SPEAKER'S REMARKS

Speaker Jinkins: “Thank you, Chair Peters, for welcoming us to the ancestral homeland of the Squaxin Island people. We are honored to have you joining us for opening day of the 2024 session. And celebrate the government-to-government relationship we have with Washington’s sovereign tribes.

Thank you, Rabbi Goldstein and Imam Kaddoura for being here today and lifting us all with your shared words of guidance and reflection. And thank you, Evan, for that glorious rendition of our national anthem.

I want to say a special welcome to the newest member of our body, Representative Nance. Thank you for your willingness to serve the people of your community. And for bringing the dedication and commitment you’ve poured into your other successful endeavors here to our collective work in The People’s House.

I also want to recognize the new Minority Leader, as well as the new Deputy Minority Leader. Drew and Mike, it was great to spend time with each of you in your districts. And I look forward to continuing to work with both of you in your new leadership roles.

Before I go into my remarks, I want to recognize the global context of this moment. The world is smaller every day. And things happening on the other side of the world can have just as big of an impact on us as the things that happen in our own communities. I know that I, and many others in this chamber, have felt this deeply over the last few months. We have seen how anti-Semitism anywhere leads to increased attacks against our Jewish community members and their places of worship. We have seen how the rise in Islamophobia, and the xenophobia closely tied to it, leads to attacks on our Islamic, Muslim, and Sikh community members and their places of worship. Here, we have worked together to strengthen our hate crime laws and increase security for non-profits, including religious organizations. And we will continue to fight anti-Semitism, Islamophobia, xenophobia, anti-Asian hate, anti-Blackness and the other social ills that put the safety and prosperity of Washingtonians at risk.

Members of the House, people of the great state of Washington – I stand before you today both optimistic and determined about the next 60 days. And, on this auspicious day, I mustn’t go one moment longer without proclaiming GO DAWGS!

When I was first chosen as Speaker-elect by my caucus, I set out across the state to visit every House member in every district before the 2020 session. My biggest takeaway from those visits was that we are all committed to making things better for the people we serve. That shared commitment helped our state fare better than most during a global pandemic, and we should be proud of that. Last year I again traveled the state to meet with as many of you as possible. And my optimism and determination are a result of the connections made in those visits. Whether it was a cup of coffee, a meal, a walk, or a tour of a noteworthy location in your districts, some common themes emerged in these visits that underscore how interconnected we are as Washingtonians. I don’t think there’s a district in this state where I haven’t visited a restaurant, a diner, or a coffee shop of some sort. Many of you chose to meet me in one of these locations over the last few months. And I saw time and again how deeply rooted you all are in your communities by the informal interactions with constituents while we were out. Like with Representative Klicker in Walla Walla. And with Representative Reed in Seattle’s Belltown neighborhood.

We keep hearing our state has the strongest economy in the nation. In fact, we were just recently ranked as the number one economy again by WalletHub. And maybe you’ve questioned those rankings at some point. But I can tell you unequivocally; after seeing establishments in every corner of the state bustling with customers, I feel very positive about the strength of our economy. I’m glad we made record investments in relief for sectors hit hard by the pandemic. Like our hospitality-related businesses. But we know our top ranking doesn’t tell the whole story. And doesn’t speak for everyone in our state.

In my visits with you, I heard over and over the ongoing challenges of housing, homelessness, and the divide between families who can afford to buy multi-million dollar homes, and those who cannot afford any home at all. Last year, we took some big bipartisan steps to address the housing shortage in our state. We passed a middle housing bill. We eased barriers to accessory dwelling units. We put the dream of homeownership within reach of folks who were historically excluded from it. And we made big investments in our Housing Trust Fund to build more affordable housing across our state.

But those aren’t the only steps we need to take. Those victories didn’t do anything for the constituent I met at one of my coffee hours this summer. She is a retired senior citizen, single, living on a fixed income. And her rent has gone up 70 percent over the last two years. 70 PERCENT! She doesn’t know if she can even afford to stay in her home. And isn’t sure where she’ll go if she can’t. Across Washington, people are facing skyrocketing rents. They are stressed. They are afraid. And they are asking us to help. We should help them with more predictability and stability. We can’t let them down.

Our economy may be strong, but there are too many families struggling to find childcare. And even if they do find it, they often can’t afford it. The childcare crisis is bad for both workers and employers in Washington, because even though our economy is creating good-paying jobs, without access to child care, too many qualified workers can’t fill or keep those jobs. That’s bad news for the workforce shortages we’re already grappling with.

Housing and childcare are integral to having a strong economy. I know this. You all know this. And that’s why we’re going to make sure every Washingtonian has stable, secure housing. And every working parent can access quality, affordable childcare. I hope you’re all with me on this.

When I came to your districts, several of you invited me into your homes and shared a meal with me. Which was a special treat. Some of you, like Representative Wylie, cooked one of the best dinners I’ve ever had. Some of you, like Representative Connors, made me a delicious breakfast. Some of you, like Representative McEntire, invited me to your family dinner. Where I was served a dish that’s now become a staple in my family too. And some of you, like Representative Kretz and his wife, served my wife and me the best darn slice of apple cake we’ve ever had. By the way, Joel – my wife still raves to this day about the coffee you served us a few years ago. So between that, the apple cake and the beautiful land you live on, you’re guaranteed we’ll be back again.

Sitting around your family tables, meeting your spouses, having good food and good conversation together, it was clear to me how interconnected we all are. But right now, across Washington, too many families are missing someone who isn’t there because they’re struggling with a behavioral health challenge. And they cannot access the treatment they need to get well. We’re all too aware of the toll of the opioid crisis. And how fentanyl is killing Washingtonians. Including an alarming increase in fentanyl poisonings and deaths in children. That’s why we are going to expand access to behavioral health by investing in our workforce, and expanding community-based care and inpatient treatment in our communities.

I’m excited our UW behavioral health teaching hospital is coming online in June, which will increase available bed capacity, and be a boon to training our behavioral health workforce. Thank you, Frank, for making this happen five years ago. It’s incredibly gratifying to see it come to fruition.

We’re going to address the opioid crisis and prevent toxic drug poisonings by ramping up opioid education and awareness for young people. Ensuring overdose reversal medications are widely available. And increasing safety and supports for families impacted by the fentanyl crisis. Expanding treatment, both inpatient services and low barrier access to outpatient services. And enhancing access to recovery supports. So people can stay healthy and rebuild their lives. Tribal communities have been the most severely impacted by fentanyl and its devastation. No community wants to be at the forefront of this crisis, but Tribes are also leading the way with model programs that remove barriers to treatment. And we would be wise to listen to their voices and learn from their approach. Thank you, Representative Lekanoff, for bringing us together.

I had a lot of great food in your districts, but I also had some good exercise. These excursions reinforced for me how beautiful and special our state is. I walked along Puget Sound from the Port of Seattle to the Olympic Sculpture Park with Representative Berry. Representative Callan took me to see Jakob Two Trees, the amazing, 14-foot troll statue along the Rainier Trail near Issaquah. Representatives Griffey and Couture took me on a tour of a sawmill that is one of the district's major employers. Underscoring the importance of healthy forests for both our environment and our economy. And while it was too far to walk, I saw some of the most gorgeous, remote areas of our state while driving the back roads from Pomeroy to Colfax when going from visiting Representative Dye to visiting Representative Schmick.

I came to Washington 36 years ago to attend law school as a young Midwesterner who grew up in a farming community. Seeing the different regions of our state, each with its own distinctive beauty, and finishing the 505 miles of Washington's portion of the Pacific Crest Trail this past year, has made me fall in love where we live all over again. I'm so proud of the progress we've made to protect our state from the impacts of climate change. And I'm determined we are not going back on that progress. We're not going back on rebates for electric heat pumps and weatherization grants. We're not going back on converting school buses from noisy, dirty diesel to electric. We're not going back on addressing rising asthma rates in our children. Washingtonians know climate change is real. They know it is a threat. They want us to take this threat seriously and act to protect their families, their homes, their communities, their health, their quality of life, and the strong economy we have. The very air we breathe is at stake if we don't protect our investments in a cleaner, better future for our state. So, we're going to protect those and keep moving forward on climate.

Speaking of not going backwards, I want to be clear that as long as I'm Speaker of this House, we will protect every person's bodily autonomy. When the decisions you make for yourself do not impact the health or safety of others, no one but you should be making them. When the US Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade, I said this state would remain a beacon of light and hope for all impacted by this terrible decision. That is exactly what we are for patients coming here from states with draconian anti-choice laws. Desperately seeking reproductive health care. These are laws that deny care to women. Even at the cost of their lives! Not in Washington state. Not only will we be here to help you get the reproductive or gender-affirming care you need, we've also made sure other states can't punish you for coming here to seek that legal and necessary care.

This may seem like a lot to tackle for a short session. But everything is interconnected. Housing and behavioral health. Childcare and workforce. Climate and the economy.

Our challenges don't exist in siloes. And we cannot solve them in siloes. We only have 60 days, but I'm optimistic and determined. We talked about our mutual challenges when I visited your districts. And I invite you all to work together with me on solutions.

Let's protect renters from skyrocketing rents. Let's help working families access childcare. Let's help people access behavioral health care. Let's prevent fentanyl deaths in our communities. Let's protect our hard-won investments in clean air and clean energy innovation. And continue to act on climate. And tell me what won't work in your districts. I've been to your communities. I know that while we're all interconnected, different regions face unique challenges and sometimes a one-size-fits-all solution won't work. Let's talk about that. We're not always going to agree, and that's OK. We just need to keep moving forward because Washingtonians expect progress. So let's make it happen. Go Dawgs!"

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Stokesbary: "Madame Speaker, it's a privilege to be standing here today, representing Washington's 31st Legislative District for the 2024 session. And it's an honor that my colleagues on this side of the aisle have elected me as their caucus leader.

I'm so proud to represent Washington House Republicans—a group of 40 men and women who are deeply committed to improving the lives of their constituents.

We wouldn't be here for the next 60 days, away from our family, friends and community if we didn't believe in Washington's tremendous potential.

And make no mistake, Washington has tremendous potential. We have incredible natural resources, we have financial capital, we have human capital. All of the ingredients to make Washington the best place to live, work and raise a family.

But in too many ways, our beloved Washington state is going in the wrong direction.

There is a catalogue of crises facing our great state. We have the fourth highest homeless rate in the country. We had the highest cost of gas in the country at one point last year. And Seattle has the ninth highest cost of living in the country. We have the 4th highest combined sales tax rate in the country. We set a new record for violent crime in 2023 and are second in the country for property crime. We are the 3rd most expensive state to buy a home. We had the largest increase in drug overdose deaths of any state over the past year. We are 35th in the nation for business climate, down from number fifteen in 2022. 70% of K-12 students are failing math standards and 50% are failing reading standards.

Madame Speaker, it's time for a change. It's time to fix Washington. It's not just me saying that. It's not just House Republicans. The issues I just listed are exactly what respondents to last week's Crosscut/Elway survey identified were the most important issues the Legislature should focus on during this session: Homelessness; Cost of living; Taxes; Crime; Housing; Drugs; the Economy; Education.

We must fix these crises, and fix Washington.

Now, I recognize that it is easy for a minority caucus to do nothing more than criticize the majority. Tautologically, the votes of minority legislators are not necessary to form a governing majority.

But Madame Speaker, House Republicans here in Washington want to help resolve the numerous crises confronting our state. Most of our constituents don't care if something is a Democratic idea or a Republican idea. They just want good ideas. And I am here to share just some of the meaningful, constructive policy solutions that members of my caucus stand ready to offer this session.

We must fix the public safety crisis. Over the past five years, criminal activity has exploded in Washington: Homicide is up 96% since 2019; We rank number three for automobile theft, number two for property crime, and number one for retail theft; 61% of violent crimes go unsolved. Perhaps no surprise when our state ranks dead last in police officers per capita. We should provide recruitment and retention bonuses for police officers to improve both manpower and morale. We should toughen penalties for concealment and organized retail theft—topics Rep. Griffey has been working on for years—so that law enforcement has the tools to go after property crime. And most importantly, we should bring to the floor HB 1363, which has dozens of co-sponsors in both of our caucuses, reinstating vehicular pursuit laws so that officers can track down the perpetrators of these crimes.

Fix the drug crisis. Tragically, Washington is at the epicenter of the fentanyl crisis. As I mentioned, Washington experienced the largest increase in drug overdose deaths of any state this past year. The amount of fentanyl seized by the DEA in our state has increased 1670% since 2019. Opioid deaths have more than doubled since 2019.

While many House Republicans voted for a landmark drug possession law during a special session last May, that legislation is aimed at individual drug users, many of whom are suffering from substance use disorder. But just because we increasingly recognize that drug addiction is as much a health issue as a criminal one, surely we can recognize that the manufacturers and distributors of these deadly drugs do not deserve an open hand. Representative Mosbrucker has introduced legislation to enhance penalties for fentanyl distribution, to reduce the flow of illegal drugs through our state. Representative Maycumber is working on legislation to establish a new Bureau of Narcotics within the State Patrol to fight sophisticated drug trafficking rings that operate across local government jurisdictional boundaries. And Representative Graham has a bill that would make it a crime to expose children and vulnerable adults to fentanyl and other controlled substances.

Fix the affordability crisis. High taxes and burdensome regulations have driven up the cost of living for middle-class families in Washington. Housing and transportation cost 30% more in Washington compared to the national average. Our state has the fourth highest combined sales tax rate in the country, which disproportionately hurts low-income families.

And thanks to the Climate Commitment Act (CCA), Washington drivers currently pay the third highest gas prices in the nation. Representative Connors has introduced a bill to provide a one-time rebate to drivers, funded by surplus CCA revenue, to help offset the high price of gas caused by the CCA. Washington remains one of the only states in the country to have not enacted broad-based tax relief since the pandemic began. This will be the first, and hopefully last time I suggest we follow the lead of states like New York and California, but they managed to cut taxes. So we should be able to as well. Representative Orcutt is proposing a 0.5% reduction in the state sales tax, which will primarily benefit lower-income families and will help make our state's tax system more fair.

Fix the housing and homelessness crisis. Thanks to years of irrational land use policy and costly building regulations, Washington has the fewest number of housing units per household of any state. As a result, we rank as the third most expensive state to buy a home, 88% of families can no longer afford a median priced home, half of all renters are cost burdened paying more than 30% of their income toward rent. As housing costs go up, even the most affordable housing becomes unattainable for many individuals. Further fueling the homelessness crisis. Washington now has the fourth largest homeless population in the country and it's continuing to climb. Growing at an unprecedented rate of 11% in 2023. While we work our way out of this housing and homelessness crisis, we must require that cities and counties remove encampments near schools, parks, playground, and childcare centers. And give them the tools to do so. Then we must increase the supply of all types of housing. To that end, Representative Cheney has introduced legislation to incentivize landlords to voluntarily lower or freeze rental costs. Thereby creating stable and affordable housing through a new tax credit program. Representative Connors has a bill to provide downpayment assistance to nurses, doctors, firefighters, police, childcare workers and other critical professions that need to be able to afford housing in our state. Representative Jacobsen introduced a bill, drawn from her experience on the Puyallup City Council, to authorize cities and counties to create a simple housing permit process for affordable housing units in certain areas.

Fix the education crisis. Despite over 50% of the state near general fund budget going to K-12, academic performance is plummeting. According to OSPI's own report card, currently 70% of students are failing math standards and 50% are failing reading standards. Tragically, the scores are even worse for minority and low-income children who fell further behind their peers during the prolonged school closures. Over the past few years, public schools have lost over 60,000 students. Suggesting that families are not satisfied with the education they are receiving. Representative Rude is working on legislation to put tutors in every school and more paraeducators in classrooms because we know that high-dosage tutoring is the most effective intervention to get students back on track. Representative Corry has introduced a bill to fund literacy coaches in elementary schools, prioritizing low-income students and those who have fallen furthest behind their peers, since we know that 3rd grade reading ability is often a leading indicator of academic success or failure. Last session this body passed a bill sponsored by Representative McEntire that would have created a new grant program to help school districts in economically disadvantaged areas build new schools because all children deserve access to a world-class education, regardless of income. We should pass that bill again this session.

And we should not be so vain as to insist that public schools are the only environment worthy of our support. Nor should we be so vacuous as to believe that supporting one student's needs means depriving other students who have different needs. Representative Eslick has introduced a bill that would fund education savings accounts for students who are low-income, eligible for special education, or in persistently failing schools, so that all children can exercise the privilege of attending private school or homeschool. Not just those who can afford it.

Fix the childcare crisis. After a decade of excessive regulations, Washington's childcare system is broken. There are massive childcare deserts across our state and 63% of children under five don't have access to nearby childcare. And most families that are able to find childcare can't afford it. Our state has the ninth most expensive infant care in the nation. The average family spends over 35% of their income to send two children to childcare. Many of our members are proud to cosponsor HB 1716, which would provide a B&O tax credit to employers that voluntarily provide childcare assistance to employees to help ensure parents can remain in the workforce. Representative Chambers is developing a proposal to extend paid family leave benefits to new moms for six months. Which is good for babies and mothers and will also reduce pressure on a grossly overextended infant childcare market. Representatives Couture and Jacobsen have bills that would relax licensing, regulatory and zoning requirements for providers in childcare deserts to ensure children have access to care and parents can get to work. No matter where they live.

Now, I recognize that this is a short, supplemental session. Even if we could all agree on not just the symptoms, but the treatment, it would be difficult to comprehensively address these problems in the next 60 days. But that doesn't mean we shouldn't try. To paraphrase President Kennedy, 'we should seek solutions to these issues. Not because they are easy. But because they are hard.' Over the next 60 days, we must have the honesty to admit when we were wrong and the humility to consider new approaches. And meanwhile, we must avoid the hubris to think that good intentions are a sufficient condition for good policies.

So I'll end where I began. Washington state is full of potential. And none of us would be here if we didn't think we could help. But there is a catalogue of crises confronting our great state. It's time for a change, Madame Speaker. Let's fix Washington."

There being no objection, the House advanced to the fourth order of business.

STATE OF THE STATE

Governor Inslee: "Good afternoon. I would like to thank the Reverend Dee Eisenhauer for the invocation. And Bobby Ray and Shalah 'Rose' McCarthy for their wonderful voices.

Mr. President, Madame Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, members of the Legislature, Tribal leaders, local leaders, members of the Consular Corps, and my fellow Washingtonians. I come to you as a governor, as a granddad, and as a Washingtonian. To thank you and your families for your contributions to our efforts. My staff and their families deserve credit as well. Particularly my family and a very special person to me - Trudi. I love seeing the childcare center she inspired us to build for our Capitol families. Among many causes she's advocated for as First Spouse. I love you Trudi and I'm not alone.

Let's cut to the chase. I'm happy to report we have been, we are, and we will always be the strongest state in the nation. In fact, the state of our state is stronger than ever. For over a decade, we've advanced nation-leading policies to support working families. Grown our economy. And acted boldly to protect our state's iconic spaces and salmon. We've advanced equity. Built more housing. Fought for a woman's right to choose. And ushered in a clean energy economy. In an era of tremendous transition and change, Washington has emerged as a beacon of progress in this nation. This year, we are going to make sure that light shines brighter.

This is my eleventh time addressing this chamber. And I have a bigger audience each year. There are one million more Washingtonians today than when I took office. Because Washington is the place to be. I welcome our new Washingtonians who have seen the genius and promise of our state. The minimum wage was nine dollars in 2013 and today it's over sixteen dollars. Wages overall have grown by thirty nine percent - double the national rate. Our GDP has grown forty five percent. From five hundred twenty-eight billion dollars in 2013 to seven hundred sixty-eight billion dollars today. And we're among the few states that rank as both a top state for business and for workers.

As we contemplate this next year and the work ahead, I think back to my dad, who coached track at Sealth High School. He told his runners to imagine the finish line was 10 yards beyond the finish line. My father always said, and this is what sticks with me, "Fellas, run through the tape!" so they wouldn't let up before the race was over. We are going to run through the tape this year. Just as I know you'll give this state your best work, I'll give mine. This is not a farewell speech. These are not famous last words. I'm not riding into the sunset. Winston Churchill said, 'This is not time for ease and comfort. It is time to dare and endure.'

We will not relent to our greatest challenges. We will not go backward. This is the Evergreen State. And the Ever Forward State. And we're going ever forward on our evergreen agenda. Climate change is our present challenge. But climate collapse does not have to be inevitable. This Legislature put us on a clear - and necessary - path to slash greenhouse gases 95% by 2050. We will hold our ground.

Any delay would be a betrayal of our children's future. We are on the razor's edge between promise and peril. We know this when historic floods gut homes that stood for generations. Or when wildfires force the evacuation of entire towns like Medical Lake last year. And the need for climate action is felt daily for Washingtonians living with pollution. There are neighborhoods today in Washington where people are dying two and a half years younger on average because of pollution. This pollution is harmful to the lives of Washingtonians in communities like Everett, Wenatchee, Mattawa, Spokane, the Tri-Cities, the Yakima Valley, Shoreline, South King County, and Tacoma. There are neighborhoods in these communities where people are forced to live sicker and die younger because of this pollution.

We have made a solemn oath to our children, and their children. And in that noble mission we will neither flag nor fail. We will go on to give them the grandest of blessings. A healthy Washington. Instead of taking rank with defeatists who live in the grey twilight of pessimism. Thanks to this Legislature's budget priorities, we can help more people like Elisa Garcia, a farmworker in Toppenish. Her home was one of 32 in Yakima County that had rooftop solar installed. Thanks to a state program specifically geared toward farmworkers. Her home now produces 100% of its energy from her own roof. Her family's energy bills are zero. And it would not have been possible without this Legislature. Elisa and her daughter, Jasmin, are here with us today. Thank you, both.

You're going to hear many more stories this year and beyond about how our climate policies are making life better for Washington families. The Climate Commitment Act (CCA) is letting us invest in work that reduces pollution and creates good-paying jobs. It's funding electric school buses. Eight million free transit rides for youth and counting. Filtration systems in schools so students can breathe when there's wildfire smoke outside. And public chargers for electric vehicles. This is money going right back to Washington families. It's not going off to Houston or other oil hubs with the oil industry's record $200 billion in profits in 2022.

Now we have more we can give back to our communities. I'm proposing a $200 utility bill credit for one out of every three households in Washington. That's nearly two million low- and moderate-income Washingtonians. We will help thousands more families install energy-efficient heat pumps that cut emissions and energy bills. This law also makes it easier to invest in our infrastructure, including hybrid-electric ferries, and safer bike and pedestrian routes. From sustainable aviation fuels and EV battery manufacturing in Moses Lake to electric buses in Ferndale. We're attracting and creating thousands of good-paying jobs in clean energy and clean technology. And as fossil fuel jobs go away, we're training those workers - the folks who worked at places like TransAlta - for jobs in this new clean energy economy. These jobs are coming on quickly. The new Pacific Northwest federal hydrogen hub will create 8,000 jobs alone for the production and distribution of green hydrogen to reduce pollution. Here's something else about the fossil fuel industry. For decades, we've been subjected to the rollercoaster of gas prices. We're going to do something about price transparency in Washington this session. I understand why people are frustrated about gas prices. The oil and gas industry's books are closed to the public. It's time for transparency and accountability.

I believe this Legislature is capable of even more extraordinary achievements. Because I've seen it happen every year I've been here. Don't forget moments like 2018, the end of the McCleary saga, when we moved heaven and earth to fulfill our paramount duty of funding education in the state of Washington.

Now I hope you'll join me by increasing pay for 32,000 paraeducators by three dollars an hour. Again raising the cap on special education funding. And creating incentives for more teachers to serve special needs students. And once students have graduated, they now have more pathways than ever. This Legislature has created one of the most generous college financial aid programs in the country. But college isn't the only pathway to success. Which is why we've also greatly increased support for apprenticeships.

Bryan Orihuela of Auburn was going to be an engineer. But then he was in a traumatic car accident. Followed by high medical bills. He had to leave college. Fortunately, he got connected to Computing for All's pre-apprenticeship program, which this Legislature helped support with Career Connect Washington grants. Now he's a developer at a mental health app. And Bryan is also here today. Bryan, thank you.

This Legislature cares about people. I know that because of what you've done. This state saved thousands upon thousands of lives when COVID struck. We are now just one of a handful of states with the tools to curb excessive drug costs. We have more ways to grow our health care workforce. We've passed the nation's best Paid Family Medical Leave program. In fact, I heard a story about this just the other day when I biked up to the Town & Country market on Bainbridge to get some maple bars for my grandkids. This woman behind the counter said, 'Governor, I have to tell you something' - and my fellow electeds know when a constituent leads with something cryptic that you could be in for anything.

But she said, 'Governor, I had a broken wrist last year and I couldn't do my job. And the only thing that kept my family afloat was that Paid Family Medical Leave law.' I hope you're all having these conversations in your districts as well, because your policies are making an enormous difference in people's lives.

Protecting access to health care is helping Washingtonians like Sheena and John Wilson from Mount Vernon. Sheena's husband John was diagnosed with cancer. Sheena expected their health costs would go up to $3,000 a month. Until she accessed the benefits of our Cascade Care public option. Her family now pays $108 a month and the most they'll pay out-of-pocket this year for her husband's cancer treatment is $2,500 total. John and Sheena are here with us today from Mount Vernon. Thank you both and good luck, too.

Our policies change lives when they're focused on the people we're here to serve. We give people the chance to succeed. People-focused policies are also how we're addressing homelessness. Some think we can just wave a wand and those living in homelessness will disappear. But this is the real world. And we have an honest solution: Build housing and connect people to the right services. And they will succeed. This time last year a woman named Starr Draper found herself in a right-of-way encampment at First Avenue and Michigan Street in Seattle. No one can live in danger and expect their conditions to improve. No one can be swept from one dark corner to another and expect life to get better. We must lift people up and give them the tools, the services and the power of community necessary to get life on track. State and local collaboration got Starr on her journey to wellness. Starr said this program 'renewed my trust.' She's got work. She's got a safe, private place to live. And Starr is here today. Thank you for inspiring us.

Washingtonians can see that dozens of encampments along our highways are gone. And that'll continue if we make the necessary investments. And they're going to see thousands more new housing units. Thanks to our work as well. I want to thank this Legislature for going big on housing last session and trusting that it was a necessary decision to put one billion dollars toward new housing already this biennium.

These aren't the only ways we're making life safer for Washingtonians while I've been in office. We all want to take steps to increase public safety- it's not just one thing, but many approaches.

This Legislature was bold enough to stand up to the NRA and pass some of the best gun reforms in America. It did not matter how many defeats we had to take. We finally banned assault weapons in this state. Gun reform is public safety. Washington state also needs more police officers. And that's what this budget would do. My budget funds more state troopers and forensic scientists, an organized retail theft task force, and more funding for drug trafficking investigations. We're removing barriers to careers in policing by establishing training centers all over the state. Where more recruits are getting some of the best training in the country. Including de-escalation training. We're joined today by the Pasco Police Department's own Claudia Fuentes. Claudia would not be a police officer today if this Legislature had not invested in more Criminal Justice Training Centers like in Pasco. It was impossible for a parent to spend four and a half months away from home for training in Burien. But because we invested in these training centers, Officer Fuentes got to go home from the academy every night. And because she had this resource, the people of Pasco are safer. Thank you, Claudia.

We must also continue improving behavioral health services in our state. I recently met someone whose family was devastated by fentanyl. Who called it 'the nuclear weapon of drugs.' We propose $64 million in new spending to fight against opioids and fentanyl. We're going to invest in education, community health hubs, overdose prevention, treatment access, and recovery supports. We're going to support people with stories like Holle Edwards, a member of the Swinomish Tribe whose life languished in addiction to meth and heroin before she got help at local resource centers. Holle got her life back. And she's now a recovery counselor helping people on the same journey at a wellness center in Anacortes.

Holle is here today with her uncle, Swinomish Chair Steve Edwards. Thanks for what you do. Not just for tribal members but our whole community.

This Legislature works wonders when it embraces ambition. We've passed the two biggest transportation funding packages in state history during my time in office - Connecting Washington and Move Ahead Washington. Yet we know we still face questions about how to meet our obligations.

I don't expect we'll have all the answers this year. But there are things we can do in the next 60 days. Which includes helping our ferry system. We're already investing in cleaner, more efficient ferries. And I've directed State Ferries to look for ways to expedite boat construction. But we also must do everything possible to increase staffing and build new boats faster.

We've pursued some of the most transformative policies in the nation in my time in office. For example, I'm proud the leaders of our state are under no illusion that social justice issues were settled 60 years ago with the Civil Rights Act. We will continue advancing social justice. We have made equity a part of everything we do in state government with environmental justice policies such as the HEAL Act and a new agency, the Office of Equity. We must sustain our progress against racism's pernicious influence on the past and present. The work for a more perfect union continues.

Before I close, I want to say there are two grave threats in the United States and in our state today. One threat is to the basic tenants and blessings of democracy. The other is the ongoing assault on a woman's right of choice. We have not forgotten the U.S. Supreme Court's frightening decision to eliminate Roe v. Wade. Fundamentally, this is an issue of freedom. Freedom of choice when facing one of the most intimate and personal decisions in life. Most in this room are committed to protecting that right. But none of us will hold these seats forever. We must face the reality that there are forces in our nation and in our own state intent on destroying the right of choice. We need to join eight other states - states like Ohio, Alaska and Illinois - and enshrine reproductive freedom in the constitution this session.

I look forward to working with all of you to advance this amendment.

I want to share with you why I'm optimistic about this session. If I have learned anything with each subsequent legislative session, it's that Washingtonians are always capable of doing more than others thought we could. When I took office, we had audacious goals that defied the odds to become reality. I had confidence we could tackle these challenges because I've always believed in the unique talent and ambitions of Washingtonians. Washingtonians have more resilience. More love for our state. And more endurance to push toward the sunny uplands of the future than any other people on the planet.

The next two months, we're going to make this state better at mental health. Safer against opioids. More supportive for educators and students. And more committed to our climate. We've made hope for the future possible because Washingtonians are never restricted by the past or the bog of the status quo.

Inevitably, we will always be called upon to do more for the people of Washington. No matter the challenge, we will always do more than we thought possible. It is our honor to be Washingtonians. It is our privilege to do this work. And it is our destiny to succeed. Run. Through. The. Tape."

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATECERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE 1-2113

Pursuant to Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 2113 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 434,594 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 13,038 signatures was taken from those submitted;

2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 10,579 valid signatures, 2,447 signatures that were invalid and 12 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;

3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling 74 by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;

4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (84,039) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;

5. We determined the maximum allowable number of duplicate pairs of signatures on the petition (26,039) by subtracting the sum of the number of signatures required by Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution (324,516) and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;

6. We determined the expected number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (23) by multiplying the square of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;

7. We determined the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (15) by subtracting 1.65 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and

8. The number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample. Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 2113 to contain sufficient signatures.

Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 2113 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 11th day of January, 2024.

Steve Hobbs
Secretary of State

There being no objection, the House advanced to the fourth order of business.

Representative Stokesbary moved to amend the motion to add instructions to the Community Safety, Justice, and Reentry Committee to promptly hold a public hearing on HI 2113 with public notice requirements in House Rule 26(A).

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Stonier requested a Point of Order on the motion to amend as out of order under the House Rules and Joint Rule 16.

"Neither the House Rules nor the Joint Rules adopted by this body permit directing a committee and its operations upon introduction, first reading, and referral of measures.

The House Rules and Joint Rule 16 do respectively "require" referring measures to the "appropriate" or "proper" committee.

The Speaker therefore finds that under the House Rules and Joint Rule 16, the motion to amend is out of order.

The point of order is well taken."

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE*CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE 1-2117

Pursuant to Article It, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 2117 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 466,072 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 13,983 signatures was taken from those submitted;

2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 10,863 valid signatures, 3,105 signatures that were invalid and 15 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;

3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (84) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;

4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (106,280) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;

5. We determined the maximum allowable number of duplicate pairs of signatures on the petition (35,276) by subtracting the sum of the number of signatures required by Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution (324,516) and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;

6. We determined the expected number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (32) by multiplying the square of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;

7. We determined the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (22) by subtracting 1.65 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and

8. The number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample. Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 2117 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 16th day of January, 2024.

Steve Hobbs
Secretary of State

There being no objection, the House advanced to the fourth order of business.

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE 1-2081

Pursuant to Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 2081 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 449,646 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 13,490 signatures was taken from those submitted;

2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 10,937 valid signatures, 2,529 signatures that were invalid and 24 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;

3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (75) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;

4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (86,810) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;

5. We determined the maximum allowable number of duplicate pairs of signatures on the petition (38,320) by subtracting the sum of the number of signatures required by Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution (324,516) and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;

6. We determined the expected number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (34) by multiplying the square of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;

7. We determined the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (25) by subtracting 1.65 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and

8. The number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample.

Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 2081 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 18th day of January, 2024.

Steve Hobbs

MESSAGES FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE*CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE 1-2109

Pursuant to Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434-379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 2109 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 436,747 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 13,095 signatures was taken from those submitted;

2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 10,752 valid signatures, 2,324 signatures that were invalid and 19 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;

3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (72) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;

4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (79,872) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;

5. We determined the maximum allowable number of duplicate pairs of signatures on the petition (32,086) by subtracting the sum of the number of signatures required by Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution (324,516) and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;

6. We determined the expected number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (29) by multiplying the square of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;

7. We determined the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (20) by subtracting 1.65 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and

8. The number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample.

Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 2109 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 23rd day of January, 2024.

Steve Hobbs
Secretary of State

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE*CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE I-2124

Pursuant to Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434-379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 2124 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 427,481 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 12,825 signatures was taken from those submitted;

2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 10,552 valid signatures, 2,259 signatures that were invalid and 14 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;

3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (71) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;

4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (77,673) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;

5. We determined the maximum allowable number of duplicate pairs of signatures on the petition (25,292) by subtracting the sum of the number of signatures required by Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution (324,516) and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;

6. We determined the expected number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (23) by multiplying the square of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;

7. We determined the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (15) by subtracting 1.65 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and

8. The number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample.

Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 2124 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 25th day of January, 2024.

Steve Hobbs
Secretary of State

There being no objection, the House advanced to the fourth order of business.

The bill was read the third time.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, and ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1362 was returned to second reading for the purpose of amendment.

Representative Stearns moved the adoption of the striking amendment (795):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. INTENT AND FINDINGS. (1) The legislature finds that requiring state agencies to report to the legislature is an important method of providing information and keeping the legislature informed on the implementation and impacts of legislation. Some reports provide information that is no longer relevant or useful to the legislature, which can be discerned by the lack of interest in the report. There are other reports that are redundant as the information is provided through other means. In addition, preparing reports is time consuming, and there may be better, more efficient mechanisms for sharing information with legislators as well as the public, such as posting the information on agency websites. Finally, some reports are required on a more frequent basis than is necessary, as the information does not change to an extent that merits the increased frequency.

(2) In order to improve agency efficiency and still ensure that information is publicly available and provided to the legislature as needed, it is the intent of this act to eliminate reports that no longer serve a relevant purpose, change reporting frequency where warranted, and provide alternative mechanisms in place of submitting reports where appropriate.

PART I MODIFICATIONS TO REPORTS

(6) This section expires June 30, 2030.

(a) In its benefit design or implementation of its benefit design, discriminate against individuals because of their age, expected length of life, present or predicted disability, degree of medical dependency, quality of life, or other health conditions; and

(b) With respect to the health plan or plan deemed by the commissioner to have a short-term limited purpose or duration, or to be a student-only plan that is guaranteed renewable while the covered person is enrolled as a regular, full-time undergraduate student at an accredited higher education institution, discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, disability, age, sex, gender identity, or sexual orientation.

(2) Nothing in this section may be construed to prevent a carrier from appropriately utilizing reasonable medical management techniques.

(3) For health plans issued or renewed on or after January 1, 2022:

(a) A health carrier may not deny or limit coverage for gender-affirming treatment when that treatment is prescribed to an individual because of, related to, or consistent with a person's gender expression or identity, as defined in RCW 49.60.040, is medically necessary, and is prescribed in accordance with accepted standards of care.

(b) A health carrier may not apply categorical cosmetic or blanket exclusions to gender-affirming treatment. When prescribed as medically necessary gender-affirming treatment, a health carrier may not exclude as cosmetic services facial feminization surgeries and other facial gender-affirming treatment, such as tracheal shaves, hair electrolysis, and other care such as mastectomies, breast reductions, breast implants, or any combination of gender-affirming procedures, including revisions to prior treatment.

(d) Health carriers must comply with all network access rules and requirements established by the commissioner.

(4) For the purposes of this section, "gender-affirming treatment" means a service or product that a health care provider, as defined in RCW 70.02.010, prescribes to an individual to treat any condition related to the individual's gender identity and is prescribed in accordance with generally accepted standards of care. Gender-affirming treatment must be covered in a manner compliant with the federal mental health parity and addiction equity act of 2008 and the federal affordable care act. Gender-affirming treatment can be prescribed to two spirit, transgender, nonbinary, intersex, and other gender diverse individuals.

(5) Nothing in this section may be construed to mandate coverage of a service that is not medically necessary.

(6) By December 1, 2022, the commissioner, in consultation with the health care authority and the department of health, must issue a report on geographic access to gender-affirming treatment across the state. The report must include the number of gender-affirming providers offering care in each county, the carriers and medicaid managed care organizations those providers have active contracts with, and the types of services provided by each provider in each region. The commissioner must update the report ((biannually))biennially and post the report on its website.

Sec. 12. RCW 61.24.163 and 2023 c 206 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The foreclosure mediation program established in this section applies only to borrowers who have been referred to mediation by a housing counselor or attorney. The referral to mediation may be made any time after a notice of default has been issued but no later than 90 days prior to the date of sale listed in the notice of trustee's sale. If an amended notice of trustee's sale is recorded after the trustee sale has been stayed pursuant to RCW 61.24.130, the borrower may be referred to mediation no later than 25 days prior to the date of sale listed in the amended notice of trustee's sale. If the borrower has failed to elect to mediate within the applicable time frame, the borrower and the beneficiary may, but are under no duty to, agree in writing to enter the foreclosure mediation program. The mediation program under this section is not governed by chapter 7.07 RCW and does not preclude mediation required by a court or other provision of law.

(2) A housing counselor or attorney referring a borrower to mediation shall send a notice to the borrower and the department, stating that mediation is appropriate.

(3) Within 10 days of receiving the notice, the department shall:

(a) Send a notice to the beneficiary, the borrower, the housing counselor or attorney who referred the borrower, and the trustee stating that the parties have been referred to mediation. The notice must include the statements and list of documents and information described in subsections (4) and (5) of this section and a statement explaining each party's responsibility to pay the mediator's fee; and

(b) Select a mediator and notify the parties of the selection.

(4) Within 23 days of the department's notice that the parties have been referred to mediation, the borrower shall transmit the documents required for mediation to the mediator and the beneficiary. The required documents include an initial homeowner financial information worksheet as required by the department. The worksheet must include, at a minimum, the following information:

(a) The borrower's current and future income;

(b) Debts and obligations;

(c) Assets;

(d) Expenses;

(e) Tax returns for the previous two years;

(f) Hardship information;

(g) Other applicable information commonly required by any applicable federal mortgage relief program.

(5) Within 20 days of the beneficiary's receipt of the borrower's documents, the beneficiary shall transmit the documents required for mediation to the mediator and the borrower. The required documents include:

(a) An accurate statement containing the balance of the loan within 30 days of the date on which the beneficiary's documents are due to the parties;

(b) Copies of the note and deed of trust;

(c) Proof that the entity claiming to be the beneficiary is the owner of any promissory note or obligation secured by the deed of trust. Sufficient proof may be a copy of the declaration described in RCW 61.24.030(7)(a);

(d) The best estimate of any arrearage and an itemized statement of the arrearages;

(e) An itemized list of the best estimate of fees and charges outstanding;

(f) The payment history and schedule for the preceding twelve months, or since default, whichever is longer, including a breakdown of all fees and charges claimed;

(g) All borrower-related and mortgage-related input data used in any net present values analysis. If no net present values analysis is required by the applicable federal mortgage relief program, then the input data required under the federal deposit insurance corporation and published in the federal deposit insurance corporation loan modification program guide, or if that calculation becomes unavailable, substantially similar input data as determined by the department;

(h) An explanation regarding any denial for a loan modification, forbearance, or other alternative to foreclosure in sufficient detail for a reasonable person to understand why the decision was made;

(i) Appraisal or other broker price opinion most recently relied upon by the beneficiary not more than 90 days old at the time of the scheduled mediation; and

(j) The portion or excerpt of the pooling and servicing agreement or other investor restriction that prohibits the beneficiary from implementing a modification, if the beneficiary claims it cannot implement a modification due to limitations in a pooling and servicing agreement or other investor restriction, and documentation or a statement detailing the efforts of the beneficiary to obtain a waiver of the pooling and servicing agreement or other investor restriction provisions.

(6) Within 70 days of receiving the referral from the department, the mediator shall convene a mediation session in the county where the property is located, unless the parties agree on another location. The parties may agree to extend the time in which to schedule the mediation session. If the parties agree to extend the time, the beneficiary shall notify the trustee of the extension and the date the mediator is expected to issue the mediator's certification.

(7)(a) The mediator may schedule phone conferences, consultations with the parties individually, and other communications to ensure that the parties have all the necessary information and documents to engage in a productive mediation.

(b) The mediator must send written notice of the time, date, and location of the mediation session to the borrower, the beneficiary, and the department at least 30 days prior to the mediation session. At a minimum, the notice must contain:

(i) A statement that the borrower may be represented in the mediation session by an attorney or other advocate;

(ii) A statement that a person with authority to agree to a resolution, including a proposed settlement, loan modification, or dismissal or continuation of the foreclosure proceeding, must be present either in person or on the telephone or videoconference during the mediation session; and

(iii) A statement that the parties have a duty to mediate in good faith and that failure to mediate in good faith may impair the beneficiary's ability to foreclose on the property or the borrower's ability to modify the loan or take advantage of other alternatives to foreclosure.

(8)(a) The borrower, the beneficiary or authorized agent, and the mediator must meet in person for the mediation session. However, a person with authority to agree to a resolution on behalf of the beneficiary may be present over the telephone or videoconference during the mediation session.

(b) After the mediation session commences, the mediator may continue the mediation session once, and any further continuances must be with the consent of the parties.

(9) The participants in mediation must address the issues of foreclosure that may enable the borrower and the beneficiary to reach a resolution, including but not limited to reinstatement, modification of the loan, restructuring of the debt, or some other workout plan. To assist the parties in addressing issues of foreclosure, the mediator may require the participants to consider the following:

(a) The borrower's current and future economic circumstances, including the borrower's current and future income, debts, and obligations for the previous 60 days or greater time period as determined by the mediator;

(b) The net present value of receiving payments pursuant to a modified mortgage loan as compared to the anticipated net recovery following foreclosure;

(c) Any affordable loan modification calculation and net present value calculation when required under any federal mortgage relief program and any modification program related to loans insured by the federal housing administration, the veterans administration, and the rural housing service. If such a calculation is not provided or required, then the beneficiary must provide the net present value data inputs established by the federal deposit insurance corporation and published in the federal deposit insurance corporation loan modification program guide or other net present value data inputs as designated by the department. The mediator may run the calculation in order for a productive mediation to occur and to comply with the mediator certification requirement; and

(d) Any other loss mitigation guidelines to loans insured by the federal housing administration, the veterans administration, and the rural housing service, if applicable.

(10) A violation of the duty to mediate in good faith as required under this section may include:

(a) Failure to timely participate in mediation without good cause;

(b) Failure of the borrower or the beneficiary to provide the documentation required before mediation or pursuant to the mediator's instructions;

(c) Failure of a party to designate representatives with adequate authority to fully settle, compromise, or otherwise reach resolution with the borrower in mediation; and

(d) A request by a beneficiary that the borrower waive future claims he or she may have in connection with the deed of trust, as a condition of agreeing to a modification, except for rescission claims under the federal truth in lending act. Nothing in this section precludes a beneficiary from requesting that a borrower dismiss with prejudice any pending claims against the beneficiary, its agents, loan servicer, or trustee, arising from the underlying deed of trust, as a condition of modification.

(11) If the mediator reasonably believes a borrower will not attend a mediation session based on the borrower's conduct, such as the lack of response to the mediator's communications, the mediator may cancel a scheduled mediation session and send a written cancellation to the department and the trustee and send copies to the parties. The beneficiary may proceed with the foreclosure after receipt of the mediator's written confirmation of cancellation.

(12) Within seven business days after the conclusion of the mediation session, the mediator must send a written certification to the department and the trustee and send copies to the parties of:

(a) The date, time, and location of the mediation session;

(b) The names of all persons attending in person and by telephone or videoconference, at the mediation session;

(c) Whether a resolution was reached by the parties, including whether the default was cured by reinstatement, modification, or restructuring of the debt, or some other alternative to foreclosure was agreed upon by the parties;

(d) Whether the parties participated in the mediation in good faith; and

(e) If a written agreement was not reached, a description of any net present value test used, along with a copy of the inputs, including the result of any net present value test expressed in a dollar amount.

(13) If the parties are unable to reach an agreement, the beneficiary may proceed with the foreclosure after receipt of the mediator's written certification.

(14)(a) The mediator's certification that the beneficiary failed to act in good faith in mediation constitutes a defense to the nonjudicial foreclosure action that was the basis for initiating the mediation. In any action to enjoin the foreclosure, the beneficiary is entitled to rebut the allegation that it failed to act in good faith.

(b) The mediator's certification that the beneficiary failed to act in good faith during mediation does not constitute a defense to a judicial foreclosure or a future nonjudicial foreclosure action if a modification of the loan is agreed upon and the borrower subsequently defaults.

(c) If an affordable loan modification is not offered in the mediation or a written agreement was not reached and the mediator's certification shows that the net present value of the modified loan exceeds the anticipated net recovery at foreclosure, that showing in the certification constitutes a basis for the borrower to enjoin the foreclosure.

(15) The mediator's certification that the borrower failed to act in good faith in mediation authorizes the beneficiary to proceed with the foreclosure.

(16)(a) If a borrower has been referred to mediation before a notice of trustee sale has been recorded, a trustee may not record the notice of sale until the trustee receives the mediator's certification stating that the mediation has been completed. If the trustee does not receive the mediator's certification, the trustee may record the notice of sale after 10 days from the date the certification to the trustee was due. If, after a notice of sale is recorded under this subsection (16)(a), the mediator subsequently issues a certification finding that the beneficiary violated the duty of good faith, the certification constitutes a basis for the borrower to enjoin the foreclosure.

(b) If a borrower has been referred to mediation after the notice of sale was recorded, the sale may not occur until the trustee receives the mediator's certification stating that the mediation has been completed.

(17) A mediator may charge reasonable fees as authorized by this subsection or as authorized by the department. Unless the fee is waived, the parties agree otherwise, or the department otherwise authorizes, a foreclosure mediator's fee may not exceed $400 for preparing, scheduling, and conducting a mediation session lasting between one hour and three hours. For a mediation session exceeding three hours, the foreclosure mediator may charge a reasonable fee, as authorized by the department. The mediator must provide an estimated fee before the mediation, and payment of the mediator's fee must be divided equally between the beneficiary and the borrower. The beneficiary and the borrower must tender the loan mediator's fee within 30 calendar days from receipt of the department's letter referring the parties to mediation or pursuant to the mediator's instructions.

(18) ~~((Beginning December 1, 2012, and every year thereafter, the))~~The department shall report annually ~~((to the legislature or))~~by posting the following information on the department's website:

(a) The performance of the program, including the numbers of borrowers who are referred to mediation by a housing counselor or attorney;

(b) The results of the mediation program, including the number of mediations requested by housing counselors and attorneys, the number of certifications of good faith issued, the number of borrowers and beneficiaries who failed to mediate in good faith, and the reasons for the failure to mediate in good faith, if known, the numbers of loans restructured or modified, the change in the borrower's monthly payment for principal and interest and the number of principal write-downs and interest rate reductions, and, to the extent practical, the number of borrowers who report a default within a year of restructuring or modification;

(c) The information received by housing counselors regarding outcomes of foreclosures; and

(d) Any recommendations for changes to the statutes regarding the mediation program.

(19) This section does not apply to certain federally insured depository institutions, as specified in RCW 61.24.166.

The board shall set such performance standards and levels in consultation with the superintendent of public instruction and after consideration of any recommendations that may be developed by any advisory committees that may be established for this purpose;

Work groups must include representatives from the state board for community and technical colleges and the council of presidents, as well as faculty from two and four-year institutions. Work groups may include representatives from independent four-year institutions.

(6) The council must monitor implementation of transfer associate degrees by public four-year institutions to ensure compliance with subsection (2) of this section.

(1) Any part-time board, commission, council, committee, or other similar group which is established by the executive, legislative, or judicial branch to participate in state government and which functions primarily in an advisory, coordinating, or planning capacity shall be identified as a class one group. Unless otherwise identified in law, all newly formed and existing groups are a class one group.

(2) Absent any other provision of law to the contrary, a stipend may be provided to a member of a class one group in accordance with this subsection.

(a) Subject to available funding, an agency may provide a stipend to individuals who are low income or have direct lived experience to support their participation in class one groups when the agency determines such participation is desirable in order to implement the principles of equity described in RCW 43.06D.020, provided that the individuals are not otherwise compensated for their attendance at meetings.

(b) Stipends shall not exceed $200 for each day during which the member attends an official meeting or performs statutorily prescribed duties approved by the chairperson of the group.

(c) Individuals eligible for stipends under this section are eligible for reasonable allowances for child and adult care reimbursement, lodging, and travel expenses as provided in RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060 in addition to stipend amounts.

(d) Nothing in this subsection creates an employment relationship, or any membership or qualification in any state or other publicly supported retirement system, for this or any other title due to the payment of a stipend, lodging and travel expenses, or child care expenses provided under this section where such a relationship, membership, or qualification did not already exist.

(e) As allowable by federal and state law, state agencies will minimize, to the greatest extent possible, the impact of stipends and reimbursements on public assistance eligibility and benefit amounts.

(3) Except for members who qualify for a stipend under subsection (2) of this section, no person designated as a member of a class one board, commission, council, committee, or similar group may receive an allowance for subsistence, lodging, or travel expenses if the allowance cost is funded by the state general fund. Exceptions may be granted under RCW 43.03.049. Class one groups, when feasible, shall use an alternative means of conducting a meeting that does not require travel while still maximizing member and public participation and may use a meeting format that requires members to be physically present at one location only when necessary or required by law.

(4) Class one groups that are funded by sources other than the state general fund are encouraged to reduce travel, lodging, and other costs associated with conducting the business of the group including use of other meeting formats that do not require travel.

(5) Agencies exercising their authority to provide stipends and allowances under this section must follow the guidelines established by the office of equity pursuant to RCW 43.03.270.

(6) For purposes of this section:

(a) "~~(Lived)~~ Direct lived experience" means direct personal experience in the subject matter being addressed by the board, commission, council, committee, or other similar group.

(b) "Low income" means an individual whose income is not more than 400 percent of the federal poverty level, adjusted for family size."

(b) The board shall measure underinsurance as the share of Washington residents whose out-of-pocket costs over the prior 12 months, excluding premiums, are equal to:

(b) Provider groups with fewer than 10,000 unique attributed lives shall be exempt from identification under (a) of this subsection.

(3) At the hearing, the board:

(b) Shall invite testimony from health care stakeholders, other than payers and health care providers, including health care consumers, business interests, and labor representatives; and

(c) Shall provide an opportunity for public comment.

Concerning co-living housing.

The bill was read the second time.

There being no objection, Substitute House Bill No. 1998 was substituted for House Bill No. 1998 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1998 was read the second time.

Representative Couture moved the adoption of the striking amendment (807):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature makes the following findings:

(a) Washington state is experiencing a housing affordability crisis;

(b) Co-living housing is a type of housing that can provide rental homes affordable to people with moderate to low incomes without requiring any public funding, and rents in newly constructed, market-rate co-living housing in the Puget Sound region can be affordable to people with incomes as low as 50 percent of area median income;

(c) Co-living housing is a residential development with sleeping units that are independently rented and provide living and sleeping space, in which residents share kitchen facilities with residents of other units in the building;

(d) Co-living housing historically provided a healthy inventory of rental homes on the lowest rung of the private housing market, comprising up to 10 percent of housing in some cities;

(e) Starting in the mid-20th century, local governments began adopting restrictive zoning and other rules that increasingly prohibited co-living housing, or made it impractical to build or operate, and its numbers plummeted;

(f) Today, many cities and counties outright prohibit co-living housing on most of their residential land, or they enforce any number of restrictions that make it effectively impossible to build new co-living housing or to convert existing buildings into co-living housing;

(g) Co-living housing provides options for people who:

(i) Wish to lower their housing expenses by paying less for a smaller home;

(ii) Prefer a living arrangement with shared community spaces that facilitate social connections;

(iii) Wish to trade off location for space and, by living in a small home, also get to live in a high opportunity neighborhood they could not otherwise afford; or

(iv) Want a low-cost, more private alternative to having a roommate in a traditional rental;

(h) Many communities throughout Washington face a severe shortage of workforce housing, and co-living housing provides housing affordable to that income range and below, without public funding;

(i) Co-living housing reduces pressure on the limited amount of publicly funded affordable housing by providing housing that is affordable to lower income residents who might otherwise wait years for subsidized housing;

(j) Co-living housing works best for single-person households, but the housing for singles that it provides reduces demand for family-sized rentals from singles who would otherwise group together to rent large homes;

(k) Co-living housing provides a good option for seniors, especially those who want to downsize, or those who desire a living arrangement that is more social than a standard apartment. When located in walkable neighborhoods, co-living housing gives mobility options to seniors who can no longer drive;

(l) Co-living housing is well-suited for the conversion of office buildings to housing, because it typically requires less plumbing and fixtures for kitchens and bathrooms;

(m) Co-living housing is well-suited for very low-income people, supportive and recovery housing, and "housing first" homes for the formerly homeless;

(n) State building codes have established minimum sizes and other standards to ensure that co-living housing meets modern health and safety standards;

(o) Creating co-living housing near transit hubs, employment centers, and public amenities can help the state achieve its greenhouse gas reduction goals by increasing walkability, shortening household commutes, curtailing sprawl, and reducing the pressure to develop natural and working lands; and

(p) Co-living housing, because the units are small, is inherently more energy efficient than standard apartments, both saving residents money and reducing the state's energy demand.

(2) Therefore, the legislature intends to allow the creation of co-living housing as a means to address the need for additional affordable housing options for a diversity of Washington residents.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 36.70A RCW to read as follows:

(1) Cities and counties planning under this chapter must allow co-living housing as a permitted use on any lot located within an urban growth area that allows at least six multifamily residential units, including on a lot zoned for mixed use development.

(2) A city or county subject to the provisions of this section may not require co-living housing to:

(a) Contain room dimensional standards larger than that required by the state building code, including dwelling unit size, sleeping unit size, room area, and habitable space;

(b) Provide a mix of unit sizes or number of bedrooms; or

(c) Include other uses.

(3)(a) A city or county subject to the provisions of this section also may not require co-living housing to:

(i) Provide off-street parking within one-half mile walking distance of a major transit stop; or

(ii) Provide more than 0.25 off-street parking spaces per sleeping unit.

(b) The provisions of (a) of this subsection do not apply:

(i) If a city or county submits to the department an empirical study prepared by a credentialed transportation or land use planning expert that clearly demonstrates, and the department finds and certifies, that the application of the parking limitations of (a) of this subsection will be significantly less safe for vehicle drivers or passengers, pedestrians, or bicyclists than if the jurisdiction's parking requirements were applied to the same location. The department must develop guidance to assist cities and counties on items to include in the study; or

(ii) To portions of cities within a one-mile radius of a commercial airport in Washington with at least 9,000,000 annual enplanements.

(4) A city or county may not require through development regulations any standards for co-living housing that are more restrictive than those that are required for other types of multifamily residential uses in the same zone.

(5) A city or county may only require a review, notice, or public meeting for co-living housing that is required for other types of residential uses in the same location, unless otherwise required by state law including, but not limited to, shoreline regulations under chapter 90.58 RCW.

(6) A city or county may not exclude co-living housing from participating in affordable housing incentive programs under RCW 36.70A.540.

(7) A city or county may not treat a sleeping unit in co-living housing as more than one-quarter of a dwelling unit for purposes of calculating dwelling unit density.

(8) A city or county may not treat a sleeping unit in co-living housing as more than one-half of a dwelling unit for purposes of calculating fees for utility connections.

(9)(a) A city or county subject to the requirements of this section must adopt or amend by ordinance and incorporate into their development regulations, zoning regulations, and other official controls the requirements of this section to take effect no later than December 31, 2025.

(b) In any city or county that has not adopted or amended ordinances, regulations, or other official controls as required under this section, the requirements of this section supersede, preempt, and invalidate any conflicting local development regulations.

(10) Any action taken by a city or county to comply with the requirements of this section is not subject to legal challenge under this chapter or chapter 43.21C RCW.

(11) For the purposes of this section, the following definitions apply:

(a) "Co-living housing" means a residential development with sleeping units that are independently rented and lockable and provide living and sleeping space, and residents share kitchen facilities with other sleeping units in the building. Local governments may use other names to refer to co-living housing including, but not limited to, congregate living facilities, single room occupancy, rooming house, boarding house, lodging house, and residential suites.

(b) "Major transit stop" means:

(i) A stop on a high capacity transportation system funded or expanded under the provisions of chapter 81.104 RCW;

(ii) Commuter rail stops;

(iii) Stops on rail or fixed guideway systems, including transitways;

(iv) Stops on bus rapid transit routes or routes that run on high occupancy vehicle lanes; or

(v) Stops for a bus or other transit mode providing actual fixed route service at intervals of at least 15 minutes for at least five hours during the peak hours of operation on weekdays."

"Sec. 10. RCW 84.55.050 and 2021 c 296 s 14 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Subject to any otherwise applicable statutory dollar rate limitations, regular property taxes may be levied by or for a taxing district in an amount exceeding the limitations provided for in this chapter if such levy is authorized by a proposition approved by a majority of the voters of the taxing district voting on the proposition at a general election held within the district or at a special election within the taxing district called by the district for the purpose of submitting such proposition to the voters. Any election held pursuant to this section shall be held not more than 12 months prior to the date on which the proposed levy is to be made, except as provided in subsection (2) of this section. If the taxing district holds its regular elections in even-numbered years under RCW 29A.04.330(6), the election may be held only at a general election in an even-numbered year. The ballot of the proposition shall state the dollar rate proposed and shall clearly state the conditions, if any, which are applicable under subsection (4) of this section.

(2)(a) Subject to statutory dollar limitations, a proposition placed before the voters under this section may authorize annual increases in levies for multiple consecutive years, up to six consecutive years, during which period each year's authorized maximum legal levy shall be used as the base upon which an increased levy limit for the succeeding year is computed, but the ballot proposition must state the dollar rate proposed only for the first year of the consecutive years and must state the limit factor, or a specified index to be used for determining a limit factor, such as the consumer price index, which need not be the same for all years, by which the regular tax levy for the district may be increased in each of the subsequent consecutive years. Elections for this purpose must be held at a primary or general election. The title of each ballot measure must state the limited purposes for which the proposed annual increases during the specified period of up to six consecutive years shall be used.

(b)(i) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection (2)(b), funds raised by a levy under this subsection may not supplant existing funds used for the limited purpose specified in the ballot title. For purposes of this subsection, existing funds means the actual operating expenditures for the calendar year in which the ballot measure is approved by voters. Actual operating expenditures excludes lost federal funds, lost or expired state grants or loans, extraordinary events not likely to reoccur, changes in contract provisions beyond the control of the taxing district receiving the services, and major nonrecurring capital expenditures.

(ii) The supplanting limitations in (b) (i) of this subsection do not apply to levies approved by the voters in calendar years 2009, 2010, 2011, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2021, and 2022, in any county with a population of 1,500,000 or more. This subsection (2)(b)(ii) only applies to levies approved by the voters after July 26, 2009.

(iii) The supplanting limitations in (b) (i) of this subsection do not apply to levies approved by the voters in calendar year 2009 and thereafter in any county with a population less than 1,500,000. This subsection (2)(b)(iii) only applies to levies approved by the voters after July 26, 2009.

(3) After a levy authorized pursuant to this section is made, the dollar amount of such levy may not be used for the purpose of computing the limitations for subsequent levies provided for in this chapter, unless the ballot proposition expressly states that the levy made under this section will be used for this purpose.

(4) If expressly stated, a proposition placed before the voters under subsection (1) or (2) of this section may:

(a) Use the dollar amount of a levy under subsection (1) of this section, or the dollar amount of the final levy under subsection (2) of this section, for the purpose of computing the limitations for subsequent levies provided for in this chapter;

(b) Limit the period for which the increased levy is to be made under (a) of this subsection;

(c) Limit the purpose for which the increased levy is to be made under (a) of this subsection, but if the limited purpose includes making redemption payments on bonds;

(i) For the county in which the state capitol is located, the period for which the increased levies are made may not exceed 25 years; and

(ii) For districts other than a district under (c)(i) of this subsection, the period for which the increased levies are made may not exceed nine years;

(d) Set the levy or levies at a rate less than the maximum rate allowed for the district;

(e) Provide that the exemption authorized by RCW 84.36.381 will apply to the levy of any additional regular property taxes authorized by voters; or

(f) Include any combination of the conditions in this subsection.

(5) Except as otherwise expressly stated in an approved ballot measure under this section, subsequent levies shall be computed as if:

(a) The proposition under this section had not been approved; and

(b) The taxing district had made levies at the maximum rates which would otherwise have been allowed under this chapter during the years levies were made under the proposition.

Sec. 11. RCW 84.52.052 and 2004 c 129 s 22 are each amended to read as follows:

The limitations imposed by RCW 84.52.050 through 84.52.056, and RCW 84.52.043 shall not prevent the levy of additional taxes by any taxing district, except school districts and fire protection districts, in which a larger levy is necessary in order to prevent the impairment of the obligation of contracts. As used in this section, the term "taxing district" means any county, metropolitan park district, park and recreation service area, park and recreation district, water-sewer district, solid waste disposal district, public facilities district, flood control zone district, county rail district, service district, public hospital district, road district, rural county library district, island library district, rural partial-county library district, intercounty rural library district, cemetery district, city, town, transportation benefit district, emergency medical service district with a population density of less than one thousand per square mile, cultural arts, stadium, and convention district, ferry district, city transportation authority, or regional fire protection service authority.

Any such taxing district may levy taxes at a rate in excess of the rate specified in RCW 84.52.050 through 84.52.056 and 84.52.043, or 84.55.010 through 84.55.050, when authorized so to do by the voters of such taxing district in the manner set forth in Article VII, section 2(a) of the Constitution of this state at a special or general election to be held in the year in which the levy is made.

A special election may be called and the time therefor fixed by the county legislative authority, or council, board of commissioners, or other governing body of any such taxing district, by giving notice thereof by publication in the manner provided by law for giving notices of general elections, at which special election the proposition authorizing such excess levy shall be submitted in such form as to enable the voters favoring the proposition to vote "yes" and those opposed thereto to vote "no." If the taxing district holds its regular elections in even-numbered years under RCW 29A.04.330(6), the election may be held only at a general election in an even-numbered year.

(1) The limitations imposed by RCW 84.52.050 through 84.52.056, and 84.52.043 shall not prevent the levy of taxes by school districts, when authorized so to do by the voters of such school district in the manner and for the purposes and number of years allowable under Article VII, section 2(a) and Article IX, section 1 of the Constitution of this state. Elections for such taxes shall be held in the year in which the levy is made or, in the case of propositions authorizing two-year through four-year levies for enrichment funding for a school district, authorizing two-year levies for transportation vehicle funds established in RCW 28A.160.130 or authorizing two-year through six-year levies to support the construction, modernization, or remodeling of school facilities, which includes the purposes of RCW 28A.320.330(2)(f) and (g), in the year in which the first annual levy is made.

(2)(a) Once additional tax levies have been authorized for enrichment funding for a school district for a two-year through four-year period as provided under subsection (1) of this section, no further additional tax levies for enrichment funding for the district for that period may be authorized, except for additional levies to provide for subsequently enacted increases affecting the district's maximum levy.

(b) Notwithstanding (a) of this subsection, any school district that is required to annex or receive territory pursuant to a dissolution of a financially insolvent school district pursuant to RCW 28A.315.225 may call either a replacement or supplemental levy election within the school district, including the territory annexed or transferred, as follows:

(i) An election for a proposition authorizing two-year through four-year levies for enrichment funding for a school district may be called and held before the effective date of dissolution to replace existing enrichment levies and to provide for increases due to the dissolution.

(ii) An election for a proposition authorizing additional tax levies may be called and held before the effective date of dissolution to provide for increases due to the dissolution.

(iii) In the event a replacement levy election under (b)(i) of this subsection is held but does not pass, the affected school district may subsequently hold a supplemental levy election pursuant to (b)(ii) of this subsection if the supplemental levy election is held before the effective date of dissolution. In the event a supplemental levy election is held under (b)(ii) of this subsection but does not pass, the affected school district may subsequently hold a replacement levy election pursuant to (b)(i) of this subsection if the replacement levy election is held before the effective date of dissolution. Failure of a replacement levy or supplemental levy election does not affect any previously approved and existing enrichment levy within the affected school district or districts.

(c) For the purpose of applying the limitation of this subsection (2), a two-year through six-year levy to support the construction, modernization, or remodeling of school facilities shall not be deemed to be a tax levy for enrichment funding for a school district.

(3) A special election may be called and the time therefor fixed by the board of school directors, by giving notice thereof by publication in the manner provided by law for giving notices of general elections, at which special election the proposition authorizing such excess levy shall be submitted in such form as to enable the voters favoring the proposition to vote "yes" and those opposed thereto to vote "no." If the school district holds its regular elections in even-numbered years under RCW 29A.04.330(6), the election may be held only at a general election in an even-numbered year.

(4)(a) Beginning September 1, 2018, school districts may use enrichment levies solely to enrich the state's statutory program of basic education as authorized under RCW 28A.150.276.

(b) Beginning with propositions for enrichment levies for collection in calendar year 2020 and thereafter, a district must receive approval of an enrichment levy expenditure plan from the superintendent of public instruction under RCW 28A.505.240 before submission of the proposition to the voters.

Sec. 13. RCW 84.52.069 and 2018 c 136 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) As used in this section, "taxing district" means a county, emergency medical service district, city or town, public hospital district, urban emergency medical service district, regional fire protection service authority, or fire protection district.

(2)(a) Except as provided in subsection (10) of this section, a taxing district may impose additional regular property tax levies in an amount equal to fifty cents or less per thousand dollars of the assessed value of property in the taxing district. The tax is imposed ~~((+))~~(i) each year for six consecutive years, ~~((+))~~(ii) each year for ten consecutive years, or ~~((+))~~(iii) permanently. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, a permanent tax levy under this section, or the initial imposition of a six-year or ten-year levy under this section, must be specifically authorized by a majority of at least three-fifths of the registered voters thereof approving a proposition authorizing the levies submitted at a general or special election, at which election the number of persons voting "yes" on the proposition must constitute three-fifths of a number equal to forty percent of the total number of voters voting in such taxing district at the last preceding general election when the number of registered voters voting on the proposition does not exceed forty percent of the total number of voters voting in such taxing district in the last preceding general election; or by a majority of at least three-fifths of the registered voters thereof voting on the proposition when the number of registered voters voting on the proposition exceeds forty percent of the total number of voters voting in such taxing district in the last preceding general election. The subsequent approval of a six-year or ten-year tax levy under this section must be specifically authorized by a majority of the registered voters thereof approving a proposition authorizing the levies submitted at a general or special election. If the entire region comprising a newly formed regional fire protection service authority was subject to the levy authorized under this section immediately prior to the creation of the authority under chapter 52.26 RCW, the initial imposition of a six-year or ten-year tax levy under this section may be approved by a majority of the registered voters thereof approving the creation of the authority and the related service plan. Ballot propositions must conform with RCW 29A.36.210. A taxing district may not submit to the voters at the same election multiple propositions to impose a levy under this section.

(b) If a taxing district holds its regular elections in even-numbered years under RCW 29A.04.330(6), an election under this section may be held only at a general election in an even-numbered year.

(3) A taxing district imposing a permanent levy under this section must provide for separate accounting of expenditures of the revenues generated by the levy. The taxing district must maintain a statement of the accounting which must be updated at least every two years and must be available to the public upon request at no charge.

(4) (a) A taxing district imposing a permanent levy under this section must provide for a referendum procedure to apply to the ordinance or resolution imposing the tax. This referendum procedure must specify that a referendum petition may be filed at any time with a filing officer, as identified in the ordinance or resolution. Within ten days, the filing officer must confer with the petitioner concerning form and style of the petition, issue the petition an identification number, and secure an accurate, concise, and positive ballot title from the designated local official. The petitioner has thirty days in which to secure the signatures of not less than fifteen percent of the registered voters of the taxing district, as of the last general election, upon petition forms which contain the ballot title and the full text of the measure to be referred. The filing officer must verify the sufficiency of the signatures on the petition and, if sufficient valid signatures are properly submitted, must certify the referendum measure to the next election within the taxing district if one is to be held within one hundred eighty days from the date of filing of the referendum petition, or at a special election to be called for that purpose in accordance with RCW 29A.04.330. However, if the taxing district holds its regular elections in even-numbered years under RCW 29A.04.330(6), an election under this section may be held only at a general election in an even-numbered year.

(b) The referendum procedure provided in this subsection (4) is exclusive in all instances for any taxing district imposing the tax under this section and supersedes the procedures provided under all other statutory or charter provisions for initiative or referendum which might otherwise apply.

(5) Any tax imposed under this section may be used only for the provision of emergency medical care or emergency medical services, including related personnel costs, training for such personnel, and related equipment, supplies, vehicles and structures needed for the provision of emergency medical care or emergency medical services.

(6) If a county levies a tax under this section, no taxing district within the county may levy a tax under this section. If a regional fire protection service authority imposes a tax under this section, no other taxing district that is a participating fire protection jurisdiction in the regional fire protection service authority may levy a tax under this section. No other taxing district may levy a tax under this section if another taxing district has levied a tax under this section within its boundaries: PROVIDED, That if a county levies less than fifty cents per thousand dollars of the assessed value of property, then any other taxing district may levy a tax under this section equal to the difference between the rate of the levy by the county and fifty cents: PROVIDED FURTHER, That if a taxing district within a county levies this tax, and the voters of the county subsequently approve a levying of this tax, then the amount of the taxing district levy within the county must be reduced, when the combined levies exceed fifty cents. Whenever a tax is levied countywide, the service must, insofar as is feasible, be provided throughout the county: PROVIDED FURTHER, That no countywide levy proposal may be placed on the ballot without the approval of the legislative authority of a majority of at least seventy-five percent of all cities exceeding a population of fifty thousand within the county: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That this section and RCW 36.32.480 may not prohibit any city or town from levying an annual excess levy to fund emergency medical services: AND PROVIDED, FURTHER, That if a county proposes to impose tax levies under this section, no other ballot proposition authorizing tax levies under this section by another taxing district in the county may be placed before the voters at the same election at which the county ballot proposition is placed: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That any taxing district emergency medical service levy that is limited in duration and that is authorized subsequent to a county emergency medical service levy that is limited in duration, expires concurrently with the county emergency medical service levy. A fire protection district that has annexed an area described in subsection (10) of this section may levy the maximum amount of tax that would otherwise be allowed, notwithstanding any limitations in this subsection (6).

(7) The limitations in RCW 84.52.043 do not apply to the tax levy authorized in this section.

(8) If a ballot proposition approved under subsection (2) of this section did not impose the maximum allowable levy amount authorized for the taxing district under this section, any future increase up to the maximum allowable levy amount must be specifically authorized by the voters in accordance with subsection (2) of this section at a general or special election.

(9) The limitation in RCW 84.55.010 does not apply to the first levy imposed pursuant to this section following the approval of such levy by the voters pursuant to subsection (2) of this section.

(10) For purposes of imposing the tax authorized under this section, the boundary of a county with a population greater than one million five hundred thousand does not include all of the area of the county that is located within a city that has a boundary in two counties, if the locally assessed value of all the property in the area of the city within the county having a population greater than one million five hundred thousand is less than two hundred fifty million dollars.

(11) For purposes of this section, the following definitions apply:

(a) "Fire protection jurisdiction" means a fire protection district, city, town, Indian tribe, or port district; and

(b) "Participating fire protection jurisdiction" means a fire protection district, city, town, Indian tribe, or port district that is represented on the governing board of a regional fire protection service authority.

Sec. 14. RCW 84.52.130 and 2002 c 180 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

The limitations imposed by RCW 84.52.050 through 84.52.056, and 84.52.043 shall not prevent the levy of taxes by a fire protection district, when authorized so to do by the voters of a fire protection district in the manner and for the purposes and number of years allowable under Article VII, section 2(a) of the Constitution of this state. Elections for taxes shall be held in the year in which the levy is made, or in the case of propositions authorizing two-year through four-year levies for maintenance and operation support of a fire district, or authorizing two-year through six-year levies to support the construction, modernization, or remodeling of fire district facilities, in the year in which the first annual levy is made. Once additional tax levies have been authorized for maintenance and operation support of a fire protection district for a two-year through four-year period, no further additional tax levies for maintenance and operation support of the district for that period may be authorized.

A special election may be called and the time fixed by the fire protection district commissioners, by giving notice by publication in the manner provided by law for giving notices of general elections, at which special election the proposition authorizing the excess levy shall be submitted in a form as to enable the voters favoring the proposition to vote "yes" and those opposed to vote "no."

If the fire protection district holds its regular elections in even-numbered years under RCW 29A.04.330(6), the election may be held only at a general election in an even-numbered year.

Sec. 15. RCW 84.52.135 and 2004 c 80 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A county with a population of ninety thousand or less may impose additional regular property tax levies in an amount equal to fifty cents or less per thousand dollars of the assessed value of property in the county in accordance with the terms of this section.

(2) The tax proposition may be submitted at a general or special election. If the county holds its regular elections in even-numbered years under RCW 29A.04.330(6), the election may be held only at a general election in an even-numbered year.

(3) The tax may be imposed each year for six consecutive years when specifically authorized by the registered voters voting on the proposition, subject to the following:

(a) If the number of registered voters voting on the proposition does not exceed forty percent of the total number of voters voting in the taxing district at the last general election, the number of persons voting "yes" on the proposition shall constitute at least three-fifths of a number equal to forty percent of the total number of voters voting in the taxing district at the last general election.

(b) If the number of registered voters voting on the proposition exceeds forty percent of the total number of voters voting in the taxing district at the last preceding general election, the number of persons voting "yes" on the proposition shall be at least three-fifths of the registered voters voting on the proposition.

(4) Ballot propositions shall conform with RCW 29A.36.210.

(5) Any tax imposed under this section shall be used exclusively for criminal justice purposes.

(6) The limitations in RCW 84.52.043 do not apply to the tax authorized in this section.

(7) The limitation in RCW 84.55.010 does not apply to the first tax levy imposed pursuant to this section following the approval of the levy by the voters pursuant to subsection (3) of this section."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that people participating in their government is an essential part of developing public policy. Familiarizing students with their representative government's policy development process increases social responsibility and civic awareness that will benefit them now as students and later as adults, while improving our state. The legislature further finds that policymakers can benefit from the input of students presently in our kindergarten through grade 12 school system and those attending a community or technical college, sharing insights and ideas on education and other issues affecting youth in our state. Therefore, the legislature intends to establish student councils, including 49 legislative district student councils each representing one legislative district to ensure proportional and geographical representation, to allow students to learn about and participate in our representative democracy and share policy ideas with their state elected officials.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) A legislative district student council is established in each legislative district. Legislative district student councils are informal nonpartisan advisory bodies that may examine issues affecting youth and education and make recommendations to the legislative youth advisory council on those issues.

(2) The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall select a statewide organization that provides leadership opportunities to students to complete the following tasks, consistent with the provisions of this act, by August 1, 2025:

(a) Develop processes and procedures that may be used to set up legislative district student councils;

(b) Contribute to the development of an application and selection process that may be used to select student members to serve on the council, including for the position of chair for each legislative district student council;

(c) Develop model practices regarding increasing student engagement; and

(d) Distribute information to students in qualifying schools about participating in a legislative district student council, including the application process and timeline.

(3) Each legislative district student council is composed of no more than seven student members as follows:

(a) One chair for each legislative district student council. The organization selected in subsection (2) of this section shall select the initial chairs for councils in legislative districts no later than October 1, 2025. Subsequent chairs shall be selected no later than June 1, 2027, and each June 1st every two years thereafter.

(b) One vice chair for each legislative district student council. The youth civic engagement council member from the respective legislative district shall serve as the vice chair for that district's legislative district student council.

(c) To the greatest extent possible, the Washington state school directors' association shall select up to two student board representatives from each legislative district who attend a qualifying school that serves students in any of grades nine through 12 and are members of the Washington state school directors' association's student representatives network to be members in that district's legislative district student council.

(d)(i) At least three additional members who are under the age of 21 at the start of their term and attend either a qualifying school that serves students in any of grades nine through 12 or a community or technical college that is located within that student council's legislative district.

(ii) Factors to consider for selection of the members described in this subsection (3)(d) include:

(A) Balancing representation among the various grades, with at least one student being in grade 11 and one being in grade 12; and

(B) Selecting students who have demonstrated a commitment to civic education through current participation in another local youth council.

(iii)(A) For the selection of initial members described in this subsection (3)(d) for new legislative district student councils, a committee consisting of the chairs of each legislative district student council shall meet for the purpose of selecting members for each legislative district student council from the applications submitted. Initial members must be selected by November 15, 2025.

(B) Subsequent selection of members described in this subsection (3)(d) shall be the responsibility of each legislative district student council and must occur no later than October 1, 2027, and on October 1st every two years thereafter.

(4) To the greatest extent feasible, the members of each legislative district student council must attend either a qualifying school that serves students in any of grades nine through 12 or a community or technical college that is in their council's legislative district. If there are no applicants from a legislative district, eligible students who attend a qualifying school that serves students in any of grades nine through 12 or a community or technical college located in an adjacent legislative district may be selected for membership.

(5) Membership terms are as follows:

(a) Of the chairs initially selected, each chair shall serve two-year terms, except that students who are in grade 12 shall serve a one-year term but may serve the full two-year term if they attend a community or technical college within the student council's legislative district in the following year. The term of each subsequent chair shall be two years, and qualifying chairs may be selected for subsequent two-year terms.

(b) Of the members initially selected to serve on a legislative district student council, two members shall serve one-year terms, and all other members shall serve two-year terms. Members initially selected to serve on a legislative district student council who are in grade 12 shall serve a one-year term but may serve the full two-year term if they attend a community or technical college within the student council's legislative district in the following year. The term of each subsequent eligible member shall be two years, and members may be selected for subsequent two-year terms.

(c) In the case of a vacancy, the selection of a student member to fill the remainder of an unexpired term must be conducted in the same manner as the original appointment.

The student councils are encouraged to use technology, such as remote videoconferencing technology, to conduct additional virtual meetings.

(7) The legislature, any agency of the legislature, and any official or employee of such office or agency is immune from liability for any injury that is incurred by or caused by a member of the legislative district student council and that occurs while the member of the council is performing duties of the council. The immunity provided by this subsection does not apply to an injury intentionally caused by the act or omission of an employee or official of the office of the legislature or any agency of the legislature.

(8) When engaging in outreach and recruiting efforts to educate students and schools about opportunities to participate in a legislative district student council, and when creating an application and selection process as described in subsection (2) of this section, the lieutenant governor, the organization selected in subsection (2) of this section, and the Washington state school directors' association, as applicable, shall comply with the principles of the state pro-equity antiracism plan and playbook developed by the office of equity to bridge opportunity gaps, reduce disparities, and increase diversity of student membership.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes that school bus drivers play a crucial role in ensuring students' safe passage to and from school, preventing absences, and extending a positive school climate beyond the classroom. By delivering this essential service, school bus drivers provide a significant time and convenience benefit to thousands of Washington families, remove cars from the road, reduce overall emissions, and increase traffic safety. However, a recent national survey revealed that 94 percent of bus contractors experience driver shortages, with 21 percent reporting their shortages as severe. With this act, the state of Washington intends to encourage the retention of bus drivers who provide vital services to local communities.

Sec. 2. RCW 28A.160.140 and 1990 c 33 s 140 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) As a condition of entering into a pupil transportation services contract with a private nongovernmental entity, each school district shall engage in an open competitive process at least once every five years. This requirement shall not be construed to prohibit a district from entering into a pupil transportation services contract of less than five years in duration with a district option to renew, extend, or terminate the contract, if the district engages in an open competitive process at least once every five years after July 26, 1987.

(2)(a) A school district may only enter into, renew, or extend a pupil transportation services contract with a private nongovernmental entity if that entity provides the following to, or on behalf of, its employees who choose to opt in for coverage:

(i) An employer health benefits contribution equal to the employer payment dollar amount in effect for the first year of the contract for health care benefit rates (cockle rates), published annually by the health care authority, for the school employees' benefits board program for school employees; and

(ii) An amount equivalent to the salaries of the employees of the private nongovernmental entity multiplied by the employer normal cost contribution rate determined under the entry age cost method for the school employees' retirement system, as published in the most recent actuarial valuation report from the office of the state actuary for the first year of the contract.

(b) All pupil transportation service contracts entered into or modified after the effective date of this section must include a detailed explanation of any contract cost increase by year, expenditure type, and amount, including any increases in cost that result from providing the benefits required under this section.

(3) As used in this section:
 ((41)) (a) "Employees" means in-state employees of the private nongovernmental entity working sufficient compensated hours performing services pursuant to the contract with the school district to meet the eligibility requirements for the school employees' benefits board program if the employees were directly employed by a school district;

(b) "Open competitive process" means either one of the following, at the choice of the school district:

((4a)) (i) The solicitation of bids or quotations and the award of contracts under RCW 28A.335.190; or

((4b)) (ii) The competitive solicitation of proposals and their evaluation consistent with the process and criteria recommended or required, as the case may be, by the office of financial management for state agency acquisition of personal service contractors;

((42)) (c) "Pupil transportation services contract" means a contract for the operation of privately owned or school district owned school buses, and the services of drivers or operators, management and supervisory personnel, and their support personnel such as secretaries, dispatchers, and mechanics, or any combination thereof, to provide students with transportation to and from school on a regular basis; and ((43)) (d) "School bus" means a motor vehicle as defined in RCW 46.04.521 and under the rules of the superintendent of public instruction.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 28A.160 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A school district that experiences an increase in costs to a pupil transportation services contract as compared to prior year contract costs as a result of the provisions in RCW 28A.160.140 is eligible for supplemental transportation allocations as described in this section.

(2) Beginning September 1, 2024, school districts that provide pupil transportation through a contract with a nongovernmental entity under RCW 28A.160.140 must annually provide the office of the superintendent of public instruction with the following information:

(a) A breakdown of the total contract cost increase, including a detailed explanation of the increase by expenditure type demonstrating dollar equivalency as required in RCW 28A.160.140(2)(a)(i) and percentage equivalency as required in RCW 28A.160.140(2)(a)(ii), as defined by the office of the superintendent of public instruction, and amount;

(b) A breakdown of cost from the contractor that shows the cost to provide health care and pension benefits to employees prior to the effective date of this section and the cost to provide health care and pension benefits to employees after the implementation of benefits as described in RCW 28A.160.140;

(c) The amount of funding received through transportation allocations under RCW 28A.160.150 through 28A.160.192 prior to the implementation of school employee benefits under chapter 41.05 RCW and the amount of funding received through the same transportation allocations for the period immediately following the implementation of school employee benefits under chapter 41.05 RCW, to determine the amount of funding for health care that is already being included in allocations.

(3) The office of the superintendent of public instruction may suspend the reporting requirements under subsection (2) of this section on or after September 1, 2027, for districts that do not request supplemental transportation allocations under this section.

(4) Subject to the availability of amounts appropriated for this specific purpose, the office of the superintendent of public instruction must reimburse a school district for the increased cost that is directly attributable to increased benefits as required under this act, using the following formula: The total contract cost increase, less any amounts not attributable to benefits required under RCW 28A.160.140, less the amount the allocation was increased based on the actual cost increase through the transportation funding formula."

(3) To be eligible for additional transportation safety net award funding, the school district must report, in accordance with statewide accounting guidance, the amount of the excess costs and the specific activities or services provided to special passengers that created the excess costs.

(4) The superintendent of public instruction must establish rules and processes for transportation safety net applications and awards. The omnibus appropriations act must specify the total amount available for transportation safety net awards. Total awards may not exceed the amount appropriated. The superintendent of public instruction must submit to the office of financial management, and the education and fiscal committees of the legislature, the total demonstrated need and awards by school district.

(5) Charter schools established under chapter 28A.710 RCW and state-tribal compact schools established under chapter 28A.715 RCW are eligible for awards under this section.

(6) Transportation safety net awards allocated under this section are not part of the state's program of basic education.

Sec. 2. RCW 28A.160.193 and 2018 c 266 s 103 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Subject to the availability of amounts appropriated for this specific purpose, a transportation alternate funding grant program is created.

(2) As part of the award process for the grants, the superintendent of public instruction must include a review of the school district's efficiency rating, key performance indicators, and local school district characteristics such as unique geographic constraints, low enrollment, geographic density of students, ~~((the percentage of students served under the McKinney-Vento homeless assistance act from outside the district,))~~ or whether the district is a nonhigh district."

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that railroads play a crucial role in economic development, serving nearly every industrial, wholesale, retail, and resource-based sector in Washington's economy. The legislature further finds that freight railroad infrastructure is an essential link in the supply chain and provides an efficient way to connect Washington's economy to national and international markets. The legislature further finds that maintenance and improvements to the railroad system are needed to support modern 286,000 pound railcars, foster economic development, increase infrastructure resiliency, avoid supply chain disturbances, and meet carbon reduction goals for transportation greenhouse gases. The legislature intends to provide incentives to the rail industry that can lead to a more effective short line rail system.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A credit is allowed against taxes due under this chapter for expenditures made by an eligible taxpayer pursuant to subsection (2) of this section. The credit is subject to a maximum annual credit amount set forth in subsection (3) of this section.

(2) Qualified expenditures incurred by an eligible taxpayer may be used to generate a credit for the following amounts:

(a) For qualified short line railroad maintenance expenditures, a credit is allowed against the taxes due under this chapter in an amount equal to 50 percent of the qualified short line railroad maintenance expenditures. The amount of the credit earned in a calendar year may not exceed an amount equal to $3,500 multiplied by the number of miles of railroad track owned or leased in the state by the eligible taxpayer as of the close of the calendar year.

(b) For qualified new rail development expenditures, a credit is allowed against the taxes due under this chapter in an amount equal to 50 percent of the new rail development expenditures of an eligible taxpayer.

(c) For qualified railroad modernization and rehabilitation expenditures, a credit is allowed against the taxes due under this chapter in an amount equal to 50 percent of the qualified railroad modernization and rehabilitation expenditures by an eligible taxpayer.

(3) The total credit amount approved under subsection (2) of this section and section 6(2) of this act may not exceed $1,000,000 for each eligible taxpayer in a calendar year. Credits are available on a first-in-time basis. The department must disallow any credits, or portions thereof, that would cause the total amount of credits approved under subsection (2) of this section and section 6(2) of this act to exceed $15,000,000 during any calendar year.

(4) The credit claimed may not exceed the tax that would otherwise be due under this chapter. Refunds may not be granted in the place of credits. Any amount of credit earned under this section not claimed by the taxpayer in one calendar year may be carried forward for no more than five calendar years immediately following the year that the credit was earned.

(5)(a) An eligible taxpayer may transfer all or a portion of the credit approved under this section to any taxpayer subject to the tax imposed under this chapter at any time during the calendar year in which the credit is approved by the department and for five calendar years following the year that the credit is approved.

(b) To transfer all or any portion of an approved credit, the taxpayer originally allowed the credit, and the subsequent transferee, must jointly file a credit transfer application with the department. The application must include:

(i) The names, addresses, and taxpayer identification numbers of the parties to the transfer;

(ii) The amount of the credit being transferred;

(iii) The year the credit was originally approved by the department for use by the transferring taxpayer;

(iv) The tax year or years for which the credit may be claimed; and

(v) Any other information or documents the department may require.

(c) No credit or portion thereof may be transferred more than once.

(6) The department must administer the credit. To claim or transfer a credit under this section, the taxpayer applying must complete an application for credit based on qualified expenditures incurred by the eligible taxpayer the previous calendar year. The department must rule on applications within 60 days of receipt. The department may extend the time of processing an application upon notice to the taxpayer and by providing the taxpayer an explanation on why the application processing cannot be completed on time.

SECOND SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2401 was read the second time.

Representative Doglio moved the adoption of the striking amendment (905):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. INTENT. (1) The legislature finds that hydrofluorocarbons are climate pollutants that pose significant threats to our environment. Although hydrofluorocarbons currently represent a small portion of the state's greenhouse gas emissions, emissions of hydrofluorocarbons have been rapidly increasing in the United States and worldwide, and they are hundreds to thousands of times more potent at trapping heat than carbon dioxide. Preventing the release of hydrofluorocarbons is among the highest global impact measures to address the climate crisis.

(2) In 2019 and 2021, the legislature took significant steps towards reducing greenhouse gas emissions from hydrofluorocarbons by transitioning to the use of less damaging hydrofluorocarbons or other suitable substitutes in several new end-uses including their largest end-uses where they are used as refrigerants as well instituting a statewide refrigerant management program. However, significant sources of hydrofluorocarbons and refrigerant emissions in Washington remain unaddressed because vast quantities of refrigerants are contained inside the installed base of heating and cooling equipment beyond those covered by the statewide refrigerant management program. There is a dire need for improving life-cycle refrigerant management to prevent those refrigerants from being emitted into the atmosphere.

(3) On a national and global scale, the United States has begun implementing a phasedown of hydrofluorocarbons. The United States has ratified the global Kigali amendment to the Montreal protocol, an international agreement to phase down the production and consumption of hydrofluorocarbons by 85 percent by 2036. Domestically, in 2020, the United States congress enacted the American innovation and manufacturing act which closely matches the Kigali amendment's phase-down schedule. Any state actions that complement the phasedown by reducing demand of newly produced hydrofluorocarbons will help actualize the vast climate benefits expected from the American innovation and manufacturing act and the Kigali amendment.

(4) As in any circular economy, an important lever for reducing demand for new or virgin material is to maximize the recovery, recycling, reclaiming, and reuse of existing material. The same principle can be successfully applied to refrigerants. However, the current state regulatory environment notably lacks a mechanism to ensure that refrigerants and greenhouse gases are recovered, reclaimed, and put back into the economy for reuse. Recognizing the benefits of minimizing refrigerant releases and maximizing reclamation, the United States environmental protection agency has recently proposed rules to require the use of reclaimed refrigerants in various sectors, including commercial and industrial refrigeration as well as air conditioners and heat pumps. Due to those pending federal regulations requiring the use of reclaimed refrigerants, it is in the state's interest to incentivize a refrigerant recovery, reclamation, and recycling program to ensure an adequate supply of refrigerant chemicals exists for Washington users as the transition to chemicals with lower climate-polluting risks takes place.

(5) Implementation of extended producer responsibility schemes in Washington and other leading states, including a financial incentive payment to be paid to service technicians and others for recovered gas, will incentivize a greater supply of used fluorinated refrigerants removed from equipment, which can then be reclaimed and reused. Increasing the supply of reclaimed refrigerants available to fulfill the demand for refrigerants in existing and new equipment will support smooth implementation of federal regulations under the American innovation and manufacturing act. It will also increase the supply of refrigerants for ramping new heat pump adoption to decarbonize the building stock. Overall, greater reclamation of hydrofluorocarbons will not only prevent direct greenhouse gas emissions but also support the state's building electrification and heat pump adoption goals.

(6) Once the need for reclaimed refrigerants has passed in the future, the most polluting refrigerant chemicals should be safely destroyed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. DEFINITIONS. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1)(a) "Bulk" means a covered refrigerant of any amount that is in a container for the transportation or storage of that substance such as cylinders, drums, ISO tanks, and small cans.

(b) A covered refrigerant that must first be transferred from a container to another container, vessel, or piece of equipment in order to realize its intended use is a bulk substance.

(c) A covered refrigerant contained in a manufactured product such as an appliance, an aerosol can, or a foam is not a bulk substance.

(2) "Covered refrigerant" means any fluorinated regulated refrigerant or substitute, as those terms are defined in chapter 70A.60 RCW, that are used for heat transfer purposes to provide a cooling or heating effect.

(3) "Department" means the Washington state department of ecology.

(4)(a) "Destruction" means the expiration of a covered refrigerant to the destruction and removal efficiency actually achieved.

(b) Technologies used for destruction of covered refrigerants should be limited to the federally approved list of destruction technologies maintained under 40 C.F.R. Sec. 84.2 as it existed as of January 1, 2024.

(5) "Distributor" or "wholesaler" means any person or entity engaged in the distribution, wholesale sale, sale, or other commercial furnishing of any covered refrigerant or precharged equipment, except for service technicians transferring refrigerant to end-user consumers as part of a service call.

(6) "Partner participant" means an entity that is not a producer but is a part of the supply chain of covered refrigerants. "Partner participants" includes, but is not limited to, refrigerant distributors, wholesalers, reclaimers, and service technicians.

(7)(a) "Precharged equipment" means any appliance or refrigeration, air conditioning, or heat pump equipment or other equipment containing a quantity of covered refrigerant already added or charged into the equipment or appliance prior to installation in the field.

(b) "Precharged equipment" does not include equipment that does not contain any covered refrigerant already added or charged into the equipment prior to installation in the field, or that solely contains refrigerants other than covered refrigerants.

(c) "Precharged equipment" does not include equipment that contains only a covered refrigerant that is certified to be the responsibility of another producer under subsection (8)(b) or (c) of this section.

(8)(a) "Producer" includes:

(i) With respect to covered refrigerants, the person or entity who is the first point of sale for covered refrigerants that are sold, offered for sale, distributed, or otherwise entered into commerce in or into Washington;

(ii) With respect to precharged equipment:

(A) If the precharged equipment is sold under the brand of the precharged equipment manufacturer, the producer is the person that manufactures the precharged equipment;

(B) If the precharged equipment is sold under a retail brand or under a brand owned by a person other than the manufacturer, the producer is the brand owner;

(C) If there is no person to which (a)(ii)(A) or (B) of this subsection applies, the producer is the person that is the licensee of a brand or trademark under which the precharged equipment is used in a commercial enterprise, sold, offered for sale, or distributed in or into this state, whether or not the trademark is registered in this state;

(D) If there is no person described in (a)(ii)(A) through (C) of this subsection within the United States, the producer is the person who is the importer of record for the precharged equipment into the United States for use in a commercial enterprise that sells, offers for sale, or distributes the precharged equipment in this state;

(E) If there is no person described in (a)(ii)(A) through (D) of this subsection with a commercial presence within the state, the producer is the person who first sells, offers for sale, or distributes the precharged equipment in or into this state.

(b) A person is the "producer" as defined in (a) of this subsection except where another person has mutually signed an agreement with a producer as defined in (a) of this subsection that contractually assigns responsibility to the producer, and the person has joined a registered refrigerant stewardship organization as the responsible producer for that covered refrigerant, precharged equipment, or refrigerant contained in the precharged equipment. In the event that another person is assigned responsibility as the producer under this subsection (8)(b), the producer under (a) of this subsection must provide written certification of that contractual agreement to the refrigerant stewardship organization and to the department.

(c) "Producer" does not include any person who only manufactures, sells, offers for sale, distributes, or imports into the state precharged equipment if the gas contained in the precharged equipment is supplied by a producer that has joined a registered refrigerant stewardship organization as the producer for that precharged equipment and the covered refrigerant contained in the precharged equipment under this chapter. Such a producer of gas that is included in precharged equipment must provide written certification of that membership to both the producer of the precharged equipment and the refrigerant stewardship organization of which the gas producer is a member.

(9) "Reclaimer" means any person undertaking reclamation of covered refrigerants in compliance with federal requirements, including recordkeeping and reporting and all other requirements stipulated under 40 C.F.R. Sec. 84, as it existed as of January 1, 2024.

(10) "Reclamation" or "reclaim" means the reprocessing of a recovered covered refrigerant or substitute to recover usable products or regenerate the material, including to at least the purity specified in the air conditioning, heating, and refrigeration institute (AHRI) standard 700-2016 and verifying this purity using the analytical methodology prescribed in the standard, and meets the reclamation standard of containing no greater than 15 percent virgin or new material by weight.

(11) "Recovery" means the process by which a regulated refrigerant is:

(a) Removed, in any condition, from equipment in a manner consistent with 40 C.F.R. 82.158, as it existed as of January 1, 2024, or in a manner consistent with federal regulations updated after January 1, 2024, and subsequently adopted by the department by rule; and

(b) Stored in an external container, with or without testing or processing of the regulated refrigerant.

(12) "Recovery rate" means the proportion of the total amount of recovered covered refrigerant that is collected and subsequently undergoes reclamation or destruction as a fraction of the estimated total amount of covered refrigerant that is available for recovery from equipment in a given year, as calculated by the refrigerant stewardship organization and approved by the department.

(13) "Refrigerant stewardship organization" means a producer that directly implements a stewardship plan under this chapter or a nonprofit entity formed to implement a stewardship plan under this chapter, including the collection and management of covered refrigerants, and the disbursement of funds to incentivize enhanced refrigerant recovery, reclamation, and destruction.

(14) "Retail establishment" means a person who sells precharged equipment containing covered refrigerants in or into this state or offers or otherwise makes available covered precharged equipment to a customer, including other businesses, for use in this state.

(15) "Service technician" means any person certified by the United States environmental protection agency under section 608 or 609, as appropriate, of the federal clean air act, as it existed as of January 1, 2024, or the federal American innovation and manufacturing act of 2020, as it existed as of January 1, 2024.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. REQUIREMENT THAT PRODUCERS IMPLEMENT A PROGRAM. (1) Beginning January 1, 2025, any producer who sells, or otherwise enters into commerce, bulk covered refrigerants or precharged equipment containing a covered refrigerant into the state of Washington must register with the department through a refrigerant stewardship organization. Beginning January 1, 2025, each producer must participate in a refrigerant stewardship organization and appropriately fund the operations of the refrigerant stewardship organization.

(2) Beginning July 1, 2025, a producer that does not participate in a registered refrigerant stewardship organization is prohibited from selling bulk covered refrigerants or precharged equipment in or into Washington.

(3) By December 1, 2027, in order to be eligible to receive an incentive payment from a refrigerant stewardship organization consistent with section 8 of this act, each entity that is not a producer but sells, resells, distributes, or otherwise enters into commerce bulk covered refrigerants after the first point of sale must register with a refrigerant stewardship organization as a partner participant in the refrigerant stewardship organization. A partner participant may include, but is not limited to, refrigerant distributors, wholesalers, reclaimers, and service technicians. Partner participants are not required to fund a refrigerant stewardship organization, but may be recipients of financial incentives aimed at enhancing refrigerant recovery. In order to be eligible to receive a financial incentive payment, partner participants must keep records and report information to a refrigerant stewardship organization in the manner necessary to enable the refrigerant stewardship organization to fulfill its reporting requirements to the department under section 10 of this act.

(4) Beginning January 1, 2028, producers, through a refrigerant stewardship organization, shall implement the plan approved by the department as outlined in section 4 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. STEWARDSHIP PLAN COMPONENTS. (1) By May 1, 2027, a refrigerant stewardship organization or organizations must submit a plan to the department for review and approval. Within 120 days of submission, the department must review and may approve a plan provided it contains and adequately addresses the following components:

(a) Includes contact information for each producer in the plan;

(b) (i) Identifies the brands and equipment models of each producer of precharged equipment containing covered refrigerants participating in the plan; and

(ii) Identifies the producers for each type of bulk covered refrigerant manufactured, imported, or distributed into the state;

(c) Proposes the implementation mechanisms through which the program expects to meet the requirements of the performance assessment established in section 5 of this act and describes the methods used to calculate whether the program is achieving its performance targets, including a specific description of the data sources and calculations to be relied upon in calculating a recovery rate for department approval;

(d) Includes a detailed and comprehensive list of promotion activities to be undertaken as part of the educational and outreach program required in section 7 of this act;

(e) Describes the mechanisms used for the collection and consolidation of recovered covered refrigerants, as well as destruction of any recovered covered refrigerants collected by the program that are deemed to be contaminated to be reclaimed by a reclaimer certified by the United States environmental protection agency, consistent with section 6 of this act, including the financial incentives described in section 8 of this act that are to be paid to persons that furnish covered refrigerants recovered from equipment in the state;

(f) Identifies proposed transporters, processors, and facilities to be used by the program for the reclamation, destruction, and final disposition of covered refrigerants that are deemed too contaminated to be reclaimed by a reclaimer certified by the United States environmental protection agency;

(g) Describes the financing methods to implement the plan, consistent with section 8 of this act, including how producer fees and fee modulation will incorporate incentives for the recovery and collection of covered refrigerants in a manner that prioritizes the reclamation and reuse of those covered refrigerants and minimizes their emissions;

(h) The performance targets established consistent with section 5 of this act;

(i) A description of safety procedures or best management practices that must be used by collection sites;

(j) An analysis of how the program will achieve the required convenience standards; and

(k) Additional information determined by the department to be necessary to ensure effective implementation of the requirements of this chapter by the refrigerant stewardship organization and effective oversight of refrigerant stewardship organization activities by the department.

(2) The department may:

(a) Amend the plan submitted for approval under subsection (1) of this section if necessary to render the plan in compliance with a significant requirement of this chapter; and

(b) Require a refrigerant stewardship organization to implement the amended plan.

(3) A refrigerant stewardship organization must submit an updated plan to the department for approval no less frequently than every five years. In addition, if required by the department, a refrigerant stewardship organization must submit a new plan to the department for approval:

(a) When there is a change to the method of financing plan implementation under section 8 of this act; and

(b) If there are significant changes to the methods of collection or end-of-life management under section 6 of this act that are not covered by the plan.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. PERFORMANCE MEASUREMENTS. (1) In plans submitted under section 4 of this act, a refrigerant stewardship organization shall set, and the department must review and may approve, reasonable binding interim annual performance targets in addition to and in advance of the 2032 recovery rate target.

(2) A refrigerant stewardship organization must propose and achieve an annual recovery rate of at least 70 percent in calendar year 2032 of implementation and every subsequent year.

(3) The department may adjust the target annual recovery rates and other performance targets in subsequent years beyond 2032 with the goal of optimizing refrigerant recovery and end-of-life management outcomes.

(4) The department may specify any additional reporting requirements required for the calculation of recovery rates and other performance targets consistent with this section that are above and beyond the reporting requirements listed in section 10 of this act.

(5) By October 1st of each year following the submission of an annual report under section 10 of this act, and based on the data reported to the department by refrigerant stewardship organizations as outlined in section 10 of this act, the department shall publish an annual report assessing the performance of refrigerant stewardship organizations. The annual report must include an evaluation of the recovery rates and other performance targets achieved by the program and any recommendations for continued improvement in the quantities of covered refrigerants collected, reclaimed, or destroyed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. COLLECTION AND MANAGEMENT. (1) A refrigerant stewardship organization must provide for the collection of all covered refrigerants recovered by any person from within the state of Washington. A collection site may not charge a collection fee at the time when covered refrigerants are returned to the collection site and a financial incentive must be paid to a service technician who recovers the covered refrigerant, consistent with section 8 of this act.

(2) At a minimum, a refrigerant stewardship organization must provide statewide opportunities for the collection of bulk covered refrigerant through:

(a) At least one permanent collection site in each county unless granted an infeasibility waiver from this requirement by the department; and

(b) Existing commercial sites operated by distributors and wholesalers of covered refrigerants who participate in a refrigerant stewardship organization. Distributors and wholesalers must offer such sites as program collection sites for recovered bulk covered refrigerants.

(3) Other entities including, but not limited to, the following may serve as collection sites:

(a) A retail establishment that sells precharged equipment containing covered refrigerants may elect to serve as a collection site; and

(b) Local governments or nonprofit organizations that operate household hazardous waste facilities or other solid waste facilities may elect for these facilities to serve as collection sites under the program.

(4) A refrigerant stewardship organization and any person hired by the refrigerant stewardship organization to carry out services related to refrigerant recovery or collection must manage covered refrigerants in a manner consistent with best practices consistent with federal refrigerant management regulations under sections 608 and 609 of the clean air act (40 C.F.R. Part 82) and WAC 173-443-205, as they existed as of January 1, 2024, or as updated by the department by rule after that date in order to maintain consistency with updated federal regulations, that minimize the release into the environment and in compliance with all applicable state rules and federal regulations.

(5) A refrigerant stewardship organization may suspend or terminate a collection site that does not adhere to the collection site criteria in the approved plan or that poses an immediate health or safety concern. A refrigerant stewardship organization must notify the department upon suspending or terminating a collection site.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. EDUCATION AND OUTREACH. (1) A refrigerant stewardship organization must carry out promotional activities in support of plan implementation including, but not limited to:

(a) The development and maintenance of a website;

(b) The development and placement of graphic advertisements for use on social media or other relevant media platforms;

(c) The development of promotional materials about the program to be used by the refrigerant stewardship organization, government agencies, and nonprofit organizations, businesses, and others;

(d) Educational promotional materials targeted towards service technicians made available at each collection site used by the refrigerant stewardship organization; and

(e) Educational materials to be used at the point of sale for precharged equipment.

(2) During the first year of program implementation and every five years thereafter, a refrigerant stewardship organization must carry out a survey of the program's partner participants awareness to determine the effectiveness of the requirements of the program and awareness of the program established under this chapter. A refrigerant stewardship organization must share the results of the awareness surveys with the department, who may choose to make the information public.

(3) If multiple refrigerant stewardship organizations are implementing plans approved by the department, the refrigerant stewardship organizations must coordinate in carrying out their education and outreach responsibilities under this section and must include in their annual reports to the department a summary of their coordinated education and outreach efforts.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. FINANCIAL REQUIREMENTS. (1) A refrigerant stewardship organization must ensure adequate funding is available to fully implement its stewardship plan, including the implementation of aspects of the plan addressing:

(a) The collection of recovered covered refrigerants;

(b) Education and outreach;

(c) Annual reporting to the department;

(d) The payments of a financial incentive to persons with a United States environmental protection agency refrigerant certification under section 608 or 609 of the federal clean air act or the American innovation and manufacturing act of 2020, as they existed as of January 1, 2024, that furnish recovered covered refrigerants to the program for collection;

(e) The payments for services rendered by distributors, wholesalers, or any persons providing collection sites for recovered covered refrigerants; and

(f) The payment of administrative fees to the department.

(2)(a) A refrigerant stewardship organization must develop and implement a system to collect charges from participating producers to cover the costs of plan implementation in an equitable, environmentally sound, and socially just manner. Except as provided in (f) of this subsection, a refrigerant stewardship organization's system of charges must utilize a standard per-mass unit assessment applied based on the volume of covered refrigerants introduced into Washington.

(b) The system of charges must apply equally regardless of whether that refrigerant is contained in precharged equipment or manufactured, imported, distributed, or sold directly onto the market as bulk covered refrigerants. For precharged equipment, the system of charges may rely on reasonable estimations of refrigerant volumes contained in the precharged equipment.

(c) To allow a refrigerant stewardship organization to establish an equitable and reasonable system of charges for producers of precharged equipment and bulk covered refrigerants, and to allow the refrigerant stewardship organization to calculate recovery rates for purposes of section 5 of this act, a refrigerant stewardship organization may require a producer to provide product specifications and product sale and distribution volumes in or into Washington for precharged equipment and bulk covered refrigerants.

(d) In the plan proposed to the department, the refrigerant stewardship organization must propose an initial rate per pound of covered refrigerant to calculate the charges due from producers in the first year of the program, consistent with the requirements of this section. The department may approve the proposed rate of the refrigerant stewardship organization if it determines, based on consideration of the experiences of other jurisdictions that have implemented similar programs, that the proposed rate will be sufficient for the refrigerant stewardship organization to achieve the performance targets established in section 5 of this act and to carry out the other obligations of the refrigerant stewardship organization under this chapter.

(e) For each year beginning in 2029, the charges due from producers may be adjusted as follows:

(i) A refrigerant stewardship organization may propose to the department to adjust the initial per pound rate based on the performance assessment described in section 5 of this act, and the department may review and make a determination whether to approve the adjustment; or

(ii) The department may of its own volition adjust the rate based on the performance assessment described in section 5 of this act.

(f) Applicable no earlier than in calendar year 2031 of program operations, and using the process specified in (e) of this subsection, a refrigerant stewardship organization's system of charges may utilize an assessment that is weighted based on the global warming potential of each covered refrigerant, with a proportionally higher fee being assessed for gases with comparatively higher global warming potential.

(3) The system of charges must use ecomodulated fees to encourage the use of design attributes that reduce the environmental impacts of covered refrigerants. Examples of ecomodulated fees include, but are not limited to:

(a) Encouraging designs or business models intended to facilitate recovery, reclamation, and reuse of refrigerants;

(b) Encouraging the use of reclaimed refrigerants; and

(c) Encouraging a sliding scale of fees based upon refrigerant global warming potential.

(4) A refrigerant stewardship organization is responsible for all costs of recovered covered refrigerant collection, education, administration, and agency reimbursement in accordance with best environmental management practices.

(5) A refrigerant stewardship organization is not authorized to reduce or cease collection, education and outreach, or other activities implemented under an approved plan based on the achievement of program performance targets or achieving a level of programmatic efficacy that is higher than that required in section 5 of this act.

(6)(a) To encourage persons to manage recovered covered refrigerants through the program and to ensure that the program targets established in section 5 of this act are achieved, a refrigerant stewardship organization must propose in its plan, and carry out in its program, the payment of a financial incentive for each mass unit, such as pound of covered refrigerant, that a partner participant registered with the refrigerant stewardship organization furnishes to the program for management. Financial incentive payments must be made, where appropriate, to the employer of the person furnishing the covered refrigerant to the program for management, as long as the employer of the person furnishing the covered refrigerant provides a payment mechanism in which no less than 90 percent of the value of the financial incentive is received by the person furnishing the refrigerant to the program. Persons receiving financial incentives must possess a refrigerant certification under section 608 or 609 of the federal clean air act or the American innovation and manufacturing act of 2020, as they existed as of January 1, 2024. This financial incentive is not required to be consistent with the amount specified in subsection (2) of this section. A refrigerant stewardship organization must demonstrate to the department that the amount of the financial incentive for each unit of covered refrigerant will be sufficient to incentivize the use of the program by service technicians or other persons with unwanted recovered covered refrigerant, to discourage illegal dumping or venting of refrigerants or other pollutants, and must be in addition to any other incentive payments offered for the same covered refrigerants or precharged equipment through utility rebate, energy efficiency, or other programs.

(b) The financial incentives offered through the program may vary as appropriate to ensure the achievement of the performance targets established in section 5 of this act in an efficient manner. In developing the financial incentives, a refrigerant stewardship organization may consider any combination of the following:

(i) The volume of recovered covered refrigerant furnished by a partner participant;

(ii) The type and purity of recovered covered refrigerant; and

(iii) Whether the recovered covered refrigerant has been collected and furnished to the program in a manner that minimizes the costs and environmental impacts of managing that refrigerant and whether it has been collected and furnished in a manner that facilitates the reuse of the refrigerant rather than its destruction, where appropriate.

(c) If the department determines that a refrigerant stewardship organization has not met a performance target established in section 5 of this act, the department may require the refrigerant stewardship organization to increase the value of the financial incentive established under this subsection.

(d) The refrigerant stewardship organization may retain a cash reserve on a year-over-year basis in order to ensure the refrigerant stewardship organization's ability to pay financial incentives in future years for the covered refrigerant furnished to the program.

(7) A refrigerant stewardship organization must reimburse demonstrable costs incurred at a collection site as a result of a serving as a collection site for the program including, but not limited to, associated labor costs, transportation costs, and other costs associated with safety, accessibility, and operation of the collection site. A refrigerant stewardship organization may provide additional supports to facilitate the recovery of covered refrigerants including, but not limited to, assistance for service technicians in obtaining equipment to facilitate recovery of covered refrigerants.

(8) (a) It is the intent of the legislature to not incentivize refrigerant destruction under this chapter in the initial years of program implementation.

(b) As federal programs under the American innovation in manufacturing act, including those in 40 C.F.R. Part 84, and similar state programs phase down the use of hydrofluorocarbon refrigerants, the department may evaluate the benefits of incentivizing destruction, and on or after January 1, 2035, the department may by rule set an incentive for destruction of covered refrigerants that may not be used for any carbon credits or other greenhouse gas offset credits, including under chapter 70A.65 RCW.

(9) If more than one refrigerant stewardship organization is registered within the state, each refrigerant stewardship organization must coordinate with other refrigerant stewardship organizations to provide reimbursement, to ensure that covered refrigerants are not reported as supplied or managed by more than one refrigerant stewardship organization, and to ensure that one or more of the registered refrigerant stewardship organizations do not inequitably subsidize the operations of other registered refrigerant stewardship organizations through the overpayment of financial incentives to service technicians and other persons relative to that refrigerant stewardship organization or refrigerant stewardship organization's share of covered refrigerants that it is responsible for in the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. ROLE OF RETAIL ESTABLISHMENTS SELLING PRECHARGED EQUIPMENT.

(1) Beginning July 1, 2028, retail establishments may not sell, offer for sale, otherwise make available for sale, install, or otherwise furnish to customers precharged equipment containing a covered refrigerant unless the producer responsible for the precharged equipment participates in a refrigerant stewardship organization.

(2) A retail establishment is in compliance with the requirements of subsection (1) of this section and is not subject to penalties as long as the website made available by the department under section 12 of this act lists, as of the date the precharged equipment is made available for retail sale, the producer responsible for the brand and appliance model of the precharged appliance, sold by the retail establishment as being a participant in an approved plan or the implementer of an approved plan.

(3) A retail establishment that sells precharged equipment containing covered refrigerant is not required to make retail locations available to serve as collection sites or services for a program operated by a refrigerant stewardship organization. However, a retail establishment that agrees to make a retail location available to serve as a collection site or otherwise offers refrigerant recovery services for a program must comply with the requirements for collection sites and service providers, consistent with section 6 of this act.

(4) A retail establishment selling or offering precharged equipment containing covered refrigerant for sale in Washington must provide information to customers, provided to the retail establishment by each refrigerant stewardship organization, regarding available end-of-life management options for covered refrigerants collected by the refrigerant stewardship organization. The information that a refrigerant stewardship organization must make available to retail establishments and refrigerant service providers must include, but is not limited to, in-store signage, written materials, and other promotional materials that retail establishments and refrigerant service providers must use to inform customers of the available end-of-life management options for covered refrigerants collected by the refrigerant stewardship organization. All materials developed by a refrigerant stewardship organization under this subsection must:

(a) Inform customers regarding the climate impacts of refrigerants;

(b) Encourage customers to choose a service technician participating in the program and encourage customers to confirm with their service technician that the customer's refrigerants will be reclaimed; and

(c) Identify the prohibitions under federal law and chapters 70A.15 and 70A.60 RCW on the willful release of refrigerants.

(5) Retail establishments, refrigerant service providers, producers, or refrigerant stewardship organizations may not charge a point-of-sale fee to consumers to cover the administrative or operational costs of the refrigerant stewardship organization or the program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. REPORTING AND RECORDKEEPING REQUIREMENTS FOR THE REFRIGERANT STEWARDSHIP ORGANIZATION, PRODUCERS, AND PARTICIPANTS. (1) By June 1, 2029, and each June 1st thereafter, a refrigerant stewardship organization must submit an annual report to the department covering the preceding calendar year of program implementation. The report must include:

(a) An independent financial audit of a program implemented by the refrigerant stewardship organization, including a breakdown of the program's expenses, such as collection, storage, transportation, and other operational activities in support of the program;

(b) A summary financial statement documenting the financing of the refrigerant stewardship organization program and an analysis of program costs and expenditures, including an analysis of the program's expenses, such as collection, storage, transportation, and other activities in support of the program;

(c) On an annual basis, key quantitative data regarding program operations, including:

(i) The quantity of each type of covered refrigerant, whether in bulk or contained inside precharged equipment, sold into the state of Washington by each producer;

(ii) The quantity of each type of recovered covered refrigerant and the management outcomes of those recovered covered refrigerants as to reclamation, destruction, or transportation for those purposes, or any maintained stocks; and

(iii) A calculation of the recovery rate and other performance targets established under section 5 of this act, including the sources of data relied upon in the recovery rate calculation;

(d) For each facility used as a collection site, the name and address of the facility with links to appropriate websites where there are existing websites associated with a location;

(e) A summary of the activities carried out at the collection sites;

(f) A summary of the education and outreach activities supporting plan implementation, including a summary of coordinated education and outreach efforts with refrigerant stewardship organizations if multiple refrigerant stewardship organizations have formed, and the results of awareness surveys;

(g) Any changes to:

(i) The list of producers participating, including producers of precharged equipment;

(ii) Collection infrastructure, including the list of collection sites;

(iii) Recovery rates and progress towards performance targets; and

(iv) The program necessary to continue progress towards performance targets; and

(h) Any other information about program operations required to be included in the annual report in rules adopted by the department.

(2) On March 1st, June 1st, September 1st, and December 1st of each year in which a refrigerant stewardship organization implements a program, a refrigerant stewardship organization must submit to the department an updated list of participating producers of covered refrigerants and precharged equipment, and the brands and models for precharged equipment, to be posted on the department's website.

(3) The partner participants in a refrigerant stewardship organization, such as distributors and wholesalers of bulk covered refrigerants or precharged equipment, are required to keep records of information needed by the refrigerant stewardship organization to fulfill the refrigerant stewardship organization's reporting requirements listed in this section and to aid the performance assessment requirements listed in section 5 of this act. To the extent feasible, recordkeeping and reporting requirements applicable to partner participants must be harmonized with the recordkeeping and reporting requirements under chapter 70A.60 RCW and required by the United States environmental protection agency. Partner participants must report information to a refrigerant stewardship organization in a form and manner prescribed by the refrigerant stewardship organization, and consistent with the following:

(a) By March 31st of each year a refrigerant stewardship organization implements a program, distributors and wholesalers must report to each refrigerant stewardship organization quantities and types of covered refrigerants sold to them by each producer participating in that refrigerant stewardship organization and subsequently resold by them for use in the state of Washington, and not neighboring states, in the prior year;

(b) Distributors and wholesalers must keep the same records outlined in (a) of this subsection for a period of five years;

(c) Distributors and wholesalers must require attestation from any service technician or other individual returning recovered covered refrigerant that the refrigerant came from the state of Washington. At minimum, the attestation must include quantities and types of refrigerants recovered at each location inside of Washington, as well as the address of the recovery;

(d) The department may require a refrigerant stewardship organization to submit any of the records listed in (a) through (c) of this subsection at any time.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. PROTECTION OF CONFIDENTIAL AND BUSINESS SENSITIVE INFORMATION. A refrigerant stewardship organization may request that the information or records be made available only for the confidential use of the department, the director of the department, or the appropriate division of the department. The director of the department must give consideration to the request and if this action is not detrimental to the public interest and is otherwise in accordance with the policies and purposes of chapter 43.21A RCW, the director must grant the request for the information to remain confidential as authorized in RCW 43.21A.160.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF DEPARTMENT OF ECOLOGY SECTION. (1) The department must implement, administer, and enforce this chapter. By December 31, 2026, the department shall adopt rules as necessary to implement, administer, and enforce this chapter. If, after January 1, 2024, the United States environmental protection agency updates the federal standards referenced in section 2 of this act, including the provisions referenced in the definitions of "reclaimer," "service technician," "recovery," and "destruction" in section 2 of this act, the department must notify the appropriate committees of the legislature and recommend appropriate changes to the definitions in section 2 of this act in order to maintain consistency with federal law.

(2)(a) By April 1, 2027, and every April 1st thereafter, the department must:

(i) Identify the projected annual costs to implement, administer, and enforce this chapter;

(ii) Determine a total annual fee payment to be paid by each refrigerant stewardship organization that is adequate to cover, but not exceed, the costs identified in (a)(i) of this subsection;

(iii) By December 31, 2026, adopt rules to equitably determine the annual fee payment by a refrigerant stewardship organization; and

(iv) Send notice to a refrigerant stewardship organization of fee amounts due consistent with rules adopted under (a)(iii) of this subsection.

(b) The department must:

(i) Apply any remaining annual payment funds from the current year to the annual payment for the coming fiscal year, if the collected annual payment exceeds the costs identified under (a)(ii) of this subsection for a given year; and

(ii) Increase annual payments for the coming fiscal year to cover the costs identified under (a)(ii) of this subsection, if the collected annual payment was less than the amount required to cover those costs for a given year.

(3)(a) The department must review new, updated, and revised plans submitted by a refrigerant stewardship organization. The department must:

(i) Make new, updated, and revised plans available for public review and comment for at least 30 days prior to the department's approval decision;

(ii) Review new, updated, and revised refrigerant stewardship organization plans within 120 days of receipt of a complete plan;

(iii) Make a determination as to whether or not to approve a plan, plan update, or plan revision and notify the refrigerant stewardship organization of the:

(A) Determination of approval if a plan provides for a program that meets the requirements of this chapter, taking into consideration comments received under (a)(i) of this subsection; or

(B) Reasons for not approving a plan. A refrigerant stewardship organization must submit a new or revised plan within 60 days after receipt of the letter of disapproval. In the event that a new or revised plan submitted by a refrigerant stewardship organization does not sufficiently meet the requirements of this chapter, including any deficiencies identified in the initial letter of disapproval, the department may:

(I) Use the enforcement powers specified in section 13 of this act; or

(II) Amend the contents of the insufficient new or revised plan in a manner that ensures that the plan meets the requirements of this chapter and the department may require the refrigerant stewardship organization to implement the plan as amended by the department.

(b) The approval of a plan by the department does not relieve producers participating in the plan from responsibility for fulfilling the requirements of this chapter.

(4) The department must review annual reports submitted by a refrigerant stewardship organization as required in section 10 of this act. The department must:

(a) Make annual reports available for public review and comment for at least 30 days upon the receipt of the annual report by the department;

(b) Review the annual report within 120 days of receipt of a complete annual report;

(c) Make a determination as to whether or not an annual report meets the requirements of section 10 of this act and notify a refrigerant stewardship organization of the:

(i) Determination of approval of the annual report; or

(ii) Reasons for not approving the annual report. The refrigerant stewardship organization must submit a revised annual report within 60 days after receipt of the letter of disapproval;

(d) Notify a refrigerant stewardship organization if the annual report demonstrates that the program and activities to implement the plan fail to achieve the performance targets approved by the department or otherwise fail to achieve significant requirements under this chapter.

(5) Consistent with section 6 of this act, the department may grant an infeasibility waiver temporarily exempting, for the duration of a plan, a refrigerant stewardship organization from the requirement to provide a permanent collection site in each county. The department may only grant an exemption if the refrigerant stewardship organization demonstrates that no refrigerant distributor, wholesaler, or service provider exists to service a collection site, no local government or retail establishment has voluntarily elected to serve as a collection site, and that access to collection services by persons in possession of recovered covered refrigerants will not be substantially affected by the lack of a permanent collection site in a low population density county. The refrigerant stewardship organization, if granted an infeasibility waiver under this section must, at minimum, hold at least two collection events each year in any counties covered by the infeasibility waiver.

(6) The department must maintain a public website that:

(a) Lists details of each refrigerant stewardship organization along with its member producers, participants, and the covered refrigerants and brands and models precharged equipment that are included under the refrigerant stewardship organization's plan; and

(b) Makes available each plan and annual report received by the department under this chapter.

(7) If multiple refrigerant stewardship organizations form to implement plans, and if requested by the refrigerant stewardship organizations, the department may serve as a coordinating body or oversee coordination of refrigerant stewardship organization plans.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. PENALTIES.

(1) (a) The department may administratively impose a civil penalty of up to $1,000 per violation per day on any person who violates this chapter and up to $10,000 per violation per day for the second and each subsequent violation.

(b) Prior to imposing penalties under this subsection, the department must provide a person with a written warning for the first violation by the person of the requirements of this chapter. The written warning must inform the person that the person must participate in an approved plan or otherwise come into compliance with the requirements of this chapter within 30 days of the notice. A person that violates a provision of this chapter after the initial written warning may be assessed a penalty as provided in this subsection.

(2) Upon the department notifying a refrigerant stewardship organization that it has not met a significant requirement of this chapter, the department may, in addition to assessing the penalties provided in subsection (1) of this section, take any combination of the following actions:

(a)(i) Issue corrective action orders to a producer or a refrigerant stewardship organization;

(ii) Issue orders to a refrigerant stewardship organization to provide for the continued implementation of the program in the absence of an approved plan;

(b) Revoke the refrigerant stewardship organization's plan approval and require the refrigerant stewardship organization to implement its contingency plan;

(c) Require a refrigerant stewardship organization to revise or resubmit a plan within a specified time frame; or

(d) Require additional reporting related to compliance with the significant requirement of this chapter that was not met.

(3) Prior to taking the actions described in subsection (2)(b) of this section, the department must provide a refrigerant stewardship organization with an opportunity to respond to or rebut the written finding upon which the action is predicated.

(4) Any person who incurs a penalty under subsection (1) of this section or an order under subsection (2) of this section may appeal the penalty or order to the pollution control hearings board established in chapter 43.21B RCW.

(5) Penalties levied under this section must be deposited in the model toxics control operating account created in RCW 70A.305.180.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. ANTITRUST PROTECTIONS. Producers and a refrigerant stewardship organization, acting on behalf of producers that prepare, submit, and implement a refrigerant stewardship organization plan pursuant to this chapter and who are thereby subject to regulation by the department, are hereby granted immunity from state laws relating to antitrust, restraint of trade, unfair trade practices, and other regulation of trade and commerce, for the limited purpose of planning, reporting, and operating the stewardship program, including:

(1) The creation, implementation, or management of the refrigerant stewardship organization and any plan regardless of whether it is submitted, denied, or approved;

(2) The cost and structure of a refrigerant stewardship organization plan; and

(3) The types or quantities of covered refrigerants being recycled or otherwise managed pursuant to this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. RESPONSIBLE REFRIGERANT DISPOSAL ACCOUNT.

The responsible refrigerant disposal account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All receipts from section 12 of this act must be deposited into the account. Expenditures from the account may be used only for administering, implementing, and enforcing the requirements of this chapter. Moneys in the account may not be diverted for any purpose or activity other than those specified in this section. Only the director of ecology or the director's designee may authorize expenditures from the account. The account is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not required for expenditures.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. PROHIBITION ON THE USES OF FUNDS. A refrigerant stewardship organization may not use funds collected for purposes of implementing a plan required under this chapter associated with:

(1) The payment of an administrative penalty levied;

(2) Administrative appeals of orders or penalties;

(3) Litigation between the refrigerant stewardship organization and the state;

(4) Compensation of a person whose position is primarily representing the refrigerant stewardship organization relative to the passage, defeat, approval, or modification of legislation that is being considered by a government entity; or

(5) Paid advertisements related to encouraging the passage, defeat, approval, or modification of legislation that is being considered during an upcoming or current legislative session or was considered during the previous legislative session.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. LIMITATION OF CHAPTER. Nothing in this chapter changes or limits the applicability of the requirements of chapter 70A.15, 70A.60, or 70A.300 RCW to covered refrigerants.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:

BUSINESS AND OCCUPATION TAX EXEMPTION.

(1) This chapter does not apply to:

(a) Receipts of a refrigerant stewardship organization formed under chapter 70A.---RCW (the new chapter created in section 21 of this act) from charges to participating producers under a stewardship plan as provided in section 8 of this act;

(b) Charges to producers by a refrigerant stewardship organization formed under chapter 70A.---RCW (the new chapter created in section 21 of this act) under a stewardship plan as provided in section 8 of this act; or

(c) Financial incentive payments received by partner participants under section 8 of this act.

(2) This section is not subject to the requirements of RCW 82.32.805 and 82.32.808 and is not subject to an expiration date.

The bill was read the second time.

There being no objection, Second Substitute House Bill No. 1368 was substituted for House Bill No. 1368 and the second substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

SECOND SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1368 was read the second time.

Representative Senn moved the adoption of the striking amendment (903):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that zero emission vehicle technology is crucial to protecting Washington's children from the health impacts of fossil fuel emissions and to limiting the long-term impacts of climate change on our planet. Spurred by a supportive regulatory environment, the state has made great advances in recent years that have improved the performance and reduced the costs of such vehicles. With the recent deployment of financial incentives for clean transportation technology under the federal bipartisan infrastructure law of 2021, the inflation reduction act of 2022, and state funding for early adopters of zero emission buses that began being made available in the 2023 enacted budgets, the costs and performance of zero emission vehicles, including zero emission school buses, are forecast to continue to improve in coming years. Zero emission school buses on the market today feature reduced fuel, operations, and maintenance costs compared to their fossil-fueled counterparts.

(2) Zero emission school buses and the related reduction of diesel exhaust will also have significant public health benefits for children, school staff, bus drivers, and communities, and decrease inequities.

Residents in overburdened parts of Washington facing poor air quality are disproportionately communities of color, rural, and low-income and suffer from increased health risks, higher medical bills, are living sicker and dying younger, emphasizing the need for cleaner air and environmental justice.

(3) Further, the legislature finds that school districts need funding support to enable the transition to zero emission buses, including accurately reflecting the costs of zero emission buses in the state's reimbursement schedule for school buses. Zero emission buses are intended to include both battery electric technologies and hydrogen fuel cell technologies.

(4) Therefore, it is the intent of the legislature to help transition school districts, charter schools, and state-tribal education compact schools to using only zero emission school buses.

(5) During this transition, it is the intent of the legislature to prioritize grants to communities that are already bearing the most acute harms of air pollution, and to replace the oldest diesel vehicles that were manufactured under outdated and less protective federal emission standards. During the time leading up to an eventual phase out of fossil fuel powered school buses, electric utilities are encouraged to plan and take steps to ensure any service upgrades necessary to support the onboarding of zero emission fleets of school buses, including by making use of the grid modernization grant program administered by the department of commerce. Schools and school districts receiving zero emission school buses funded through the program created in this act are encouraged to coordinate with electric utilities to utilize the vehicles to support electric system reliability and capacity through vehicle-to-grid integration when the buses are not in service.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 70A.15 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department must administer the zero emission school bus grant program within the clean diesel grant program for buses, infrastructure, and related costs.

(2)(a) Appropriations to this grant program are provided solely for grants to transition from fossil-fuel school buses to zero emission vehicles. Eligible uses of grant funds include the planning and acquisition of zero emission school bus vehicles for student transportation, planning, design, and construction of associated fueling and charging infrastructure, including infrastructure to allow the use of zero emission buses in cold weather and other challenging operational conditions, the scrapping of old diesel school buses, and training drivers, mechanics, and facility operations personnel to operate and maintain the zero emission buses and infrastructure.

(b) Grant recipients may combine grant funds awarded under this section with any other source of funding in order to secure all funds needed to fully purchase each zero emission vehicle and any associated charging infrastructure.

(c) Grants issued under this section are in addition to payments made under the depreciation schedule adopted by the office of the superintendent of public instruction. Grants may only be issued until the school bus depreciation schedule established in RCW 28A.160.200 is adjusted to fund the cost of zero emission bus purchases at which time the department must transition the program established in this section to focus solely on electric vehicle charging infrastructure grants.

(3) When selecting grant recipients, the department must prioritize, in descending order of priority:

(a) School bus routes currently using school buses manufactured prior to 2007 and serving overburdened communities, including communities of color, rural, and low-income communities, highly impacted by air pollution identified by the department under RCW 70A.65.020(1);

(b) School bus routes serving overburdened communities, including communities of color, rural, and low-income communities, highly impacted by air pollution identified by the department under RCW 70A.65.020(1);

(c) If funds remain after reviewing grant applications meeting the criteria of (a) of this subsection, the replacement of school buses manufactured prior to 2007; and

(d) If funds remain after reviewing grant applications meeting the criteria of (a), (b), or (c) of this subsection, to applicants that demonstrate an unsuccessful application to receive federal funding for zero emission school bus purposes prior to January 1, 2024.

(4) The department must distribute no less than 90 percent of the funds appropriated under this section to grant recipients. Amounts retained by the department may only be used as follows:

(a) Up to three and one-half percent of funds appropriated under this section for administering the grant program; and

(b) Up to six and one-half percent of funds appropriated under this section to provide technical assistance to grant applicants including, but not limited to, assistance in evaluating charging infrastructure and equipment and in coordinating with electric utility service adequacy.

(5) By June 1, 2025, the department in consultation with the superintendent of public instruction must submit a report to the governor and the relevant policy and fiscal committees of the legislature providing an update on the status of implementation of the grant program under this section and a summary of recommendations and implementation considerations for transitioning the zero emission school bus grant program from competitive school bus vehicle depreciation schedule established in RCW 28A.160.200.

(6) For the purposes of this section, "zero emission vehicles" means a vehicle that produces zero exhaust emission of any air pollutant and any greenhouse gas other than water vapor.

Sec. 3. RCW 28A.160.140 and 1990 c 33 s 140 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) As a condition of entering into a pupil transportation services contract with a private nongovernmental entity, each school district shall engage in an open competitive process at least once every ~~((five))~~15 years. This requirement shall not be construed to prohibit a district from entering into a pupil transportation services contract of less than ~~((five))~~15 years in duration with a district option to renew, extend, or terminate the contract, if the district engages in an open competitive process at least once every ~~((five))~~15 years ~~((after July 26, 1987))~~.

(2)(a) Beginning September 1, 2030, 75 percent of newly-acquired school buses used for pupil transportation services contracts under this section must be school buses that are zero emission vehicles, as defined in section 2 of this act.

(b) Once zero emission school bus total cost of ownership as defined by rule making authorized in RCW 28A.160.195(7) is determined to be at or below the total cost of ownership as defined by rule making authorized in RCW 28A.160.195(7) of diesel school buses, newly-acquired school buses used for pupil transportation services contracts under this section must be school buses that are zero emission vehicles, as defined in section 2 of this act.

(c) If zero emission school bus total cost of ownership is determined to be at or below the total cost of ownership of diesel school buses under (b) of this subsection, prior to September 1, 2030, the provisions of (b) of this subsection take precedence over the provisions of (a) of this subsection.

(3) As used in this section:

~~((1))~~(a) "Open competitive process" means either one of the following, at the choice of the school district:

~~((a))~~(i) The solicitation of bids or quotations and the award of contracts under RCW 28A.335.190; or

~~((b))~~(ii) The competitive solicitation of proposals and their evaluation consistent with the process and criteria recommended or required, as the case may be, by the office of financial management for state agency acquisition of personal service contractors;

~~((2))~~(b) "Pupil transportation services contract" means a contract for the operation of privately owned or school district owned school buses, and the services of drivers or operators, management and supervisory personnel, and their support personnel such as secretaries, dispatchers, and mechanics, or any combination thereof, to provide students with transportation to and from school on a regular basis; and

~~((3))~~(c) "School bus" means a motor vehicle as defined in RCW 46.04.521 and under the rules of the superintendent of public instruction.

Sec. 4. RCW 28A.160.195 and 2005 c 492 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The superintendent of public instruction, in consultation with the regional transportation coordinators of the educational service districts, shall establish a minimum number of school bus categories considering the capacity and type of vehicles required by school districts in Washington. Once zero emission school bus total cost of ownership as defined by rule making authorized in subsection (7) of this section is determined to be at or below the total cost of ownership as defined by rule making authorized in subsection (7) of this section of diesel school buses, these school bus categories must solely include school buses that meet the definition of zero emission vehicle in section 2 of this act, except as necessary to reimburse diesel school buses purchased prior to the determination, and except for use cases where needs, including the mileage needs of bus routes, are not capable of being met by the technological capabilities of zero emission buses available to school districts for acquisition. The superintendent, in consultation with the regional transportation coordinators of the educational service districts, shall establish competitive specifications for each category of school bus. The categories shall be developed to produce minimum long-range operating costs, including costs of equipment and all costs in operating the vehicles. The competitive specifications shall meet federal motor vehicle safety standards, minimum state specifications as established by rule by the superintendent, and supported options as determined by the superintendent in consultation with the regional transportation coordinators of the educational service districts. The superintendent may solicit and accept price quotes for a rear-engine category school bus that shall be reimbursed at the price of the corresponding front engine category.

(2) After establishing school bus categories and competitive specifications, the superintendent of public instruction shall solicit competitive price quotes for base buses from school bus dealers, which must include the solicitation of competitive price quotes for zero emission buses that meet the definition of zero emission vehicle in section 2 of this act, to be in effect for one year and shall establish a list of all accepted price quotes in each category obtained under this subsection. The superintendent shall also solicit price quotes for optional features and equipment.

(3) The superintendent shall base the level of reimbursement to school districts and educational service districts for school buses on the lowest quote for the base bus in each category. School districts and educational service districts shall be reimbursed for buses purchased only through a lowest-price competitive bid process conducted under RCW 28A.335.190 or through the state bid process established by this section. Once school bus categories include only school buses that meet the definition of zero emission as required in subsection (1) of this section, reimbursements must reflect for the full cost of zero emission buses, excluding operating costs covered under this chapter and infrastructure eligible for grants under section 2 of this act.

(4) Notwithstanding RCW 28A.335.190, school districts and educational service districts may purchase at the quoted price directly from any dealer who is on the list established under subsection (2) of this section. School districts and educational service districts may make their own selections for school buses, but shall be reimbursed at the rates determined under subsection (3) of this section and RCW 28A.160.200. District-selected options shall not be reimbursed by the state.

(5) This section does not prohibit school districts or educational service districts from conducting their own competitive bid process.

(6) Nothing in this section prohibits the use of externally vented fuel-operated passenger heaters from November 15th through March 15th annually until other viable alternatives become available.

(7)(a) The superintendent of public instruction ~~((may))~~ must adopt rules under chapter 34.05 RCW to implement this section.

(b) The department of ecology, in consultation with the superintendent of public instruction, must adopt rules to establish the formulas used to calculate the total cost of ownership for school buses. Prior to the establishment of total cost of ownership rules, the superintendent of public instruction must, in consultation with the department of ecology publish optional preliminary guidance that school districts, including those contracting for pupil transportation services, may follow.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 28A.300 RCW to read as follows:

(1) By November 15, 2024, the office of the superintendent of public instruction, in consultation with the department of ecology, must carry out a survey of school districts, charter schools, and state-tribal education compact schools focused on the uptake and total cost of ownership of zero emission school buses. The office of the superintendent of public instruction must submit a report to the legislature summarizing their findings by December 1, 2024.

(2) The survey required under this section must collect information from each school district and school on:

(a) Current zero emission vehicle charging and refueling capacity and infrastructure;

(b) Whether, assuming the availability of grant funds and depreciation schedule payments to cover the full cost of a vehicle, including the total cost of ownership of the vehicle, the school district or school would anticipate applying for funds to support zero emission school bus or bus infrastructure purchases in the next two years, and in the next five years;

(c) For any schools or school districts still using a school bus after the end of its applicable depreciation schedule, whether the bus was manufactured prior to 2007, and an explanation of why the school or school district has continued to use the bus past the end of its depreciation schedule;

(d) Responses to preliminary guidance from the office of the superintendent of public instruction for calculating total cost of ownership and whether the school district or school utilizes the preliminary guidance or uses a different calculation methodology; and

(e) Any other survey information deemed helpful by the department of ecology or the office of the superintendent of public instruction to facilitating the transition to zero emission vehicles.

(3) For purposes of this section, "zero emission vehicle" has the same meaning as in section 2 of this act."

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 10.85 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The firearm bounty program is established to encourage persons to submit information to law enforcement to locate lost or stolen firearms that have been used in the commission of a crime. Any person who submits information to any peace officer, as defined in RCW 10.120.010, or to any agency with primary territorial jurisdiction, as defined in RCW 10.93.020, or to an entity that then forwards such information to a peace officer or such agency, that relates to the location of a lost or stolen firearm that has been used in the commission of a felony firearm offense is eligible to receive up to a $500 cash reward if that firearm is recovered. If the felony firearm offense related to the located firearm resulted in a criminal conviction, the person that submitted information relating to the location of the firearm is eligible to receive up to a $5,000 cash reward. A reward may not be paid to any law enforcement officer, any person that has an outstanding warrant, or to any federal, state, or local government or agency employee for information obtained by the individual in the normal course of their employment.

(2) The cash rewards authorized by this section shall be in accordance with RCW 10.85.050 and paid by the city or county associated with the peace officer or agency with primary territorial jurisdiction that recovered the firearm. Cities and counties may pay the cash rewards authorized in this section from funds received from the county criminal justice assistance account created in RCW 82.14.310 and the municipal criminal justice assistance account created in RCW 82.14.320.

Sec. 4. RCW 82.14.310 and 2022 c 157 s 21 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The county criminal justice assistance account is created in the state treasury. Beginning in fiscal year 2000, the state treasurer must transfer into the county criminal justice assistance account from the general fund the sum of $23,200,000 divided into four equal deposits occurring on July 1, October 1, January 1, and April 1. For each fiscal year thereafter, the state treasurer must increase the total transfer by the fiscal growth factor, as defined in RCW 43.135.025, forecast for that fiscal year by the office of financial management in November of the preceding year.

(2) The moneys deposited in the county criminal justice assistance account for distribution under this section, less any moneys appropriated for purposes under subsections (4) and (5) of this section, must be distributed at such times as distributions are made under *RCW 82.44.150 and on the relative basis of each county's funding factor as determined under this subsection.

(a) A county's funding factor is the sum of:

(i) The population of the county, divided by 1,000, and multiplied by two-tenths;

(ii) The crime rate of the county, multiplied by three-tenths; and

(iii) The annual number of criminal cases filed in the county superior court, for each 1,000 in population, multiplied by five-tenths.

(b) Under this section and RCW 82.14.320 and 82.14.330:

(i) The population of the county or city is as last determined by the office of financial management;

(ii) The crime rate of the county or city is the annual occurrence of specified criminal offenses, as calculated in the most recent annual report on crime in Washington state as published by the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs, for each 1,000 in population;

(iii) The annual number of criminal cases filed in the county superior court must be determined by the most recent annual report of the courts of Washington, as published by the administrative office of the courts;

(iv) Distributions and eligibility for distributions in the 1989-1991 biennium must be based on 1988 figures for both the crime rate as described under (b)(ii) of this subsection and the annual number of criminal cases that are filed as described under (b)(iii) of this subsection. Future distributions must be based on the most recent figures for both the crime rate as described under (b)(ii) of this subsection and the annual number of criminal cases that are filed as described under (b)(iii) of this subsection.

(3) Moneys distributed under this section must be expended exclusively for criminal justice purposes. Except after May 13, 2021, through December 31, 2023, these funds may not be used to replace or supplant existing funding. Criminal justice purposes are defined as activities that substantially assist the criminal justice system, which may include circumstances where ancillary benefit to the civil or juvenile justice system occurs, and which includes (a) domestic violence services such as those provided by domestic violence programs, community advocates, and legal advocates, as defined in RCW 70.123.020, and (b) ~~((during the 2001-2003 fiscal biennium, juvenile dispositional hearings relating to petitions for at-risk youth, truancy, and children in need of services))~~ payments made pursuant to section 3 of this act. Existing funding for purposes of this subsection is defined as calendar year 1989 actual operating expenditures for criminal justice purposes. Calendar year 1989 actual operating expenditures for criminal justice purposes exclude the following: Expenditures for extraordinary events not likely to reoccur, changes in contract provisions for criminal justice services, beyond the control of the local jurisdiction receiving the services, and major nonrecurring capital expenditures.

(4) Not more than five percent of the funds deposited to the county criminal justice assistance account may be available for appropriations for enhancements to the state patrol crime laboratory system and the continuing costs related to these enhancements. Funds appropriated from this account for such enhancements may not supplant existing funds from the state general fund.

(5) Each fiscal biennium, the sum of $510,000, may be appropriated for the Washington state patrol to provide investigative assistance and report services to assist local law enforcement agencies to prosecute criminals.

Sec. 5. RCW 82.14.320 and 2021 c 296 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The municipal criminal justice assistance account is created in the state treasury. Beginning in fiscal year 2000, the state treasurer must transfer into the municipal criminal justice assistance account for distribution under this section from the general fund the sum of $4,600,000 divided into four equal deposits occurring on July 1, October 1, January 1, and April 1. For each fiscal year thereafter, the state treasurer must increase the total transfer by the fiscal growth factor, as defined in RCW 43.135.025, forecast for that fiscal year by the office of financial management in November of the preceding year.

(2) No city may receive a distribution under this section from the municipal criminal justice assistance account unless:

(a) The city has a crime rate in excess of 125 percent of the statewide average as calculated in the most recent annual report on crime in Washington state as published by the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs;

(b) The city has levied the tax authorized in RCW 82.14.030(2) at the maximum rate or the tax authorized in RCW 82.46.010(3) at the maximum rate; and

(c) The city has a per capita yield from the tax imposed under RCW 82.14.030(1) at the maximum rate of less than 150 percent of the statewide average per capita yield for all cities from such local sales and use tax.

(3) The moneys deposited in the municipal criminal justice assistance account for distribution under this section, less any moneys appropriated for purposes under subsection (7) of this section, must be distributed at such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150. The distributions must be made as follows:

(a) Unless reduced by this subsection, 30 percent of the moneys must be distributed ratably based on population as last determined by the office of financial management to those cities eligible under subsection (2) of this section that have a crime rate determined under subsection (2)(a) of this section which is greater than 175 percent of the statewide average crime rate. No city may receive more than 50 percent of any moneys distributed under this subsection (~~((1)(3))~~) (3)(a) but, if a city distribution is reduced as a result of exceeding the 50 percent limitation, the amount not distributed must be distributed under (b) of this subsection.

(b) The remainder of the moneys, including any moneys not distributed in subsection (2)(a) of this section, must be distributed to all cities eligible under subsection (2) of this section ratably based on population as last determined by the office of financial management.

(4) No city may receive more than 30 percent of all moneys distributed under subsection (3) of this section.

(5) Notwithstanding other provisions of this section, the distributions to any city that substantially decriminalizes or repeals its criminal code after July 1, 1990, and that does not reimburse the county for costs associated with criminal cases under RCW 3.50.800 or 3.50.805(2), must be made to the county in which the city is located.

(6) Moneys distributed under this section must be expended exclusively for criminal justice purposes. Except after May 13, 2021, through December 31, 2023, these funds may not be used to replace or supplant existing funding. Criminal justice purposes are defined as activities that substantially assist the criminal justice system, which may include circumstances where ancillary benefit to the civil justice system occurs, and which includes (~~(domestic)~~): (a) Domestic violence services such as those provided by domestic violence programs, community advocates, and legal advocates, as defined in RCW 70.123.020(, and); (b) payments made pursuant to section 3 of this act, and (c) publications and public educational efforts designed to provide information and assistance to parents in dealing with runaway or at-risk youth. Existing funding for purposes of this subsection is defined as calendar year 1989 actual operating expenditures for criminal justice purposes. Calendar year 1989 actual operating expenditures for criminal justice purposes exclude the following: Expenditures for extraordinary events not likely to reoccur, changes in contract provisions for criminal justice services, beyond the control of the local jurisdiction receiving the services, and major nonrecurring capital expenditures.

(7) Not more than five percent of the funds deposited to the municipal criminal justice assistance account may be available for appropriations for enhancements to the state patrol crime laboratory system and the continuing costs related to these enhancements. Funds appropriated from this account for such enhancements may not supplant existing funds from the state general fund.

(8) During the 2011-2013 fiscal biennium, the amount that would otherwise be transferred into the municipal criminal justice assistance account from the general fund under subsection (1) of this section must be reduced by 3.4 percent.

(1)(a) Beginning in fiscal year 2000, the state treasurer must transfer into the municipal criminal justice assistance account for distribution under this section from the general fund the sum of $4,600,000 divided into four equal deposits occurring on July 1, October 1, January 1, and April 1. For each fiscal year thereafter, the state treasurer must increase the total transfer by the fiscal growth factor, as defined in RCW 43.135.025, forecast for that fiscal year by the office of financial management in November of the preceding year. The moneys deposited in the municipal criminal justice assistance account for distribution under this section, less any moneys appropriated for purposes under subsection (4) of this section, must be distributed to the cities of the state as follows:

(i) 20 percent appropriated for distribution must be distributed to cities with a three-year average violent crime rate for each 1,000 in population in excess of 150 percent of the statewide three-year average violent crime rate for each 1,000 in population. The three-year average violent crime rate must be calculated using the violent crime rates for each of the preceding three years from the annual reports on crime in Washington state as published by the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs. Moneys must be distributed under this subsection (1)(a) ratably based on population as last determined by the office of financial management, but no city may receive more than one dollar per capita. Moneys remaining undistributed under this subsection at the end of each calendar year must be distributed to the criminal justice training commission to reimburse participating city law enforcement agencies with 10 or fewer full-time commissioned patrol officers the cost of temporary replacement of each officer who is enrolled in basic law enforcement training, as provided in RCW 43.101.200.

(ii) 16 percent must be distributed to cities ratably based on population as last determined by the office of financial management, but no city may receive less than $1,000.

(b) The moneys deposited in the municipal criminal justice assistance account for distribution under this subsection (1) must be distributed at such times as distributions are made under *RCW 82.44.150.

(c) Moneys distributed under this subsection (1) must be expended exclusively for criminal justice purposes. Except after May 13, 2021, through December 31, 2023, these funds may not be used to replace or supplant existing funding. Criminal justice purposes are defined as activities that substantially assist the criminal justice system, which may include circumstances where ancillary benefit to the civil justice system occurs, and which includes domestic violence services such as those provided by domestic violence programs, community advocates, and legal advocates, as defined in RCW 70.123.020; and payments made pursuant to section 3 of this act. Existing funding for purposes of this subsection is defined as calendar year 1989 actual operating expenditures for criminal justice purposes. Calendar year 1989 actual operating expenditures for criminal justice purposes exclude the following: Expenditures for extraordinary events not likely to reoccur, changes in contract provisions for criminal justice services, beyond the control of the local jurisdiction receiving the services, and major nonrecurring capital expenditures.

(2)(a) In addition to the distributions under subsection (1) of this section:

(i) 10 percent must be distributed on a per capita basis to cities that contract with another governmental agency for the majority of the city's law enforcement services. Cities that subsequently qualify for this distribution must notify the department of commerce by November 30th for the upcoming calendar year. The department of commerce must provide a list of eligible cities to the state treasurer by December 31st. The state treasurer must modify the distribution of these funds in the following year. Cities have the responsibility to notify the department of commerce of any changes regarding these contractual relationships. Adjustments in the distribution formula to add or delete cities may be made only for the upcoming calendar year; no adjustments may be made retroactively.

(ii) The remaining 54 percent must be distributed to cities and towns by the state treasurer on a per capita basis. These funds must be used for: (A) Innovative law enforcement strategies; (B) programs to help at-risk children or child abuse victim response programs; and (C) programs designed to reduce the level of domestic violence or to provide counseling for domestic violence victims.

(b) The moneys deposited in the municipal criminal justice assistance account for distribution under this subsection (2), less any moneys appropriated for purposes under subsection (4) of this section, must be distributed at the times as distributions are made under *RCW 82.44.150. Moneys remaining undistributed under this subsection at the end of each calendar year must be distributed to the criminal justice training commission to reimburse participating city law enforcement agencies with 10 or fewer full-time commissioned patrol officers the cost of temporary replacement of each officer who is enrolled in basic law enforcement training, as provided in RCW 43.101.200.

(c) If a city is found by the state auditor to have expended funds received under this subsection (2) in a manner that does not comply with the criteria under which the moneys were received, the city is ineligible to receive future distributions under this subsection (2) until the use of the moneys are justified to the satisfaction of the director or are repaid to the state general fund.

(3) Notwithstanding other provisions of this section, the distributions to any city that substantially decriminalizes or repeals its criminal code after July 1, 1990, and that does not reimburse the county for costs associated with criminal cases under RCW 3.50.800 or 3.50.805(2), must be made to the county in which the city is located.

(4) Not more than five percent of the funds deposited to the municipal criminal justice assistance account may be available for appropriations for enhancements to the state patrol crime laboratory system and the continuing costs related to these enhancements. Funds appropriated from this account for such enhancements may not supplant existing funds from the state general fund.

(5) During the 2011-2013 fiscal biennium, the amount that would otherwise be transferred into the municipal criminal justice assistance account from the general fund under subsection (1) of this section must be reduced by 3.4 percent."

(1) Where multiple permits for the same underlying clean energy project, as defined in RCW 43.158.010, are appealed to one or more of the environmental boards, as identified in RCW 43.21B.005, the presiding officer shall consolidate the appeals for hearing when one or more of the following criteria are met:

In no case may the time period in (b) of this subsection be extended for a period greater than 30 days unless the time period is waived by all parties.

(7) A decision of the board on the validity of a rule, regulation, or guideline shall be subject to review in superior court, if authorized pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW. A petition for review of the decision of the shorelines hearings board on a rule, regulation, or guideline shall be filed within ~~((thirty))~~30 days after the date of final decision by the shorelines hearings board.

(3) No dealer may sell or otherwise transfer, or expose for sale or transfer, or have in his or her possession with intent to sell, or otherwise transfer, any ammunition without being licensed as provided in this section.

(4) The duly constituted licensing authorities of any city, town, or political subdivision of this state shall grant licenses in forms prescribed by the director of licensing effective for not more than one year from the date of issue permitting the licensee to sell firearms within this state subject to the following conditions, for breach of any of which the license shall be forfeited and the licensee subject to punishment as provided in this chapter. A licensing authority shall forward a copy of each license granted to the department of licensing. The department of licensing shall notify the department of revenue of the name and address of each dealer licensed under this section. Any law enforcement agency acting within the scope of its jurisdiction may investigate a breach of the licensing conditions established in this chapter.

(5)(a) A licensing authority shall, within ~~((thirty))~~ 30 days after the filing of an application of any person for a dealer's license, determine whether to grant the license. However, if the applicant does not have a valid permanent Washington driver's license or Washington state identification card, or has not been a resident of the state for the previous consecutive ~~((ninety))~~ 90 days, the licensing authority shall have up to ~~((sixty))~~ 60 days to determine whether to issue a license. (6) As a condition of licensure, a dealer shall annually certify to the licensing authority, in writing and under penalty of perjury, that the dealer is in compliance with each licensure requirement established in this section.

(7)(a) Except as otherwise provided in (b) of this subsection, the business shall be carried on only in the building designated in the license. For the purpose of this section, advertising firearms for sale shall not be considered the carrying on of business.

(D) Equipped with, at minimum, detectors that can perceive entry, motion, and sound.

(b) It is not a violation of this subsection if any security feature or system becomes temporarily inoperable through no fault of the dealer.

(10)(a) Dealers shall secure each firearm during business hours, except when the firearm is being shown to a customer, repaired, or otherwise worked on, in a manner that prevents a customer or other member of the public from accessing or using the firearm, which may include keeping the firearm in a locked container or in a locked display case.

(b) Other than during business hours, all firearms shall be secured (i) on the dealer's business premises in a locked fireproof safe or vault, (ii) in a room or building that meets all requirements of subsection (9)(a) of this section, or (iii) in a secured and locked area under the dealer's control while the dealer is conducting business at a temporary location.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 46.63 RCW to read as follows:

The definitions in this section apply throughout this section and sections 2 through 6 of this act unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Automated traffic safety camera" means a device that uses a vehicle sensor installed to work in conjunction with an intersection traffic control system, a railroad grade crossing control system, or a speed measuring device, and a camera synchronized to automatically record one or more sequenced photographs, microphotographs, or electronic images of the front or rear of a motor vehicle at the time the vehicle fails to stop when facing a steady red traffic control signal or an activated railroad grade crossing control signal, or exceeds a speed limit as detected by a speed measuring device. "Automated traffic safety camera" also includes a device used to detect stopping at intersection or crosswalk violations; stopping when traffic obstructed violations; public transportation only lane violations; and stopping or traveling in restricted lane violations.

(2) "Hospital speed zone" means the marked area within hospital property and extending 300 feet from the border of the hospital property (a) consistent with hospital use; and (b) where signs are posted to indicate the location is within a hospital speed zone, where "hospital" has the same meaning as in RCW 70.41.020.

(3) "Public park speed zone" means the marked area within public park property and extending 300 feet from the border of the public park property (a) consistent with active park use; and (b) where signs are posted to indicate the location is within a public park speed zone.

(4) "Public transportation vehicle" means any motor vehicle, streetcar, train, trolley vehicle, ferry boat, or any other device, vessel, or vehicle that is owned or operated by a transit authority or an entity providing service on behalf of a transit authority that is used for the purpose of carrying passengers and that operates on established routes. "Transit authority" has the same meaning as provided in RCW 9.91.025.

(5) "School speed zone" has the same meaning as described in RCW 46.61.440 (1) and (2).

(6) "School walk zone" means a roadway identified under RCW 28A.160.160 or roadways within a one-mile radius of a school that students use to travel to school by foot, bicycle, or other means of active transportation.

(7) "Work zone" means an area of any city or county roadway with construction, maintenance, or utility work with a duration of 30 calendar days or more. A work zone is identified by the placement of temporary traffic control devices that may include signs, channelizing devices, barriers, pavement markings, and/or work vehicles with warning lights. It extends from the first warning sign or high intensity rotating, flashing, oscillating, or strobe lights on a vehicle to the end road work sign or the last temporary traffic control device or vehicle.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 46.63 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Nothing in this section prohibits a law enforcement officer from issuing a notice of traffic infraction to a person in control of a vehicle at the time a violation occurs under RCW 46.63.030(1) (a), (b), or (c).

(2) Cities and counties may authorize the use of traffic safety cameras through an ordinance adopted by the local legislative authority.

(3) The local legislative authority must prepare an analysis of the locations within the jurisdiction where automated traffic safety cameras are proposed to be located before adding traffic safety cameras or relocating any existing camera to a new location within the jurisdiction. The analysis must include equity considerations including the impact of the camera placement on livability, accessibility, economics, education, and environmental health, and shall consider the outcome of that analysis when identifying where to locate an automated traffic safety camera. The analysis must also show a demonstrated need for traffic cameras based on rates of collision and documented traffic reports showing near collisions, and on anticipated or actual ineffectiveness or infeasibility of other mitigation measures.

(4) Automated traffic safety cameras may not be used on an on-ramp to a limited access facility as defined in RCW 47.52.010.

(5) A city may use automated traffic safety cameras to enforce traffic ordinances in this section on state highways that are also classified as city streets under chapter 47.24 RCW.

(6)(a) At a minimum, a local ordinance adopted pursuant to this section must contain the restrictions described in this section and provisions for public notice and signage. Cities and counties using automated traffic safety cameras before July 24, 2005, are subject to the restrictions described in this section, but are not required to adopt an authorizing ordinance.

(b)(i) Cities and counties using automated traffic safety cameras must post an annual report on the city or county's website of the number of traffic crashes that occurred at each location where an automated traffic safety camera is located, as well as the number of notices of infraction issued for each camera. Beginning December 1, 2025, the annual report must include the percentage of revenues received from fines issued from automated traffic safety camera infractions that were used to pay for the costs of the automated traffic safety camera program and must describe the uses of revenues that exceeded the costs of operation and administration of the automated traffic safety camera program by the city or county.

(ii) The Washington traffic safety commission must provide an annual report to the transportation committees of the legislature, and post the report to its website for public access, beginning December 1, 2025, that includes aggregated information on the use of automated traffic safety cameras in the state that includes an assessment of the impact of their use, information required in city and county annual reports under (b)(i) of this subsection, and information on the number of automated traffic safety cameras in use by type and location, with an analysis of camera placement in the context of area demographics and household incomes. Cities and counties using automated traffic safety cameras must provide the commission with the data it requests for the report required under this subsection in a form and manner specified by the commission.

(7) All locations where an automated traffic safety camera is used on roadways or intersections must be clearly marked by placing signs at least 30 days prior to activation of the camera in locations that clearly indicate to a driver either that: (a) The driver is within an area where automated traffic safety cameras are authorized; or (b) the driver is entering an area where violations are enforced by an automated traffic safety camera. The signs must be readily visible to a driver approaching an automated traffic safety camera. Signs placed in automated traffic safety camera locations after June 7, 2012, must follow the specifications and guidelines under the manual of uniform traffic control devices for streets and highways as adopted by the department of transportation under chapter 47.36 RCW.

(8) Automated traffic safety cameras may only record images of the vehicle and vehicle license plate and only while an infraction is occurring. The image must not reveal the face of the driver or of passengers in the vehicle. The primary purpose of camera placement is to record images of the vehicle and vehicle license plate when an infraction is occurring. Cities and counties must consider installing automated traffic safety cameras in a manner that minimizes the impact of camera flash on drivers.

(9) A notice of infraction must be mailed to the registered owner of the vehicle within 14 days of the violation, or to the renter of a vehicle within 14 days of establishing the renter's name and address under subsection (18) of this section. The notice of infraction must include with it a certificate or facsimile thereof, based upon inspection of photographs, microphotographs, or electronic images produced by an automated traffic safety camera, stating the facts supporting the notice of infraction. This certificate or facsimile is prima facie evidence of the facts contained in it and is admissible in a proceeding charging a violation under this chapter. The photographs, microphotographs, or electronic images evidencing the violation must be available for inspection and admission into evidence in a proceeding to adjudicate the liability for the infraction. A person receiving a notice of infraction based on evidence detected by an automated traffic safety camera may respond to the notice by mail.

(10) The registered owner of a vehicle is responsible for an infraction under RCW 46.63.030(1)(d) unless the registered owner overcomes the presumption in RCW 46.63.075, or, in the case of a rental car business, satisfies the conditions under subsection (18) of this section. If appropriate under the circumstances, a renter identified under subsection (18)(a) of this section is responsible for an infraction.

(11) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all photographs, microphotographs, or electronic images, or any other personally identifying data prepared under this section are for the exclusive use of authorized city or county employees in the discharge of duties under this section and are not open to the public and may not be used in a court in a pending action or proceeding unless the action or proceeding relates to a violation under this section. No photograph, microphotograph, or electronic image, or any other personally identifying data may be used for any purpose other than enforcement of violations under this section nor retained longer than necessary to enforce this section.

(12) If a county or city has established an automated traffic safety camera program as authorized under this section, the compensation paid to the manufacturer or vendor of the equipment used must be based only upon the value of the equipment and services provided or rendered in support of the system and may not be based upon a portion of the fine or civil penalty imposed or the revenue generated by the equipment.

(13)(a) Except as provided in (c) of this subsection, a county or a city may only use revenue generated by an automated traffic safety camera program as authorized under this section for traffic safety purposes including, but not limited to, projects designed to implement the complete streets approach as defined in RCW 47.04.010, changes in physical infrastructure to reduce speeds through road design, changes to improve safety for active transportation users, improve access and safety for road users with mobility, sight, or other disabilities, and for the cost to administer, install, operate, and maintain the automated traffic safety cameras, including the cost of processing infractions.

(b) The automated traffic safety camera program revenue used by a county or city for traffic safety purposes must include the use of revenue in census tracts of the city or county that have household incomes in the lowest quartile determined by the most currently available census data and areas that experience rates of injury crashes that are above average for the city or county. Funding contributed from traffic safety program revenue must be, at a minimum, proportionate to the share of the population of the county or city who are residents of these low-income communities and communities experiencing high injury crash rates. This share must be directed to investments that provide direct and meaningful traffic safety benefits to these communities. Revenue used to administer, install, operate, and maintain automated traffic safety cameras, including the cost of processing infractions, are excluded from determination of the proportionate share of revenues under this subsection (13)(b).

(c) Jurisdictions that have automated traffic safety camera programs in effect prior to the effective date of this section, for which an ordinance in effect as of January 1, 2024, directs the manner in which revenue generated from automated traffic safety cameras authorized under section 3 or 5(2)(c) of this act must be used, may continue to allocate revenue for these infractions in accordance with that ordinance, as well as for the purposes established in (a) and (b) of this subsection.

(14) A county or city may adopt the use of an online ability-to-pay calculator to process and grant requests for reduced fines or reduced civil penalties for automated traffic safety camera violations.

(15) Registered owners of vehicles who receive notices of infraction for automated traffic safety camera-enforced infractions and are recipients of public assistance under Title 74 RCW or participants in the Washington women, infants, and children program, and who request reduced penalties for infractions detected through the use of automated traffic safety camera violations, must be granted reduced penalty amounts of 25 percent of what would otherwise be assessed. Registered owners of vehicles who receive notices of infraction must be provided with information on their eligibility and the opportunity to apply for a reduction in penalty amounts through the mail or internet.

(16) Infractions detected through the use of automated traffic safety cameras are not part of the registered owner's driving record under RCW 46.52.101 and 46.52.120. Additionally, infractions generated by the use of automated traffic safety cameras under this section must be processed in the same manner as parking infractions, including for the purposes of RCW 3.50.100, 35.20.220, 46.16A.120, and 46.20.270(2). The amount of the fine issued for an infraction generated through the use of an automated traffic safety camera may not exceed the amount of a fine issued for other parking infractions within the jurisdiction. However, the amount of the fine issued for a traffic control signal violation detected through the use of an automated traffic safety camera may not exceed the monetary penalty for a violation of RCW 46.61.050 as provided under RCW 46.63.110, including all applicable statutory assessments; and the amount of fine issued for other automated traffic safety camera violations detected through the use of an automated traffic safety camera may not exceed two-thirds of the monetary penalty for a violation of an unscheduled infraction as prescribed by the supreme court in accordance with RCW 46.63.110(3), including two-thirds of all applicable statutory assessments.

(17) In addition to the penalty amounts for automated traffic safety camera infractions authorized in subsection (16) of this section, automated traffic safety camera infraction penalties must also include the fee specified in RCW

46.63.110(7)(c) to be deposited in the traumatic brain injury account created in RCW 74.31.060. This fee is waived for registered owners of vehicles granted the penalty reduction specified in subsection (15) of this section.

(18) If the registered owner of the vehicle is a rental car business, the law enforcement agency must, before a notice of infraction being issued under this section, provide a written notice to the rental car business that a notice of infraction may be issued to the rental car business if the rental car business does not, within 18 days of receiving the written notice, provide to the issuing agency by return mail:

(a) A statement under oath stating the name and known mailing address of the individual driving or renting the vehicle when the infraction occurred; or

(b) A statement under oath that the business is unable to determine who was driving or renting the vehicle at the time the infraction occurred because the vehicle was stolen at the time of the infraction. A statement provided under this subsection must be accompanied by a copy of a filed police report regarding the vehicle theft; or

(c) In lieu of identifying the vehicle operator, the rental car business may pay the applicable penalty. Timely mailing of this statement to the issuing law enforcement agency relieves a rental car business of any liability under this chapter for the notice of infraction.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 46.63 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Automated traffic safety cameras may be used to detect stoplight violations, subject to section 2 of this act.

(2) Automated traffic safety cameras used to detect stoplight violations are restricted to intersections of two or more arterials with traffic control signals that have yellow change interval durations in accordance with RCW 47.36.022, which interval durations may not be reduced after placement of the camera.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 46.63 RCW to read as follows:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 46.63 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Automated traffic safety cameras may be used to detect speed violations, subject to section 2 of this act.

- (a) Hospital speed zones;
- (b) Public park speed zones;
- (c) School speed zones;

(f) State highways within city limits that are classified as city streets under chapter 47.24 RCW.

(3) In addition to the automated traffic safety cameras that may be authorized for specified zones or roads in subsection (2) of this section, the local legislative authority may authorize the use of one additional automated traffic safety camera per 10,000 population to detect speed violations in locations deemed by the local legislative authority to experience higher crash risks due to excessive vehicle speeds. For automated traffic safety cameras authorized to detect speed violations as part of a pilot program prior to the effective date of this section, the location must be deemed by a local legislative authority to have experienced higher crash risks due to excessive vehicle speeds prior to installation of the automated traffic safety camera.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 46.63 RCW to read as follows:

(d) When the infraction is detected through the use of an automated traffic safety camera under ~~((RCW 46.63.170))~~ sections 2 through 6 of this act. A trained and authorized civilian employee of a general authority Washington law enforcement agency, as defined in RCW 10.93.020, or an employee of a local public works or transportation department performing under the supervision of a qualified traffic engineer and designated by a city or county, has the authority to review infractions detected through the use of an automated traffic safety camera under sections 2 through 6 of this act and to issue notices of infraction consistent with section 2(9) of this act. These employees must be sufficiently trained and certified in reviewing infractions and issuing notices of infraction by qualified peace officers or by traffic engineers employed in the jurisdiction's public works or transportation department. Nothing in this subsection impairs decision and effects collective bargaining rights under chapter 41.56 RCW;

(e) When the infraction is detected through the use of an automated school bus safety camera under RCW 46.63.180; or

(f) When the infraction is detected through the use of a speed safety camera system under RCW 46.63.200.

(2) A court may issue a notice of traffic infraction upon receipt of a written statement of the officer that there is reasonable cause to believe that an infraction was committed.

(3) If any motor vehicle without a driver is found parked, standing, or stopped in violation of this title or an equivalent administrative regulation or local law, ordinance, regulation, or resolution, the officer finding the vehicle shall take its registration number and may take any other information displayed on the vehicle which may identify its user, and shall conspicuously affix to the vehicle a notice of traffic infraction.

(4) In the case of failure to redeem an abandoned vehicle under RCW 46.55.120, upon receiving a complaint by a registered tow truck operator that has incurred costs in removing, storing, and disposing of an abandoned vehicle, an officer of the law enforcement agency responsible for directing the removal of the vehicle shall send a notice of infraction by certified mail to the last known address of the person responsible under RCW 46.55.105. The notice must be entitled "Littering—Abandoned Vehicle" and give notice of the monetary penalty. The officer shall append to the notice of infraction, on a form prescribed by the department of licensing, a notice indicating the amount of costs incurred as a result of removing, storing, and disposing of the abandoned vehicle, less any amount realized at auction, and a statement that monetary penalties for the infraction will not be considered as having been paid until the monetary penalty payable under this chapter has been paid and the court is satisfied that the person has made restitution in the amount of the deficiency remaining after disposal of the vehicle.

(1) In a traffic infraction case involving an infraction detected through the use of an automated traffic safety camera under ~~((RCW 46.63.170))~~ sections 2 through 6 of this act, detected through the use of a speed safety camera system under RCW 46.63.200, or detected through the use of an automated school bus safety camera under RCW 46.63.180, proof that the particular vehicle described in the notice of traffic infraction was in violation of any such provision of sections 2 through 6 of this act or RCW ~~((46.63.170,))~~ 46.63.200~~((,))~~ and 46.63.180, together with proof that the person named in the notice of traffic infraction was at the time of the violation the registered owner of the vehicle, constitutes in evidence a prima facie presumption that the registered owner of the vehicle was the person in control of the vehicle at the point where, and for the time during which, the violation occurred.

(2) This presumption may be overcome only if the registered owner states, under oath, in a written statement to the court or in testimony before the court that the vehicle involved was, at the time, stolen or in the care, custody, or control of some person other than the registered owner.

Sec. 10. RCW 46.68.480 and 2023 c 431 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

The Cooper Jones active transportation safety account is created in the state treasury. All ~~((receipts from penalties collected under RCW 46.63.170))~~ funds designated by the legislature shall be deposited into the account. Expenditures from the account may be used only to fund grant projects or programs for bicycle, pedestrian, and nonmotorist safety improvement administered by the Washington traffic safety commission. By December 1, 2024, and every two years thereafter, the commission shall report to the transportation committees of the legislature regarding the activities funded from the account. The account is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW. Moneys in the account may be spent only after appropriation.

Sec. 11. RCW 46.63.110 and 2023 c 388 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) A person found to have committed a traffic infraction shall be assessed a monetary penalty. No penalty may exceed $250 for each offense unless authorized by this chapter or title.

(b) The court may waive or remit any monetary penalty, fee, cost, assessment, or other monetary obligation associated with a traffic infraction unless the specific monetary obligation in question is prohibited from being waived or remitted by state law.

(2) The monetary penalty for a violation of (a) RCW 46.55.105(2) is $250 for each offense; (b) RCW 46.61.210(1) is $500 for each offense. No penalty assessed under this subsection (2) may be reduced.

(3) The supreme court shall prescribe by rule a schedule of monetary penalties for designated traffic infractions. This rule shall also specify the conditions under which local courts may exercise discretion in assessing fines and penalties for traffic infractions. The legislature respectfully requests the supreme court to adjust this schedule every two years for inflation.

(4) There shall be a penalty of $25 for failure to respond to a notice of traffic infraction except where the infraction relates to parking as defined by local law, ordinance, regulation, or resolution or failure to pay a monetary penalty imposed pursuant to this chapter. A local legislative body may set a monetary penalty not to exceed $25 for failure to respond to a notice of traffic infraction relating to parking as defined by local law, ordinance, regulation, or resolution. The local court, whether a municipal, police, or district court, shall impose the monetary penalty set by the local legislative body.

(5) Monetary penalties provided for in chapter 46.70 RCW which are civil in nature and penalties which may be assessed for violations of chapter 46.44 RCW relating to size, weight, and load of motor vehicles are not subject to the limitation on the amount of monetary penalties which may be imposed pursuant to this chapter.

(6) Whenever a monetary penalty, fee, cost, assessment, or other monetary obligation is imposed by a court under this chapter, it is immediately payable and is enforceable as a civil judgment under Title 6 RCW. If the court determines that a person is not able to pay a monetary obligation in full, the court shall enter into a payment plan with the person in accordance with RCW 46.63.190 and standards that may be set out in court rule.

(7) In addition to any other penalties imposed under this section and not subject to the limitation of subsection (1) of this section, a person found to have committed a traffic infraction shall be assessed:

(a) A fee of $5 per infraction. Under no circumstances shall this fee be reduced or waived. Revenue from this fee shall be forwarded to the state treasurer for deposit in the emergency medical services and trauma care system trust account under RCW 70.168.040;

(b) A fee of $10 per infraction. Under no circumstances shall this fee be reduced or waived. Revenue from this fee shall be forwarded to the state treasurer for deposit in the general fund; and

(c) A fee of $5 per infraction. Under no circumstances shall this fee be reduced or waived, except as provided in section 2 of this act. Revenue from this fee shall be forwarded to the state treasurer for deposit in the traumatic brain injury account established in RCW 74.31.060.

(8)(a) In addition to any other penalties imposed under this section and not subject to the limitation of subsection (1) of this section, a person found to have committed a traffic infraction other than of RCW 46.61.527 or 46.61.212 shall be assessed an additional penalty of $24. The court may not reduce, waive, or suspend the additional penalty unless the court finds the offender to be indigent. If a court authorized community restitution program for offenders is available in the jurisdiction, the court shall allow offenders to offset all or a part of the penalty due under this subsection (8) by participation in the court authorized community restitution program.

(b) $12.50 of the additional penalty under (a) of this subsection shall be remitted to the state treasurer. The remaining revenue from the additional penalty must be remitted under chapters 2.08, 3.46, 3.50, 3.62, 10.82, and 35.20 RCW. Money remitted under this subsection to the state treasurer must be deposited as follows: $8.50 in the state general fund and $4 in the driver licensing technology support account created under RCW 46.68.067. The moneys deposited into the driver licensing technology support account must be used to support information technology systems used by the department to communicate with the judicial information system, manage driving records, and implement court orders. The balance of the revenue received by the county or city treasurer under this subsection must be deposited into the county or city current expense fund. Moneys retained by the city or county under this subsection shall constitute reimbursement for any liabilities under RCW 43.135.060.

(9) If a legal proceeding, such as garnishment, has commenced to collect any delinquent amount owed by the person for any penalty imposed by the court under this section, the person may request a payment plan pursuant to RCW 46.63.190.

(10) The monetary penalty for violating RCW 46.37.395 is: (a) $250 for the first violation; (b) $500 for the second violation; and (c) $750 for each violation thereafter.

(11) The additional monetary penalty for a violation of RCW 46.20.500 is not subject to assessments or fees provided under this section.

(12) The additional monetary fine for a violation of RCW 46.61.110, 46.61.145, 46.61.180, 46.61.185, 46.61.190, and 46.61.205 is not subject to assessments or fees provided under this section.

SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2207 was read the second time.

Representative Ramos moved the adoption of the striking amendment (919):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that, despite a modern waste disposal infrastructure, the occurrences of unlawful solid waste dumping are an increasing problem on open spaces such as privately and publicly owned forestlands. This irresponsible waste dumping, which often includes hazardous materials, asbestos, derelict boats, junk vehicles, appliances, furniture, and household garbage not only creates significant costs for the landowner, but also creates immediate, and sometimes lasting, environmental and habitat damage and degradation of recreational and aesthetic opportunities.

(2) The legislature further finds that the current enforcement system, which relies on the criminalization of illegal dumping, may not be the most effective, efficient, or just penalty system. Converting all but the most egregious illegal dumping from a criminal act to a civil infraction creates a system of deterrence and penalties that better reflects the magnitude of the act, avoids criminal records for individuals who may be unable to afford appropriate waste management options, and reduces the burden on local criminal justice systems and infrastructures.

(3) The legislature further finds that appropriate waste disposal can create a financial barrier for some individuals. In an effort to divert illegal dumping, a portion of the existing litter cleanup restitution payment should be diverted from direct payments to landowners to funding efforts to mitigate the costs of proper disposal, restitution, or environmental damages.

Sec. 2. RCW 70A.200.060 and 2003 c 337 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It is a violation of this section to ~~((abandon))~~:

(a) Abandon a junk vehicle upon any property ~~((. In addition, no person shall throw))~~:

(b) Throw, drop, deposit, discard, or otherwise dispose of litter upon any public property in the state or upon private property in this state not owned by him or her or in the waters of this state whether from a vehicle or otherwise including but not limited to any public highway, public park, beach, campground, forestland, recreational area, trailer park, highway, road, street, or alley except:

~~((+a))~~ (i) When the property is designated by the state or its agencies or political subdivisions for the disposal of garbage and refuse, and the person is authorized to use such property for that purpose;

~~((b))~~ (ii) Into a litter receptacle in a manner that will prevent litter from being carried away or deposited by the elements upon any part of the private or public property or waters.

(2) ~~((+a))~~ Except as provided in subsection ~~((+4))~~ (7) of this section, it is a class 3 civil infraction as provided in RCW 7.80.120 for a person to litter in an amount less than or equal to one cubic foot.

The court shall distribute one-half of the restitution payment to the waste reduction, recycling, and litter control account created in RCW 70A.200.140 and one-half of the restitution payment to the law enforcement agency investigating the incident.

(b) The court may, in addition to or in lieu of part or all of the cleanup restitution payment, order the person to pick up and remove litter from the property, with prior permission of the legal owner or, in the case of public property, of the agency managing the property.

(c) The court may suspend or modify the litter cleanup restitution payment for a first-time offender under this section, if the person cleans up and properly disposes of the litter.

The court may, in addition to or in lieu of part or all of the cleanup restitution payment, order the person to pick up and remove litter from the property, with prior permission of the legal owner or, in the case of public property, of the agency managing the property. The court may suspend or modify the litter cleanup restitution payment for a first-time offender under this section, if the person cleans up and properly disposes of the litter.~~

~~((d))~~ (5) If a junk vehicle is abandoned in violation of this section, RCW 46.55.230 governs the vehicle's removal, disposal, and sale, and the penalties that may be imposed against the person who abandoned the vehicle.

~~((+3))~~ (6) If the violation occurs in a state park, the court shall, in addition to any other penalties assessed, order the person to perform ~~((twenty-four))~~ 24 hours of community restitution in the state park where the violation occurred if the state park has stated an intent to participate as provided in RCW 79A.05.050.

~~((+4))~~ (7) It is a class 1 civil infraction as provided in RCW 7.80.120 for a person to discard, in violation of this section, potentially dangerous litter in any amount.

(1) A person found to have committed an infraction shall be assessed a monetary penalty. No penalty may exceed ~~((five hundred dollars))~~ $500 for each offense unless specifically authorized by statute.

(2) The supreme court may prescribe by rule a schedule of monetary penalties for designated infractions. The legislature requests the supreme court to adjust this schedule every two years for inflation. ~~((The))~~ Except as otherwise provided, the maximum penalty imposed by the schedule shall be ~~((five hundred dollars))~~ $500 per infraction and the minimum penalty imposed by the schedule shall be ~~((ten dollars))~~ $10 per infraction. This schedule may be periodically reviewed by the legislature and is subject to its revision.

(3) Penalties for violations of RCW 70A.200.060 that are natural resource infractions are as follows:

(a) Up to $250 for a person found liable of littering between one cubic foot and one cubic yard of material;

(b) Up to $750 for a person found liable of littering more than one cubic yard and less than seven cubic yards of material;

(c) Up to $1,000 for a person found liable of littering between seven and 10 cubic yards of material.

(4) Whenever a monetary penalty is imposed by a court under this chapter, it is immediately payable. If the person is unable to pay at that time, the court may, in its discretion, grant an extension of the period in which the penalty may be paid.

~~((4+))~~ (5) (a) The county treasurer shall remit ~~((seventy-five))~~ 75 percent of the money received under RCW 79A.80.080(5) to the state treasurer.

(b) Money remitted under this subsection to the state treasurer must be deposited in the recreation access pass account established under RCW 79A.80.090. The balance of the noninterest money received by the county treasurer must be deposited in the county current expense fund.

Sec. 4. RCW 70A.200.140 and 2022 c 297 s 963 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) There is hereby created an account within the state treasury to be known as the waste reduction, recycling, and litter control account. Moneys in the account may be spent only after appropriation. Expenditures from the waste reduction, recycling, and litter control account shall be used as follows:

(a) ~~((Forty))~~ 40 percent of receipts from taxes imposed in RCW 82.19.010 to the department of ecology, primarily for use by the departments of ecology, natural resources, revenue, transportation, and corrections, and the parks and recreation commission, for litter collection programs under RCW 70A.200.170. The amount to the department of ecology shall also be used for a central coordination function for litter control efforts statewide; to support employment of youth in litter cleanup as intended in RCW 70A.200.020, and for litter pick up using other authorized agencies; and for statewide public awareness programs under RCW 70A.200.150(7). The amount to the department shall also be used to defray the costs of administering the funding, coordination, and oversight of local government programs for waste reduction, litter control, recycling, and composting so that local governments can apply one hundred percent of their funding to achieving program goals. The amount to the department of revenue shall be used to enforce compliance with the litter tax imposed in chapter 82.19 RCW;

(b) (i) ~~((Twenty))~~ 20 percent of receipts from taxes imposed in RCW 82.19.010 to the department for local government funding programs for waste reduction, litter control, recycling activities, and composting activities by cities and counties under RCW 70A.200.190, to be administered by the department of ecology; (ii) any unspent funds under (b) (i) of this subsection may be used to create and pay for a matching fund competitive grant program to be used by local governments for the development and implementation of contamination reduction and outreach plans for inclusion in comprehensive solid waste management plans or by local governments and nonprofit organizations for local or statewide

(1) Subject to any otherwise applicable statutory dollar rate limitations, regular property taxes may be levied by or for a taxing district in an amount exceeding the limitations provided for in this chapter if such levy is authorized by a proposition approved by a majority of the voters of the taxing district voting on the proposition at a general election held within the district or at a special election within the taxing district called by the district for the purpose of submitting such proposition to the voters. Any election held pursuant to this section shall be held not more than 12 months prior to the date on which the proposed levy is to be made, except as provided in subsection (2) of this section. The ballot of the proposition shall state the dollar rate proposed and shall clearly state the conditions, if any, which are applicable under subsection (4) of this section.

(2)(a) Subject to statutory dollar limitations, a proposition placed before the voters under this section may authorize annual increases in levies for multiple consecutive years, up to six consecutive years, during which period each year's authorized maximum legal levy shall be used as the base upon which an increased levy limit for the succeeding year is computed, but the ballot proposition must state the dollar rate proposed only for the first year of the consecutive years and must state the limit factor, or a specified index to be used for determining a limit factor, such as the consumer price index, which need not be the same for all years, by which the regular tax levy for the district may be increased in each of the subsequent consecutive years. Elections for this purpose must be held at a primary or general election. The title of each ballot measure must state the limited purposes for which the proposed annual increases during the specified period of up to six consecutive years shall be used.

~~((b) ((i) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection (2)(b), funds) Funds raised by a levy under this subsection may not supplant existing funds used for the limited purpose specified in the ballot title. For purposes of this subsection, existing funds means the actual operating expenditures for the calendar year in which the ballot measure is approved by voters. Actual operating expenditures excludes lost federal funds, lost or expired state grants or loans, extraordinary events not likely to reoccur, changes in contract provisions beyond the control of the taxing district receiving the services, and major nonrecurring capital expenditures.~~

~~((ii) The supplanting limitations in (b) (i) of this subsection do not apply to levies approved by the voters in calendar years 2009, 2010, 2011, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2021, and 2022, in any county with a population of 1,500,000 or more. This subsection (2)(b)(ii) only applies to levies approved by the voters after July 26, 2009.~~

~~((iii) The supplanting limitations in (b) (i) of this subsection do not apply to levies approved by the voters in calendar year 2009 and thereafter in any county with a population less than 1,500,000. This subsection (2)(b)(iii) only applies to levies approved by the voters after July 26, 2009.)~~

(3) After a levy authorized pursuant to this section is made, the dollar amount of such levy may not be used for the purpose of computing the limitations for subsequent levies provided for in this chapter, unless the ballot proposition expressly states that the levy made under this section will be used for this purpose.

(4) If expressly stated, a proposition placed before the voters under subsection (1) or (2) of this section may:

(a) Use the dollar amount of a levy under subsection (1) of this section, or the dollar amount of the final levy under subsection (2) of this section, for the purpose of computing the limitations for subsequent levies provided for in this chapter;

(b) Limit the period for which the increased levy is to be made under (a) of this subsection;

(c) Limit the purpose for which the increased levy is to be made under (a) of this subsection, but if the limited purpose includes making redemption payments on bonds;

(i) For the county in which the state capitol is located, the period for which the increased levies are made may not exceed 25 years; and

(ii) For districts other than a district under (c)(i) of this subsection, the period for which the increased levies are made may not exceed nine years;

(d) Set the levy or levies at a rate less than the maximum rate allowed for the district;

(e) Provide that the exemption authorized by RCW 84.36.381 will apply to the levy of any additional regular property taxes authorized by voters; or

(f) Include any combination of the conditions in this subsection.

(5) Except as otherwise expressly stated in an approved ballot measure under this section, subsequent levies shall be computed as if:

(a) The proposition under this section had not been approved; and

(b) The taxing district had made levies at the maximum rates which would otherwise have been allowed under this chapter during the years levies were made under the proposition."

(1) A local government may designate an increment area under this chapter and use the tax allocation revenues to pay public improvement costs, subject to the following conditions:

(a) The local government must adopt an ordinance designating an increment area within its boundaries and describing the public improvements proposed to be paid for, or financed with, tax allocation revenues;

(b) The local government may not designate increment area boundaries such that the entirety of its territory falls within an increment area;

(c) The increment area may not have an assessed valuation of more than $200,000,000 or more than 20 percent of the sponsoring jurisdiction's total assessed valuation, whichever is less, when the ordinance is passed. If a sponsoring jurisdiction creates two increment areas, the total combined assessed valuation in both of the two increment areas may not equal more than $200,000,000 or more than 20 percent of the sponsoring jurisdiction's total assessed valuation, whichever is less, when the ordinances are passed creating the increment areas;

(d) A local government can create no more than two active increment areas at any given time and they may not physically overlap by including the same land in more than one increment area at any time;

(e) The ordinance must set a sunset date for the increment area, which may be no more than 25 years after the first year in which tax allocation revenues are collected from the increment area;

(f) The ordinance must identify the public improvements to be financed and indicate whether the local government intends to issue bonds or other obligations, payable in whole or in part, from tax allocation revenues to finance the public improvement costs, and must estimate the maximum amount of obligations contemplated;

(g) The ordinance must provide that the increment area takes effect on June 1st

following the adoption of the ordinance in (a) of this subsection;

(h) The sponsoring jurisdiction may not add additional public improvements to the project after adoption of the ordinance creating the increment area or change the boundaries of the increment area. The sponsoring jurisdiction may expand, alter, or add to the original public improvements when doing so is necessary to assure the originally approved improvements can be constructed or operated;

(i) The ordinance must impose a deadline by which commencement of construction of the public improvements shall begin, which deadline must be at least five years into the future and for which extensions shall be made available for good cause; and

(j) The local government must make a finding that:

(i) The public improvements proposed to be paid or financed with tax allocation revenues are expected to encourage private development within the increment area and to increase the assessed value of real property within the increment area;

(ii) Private development that is anticipated to occur within the increment area as a result of the proposed public improvements will be permitted consistent with the permitting jurisdiction's applicable zoning and development standards;

(iii) The private development would not reasonably be expected to occur solely through private investment within the reasonably foreseeable future without the proposed public improvements; and

(iv) The increased assessed value within the increment area that could reasonably be expected to occur without the proposed public improvements would be less than the increase in the assessed value estimated to result from the proposed development with the proposed public improvements.

(2) In considering whether to designate an increment area, the legislative body of the local government must prepare a project analysis that shall include, but need not be limited to, the following:

(a) A statement of objectives of the local government for the designated increment area;

(b) A statement as to the property within the increment area, if any, that the local government may intend to acquire;

(c) The duration of the increment area;

(d) Identification of all parcels to be included in the area;

(e) A description of the expected private development within the increment area, including a comparison of scenarios with the proposed public improvements and without the proposed public improvements;

(h) An estimate of the job creation reasonably expected to result from the public improvements and the private development expected to occur in the increment area; and

(i) An assessment of any impacts and any necessary mitigation to address the impacts identified on the following:

(i) Affordable and low-income housing;

(ii) The local business community;

(iii) The local school districts; and

(iv) The local fire service, public hospital service, and emergency medical services.

(3) The local government may charge a private developer, who agrees to participate in creating the increment area, a fee sufficient to cover the cost of the project analysis and establishing the increment area, including staff time, professionals and consultants, and other administrative costs related to establishing the increment area.

(4) Nothing in this section prohibits a local government from entering into an agreement under chapter 39.34 RCW with another local government for the administration or other activities related to tax increment financing authorized under this section.

(5) (a) If the project analysis indicates that an increment area will impact at least 20 percent of the assessed value in a public hospital district, fire protection district, or regional fire protection service authority, or if the public hospital district's or the fire service agency's annual report, or other governing board-adopted capital facilities plan, demonstrates an increase in the level of service directly related to the increased development in the increment area, the local government must ((negotiate)) enter into negotiations for a mitigation plan with the impacted public hospital district, fire protection district, or regional fire protection service authority to address level of service issues in the increment area.

(b) If the parties cannot agree pursuant to (a) of this subsection (5), the parties must proceed to arbitration to determine the appropriate mitigation plan. The board of arbitrators must consist of three persons: One appointed by the local government seeking to designate the increment area and one appointed by the junior taxing district, both of whom must be appointed within 60 days of the date when arbitration is requested, and a third arbitrator who must be appointed by agreement of the other two arbitrators within 90 days of the date when arbitration is requested. If the two are unable to agree on the appointment of the third arbitrator within this 90-day period, then the third arbitrator must be appointed by a judge in the superior court of the county within which the largest portion of the increment area is located. The determination by the board of arbitrators is binding on both the local government seeking to impose the increment area and the junior taxing district.

(6) The local government may reimburse the assessor and treasurer for their costs as provided in RCW 39.114.010(6)(e).

(7) Prior to the adoption of an ordinance authorizing creation of an increment area, the local government must:

(a) Hold at least two public briefings for the community solely on the tax increment project that include the description of the increment area, the public improvements proposed to be financed with the tax allocation revenues, and a detailed estimate of tax revenues for the participating local governments and taxing districts, including the amounts allocated to the increment public improvements. The briefings must be announced at least two weeks prior to the date being held, including publishing in a legal newspaper of general circulation and posting information on the local government website and all local government social media sites, and must occur no earlier than 90 days after submitting the project analysis to the office of the treasurer and all local governments and taxing districts impacted by the increment area; ((and))

(b) Submit the project analysis to all local governments and taxing districts impacted by the increment area no less than 90 days prior to the adoption of the ordinance; and

(c) Submit the project analysis to the office of the treasurer for review and consider any comments that the treasurer may provide upon completion of their review of the project analysis as provided under this subsection. The treasurer must complete the review within 90 days of receipt of the project analysis and may consult with other agencies and outside experts as necessary. Upon completing their review, the treasurer must promptly provide to the local government any comments regarding suggested revisions or enhancements to the project analysis that the treasurer deems appropriate based on the requirements in subsection (2) of this section.

Sec. 3. RCW 39.114.040 and 2023 c 354 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

The local government designating the increment area must:

(1) Provide written notice to the governing body of each taxing district within which the increment area is located a minimum of 90 days before submitting the project analysis to the office of the treasurer as required in RCW 39.114.020(7)(c).

(2) Publish notice in a legal newspaper of general circulation within the jurisdiction of the local government at least two weeks before the date on which the ordinance authorizing creation of an increment area is adopted that describes the public improvements, describes the boundaries of the increment area, and identifies the location and times where the ordinance and other public information concerning the public improvement may be inspected; and

((2)) (3) Deliver a certified copy of the adopted ordinance to the county treasurer, the county assessor, and the governing body of each taxing district within which the increment area is located at the respective addresses specified

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"PART 1 INTENT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. INTENT. (1) The legislature finds:

(a) Washington is now experiencing the effects of a climate crisis: Hotter summers with record-breaking temperatures, devastating fires, drought conditions, and rising sea levels that erode our coastlines and are causing some communities to move upland;

(b) Methane is a potent greenhouse gas and landfills are documented by the United States environmental protection agency to be the 3rd largest human-made source, with food, yard waste, and other plant-based organic material degrading in landfills to methane;

(c) Food waste is a major issue in the United States and globally, that, according to the food and agriculture organization of the United Nations, unwanted and discarded food squanders resources, including water, land, energy, labor, and capital, estimated that one-third of the food produced in the world for human consumption, about 1,300,000,000 tons, is lost or wasted every year, and the food loss and waste in industrialized countries equates to a value of approximately $680,000,000,000;

(d) The Harvard University food law and policy clinic has estimated that 40 percent of the food supply in the United States is not eaten and that according to the United States environmental protection agency and the United States department of agriculture, food loss and waste is the single largest component of disposed municipal solid waste in the United States;

(e) In 2015, that the administrator of the United States environmental protection agency and the secretary of the United States department of agriculture announced a national goal of reducing food waste by 50 percent by the year 2030. In 2019, Washington established the same goal in RCW 70A.205.715;

(f) Compost and other products of organic material management facilities have beneficial applications and can improve soil health, water quality, and other environmental outcomes. However, in order for the products of organic material management facilities to lead to improved environmental outcomes and for the economics of the operations of these facilities to pencil out, it is important that inbound sources of organic material waste are free of plastic contamination, pesticides, and other materials that will reduce compost quality; and

(g) Farmers, processors, retailers, and food banks in Washington are leaders in addressing this issue, and in 2022, with the enactment of chapter 180, Laws of 2022 (Engrossed Second Substitute House Bill No. 1799), Washington took significant steps towards the improvement of organic material management systems.

(2) It is the legislature's intent to provide additional tools and financial resources to build on this progress in coming years by:

(a) Creating a variety of grant programs to support food waste reduction, food rescue, and other organic material management system improvements, including grants to support the implementation of new policy requirements related to organic material management;

(b) Amending solid waste management requirements in support of improved organic material management outcomes, including through the statewide standardization of colors and labels for organic, recycling, and garbage bins, and amending the organic material management service requirements in local jurisdictions and that apply to businesses;

(c) Making changes to product degradability labeling requirements;

(d) Amending the state building code in support of organic material management; and

(e) Continuing to discuss how to maximize donations of food from generators of unwanted edible food.

(3) It is the legislature's intent for the following management option preferences to apply to the management of food under this act, including the provisions of law being amended by this act, in order of most preferred to least preferred:

(a) Prevents wasted food;

(b) Donates or upcycles food;

(c) Feeds animals or leaves food unharvested;

(d) Composts or anaerobically digests materials with beneficial use of the compost, digestate, or biosolids;

(e) Anaerobically digests materials with the disposal of digestate or biosolids, or applies material to the land; and

(f) Sends materials down the drain, to landfills, or incinerates material, with or without accompanying energy recovery.

PART 2
FUNDING FOR SUSTAINABLE FOOD MANAGEMENT PRIORITIES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 201. A new section is added to chapter 70A.207 RCW to read as follows:

CENTER FOR SUSTAINABLE FOOD MANAGEMENT GRANTS. (1) The department, through the center, must develop and administer grant programs to support activities that reduce emissions from landfills and waste-to-energy facilities through the diversion of organic materials and food waste prevention, rescue, and recovery. The department must seek stakeholder input in the design, criteria, and logistics associated with each grant program. The department must allocate grant funding across the eligible categories specified in subsection (2) of this section in a manner consistent with legislative appropriations, and that achieves the following priorities:

(a) Maximizing greenhouse gas emission reductions;

(b) Eliminating barriers to the rescue and consumption of edible food that would otherwise be wasted;

(c) Developing stable funding programs for the department to administer and stable funding opportunities for potential fund recipients to be aware of; and

(d) Preferences the following management options, in order of most preferred to least preferred:

(i) Prevents wasted food;

(ii) Donates or upcycles food;

(iii) Feeds animals or leaves food unharvested;

(iv) Composts or anaerobically digests materials with beneficial use of the compost, digestate, or biosolids;

(v) Anaerobically digests materials with the disposal of digestate or biosolids, or applies material to the land;

(vi) Sends materials down the drain, to landfills, or incinerates material, with or without accompanying energy recovery.

(2) Subject to the availability of amounts appropriated for this specific purpose, grants under this section may be awarded to the following categories of activities:

(a) Projects to prevent the surplus of unsold, uneaten food from food businesses or to standardize and improve the operating procedures associated with food donations, including efforts to standardize collection bins, provide staff training for food donors or food rescue organizations, or make other changes to increase the efficiency or efficacy of food donation procedures. Local governments, federally recognized Indian tribes and federally recognized Indian tribal government entities, nonprofit organizations, and generators of unwanted edible food are eligible applicants for grants under this subsection. Equipment and infrastructure purchases, training costs, costs associated with the development and deployment of operating protocols, and employee staff time reimbursement are eligible uses of grant funding under this subsection;

(b) (i) Projects to improve and reduce the transportation of donated foods and management of cold chains across the donated food supply chain, including through food rescue organizations. Local governments, federally recognized Indian tribes and federally recognized Indian tribal government entities, nonprofit organizations, transporters of unwanted edible food, and generators of unwanted edible food are eligible applicants for grants under this subsection. Eligible uses of grant funding under this subsection include the acquisition of vehicles, cold-storage equipment, real estate, and technology to support donated food storage and transportation system improvements.

(ii) Grants under this subsection (2) (b) may not be used for the purchase or lease of equipment that relies on a fuel source other than electricity or the purchase or lease of vehicles other than zero-emission vehicles;

(c) (i) Grant programs to support the establishment and expansion of wasted food reduction programs to benefit vulnerable communities. This grant program must be developed in consultation with the department of health and food policy stakeholders.

(ii) Nonprofit organizations, businesses, associations, federally recognized Indian tribes and federally recognized Indian tribal government entities, and local governments are eligible to receive grants under this subsection. Eligible uses of the funds may include community food hub development projects, cold food storage capacity, refrigerated transport capacity, convenings to inform innovation in wasted food reduction in retail and food service establishments, and pilot projects to reduce wasted food. No more than 20 percent of funds allocated under this subsection (2) (c) may be awarded to a single grant recipient; and

(d) Food waste tracking and analytics pilot project grants. Local governments, federally recognized Indian tribes and federally recognized Indian tribal government entities, nonprofit organizations, transporters of unwanted edible food, and generators of unwanted edible food are eligible applicants for grants under this subsection. Eligible uses of grant funding under this subsection include staff time and technology to improve food waste prevention or improve tracking of food donations through the food supply chain and to provide data useful to enabling more efficient and effective outcomes for the provision of food available for rescue.

(3) The department may establish additional eligibility criteria or application process requirements beyond those described in subsection (2) of this section for a category or categories of activity. The department may, as a condition of the award of a grant under this section, require the reporting of information to the department regarding the outcomes of the funded activities.

(4) The department may award grants to eligible applicants meeting the minimum qualifying criteria on a competitive basis, or to applicants on a noncompetitive basis, or both. Within each category of activity described in subsection (2) of this section, the department must prioritize grant applications that benefit overburdened communities as defined in RCW 70A.02.010 as identified by the department in accordance with RCW 70A.02.050.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 202. A new section is added to chapter 70A.207 RCW to read as follows:

SUSTAINABLE FOOD MANAGEMENT POLICY IMPLEMENTATION GRANTS. (1) The department, through the center, must develop and administer grant programs to support the implementation of the requirements of this act and chapter 180, Laws of 2022, with priority given to grants that support the implementation of RCW 70A.205.540 and 70A.205.545. Eligible recipients of grants under this section may include businesses that are subject to organic material management requirements, local governments, federally recognized Indian tribes and federally recognized Indian tribal government entities, nonprofit organizations, or organic material management facilities. Eligible expenses by grant recipients include education, outreach, technical assistance, indoor and outdoor infrastructure, transportation and processing infrastructure, and enforcement costs.

(2) The department may not require, as a condition of financial assistance under this section, that matching funds be made available by a local government recipient. The department must provide assistance to each local government that demonstrates eligibility for grant assistance under this section.

Sec. 203. RCW 70A.207.020 and 2022 c 180 s 402 are each amended to read as follows:

CENTER FOR SUSTAINABLE FOOD MANAGEMENT DUTIES. (1) The Washington center for sustainable food management is established within the department (~~to begin operations by January 1, 2024~~).

(2) The purpose of the center is to help coordinate statewide food waste reduction.

(3) The center may perform the following activities:

(a) Coordinate the implementation of the plan;

(b) Draft plan updates and measure progress towards actions, strategies, and the statewide goals established in RCW 70A.205.007 and 70A.205.715(1);

(c) Maintain a website with current food waste reduction information and guidance for food service establishments, consumers, food processors, hunger relief organizations, and other sources of food waste;

(d) Provide staff support to multistate food waste reduction initiatives in which the state is participating;

(e) Maintain the consistency of the plan and other food waste reduction activities with the work of the Washington state conservation commission's food policy forum;

(f) Facilitate and coordinate public-private and nonprofit partnerships focused on food waste reduction, including through voluntary working groups;

(g) Collaborate with federal, state, and local government partners on food waste reduction initiatives;

(h) Develop and maintain maps or lists of locations of the food systems of Washington that identify food flows, where waste occurs, and opportunities to prevent food waste;

(i) (i) Collect and maintain data on food waste and wasted food in a manner that is generally consistent with the methods of collecting and maintaining such data used by federal agencies or in other jurisdictions, or both, to the greatest extent practicable;

(ii) Develop measurement methodologies and tools to uniformly track food donation data, food waste prevention data, and associated climate impacts resultant from food waste reduction efforts;

(j) Research and develop emerging organic materials and food waste reduction markets;

(k) (i) Develop and maintain statewide food waste reduction and food waste contamination reduction campaigns, in consultation with other state agencies and other stakeholders, including the development of waste prevention and food waste recovery promotional materials for distribution. These promotional materials may include online information, newsletters, bulletins, or handouts that inform food service establishment operators about the protections from civil and criminal liability under federal law and under RCW 69.80.031 when donating food; and

(ii) Develop guidance to support the distribution of promotional materials, including distribution by:

(A) Local health officers, at no cost to regulated food service establishments, including as part of normal, routine inspections of food service establishments; and

(B) State agencies, including the department of health and the department of agriculture, in conjunction with their statutory roles and responsibilities in regulating, monitoring, and supporting safe food supply chains and systems;

(l) Distribute and monitor grants dedicated to food waste prevention, rescue, and recovery, which must include the programs described in sections 201 and 202 of this act; ((and))

(m) Provide staff support to the work group created in section 702 of this act; and

(n) Research and provide education, outreach, and technical assistance to local governments in support of the adoption of solid waste ordinances or policies that establish a financial disincentive for the generation of organic waste and for the ultimate disposal of organic materials in landfills.

(4) The department may enter into an interagency agreement with the department of health, the department of agriculture, or other state agencies as necessary to fulfill the responsibilities of the center.

(5) The department may adopt any rules necessary to implement this chapter including, but not limited to, measures for the center's performance.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 204. A new section is added to chapter 43.23 RCW to read as follows:

WASHINGTON COMMODITIES DONATION GRANT PROGRAM. (1) The department must implement the Washington commodities donation grant program established in this section. The purpose of the program is to procure Washington grown produce, grains, and protein otherwise at risk of ending up as food waste for distribution to hunger relief organizations for use in Washington state.

(2) The program established in this section must, to the extent practicable:

(a) Rely upon existing infrastructure and similar grant programs currently being implemented in Washington, in order to maximize the beneficial impacts of the program in the short-term, and to expeditiously enable the distribution of grants under this section;

(b) Be designed to achieve efficiencies of scale by the grant recipients carrying out food acquisitions and distributions and to target large volume food acquisition opportunities;

(c) Give priority to recipient organizations that have at least five years of experience coordinating the collection and transportation of donated agricultural products to food bank distributors, food bank distribution centers, or both, for redistribution to local hunger relief agencies; and

(d) Provide for equitable benefits experienced from the program by food producers of varying sizes and types, including minority and vulnerable farmers, including veterans, women, and federally recognized Indian tribes.

(3) The department must issue grants under this section to one or more nonprofit organizations to acquire food directly from food producers located in Washington. A recipient nonprofit organization may use funds under this section to compensate food producers donating commodities for pick and pack out costs incurred associated with the production of a food product, including costs of food product inputs and harvest, and for their marginal postharvest logistical and administrative costs that facilitate the acquisition and distribution of the food product by grant recipients.

(4) An organization that receives funds under this section must report the results of the project to the department in a manner prescribed by the department.

(5) It is the intent of the legislature to consistently and sustainably allocate at least $25,000,000 per biennium, continuing over multiple biennia, to the program established in this section.

Sec. 205. RCW 70A.214.100 and 2008 c 178 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

WASTE NOT WASHINGTON AWARDS. (1) The office of waste reduction shall develop, in consultation with the superintendent of public instruction, an awards program to achieve waste reduction and recycling in public schools, and to encourage waste reduction and recycling in private schools, grades kindergarten through high school. The office shall develop guidelines for program development and implementation. Each public school shall, and each private school may, implement a waste reduction and recycling program conforming to guidelines developed by the office.

(2) For the purpose of granting awards, the office may group all participating schools into not more than three classes, based upon student population, distance to markets for recyclable materials, and other criteria, as deemed appropriate by the office. Except as otherwise provided, five or more awards may be granted to each of the three classes. Each award shall be no more than ((five thousand dollars))$5,000 until 2026, and no more than $10,000 beginning January 1, 2026. Awards shall be granted each year to the schools that achieve the greatest levels of waste reduction and recycling. A single award of not less than ((five thousand dollars))$5,000 until 2026 or $10,000 beginning in 2026 may be presented to the school having the best recycling program as measured by the total amount of materials recycled, including materials generated outside of the school. A single award of not less than ((five thousand dollars))$5,000 until 2026 or $10,000 beginning in 2026 may be presented to the school having the best waste reduction program as determined by the office. It is the intent of the legislature to consistently and sustainably allocate at least $1,000,000 per biennium, continuing over multiple biennia and starting in calendar year 2026, to the awards program established in this section.

(3) The superintendent of public instruction shall distribute guidelines and other materials developed by the office to implement programs to reduce and recycle waste generated in administrative offices, classrooms, laboratories, cafeterias, and maintenance operations.

PART 3
AMENDMENTS TO SOLID WASTE LAWS

Sec. 301. RCW 70A.205.540 and 2022 c 180 s 102 are each amended to read as follows:

MANDATED ORGANICS MANAGEMENT. (1) ((Beginning January 1, 2027, in)) Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, in each jurisdiction that implements a local solid waste plan under RCW 70A.205.040:

(a) ((Source-separated)) Beginning April 1, 2027, source-separated organic solid waste collection services ((must)) are required to be provided ((at least every other week or at least 26 weeks annually)) year-round to:

(i) All residents; and

(ii) Nonresidential customers that generate more than .25 cubic yards per week of organic materials for management; ((and))

(b) (i) The department may, by waiver, reduce the collection frequency requirements in (a) of this subsection for the collection of dehydrated food waste or to address food waste managed through other circumstances or technologies that will reduce the volume or odor, or both, of collected food waste.

(ii) All organic solid waste collected from residents and businesses under ((+a-ef)) this subsection must be managed through organic materials management;

(c) Beginning April 1, 2030, the source-separated organic solid waste collection services specified in (a) of this subsection must be provided to customers on a nonelective basis, except that a jurisdiction may grant an exemption to a customer that certifies to the jurisdiction that the customer is managing organic material waste on-site or self-hauling its own organic material waste for organic materials management;

(d) Beginning April 1, 2030, each jurisdiction's source-separated organic solid waste collection service must include the acceptance of food waste year-round. The jurisdiction may choose to collect food waste source-separated from other organic materials or may collect food waste commingled with other organic materials; and

(e) Beginning April 1, 2030, all persons, when using curbside collection for disposal, may use only source-separated organic solid waste collection services to discard unwanted organic materials. By January 1, 2027, the department must adopt standards under which local jurisdictions may exempt persons from this requirement if organic materials will be managed through an alternative mechanism that provides equal or better environmental outcomes. Nothing in this section precludes the ability of a person to use on-site composting, the diversion of organic materials to animal feed, self-haul organic materials to a facility, or other means of beneficially managing unwanted organic materials.

(2) A jurisdiction may charge and collect fees or rates for the services provided under subsection (1) of this section, consistent with the jurisdiction's authority to impose fees and rates under chapters 35.21, 35A.21, 36.58, and 36.58A RCW.

(3) (a) Except as provided in (d) of this subsection, the requirements of this section do not apply in a jurisdiction if the department determines that the following apply:

(i) The jurisdiction disposed of less than 5,000 tons of solid waste in the most recent year for which data is available; or

(ii) The jurisdiction has a total population of less than 25,000 people ((+or

~~(iii) The jurisdiction has a total population between 25,000 and 50,000 people and curbside organic solid waste collection services are not offered in any area within the jurisdiction, as of July 1, 2022)).~~

(b) The requirements of this section do not apply:

(i) In census tracts that have a population density of less than 75 people per square mile that are serviced by the jurisdiction and located in unincorporated portions of a county, as determined by the department, in counties not planning under chapter 36.70A RCW; ((and))

(ii) In census tracts that have a population density of greater than 75 people per square mile, where the census tract includes jurisdictions that meet any of the conditions in (a) (i) and (ii) of this subsection, that are serviced by the jurisdiction and located in unincorporated portions of a county, as determined by the department, in counties not planning under chapter 36.70A RCW;

(iii) Outside of urban growth areas designated pursuant to RCW 36.70A.110 in unincorporated portions of a county planning under chapter 36.70A RCW;

(iv) Inside of unincorporated urban growth areas for jurisdictions planning under chapter 36.70A RCW that meet any of the conditions in (a) (i) and (ii) of this subsection; and

(v) In unincorporated urban growth areas in counties with an unincorporated population of less than 25,000 people.

(c) In addition to the exemptions in (a) and (b) of this subsection, the department may issue a renewable waiver to jurisdictions or portions of a jurisdiction under this subsection for up to five years, based on consideration of factors including the distance to organic materials management facilities, the sufficiency of the capacity to manage organic materials at facilities to which organic materials could feasibly and economically be delivered from the jurisdiction, and restrictions in the transport of organic materials under chapter 17.24 RCW. The department may adopt rules to specify the type of information that a waiver applicant must submit to the department and to specify the department's process for reviewing and approving waiver applications.

(d) Beginning January 1, 2030, the department may adopt a rule to require that the provisions of this section apply in the jurisdictions identified in (b) and (c) of this subsection, but only if the department determines that the goals established in RCW

70A.205.007(1) have not or will not be achieved.

(4) Any city that newly begins implementing an independent solid waste plan under RCW 70A.205.040 after July 1, 2022, must meet the requirements of subsection (1) of this section.

(5) Nothing in this section affects the authority or duties of the department of agriculture related to pest and noxious weed control and quarantine measures under chapter 17.24 RCW.

(6) No penalty may be assessed on an individual or resident for the improper disposal of organic materials under subsection (1) of this section in a noncommercial or residential setting.

Sec. 302. RCW 70A.205.545 and 2022 c 180 s 201 are each amended to read as follows:

BUSINESS DIVERSION. (1)(a) Beginning July 1, 2023, and each July 1st thereafter, the department must determine which counties and any cities preparing independent solid waste management plans:

(i) Provide for businesses to be serviced by providers that collect food waste and organic material waste for delivery to solid waste facilities that provide for the organic materials management of organic material waste and food waste; and

(ii) Are serviced by solid waste facilities that provide for the organic materials management of organic material waste and food waste and have year-round capacity to process and are willing to accept increased volumes of organic materials deliveries.

(b)(i) The department must determine and designate that the restrictions of this section apply to businesses in a jurisdiction unless the department determines that the businesses in some or all portions of the city or county have:

(A) No available businesses that collect and deliver organic materials to solid waste facilities that provide for the organic materials management of organic material waste and food waste; or

(B) No available capacity at the solid waste facilities to which businesses that collect and deliver organic materials could feasibly and economically deliver organic materials from the jurisdiction.

(ii)(A) In the event that a county or city provides a written ((notification)) request and supporting evidence to the department ((indicating)) determining that the criteria of (b)(i)(A) of this subsection are met, and the department confirms this determination, then the restrictions of this section apply only in those portions of the jurisdiction that have available service-providing businesses.

(B) In the event that a county or city provides a written ((notification)) request and supporting evidence to the department ((indicating)) determining that the criteria of (b)(i)(B) of this subsection are met, and the department confirms this determination, then the restrictions of this section do not apply to the jurisdiction.

(c) The department must make the result of the annual determinations required under this section available on its website.

(d) The requirements of this section may be enforced by jurisdictional health departments consistent with this chapter, except that:

(i) A jurisdictional health department may not charge a fee to permit holders to cover the costs of the jurisdictional health department's administration or enforcement of the requirements of this section; and

(ii) Prior to issuing a penalty under this section, a jurisdictional health department must provide at least two written notices of noncompliance with the requirements of this section to the owner or operator of a business subject to the requirements of this section.

(2)(a)(i) Beginning January 1, 2024, a business that generates at least eight cubic yards of organic material waste per week must arrange for organic materials management services specifically for organic material waste;

(ii) Beginning January 1, 2025, a business that generates at least four cubic yards of organic material waste per week must arrange for organic materials management services specifically for organic material waste; and

(iii) Beginning January 1, 2026, a business that generates at least ((four cubic yards of solid)) 96 gallons of organic material waste per week shall arrange for organic materials management services specifically for organic material waste, unless the department determines, by rule, that additional reductions in the landfilling of organic materials would be more appropriately and effectively achieved, at reasonable cost to regulated businesses, through the establishment of a different volumetric threshold of ((solid waste or)) organic waste material ((waste)) than the threshold of ((four cubic yards of solid)) 96 gallons of organic material waste per week.

(b) The following wastes do not count for purposes of determining waste volumes in (a) of this subsection:

(i) Wastes that are managed on-site by the generating business;

(ii) Wastes generated from the growth and harvest of food or fiber that are managed off-site by another business engaged in the growth and harvest of food or fiber;

(iii) Wastes that are managed by a business that enters into a voluntary agreement to sell or donate organic materials to another business for off-site use; ((and))

(iv) Wastes generated in exceptional volumes as a result of a natural disaster or other infrequent and unpreventable event; and

(v) Wastes generated as a result of a food safety event, such as a product recall, that is due to foreign material or adverse biological activity that requires landfill destruction rather than organic material management.

(3) A business may fulfill the requirements of this section by:

(a) Source separating organic material waste from other waste, subscribing to a service that includes organic material waste collection and organic materials management, and using such a service for organic material waste generated by the business;

(b) Managing its organic material waste on-site or self-hauling its own organic material waste for organic materials management;

(c) Qualifying for exclusion from the requirements of this section consistent with subsection (1)(b) of this section; or

(d) For a business engaged in the growth, harvest, or processing of food or fiber, entering into a voluntary agreement to sell or donate organic materials to another business for off-site use.

(4)(a) A business generating organic material waste shall arrange for any services required by this section in a manner that is consistent with state and local laws and requirements applicable to the collection, handling, or recycling of solid and organic material waste.

(b) Nothing in this section requires a business to dispose of materials in a manner that conflicts with federal or state public health or safety requirements. Nothing in this section requires businesses to dispose of wastes generated in exceptional volumes as a result of a natural disaster or other infrequent and unpreventable event through the options established in subsection (3) of this section. Nothing in this section prohibits a business from disposing of nonfood organic materials that are not commingled with food waste by using the services of an organic materials management facility that does not accept food waste.

(5) When arranging for gardening or landscaping services, the contract or work agreement between a business subject to this section and a gardening or landscaping service must require that the organic material waste generated by those services be managed in compliance with this chapter.

(6)(a) This section does not limit the authority of a local governmental agency to adopt, implement, or enforce a local organic material waste recycling requirement, or a condition imposed upon a self-hauler, that is more stringent or comprehensive than the requirements of this chapter.

(b) This section does not modify, limit, or abrogate in any manner any of the following:

(i) A franchise granted or extended by a city, county, city and county, or other local governmental agency;

(ii) A contract, license, certificate, or permit to collect solid waste previously granted or extended by a city, county, city and county, or other local governmental agency;

(iii) The right of a business to sell or donate its organic materials; and

(iv) A certificate of convenience and necessity issued to a solid waste collection company under chapter 81.77 RCW.

(c) Nothing in this section modifies, limits, or abrogates the authority of a local jurisdiction with respect to land use, zoning, or facility siting decisions by or within that local jurisdiction.

(d) Nothing in this section changes or limits the authority of the Washington utilities and transportation commission to regulate collection of solid waste, including curbside collection of residential recyclable materials, nor does this section change or limit the authority of a city or town to provide the service itself or by contract under RCW 81.77.020.

(7) The definitions in this subsection apply throughout this section unless the context clearly indicates otherwise.

(a)(i) "Business" means a commercial or public entity including, but not limited to, a firm, partnership, proprietorship, joint stock company, corporation, or association that is organized as a for-profit or nonprofit entity.

(ii) "Business" does not include a multifamily residential entity.

(b) "Food waste" has the same meaning as defined in RCW 70A.205.715.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 303. A new section is added to chapter 70A.205 RCW to read as follows:

BIN COLORS. (1) Except as provided in (a) and (b) of this subsection, the requirements of this section apply to containers purchased on or after July 1, 2026.

(a) A jurisdiction or solid waste collection company is not required to replace functional containers with a volume of less than one cubic yard or a plastic container of any size, including containers purchased prior to July 1, 2026, that do not comply with the color requirements of this section prior to the end of the useful life of those containers or prior to January 1, 2036, whichever comes first.

(b) A jurisdiction or solid waste collection company is not required to replace functional nonplastic containers with a volume of at least one cubic yard that existed and were in service as of July 1, 2026. However, a functional nonplastic container that existed as of July 1, 2026, must be repainted in a manner that matches the appropriate color requirements of this section on the earlier of:

(i) When it is next repainted; or

(ii)(A) By January 1, 2030, for collection containers owned by a person other than a jurisdiction that undertakes solid waste collection; or

(B) At the end of the useful life of the container owned by a jurisdiction that undertakes solid waste collection, or upon the distribution of sufficient funds under section 202 of this act to the jurisdiction to cover applicable container repainting costs of the jurisdiction.

(2) In each jurisdiction planning under this chapter, indoor or outdoor containers provided for collection services, including multifamily, commercial, government and other public places, institutional, and curbside residential collection services must be provided in a color-coded manner consistent with the requirements of this section in order to reduce contamination:

(a)(i) In a jurisdiction where source-separated recyclable materials and source-separated organic materials are collected separately, a gray or black container may be used only for the collection of solid waste that is not a source-separated recyclable material or a source-separated organic material;

(ii) In a jurisdiction where source-separated recyclable materials or organic materials are not collected separately, a gray or black container may be used for any solid waste, including organic material or recyclable material that is not separately collected in the jurisdiction.

(b) A blue container may be used only for source-separated recyclable materials. The contents of the blue container must be transported to a facility that recovered the materials designated for collection in the blue container.

(c) A green or brown container may be used only for source-separated organic materials and must be transported, directly or indirectly, to an organic materials management facility.

(d) A color other than green, brown, blue, black, or gray may be used only in accordance with any rules adopted by the department.

(e) By rule, the department may determine the appropriate container or containers to be used for materials that could conceivably be placed in multiple containers specified in (a) through (d) of this subsection.

(f) The color-coding requirements for solid waste collection containers under this section do not apply to containers with a volume of at least 10 cubic yards that:

(i) Are used on a temporary basis by multiple customers of a jurisdiction or solid waste collection company; and

(ii) Are alternately used for temporary periods for multiple types of solid waste depending on the specific needs of the customer.

(3) By January 1, 2025, all containers for collection services must bear a clear and conspicuous label on each container or lid specifying what materials are allowed to be placed in each container. The requirements of this subsection may be satisfied by:

(a) A label placed on a container that includes either language or graphic images, or both, that indicate the primary materials accepted and the primary materials prohibited in that container; or

(b) Imprinted text or graphic images that indicate the primary materials accepted and the primary materials prohibited in that container.

(4) The department may provide model labeling text and graphic images for optional use by local governments and solid waste collection companies that meets the requirements of this section.

(5) A jurisdiction or solid waste collection company may comply with the requirements of this section by providing a container or containers that are split or divided into segregated sections, instead of an entire container, as long as the lids of the separate sections of a split container comply with the container color requirements and material limitations specified in this section.

(6) Carpets, noncompostable paper, and hazardous wood waste may not be collected in a green or brown container. Hazardous wood waste may not be collected in a blue container. The department may adopt rules to prohibit additional waste stream contaminants from being placed in a green or brown container or a blue container.

(7) The definitions in this subsection apply throughout this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(a)(i) "Blue container" means:

(A) A container with a volume of less than one cubic yard where the body of the container is blue in color and the lid is blue in color; and

(B) A container with a volume of at least one cubic yard where the body of the container is blue in color and the lid is blue or black in color.

(ii) Hardware, such as hinges and wheels on a blue container, may be any color.

(iii) Unless a local government implementing a solid waste plan under this chapter requires uniform blue painting of the entire container, the body of a blue container may contain an area, on one side of the container, composed of any color measuring no more than two feet by two feet to display any combination of the name, logo, or branding of the container owner, solid waste collection company, or government entity associated with the container.

(b)(i) "Green or brown container" means:

(A) A container with a volume of less than one cubic yard where the body of the container is green or brown in color and the lid is green or brown in color; and

(B) A container with a volume of at least one cubic yard where the body of the container is green or brown in color and the lid is green, brown, or black in color.

(ii) Hardware, such as hinges and wheels on a green or brown container, may be any color.

(iii) Unless a local government implementing a solid waste plan under this chapter requires uniform green or brown painting of the entire container, the body of a green or brown container may contain an area, on one side of the container, composed of any color measuring no more than two feet by two feet to display any combination of the name, logo, or branding of the container owner, solid waste collection company, or government entity associated with the container.

(c)(i) "Gray or black container" means:

(A) A container with a volume of less than one cubic yard where the body of the container is entirely gray or black in color and the lid is gray or black in color; and

(B) A container with a volume of at least one cubic yard where the body of the container is gray or black in color and the lid is gray or black in color.

(ii) Hardware, such as hinges and wheels, on a gray or black container may be any color.

(iii) Unless a local government implementing a solid waste plan under this chapter requires uniform gray or black painting of an entire container, the body of a gray or black container may contain an area, on one side of the container, composed of any color measuring no more than two feet by two feet to display any combination of the name, logo, or branding of the container owner, solid waste collection company, or government entity associated with the container.

(iv) A galvanized metal container that is unpainted and gray or silver in appearance is considered to be a gray container for purposes of this section.

PART 4
STATUS ASSESSMENT OF PRODUCE STICKER TECHNOLOGIES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 401. STATUS ASSESSMENT OF PRODUCE STICKER TECHNOLOGIES.

(1) The department of ecology, in consultation with the department of agriculture, must carry out a study and submit a brief summary report to the legislature by September 1, 2025, addressing the status of produce sticker technologies, including produce sticker options that do not contain plastic stickers or adhesives or that otherwise meet compostability standards.

(2) The study required under this section must, at minimum, compare and consider the following features of produce stickers and adhesives:

- (a) Compostability, including toxic or hazardous substance content;
- (b) Performance;
- (c) Printability; and
- (d) Cost.

(3) In carrying out the study, input and information must be solicited and evaluated from:

- (a) Produce producers and packers;
- (b) Sticker and adhesive producers;
- (c) Other states, countries, or subnational jurisdictions that have adopted standards restricting plastic produce stickers; and
- (d) Other technical experts.

PART 5
PRODUCT DEGRADABILITY RESTRICTIONS

Sec. 501. RCW 70A.455.040 and 2022 c 180 s 803 are each amended to read as follows:

(iv) Uses green, beige, or brown labeling, color striping, or other green, beige, or brown symbols, colors, tinting, marks, or design patterns that help differentiate compostable items from noncompostable items.

Sec. 502. RCW 70A.455.070 and 2022 c 180 s 806 are each amended to read as follows:

FILM TINTING. (1) A producer of plastic film bags sold, offered for sale, or distributed for use in Washington that does not meet the applicable ASTM standard specifications provided in RCW 70A.455.050 is:

(a) Prohibited from using tinting, color schemes, labeling, or terms that are required of products that meet the applicable ASTM standard specifications under RCW 70A.455.050;

(b) Discouraged from using labeling, images, and terms that may reasonably be anticipated to confuse consumers into believing that noncompostable products are compostable; and

(c) Encouraged to use labeling, images, and terms to help consumers identify noncompostable bags as either: (i) Suitable for recycling; or (ii) necessary to dispose as waste.

(2) A producer of food service products, or plastic film products other than plastic film bags subject to subsection (1) of this section, sold, offered for sale, or distributed for use in Washington that does not meet the applicable ASTM standard specifications provided in RCW 70A.455.060 is:

(3) The product is otherwise labeled in a manner consistent with the requirements of this chapter, including RCW 70A.455.030, 70A.455.040, or 70A.455.050, as appropriate;

(4) The product is not labeled "home compostable only" or in a manner that otherwise implies that the product is not capable of being composted in industrial compost settings; and

(5) The producer has valid and reproducible scientific evidence to support their claim that a product is home compostable, consistent with federal trade commission guidelines.

CONCURRENT ENFORCEMENT OF DEGRADABILITY LABELING REQUIREMENTS BY CITIES AND COUNTIES. (1)(a) The department and cities and counties have concurrent authority to enforce this chapter and to issue and collect civil penalties for a violation of this chapter, subject to the conditions in this section and RCW 70A.455.100. An enforcing government entity may impose a civil penalty in the amount of up to $2,000 for the first violation of this chapter, up to $5,000 for the second violation of this chapter, and up to $10,000 for the third and any subsequent violation of this chapter. If a producer has paid a prior penalty for the same violation to a different government entity with enforcement authority under this subsection, the penalty imposed by a government entity is reduced by the amount of the payment.

(b) The enforcement of this chapter must be based primarily on complaints filed with the department and cities and counties. The department must establish a forum for the filing of complaints. Cities, counties, or any person may file complaints with the department using the forum, and cities and counties may review complaints filed with the department via the forum. The forum established by the department may include a complaint form on the department's website, a telephone hotline, or a public outreach strategy relying upon electronic social media to receive complaints that allege violations. The department, in collaboration with the cities and counties, must provide education and outreach activities to inform retail establishments, consumers, and producers about the requirements of this chapter.

(c) A city or county that chooses to enforce the requirements of this chapter within their jurisdiction must notify the department with a letter of intent that includes:

(i) The start and any end date of the local jurisdiction's enforcement activities;

(ii) The geographic boundaries within which the enforcement activities are planned; and

(iii) Any technical assistance, education, or enforcement tools that the city or county would like to request from the department in support of local enforcement activities.

(2) Penalties issued by the department are appealable to the pollution control hearings board established in chapter 43.21B RCW.

(3) The remedies provided by this section are not exclusive and are in addition to the remedies that may be available pursuant to chapter 19.86 RCW or other consumer protection laws, if applicable.

(4) In addition to penalties recovered under this section, the enforcing city or county may recover reasonable enforcement costs and attorneys' fees from the liable producer.

PART 6 COMPOST PURCHASES

Sec. 601. RCW 15.04.420 and 2022 c 180 s 502 are each amended to read as follows:

COMPOST REIMBURSEMENT PROGRAM ELIGIBILITY AMENDMENT. (1)(a) Subject to the availability of amounts appropriated for this specific purpose, the department must establish and implement a compost reimbursement program to reimburse farming operations in the state for purchasing and using compost products that were not generated by the farming operation, including transportation, spreading equipment, labor, fuel, and maintenance costs associated with spreading equipment. The grant reimbursements under the program begin July 1, 2023.

(b) For the purposes of this program, "farming operation" means: A commercial agricultural, silvicultural, or aquacultural facility or pursuit, including the care and production of livestock and livestock products, poultry and poultry products, apiary products, and plant and animal production for nonfood uses; the planting, cultivating, harvesting, and processing of crops; and the farming or ranching of any plant or animal species in a controlled salt, brackish, or freshwater environment.

(2) To be eligible to participate in the reimbursement program, a farming operation must complete an eligibility review with the department prior to transporting or applying any compost products for which reimbursement is sought under this section. The purpose of the review is for the department to ensure that the proposed transport and application of compost products is consistent with the department's agricultural pest control rules established under chapter 17.24 RCW. A farming operation must also verify that it will allow soil sampling to be conducted by the department upon request before compost application and until at least 10 years after the last grant funding is used by the farming operation, as necessary to establish a baseline of soil quality and carbon storage and for subsequent department evaluations to assist the department's reporting requirements under subsection (8) of this section.

(3) The department must create a form for eligible farming operations to apply for cost reimbursement for costs from purchasing and using compost from facilities with solid waste handling permits or that are permit exempt, including transportation, equipment, spreading, and labor costs. Compost must meet the applicable requirements for compost established by the department of ecology under chapter 70A.205 RCW. The department must prioritize applicants who purchase and use compost containing food waste feedstocks, where it is practicable for the applicant to purchase and use compost containing food waste feedstocks. All applications for cost reimbursement must be submitted on the form along with invoices, receipts, or other documentation acceptable to the department of the costs of purchasing and using compost products for which the applicant is requesting reimbursement, as well as a brief description of what each purchased item will be used for. The department may request that an applicant provide information to verify the source, size, sale weight, or amount of compost products purchased and the cost of transportation, equipment, spreading, and labor. The applicant must also declare that it is not seeking reimbursement for purchase or labor costs for:

(a) Its own compost products; or

(b) Compost products that it has transferred, or intends to transfer, to another individual or entity, whether or not for compensation.

(4) A farming operation may submit only one application per fiscal year in which the program is in effect for purchases made and usage costs incurred during the fiscal year that begins on July 1st and ends on June 30th. Applications for reimbursement must be filed before the end of the fiscal year in which purchases were made and usage costs incurred.

(5) The department must distribute reimbursement funds, subject to the following limitations:

(a) A farming operation is not eligible to receive reimbursement if the farming operation's application was not found eligible for reimbursement by the department under subsection (2) of this section prior to the transport or use of compost;

(b) A farming operation is not eligible to receive reimbursement for more than 50 percent of the costs it incurs each fiscal year for the purchase and use of compost products, including transportation, equipment, spreading, and labor costs;

~~(c) ((A farming operation is not eligible to receive more than $10,000 per fiscal year))The department must attempt to achieve fair distribution of reimbursement funding across different farm size categories, based on acreage categories determined by the department, and which is not to exceed a maximum of $20,000 per fiscal year for the largest farming operation category determined by the department;~~

(d) A farming operation is not eligible to receive reimbursement for its own compost products or compost products that it has transferred, or intends to transfer, to another individual or entity, whether or not for compensation; and

(e) A farming operation is not eligible to receive reimbursement for compost products that were not purchased from a facility with a solid waste handling permit or a permit-exempt facility.

(6) The applicant shall indemnify and hold harmless the state and its officers, agents, and employees from all claims arising out of or resulting from the compost products purchased that are subject to the compost reimbursement program under this section.

(7) There is established within the department a compost reimbursement program manager position. The compost reimbursement program manager must possess knowledge and expertise in the area of program management necessary to carry out the duties of the position, which are to:

(a) Facilitate the division and distribution of available costs for reimbursement; and

(b) Manage the day-to-day coordination of the compost reimbursement program.

(8) In compliance with RCW 43.01.036, the department must submit an annual report to the appropriate committees of the legislature by January 15th of each year of the program in which grants have been issued or completed. The report must include:

(a) The amount of compost for which reimbursement was sought under the program;

(b) The qualitative or quantitative effects of the program on soil quality and carbon storage; and

(c) A periodically updated evaluation of the benefits and costs to the state of expanding or furthering the strategies promoted in the program.

Sec. 602. RCW 43.19A.150 and 2022 c 180 s 701 are each amended to read as follows:

COMPOST PROCUREMENT REPORTING AMENDMENT.

(1) By January 1, 2023, the following cities or counties shall adopt a compost procurement ordinance to implement RCW 43.19A.120:

(a) Each city or county with a population greater than 25,000 residents as measured by the office of financial management using the most recent population data available; and

(b) Each city or county in which organic material collection services are provided under chapter 70A.205 RCW.

(2) A city or county that newly exceeds a population of 25,000 residents after January 1, 2023, as measured by the office of financial management, must adopt an ordinance under this subsection no later than 12 months after the office of financial management's determination that the local government's population has exceeded 25,000.

(3) In developing a compost procurement ordinance, each city and county shall plan for the use of compost in the following categories:

- (a) Landscaping projects;
- (b) Construction and postconstruction soil amendments;
- (c) Applications to prevent erosion, filter stormwater runoff, promote vegetation growth, or improve the stability and longevity of roadways; and
- (d) Low-impact development and green infrastructure to filter pollutants or keep water on-site, or both.

(4) Each city or county that adopts an ordinance under subsection (1) or (2) of this section must develop strategies to inform residents about the value of compost and how the jurisdiction uses compost in its operations in the jurisdiction's comprehensive solid waste management plan pursuant to RCW 70A.205.045.

(5) By ~~((December))~~ March 31, ~~((2024))~~ 2025, and each ~~((December))~~ March 31st ~~((of even-numbered years))~~ thereafter, each city or county that adopts an ordinance under subsection (1) or (2) of this section must submit a report covering the previous year's compost procurement activities to the department of ecology that contains the following information:

(a) The total tons of organic material diverted throughout the year and the facility or facilities used for processing;

(b) The volume and cost of compost purchased throughout the year; and

(c) The source or sources of the compost.

(6) Cities and counties that are required to adopt an ordinance under subsection (1) or (2) of this section shall give priority to purchasing compost products from companies that produce compost products locally, are certified by a nationally recognized organization, and produce compost products that are derived from municipal solid waste compost programs and meet quality standards comparable to standards adopted by the department of transportation or adopted by rule by the department of ecology.

(7) Cities and counties may enter into collective purchasing agreements if doing so is more cost-effective or efficient.

(8) Nothing in this section requires a compost processor to:

(a) Enter into a purchasing agreement with a city or county;

(b) Sell finished compost to meet this requirement; or

(c) Accept or process food waste or compostable products.

PART 7 MISCELLANEOUS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 701. A new section is added to chapter 19.27 RCW to read as follows:

STATE BUILDING CODE COUNCIL AMENDMENT. The governing body of each county or city is authorized to amend requirements in the state building code, as it applies within the jurisdiction of the county or city, that apply to providing for the storage of solid waste by requiring multifamily residential buildings to:

(2) The department of ecology must submit a report to the legislature by September 1, 2025, containing the recommendations of the work group. The work group shall make recommendations using consensus-based decision making. All meetings of the work group must be carried out in a virtual-only format. The report must include recommendations where general stakeholder consensus has been achieved and note varied opinions where stakeholder consensus has not been achieved.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 703. A new section is added to chapter 43.23 RCW to read as follows:

HARVEST SUPPORT PILOT PROGRAM FOR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCERS. (1)(a) The five-year harvest support pilot program, administered by the department, is created for agricultural producers that meet the criteria under subsection (2) of this section.

(b) The purpose of the pilot program is to better understand the nexus between unharvested agricultural products that result in food waste and the cost barriers to harvesting faced by agricultural producers due to overtime pay requirements. The ultimate goal of the pilot program is to reduce the amount of waste caused by unharvested agricultural products.

(2)(a) To be eligible under the pilot program, an agricultural producer must have donated agricultural products to food bank distributors, food bank distribution centers, or both, within the period between January 1, 2017, through the effective date of this section.

(b) The agricultural producer must be able to show proof of its donations upon request.

(3)(a) Until the expiration of the pilot program, an agricultural producer participating in the pilot program may select any 12 weeks in a calendar year as special circumstance weeks for labor demand. During each of the selected 12 weeks, the agricultural producer may employ agricultural employees for up to 50 hours before the requirement to pay overtime under RCW 49.46.130 applies.

(b) In addition to the records required to be kept under RCW 49.30.020, an agricultural producer must maintain records of which special circumstance weeks were utilized.

(c) An agricultural producer must provide an annual initial disclosure of a good-faith estimate of the selected 12 weeks to the agricultural producer's agricultural employees at least 30 days in advance of the first expected special circumstance week, or upon hiring for those who start work fewer than 30 days in advance. For agricultural employees employed under, and in compliance with federal requirements for, temporary work visas, the disclosure of a good-faith estimate must be made no later than the date of the worker's visa application, contemporaneous with required federal preemployment written disclosures to visa workers ordinarily due by the date of the worker's visa application.

(4) The department shall submit reports, beginning December 1, 2025, and each year thereafter, to the appropriate committees of the legislature. The reports shall include, at a minimum, the following information:

(a) The number of agricultural producers participating in the pilot program;

(b) A list of the special circumstances weeks selected for each commodity donated; and

(c) The type and volume of food donations from participating agricultural producers.

(5) This section expires on December 31, 2029.

Sec. 704. RCW 49.46.130 and 2021 c 249 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, no employer shall employ any of his or her employees for a workweek longer than forty hours unless such employee receives compensation for his or her employment in excess of the hours above specified at a rate not less than one and one-half times the regular rate at which he or she is employed.

(2) This section does not apply to:

(a) Any person exempted pursuant to RCW 49.46.010(3). The payment of compensation or provision of compensatory time off in addition to a salary shall not be a factor in determining whether a person is exempted under RCW 49.46.010(3)(c);

(b) Employees who request compensating time off in lieu of overtime pay;

(c) Any individual employed as a seaman whether or not the seaman is employed on a vessel other than an American vessel;

(d) Seasonal employees who are employed at concessions and recreational establishments at agricultural fairs, including those seasonal employees employed by agricultural fairs, within the state provided that the period of employment for any seasonal employee at any or all agricultural fairs does not exceed fourteen working days a year;

(e) Any individual employed as a motion picture projectionist if that employee is covered by a contract or collective bargaining agreement which regulates hours of work and overtime pay;

(f) An individual employed as a truck or bus driver who is subject to the provisions of the Federal Motor Carrier Act (49 U.S.C. Sec. 3101 et seq. and 49 U.S.C. Sec. 10101 et seq.), if the compensation system under which the truck or bus driver is paid includes overtime pay, reasonably equivalent to that required by this subsection, for working longer than forty hours per week;

(g) Any individual employed as an agricultural employee. This exemption from subsection (1) of this section applies only until December 31, 2021;

(h) Any industry in which federal law provides for an overtime payment based on a workweek other than forty hours. However, the provisions of the federal law regarding overtime payment based on a workweek other than forty hours shall nevertheless apply to employees covered by this section without regard to the existence of actual federal jurisdiction over the industrial activity of the particular employer within this state. For the purposes of this subsection, "industry" means a trade, business, industry, or other activity, or branch, or group thereof, in which individuals are gainfully employed (section 3(h) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (Public Law 93-259));

(j) Any individual licensed under chapter 18.85 RCW unless the individual is providing real estate brokerage services under a written contract with a real estate firm which provides that the individual is an employee. For purposes of this subsection (2)(j), "real estate brokerage services" and "real estate firm" mean the same as defined in RCW 18.85.011.

(3) No employer shall be deemed to have violated subsection (1) of this section by employing any employee of a retail or service establishment for a workweek in excess of the applicable workweek specified in subsection (1) of this section if:

In determining the proportion of compensation representing commissions, all earnings resulting from the application of a bona fide commission rate is to be deemed commissions on goods or services without regard to whether the computed commissions exceed the draw or guarantee.

(4) No employer of commissioned salespeople primarily engaged in the business of selling automobiles, trucks, recreational vessels, recreational vessel trailers, recreational vehicle trailers, recreational campers, manufactured housing, or farm implements to ultimate purchasers shall violate subsection (1) of this section with respect to such commissioned salespeople if the commissioned salespeople are paid the greater of:

(a) Compensation at the hourly rate, which may not be less than the rate required under RCW 49.46.020, for each hour worked up to forty hours per week, and compensation of one and one-half times that hourly rate for all hours worked over forty hours in one week; or

(b) A straight commission, a salary plus commission, or a salary plus bonus applied to gross salary.
