2007 REGULAR SESSION

MOTION

Senator McAuliffe moved that the following striking amendment by Senator McAuliffe be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:
(1) Teaching first peoples’ languages and cultures is a critical factor in successful educational experiences and promoting cultural sensitivity for all students. Experience shows such teaching dramatically raises student achievement. The effect is particularly strong for Native American students;
(2) Native American students have the highest high school dropout rate among all groups of students. Less than one-fourth of Native American students in the class of 2008 are on track to graduate based on the results of the Washington assessment of student learning. Positive and supportive educational experiences are critical for Native American students’ success;
(3) The sole expertise of sovereign tribal governments in the transmission of their indigenous languages, heritage, cultural knowledge, customs, and traditions should be honored;
(4) Government-to-government collaboration between the state and the sovereign tribal governments whose traditional lands and territories lie within the borders of the state of Washington serves to implement the spirit of the 1989 centennial accord and other similar government-to-government agreements, including the 2004 accord between the federally recognized Indian tribes with treaty reserved rights in Washington state and the state of Washington;
(5) Establishing a first peoples’ language and culture teacher certification program both achieves educational objectives and models effective government-to-government relationships;
(6) Establishing a first peoples’ language and culture certification program implements the following policy objectives of P.L. 101-477, the federal Native American languages act of 1990, in a tangible way:
(a) To preserve, protect, and promote the rights and freedom of Native Americans to use, practice, and develop Native American languages;
(b) To allow exceptions to teacher certification requirements for federal programs and programs funded in whole or in part by the federal government, for instruction in Native American languages when such teacher certification requirements hinder the employment of qualified teachers who teach in Native American languages, and to encourage state and territorial governments to make similar exceptions;
(c) To encourage and support the use of Native American languages as a medium of instruction in order to encourage and support Native American language survival, educational opportunity, increased student success and performance, increased student awareness and knowledge of their culture, and increased student and community pride;
(d) To encourage state and local education programs to work with Native American parents, educators, Indian tribes, and other Native American governing bodies in the implementation of programs to put this policy into effect; and
(e) To encourage all institutions of elementary, secondary, and higher education, where appropriate, to include Native American languages in the curriculum in the same manner as foreign languages and to grant proficiency in Native American languages the same full academic credit as proficiency in foreign languages;
(7) Establishing a first peoples’ language and culture certification program is consistent with the intent of presidential executive order number 13336 from 2004, entitled "American Indian and Alaska native education," to assist students in meeting the challenging student academic standards of P.L. 107-110, the no child left behind act of 2001, in a manner that is consistent with tribal traditions, languages, and cultures.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 28A.410 RCW to read as follows:
(1) The Washington state first peoples' language and culture teacher certification program is established. The professional educator standards board shall adopt rules to implement the program in collaboration with the sovereign tribal governments whose traditional lands and territories lie within the borders of the state of Washington, including the tribal leader congress on education and the first peoples' language and culture committee. The collaboration required under this section shall be defined by a standards board, the office of the superintendent of public instruction, and the sovereign tribal governments whose traditional lands and territories lie within the borders of the state of Washington.

(2) Any sovereign tribal government whose traditional lands and territories lie within the state may participate individually on a government-to-government basis in the program.

(a) Only a participating sovereign tribal government may certify individuals who meet the tribe's criteria for certification as a teacher in the Washington state first peoples' language and culture program. Before certification of the individual, the participating sovereign tribal government may conduct a background check through the tribal police departments within Washington state to determine, to the extent possible, whether the individual has been convicted of any crimes that may otherwise disqualify the person from being awarded a teacher certificate and provide the information to the office of the superintendent of public instruction. The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall not authorize or accept a certificate or endorsement in Washington state first peoples' language and culture without certification from a participating sovereign tribal government and without conducting a record check of an individual applying for certification as required under RCW 28A.410.010;

(b) For each teacher to be certified in the program, the participating sovereign tribal government shall submit information and documentation necessary for the issuance of a state certificate, as defined by rule, to the office of the superintendent of public instruction;

(c) A Washington state first peoples' language and culture teacher certificate serves as a subject area endorsement in first peoples' language and culture. The holder of a Washington state first peoples' language and culture teacher certificate who does not also hold an initial, residency, or professional teaching certificate authorized by the professional educator standards board may be assigned to teach only the languages and cultures designated on the certificate and no other subject;

(d) In order to teach first peoples' language and culture, teachers must hold certificates from both the office of the superintendent of public instruction and from the sovereign tribal government;

(e) The holder of a Washington state first peoples' language and culture teacher certificate meets Washington state's definition of a highly qualified teacher under Public Law 107-110, the no child left behind act of 2001, for the purposes of teaching first peoples' language and culture, subject to approval by the United States department of education.

(4) First peoples' language/culture teacher certificates issued by the state board of education or the professional educator standards board under a pilot program before the effective date of this section remain valid as certificates under this section, subject to the provisions of this chapter.

(5) Schools and school districts on or near tribal reservations are encouraged to contract with sovereign tribal governments whose traditional lands and territories lie within the borders of the state of Washington and first peoples' language and culture certification programs for in-service teacher training and continuing education in the culture appropriate for their geographic area, as well as suggested pedagogy and instructional strategies.

Sec. 3. RCW 28A.415.020 and 2006 c 263 s 808 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Certificated personnel shall receive for each ten clock hours of approved in-service training attended the equivalent of a one credit college quarter course on the salary schedule developed by the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee.

(2) Certificated personnel shall receive for each ten clock hours of approved continuing education earned, as continuing education is defined by rule adopted by the professional educator standards board, the equivalent of a one credit college quarter course on the salary schedule developed by the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee.

(3) Certificated personnel shall receive for each forty clock hours of participation in an approved internship with a business, an industry, or government, as an internship is defined by rule of the professional educator standards board in accordance with RCW 28A.415.025, the equivalent of a one credit college quarter course on the salary schedule developed by the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee.

(4) An approved in-service training program shall be a program approved by a school district board of directors, which meet standards adopted by the professional educator standards board, and the development of said program has been participated in by an in-service training task force whose membership is the same as provided under RCW 28A.415.040, or a program offered by an education agency approved to provide in-service for the purposes of continuing education as provided for under rules adopted by the professional educator standards board, or both.

(5) Clock hours eligible for application to the salary schedule developed by the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee as described in subsections (1) and (2) of this section, shall be those hours acquired after August 31, 1987. Clock hours eligible for application to the salary schedule as described in subsection (3) of this section shall be those hours acquired after December 31, 1995.

(6) In-service training or continuing education in first peoples' language or culture provided by a sovereign tribal government participating in the Washington state first peoples' language and culture program authorized under section 2 of this act shall be considered approved in-service training or approved continuing education under this section and RCW 28A.415.023.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Hewitt: “Thank you Mr. President. There was a suggestion on the floor that this was against the constitution so I’m not sure what we would ask for on this ruling. Would that ruling come from you as to whether it’s a special piece of legislation, special interest legislation?”

Senator Brown: “Thank you Mr. President, I was not clear on the point raised by the Senator but it seems to me he was speaking to the constitutionality issue that was raised during the debate. My point would be to suggest that although we appreciate your rulings on many issues the President does not normally rule on constitutional questions.”
FIFTY-EIGHTH DAY, MARCH 6, 2007

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Brown, you would be correct except for the cases when there is a rule of the Senate that is in direct relationship to the constitution or in determining the number of votes necessary because of the constitution. So, that therefore there are times when the President does rule. As a rule, the President does not on issues of constitutionality, that could be and would be determined by the courts. The President believes that that’s where this ruling would go but we’re trying to figure out how exactly, how we get to that answer, not to make that answer come out, but in order to give it to you in the correct fashion, so that’s what we’re debating up here.”

POINT OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Sheldon: “Since I’d raised this originally, I’d just like to make a quick, if I could, a quick argument. That usually sways you I know…..”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Hewitt, the President believes that the answer to your question is a point of order would be raised as to whether or not this legislation is appropriately before us because of the prohibitions against special legislation of Article 2, Section 28 of the constitution. Should you raise that question the President would rule that it is a question that would be determined not by the President because it is not parliamentary issue. it is a constitutional issue that would be determined by the courts. So you can raise it if you would like.”

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Sheldon: “Mr. President, thinking Article 2, Section 28, the constitution is very clear in delineating that special legislation must not be used, must not be enacted by the Legislature to overturn and to change civil law. It appears, in this case that the State Court of Appeals has ruled in this issue. And I think it’s a straightforward case of the Legislature trying to undo a court decision.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Sheldon has raised the point of order that this legislation would be considered special legislation and conflict prohibited by Article 2, Section 28 and therefore is not properly before us.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Senator Sheldon, in ruling on your point of order on this issue the President has consistently provided that it is the Legislature’s responsibility to determine whether or not they feel an issue is constitutional or is not. It is not the President’s place to make that determination, yet the courts. If the Legislature is wrong, then the courts will make that determination but not the President. Therefore, your point of order is not well taken.”

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6011.
