the moneys derived therefrom but excluding bond redemption funds; (5) Moneys received from taxes levied for specific purposes and required to be deposited for those purposes into specified funds or accounts other than the general fund; and (6) Proceeds received from the sale of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness.

(d) In computing the amount required for payment of principal and interest on outstanding debt under this section, debt shall be construed to mean borrowed money represented by bonds, notes, or other evidences of indebtedness which are secured by the full faith and credit of the state or are required to be repaid, directly or indirectly, from general state revenues and which are incurred by the state, any department, authority, public corporation, or quasi public corporation of the state, any state university or college, or any other public agency created by the state but not by counties, cities, towns, school districts, or other municipal corporations, but shall not include obligations for the payment of current expenses of state government, nor shall it include debt hereafter incurred pursuant to section 3 of this article, obligations guaranteed as provided for in subsection (g) of this section, principal of bond anticipation notes or obligations issued to fund or refund the indebtedness of the Washington state building authority. In addition, for the purpose of computing the amount required for payment of interest on outstanding debt under subsection (b) of this section and this subsection, "interest" shall be reduced by subtracting the amount scheduled to be received by the state as payments from the federal government in each year in respect of bonds, notes, or other evidences of indebtedness subject to this section.

(e) The state may pledge the full faith, credit, and taxing power of the state to guarantee the voter approved general obligation debt of school districts in the manner authorized by the legislature. Any such guarantee does not remove the debt obligation of the school district and is not state debt.

THIRTY FIRST DAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2016

2016 REGULAR SESSION

(f) The state may, without limitation, fund or refund, at or prior to maturity, the whole or any part of any existing debt or of any debt hereafter contracted pursuant to section 1, section 2, or section 3 of this article, including any premium payable with respect thereto and interest thereon, or fund or refund, at or prior to maturity, the whole or any part of any indebtedness incurred or authorized prior to the effective date of this amendment by any entity of the type described in subsection (h) of this section, including any premium payable with respect thereto and any interest thereon. Such funding or refunding shall not be deemed to be contracting debt by the state.

(g) Notwithstanding the limitation contained in subsection (b) of this section, the state may pledge its full faith, credit, and taxing power to guarantee the payment of any obligation payable from revenues received from any of the following sources: (1) Fees collected by the state as license fees for motor vehicles; (2) Excise taxes collected by the state on the sale, distribution or use of motor vehicle fuel; ((and)) (3) Interest on the permanent common school fund; and (4) Amounts received by the state in repayment of loans made by the state to local governments for infrastructure projects: Provided, That the legislature shall, at all times, provide sufficient revenues from such sources to pay the principal and interest due on all obligations for which said source of revenue is pledged.

(h) No money shall be paid from funds in custody of the treasurer with respect to any debt contracted after the effective date of this amendment by the Washington state building authority, the capitol committee, or any similar entity existing or operating for similar purposes pursuant to which such entity undertakes to finance or provide a facility for use or occupancy by the state or any agency, department, or instrumentality thereof.

(i) The legislature shall prescribe all matters relating to the contracting, funding or refunding of debt pursuant to this section, including: The purposes for which debt may be contracted; by a favorable vote of three-fifths of the members elected to each house, the amount of debt which may be contracted for any class of such purposes; the kinds of notes, bonds, or other evidences of debt which may be issued by the state; and the manner by which the treasurer shall determine and advise the legislature, any appropriate agency, officer, or instrumentality of the state as to the available debt capacity within the limitation set forth in this section. The legislature may delegate to any state officer, agency, or instrumentality any of its powers relating to the contracting, funding or refunding of debt pursuant to this section except its power to determine the amount and purposes for which debt may be contracted.

(j) The full faith, credit, and taxing power of the state of Washington are pledged to the payment of the debt created on behalf of the state pursuant to this section and the legislature shall provide by appropriation for the payment of the interest upon and installments of principal of all such debt as the same falls due, but in any event, any court of record may compel such payment.

(k) Notwithstanding the limitations contained in subsection (b) of this section, the state may issue certificates of indebtedness in such sum or sums as may be necessary to meet temporary deficiencies of the treasury, to preserve the best interests of the state in the conduct of the various state institutions, departments, bureaus, and agencies during each fiscal year; such certificates may be issued only to provide for appropriations already made by the legislature and such certificates must be retired and the debt discharged other than by refunding within twelve months after the date of incurrence.

(l) Bonds, notes, or other obligations issued and sold by the state of Washington pursuant to and in conformity with this article shall not be invalid for any irregularity or defect in the proceedings of the issuance or sale thereof and shall be incontestable in the hands of a bona fide purchaser or holder thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the statement of subject and concise description for the ballot title of this constitutional amendment shall read "The legislature has proposed a constitutional amendment on issuing bonds to help finance local public works projects. WHEREAS, The collective story of the United States is of a nation of refugees and immigrants seeking safety, opportunity, and a better life free from oppression and tyranny; and

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Roach: "Well thank you Mr President. So members will notice on their desks, well I don't see one, they must have been put away already. We have a copy of something called the 'Reel' news, and also, oh there they are, and also an invitation. We're going to be having the first ever Fish-In here at the Washington State Capitol. It will be right outside the guard shack between the Cherberg building and us here. It's an opportunity, because it's on President's Day, to bring children, bring grandchildren. We'll have 400 fish, 40 of them will be tagged, and if you or one of your loved ones catches one, or someone here on campus, there will be a lovely prize to go with it. We're talking about the recreational fishing, the 1.1 million people who buy a fishing license every year, a wonderful aspect of the northwest living that is augmented by the fact that we have such a wonderful outdoor life. So I hope you'll take part, there is also a cutthroat, is that the name of a trout? There is also a cutthroat competition between caucuses. It's not like the other event that we'll hold the following week, this one is by weight. So I invite each member to go out during the lunch and we will weigh the basket of fish caught by the Senate Democratic Caucus and the basket of fish caught by the Senate Republican Caucus and they'll do the same in the House to come out with an overall weight winner. So I hope over there and over here you will accept the challenge and I understand there's some really big trout in there so I just wanted to make that invitation to you. Thank you so much. This is on behalf of the Sportsman's Caucus, Senator Hargrove is still the captain over there on that side. Thanks."

Revised for 1st Substitute: Providing sales and use tax exemptions, in the form of a remittance of tax paid, to encourage coal-fired electric generation plants or biomass energy facilities to convert to natural gas-fired plants. (REVISED FOR ENGROSSED: Providing sales and use tax exemptions, in the form of a remittance of tax paid, to encourage coal-fired electric generation plants to convert to natural gas-fired plants or biomass energy facilities.)

The bill was read on Third Reading.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Braun, the rules were suspended and Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5575 was returned to second reading for the purpose of amendment.

MOTION

Senator Braun moved that the following striking amendment no. 532 by Senators Braun and Ranker be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. This section is the tax preference performance statement for the tax preference contained in sections 2 and 3 of this act. This performance statement is only intended to be used for subsequent evaluation of the tax preference. It is not intended to create a private right of action by any party or be used to determine eligibility for preferential tax treatment.

(1) The legislature categorizes this tax preference as one intended to create or retain jobs, as indicated in RCW 82.32.808(2)(c).

(2) It is the legislature's specific public policy objective to retain jobs at existing coal-fired electric generation facilities by providing a tax exemption to allow these facilities to convert into natural gas-fired generation plants or biomass energy facilities rather than shut down entirely. It is the legislature's intent to provide a tax exemption for the conversion of a coal-fired electric generation facility into a natural gas-fired generation plant or biomass energy facility, in order to reduce the costs recently imposed by the legislature on companies that operate coal-fired electric generation facilities, thereby increasing the ability of these companies to continue their operations in Washington state, thereby retaining jobs that otherwise would be lost if a coal-fired electric generation facility were to shut down.

(3) This tax preference is created to provide an opportunity for coal-fired electric generation facilities to convert into natural gas-fired generation plants or biomass energy facilities. This tax preference is meant to expire and, therefore, the joint legislative audit and review committee is exempt from reviewing this tax preference as required in chapter 43.136 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 82.08 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Subject to the requirements in subsection (2) of this section, a taxpayer is eligible for an exemption from the tax imposed by RCW 82.08.020 on the sale of or charge made for:

(a) Labor and services rendered in respect to the constructing of new structures, and expansion or renovation of existing structures, for the purpose of converting a coal-fired electric generation facility into a natural gas-fired plant or biomass energy facility;

(b) Materials that will be incorporated as an ingredient or component of new or existing structures during the course of such constructing, expanding, or renovating; or

(c) Machinery and equipment that is required to convert a coal-fired electric generation facility into a natural gas-fired plant or biomass energy facility, including labor and services rendered in respect to installing such machinery and equipment.

(2)(a) The exemption in this section is in the form of a remittance. A purchaser claiming an exemption from the tax in the form of a remittance under this section must pay all applicable state and local sales taxes imposed under RCW 82.08.020 and chapter 82.14 RCW on all purchases qualifying for the exemption. After the conversion of a coal-fired electric generation facility into a natural gas-fired plant or biomass energy facility is operationally complete, but not earlier than April 1, 2020, the purchaser may then apply to the department for a remittance of one hundred percent of the state and local sales taxes paid under RCW 82.08.020 and chapter 82.14 RCW for purchases qualifying under subsection (1) of this section. The purchaser must specify the amount of exempted tax claimed and the qualifying purchases for which the exemption is claimed. The purchaser must retain, in adequate detail, records to enable the department to determine whether the purchaser is entitled to an exemption under this section, including: Invoices; proof of tax paid; and construction contracts.

(b) The department may not accept any application for a remittance that it does not receive by the later of July 1, 2020, or within one year after the department determines that the conversion of a coal-fired electric generation facility into a natural gas-fired plant or biomass energy facility is operationally complete.

(c) The department must determine eligibility under this section based on information provided by the purchaser, which is subject to audit verification by the department. The department must remit exempted amounts to qualifying purchasers who submitted timely applications during the previous calendar quarter. No remittances may be paid before July 1, 2020.

(3) The definitions in this subsection apply throughout this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(a) "Biomass energy" means energy derived from solid organic fuels from wood or forest or field residues.

(b)(i) "Machinery and equipment" means industrial fixtures, devices, and support facilities that are integral and necessary to the generation of electricity using natural gas or biomass, including repair parts and replacement parts.

(ii) "Machinery and equipment" does not include: (A) Hand-powered tools; (B) property with a useful life of less than one year; (C) repair parts required to restore machinery and equipment to normal working order; (D) replacement parts that do not increase productivity, improve efficiency, or extend the useful life of machinery and equipment; (E) buildings; or (F) building fixtures that are not integral and necessary to the generation of electricity that are permanently affixed to and become a physical part of a building.

(c) "Operationally complete" means constructed or improved to the point of being functionally capable of generating electricity using natural gas or biomass.

(4) This section expires July 1, 2026.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 82.12 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Subject to the requirements in subsection (2) of this section, a taxpayer is eligible for an exemption from the tax imposed by RCW 82.12.020 on the use of:

(a) Materials that will be incorporated as an ingredient or component of new or existing structures during the course of the constructing of new structures, or expansion or renovation of existing structures, for the purpose of converting a coal-fired electric generation facility into a natural gas-fired plant or biomass energy facility; and

(b) Machinery and equipment that is required to convert a coal-fired electric generation facility into a natural gas-fired plant or biomass energy facility, including labor and services rendered in respect to installing such machinery and equipment.

(2)(a) A taxpayer is exempt from the tax imposed by RCW 82.12.020 on the use of materials, machinery and equipment, or installation labor, if the taxpayer received a remittance under section 2 of this act with respect to the purchase of the materials, machinery and equipment, or installation labor.

(b) With respect to materials, machinery and equipment, or installation labor qualifying for the exemption in this section and acquired by the taxpayer without the payment of the sales tax imposed by RCW 82.08.020, the exemption in this section is in the form of a remittance of the state and local use taxes paid under RCW 82.12.020 and chapter 82.14 RCW. All of the provisions applicable to remittances under section 2 of this act apply to remittances under this section.

(3) The exemption in this section does not apply to the use of materials, machinery and equipment, and installation labor for machinery and equipment, when first use within this state of such materials, machinery and equipment, and installation labor occurred after June 30, 2026.

(4) The definitions in section 2 of this act apply to this section.

(5) This section expires July 1, 2026.

Sec. 4. RCW 82.14.050 and 2014 c 216 s 403 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The counties, cities, and transportation authorities under RCW 82.14.045, public facilities districts under chapters 36.100

The remainder of any portion of any tax authorized by this chapter that is collected by the department of revenue must be deposited by the state department of revenue in the local sales and use tax account hereby created in the state treasury. Beginning January 1, 2013, the department of revenue must make deposits in the local sales and use tax account on a monthly basis on the last business day of the month in which distributions required in (a) of this subsection are due. (2) All administrative provisions in chapters 82.03, 82.08, 82.12, and 82.32 RCW, as they now exist or may hereafter be amended, insofar as they are applicable to state sales and use taxes, are applicable to taxes imposed pursuant to this chapter.

(3) Counties, cities, transportation authorities, public facilities districts, and regional transportation investment districts may not conduct independent sales or use tax audits of sellers registered under the streamlined sales tax agreement.

(4) Except as provided in RCW 43.08.190 and subsection (5) of this section, all earnings of investments of balances in the local sales and use tax account must be credited to the local sales and use tax account and distributed to the counties, cities, transportation authorities, public facilities districts, public transportation benefit areas, regional transportation investment districts, and transportation benefit districts monthly.

(5) Beginning January 1, 2013, the state treasurer must determine the amount of earnings on investments that would have been credited to the local sales and use tax account if the collections had been deposited in the account over the prior month. When distributions are made under subsection (1)(a) of this section, the state treasurer must transfer this amount from the state general fund to the local sales and use tax account and must distribute such sums to the counties, cities, transportation authorities, public facilities districts, public transportation benefit areas, regional transportation investment districts, and transportation benefit districts.

Sec. 5. RCW 82.14.060 and 2014 c 216 s 404 are each amended to read as follows:

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schoesler: "Thank you Mr. President. We oftentimes forget the important lessons we were taught, but today is the two hundred seventh birthday of Abraham Lincoln, the first Republican president. A day we used to celebrate as a national holiday in a previous era. In 1860, Lincoln won the presidency with only forty percent of the popular vote, yet was still elected to a second term. Unfortunately, the tragic assassination in 1865 cost us one of our greatest presidents. We consider that because not only did he do the Emancipation Proclamation, he led us through the Civil War keeping us as one nation. Because of that it is relevant, and I'd like to say more from Lincoln if I might, Mr. President? August 17, 1858 - The Fathers of the Republic said to the whole world of men, 'We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. This was their majestic interpretation of the economy of the Universe. This was their lofty, and wise, and noble understanding of the justice of the Creator to his creatures. Yes, gentleman, to all his creatures, to the whole great family of man. In their enlightened belief, nothing stamped with the Divine image and likenesses was sent into the world to be trodden on and degraded, and imbruted by its fellows. They grasped not only the whole race of man then living, but they reached forward and seized upon the farthest posterity. They erected a beacon to guide their children, and their children's children, and the countless myriads who should inhabit the earth in other ages. So that no one man would hereafter dare to limit and circumscribe the great principles on which the temple of liberty was being built.' We need to remember this as we continue our work this session. We need to continue to protect the rights of citizens. Remember these words of President Lincoln, and join me in honoring the birth of not only a great Republican, but a great man. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Mullet, and without objection, Senator Carlyle was excused.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fain: "Thank you, Mr. President. I was reading my emails a few moments ago and I received something from Representative Hargrove in the chamber that I'm not supposed to talk about, but whatever. It says, 'Colleagues, you might have seen the Super Bowl commercial with the Super Bowl babies, all of whom were born nine months after the parents' home teams won the Super Bowl. SR 167 traverses legislative districts 11, 47, 31, and 25. Legislators from these four districts: Steve Bergquist in the 11th; Joe Fain in the 47th; Drew Stokesbary in the 31st; and Hans Zeiger in the 25th are all expecting babies around the end of our current legislative session. About nine months after the end of the longest legislative session in history, at which the very end of session the transportation revenue package was passed. WHEREAS, Justice Antonin Gregory Scalia will go down in history as one of the most transformational Supreme Court justices our country has ever witnessed; and

WHEREAS, Justice Scalia, son of an Italian immigrant, was valedictorian of his 1957 class at Georgetown University and graduated from Harvard Law School in 1960; and

SENATE BILL NO. 6195, by Senate Committee on Ways & Means (originally sponsored by Senators Rivers, Rolfes, Litzow and Billig)

Concerning basic education obligations.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Rivers, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6195 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6195 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Rivers moved that the following striking amendment no. 625 by Senator Rivers be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. INTENT. During the past two biennia, the legislature has demonstrated its commitment to funding education through strong bipartisan support for funding its statutory formulas for: Pupil transportation; materials, supplies, and operating costs; full-day kindergarten; and class size reductions. In the 2015-2017 biennial budget, the legislature specifically increased funding to reduce class sizes in grades K-3. The legislature further included the previously scheduled 2017-2019 biennium completion of K-3 class size reduction funding in its adopted four-year budget outlook. The legislature has planned for and is fully committed to completing the scheduled phase in of K-3 class size reduction in the 2017-2019 biennium.

The state is fully committed to funding its program of basic education as defined in statute and to eliminating school district dependency on local levies for implementation of the state's program of basic education. It is the intent of the legislature to provide state funding for competitive salaries and benefits that are sufficient to hire and retain competent certificated instructional staff, administrators, and classified staff. Additionally, the legislature intends to minimize any disruptive impact to school districts and taxpayers.

The legislature finds that the lack of transparency in school district data regarding how districts use local levy funds limits its ability to make informed decisions concerning teacher compensation. Previous studies have analyzed market data for educator compensation and have provided recommendations on revisions to state allocation formulas, but these studies did not provide data and analysis of compensation paid by districts above basic education salary allocations above the statutory prototypical school model, the source of funding for this compensation, and the duties, uses, or categories for which that compensation is paid. This foundational data is necessary to inform the legislature's decisions.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. EDUCATION FUNDING TASK FORCE ESTABLISHED. (1) The education funding task force is established to continue the work of the governor's informal work group to review the data and analysis provided by the consultant retained under section 3 of this act and must make recommendations to the legislature on implementing the program of basic education as defined in statute.

(2) Using the data and analysis provided by the consultant and the previous body of work provided to the legislature, the task force must, at a minimum, make recommendations for compensation that is sufficient to hire and retain the staff funded under the statutory prototypical school funding model and an associated salary allocation model. The recommendations must also include provisions indicating whether:

(a) A system for future salary adjustments should be incorporated into the salary allocation model and if so, the method for providing the adjustment; and

(b) A local labor market adjustment formula should be incorporated into the salary allocation model and if so, the method for providing the adjustment. This must include considerations for rural and remote districts and districts with economic and distressing factors that affect recruitment and retention.

(3) The task force must review available information to determine whether additional state legislation is needed to help school districts to support state-funded all-day kindergarten and class size reduction in kindergarten through third grade.

(4) The task force must review the report on addressing the problem of teacher shortages prepared by the professional educator standards board. The task force must make recommendations for improving or expanding existing educator recruitment and retention programs.

(5) The task force must also make recommendations regarding:

(a) Local maintenance and operation levies and local effort assistance;

(b) Local school district collective bargaining;

(c) Clarifying the distinction between services provided as part of the state's statutory program of basic education and services that may be provided as local enrichment;

(d) Required district reporting, accounting, and transparency of data and expenditures;

THIRTY SEVENTH DAY, FEBRUARY 16, 2016

2016 REGULAR SESSION

(e) The provision and funding method for school employee health benefits; and

(f) Sources of state revenue to support the state's statutory program of basic education.

(6) The task force consists of the following members:

(a) Eight legislators, with two members from each of the two largest caucuses of the senate appointed by the leaders of each of the two largest caucuses of the senate, and two members from each of the two largest caucuses of the house of representatives appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives; and

(b) The governor or the governor's designee as a nonvoting member to serve as facilitator.

(7) Recommendations of the task force require the affirmative vote of five of its members.

(8) Staff support for the task force must be provided by the house of representatives office of program research and senate committee services, with additional staff support provided by the office of financial management.

(9) Meetings of the task force shall comply with Joint Rule 10, Senate Rule 45, and House of Representatives Rule 24.

(10) The expenses of the task force must be paid jointly by the senate and the house of representatives. Task force expenditures are subject to approval by the senate facilities and operations committee and the house of representatives executive rules committee, or their successor committees.

(11) The task force recommendations and any supporting legislation must be submitted to the legislature by January 9, 2017.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. ANALYSIS OF K-12 PUBLIC SCHOOL STAFF COMPENSATION. (1) In consultation with the education funding task force established in section 2 of this act, the Washington state institute for public policy shall contract for independent professional consulting services to:

(a) Collect K-12 public school staff total compensation data, and within that data, provide an analysis of compensation paid in addition to basic education salary allocations under the statutory prototypical school model, source of funding, and the duties, uses, or categories for which that compensation is paid;

(b) Identify market rate salaries that are comparable to each of the staff types in the prototypical school funding model; and

(c) Provide analysis regarding whether a local labor market adjustment formula should be implemented and if so which market adjustment factors and methods should be used.

(2) The superintendent of public instruction must collect, and school districts and other applicable local education agencies must provide, compensation data necessary to implement this section with sufficient time for the consultant to accomplish the work required by this section. Data must be in the format necessary to meet the needs of the consultant. The superintendent of public instruction must provide this information to the Washington state institute for public policy, the office of financial management, and the education funding task force, for use by the consultant and the task force.

(3) The consultant must provide an interim report to the education funding task force and the governor by September 1, 2016.

(4) The consultant's final data and analysis must be provided to the education funding task force and the governor by November 15, 2016.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. LOCAL LEVIES—LEGISLATIVE ACTION. Legislative action shall be taken by the end of the 2017 session to eliminate school district dependency on local levies for implementation of the state's program of basic education.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. APPROPRIATIONS. (1) The sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2016, from the general fund to The Evergreen State College to fund the Washington state institute for public policy contract with independent professional consulting services as required in section 3 of this act.

(2) The sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2017, from the general fund to The Evergreen State College to fund the Washington state institute for public policy contract with independent professional consulting services as required in section 3 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. EXPIRATION DATE. This act expires June 30, 2017.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and takes effect immediately."

If funds are determined by the governing body, based on actuarial analysis to be insufficient to ensure the actuarial soundness of the account, the governing body shall adjust the price of subsequent tuition credit purchases to ensure its soundness.

If there are insufficient numbers of new purchases to ensure the actuarial soundness of the account, the governing body shall request such funds from the legislature as are required to ensure the integrity of the program. Funds may be appropriated directly to the account or appropriated under the condition that they be repaid at a later date. With the exception of fees associated with the administration of the program authorized in sections 4 and 8 of this act, all moneys in the college savings program account, all property and rights purchased with the account, and all income attributable to the account, shall be held in trust for the exclusive benefit of the owners and their eligible beneficiaries.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that:

(a) Washington's unemployment rate during the recent recession created economic and social hardships for the people of the state;

(b) Local start-up companies and small businesses are likely, as they grow, to remain in their communities of origin, thereby creating local jobs and an economic multiplier effect with their payrolls and taxes while providing local economic stimuli, which increases the local tax base;

(c) Statewide economic prosperity and job creation are advanced significantly by creating, promoting, and retaining local start-up companies and small businesses with high growth potential;

(d) Entrepreneurs and small business owners of second-stage companies, which are those companies that are beyond the start-up stage but have not yet fully matured, with innovative products or services that satisfy market needs, have particular potential for expansion and job creation;

(e) Such entrepreneurs and owners can benefit from specialized business assistance to refine core strategies and from access to in-depth market research, competitor analyses, geographic information systems, search engine optimization, and other strategic information, as well as from relationships with mentors and advisers;

(f) The aspects of economic gardening that incorporate these principles have proven successful in improving the entrepreneurial process and promoting economically sustainable local businesses; and

(g) It is important to the overall health and growth of the state's economy to promote favorable conditions for those expanding Washington businesses that demonstrate the ability to grow.

(2) In recognition of the foregoing findings and principles, it is the intent of the legislature to create a Washington economic gardening pilot project in the department of commerce.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 43.31 RCW to read as follows:

(1) There is hereby created within the department the economic gardening pilot project. The purpose of the pilot project is to stimulate Washington's economy and create good-paying, sustainable jobs by providing economic gardening strategic assistance services to second-stage companies in accordance with this section.

(2) The department must oversee and direct all resources for the execution of the pilot project. The department must work with chambers of commerce, associate development organizations, or other economic development organizations to implement the pilot project. The pilot project includes developing the processes for qualifying and selecting second-stage companies, identifying training components for economic development organizations implementing the pilot project, engaging trained and certified economic gardening private contractors as necessary, and providing economic gardening strategic assistance to companies participating in the pilot project.

(3)(a) On or before January 1, 2017, the department must initiate a program to provide or obtain all necessary credentials for high-impact strategic assistance for the economic development organizations participating in the pilot project.

(b) Prior to the date that strategic assistance is provided pursuant to this subsection (3):

(i) Economic development organizations participating in the pilot project must be certified in economic gardening by a nationally recognized certifying entity identified by the department; and

(ii) The department or economic development organizations participating in the pilot project must, as necessary, contract with trained and certified economic gardening private contractors.

(c) After pilot project staff members are certified under (b) of this subsection, the department must use the existing infrastructure of economic development organizations to promote the pilot project to second-stage companies and to those clients and referrals that show growth potential in jobs, sales, or export potential.

(4)(a) On or before January 1, 2017, the department and participating economic development organizations must publish criteria for a second-stage company to be selected to participate in the pilot project. The criteria must include job growth potential, sustainability, export potential, and a workforce comprised of at least fifty percent Washington residents. Application criteria must also include requirements for data collection, as specified by the department, to show the impacts of services provided through the pilot project. The department and participating economic development organizations must identify second-stage companies eligible to participate by utilizing existing strategic infrastructure and by consulting with local and regional economic development partners, such as chambers of commerce associate development organizations, and other local or regional economic development entities.

(b) In order to participate in the pilot project, a company selected for participation must pay a one-time fee of seven hundred fifty dollars, which moneys must be deposited into the economic gardening pilot project fund, created in subsection (5) of this section, for reinvestment in the pilot project.

(c) On or before March 1, 2017, the department and participating economic development organizations must select a minimum of twenty companies to participate in the pilot project.

(d) The department must oversee staff members certified pursuant to (b) of this subsection or certified private contractors to deploy strategic assistance to all pilot project participants. The department and participating economic development organizations must acquire any tools necessary to provide the strategic assistance, including database licenses, permits, and economic gardening certification.

(e) A participating company has twelve months from the date that the department and participating economic development organizations select the company to participate in the pilot project to use the strategic assistance and other economic gardening services offered pursuant to the pilot project.

(5) There is hereby created in the state treasury the economic gardening pilot project fund, to be administered by the department. The fund consists of all fees received under subsection (4)(b) of this section and any moneys appropriated by the legislature for the purposes of this section. The legislature must make annual appropriations of the moneys in the fund to the department for administering the pilot project. Any moneys in the fund not appropriated must remain in the fund and may not be transferred or revert to the general fund at the end of any fiscal year.

(6) On or before November 1, 2017, and on or before November 1st each year thereafter through November 1, 2019, and in compliance with RCW 43.01.036 the department must submit a report to the economic and workforce development committees of the legislature. The report must include, at a minimum:

The learning improvement day must take place outside of the minimum one hundred eighty-day school calendar.

This subsection applies only to wholly new solid waste landfill facilities, no part or unit of which has had construction commence before April 27, 1999.

(a) No landfill specified in this subsection may be located:

(i) So that the active area is closer than five miles to any national park or a public or private nonprofit zoological park displaying native animals in their native habitats; or

(ii) Over a sole source aquifer designated under the federal safe drinking water act, if such designation was effective before January 1, 1999.

(b) Each landfill specified in this subsection (2) shall be constructed with an impermeable berm around the entire perimeter of the active area of the landfill of such height, thickness, and design as will be sufficient to contain all material disposed in the event of a complete failure of the structural integrity of the landfill.

Sec. 2. RCW 70.95.165 and 2015 1st sp.s. c 4 s 49 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Each county or city siting a solid waste disposal facility shall review each potential site for conformance with the standards as set by the department for:

(2) Upon receipt of an application for a permit to establish or modify a solid waste handling facility, the jurisdictional health department shall refer one copy of the application to the department which shall report its findings to the jurisdictional health department. When the application is for a permit to establish or modify a solid waste handling facility located in an area that is not under a quarantine, as defined in RCW 17.24.007, and when the facility will receive material for composting from an area under a quarantine, the jurisdictional health department shall also provide a copy of the application to the department of agriculture. The department of agriculture shall review the application to determine whether it contains information demonstrating that the proposed facility presents a risk of spreading disease, plant pathogens, or pests to areas that are not under a quarantine. For the purposes of this subsection, "composting" means the biological degradation and transformation of organic solid waste under controlled conditions designed to promote aerobic decomposition.

(3) The jurisdictional health department shall investigate every application as may be necessary to determine whether a proposed or modified site and facilities meet all solid waste, air, and other applicable laws and regulations, and conforms with the approved comprehensive solid waste handling plan, and complies with all zoning requirements.

(4) When the jurisdictional health department finds that the permit should be issued, it shall issue such permit. Every application shall be approved or disapproved within ninety days after its receipt by the jurisdictional health department.

(5) The jurisdictional board of health may establish reasonable fees for permits and renewal of permits. All permit fees collected by the health department shall be deposited in the treasury and to the account from which the health department's operating expenses are paid.

Any permit for a solid waste disposal site issued as provided herein shall be subject to suspension at any time the jurisdictional health department determines that the site or the solid waste disposal facilities located on the site are being operated in violation of this chapter, ((or)) the regulations of the department, the rules of the department of agriculture, or local laws and regulations.

Sec. 6. RCW 70.95.300 and 1998 c 156 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department may by rule exempt a solid waste from the permitting requirements of this chapter for one or more beneficial uses. In adopting such rules, the department shall specify both the solid waste that is exempted from the permitting requirements and the beneficial use or uses for which the solid waste is so exempted. The department shall consider: (a) Whether the material will be beneficially used or reused; and (b) whether the beneficial use or reuse of the material will present threats to human health or the environment.

(2) The department may also exempt a solid waste from the permitting requirements of this chapter for one or more beneficial uses by approving an application for such an exemption. The department shall establish by rule procedures under which a person may apply to the department for such an exemption. The rules shall establish criteria for providing such an exemption, which shall include, but not be limited to: (a) The material will be beneficially used or reused; and (b) the beneficial use or reuse of the material will not present threats to human health or the environment. Rules adopted under this subsection shall identify the information that an application shall contain. Persons seeking such an exemption shall apply to the department under the procedures established by the rules adopted under this subsection.

(3) After receipt of an application filed under rules adopted under subsection (2) of this section, the department shall review the application to determine whether it is complete, and forward a copy of the completed application to all jurisdictional health departments and the department of agriculture for review and comment. Within forty-five days, the jurisdictional health departments and the department of agriculture shall forward to the department their comments and any other information they deem relevant to the department's decision to approve or disapprove the application. The department of agriculture's comments must be limited to addressing whether approving the application risks spreading disease, plant pathogens, or pests to areas that are not under a quarantine, as defined in RCW 17.24.007. Every complete application shall be approved or disapproved by the department within ninety days of receipt. If the application is approved by the department, the solid waste is exempt from the permitting requirements of this chapter when used anywhere in the state in the manner approved by the department. If the composition, use, or reuse of the solid waste is not consistent with the terms and conditions of the department's approval of the application, the use of the solid waste remains subject to the permitting requirements of this chapter.

(4) The department shall establish procedures by rule for providing to the public and the solid waste industry notice of and an opportunity to comment on each application for an exemption under subsection (2) of this section.

(5) Any jurisdictional health department or applicant may appeal the decision of the department to approve or disapprove an application under subsection (3) of this section. The appeal shall be made to the pollution control hearings board by filing with the hearings board a notice of appeal within thirty days of the decision of the department. The hearings board's review of the decision shall be made in accordance with chapter 43.21B RCW and any subsequent appeal of a decision of the board shall be made in accordance with RCW 43.21B.180.

(6) This section shall not be deemed to invalidate the exemptions or determinations of nonapplicability in the department's solid waste rules as they exist on June 11, 1998, which exemptions and determinations are recognized and confirmed subject to the department's continuing authority to modify or revoke those exemptions or determinations by rule."

This information may not be made public or be subject to subpoena, other than by the commissioner and then only for the purpose of enforcement actions taken by the commissioner.

Sec. 3. RCW 48.110.050 and 2006 c 274 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

of at least fifteen million dollars and annually file audited financial statements with the commissioner; and

(ii) The commissioner may authorize an insurer or risk retention group that has surplus as to policyholders and paid-in capital of less than fifteen million dollars, but at least equal to ten million dollars, to issue the insurance required by this subsection if the insurer or risk retention group demonstrates to the satisfaction of the commissioner that the company maintains a ratio of direct written premiums, wherever written, to surplus as to policyholders and paid-in capital of not more than three to one;

(b)(i) Maintain a funded reserve account for its obligations under its service contracts issued and outstanding in this state. The reserves shall not be less than forty percent of the gross consideration received, less claims paid, on the sale of the service contract for all in-force contracts. If the service contract provider's parent company's form 10-K, form 20-F, or audited financial statements are filed with the commissioner to meet the service contract provider's financial stability requirement, then the parent company shall agree to guarantee the obligations of the service contract provider relating to service contracts sold by the service contract provider in this state. A copy of the guarantee shall be filed with the commissioner. The guarantee shall be irrevocable as long as there is in force in this state any contract or any obligation arising from service contracts guaranteed, unless the parent company has made arrangements approved by the commissioner to satisfy its obligations under the guarantee.

(3) Service contracts shall require the service contract provider to permit the service contract holder to return the service contract within twenty days of the date the service contract was mailed to the service contract holder or within ten days of delivery if the service contract is delivered to the service contract holder at the time of sale, or within a longer time period permitted under the service contract. Upon return of the service contract to the service contract provider within the applicable period, if no claim has been made under the service contract prior to the return to the service contract provider, the service contract is void and the service contract provider shall refund to the service contract holder, or credit the account of the service contract holder with the full purchase price of the service contract. The right to void the service contract provided in this subsection is not transferable and shall apply only to the original service contract purchaser. The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8724.

The motion by Senator Hasegawa carried and the resolution was adopted by voice vote.

REMARKS BY SENATOR HASEGAWA

Senator Hasegawa: "Madame President, thank you. First I would like to express my appreciation to the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Fain, for scheduling this resolution. This is becoming an annual event in the legislature and I've brought this tradition, hopefully in perpetuity, over to this chamber from my previous experience across the rotunda. But I think it's really important for us to remember our history so that it's never repeated again as President Ford said. I know that my words here today are only heard by those who are in this chamber at this moment, because TVW does not broadcast the pro forma sessions. However, I think that this institution really draws its strength from the principles that we were founded on which is life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness and on the liberty piece, there wasn't injustice done to Americans of Japanese descent during World War II which the resolution properly states, but it was not so much, looking back at it now, a time of tragedy or remorse. It was a time of growth for our country and for my community because from that adversity we drew strength. And I've felt like I've developed a privileged life as a result of the struggles that my parents and family went through during World War II. And I feel compelled to continue the struggles that they ingrained within me, to fight for liberty and justice for all. To, number one, maintain the memory of the struggles that they went through and to be constantly vigilant. Number two, in the future to make sure that it does not ever happen again. So, in our current state of constant fear of the unknown and constant fear of possible wars and terrorism, I think that we have to reach back into our core values, life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, to make sure we are not just looking at it through our own eyes at our own lives, but looking at it to build a better country. Right now we are living in fear, and we have actually federal laws on the books, that allow the President to incarcerate people without due process, American citizens without due process, and that clause exists in legislation recently passed by Congress, in the National Defense Authorization Act. Which is why I have legislation to prohibit local law enforcement, state law enforcement, from enforcing that portion of the NDA within our state. Some people would say that these are radical concepts, that we have to protect ourselves. Well yes we need to protect ourselves, but not at all costs. We can't sacrifice our principles, what we as a people stand for just for our own private safety. That's not what we're all about. Many people have given their lives, their own personal safety, to protect that liberty. It's incumbent upon us to be vigilant into the future to make sure it never happens again. So I appreciate your considering this resolution and for its adoption."

REMARKS BY SENATOR ROLFES

Senator Rolfes: "Thank you Madame President. I also stand in support of this resolution as a proud member of the Bainbridge Island community, which is referenced in the memorial resolution. I would like to say a few words. The internment, the incarceration of Japanese Americans during World War II started on Bainbridge Island from a small ferry dock. And a lot of people, a lot of amateur historians, believed that the first people rounded up by the military and taken to an unknown destiny, because we were a small isolated community, and it was a small pilot project for the military. I don't know that that's true, but for the ensuing years, the sixty plus years that have followed, or is it seventy at this point? The community has borne the scars of that event and the community has come together and tried to heal itself. We've established a memorial which is now part of the National Parks system called Nidoto Nai Yoni, 'Let it not happen again.' And it's a very beautiful memorial, very moving, and very historical, and it commemorates every Bainbridge Islander who was forcibly removed from their homes that day. And I want to say to Senator Hasegawa, and the folks in the gallery as well, that we are as a community, as a Bainbridge Island community, we are working to instill every child, every person, who grows up on Bainbridge Island with a shared memory of this event. And the shared value that this will never happen again. Just last winter, we had a community meeting at the memorial to celebrate diversity in our community and draw strength that was needed at that time against the national tide of anger towards Syrian refugees. And that was a community building experience, and it was a reminder to our youth that we can't let this happen again, that we have to stand up to fear and we need to be leaders and be brave even in times of threat and emergency. And I actually believe strongly that the memorial that we have and the support, the shared support for standing strong, enabled our Governor who is from Bainbridge Island, to be one of the only clear voices this winter on the need to be empathetic and the need to be fair and to not discriminate against refugees based on where they come from. And so I say to Senator Hasegawa and the folks in the gallery, that while not every American shares the family history of the incarceration, it is our goal on Bainbridge Island to make sure that future, all future generations know about it and share the vision and the values of liberty and freedom for all."

By Senators Honeyford, Angel, Cleveland, O'Ban, Miloscia, Chase, Conway, Becker, Baumgartner, Pearson, Rivers, Bailey, Dammeier, Padden, Parlette, King, Dandel, Hobbs, Fain, Benton, Takko, Litzow, Rolfes, Warnick, Billig, Nelson, Hill, Braun, Schoesler, Sheldon, Fraser, Mullet, Ericksen, Brown, Hewitt, and Hargrove

WHEREAS, The Civil Air Patrol has now been in commission for 75 years, since December 1, 1941, just days before the attack on Pearl Harbor, for the purpose of liaison flying and interdiction of infiltrators on the East Coast and southern border of the United States, and thereafter the Civil Air Patrol insignia, a red three-bladed propeller in the Civil Defense white-triangle-in-blue-circle, began appearing; and

WHEREAS, When German submarines began to prey on American ships, the Civil Air Patrol's mission grew to include a 1,000-member coastal patrol, 64 of whom died in service and 26 of whom were lost at sea; and

WHEREAS, After a crew was forced to watch in vain as a grounded submarine off Cape Canaveral, Florida escaped before the military arrived, Civil Air Patrol planes were issued bombs and depth charges, and thereafter the Civil Air Patrol coastal patrol flew 24 million miles and found 173 submarines, ultimately attacking 57, hitting 10, and sinking 2; and

WHEREAS, By presidential executive order, the Civil Air Patrol became an auxiliary of the United States Army Air Forces on April 28, 1943, and several months later the Germans withdrew coastal U-boat operations "because of those damned little red and yellow airplanes"; and

WHEREAS, During the postwar years, the Civil Air Patrol was put to work in search and rescue missions, saving the United States millions of dollars in operational costs as the only organization with the equipment and training to perform this vital job, with military aircraft being far too expensive to operate and flying too fast to accurately spot downed planes and personnel; and

WHEREAS, During the deadly 2014 Oso mudslide, the Civil Air Patrol flew vital supplies to areas unreachable by heavier aircraft, and ground teams helped to evacuate cities and towns; and

WHEREAS, The Civil Air Patrol has a cadet program with over 23,000 participants between the ages of 12 and 20, one of its major attractions being its aerospace program, which provides both classroom and practical instruction in flight and rocketry, and offers each cadet the opportunity to participate in orientation flights in both powered and glider aircraft while learning search and rescue techniques and other valuable skills, emphasizing military history, leadership, and service within the squadron and to the community as a whole; and

WHEREAS, Over 16,000 students in kindergarten through 6th grade completed the Aerospace Connections in Education program developed by the Civil Air Patrol and the United States Air Force; and

WHEREAS, Today's Civil Air Patrol continues its service and commitment to our state and country with three primary missions: Aerospace education, cadet programs, and emergency services; and

WHEREAS, The Washington Wing's commitment to service includes two nationally recognized leaders, Lieutenant Colonel Dave Franklin, the Chaplain of the year in 2014 and Senator (and Lieutenant Colonel) Jim Honeyford, Legislative Squadron Commander of the Year in 2015, along with the many senior members and cadets; and

WHEREAS, In Washington State alone, the Civil Air Patrol is composed of approximately 732 senior members and 624 cadets, who flew their 14 aircraft 1,835 hours in 2015 alone in service to our state, at a value of 4.4 million dollars in volunteer hours; and

WHEREAS, The Washington Wing was ranked first for hours flown per aircraft among all wings in the Civil Air Patrol Pacific Region, which includes wings from Alaska, California, Hawaii, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington, and was ranked 14th for hours flown per wing out of the 57 Civil Air Patrol units nationwide; and

WHEREAS, The Mt. Rainier composite squadron, having won multiple accolades over the last few years and representing their division as well as the state wing of the Civil Air Patrol, have volunteered their time to present the colors;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate recognize the Washington State wing of the Civil Air Patrol for its courageous and unwavering dedication to our citizens; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to Colonel James P. Furlong, Commander of the Civil Air Patrol Washington Wing.

Senators Honeyford and Cleveland spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8717.

The motion by Senator Honeyford carried and the resolution was adopted by voice vote.

By Senators Dansel, Litzow, Ericksen, Sheldon, Carlyle, Hasegawa, Hobbs, Chase, Takko, Billig, Conway, Fraser, Dammeier, Honeyford, Jayapal, and Pedersen

WHEREAS, A teacher in a small rural school district is often presented with unique challenges, expectations, and opportunities of the type not typically experienced in urban districts; and

WHEREAS, Catherine Diane Wilson has spent her entire 37-year career as a teacher in rural districts, with the first 7 years at J.L. Crowe Secondary School in Trail, British Columbia, followed by 30 consecutive years in the neighboring Northport School District in Stevens County; and

WHEREAS, Through the course of her career, Ms. Wilson has posted some varied and remarkable achievements, including starting the first boys' volleyball team at Northport High, and organizing and leading a month long trip to Europe in 1997 for 11 students--after first having to raise $14,000 through a community wide effort to cover travel expenses; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Wilson was the force behind the North Port Pioneer, the first and only student-generated newspaper at Northport High, which she managed and nurtured for 15 years; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Wilson invigorated the drama/theater and performing arts program during a time when other arts programs in the district were getting cut, and for many years was one of the instigators of the famous teacher Christmas skits; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Wilson once caused a very surprised truck driver to swerve and hit a guardrail after he saw her riding down the street on her bicycle wearing a Teletubby costume for school spirit week; and

WHEREAS, With the assistance of a retired local newspaper editor, Ms. Wilson produced a video that showed antiquated school supplies and infrastructure at Northport, featuring textbooks with lice in the seams, moldy walls and carpeting, asbestos-coated ceilings, and a female school bus driver chaining up in the mud; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Wilson then shared the video with the late Senator Bob Morton to show to the Legislature as a way of seeking funding for rural schools that would be less reliant on matching levies; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Wilson has spent her career teaching in a number of disciplines, including French, English, and filling in wherever needed while promoting health, fitness, and the expanded use of technology; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Wilson is retiring this June after a long and enjoyable career that made a huge difference in the lives of many Northport students;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate honor the career of Catherine Diane Wilson as a living example of the kind of devotion, commitment, and dedication that all teachers in rural districts in Washington face through the course of their careers; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Superintendent of the Northport School District in the honor of Ms. Wilson's distinguished teaching career.

The motion by Senator Dansel carried and the resolution was adopted by voice vote.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Dansel: "I was required to get six signatures on this resolution. Evidently, there's a rule that we have to get six signatures and present that to the floor leader. I'm wondering if that's an actual rule that we voted on? When did that become part of the rules? It seems pretty ridiculous to me that I couldn't present a resolution honoring a school teacher from Northport, Washington without getting six signatures. I didn't think it was too controversial. When did this become a rule and did we vote on it?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Dansel, I can answer your question as far as the Senate Rules go. As far as the Senate Rules go, there is absolutely no rule that requires six signatures for any measure to be introduced to the Senate. It takes simply one signature of a senator. It may be a policy issue, but it is simply not an issue that is a rule of the senate."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Rolfes: "Thank you, Mr. President. I just wanted to say we would have accepted his resolution with just one signature."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Dansel: "I'd like to thank the good lady from the 23rd District. I didn't think it was too big of a deal."

(b) Monitoring devices. If the court orders that a person refrain from consuming any alcohol, the court may order the person to submit to alcohol monitoring through an alcohol detection breathalyzer device, transdermal sensor device, or other technology designed to detect alcohol in a person's system. The person shall pay for the cost of the monitoring, unless the court specifies that the cost of monitoring will be paid with funds that are available from an alternative source identified by the court. The county or municipality where the penalty is being imposed shall determine the cost.

(c) Ignition interlock device substituted for 24/7 sobriety program monitoring. In any county or city where a 24/7 sobriety program is available and verified by the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs, the court shall:

(i) Order the person to install and use a functioning ignition interlock or other device in lieu of such period of 24/7 sobriety program monitoring;

(iii) Order the person to install and use a functioning ignition interlock or other device in addition to a period of 24/7 sobriety program monitoring pursuant to subsections (1) through (3) of this section.

(6) Penalty for having a minor passenger in vehicle. If a person who is convicted of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 committed the offense while a passenger under the age of sixteen was in the vehicle, the court shall:

(a) Order the use of an ignition interlock or other device for an additional six months;

(b) In any case in which the person has no prior offenses within seven years, and except as provided in RCW 46.61.502(6) or 46.61.504(6), order an additional twenty-four hours of imprisonment and a fine of not less than one thousand dollars and not more than five thousand dollars. One thousand dollars of the fine may not be suspended unless the court finds the offender to be indigent;

(c) In any case in which the person has one prior offense within seven years, and except as provided in RCW 46.61.502(6) or 46.61.504(6), order an additional five days of imprisonment and a fine of not less than two thousand dollars and not more than five thousand dollars. One thousand dollars of the fine may not be suspended unless the court finds the offender to be indigent.

(7) Other items courts must consider while setting penalties. In exercising its discretion in setting penalties within the limits allowed by this section, the court shall particularly consider the following:

(a) Whether the person's driving at the time of the offense was responsible for injury or damage to another or another's property;

(b) Whether at the time of the offense the person was driving or in physical control of a vehicle with one or more passengers;

(d) Whether a child passenger under the age of sixteen was an occupant in the driver's vehicle.

(8) Treatment and information school. An offender punishable under this section is subject to the alcohol assessment and treatment provisions of RCW 46.61.5056.

(9) Driver's license privileges of the defendant. The license, permit, or nonresident privilege of a person convicted of driving or being in physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs must:

(a) Penalty for alcohol concentration less than 0.15. If the person's alcohol concentration was less than 0.15, or if for reasons other than the person's refusal to take a test offered under RCW 46.20.308 there is no test result indicating the person's alcohol concentration:

(i) Where there has been no prior offense within seven years, be suspended or denied by the department for ninety days;

(ii) Where there has been one prior offense within seven years, be revoked or denied by the department for two years; or

(iii) Where there have been two or more prior offenses within seven years, be revoked or denied by the department for three years;

(i) Where there have been no prior offenses within seven years, be revoked or denied by the department for two years;

(ii) Where there has been one prior offense within seven years, be revoked or denied by the department for three years; or

(iii) Where there have been two or more previous offenses within seven years, be revoked or denied by the department for four years.

The department shall grant credit on a day-for-day basis for any portion of a suspension, revocation, or denial already served under this subsection for a suspension, revocation, or denial imposed under RCW 46.20.3101 arising out of the same incident.

Upon its own motion or upon motion by a person, a court may find, on the record, that notice to the department under RCW 46.20.270 has been delayed for three years or more as a result of a clerical or court error. If so, the court may order that the person's license, permit, or nonresident privilege shall not be revoked, suspended, or denied for that offense. The court shall send notice of the finding and order to the department and to the person. Upon receipt of the notice from the court, the department shall not revoke, suspend, or deny the license, permit, or nonresident privilege of the person for that offense.

For purposes of this subsection (9), the department shall refer to the driver's record maintained under RCW 46.52.120 when determining the existence of prior offenses.

(10) Probation of driving privilege. After expiration of any period of suspension, revocation, or denial of the offender's license, permit, or privilege to drive required by this section, the department shall place the offender's driving privilege in probationary status pursuant to RCW 46.20.355.

(11) Conditions of probation. (a) In addition to any nonsuspendable and nondeferrable jail sentence required by this section, whenever the court imposes up to three hundred sixty-four days in jail, the court shall also suspend but shall not defer a period of confinement for a period not exceeding five years. The court shall impose conditions of probation that include: (i) Not driving a motor vehicle within this state without a valid license to drive; (ii) not driving a motor vehicle within this state without proof of liability insurance or other financial responsibility for the future pursuant to RCW 46.30.020; (iii) not driving or being in physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while having an alcohol concentration of 0.08 or more or a THC concentration of 5.00 nanograms per milliliter of whole blood or higher, within two hours after driving; (iv) not refusing to submit to a test of his or her breath or blood to determine alcohol or drug concentration upon request of a law enforcement officer who has reasonable grounds to believe the person was driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drug; and (v) not driving a motor vehicle in this state without a functioning ignition interlock device as required by the department under RCW 46.20.720(3). The court may impose conditions of probation that include nonrepetition, installation of an ignition interlock device on the probationer's motor vehicle, alcohol or drug treatment, supervised probation, or other conditions that may be appropriate. The sentence may be imposed in whole or in part upon violation of a condition of probation during the suspension period.

(b) For each violation of mandatory conditions of probation under (a)(i), (ii), (iii), (iv), or (v) of this subsection, the court shall order the convicted person to be confined for thirty days, which shall not be suspended or deferred.

(c) For each incident involving a violation of a mandatory condition of probation imposed under this subsection, the license, permit, or privilege to drive of the person shall be suspended by the court for thirty days or, if such license, permit, or privilege to drive already is suspended, revoked, or denied at the time the finding of probation violation is made, the suspension, revocation, or denial then in effect shall be extended by thirty days. The court shall notify the department of any suspension, revocation, or denial or any extension of a suspension, revocation, or denial imposed under this subsection.

(12) Waiver of electronic home monitoring. A court may waive the electronic home monitoring requirements of this chapter when:

(a) The offender does not have a dwelling, telephone service, or any other necessity to operate an electronic home monitoring system. However, if a court determines that an alcohol monitoring device utilizing wireless reporting technology is reasonably available, the court may require the person to obtain such a device during the period of required electronic home monitoring;

(b) The offender does not reside in the state of Washington; or

(c) The court determines that there is reason to believe that the offender would violate the conditions of the electronic home monitoring penalty.

Whenever the mandatory minimum term of electronic home monitoring is waived, the court shall state in writing the reason for granting the waiver and the facts upon which the waiver is based, and shall impose an alternative sentence with similar punitive consequences. The alternative sentence may include, but is not limited to, use of an ignition interlock device, the 24/7 sobriety program monitoring, additional jail time, work crew, or work camp.

Whenever the combination of jail time and electronic home monitoring or alternative sentence would exceed three hundred sixty-four days, the offender shall serve the jail portion of the sentence first, and the electronic home monitoring or alternative portion of the sentence shall be reduced so that the combination does not exceed three hundred sixty-four days.

(13) Extraordinary medical placement. An offender serving a sentence under this section, whether or not a mandatory minimum term has expired, may be granted an extraordinary medical placement by the jail administrator subject to the standards and limitations set forth in RCW 9.94A.728(1)(c).

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Billig: "A point of personal privilege."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Please state your point of personal privilege."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Billig: "Or maybe a point of order, I'm not sure which."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "We'll sort it out for you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Billig: "I'll throw it out there and you can let me know. I wanted to explain for the people watching at home that that amendment to prevent the funding cut was voted by a majority of this body, 25 people voted yes of the 49 senators. So a majority of the senators representing a majority of the people of this state voted yes on that amendment. But, because of a rule put in place by the majority of the Senate, a majority putting in the super majority requirement. I think it's important to know because it could be confusing."

Multiple demands for a point of order were made.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "There is nothing to make a point of order on at this point that I can tell, unless you can explain it to me. Right now it's a point of personal privilege."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Billig: "Yes, thank you. I just want to say it's a minority of the Senators representing a minority of the state that blocked that because of the super majority requirement that has been put in place. In actuality, and if we were ruled by a simple majority of this body, the citizens of this state, the majority of the citizens of this state, represented by their Senators, would have prevented this funding cut to our school districts and our kids. Thank you."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Let me explain: Unless he is impugning your motives, he is not out of order."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schoesler: "Before we voted, a member stated that this was a two-thirds vote. It was not a two-thirds vote, it's a sixty percent majority in the Senate rules."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fain: "I like Senator Billig's tie."

EDITORS'S NOTE: Pursuant to Rule 33, any senator may rise to a question of privilege and explain a personal matter but shall not discuss any pending question in such explanations.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Baumgartner: "Just wanted to remind the viewers at home, the majority of this body also voted for a two-thirds requirement on the threshold to raise taxes and that nearly every district in the state supported that super majority, two-thirds. Unfortunately, we were unable to get that majority requirement to hang as a rule here in the Senate, but I do like the fact that we do have super majorities to do things as a basic rule. It's just important for the people back home to know that."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "You may have been impugning my motives on that one, I'm not sure. (Laughter) I'll take that under consideration."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Frockt: "I would just like to remind the viewers that that two-thirds rule is what it takes when you have a constitutional amendment was put in 100 years ago by the founders of this state in the constitution. So that two-thirds rule that was just referred to is a constitutional requirement. That is far different than what we have on the floor of the Senate."

MOTION

Senator Chase moved that the following amendment no. 686 by Senator Chase be adopted:

On page 267, on line 40, strike "~~($36,500,000)~~ $46,500,000" and insert "$36,500,000"

Supporting agricultural production, including that of apiarists, through the preservation of forage for pollinators.

The measure was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Warnick moved that the following committee striking amendment by the Committee on Agriculture, Water & Rural Economic Development be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The state noxious weed control board shall conduct a pilot project that evaluates the options, methods, and costs of purposefully replacing pollen-rich and nectar-rich noxious weeds, such as knapweeds and nonnative thistles, which are productive forage plants for honey bees, with either native or noninvasive, nonnative forage plants that can produce similar levels of pollen and nectar with a similar bloom succession to support populations of honey bees and other pollinators. The goal of the pilot project is to develop optional guidance and best practices for landowners and land managers faced with the removal of noxious weeds. The pilot project must be developed to maximize the dual public benefits of reducing noxious weeds in Washington and supporting agricultural production through the maintenance of access to seasonally balanced pollen-rich and nectar-rich plants for honey bees and other pollinators.

(2)(a) In implementing the pilot project, the state noxious weed control board must coordinate with willing landowners to provide goods or services, such as plant starts and seed packs, necessary to replace noxious weeds with either native or noninvasive, nonnative plants or to create, in conjunction with noxious weed control efforts, new seasonally balanced forage patches for honey bees and other pollinators.

(b) Priority in participation in the pilot project must be given to interested private landowners located in areas where the dual benefits of the pilot project can be maximized. However, public landowners or managers may also be considered for participation. No landowner may be required to participate in the pilot project either directly or as a condition of a permit or other governmental action.

(3) The implementation details of the pilot project required by this section are at the sole discretion of the state noxious weed control board, including the selection of pilot project partners and participants. However, pilot project partners should be located in both eastern and western Washington. The state noxious weed control board:

(a) Shall coordinate with the county noxious weed control boards in which pilot projects are located, unless the county does not have a local noxious weed control board; and

(b) May coordinate with the state conservation commission or individual conservation districts in the implementation of the pilot project if the state noxious weed control board finds that coordination would be beneficial.

(4) The state noxious weed control board must issue a report to the legislature, consistent with RCW 43.01.036, that outlines the successes and challenges of the pilot project, including the development of the tools in this subsection. This report must be presented by October 31, 2020, and include:

(a) A description of the following tools:

(i) A list of suitable pollen-rich forage plant alternatives to noxious weeds, taking into account traits such as nectar and pollen quality, bloom succession, growth requirements, and habitat type;

(ii) A list of seed and plant start suppliers that may be able to provide pollen-rich forage plant alternatives to noxious weeds. The list may only include suppliers who are willing to ensure the identity and purity of seed through appropriate testing performed or approved by the Washington state department of agriculture or by any other agency authorized under the laws of any state, territory, or possession that has standards and procedures approved by the United States secretary of agriculture to ensure the identity and purity of seed; and

(iii) A matrix, based on the pilot project, to provide guidelines to landowners and land managers when replacing noxious weeds or creating new pollen-rich forage patches;

(b) An assessment scale that may be used by landowners, land managers, and the apiary industry to rate the usefulness of the tools described in this subsection; and

(c) Any recommendations for extending the pilot project or using the lessons learned as part of Washington's overall noxious weed control strategy.

(5) This section expires June 30, 2021.

Sec. 2. RCW 17.10.145 and 1997 c 353 s 18 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) All state agencies shall control noxious weeds on lands they own, lease, or otherwise control through integrated pest management practices. Agencies shall develop plans in cooperation with county noxious weed control boards to control noxious weeds in accordance with standards in this chapter.

(2) All state agencies' lands must comply with this chapter, regardless of noxious weed control efforts on adjacent lands.

(3) While conducting planned projects to ensure compliance with this chapter, all agencies must give preference, when deemed appropriate by the acting agency for the project and targeted resource management goals, to replacing pollen-rich or nectar-rich noxious weeds with native forage plants that are beneficial for all pollinators, including honey bees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 43.220 RCW to read as follows:

Any corps project that involves the removal of noxious weeds must, when deemed appropriate for the project goals by the project sponsor, include the planting of pollen-rich and nectar-rich native plants to provide forage for all pollinators, including honey bees."

On page 1, line 3 of the title, after "pollinators;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 17.10.145; adding a new section to chapter 43.220 RCW; creating a new section; and providing an expiration date."
