FIRST DAY

NOON SESSION

House Chamber, Olympia, Monday, January 13, 1997

The House of Representatives of the 1997 regular Session of the Fifty-Fifth Legislature was called to order at 12:00 Noon by the Chief Clerk of the Fifty-Fourth Legislature, Timothy A. Martin.

The Chief Clerk requested the Sergeant at Arms to escort the Members-elect to seats on the floor of the House.

The flag was escorted to the rostrum by the Joint Service Color Guard.

The National Anthem was sung by students of Zion Preparatory Academy, Seattle under the direction of Mar-Keeta Kinard and accompanied to Olympia by Mark Wheeler, Supervisor and the Dr. Reverend Eugene Drayton, Founder of Zion Preparatory Academy.

Prayer was offered by Reverend John Paul Clark, Wenatchee Free Methodist Church.

Heavenly Father,

We recognize your sovereign over our world, nation and state. We acknowledge you as the only wise God, the King eternal. We comprehend that you are the giver of every good and perfect gift.

I thank you Father for these men and women who are willing to serve in public office. A tremendous load of responsibility rests on their shoulders. Often their work will either be criticized or go unnoticed. I pray that you would give to every representative the strength and comfort of your presence.

In your Holy Word we read: "If anyone lacks wisdom he should ask God who gives generously to all." I pray Father, that you would give to the House of Representatives wisdom as they make decisions on behalf of their constituents.

The Bible says: "Who is wise? Let him show it by his good life, by deeds done in humility that comes from wisdom." Heavenly Father, please impart wisdom that is pure, peach loving, considerate, submissive, full of mercy and good fruit, impartial and sincere.

Finally, Lord when it is all said and done, may these public servants remember that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.

I pray these things in the strong name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Amen.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the third order of business.

If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, the member shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, and the case shall require it, the member shall be liable to the censure of the house.

Ending of Debate - Previous Question

Rule 18. The previous question may be ordered by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present on all recognized motions or amendments which are debatable.

The previous question is not debatable and cannot be amended.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Representative _____ demands the previous question. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'Aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'No'."

The results of the motion are as follows: If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative it shall have the effect of cutting off all debate and bringing the house to a direct vote upon the motion or amendment on which it has been ordered: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That when a bill is on final passage or when the motion to postpone indefinitely is pending, one of the sponsors of the bill or the chair of the committee may have the privilege of closing debate after the previous question has been ordered.

If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered, the motion or proposition on which the previous question was ordered shall be put to the house immediately following the approval of the journal on the next working day, thus making the main question privileged over all other business, whether new or unfinished.

Voting

Upon a division and count of the house on the question, only members at their desks within the bar of the house shall be counted.

(C) CHANGE OF VOTE. When the electric roll call machine is used, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the speaker has locked the roll call machine. When an oral roll call is taken, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the result has been announced.

A member who has a private interest in any bill or measure proposed or pending before the legislature shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon. (Art. II § 30)

The speaker may vote last when the yeas and nays are called.

When the vote is by electric voting machine or by oral roll call on any question, it shall be entered upon the journal of the house. A recorded vote may be compelled by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. A request for a recorded vote must be made before the vote is commenced.

(G) TIE VOTE, QUESTION LOSES. In case of an equal division, the question shall be lost.

(H) DIVISION. If the speaker is in doubt, or if division is called for by any member, the house shall divide.

Reconsideration

Rule 20. Notice of a motion for reconsideration on the final passage of bills shall be made on the day the vote to be reconsidered was taken and before the house has voted to transmit the bill to the senate.

A motion to reconsider an amendment may be made at any time the bill remains on second reading.

Any member who voted on the prevailing side may move for reconsideration or give notice thereof.

A motion to reconsider can be decided only once when decided in the negative.

When a motion to reconsider has been carried, its effect shall be to place the original question before the house in the exact position it occupied before it was voted upon.

Call of the House

Rule 21. One-sixth (1/6) of the members present may demand a call of the house at any time before the house has divided or the voting has commenced by yeas and nays.

(A) DOORS TO BE CLOSED. When call of the house has been ordered, the sergeant at arms shall close and lock the doors, and no member shall be allowed to leave the chamber: PROVIDED, That the rules committee shall be allowed to meet, upon request of the speaker, while the house stands at ease: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That the speaker may permit members to use such portions of the fourth floor as may be properly secured.

(B) SERGEANT AT ARMS TO BRING IN THE ABSENTEES. The clerk shall immediately call a roll of the members and note the absentees, whose names shall be read and entered upon the journal in such manner as to show who are excused and who are absent without leave.

The clerk shall furnish the sergeant at arms with a list of those who are absent without leave, and the sergeant at arms shall proceed to bring in such absentees; but arrests of members for absence shall not be made unless ordered by a majority of the members present.

(C) HOUSE UNDER CALL. While the house is under a call, no business shall be transacted except to receive and act on the report of the sergeant at arms; and no other motion shall be in order except a motion to proceed with business under the call of the house or a motion to excuse absentees. The motion to excuse absent members shall not be adopted unless a majority of the members elected vote in favor thereof.

Appeal from Decision of Chair

Rule 22. The decision of the chair may be appealed from by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once unless by leave of the house. In all cases of appeal, the question shall be: "Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the house?"

Representative Lisk moved adoption of the resolution.

Representatives Lisk and Chopp spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

House Resolution No. 4600 was adopted.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

The Chief Clerk announced that nominations were in order for Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Representative K. Schmidt: The election of the Speaker of the House reflects much about the people who serve in this chamber. The principles and character of the Speaker not only reflect on the individual selected but also on all of us as well as upon the institution. In my 16 years, I have served with six different speakers each of whom had their own style. Some were dictatorial and tried to impose their own will over the deliberations while others sought more of a consensus. Some were sticklers for decorum while others were not. Nearly all were protective of the integrity of the institution understanding that the institution was more important than any single issue of the moment.

Our founding fathers placed such importance on the role of Speaker that they even provided a method for selecting a leader from outside the elected membership in the event that a viable candidate was not available. In the last 54 legislatures it has not been necessary to look outside the membership of the House of Representatives. Even in 1978-80, when the House was equally divided a co-speakership was created. Now, as we begin the fifty-fifth legislature we have an excellent proven leader that will provide the quiet leadership and dignity demanded of a great speaker.

To be a leader of leaders requires a number of qualities. First and foremost integrity. To build the trust necessary to develop a consensus the people you work with must know that you are dealing with them fairly and your word is your bond. As any of us who have worked with Clyde can tell you if Clyde gives you his word on something you can take it to the bank.

Clyde does not dictate policy, but instead uses the talents and abilities of the membership to draft the best response possible. The role of the Speaker is not just to standup and preside during floor sessions but to keep the business of the legislature flowing. Ninety percent of what we do is agreed upon by both parties and merely requires the efficient passage of the legislation. Five percent of what we do is agreed upon policy but we may have differences as to how we respond. Compromises must be developed. Five percent are philosophical differences which provoke our most spirited debates and require a leader with patience and fairness allowing all sides to state their case. Clyde has shown, over and over again that he has the patience, sense of humor and fairness to allow every member to have their say.

Each of us brings a wealth of experience to these chambers Clyde came from the humblest of beginnings as the son of a sharecropper in Arkansas. His parents eventually moved either to find better conditions or perhaps recognized that Arkansas isn't big enough for TWO budding political careers. I just wonder if our Speaker was ever knows as Bubba Ballard Backlund then?

As a career, Clyde operated an ambulance service. The hours were terrible, and he worked with people who were at their most vulnerable. With the help and support of his wife Ruth, he became a success in his business, and was a strong family man raising three sons. Clyde is a living example of the American Dream where even a sharecroppers' son can raise himself up through opportunity and hard work. When we debate the plight of the poor, he knows first hand what that means. When we discuss ways to strengthen the family he knows the importance of giving parents the tools to help them raise good kids. When we develop policies to keep our businesses healthy so they can produce the jobs we will need for our families, Clyde understands what it means to make a payroll.

As Speaker, it would be very easy to preside in Olympia and have the state come to you but that is not Clyde's style. He has logged thousands of miles crisscrossing Washington to speak to citizens, attend meetings and respond to requests from members who ask him to join them at forums in their districts. This practice has not only brought the stature of the Speakership to far flung districts from Port Angeles to Kettle Falls but it has also made Clyde aware of the issues and needs in all of our regions.

During the 54th legislature, there was a great deal of speculation about how long it would take for our caucus to blow apart thus making it impossible for any work to get done. It did not happen in large measure through the personal efforts of Clyde. It is not secret that our caucus has a VERY diverse membership. We have very conservative members as well as moderates and liberals. The legislature is a place where very diverse ideas are discussed reflecting that diversity is healthy but it also provides a challenge for the Speaker and leadership to keep all of us on track. Clyde's patience and respect for everyone's opinion has allowed all of the diverse views to be heard. Not all are adopted but everyone has had a chance to make their case. Not all Speakers would have allowed this because it is time consuming and dicey but Clyde doesn't believe in shutting people out of the process but rather trying to include as many as possible with a variety of views.

The man that will lead us for the next two years will be a credit to use and the institution as he brings his good humor, patience, compassion, respect, dignity, hard work and integrity to the job.

It is my pleasure to nominate Jeffrey Clyde Ballard as Speaker of the 55th Legislature.

Representative Lisk: Traditionally, those who rise to nominate one of their colleagues for speaker of the House try to provide a description — paint a portrait, if you will — of the leader who will preside over this chamber in the coming months. Most often, this is done by outlining the personal history of that individual, and, usually, it's one that illustrates dedication and honesty and demonstrates perseverance and hard work — those qualities we recognize as defining strong personal character. Well, as the son of migrant workers who, along with the support of his wife, Ruth, built a successful small business, raised a wonderful family and always took advantage of opportunities to serve his community, Clyde Ballard, the private citizen, certainly has the personal history that foots that bill.

But Clyde Ballard, the public servant, has now spent 14 years as a member of the Washington state Legislature. As you know, he represents the people of north central Washington. But Clyde also understands that he serves all of the citizens of our state. And I think it's the qualities he has continually demonstrated during this public life that truly define the man I am proud to support today as speaker.

This is the first day of the 55th state Legislature in Washington. And if we take a moment to reflect Backlund upon those who have gathered in this chamber before us, we can be proud of the legacy of character, compassion and dedication that has defined the individuals who have served here. Through the years, issues come and issues go. And I don't mean to trivialize the importance of the work we do.

This year, for example, our priorities include: creating a more efficient, more productive state government one that is more responsive to the people it serves; rebuilding a welfare system based on individual responsibility and accountability; protecting our streets, neighborhoods and communities from crime; ensuring our kids are prepared with the basic academic skills they'll need for success; and promoting an economic climate that creates and protects good family-wage jobs.

Of course, these issues are important and how we address them is critical to the future of the state of Washington. But, when all is said and done and we pass this chamber onto those who will come behind us, it is not our response to the issues of this day that people will remember. No what they will remember is the kind of leaders that we were and the manner in which we conducted ourselves while working out our differences of opinion. Will we leave them the will and conviction to continue on? Did we continue that legacy of character, compassion and dedication?

That's why it's such a privilege for me to second the nomination of Clyde Ballard for speaker of the House because, to me, Clyde Ballard has always represented the very essence of this legacy. Clyde's service to the people of this state has been based on principle and marked by a dedication and willingness to share and live what he believes.

When I first met Clyde in 1986, his fourth year in Olympia, it was when I asked him to come speak to a community group I was involved with in Zillah. He and Ruth drove to Zillah and back to Olympia the same day during session. I met them at the Cherry Patch and, while there, he changed clothes in their van. Since then, Clyde has logged literally hundreds of thousands of miles in the air and over this state's highways in an effort to share his vision for the future of Washington, a vision that is based upon strong basic principles from which he has never wavered.

He has made many sacrifices along the way. And I want to take this opportunity to say thanks to his wife, Ruth, their three sons, Jeff, Shawn and Scott, and their families. Thank you from all of us here and from all of the citizens of Washington for the sacrifices your family has made over the years in loaning us your husband and father.

But just as important as his dedication to his own principles, Clyde Ballard's tenure as speaker of this House has been based on integrity and marked with fairness and respect for the personal beliefs of each one of his colleagues. Clyde understands the critical roles that each one of us plays in this debate — that it's important we all have the opportunity to voice the ideas and concerns of those we represent. And, as speaker, he has worked hard to develop a process based upon respect and cooperation.

Because make no mistake. The public is watching us. It's critical that we make them proud of this institution that we continue its legacy by treating each other with dignity and respect — especially during those times when we passionately disagree — and by being leaders who demonstrate character, compassion and dedication. You will find no better example of this legacy and I can think of no one better to lead us in such a public debate as speaker of the House than Clyde Ballard.

Representative Chopp: Thank you, Mr. Chief Clerk. I would like to place the nomination of Marlin Appelwick before the House. There are at least three characteristics that distinguish a great candidate for Speaker. First, a true commitment to the House of Representatives. Second, a real ability to bring people together, whether Republican or Democrat. And third, a significant record of accomplishments. Marlin Appelwick exemplifies these traits and would make a tremendous Speaker.

Let me amplify on his record of accomplishments. He has been a practicing attorney for sixteen years, and a professional mediator and negotiator which is actually great training for being Speaker of the House of Representatives. Representative Appelwick was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1982, the same year as the other well known candidate for this office. He chaired the Judiciary Committee for six years, the Revenue Committee for two years and was a member of the Appropriations Committee for twelve years. During his legislative service, Marlin Appelwick authored a significant volume of legislation including the Omnibus Drug Act, which led to Referendum 43 so overwhelmingly approved by the voters not to long ago, the Community Protection Act, legal services for low income people, and several constitutional amendments.

Representative Appelwick, in 1994, brought together Democrats and Republicans in equal number to debate and discuss juvenile justice reform. As a result, a bipartisan proposal came out of committee to pass through the House by overwhelming numbers. This was a good lesson from which we could learn today. Throughout all his efforts, Marlin has exhibited a strong respect for this institution, a real willingness to listen and an ability to get things done.

But above all, Marlin remembers what being here on the first day of Session means. Marlin's energy, commitment and challenge would serve us well as Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Representative Appelwick: Thank you, Mr. Chief Clerk. I rise first to say thank you to Representative Chopp for his nomination and kind words. I rise also to say thank you to my caucus for again giving me the privilege of being their leader; it's a humbling honor that I cherish very deeply. I rise to say thank you to my family for their sacrifices. I rise to quote Speaker- nominee Ballard; "I must admit to you that I would prefer our roles were reversed". Barring that reversal, I would have welcomed standing at the rostrum, shoulder to shoulder with Representative Ballard, each firmly gripping one handle of a wish boned gavel, ringing out progress with every strike but that is not to be.

Wishes are secondary to the importance of how this institution conducts itself and to what is accomplished. Leadership is very important. And of my classmate of twelve years, I can say, he is clearly a man that respects the institution, and he respects the minority party and its role within that institution. He has been personally open, frank and helpful. He is filled with integrity, and he is gracious in the best sense of the House and I would like you to support a man who would have been a great Minority leader, but who will continue to be our fine Speaker in the best traditions. I ask you to support Clyde Ballard, Speaker of the House.

SPEAKER'S ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

Mr. Speaker: As a point of personal privilege, I wish to thank my wife, my sons and my family for their continuing support and backing. It has been my honor to serve as speaker of this House for the past two years and I consider it a tremendous privilege to be entrusted with the responsibility of leading this chamber for the next two years. Assuming the duties of speaker of the House requires a dedication and commitment to protecting the institution and ensuring its integrity on behalf of both the members and the citizens we serve.

Protecting the integrity of the House of Representatives and, more important, preserving the public's trust in all of us is the my highest duty. It is a duty I pledge to carry out diligently and to the very best of my ability. I thank you for the confidence you have shown me, the trust you have placed in me, and — above all else — the friendship we share.

To Minority Leader Marlin Appelwick and the members of the minority caucus, it has been a pleasure to work with you and to have you as friends. I look forward to working with you in this session. As we come Backlund into session and begin grappling with the many issues before us, it is very easy to become absorbed in the importance — or PERCEIVED importance — of what we do here. It is all too easy to take ourselves too seriously and to attach too much importance to the battles we fight. But it is valuable to put our efforts in perspective, to help ourselves remember those things that are truly important that is, those things that have a direct effect upon the people and families of this state.

Over the past several weeks we have seen a series of natural disasters create danger and cause tragedy in our communities throughout this state. When confronted with forces beyond our control that leave people homeless or facing the threat of losing their home, that leave families without heat and power or struggling to put food on the table, it makes us all more aware of the fragile nature of the lives we enjoy and the lives we want all of our fellow citizens to enjoy. I spent many hours over several days on the roof of our house trying to shovel off enough ice and snow to keep it from collapsing and destroying our home and we were among the fortunate ones who had a chance to prevent a disaster. Unfortunately, all of us here today know friends, relatives and neighbors who had no chance, who did face disaster and must now deal with tragic circumstances. Compared to the necessity of helping our neighbors and taking action to assist all of those in need, the debates and fights we engage in within the legislative process lose much of the importance we are tempted to attach to them.

This is a reminder to all of us that we will serve our constituents better if we limit the self importance we are sometimes tempted to attach to our work here or to ourselves, if we keep in mind that our legislative services are not always the most significant part of the lives of Washingtonians, and if we steadfastly hold to the idea that the most important things we do are those that will directly affect the lives of those we represent and make their lives a little better. As we focus upon those issues and problems that directly affect the livelihood and well being of the individuals and families we serve, and as we approach the dawning of a new century that we know will bring with it both new challenges and new opportunities, I am also hopeful that we can bring forth a new spirit in this Legislature — a spirit of resolve to come together in finding the best ways to meet the challenges and seize the opportunities that lie before us.

The legacy I would choose for those of us serving in this new Legislature is that we look beyond the immediate proposals and measures we will consider to begin laying the foundation for a broader effort to accomplish real change positive change that will make life better for all the people of Washington. Making this legacy a reality will require the kind of new spirit I'm talking about, in which we look beyond the details that may spark disagreement and really zero in on the objectives we hope to achieve and upon which we agree. I believe that by concentrating on our shared desire and commitment to reach a common goal for the good of society we can better work together in our efforts to forge legislation that achieve those goals.

Let me share just one example of the vision I have in mind. Our ability to improve the quality of education we provide and strengthen the teaching of our children will have an incredible effect upon what life is like in the coming century. We must do a better job of ensuring that students leave school with the fundamental skills and basic knowledge they need, otherwise they will be woefully unprepared to face the challenges of our changing society and ill-equipped to take advantage of the new opportunities to come.

Let me bluntly state the fact that we all know exists today: We are allowing too many youngsters to move through the public school system and come out with a degree that means little or nothing and makes it incredibly difficult for employers to find and hire the productive workers they need. Even worse, we are seeing too many youngsters get through the process without ever learning the skills or obtaining the knowledge they need to have a chance at a good and fruitful life. Now, we all know that strong steps must be taken to make a high school diploma mean something, that we must do more to encourage students to reach higher and strive for more. We all know that decisive action must be taken to ensure that students are taught, and that they receive, the academic skills and knowledge a EARN a degree. We all know that significant changes must be made so that we can be certain that students are learning the skills they need as they move through each grade.

These are needs we all recognize and we share a common commitment to address these needs. That is where our attention must be focused, because by doing so, we can greatly enhance our ability to overcome whatever differences we might have over the details of specific proposals.

Clearly, the solutions that will completely restore our education system to the health, vitality and quality demanded by the citizens of Washington will not be found in legislation that will be passed this year, or even next, but by concentrating on the common objective we share we can begin making needed changes and bringing them to fruition in time to change our society for the better as the new century arrives. As we look at all of the issues before us during the next 105 days, we must, of course, confront the differences in outlook and philosophy that exists among us. Yet, we must always strive to look beyond the differences and embrace the common goals we share. I believe this attitude is important not only in our deliberations within the Legislature, but also in our relationship with the governor. And by choosing to embrace the hopes and desires we have in common, we will make it much easier to overcome the differences over how best to reach our shared objectives.

That is the surest way to get the results we all want to deliver to our constituents. It is the surest way to not only preserve, but also increase, the public's confidence and trust in this institution. And that is a responsibility we all share.

Again, I thank you for your confidence, your trust and your friendship. Let's have a great session.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Appelwick: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I would like an opportunity to reflect on your remarks, and to share a vision from our caucus on this Session as well. We welcome the invitation to a new legacy, and to an era of progress. No one can come through the campaign experience and the journey here without appreciating that the problems faced by the people of this State far out strip the apparent resources we have to address them or our abilities in the time we have to tend to them. Only is progress possible if we are not wasting the moments on unnecessary fights - unnecessary missed opportunities. Only is significant progress for the people possible if in fact we stand shoulder to shoulder and arm in arm, and embrace what is possible and concentrate on success. Our pledge talks about liberty and it talks about justice for all. We must keep, in the spirit of your legacy, that in mind; that it is not a partisan kind of liberty or a partisan kind of justice. We stand to represent one state and one people. The merits of ideas are not in the sponsor or the proponent but in the ideas themselves. Honest discourse of give and take is possible. Because this is of great concern, your invitation to this new legacy is extremely welcomed. We should all be mindful that we want to leave this a better institution and a better State than we come to it today with our Oath. I am sure we can recall examples in the best when we have risen to greatness in that tradition. When the Sex

Predator Act was required in 1990. In the House version of Juvenile Justice, we didn't do things because we had the numbers to do them, we did them because we needed the talents of everyone to do them right. I welcome an opportunity to share that kind of process with you, Mr. Speaker and with your caucus.

I would like to leave one final thought with you. Reflecting on something said by a Senator from my home state of Minnesota, because I think this is a test I would like us to pass with flying colors. That in our new legacy the fundamental moral test of us as a government would be how we treat the children who are in the dawn of life, the elderly who are in the twilight of life and those who are in the shadows of life, the sick, the needy and the disabled. And if we come with that focus on progress, that moral center, for these people and our commitment to work together as we have in the recent past we should do great things with your leadership, Mr. Speaker

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The Speaker announced that nominations were now in order for Speaker Pro Tempore.

Representative Carlson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I would like to place the nomination for Speaker Pro Tem of John Pennington, before the House. John, born slightly more than thirty years ago in Nashville Tennessee, has a recognition of the commitments which are made, and which are needed for leadership in the House of Representatives. He and his wife, Valerie, married for six years, now live in Battleground, one of our growing emerging communities of Southwest Washington. He started in this area as a business person in the Timbertown Coffee Company with a $700 federal income tax refund. He first entered the political arena as a chairperson of the Cowlitz County 601 campaign, and in 1995 was awarded the 1995 Washington State Young Republican Man of the Year award. He continues to manage a small tree farm. He is an outdoorsman and a musician. I have found John to be a warm and energetic person. He will bring to the Speaker Pro Tem position an enthusiasm and a sense of humor, which we will all have a chance to respect and enjoy. I believe he brings to this position, a maturing human resource, which will grow as the office continues to provide him an opportunity to lead. I believe he clearly has gained the respect of both sides of the aisle, as he often times seeks the council of members of both sides of the aisle. I am pleased to nominate a true friend and colleague, John Pennington.

Representative McMorris: It is with great pleasure and pride that I offer the name of State Representative John Pennington to serve as Speaker Pro Tem for the Washington State House of Representatives.

To be nominated for such an important position is a significant tribute to the abilities and accomplishments of any legislator, particularly one who has just completed his first term in office. Anyone who has worked with Representative Pennington can attest to his strong work ethic, his dedication to the legislative process, and the conviction with which he serves the people of this state and, more particularly, the people of his district. In his first term in the House, Representative Pennington has acquired a reputation for undertaking projects that require long hours, hard work, and coalition building.

As one who has worked with Representative Pennington on many pieces of legislation about which we both cared deeply. I can testify to his strength of character, his depth of knowledge on the issues important to his constituents, and his diligence in sticking to his principles as a matter of conscience and honor. You only have to look at the record particularly in his dealings encouraging employment growth in Washington, reducing taxes on small businesses, and protecting Second Amendment rights. Probably the one key issue Representative Pennington is best known for is his perseverance in streamlining government to better meet the needs of the people of this state. In the past two years I have worked closely with Representative Pennington. I have come to know him and to fully appreciate his many excellent qualities which make him a remarkably effective legislator and which assure his performance as an outstanding Speaker Pro Tem.

MOTIONS

On motion of Representative Lisk, the nominations for Speaker Pro Tempore were closed.

On motion of Representative Lisk, a unanimous ballot was cast for Representative John Pennington as Speaker Pro Tempore of the House.

COMMITTEE OF HONOR

The Speaker appointed Representatives Mielke and Mason to escort Speaker Pro Tempore Pennington to the rostrum.

Justice Guy administered the oath of office to Speaker Pro Tempore Pennington.

SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE PENNINGTON REMARKS

Representative Pennington: Thank you so very much. Justice Guy, Speaker Ballard, Minority Leader Appelwick, friends and distinguished colleagues of this House, Mom and Dad. I am most humbled by the confidence you have placed in this young man of thirty years. Thank you so much.

To Representative Carlson and Representative McMorris, I thank you for those warm and kind remarks. Don and Cathy, you have both become good friends to me and to Valerie.

I stand prepared, Speaker Ballard, to assist you in presiding over this assembly at your will. And I look forward to listening and, more important, to learning from your great wisdom and experience in guiding this House. It truly is an honor (and I thank you).

My wife and best friend, Valerie, to me is the most lovely and charming young lady in all the world. At the age of 19 she helped begin her first small business, and a year later her second. She exhibited through the trials and tribulations of founding those businesses that someone her age can contribute in a positive way to the economy of this state. All the same, I have discovered in six years of marriage that she would also do quite well within the confines of this capitol for she has demonstrated that she can be very persuasive and is a great debater. A good example of this is the fact that she refused to marry me until I became a Republican. (Love can cast strange spells.) Of course, by now you know she won.

The point is this that it is often said that the collective youth of this nation has revealed itself as a generation lacking direction and purpose a generation described as nothing more than "lost." Here today I cannot help but to disagree. For to glance at Washington state from the outside, even to glance around this very chamber, reveals what you and I as Washingtonians already know that our youth are not only America's future, but have indeed become a significant part of leading America and Washington today. They have become our fifth grade teachers, local police officers and increasingly our small business owners. They are Representative Brad Benson, who along with his wife Jill, own and operate an Ice Cream Parlor in the Spokane area. They are Representative Brian Hatfield, who along with his wife Freddie, began a Child Care Facility on the coast. They are Representative Richard DeBolt, one of, if not the youngest, directors of a Chamber of Commerce in the state of Washington.

Most people are amazed to discover that these newest small businesses are overwhelming being founded and operated by that same "lost" generation. The fact is Washington's youth are demonstrating that the entrepreneurial spirit is not only alive but with proper encouragement and incentives can thrive beyond our wildest imaginations. And just as that entrepreneurial spirit has evolved, so too has the willingness of these same individuals to involve themselves in the political process evolved. It confirms our every belief that these new energetic leaders are becoming role models, not only for the youth of America, but for the youth of this ever-changing world.

And in America's greatest process of all democracy, I believe that this younger generation is trying to show that, despite our philosophical differences, there exists between us a shared desire to see Washington truly become a better place. That we share an innate duty to the brave pioneers who have come before us and to those that may follow in our footsteps to govern in a way that offers as much liberty, hope, and opportunity as can be responsibly afforded to any one individual.

As we traverse these final shadows that mark the end of the most productive, technologically creative and arguably destructive century in mankind's history, I still today find the greatest of comfort in knowing that I shall be a part be it only a small part of this upcoming legislative session, working with intelligent, compassionate, and enthusiastic leaders such as yourselves toward the dawn of the 21st century.

I appreciate this opportunity you have given me to serve you and I accept the responsibilities and the trust you have placed in me. I graciously accept this challenge and offer to you three things:

fairness, always a willingness to listen, and above all integrity for we are all too often reminded that the only thing we bring into this chamber is our integrity, and once it is lost it may never be retrieved. From the very bottom of my heart thank you.

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK

The Speaker announced that nominations were in order for Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Representative Robertson: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, I rise to nominate Timothy A. Martin for Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

When I was elected in 1994 and even today, one of my pledges to the people of my district is to limit the size of government and its spending. During the past two years, the House of Representatives has led by example regarding the size and spending of this agency. This, Mr. Speaker, was a team effort by all of the members and staff in the House, but the coach was clearly Tim Martin. Mr. Martin and his staff worked diligently to ensure only a minimal number of essential employees were maintained and only essential purchases were made. We now have about 100 less employees than we did in 1991, the lowest FTE count in the House since 1987.

While we are definitely operating in a lean fashion, we also have made advances in areas to make the House more efficient. Under Mr. Martin's leadership, the House has upgraded its computers and its computer system to one that supports our mission. The public can access the House members and bills with its web page and internet access. With all of these accomplishments, the House turned back $2.68 million, 11% of the House budget in 1996, to the state general fund. While making the tough decisions, I have found Mr. Martin to be a pleasure to work with. The morale amongst the employees is outstanding and productive, even with some of the staff and equipment reductions.

On a personal note, I want to recognize that Mrs. Kim Martin is with us today. Those of us that were here two years ago, when Tim was first elected Chief Clerk, may recall that Kim had a sudden departure from the ceremony. It seems that their son, Gust, wanted to join us on opening day — yes, Kim went into labor during the opening ceremony and left for the hospital. After Tim was sworn in, Gust was born and joined his brother, Max. Today, Kim is here to see Tim be elected Chief Clerk, and we are hoping this ceremony will be less eventful. Gust still did not get to attend.

I urge the members of this body to support Mr. Martin's re-election, so he may continue to lead our outstanding staff in this responsible manner for another two years.

Representative Romero: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise to second the nomination of Tim Martin. I've known Tim for two years. When I first saw him, I thought what's this well-scrubbed, clean cut young man doing here. He looks more like he should work for Disneyland than this body. Then I had to think for one second, he does fit.

I must admit that I have enjoyed working with Tim. He has been real fair minded and even handed when he has dealt with all of us. I think we can all agree with that. And as one of the more conservative members of this body, I can say that I do appreciate some of the cost saving measures he has implemented. Now what I really appreciate about Tim besides his fairness and even handedness is that he has truly taken the time to get to know all the staff that work here. It has meant a great deal to them, it has really helped a lot with moral and I think the place is a better place for that technique. And so with that, I would like to second the nomination and encourage a unanimous vote for Tim Martin. Thank you.

MOTIONS

On motion of Representative Lisk, the nominations for Chief Clerk were closed.

On motion of Representative Lisk, a unanimous ballot was cast for Timothy A. Martin as Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Justice Guy administered the oath of office to Chief Clerk Martin.

CHIEF CLERK MARTIN'S REMARKS

Chief Clerk Martin: Thank you, Mr. Speaker and Representatives Robertson and Romero for your kind comments.

I cannot tell you how pleased I am to have the honor of serving you another two years. I am flattered, because your message to me today is that after two years of on-the-job training, I may at last be suitable for the job of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

In the months to come, you will be challenged to meet the high expectations placed on this body by the citizens of Washington State. My experience tells me that Washington will not be disappointed. I join with all of House staff in committing that we will do our best to support you as you seek to do the public good.

On a personal note, I would like to thank my wife, Kim, for joining me this year. My moment in the sun two years ago, Kim left the floor in labor. Kim and our boys, Max and Gust, are my life, and I thank them in advance for their indulgence over the next few months.

Congratulations to each and every one of you and to your families. I look forward to working with you. Thank you.

The Speaker thanked Justice Guy.

Accordingly, pursuant to the provisions of Article II, section 1 of the State Constitution, we are provisionally certifying Initiative to the Legislature Number 192 to you at this time. We expect to complete verification of signatures no later than February 11, 1997 and we will provide the Legislature with a final certification as soon as possible thereafter.

I, Ralph Munro, Secretary of State of the State of Washington and custodian of its seal, hereby certify that, according to the records on file in my office, the attached copy of Initiative Measure No. 192 to the Legislature is a true and correct copy as it was received by this office.

AN ACT Relating to health plans; adding a new section to chapter 48.43 RCW; and creating a new section.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The purpose of section 2 of this act is to expand access to health care providers so that Washington state residents, not the government or health insurance companies, select health care providers for themselves and their families.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 48.43 RCW to read as follows:
Every health plan delivered, issued for delivery, or renewed by a health carrier on and after July 1, 1998:

(1)(a) Shall permit every individual doctor, as defined below, to provide health services or care for conditions to the extent that:

(i) The provision of such health services or care is within the doctor's scope of practice; and

(ii) The doctor agrees to abide by standards related to:

(A) Provision, utilization review, and cost containment of health services;

(B) Management and administrative procedures; and

(C) Provision of cost-effective and clinically efficacious health services; and,

(iii) The plan covers the condition or provides the service.

(b) For purposes of this section, the term "doctor" means doctor of podiatric medicine and surgery licensed under chapter 18.22 RCW, doctor of chiropractic licensed under chapter 18.25 RCW, doctor of naturopathy licensed under chapter 18.36A RCW, doctor of optometry licensed under chapter 18.53 RCW, doctor of osteopathic medicine and surgery licensed under chapter 18.57 RCW, doctor of pharmacy or pharmacist licensed under chapter 18.64 RCW, doctor of medicine licensed under chapter 18.71 RCW, and doctor of psychology licensed under chapter 18.83 RCW. This subsection (1) shall not apply to a health maintenance organization to the extent that it directly employs doctors.

(2) May include patient cost-sharing requirements, gatekeeper or referral requirements, or any other managed care provisions, only to assure efficient delivery of health care services. Such requirements or provisions may not discriminate unfairly against any category of provider included in the plan and must be written and applied on a substantially fair and uniform basis among all health care providers included in the plan.

There being no objection, Initiative Number 192 was referred to the Committee on Health Care.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

of the State of Washington on

Petitions for the Formation of New Counties

Secretary of State Ralph Munro
Legislative Building

INTRODUCTION AND EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Between April of 1995 and November of 1996, four separate groups of voters submitted petitions to the state Legislature to create new counties within Washington state (as provided under Article 11, section 3, of the state Constitution). The four proposed new counties (as identified by their respective proponents) are:

Cedar -- in eastern King County -- for which signature petitions were submitted on February 28, September 16, and November 4, 1996;

Freedom -- in northern and northeastern Snohomish county -- for which signature petitions were submitted on April 23, 1995, and on October 31, 1996;

Pioneer -- in northwestern Whatcom county -- for which signature petitions were submitted on January 31, September 16, and November 4, 1996; and Skykomish -- in southeastern Snohomish county and northeastern King county - for which signature petitions were submitted on March 6, May 30, September 16, and November 4, 1996.

The Chief Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate transmitted the petitions to the Secretary of State with the request that we examine the signatures on each of the formation petitions and report the results of those examinations to the Legislature. Although there are no implementing statutes governing the petition process for the formation of new counties referred to in the state Constitution or providing for the verification of the signatures on the formation petitions for new counties (by either state or local election officials), the Secretary of State agreed, with the assistance of local election officials in the areas where the new counties were proposed, to compare the signatures on the formation petitions to the voter registration records of those counties. A more detailed discussion of the historical and legal precedents on which this approach is based is included in the body of this report.

The examination of the signatures on the formation petitions for these four new counties indicates that these petitions contain the following numbers of signatures of registered voters who reside within the territory of the respective proposed counties:

Number of signatures of registered voters residing within proposed Cedar county 23,765

Number of signatures of registered voters residing within proposed Freedom county 9,558

Number of signatures of registered voters residing within proposed Pioneer county 4,134

Number of signatures of registered voters residing within proposed Skykomish county 7,193

More detailed information on the petitions submitted in support of each of the proposed new counties is included in the body of this report. The report also discusses some legal issues raised by the proponents of the new counties during the examination of the petitions.

Our experience with these formation petitions dramatically demonstrates the need for the Legislature to adopt implementing statutes governing the formation of new counties as provided in the state Constitution. There are too many unanswered questions about this process. The absence of a clear statutory process is unfair to the proponents of new counties, as well as those who may be opposed to those formations. The lack of statutory standards has also complicated the job of this office and the local election officials who assisted us. I recommend that the Legislature give the highest priority to legislation on the formation of new counties.

REPORT ON PROPOSED CEDAR COUNTY

On February 28, 1996, Ms. Lois Y. Gustafson submitted petition sheets containing approximately 23,625 signatures to the Legislature in support of the formation of a new county, to be named Cedar county, out of a portion of the eastern part of the existing territory of King county. A letter regarding the legal description of the boundaries of proposed Cedar county is included as part of Appendix 1 to this report.

The Secretary of State arranged for the Division of Records and Elections in King county to compare the signatures on these petitions to the voter registration records of King county and report the results of that examination. Information about the legal description of the proposed county was added to the voter registration information of the county for the purposes of this examination. The Division of Records and Elections determined that there were 97,226 registered voters in the area of the proposed county at the time that the petitions were submitted.

The results of the examination of these petitions by the Division of Records and Elections in King county are summarized in the following table:

Petition to Form Cedar County (2-28-96):

Signatures on the petition or petitions 23,798

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (5,174)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (2,432)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 16,192

Also on February 28, Ms. Gustafson submitted four small petitions each of which requested that additional territory be added to the proposed county for which the larger petition had been circulated. There was a batch of two petitions containing twelve signatures for one area presumably adjacent to the territory of proposed Cedar county, a batch of twenty-three petitions containing seventy-seven signatures for a second area, one petition containing seven signatures for a third area, and a batch of nine petitions containing one hundred sixteen signatures for a fourth area.

Presumably, these additional petitions were each signed by voters living in the respective regions which were requesting to be added to proposed Cedar county. Since there are no statutes permitting, prohibiting, or governing petitions for the addition of areas to a proposed new county, the Secretary of State has retained these four batches of petitions subject to further instructions from the Legislature.

On September 16, 1996, Ms. Gustafson submitted an additional batch of formation petitions for proposed Cedar county containing approximately 11,321 signatures. On November 4, 1996, she submitted a third batch of petitions containing approximately 66 signatures in support of the formation of proposed Cedar county.

There are no statutes permitting, prohibiting, or governing the submission of supplemental petitions for the formation of new counties. However, groups of petitions of this size would have no relevance unless the Legislature decides to consider them as part of the previous petition or petitions submitted by the same proponents. For proposed Cedar county (and each of the other three proposed counties), the Secretary of State decided to examine the signatures on the subsequent batches of petitions and provide the Legislature with the results of the examination of those signatures separately from and then combined with the totals for all petitions for that county.

The Secretary of State compared the signatures on these batches of petitions for proposed Cedar county to the voter registration records used for the verification of initiatives and referendum to determine which signatures on the petition were those of registered voters in King county and to records provided by the Division of Records and Elections to determine if those persons were registered to vote at addresses within proposed Cedar county. Subsequently, the Division of Records and Elections in King county compared the signatures of the registered voters within proposed Cedar county to voter registration records containing the results of the examination of the petition submitted on February 28 to determine which registered voters had signed both petitions.

The results of the combined examination of these petitions by the Secretary of State and King county are summarized in the table at the top of the following page:

Petitions to Form Cedar County (9-16-96 and 11-4-96):

Signatures on the petition or petitions 11,447

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (2,204)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (1,670)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 7,573 -----

On November 4, Ms. Gustafson also submitted two more batches of petitions to add additional territories to proposed Cedar county. There was a batch of five petitions containing twenty-seven signatures for one area and a batch of three petitions containing thirty-two signatures for a second area. The Secretary of State has retained these two batches of petitions subject to further instructions from the Legislature.

The combined results of the examination of the signatures on all of the petitions submitted by the proponents of proposed Cedar county are summarized in the following table:

Combined Petitions to Form Cedar County:

Signatures on the petition or petitions 35,245

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (7,378)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (4,102)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 23,765 _____

REPORT ON PROPOSED FREEDOM COUNTY

On April 23, 1995, Mr. Peter J. Poeschel submitted petition sheets to the Legislature in support of the formation of a new county, to be named Freedom county, out of a portion of the northern and northeastern part of the existing territory of Snohomish county. A legal description of the boundaries of the proposed county is included as part of Appendix 1 to this report.

The Secretary of State arranged for the County Auditor in Snohomish county to compare the signatures on these petitions to the voter registration records of Snohomish county and report the results of that examination. Information about the legal description of the proposed county was added to the voter registration information of the county for the purposes of this examination. The County Auditor determined that there were 30,569 registered voters in the area of the proposed county at the time that the petitions were submitted.

On June 7, 1995, the Snohomish County Auditor reported to the Secretary of State the results of his examination of these petitions. On June 8, the Secretary of State transmitted these results to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the State Senate. When petitions for a second proposed county to be formed, in part, out of existing territory in Snohomish county were submitted the following year, the Secretary of State and the Snohomish County Auditor decided to re-examine the formation petitions for Freedom county to insure that consistent procedures were used for examining petitions for all of the proposed counties and to respond to questions from the proponents about signatures where the address information on the petition was incomplete or conflicted with the information on residence address in the voter registration file.

The results of the examination of this first batch of petitions by the County Auditor in Snohomish county are summarized in the table on the top of the following page:

Petition to Form Freedom County (4-23-95):

Signatures on the petition or petitions 12,439

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (2,722)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (804)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 8,913

On October 31, 1996, Mr. Poeschel submitted an additional batch of formation petitions for proposed Freedom county. This group of petitions contained approximately 1,256 signatures. The Secretary of State compared the signatures on these batches of petitions for proposed Freedom county to the voter registration records of Snohomish county (using a network connection with Snohomish county developed and tested during the verification of state initiatives and referendums earlier this year). The results of the examination of these petitions by the Secretary of State are summarized in the following table:

Petition to Form Freedom County (10-31-96):

Signatures on the petition or petitions 1,257

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (379)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (233)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 645

Combined Petitions to Form Freedom County:

Signatures on the petition or petitions 13,696

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (3,101)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (1,037)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 9,558

On January 31, 1996, Mr. Howard Andreasen submitted petition sheets containing approximately 4,076 signatures in support of the formation of a new county, to be named Pioneer county, out of a portion of the northwestern part of the existing territory of Whatcom county. A legal description of the boundaries of the proposed county is included as part of Appendix 1 to this report.

The Secretary of State arranged for the County Auditor in Whatcom county to compare the signatures on these petitions to the voter registration records of Whatcom county and report the results of that examination. Information about the legal description of the proposed county was added to the voter registration information of the county for the purposes of this examination. The County Auditor determined that there were 17,611 registered voters in the area of the proposed county at the time that the petitions were submitted.

The results of the examination of these petitions by the County Auditor in Whatcom county are summarized in the following table:

Petition to Form Pioneer County (1-31-96):

Signatures on the petition or petitions 4,076

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (604)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (83)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 3,389

On September 16, 1996, Mr. Andreasen submitted an additional batch of formation petitions for proposed Pioneer county which contained approximately 646 signatures. On November 4, 1996, he submitted a third batch of petitions containing approximately 436 signatures in support of the formation of proposed Pioneer county.

The Secretary of State compared the signatures on these batches of petitions for proposed Pioneer county to the voter registration records used for the verification of initiatives and referendum to determine which signatures on the petition were those of registered voters in King county and to records provided by the County Auditor in Whatcom county to determine if those persons were registered to vote at addresses within proposed Pioneer county and to determine which registered voters had signed both petitions.

The results of the combined examination of these petitions by the Secretary of State and Whatcom county are summarized in the table on the top of the following page:

Petitions to Form Pioneer County (9-16-96 and 11-4-96):

Signatures on the petition or petitions 1,087

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (224)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (118)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 745

Combined Petitions to Form Pioneer County:

Signatures on the petition or petitions 5,163

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (828)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (201)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 4,134

REPORT ON PROPOSED SKYKOMISH COUNTY

On March 6, 1996, Mr. Arnold C. Hansen submitted petition sheets containing approximately 9,446 signatures in support of the formation of a new county, to be named Skykomish county, out of a portion of the southeastern part of the existing territory of Snohomish county and a portion of the northeastern part of the existing territory of King county. (The portion of proposed Skykomish county which is in existing King county is also contained in proposed Cedar county.) A legal description of the boundaries of this proposed county is included as part of Appendix 1 to this report. On May 30, 1996, Mr. Hansen submitted a second batch of petitions containing approximately 1,175 signatures in support of the formation of proposed Skykomish county.

The Secretary of State arranged for the County Auditor in Snohomish county and the Division of Records and Elections in King county to compare the signatures on these petitions to the voter registration records of their respective counties and report the results of that examination. Information about the legal descriptions of the proposed county was added to the voter registration information of Snohomish and King counties for the purposes of this examination. The Snohomish County Auditor determined that there were 20,488 registered voters in the area of the proposed county (in Snohomish county) at the time that the petitions were submitted and the Division of Records and Elections in King County determined that there were 382 registered voters in the area of the proposed county (in King county) at the time that the petitions were submitted.

The results of the examination of these petitions by the Snohomish County Auditor and the Division of Records and Elections in King county are summarized in the following table:

Petitions to Form Skykomish County (3-6-96 and 5-30-96):

Signatures on the petition or petitions 10,645

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (3,049)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (1,276)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 6,320

On September 16, 1996, Mr. Hansen submitted an additional batch of formation petitions for proposed Skykomish county which contained approximately 1,041 signatures. On November 4, 1996, he submitted a fourth batch of petitions containing approximately 108 signatures in support of the formation of proposed Skykomish county.

The Secretary of State compared the signatures on these two batches of petitions for proposed Skykomish county to the voter registration records of Snohomish county. The results of the examination of these petitions by the Secretary of State are summarized in the following table:

Petitions to Form Skykomish County (9-16-96 and 11-4-96):

Signatures on the petition or petitions 1,194

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (189)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (132)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 873

The combined results of the examination of the signatures on all of the petitions submitted by the proponents of proposed Skykomish county are summarized in the following table:

Combined Petitions to Form Skykomish County:

Signatures on the petition or petitions 11,839

Signatures of persons not registered to vote in the proposed county (3,238)

Signatures of persons registered to vote in the proposed county who signed the petition or petitions more than once (1,408)

Signatures of persons registered to vote within the proposed county, excluding multiple signatures 7,193

EXAMINATION OF THE PETITIONS BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The submission of the first batch of signature petitions for Freedom county to the Legislature in April of 1995 posed a series of legal and procedural questions, the most immediate of which was, "How should the Legislature proceed to determine the sufficiency of the formation petition?" This section of the report discusses how the Chief Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate, together with representatives of the presiding officers of the House and Senate and the Secretary of State, reached a consensus about what steps could be taken relative to the petition (based on historical experience and relevant judicial precedent) to assist the Legislature in its consideration of the question of forming a new county.

Specifically, it addresses the suggestion that the Secretary of State should verify the signatures on these petitions, in the same manner that signatures on state initiatives and referendums are verified, and certify to the Legislature whether or not the petitions qualify under the provisions of Article 11, section 3. A consensus was reached that the Secretary of State does not have any legal authority to determine the sufficiency of formation petitions for new counties but that it would be useful for the Secretary of State, together with the appropriate local election officials, to compare the signatures on the petitions to the voter registration records of those counties and provide the Legislature with whatever information about the signatures might be necessary for the Legislature to make a determination about the sufficiency of those petitions.

The formation of new counties in this state is governed by Article 11, section 3, of the state Constitution which reads as follows:

"New counties. No new counties shall be established which shall reduce any county to a population less than four thousand (4,000), nor shall a new county be formed containing a less population than two thousand (2,000). There shall be no territory stricken from any county unless a majority of the voters living in such territory shall petition therefor and then only under such other conditions as may be prescribed by a general law applicable to the whole state. Every county which shall be enlarged or created from territory taken from any other county or counties shall be liable for a just proportion of the existing debts and liabilities of the county or counties from which such territory shall be taken: Provided, That in such accounting neither county shall be charged with any debt or liability then existing incurred in the purchase of any county property, or in the purchase or construction of any county buildings then in use, or under construction, which shall fall within and be retained by the county: Provided further, That this shall not be construed to affect the rights of creditors."

Any procedure for determining the sufficiency of the formation petitions must derive from the authority in this constitutional provision. The section does not, by itself, provide a process for determining the sufficiency of the formation petition nor does it authorize the Secretary of State to make that determination. In addition, there are no general state laws governing the process of circulating and submitting petitions for the formation of a new county nor providing for the verification of the signatures on the formation petitions. The state Legislature has considered bills on this subject in several recent sessions but no proposal has yet been approved by both houses.

There were five new counties formed in the first twenty-five years after Washington became a state, all of them in eastern Washington:

In 1899, the state Legislature created Ferry county out of a portion of the original territory of Stevens county;

Also in 1899, the Legislature created Chelan county out of portions of the original territories of Okanogan and Kittitas counties;

In 1905, the Legislature created Benton county out of portions of the original territories of Klickitat and Yakima counties;

In 1909, the Legislature created Grant county out of a portion of the original territory of Douglas County; and

In 1911, the Legislature created Pend Oreille county out of a portion of the territory of Stevens county which remained following the creation of Ferry county in 1899.

Two distinct processes were used by the Legislature in the formation of these counties. In some cases, a petition was presented to the Legislature before it passed a bill to create the county (Ferry, Grant, and Pend Oreille). In other cases, the Legislature passed a bill to create the county if a sufficient petition was presented within a specified time (Chelan and Benton).

In 1907, the state Legislature attempted to create a new county out of a portion of the original territory of Chehalis county. The new county was to be called Grays Harbor county. However, the effort was unsuccessful because the State Supreme Court ruled that a crucial provision of the enabling legislation was unconstitutionally vague. The Legislature later changed the name of Chehalis county to Grays Harbor county.

None of these historical examples provided a precedent for having the Secretary of State verify the signatures on the petitions or determine the sufficiency of the petition. In a more recent case, however, the Secretary of State did play a role in the examination of the formation petition prior to consideration of the petition by the state Legislature.

There was an effort -- and a petition campaign -- in the early 1980's to form a new county out of the western portions of Clallam and Jefferson counties. The proponents of this new county, which they proposed be called Olympic county, were uncertain whether to submit their formation petitions to the Secretary of State or directly to the Legislature. The Secretary of State agreed to accept the petitions, pending instructions from the Legislature about their disposition.

The Legislature subsequently requested that the petitions be transmitted to the appropriate county auditors and that the auditors determine how many of the signatures on the petitions were those of registered voters living within the territory of the proposed county. Bills to create Olympic county were introduced in both houses of the Legislature in 1982 and 1983. One of these bills (Senate Bill 3264 in 1983) passed the Senate in 1983 and again in 1984, but it failed to pass the House in either session. No legislation to create Olympic county was introduced in subsequent sessions.

Following the more recent historical precedent, the Secretary of State agreed to coordinate the examination by the local election officials of the formation petitions for proposed Freedom county (and each of the subsequent petitions that were submitted to the Legislature). Although we concluded that the Secretary of State does not have any statutory authority to make a determination about which signatures on the petitions are valid for the purpose of forming a new county or whether the petition itself satisfies the requirements of Article 11, section 3, we felt that the consideration of these questions by the Legislature would be facilitated by a comparison of the signatures to the current voter registration records of the counties and a summary of the results of that examination.

ALTERNATIVE RECOMMENDATIONS BY THE PROPONENTS

In March of 1996, following the submission of formation petitions for Pioneer, Cedar, and Skykomish counties, the proponents of the four new counties advanced a series of their own recommendations about how the signatures should be examined and what authority the Secretary of State has to determine the sufficiency of the petitions. The proponents of the four new counties, acting jointly through a group called the New Counties Summit, sent a letter to the Secretary of State in which they argued three legal premises (which we paraphrase as follows):

1. A formation petition for a new county is sufficient if it contains the number of valid signatures of registered voters who reside in the proposed county exceeds fifty percent of the number of votes cast at the last state general election (as opposed to fifty percent of the registered voters residing in area of the proposed county);

2. The formation petition is a "species of special election" which, if sufficient, automatically results in the creation of the county without action by the Legislature; and

3. The Secretary of State effectively has the authority to determine the sufficiency of the petition, because he has a duty under the state statutes on canvassing to certify the results of this type of "special election".

A copy of the letter from the New Counties Summit, together with the legal analysis on which it was based, is included as Appendix 2 to this report. The Secretary of State declined to adopt the analysis and recommendations of the New Counties Summit. A copy of the response from the Secretary of State is included as Appendix 3 to this report.

We believe that the assertion by the proponents of the four new counties that "petitions ... will result in the creation of each county upon validation of the requisite number of signatures and certification of the results by the Secretary of State" conflicts with decisions of the Washington State Supreme Court in this area, which the analysis accompanying the letter from the Four Counties Summit fails to discuss or distinguish. We are convinced that the proper posture for an agency of the executive branch is to defer to the conclusion that only the Legislature has the authority to create a new county and that the determination of the sufficiency of the petition required by Article 11, section 3, is solely a legislative function.

Although we do not feel that the Secretary of State has the authority to resolve the argument advanced by the new county proponents (that the petition need only be signed by fifty percent of the votes cast in the last general election), it is important that the Legislature have the information necessary to proceed if they decide to adopt that approach. The Division of Records and Elections in King County and the County Auditors of Snohomish and Whatcom counties provided us with data on the number of votes cast by registered voters residing in the territories of the proposed counties who voted at the last state general election prior to the submission of the petitions for those proposed counties. This information is summarized in the table on the top of the following page:

Votes cast in the territory of proposed Cedar county at the 1995 state general election 45,033
(The petitions for Cedar County contained the signatures of 23,765 registered voters residing within the proposed new county.)

Votes cast in the territory of proposed Freedom county at the 1994 state general election 17,477
(The petitions for Freedom County contained the signatures of 9,558 registered voters residing within the proposed new county.)

Votes cast in the territory of proposed Pioneer county at the 1995 state general election 8,132
(The petitions for Pioneer County contained the signatures of 4,134 registered voters residing within the proposed new county.)

Votes cast in the territory of proposed Skykomish county at the 1995 state general election 11,109
(The petitions for Skykomish County contained the signatures of 7,163 registered voters residing within the proposed new county.)

In each case, the number of signatures of registered voters submitted by the proponents of the proposed county exceeds "fifty percent of the votes cast" in the territory of that proposed county at the last state general election prior to the submission of the petitions for that proposed county but does not exceed fifty percent of the registered voters residing in the territory of that proposed county at the time the petition was submitted.

It could be argued that, if the term "voters" in the second sentence of Article 11, section 3, were to be construed to refer only to those registered voters who participated in the last state general election, then only the signatures of those registered voters should be counted as valid signatures on these petitions. We did not feel that the Secretary of State should attempt to determine which registered voters on the petitions participated in the last general election without further instructions from the Legislature.

Legal Descriptions of the Proposed Counties

There is no statutory requirement that the proponent of a proposed new county file the legal description of the territory or boundaries of the proposed county with the Secretary of State, or any other public agency. Implicitly, some description (or depiction such as a map) of the territory to be included in the proposed county must appear on the petition so that the signers have notice of the effect of their support, and so that the Legislature can adequately determine the territory to which the petition applies. However, there is no statute which requires that the legal description of the boundaries or territory of the proposed county appear on the petition or which specifies a particular form for including this information on the petition.

For proposed Cedar county, we have included a letter from Ms. Lois Gustafson to the Speaker of the House of Representatives on May 10, 1996, which discusses errors in the legal description of the proposed area on some of the petitions and provides a corrected legal description for the boundaries of that proposed county. We believe that this represents the most authoritative source of information on the territory or boundaries of proposed Cedar county which is available from the records of the Secretary of State.

With the exception of proposed Cedar county, the legal descriptions of the boundaries or territory included in the proposed counties are taken directly from the face of the petitions. Copies of portions of the petitions containing either maps, legal descriptions, or both are included for proposed Freedom county, proposed Pioneer county, and proposed Skykomish county. We believe that these represent the most authoritative sources of information on the territory or boundaries of these proposed counties which are available from the records of the Secretary of State

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

NOTICE: Formatting and page numbering in this document may be different from that in the original published version.

SECOND DAY

MORNING SESSION

House Chamber, Olympia, Tuesday, January 14, 1997

The House was called to order at 11:00 a.m. by the Speaker. The Clerk called the roll and a quorum was present.

The flag was escorted to the rostrum by the American Legion Department Color Guard. Prayer was offered by Reverend Sam McKinney, Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

Reverend McKinney: O God, four years ago we gathered in this place to welcome Michael Lowry as Governor of Washington State. He has served as a King county Council person, a U.S. Representative to Congress and Governor.

We pray that history will accord him his rightful place as one who placed human needs and concerns above individual and special interest gain, who was committed to the inclusion of all persons and groups into society's mainstream.

He dreamed that this state would gather all the varying threads represented here and create a single garment of destiny to cover us all. This garment would be the envy of all other states.

We ask your blessings and mercies upon all successes and shortcomings of this administration.

We pray that Governor Elect Locke will welcome and receive the torch of leadership passed onto him. We further pray that those elected and appointed officials will rise above precinct and parochial politics and guarantee for all excellence in education, fairness in taxation, opportunities in employment, justice in the courts, security in senior years and wholesome trade in the marketplace. Usher in a new day of integrity, civility, and righteousness in all that is done in this state.

Now, smile, we pray upon Governor Mike Lowry as he transitions into another phase of his life -- may your canopy of goodwill cover him, your presence under him, your love surround him and your peace dwell within him.

We finally pray that this State will forge new ties in serving the needs of the least, last, lost, left out, letdown, locked in, locked out and locked up.

Grant us wisdom, grant us power for the living of this day.

Grant us wisdom, grant us power that we serve this present age.

Grant us wisdom, grant us power that we fail not humanity nor thee.

Amen.

Reading of the Journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was ordered to stand approved.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the fourth order of business.

The President recognized The Reverend Sam McKinney.

Mr. President: As the Speaker has announced, this occasion provides all of us with the opportunity to recognize old friends who are leaving office. Secretary Munro, will you do the honor of introducing our friends?

Secretary Munro: I would like to begin with our State Treasurer, Dan Grimm. Twenty four years ago he began his career in this building as a clerk for the Higher Education Committee for the House of Representatives. Three years later he was elected as a representative from the twenty-fifth legislative district, Puyallup, North Tacoma, Bonney Lake and Sumner. Representative Grimm served with distinction in the House for twelve years. During that time, he had the privilege of chairing the House Higher Education Committee, the Democratic Caucus and the House Ways and means committee which he led for six years. Dan Grimm was elected State Treasurer in 1988 and re-elected in 1992. There is no question that he is considered the father of our beautiful new State Historical Society Building in Tacoma. Dan, we thank you for your service and the leadership you have provided. Ladies and Gentlemen, State Treasurer Dan Grimm.

The President and Speaker presented retiring State Treasurer Dan Grimm with a photograph of the Legislative Building.

Mr. Grimm: Thank you. Mr. Governor, Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen. As I stand here I am reminded of the day about twenty years when I sat for the first time in the back of this chamber. I want to say to those of you who are new to this legislative body, that if you, during your time here, are as blessed as I have been with as many acts of personal kindnesses as I have received, and with as many friends as I have been able to make, than you will have been truly fortunate. I want to thank you for your dedication and your commitment to public service. I also as a former legislator, want to take this opportunity to thank and to ask you to thank your predecessors who have made it possible and me to make the contributions that we have made. There are many. Tom Copeland who made it possible for us to have our own offices. Bob Shafer who made it possible for us to have our own secretarial assistants. Len Sawyer who made it possible for all of us to truly have independent and professional staff so that you can exercise your constitutional obligations to be an independent branch of government equal among the three. To Bud Shinpoch every time you look at budget documents, every time you look at numbers from LEAP, every time you look at the books of the bill reports, you can thank Bud Shinpoch. And I hope in doing so, that I will convey to you a commitment and enduring obligation that you have to this institution and through it to the people of the State.

As State Treasurer, I want to thank Governor Mike Lowry. No one has done more and adhered to higher standards of fiscal integrity in the twenty some years that I have been here than Governor Mike Lowry. If you as a legislature sustain those standards in this session and in the years to come, you will have served well the people of this state.

Finally, I want to say thank you to the one person who, since 1985, has been the constant source of support and love and inspiration. This person is my daughter, Whitney K Grimm. Whitney K, I love you biggest much. Thank you.

Secretary Munro: Superintendent of Public Instruction, Judith Billings: Superintendent Billings has served her state with the deep understanding of the value of our public schools. She has been a constant vocal outspoken advocate for kids across our State. Superintendent Billings realizes that in this rapidly changing world, public education plays a vital role as the great equalizer. The opportunity for children to advance beyond their parents station in life. She is constantly reminding all of us what the constitution says; it is our paramount duty to provide for ample education for all children. Today we thank our Superintendent of Public Instruction, Judith Billings.

The President and Speaker presented retiring Superintendent of Public Instruction Billings with a photograph of the Legislative Building.

Ms. Billings: Thank you. It is as I always say when one of my staff is retiring, a bitter sweet time because we always cherish the times that we have had with the people we with whom we work. At the same time, some anticipation of what is to come beyond where we are now in terms of new challenges. I certainly have in my professional life there is nothing that equals the challenge and enjoyment of running for office and serving in office. Of course I might add that nothing equals the frustration either. That goes along with the office. It has been a wonderful eight years, with the associations that have been made here at the State level with the agency officials, with other elected State-wide officials and with the Legislature. One of the things that I have been so delighted with in working with the legislature in this State is that although we have not always agreed on issues, we have always been civil personally with one another. That is something that I think is extremely important to continue.

I cannot leave without reminding you one more time; each year we give rewards to outstanding teachers and principals and school boards members in these chambers and I always look at them and say wouldn't it be fun if you were the ones sitting here making the laws and appropriating the dollars that fund public education. But I can't leave without that one gentle reminder that it is the paramount duty of the State to make ample provisions for the education of all children residing within our borders regardless of gender, race, religion or ethnicity. I hope you take that charge seriously with you through this session and I wish you all the very best. Thank you.

Secretary Munro: Most of us in this room were not born or cannot remember World War II. And when we do read or see documentaries of the world, they often focus on the European Theatre. The last few months of the war were in the Pacific were terrible. Tens of thousands of our young GIs were maimed or killed in action. Joel Pritchard of Queen Anne Hill was an infantryman in the American New Caledon division, the famed Americals. They sloughed and fought their way north toward the long sought victory in the Pacific. Pritchard was a lucky one. He came home to Seattle and entered public service, representing the 36th District, Queen Anne Hill and Magnolia. He came to the Capitol in 1958 and served until 1966 in the House of Representatives. From 1967 to 1971 in the Washington State Senate. He will long be remembered for his fight to win open housing for all citizens and for a woman's right to chose. In 1972, it was off to Congress where he served until 1984 representing the First Congressional District. He record on the Foreign Relations Committee bringing a closure to the war in Viet Nam and his service as a delegate to the United Nations General Assembly for the United States of America is still talked about today. He was elected our Lt. Governor in 1988 and has served with dignity and distinction, frankness and fairness. Ladies and Gentlemen, 54 years of public service. Lieutenant Governor Joel Pritchard.

The Speaker presented Lieutenant Governor Joel Pritchard with a photograph of the Legislative Building.

Mr. President: If I get started, we will really get off track. Ralph did get to me, I didn't think he could, but he did. Thank you. No one has enjoyed this capitol or the National Capitol in service as much as I did. I enjoyed it. It is a great experience and a wonderful honor by the citizens in your communities to send you here. This business of democracy is a wonderful form of government but it is not easy. It is not easy. It is always difficult and you are right in the middle of it where it is going to be so important what you do in the coming years. I intend to watch it with keen interest, and maybe write a few letters to you, but I am going to watch all of you and enjoy your efforts. I know that the future should be better. We are bother; in fact for the first time in America's history there are people who seriously doubt whether tomorrow is going to be as good as today. Through all our years, people have taken it for granted that tomorrow will be better. We have some serious challenges - you have them and I am going to watch your efforts with great interest because I know you are going to live up to the responsibilities that you have. I thank you for what you are doing and I thank you for the friendships so many of you have had with me, and the kindnesses you have shown me in the last eight years in Olympia. Thank you very much.

Secretary Munro: In some ways, the old high school at Endicott High School is like this building. On the top floor, there are pictures of each class year by year decade by decade. There is no question that the class of 1957, and their most known graduate, Mike Lowry is a point of pride for this rural country school. His story epitomizes the long held belief in Washington State that it doesn't really matter whether your parents are farmers on the Palouse or shipyard workers on the Sound. Each of us has a chance at the golden ring. One of his first jobs, after graduating from WSU, was as a committee clerk in the basement of this building, "workin' for Durkin" as they use to say. He went on to serve as a King County Councilman and chair of the Council in 1979. He was elected President of the Washington Association of Counties and returned to this Capitol as their spokesman on many occasions. He became an outspoken member of Congress from the seventh congressional district, a blue collar lunch bucket area in South Seattle, Renton, White Center and Auburn, constantly speaking up for the poor, the unemployed, the less fortunate of our citizens. He was elected as our governor in 1992, and in these tumultuous times of change, he has helped to steer our State into an era of prosperity. Through it all, his watch words have been "kids, jobs and the environment". I think the thing I have appreciated most about Governor Lowry is that he has never forgotten the poor. Regardless of his own station in life, he has not spent his time scheming or dreaming of ways to improve his own lot but has instead concentrated his efforts on assisting the lives of our less fortunate. Ladies and gentlemen, today we thank our Governor, Governor Mike Lowry.

Mr. Speaker: It is my pleasure to say thank you for your commitment. The one observation I have made about you, and it is good for all of us to remember in this chamber, particularly for our new members, that when Mike Lowry says something or Mike Lowry states a belief, you know exactly where he is. That is a quality that I think is paramount upon us as legislators: that we speak clearly to what we believe and for what we stand for, and when we say it, people can understand and believe it. It has been a pleasure serving with you. Thank you.

Mr. President: Thank you, Ralph. As always, you did a wonderful job. I would also like to introduce Mary Lowry and ask her to stand and be recognized.

Mr. President: The purpose of the Joint Session is to receive a message from his excellency, Mike Lowry.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS

Governor Lowry: Thank you, Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, distinguished members of the Supreme Court, distinguished state elected officials, members of the Legislature, Consular Corps, and citizens of the great state of Washington.

Before I begin, I want to thank you for the honor and privilege of serving as governor. Also, I would like to express my gratitude to Mary and Diane for their support. I have always believed that one of life's most challenging and thankless roles is that of the families of people in public service. Mary and Diane have long served in that role with courage and grace, and I am grateful and proud.

I congratulate Governor-elect Locke, who will be an excellent governor, and each and every one of you in this chamber, who I'm sure will endeavor to serve the state well.

To the elected officials who served so well with me, thank you. And of this excellent new team of elected officials, I have high hopes and expectations. The voters chose you for your integrity and ability. Thank you for your willingness to serve.

To my staff and cabinet, and all state employees and educators -- you did a great job, and I thank you.

Today, our state is in excellent shape. Our economy is strong, our business climate has improved significantly, our commitments to education and the environment are intact, and our quality of life has magazine editors consistently naming Washington cities among the most livable and the best places to do business.

There are challenges ahead, yet we have good reason to be optimistic. We are on the right track.

Over the past four years, the state's economy has improved dramatically. Independent, private studies continue to show our economy as one of the strongest in the nation. Tens of thousands more people have jobs. Many of our state's cornerstone industries, which have for years been the backbone of our economy, are choosing to stay here, to expand and grow in Washington, rather than move elsewhere. Other world-class companies are joining them, building an even stronger, more diversified economy. And we have opened the doors of international trade to large and small businesses alike.

Over the past 4 years, our state's unemployment rate has dropped from 8.4 percent to 5.8 percent -- more than a 30% decrease. The state budget has gone from a record $1.7 billion shortfall to a healthy reserve. And every business day, more than 100 people on public assistance enter the workforce.

For the first time since the early 1980s, state government is growing at a rate well below the state's population. And during the coming biennium, state general fund taxes are already lower than they were four years ago. Over the past four years, we have turned our economy around and we have greatly improved the state budget. I am proud of those accomplishments.

But I wouldn't be speaking from my heart if I didn't tell you what I am most proud of is that we have accomplished those goals without turning our backs on the needs of children, or on those for whom a stronger economy doesn't always mean more food on the table, or those who don't yet have the skills to apply for one of the new jobs.

And, we have improved our economy and our business climate without weakening our commitment to the environment. Today, fewer families have to choose between paying rent and seeing a doctor when their children get sick, because nearly 195,000 children in low-income working families now have health care coverage. And more than 143,000 adults who might otherwise have been shut out of the health care system altogether now receive benefits through the state's very successful Basic Health Plan.

More children are going to class ready to learn, because thousands more kids are receiving free or low-cost breakfast in school. More young adults are able to attend college, and thousands of at-risk youth are learning valuable job skills through the Washington Service Corps.

Thousands of low-income working parents are able to keep their jobs without worrying about whether they can afford child care, because during these four years, we have eliminated the statewide waiting list for subsidized child care.

We have given businesses a reason to move here and to stay here, and we have taken steps to help more people benefit from our economy and our quality of life.

Today, all of us in this chamber, and those watching or listening elsewhere, can be very proud to live in a state where we share a commitment to improving what we can, preserving what we must, and never losing sight of the belief that Washington is a great place to live, to work, to raise a family, and to enjoy life.

Today, the state of our state is clearly very good.

The challenge, over the coming months and years, is to continue that prosperity without losing sight of the reasons why all of us live here, and to go forward without leaving behind those who have been denied the tools they need to keep up.

In the face of tighter budget constraints and even deeper cuts coming from the federal government, that task will not be simple.

Keeping our state on the right track will require continued vision and courage - especially by all of you in this chamber.

One thing is certain, however: There are a few guaranteed ways of not keeping our state on track for the future.

- We will not continue to prosper if we let go of our commitment to education.

A business is only as good as its workforce. Unless we take steps to ensure that our educational system - both K-12 and higher education - can keep pace with a growing demand and meet the needs of tomorrow's employers, our economy and our quality of life will pay the price.

We will not continue to prosper if we sacrifice our magnificent environment for short-term gain.

Over the past four years, we have proven that a healthy environment is good for business. Time and again, officials of companies that locate here have told me how important it is for them to settle in a place where their employees will want to live. In the state of Washington, good environmental policy is good economic policy.

We will not continue to prosper if our transportation system fails to keep pace with the state's growth. In fact, our growing transportation problem is one of the few obstacles that could reverse our economic prosperity.

And we will not continue to prosper if we weaken our commitment to good growth management.

During the decade of the 1990s alone, our state's population is expected to grow by more than a million people - the fastest rate of growth since the war years of the 1940s. That growth will put tremendous pressure on our roads, our land, our watersheds, and our environment.

The state's Growth Management Act is one of the best ways to ensure that we think about how and where we want to grow before it is too late - and before unplanned development destroys even more of the natural drainage systems that are so vital to flood control efforts.

We will not continue to prosper if we fail to recognize that some parts of the state's population are growing faster than others; and that our budget laws need the flexibility to adjust to those population demographics, to federal cutbacks that are much harder on individuals than perhaps earlier anticipated, to natural disasters and emergencies, and to remove disincentives for efficient management.

I am of course referring to Initiative 601. It is important state policy, and I know the Legislature will honor its intent. But Initiative 601 was not carved in stone and brought down from the mountain. Across-the-board spending limits that do not account for growing needs will create across-the-board problems long into the future -- problems that can be avoided with minor amendments that stay consistent with the voters' intent.

- And speaking of initiatives with unintended consequences, it is time we took another look at term limits. A mandatory six-year limit for legislators takes the power of our democracy out of the hands of voters and puts it into the hands of people who were never elected by anyone. That is not a democratic ideal.
- We will not continue to prosper if we turn our backs on our state's commitment to diversity. The strength of our state lies in the contributions of every single person who lives here. We must stay committed to equal opportunity, equal rights, and respect for diversity. To those who would bring hate and intolerance of any person, belief, lifestyle or circumstance into our state, I say "hands off."
- We will not continue to prosper if we forget about the needs of children in our pursuit of affluence.

Today, nearly a quarter of the nation's children live in poverty. We're doing a little bit better in our state, but even our statistic of one-in-six is far too high. Building America's future on a foundation of one quarter of our kids growing up in poverty is just plain dangerous. We simply must, as a society, make our children a higher priority.

- We also must not duplicate, here at home, the breadth of cutbacks the federal government is making, by making even deeper cuts in critical state services. Adjusting to the upcoming federal cutbacks and new state responsibilities is one of our greatest challenges. The worst of all possible solutions is for the state to act oblivious to those changes, make even deeper cuts, pass responsibility onto others - and force people into the streets.

Here in our state, the new federal welfare law, along with other cost-cutting measures approved by Congress, is expected to reduce federal dollars by $619 million over the next biennium. Those cutbacks will affect everything from food stamps and food banks to housing assistance and environmental protection programs. In our state, more than 200,000 low-income families will face cutbacks in food stamps and other food subsidy programs. That includes about 38,000 legal immigrants - many of them working parents with children - who will be dropped from the Food Stamp Program entirely. And about 11,000 legal immigrants who are blind, elderly or disabled will lose eligibility for the federal Supplemental Security Income program, which provides about $470 a month to low-income people who can't work. Our state's legal immigrants are people who have always played by the rules.

In addition, nearly 1,000 non-immigrant children with severe behavioral disorders will lose disability benefits they had received through the federal SSI program. Most are in foster homes. We have both the financial resources and the moral obligation to ensure that low-income children, families, and senior citizens affected by federal cutbacks are not left out in the cold.

- If we think that a few dollars a month in tax cuts for the average Washingtonian is more important than keeping food on the table for tens of thousands of low-income people in our state, we are a society in trouble. In my budget proposal, I have asked the Legislature to replace some of the deepest federal cuts with $220 million to help our neediest neighbors. That commitment might require a minor adjustment in Initiative 601, and that you forego some of your additional desired tax cuts.

Most of the problems we count on government to deal with would be solved if everyone had a living-wage job. Today especially, the fallout from families that are torn apart by poverty, or those who have simply lost hope, affects everyone. And today, all of us must come to terms with a new reality: that helping people enter the workforce is in everyone's best interest, and punitive proposals that pass judgment on a person's inability to find a job have never put anyone to work.

I have been fortunate. I grew up in a healthy environment, with two parents who loved my sisters and me, and loved each other. There were no drugs, there was no abuse, there was no violence. Most of the kids I went to school with came from the same background. In fact, most of the people in my generation grew up with those values and advantages. When we were old enough, nearly all of us got jobs and became productive members of society. That is what our parents had done; and that is the path they helped create for us. The cards were never stacked against us, as they are for so many people today.

Today, thousands of children grow up in an environment where there is physical violence, mental abuse, or neglect; an environment where, at best, only one parent plays a role in a child's life; where handguns are a tragic ticket to respect on the streets; where peer pressure is unlike anything any of us have ever known. When some of these kids become young adults, their troubled lives are in the hands of many who still believe that what worked when they were young - tighter boot straps, their parents' expectations, a little help from mom and dad - ought to be enough for anyone. They believe that telling someone to "get a job" is enough to help them overcome a lack of job skills, a history of abuse, a lifetime of disadvantages. It's just not that simple. Like it or not, the world has changed. We all share the goal of getting able-bodied people into the workforce. In our state, we have programs in place that are doing exactly that - in record numbers.

Our success is proof that the vast majority of people on welfare want to work, and if they are given the right tools, they will not only join the workforce, they will stay in the workforce. Choosing to believe otherwise to justify politically popular rhetoric is self-defeating fantasy, and it simply will not work.

And unless we continue to take steps that address today's reality rather than yesterday's expectations; unless we base our policy decisions on something more substantial and more compassionate than an attitude of, "I did it, why can't they," a huge number of people will fail in our society. And that will mean we will fail.

We will fail because most people who are driven into the workforce without job skills end up in minimum wage jobs -- if they can find jobs at all -- and minimum-wage jobs do not pay enough for single-parent families to make it on their own.

A single parent with two small children who works full time, earning minimum wage, pays about 72 percent of his or her salary in child care expenses, and takes home about $74 a week. That adds up to $300 a month, out of which a working parent must pay the rent, put food on the table, pay utility bills and transportation costs - and just plain hope that no one gets sick. We will fail because forcing people into minimum-wage jobs or onto the street will do nothing to solve the many problems that have kept them from self sufficiency -- the lack of job skills needed to earn a living wage, an inability to afford basic medical care, the need for quality, affordable child care. And we will fail because a growing gap between those who have much and those who have little will continue to tear at the fabric of our society until the only thing that unites our communities is a sense of fear, anger, resentment, and hate. We are better than that.

Those who call our state home are some of the most generous and giving people in the world. We help each other when we can. During the holidays we hear more stories of people who are having a rough time, and our instinct is to help make things right. During the recent winter storms, I heard dozens of examples of people looking out for each other; clearing tree branches out of neighbor's driveways, delivering groceries to people who couldn't leave their homes, pulling cars out of piles of snow. I heard about workers staying on the job past midnight to help drivers who needed tire chains, and I met utility crews who were working around the clock - day after day. There are countless other examples. But whether we give blankets to the homeless or help push cars out of snowbank, when someone needs help, most of us are eager to lend a hand.

Yet despite our generosity, the greatest problem facing America today is the growing number of people in our society who are truly in need. Whether they are workers who have been downsized out of a job; people who have never had the skills needed to keep up; or those whose circumstances have just taken a turn for the worse, thousands of people in our state wake up every single day facing challenges every bit as difficult as a winter storm.

Their stories are compelling. Over the past year, I've met dozens of people in our state who have left public assistance and entered the workforce. Almost to a person, they have told me -- sometimes with tears in their eyes -- about how desperately they wanted to get off welfare, just to have a measure of self respect, and how grateful they were to finally be earning a living. I learned of a single mother who just wanted to earn enough money to afford to live in a house or apartment -- so her children could go to school without having to lie about the place they call home.

And I met a man who had grown up on public assistance, who told me that as a child, the greatest wealth his family ever knew was the day the food stamps arrived. For him, as for so many others, the difference between continuing that cycle of desperation and becoming self-sufficient was the chance to learn, the tools to advance, the opportunity to succeed, and a job. I am certain the people of our state will step forward to help those who are in real trouble, if given the chance. Today, more than ever before, it is absolutely critical that we not turn back from the progress we have made, and that we commit ourselves to ensuring that all people have an opportunity to work and to share in our prosperity.

We live in the wealthiest country on earth. We pay lower taxes than nearly any other industrialized nation -- only Turkey and Australia pay less. In Washington state, we are now enjoying one of the nation's strongest economies and greatest qualities of life. Over the past four years, we have made significant strides in making government more efficient. We can do more, certainly. No government -- including ours -- should ever be beyond reproach. Few exist that could not be improved upon.

But we're kidding ourselves if we choose to believe that in today's world, government is not important to a good economy and a higher quality of life. In a democracy, government is not the enemy; it is what we, the people choose to make of it. In our state, we have worked hard to create a balanced approach to government that recognizes the need for tax and regulatory policies that help businesses prosper without compromising our environment, our health and safety, or our children's future; a balanced approach that recognizes that today's prosperity carries with it a responsibility to invest in our future, support education and workforce training, build a transportation network that helps get people to work and products to market, and preserve our quality of life.

A strong economy gives us both the capability and the responsibility to do more than widen the gap between those who have much and those who have little. It allows us the flexibility to decide what we value as a society, and the freedom to invest in policies and practices that help close that gap.

We are, today, at a crossroads. One path divides us, denies the common good, and closes the door of prosperity to all but a few. The other path unites us, seeks the common good, and opens the door of opportunity to everyone. Our decision to follow the path of least resistance and political expediency, or the path of right decisions and political courage, will determine our future - and that of our children and grandchildren.

Let it be our quest to seek the greater good; to choose justice over inequity, possibility over privilege, hope over despair. Let us take the road less traveled, if that is where fairness lies. And let us end our days with promises kept: That we fought for hard-working people, That we were good stewards of the earth, That we stood against discrimination, That we gave all people a chance to work and to prosper, And most important, that we took care of the children. Thank you.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR'S ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

Mr. President: Thank you, Mr. President. Over the last year as I traveled from town to town, appeared before a dozen editorial boards and spoke to numerous organizations your name, Mr. President regularly came up followed by comments like "a man of integrity, and "he served with distinction", and "he's sure a darn nice guy".

All of us who have had the privilege of serving with you, Mr. President, of course know that all of these descriptions are very accurate and very deserving. Should any of us here leave office with anywhere near the same level of respect that you have acquired over years of service, we can claim success in our careers.

Mr. President, Joel, thank you for 38 years of public service.

Our single greatest privilege is to serve the people we live, work and socialize with. It is a great responsibility. I feel it most when I sit alone in the House or Senate chambers, leaning back in my chair and stare at the magnificence of these great chambers, I see not just the beauty and grandeur of the architecture but the phenomenal history that has been written here. Sometimes I step outside at night and look at the capital building whose lights dramatically outline it against the dark blue sky making it appear even more awesome than it already is. Do this as I do, and I believe it will help you realize the magnitude of the importance of the job you have been given the honor to come here and do for the citizens of our great state.

With this great honor comes great expectation which create great challenges for us all. I believe the greatest of these challenges for our nation for our state and our communities is to reverse the skyrocketing increase of drug and alcohol use and abuse by our kids. Please don't forget them.

If I and my office can help you to meet these great challenges please ask. I am here to work with you.

To the citizens of our great state, thank you for this tremendous honor. I will do my best to uphold the dignity of the office.

I would like to say how much I appreciate the tremendous support I have received by my wife Linda over the years.

Finally to my mother thank you for your tremendous support and for giving me the, "Things are tough but don't give up" work ethic that got me here today. Thank you.

Chief Justice Barbara Durham administered the oath of office to Gary Locke, Governor, and the President of the Senate presented him the Certificate of Office.

Mr. President: Ladies and gentlemen of the House and Senate, Honorable Elected Officials, distinguished guests, it is a great honor for my first official responsibility to be introducing our new governor on this historic occasion. He has had a distinguished career as an assistant prosecuting attorney, Appropriation chair in the House of Representatives, and King County Executive.

You will find him to be a tough negotiator yet a compassionate person with a vision for Washington state.

Ladies and gentlemen, Governor Gary Locke.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR GARY LOCKE

Governor Locke: Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Madam Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the Supreme Court, statewide elected officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, other elected officials, members of the Consular Corps, fellow citizens, and friends of Washington state across America and around the world.

I am deeply humbled by this honor of being this state's 21st governor. And I am deeply grateful to all those who have made this day possible, and to all those who made our American tradition of freedom and democracy possible.

I also want to express my gratitude to members of my family, and with your permission I'd like to introduce them to you. First I'd like you to meet my father, Jimmy Locke, who fought in World War II and participated in the Normandy invasion. I'd like you to meet my mother, Julie, who raised five children, learned English to become a United States citizen at the same time that I was learning English in kindergarten, and who went back to community college when she was almost 60 years old, my mom Julie Locke. And I'd like to introduce my brothers and sisters Marian Monwai, Jannie Chow, Jeffrey Locke and Rita Yoshihara. I also would like to introduce you to my mother and father-in-laws Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lee. And finally, it is my greatest pleasure to introduce Washington's new First Lady, Mona Lee Locke.

This truly is a wonderful day for the Locke family. And it's great to see so many relatives return to Olympia for this celebration because our family has its roots in Olympia. One of my ancestors a distant cousin, actually was a merchant who immigrated to Olympia in 1874 and became a leader of the Chinese-American community just a few blocks from this state capitol. He acted as a bridge between the Chinese and white communities, and became friends with the other downtown merchants, and with the sheriff, William Billings.

In 1886, an anti-immigrant, anti-Chinese mob threatened to burn down the Chinese settlement here. But what happened next is a story that every Washington resident ought to know: Sheriff Billings deputized scores of Olympia's merchants and civic leaders. And those citizen deputies stood between the angry mob and the Chinese neighborhood. Faced by the sheriff and the leading citizens of Olympia, the mob gradually dispersed. Not a single shot was fired, nor a single Chinese house burned.

For the Locke family, that incident helped establish a deep faith in the essential goodness of mainstream American values:

The values that reject extremism and division, and embrace fairness and moral progress;
The value of working together as a community; and
The values of hard work, hope, and opportunity.

Just a few years after that Olympia show of courage, my grandfather came to America to work as a "house boy" for the Yeager family, who lived in a house that's still standing, less than a mile from here. His purpose was to get an education, and so the Yeager family agreed to teach him English in return for work. Like everyone else in our family, my grandfather studied and worked hard, and he eventually became the head chef at Virginia Mason Hospital in Seattle.

So while I may be standing less than a mile from where our family started its life in America, we've certainly come a long long way. 100 years to travel one mile. Our journey was possible because of the courage of Sheriff Billings and the heroes of Olympia history. And our journey was successful because the Locke family embraces three values: Get a good education, work hard and take care of each other.

But our family history is more the norm than the exception. There is Governor Rosellini, this state's first Italian-American governor, whose parents migrated to America at the beginning of this century.

There is Representative Paul Zellinsky, whose grandfather was a Russian sea captain.

There is Senator Dan McDonald, whose ancestors were among the pioneer families of this state.

And there is Senator Rosa Franklin, whose family rose from slavery in South Carolina to civic leadership in Tacoma.

There are millions of families like mine, and millions of people like me; people whose ancestors dreamed the American Dream and worked hard to make it come true. And today, on Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday, we are taking another step toward that dream. This is a historic day, I'm humbled and honored to be the first Asian-American governor on the continental United State. And I am humbled and honored to be the first person of color to be governor of this great state of Washington. These honors are a testament to how great our state is and how far we have progressed.

In the 108 years since Washington became a state, we have gone from riding horses to flying in jets; from sending telegrams to sending e-mail; and from cooking on wood stoves to cooking in microwave ovens. Can anyone even guess what the next hundred years will bring? We already know that people are developing computers that actually think, that telephones and television will merge, and that biotechnology will reveal the secrets of our genetic code that will cure many of today's diseases. Many of our children will produce goods and services that haven't even been invented yet.

Our challenge then is to embrace change rather than to fear it. We have no time to waste.

To keep the American Dream alive in a high-tech and unpredictable future, we have to raise our sights, and our standards. We must raise our sights above the partisanship, the prejudice, and the arrogance that keep us from acknowledging our common humanity and our common future. And we must raise our standards of academic achievement, of government productivity and customer service, of preserving our environment, and of protecting the well-being of Washington's working families.

The principles that will guide me in this quest for higher standards and the principles that will guide my response to legislative proposals are clear and simple.

My first principle is that education is the great equalizer that makes hope and opportunity possible. That's why I am passionately committed to developing a world-class system of education. In the last century, the drafters of our Constitution made education of our children the "paramount duty" of the state. But learning is not just for kids anymore. For the next century, the paramount duty of this state will be to create an education system for lifelong learning a system that every person regardless of age can plug into for basic skills, professional advancement or personal enrichment.

My second principle is to promote civility, mutual respect and unity, and to oppose measures that divide, disrespect, or diminish our humanity. I want our state to build on the mainstream values of equal protection and equal opportunity, and to reject hate, violence and bigotry. And I want our state to be known as a place where elected officials lead by example.

My third principle is to judge every public policy by whether it helps or hurts Washington's working families. Everyone who works hard and lives responsibly ought to be rewarded with economic security, the opportunity to learn and to advance in their chosen field of work, and the peace of mind that comes from knowing that the essential services their families need like health care insurance and child care will be affordable and accessible. And every senior citizen who has spent a lifetime contributing to the freedom and prosperity we enjoy deserves dignity and security.

My fourth principle is to protect our environment, so that future generations can enjoy the same natural beauty and abundance we cherish today.

These principles require self-discipline, and a commitment not to settle for quick fixes, Band-Aids, or political expediency. To help us live up to these principles, I intend to set clear, challenging goals, and to measure our progress toward achieving those goals. Everyone in state government will be held accountable for achieving results not for convening meetings, creating commissions, or following Reams of clumsy regulations.

I want to liberate the creativity and expertise of state employees, and to make working for government as respectable as building airplanes, designing software, or inventing new medical technologies. I call on every state employee to search for new and better ways of doing our work, to strive toward a higher level of customer service to citizens, and to show greater respect for every hard-earned tax dollar that we collect.

In fact, let's take a moment to thank both state and local government employees for the truly heroic work they've done during the storms of the past few weeks. They made visible something too many of us often don't see: that we truly can't live without basic government services, and that these services are provided by people our dedicated public employees. In the storm and its aftermath, those public employees focused on helping citizens and solving problems and they achieved results.

Now it's time to harness that same energy and sense of urgency to solve problems and achieve results in our education system. We have to do a better job of making our schools safe, and ensuring that students respect their teachers, and each other.

Let's hold our schools and students accountable for learning, not just for following all the rules or sitting through the required number of classes. We will not break our promise to raise academic standards. Every third grader must read at the third grade level, and every high school graduate must master basic academic skills and knowledge. To meet these ambitious goals, our schools need a stable base of funding, including the ability to pass school levies with the same simple majority that it takes to pass bond measures to build other public facilities.

But money alone is not the answer. Greater accountability - coupled with more local control and more flexibility are also essential to school improvement. To meet the growing demand for education in our colleges and universities, my administration will present a proposal to increase enrollments, to improve quality, and to provide more management flexibility while insisting on greater productivity and accountability.

To do all this, we will make education the first priority in every budget we write. That will not be easy. Developing a quality education system depends on the soundness of our fiscal and tax policies. That's why it's so important to write budgets that are sustainable beyond the current biennium. And that's why we must maintain a prudent reserve, so we'll have funds to see us through a recession without cutting schools or vital services.

This year, a balanced approach to budgeting will also include tax relief. In the last biennium, we gave almost a billion dollars in tax breaks to business. Isn't it time to help working families? That means property tax relief for middle-class homeowners. Of course, I also support rolling back the business and occupation tax to pre-1993 levels. We raised that tax in a time of fiscal emergency. That emergency has passed, and it's important that we keep faith with the business community by repealing the increase.

We also have a host of other problems that urgently need our attention. We need to agree on a bipartisan, comprehensive plan to invest in our transportation system, on which all our jobs and our economic growth depend.

Our farmers need good highways and rail systems to get their crops to market. Our commuters need transit and car pool lanes, so they can spend more time with their children and less time stuck in traffic. Our ports need a transportation system that supports the growth of our international trade, which generates so many of our new jobs. There is a great deal our state can and must do to increase our competitive position in the world economy. We have an opportunity to improve Washington's international trade climate. I'm committed to establishing strong personal relationships with overseas governments and business leaders to help Washington companies expand existing export markets and establish new ones.

It's also time to break the stalemate and make some tough decisions about how to use and protect our water resources, which have been tangled in a web of conflicts and controversies year after year. It's time to fine-tune and also re-affirm our commitments to manage growth, to protect fish and wildlife, and to preserve the vitality of our farms and our forests.

As a result of last year's federal welfare reform legislation, we have a once-in-a-lifetime chance to redesign our social safety net, so that it reflects our mainstream values of hard work, hope and opportunity. If we do this right, we can reduce poverty and protect children and that ought to be our purpose.

So I will propose a system that puts work first a system designed to help people in need build on their strengths rather than be paralyzed by their problems. To make welfare reform succeed, we need to become partners with the business community to find jobs and to improve training programs, so that every entry-level job in Washington is the first step on a career ladder rather than a treadmill that keeps the poor stuck in place. And to make work the solution to poverty, we need to make sure that work pays more than being on public assistance.

At the same time, we have a duty to ensure that the ill, elderly and disabled live with dignity, and that legal immigrants who have paid local, state and federal taxes are not denied equal treatment and equal protection.

And finally, we have waited too long to fix our juvenile justice system a system that lets kids get away with too much; that misses too many opportunities to turn kids around; and that leaves too many of us vulnerable to violent and dangerous young criminals. To procrastinate on any one of these issues from education to water to juvenile justice is to court disaster. The clock is ticking. A new century is coming at us like a bullet train. And it's up to us to either rise to these challenges, or watch as that train rushes by.

If we cultivate a habit of genuine partnership entered into with a commitment to solving problems and achieving results we can accomplish all of our goals. Students, parents and teachers can create the best schools in the world. Community leaders, local and state officials can build a transportation system second to none. And farmers, city-dwellers, tribal governments and developers can, if they work as real partners, untangle the web of water disputes and find ways to protect this precious resource.

We must all come together, work together, and stay together until our work is complete. Let's work as hard as our parents and grandparents did. Let's match their record of accomplishment, and their level of responsibility to the next generation.

As most of you already know, Mona and I are expecting our first child in March. So in very rapid succession, I will be blessed with two titles that carry immense responsibility and immense honor: Governor and Dad.

As the advent of fatherhood gets closer, I am more and more conscious that everything I do as governor and everything we do together we do for our children.

Our child will be a child of the 21st Century. He or she will come of age in a world that we can scarcely imagine. But it is his or her world that we must now work together to create. For our children and yours, I want to foster a new century of personal responsibility, of community, and of hope and optimism.

Please help me carry on the Locke family tradition of focusing on those three crucial values: get a good education, work hard, and take care of each other.

With your hand in partnership, and with an abiding faith in the essential goodness of the people of our great state, I want to devote the next four years to making the American Dream come true for children whose faces we have yet to see. Thank you.

Mr. President: Thank you, Governor Locke for your moving and thoughtful comments.

Mr. Speaker: Thank you, Governor Locke, for those remarks and those challenges. Congratulations on your new position and God's speed as you begin to assume the responsibility in tackling the duties of your new job. Having begun our political careers together, when we first took the oath of office as State representatives in 1983, we share a lot of history. I dare say that when we first set out fourteen years ago neither one of dreamed that the other would be standing here today in our respective positions. (Governor Locke: We fooled leadership.) Yet here we are. I am very excited at the opportunity that we now have to embark on a new chapter in our personal relationship. While we have, on separate occasions, taken somewhat different approaches to the issues we have been working on, we share common hopes and desires. Our commitment to serve what we sincerely believe to be in the best interest of our constituents and to serve them to the best of our abilities was the same just as it is today. You and I have the opportunity to work with. I know for an absolute fact that both of us have felt challenged as we carry out our respective duties and our responsibilities over the years. But the greatest challenge of all is ours today as we begin to work together in the roles we never expected have together and that challenge is to generate a spirit of cooperation and good will which enables us to reach the objectives we have in common. Most of all, I look forward to your friendship as we move together.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Chief Justice Durham: I feel very honored this morning to be speaking with you on the same day we honor the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. During his life, Dr. King spoke eloquently and often about justice. In his famous letter from a Birmingham Jail he wrote: "Injustice anywhere. . . is a threat to justice everywhere." And shortly before his tragic death, he suggested to some friends the wording for his own eulogy. He said, in part: "Yes, if you want to say that I am a drum major, say that I was a drum major for justice."

The question before us this morning is: "What are we doing to make the justice system better for all our citizens?" I am pleased to report that from Bellingham to Vancouver, Aberdeen to Pullman — our courts and our judges have been working hard to make our justice system efficient.

Thanks to your support in the legislature, and the voter's approval of Initiative 8210 two years ago, we have brought stability to judicial leadership. For more than one hundred years, chief justices in our state automatically rotated as Chief Justice for a single, two-year term. Today, I stand before you as the first chief justice who has been elected by the court to serve a four-year term. My colleague, Justice Jim Dolliver, our court's most senior member and a former chief justice, has become the court's first Associate Chief Justice, or second in command.

Stabilizing judicial leadership will enable us to operate more efficiently as we sharpen our judicial vision and create our first statewide, long-range plan.

Three of our justices have been working hard to make the courts more accessible — not only to litigants — but also to citizens, voters, and others who need our help. Justice Charles Z. Smith has served for 8 years as chair of the Washington Minority and Justice Commission. The commission has conducted groundbreaking cultural diversity studies and educational programs to ensure that all people are treated fairly and equally.

Justice Charles Johnson chairs the Supreme Court Rules Committee, which is working on ways to streamline court procedures to make courts more "user friendly." Justice Johnson's efforts include revising the rule-making process to provide for more public participation.

Associate Chief Justice Jim Dolliver presides over our court interpreter committee. We are one of the very few state judicial systems that train and certify foreign language interpreters to work in courts with those who speak little or no English.

Let's now examine some of our judiciary's exciting innovations, in the areas of television and technology. In the past, very few people visited our court to observe cases being argued. . . until recently. Now, friends and utter strangers stop us on the street and tell us what they thought about a case we heard two days ago—or even that morning. That's the power of television. Our hearings, we understand, were the first gavel-to-gavel, appellate court proceedings televised live, anywhere in the world. This innovative educational tool is a two-way street - TVW takes the court to the people and it brings people to the court.

In addition to having a presence on television, we are also taking advantage of the technology of the Internet. The Washington Court Home Page has become a popular web site. You can now find current Supreme Court opinions on-line. We also plan to put on-line the court's past opinions in cooperation with Gonzaga Law School. Besides judicial opinions, our web pages offer a wealth of general and technical information about the courts.

Another successful project that combined technology and cooperation, was recommended by the Walsh Commission -- that was the Judicial Voter's Pamphlet. Last year the Court directed distribution of the first, statewide judicial voter pamphlet ever published in Washington. Under the leadership of a committee chaired by Justice Gerry Alexander and Justice Phil Talmadge, and the generous cooperation of our state's daily newspapers, we distributed nearly one and a quarter million pamphlets.

Citizens received the pamphlets just before the September primary, the time when most judges are elected. Voters received thorough, helpful information about each judicial candidates' qualifications. By means of this public and private endeavor, we were able to print and deliver the pamphlets for only three-and-one-half-cents a copy. The response we received was overwhelmingly positive. Many voters asked us to produce the pamphlet regularly. We also posted voter information on the Internet. More than twelve hundred individuals accessed our Internet edition.

Improving the information voters have about judicial candidates was only one of the recommendations of the Walsh Commission. At the core of that report is a recommendation that would change the way judges are selected in our state. I believe that judges -- all judges -- should be elected -- that voters should have the right to cast a ballot about the competence of every judge. There are, of course, many ways to achieve that goal. During the next few years, I anticipate a healthy and vigorous debate on this subject.

I would like to now turn to our criminal justice system. I am particularly proud of the leadership the judicial branch has demonstrated in dealing with the issue of domestic violence. Domestic violence is a crime that afflicts every community, and every racial, ethnic, and economic group. How large is the problem? In 1994, the courts in our state handled nearly 31,000 petitions for domestic violence and civil-harassment protection orders. That's about 84 cases a day, one every 17 minutes. In the last legislative session alone, you considered 34 different measures, introduced to eliminate the problem of domestic violence. As judicial leaders, we firmly believe that domestic violence must be dealt with in a coordinated comprehensive way. Two years ago, Attorney General Christine Gregoire, Justice Richard Guy and I hosted the first domestic violence "summit". As a follow up, last month we called a second statewide summit. In that meeting, we continued to build relationships among organizations and to foster cooperation. We also heard encouraging reports from local leaders about their efforts to combat the problem. In the Tri-cities, for example, a summit was hosted by Craig Mattheson, a superior court judge in Benton-Franklin Counties who worked together with the Gender and Justice Commission. The Commission will use the Tri-cities' mini-summit as a model for other cooperative local events.

Next July, we will complete a project that you initiated in 1995 authorizing us to create a statewide domestic violence tracking system. With this tracking system in place, chronic spouse abusers may still run -- but they won't be able to hide their past. Arrest and conviction information will be instantly available to police, prosecutors, and judges across the state. We will know whether or not a civil protection order has been issued in any county in the state, no matter what type of proceeding.

Violent crime is no longer confined to our streets. As you may recall, three women and an unborn child were shot and killed, two years ago, in the hallway outside a busy King County courtroom. I convened an emergency meeting of presiding judges to examine ways our courthouses could be made safer. Yakima County prosecutor, Jeff Sullivan, chaired an advisory group of county commissioners, lawyers, judges, law enforcement officers, and security experts. Together, they developed a set of safety guidelines. These guidelines form a "blueprint for safety," and are being adopted in many of our courts and courthouses. The personal well-being of the public is always a high priority.

As every judge, county commissioner and each of you know, our state's jail and prison space is severely limited. Space is especially limited for juvenile detention. The professionals in juvenile court realize that they must act early, particularly with young, high-risk offenders. Our state's Early Intervention Program, which is in place in 12 juvenile courts, allows court officials to reach juvenile offenders early in their probation through the use of intensive monitoring. Our courts have worked hard to explore alternatives to incarceration. Today, throughout the state, courts are experimenting with aggressive electronic home-monitoring, weekend schooling, day-reporting-centers, and community-service work crews. Judges have long recognized the connection between crime, delinquency, and the state of health of our families. Judicial and legislative leaders are continuing to work together to help, reconcile troubled youth and their families. Last year our courts handled more than 9000 truancy petitions, compared to a statewide total the year before of just 91! Superior court judges helped shape some of last session's most far-reaching juvenile measures. We will continue to work with you to deal with the challenges of our criminal justice system.

Let's now turn to legislative and judicial cooperation. Because our functions sometimes overlap, we took another step last November, aimed at a more effective partnership with the legislature. We sponsored a leadership workshop to discuss our mutual roles in establishing our state's laws. Important questions were explored. For example:..."What steps can the legislature take to ensure that its intent is preserved when constitutional questions are raised?" And, "How can we better assure that laws are interpreted the way the legislature intended?" We will continue to explore these and other questions — that affect both civil and criminal laws.

Another challenge we all face is the way we manage our limited resources. Local courts have found new ways, and often new resources, to meet these budget challenges. A good example of how our judicial leaders are finding innovative ways to manage their limited resources is the "courts helping courts" program. In order to stretch employee resources, staff members from one court visit another to lend help and expertise. And, to hold down expenses, host courts accommodate visitors in their own homes. Judges from the trial courts to the appellate courts are striving to maximize limited resources.

The Supreme Court voted unanimously just last week to seek your support for a bill requiring appellate judges, upon leaving the bench, to complete their opinions within 60 days.

Last month, Judge Faith Ireland, President of the Superior Court Judges' Association and Judge Robert McBeth, President of the District and Municipal Court Judges' Association, held four meetings across the state to discuss funding issues. Judges recognize the growing challenges you and county commissioners face in finding ways to keep pace with the rising costs of the criminal justice system. We pledge our cooperation in trying to find new and more efficient ways to allocate scarce dollars.

Recently, we scrutinized our entire court budget. Under the leadership of Justices Phil Talmadge and Richard Guy, the Supreme Court initiated a zero-based budget process to take a hard look at where our departments could reduce expenses. We used this process to construct our budget proposal for the upcoming biennium. We have also just completed an internal management review, coordinated by Justice Alexander. Our goal was to improve our internal communications and day-to-day operations. We have now reviewed all of our operations — and evaluated our core functions. We will ask you to consider legislation to update some of our operations.

These and others efforts will allow us to hold the line on expenses while keeping the wheels of justice turning. Another example of cooperation, is the state's improved lawyer discipline system. The bench and the bar have been working together to improve the process by which lawyers are disciplined, and to make the process more responsive to the needs of the public. Based on recommendations made by a joint task force of judges, lawyers, and the public at large, the Washington State Bar Association significantly reorganized its discipline process. The bar underwrites the discipline system at a cost of two-point-three million dollars a year. And lawyers pay for it—no public tax money is involved.

To do this, the state bar association has

- . increased bar association dues
- . doubled the staff who review complaints
- . and created consumer affairs positions to serve the public.

The bar may now cooperate with criminal investigations and the public can get more information on past sanctions. Already we see dramatic improvements in the way complaints are handled. For the first time in years, more cases were closed last year than were opened. Later this month the Court will publish, for comment, these and other recommendations for improving the lawyer discipline system.

Five individuals in particular have contributed their vision and leadership to this project. I would like to recognize their contributions. They are:

- . Current bar president Tom Chambers;
- . Former chief justice Jim Andersen;
- . Former bar president Paul Stritmatter;

- . Chair of the board of governor's discipline committee,
- . Peter Ehrlichman; and
- . The association's chief disciplinary counsel, Barrie Althoff.

Let me share with you two examples of how we are using technology to make our courts more efficient. To make valuable court information more readily available, Judicial Information System terminals can be found in the Office of Support Enforcement, Department of Licensing, and in county prosecutor's offices. The State Patrol and some local law enforcement offices also have access to our data. Last month a performance audit was conducted on our JIS by the National Center for State Courts in Virginia. Representative Ballard, you will be pleased with the results of the audit: The report states that our JIS staffing levels are among the most efficient in the country. We operate more efficiently, and reliably, and at less cost-per-user than...

- . comparable systems in other states,
- . similar systems in Washington State,
- . and even systems in the private sector.

Chaired by Justice Phil Talmadge, JIS now handles six-hundred, seventy-five thousand transactions a day. This number will soon reach the million mark.

And now for something different . . . .

Judges are not often perceived as "warm and fuzzy". But a unique program which brings judges into the classrooms to explain our legal system has received high marks. This isn't a new program. When I came to the court 12 years ago, I was concerned that judges were isolated from the public. Having been raised by a mother who was an educator for forty years, this idea was a natural. Co-chaired by Justice Richard Sanders and myself, a group of judges, educators, lawyers and members of the public have developed lesson plans for students from kindergarten through college about our legal system. Judges who volunteer their time are partnered with teachers around the state to visit classrooms. Since the program's beginning, over 130 judges have educated more than 1,300 students.

Just last week, a committee of judges chose public education as the theme for our annual fall judicial conference. In early September some 300 judges will arrive in Yakima. At least 100 of them will have the opportunity to visit local schools from Zilla to Sunnyside. We even hope to visit one of the most exciting educational facilities in our state, Heritage College. Set on the Yakama Indian Reservation not far from Toppenish, Heritage College is led by Dr. Kathleen Ross, a Roman Catholic nun. Fifty percent of undergraduates at Heritage College are either Native-American or Hispanic-American. Eighty-five percent are the first in their families to attend college.

Heritage College was established through the mutual efforts of Dr. Ross, Yakima community leaders and the Yakama Indian Nation. It is an unusual and outstanding institution and certainly one that would have pleased Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dr. King closed his Birmingham letter saying: "We are caught in an inescapable network of mutuality, tied in a single garment of destiny. Whatever affects one directly, affects us all indirectly."

Together let us continue to seek what is fair, what is right, and what is just for the citizens who have placed their trust in us. Thank you.

(H) REMARKS CONFINED. A member shall confine all remarks to the question under debate and avoid personalities. No member shall impugn the motive of any member's vote or argument.

(I) EXCEPTION TO WORDS SPOKEN IN DEBATE. If any member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling the member to order shall repeat the words excepted to and they shall be taken down in writing at the clerk's table. No member shall be held in answer or be subject to the censure of the house for words spoken in debate if any other member has spoken before exception to them shall have been taken.

(J) TRANSGRESSION OF RULES - APPEAL. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the house the speaker shall, or any member may, call the member to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down unless permitted to explain; and the house shall, if appealed to, decide the case without debate; if there be no appeal, the decision of the chair shall prevail.

If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, the member shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, and the case shall require it, the member shall be liable to the censure of the house.

Ending of Debate - Previous Question

Rule 18. The previous question may be ordered by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present on all recognized motions or amendments which are debatable.

The previous question is not debatable and cannot be amended.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Representative _____ demands the previous question. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'Aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'No'."

The results of the motion are as follows: If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative it shall have the effect of cutting off all debate and bringing the house to a direct vote upon the motion or amendment on which it has been ordered: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That when a bill is on final passage or when the motion to postpone indefinitely is pending, one of the sponsors of the bill or the chair of the committee may have the privilege of closing debate after the previous question has been ordered.

If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered, the motion or proposition on which the previous question was ordered shall be put to the house immediately following the approval of the journal on the next working day, thus making the main question privileged over all other business, whether new or unfinished.

Voting

Rule 19. (A) PUTTING OF QUESTION. The speaker shall put the question in the following form: "The question before the house is (state the question). As many as are in favor say 'Aye'; and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "as many as are opposed say 'No'."

All motions to excuse a member shall be made before the house divides or before the call for yeas and nays is commenced; and any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief and verbal statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

Upon a division and count of the house on the question, only members at their desks within the bar of the house shall be counted.

(C) CHANGE OF VOTE. When the electric roll call machine is used, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the speaker has locked the roll call machine. When an oral roll call is taken, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the result has been announced.

(D) PRIVATE INTEREST. No member shall vote on any question which affects that member privately and particularly. A member who has a private interest in any bill or measure proposed or pending before the legislature shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon. (Art. II § 30)

(E) INTERRUPTION OF ROLL CALL. Once begun, the roll call may not be interrupted. No member or other person shall visit or remain at the clerk's desk while the yeas and nays are being called.

(F) YEAS AND NAYS - RECORDED VOTES. Upon the final passage of any bill, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and shall be recorded by the electric voting system: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That an oral roll call shall be ordered when demanded by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. (Art. II § 21)

The speaker may vote last when the yeas and nays are called.

When the vote is by electric voting machine or by oral roll call on any question, it shall be entered upon the journal of the house. A recorded vote may be compelled by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. A request for a recorded vote must be made before the vote is commenced.

(G) TIE VOTE, QUESTION LOSES. In case of an equal division, the question shall be lost.

(H) DIVISION. If the speaker is in doubt, or if division is called for by any member, the house shall divide.

Reconsideration

Rule 20. Notice of a motion for reconsideration on the final passage of bills shall be made on the day the vote to be reconsidered was taken and before the house has voted to transmit the bill to the senate.

Reconsideration of the votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the next working day after such vote was taken: PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution, or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, then reconsideration of votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the same day as the original vote was taken.

A motion to reconsider an amendment may be made at any time the bill remains on second reading.

Any member who voted on the prevailing side may move for reconsideration or give notice thereof.

A motion to reconsider can be decided only once when decided in the negative.

When a motion to reconsider has been carried, its effect shall be to place the original question before the house in the exact position it occupied before it was voted upon.

Call of the House

Rule 21. One-sixth (1/6) of the members present may demand a call of the house at any time before the house has divided or the voting has commenced by yeas and nays.

(A) DOORS TO BE CLOSED. When call of the house has been ordered, the sergeant at arms shall close and lock the doors, and no member shall be allowed to leave the chamber: PROVIDED, That the rules committee shall be allowed to meet, upon request of the speaker, while the house stands at ease: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That the speaker may permit members to use such portions of the fourth floor as may be properly secured.

(B) SERGEANT AT ARMS TO BRING IN THE ABSENTEES. The clerk shall immediately call a roll of the members and note the absentees, whose names shall be read and entered upon the journal in such manner as to show who are excused and who are absent without leave.

The clerk shall furnish the sergeant at arms with a list of those who are absent without leave, and the sergeant at arms shall proceed to bring in such absentees; but arrests of members for absence shall not be made unless ordered by a majority of the members present.

(C) HOUSE UNDER CALL. While the house is under a call, no business shall be transacted except to receive and act on the report of the sergeant at arms; and no other motion shall be in order except a motion to proceed with business under the call of the house or a motion to excuse absentees. The motion to excuse absent members shall not be adopted unless a majority of the members elected vote in favor thereof.

Appeal from Decision of Chair

There being no objection, the House advanced to the eighth order of business.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 97-4607, by Representatives D. Schmidt, Dyer, Talcott, Schoesler, B. Thomas, Koster, Cooke, Carlson, Smith, Zellinsky, Sehlin, DeBolt, Ballasiotes, Hankins, Sherstad, Backlund, Skinner, Conway, Scott, Cole, Anderson, Dunn, Carrell, Hickel, Sullivan, Quall, Mastin, Thompson, McDonald, Johnson, Benson, Lisk, Lambert, Delvin, Robertson, Mitchell, Sterk, Crouse, L. Thomas, Bush, D. Sommers, Lantz, Wensman, Clements, Chandler, Mielke, Boldt, Huff, Sheahan, Sump, Honeyford, Chopp, Hatfield, Mulliken and Morris

WHEREAS, Over eight thousand men and women of the Washington National Guard, consisting of the Army National Guard and the Air National Guard, continue to serve the country as a key part of our national defense; and

WHEREAS, These citizen soldiers and airmen reside in every legislative district throughout Washington and through the gift of their time and personal energies serve the needs of the people of Washington State; and

WHEREAS, The Guard is active in promoting positive activities for the youth of our state through active involvement in the Guard's helicopter outreach programs, drug demand reduction presentations at local schools, and Camp Minuteman, a motivational summer youth experience at Camp Murray; and

WHEREAS, The Guard makes a major contribution to our state's counter drug effort by providing over sixty soldiers and airmen on duty throughout the year in thirty-five different local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies. Guard men and women supported and participated in over four thousand fifty arrests and seizure of over two hundred fifty million dollars in drugs, assets, and cash; and

WHEREAS, In communities throughout the state, the Guard continues to be an essential source of social support for our communities by making armories available for public use as classrooms, food banks, and centers for community and youth activities. The Guard also answered numerous calls for assistance from local communities for missions varying from traditional color guards to hauling food in support of antihunger initiatives; and

WHEREAS, The Guard continues to demonstrate its essential role as an integral part of the state's ability to protect and sustain the lives and property of its citizens. The Guard was ready when windstorms and floods threatened Washington citizens during November and December 1995. In February 1996 over three hundred airmen and soldiers responded to disaster from flooding in twenty-one counties in our state. Citizen soldiers and airmen from the Guard evacuated people from rooftops and flooded homes and farms. National Guard soldiers and airmen delivered hundreds of thousands of sandbags to stricken communities throughout our state. November 1996 brought out the Guard to help the citizens of Spokane when an ice storm disrupted the power and water supplies for thousands of homes. In December 1996 the Guard answered the call when thirty Washington counties were struck by a devastating ice storm, a snowstorm, and the resulting floods as the snow and ice melted. Soldiers and airmen worked side by side to help evacuate stricken homes, direct traffic, assist over-burdened law enforcement officials, transport medical personnel through snow blocked streets, and fill and place sandbags in flooded areas; and

WHEREAS, These soldiers and airmen sacrifice their time, comfort, and energies to protect and preserve the lives and property of their fellow citizens. In doing so, these dedicated people demonstrate the vitality of the great tradition of sacrifice and service to State and Nation that characterize the Washington National Guard; and

WHEREAS, The Washington National Guard is composed of citizen soldiers and airmen who, in the noble and time-honored tradition of the Minutemen from the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1636, stand ready at a moment's notice to answer the call of need from their State or Country to protect and guarantee the blessings of liberty and providence or to respond to calamity or natural disaster;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives express its appreciation to the families and employers of our Guard soldiers and airmen for their support without which the Guard's mission could not be successful; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives specifically and particularly recognize the value of a strong Washington National Guard to the economy and well-being of this state, both through the performance of its state disaster relief mission, and through the ongoing benefit to local communities by the presence of productively employed, drug free, and efficiently trained Guard members and the armories that house them; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Honorable William J. Clinton, President of the United States; the Honorable Gary Locke, Governor of the State of Washington; the Adjutant General of the Washington National Guard; the Secretary of the Army; and the Secretary of the Air Force.

Representative D. Schmidt moved adoption of the resolution.

Representatives D. Schmidt, Sullivan, Dyer, Mason, and D. Sommers spoke in favor of the resolution.

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

I wish to reflect back to Desert Storm in which the Washington National Guard performed with absolute total quality. We are very proud of the job that you do as citizens of Washington State. Thank you from all of us.

MOTION

On motion of Representative DeBolt, Representatives Backlund and Johnson were excused.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative D. Schmidt: I would like to note that Governor Locke re-appointed Major General Gregory P. Barlow to head the Military Department.

EIGHTEENTH DAY, JANUARY 30, 1997

NOTICE: Formatting and page numbering in this document may be different from that in the original published version.

NINETEENTH DAY

AFTERNOON SESSION

House Chamber, Olympia, Friday, January 31, 1997

The House was called to order at 1:30 p.m. by the Speaker (Representative Pennington).

Reading of the Journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was ordered to stand approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

Mr. Speaker:

The Senate has passed:

ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5212, and the same is herewith transmitted.

Mike O'Connell, Secretary

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives Legislature of the State of Washington
Olympia Washington

Mr. Speaker:

On January 13, 1997, this office certified that we had begun the signature checking process on Initiative to the Legislature #192 which was originally filed with this office on April 4, 1996.

We have completed a canvass of 58,883 signatures out of 188,967 signatures submitted in support of this measure. Of the number canvassed, we have determined that 49,380 were signatures of legal voters, 9,503 were either not registered, illegible or were multiple signatures.

Article II, section 1A of the State Constitution establishes the minimum number of acceptable signatures in order to qualify an initiative measure for the ballot as eight percent of the total votes cast for the office of Governor, or 181,667 signatures. The total number of invalid signatures permissible on Initiative Measure #192, therefore is 7,300 (188,967 - 181,667).

Since the total number of invalid signatures discovered during the canvassing procedure was 9,503, which exceeds the permissible number, we have terminated the signature checking process and we are unable to certify the measure to you for your consideration.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 29th day of January, 1997.
(SEAL)

RALPH MUNRO, Secretary of State

VETO MESSAGE ON HB 2447-S

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable Speaker and Members,
The House of Representatives of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute House Bill No. 2447 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to business and occupation tax exemptions for wholesale transactions involving motor vehicles at auctions;"

Substitute House Bill No. 2447 creates a new business and occupation tax exemption for proceeds from the sale of automobiles at a wholesale car auction.

Substitute House Bill No. 2447 would benefit only a few taxpayers, primarily large automobile companies that dispose of vehicles at wholesale auctions and the auction houses that sell them. This exemption would neither create nor preserve a significant number of permanent jobs in our state.

Moreover, Substitute House Bill No. 2447 sets a precedent for other businesses to seek similar exemptions to relieve them of business and occupation taxes on the auction of construction equipment or other goods. I cannot approve of this variation in general revenue policy.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Substitute House Bill No. 2447 in its entirety.

submitted,

Respectfully

Mike Lowry
Governor

There being no objection, the House advanced to the eighth order of business.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that although state agency rules are intended to protect essential public health, safety, environmental, and welfare functions and to protect citizens from the unwarranted exercise of power by public officials, many of the rules adopted by state agencies have, in fact, impeded the public welfare and imposed unnecessary cost, burden, and complexity. The legislature further finds that there has been a vast increase in the number and complexity of permits, licenses, certificates, and other approvals that individuals and organizations must obtain from an increasing number of government agencies in order to undertake commercial, industrial, and personal projects or activities in the state. Further, many of these rules are difficult to understand, and duplicate or may conflict with other regulations.

The legislature further finds that the inefficiencies and intrusions resulting from excessive government regulation constitute an unreasonable financial and personal burden on residents of the state. Unnecessary and inconsistent government regulation inconveniences individuals, inhibits business growth and the creation of jobs, and places Washington's industries at a competitive disadvantage relative to their out-of-state and foreign competitors.

It is the intent of the legislature to better serve the citizens of the state by reducing the number, length, and complexity of agency rules, leaving only those that are essential to the public good.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) Each agency shall promptly undertake a review of every rule which it has adopted, other than an emergency rule, which is in effect on the effective date of this act.

(2) After conducting the review required by chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act), and except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, each agency shall sunset all of its rules on or before twenty-four months after the effective date of this act by taking such steps as are required by law to repeal or amend such rules.

(3) Each agency shall retain only those rules which are mandated by law or essential to the health, safety, environment, or welfare of the state's residents. To find that a rule meets this standard, an agency must demonstrate, in its review, that: (a) There is a specific need for governmental intervention that is clearly identified and precisely defined; (b) the rule is not excessively costly and does not require outdated methods of technology; (c) less restrictive and intrusive alternatives have been considered and found less desirable based on a sound evaluation of the alternatives; (d) the agency has established a process and a schedule for measuring the effectiveness of the regulation; and (e) the rule is time-limited or provides for regular review. Rules not meeting this standard shall be repealed, or amended to meet this standard, in accordance with law.

(4) In its review, each agency shall ensure that every rule is clear, concise and drawn in plain and readily understandable language. Each agency shall adopt the shortest and simplest rules necessary to achieve the purposes of such rules. In the review required by this act, each agency shall demonstrate how this objective has been achieved.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. An agency may adopt only those new rules which meet the standards of chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act). Any new rule must also be approved pursuant to such standards, terms, and schedules as the director of the financial management shall establish under section 5 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Each agency shall appoint a senior official who shall be the contact person for all actions and reviews pursuant to chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act). The agency head may, but need not, designate herself or himself as the contact person.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The director of financial management shall, consistent with the requirements of law, establish such standards, terms, and schedules as the director deems appropriate and necessary to accomplish the reviews of existing and newly proposed rules as required by chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act). The director may also provide for such waivers or exceptions as are essential for the public health, safety, environment, or welfare.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Sections 2 through 5 of this act shall constitute new sections in chapter 34.05 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately."

(1) Any sales of the property being appraised or similar properties with respect to sales made within the past five years. The appraisal shall be consistent with the comprehensive land use plan, development regulations under chapter 36.70A RCW, zoning, and any other governmental policies or practices in effect at the time of appraisal that affect the use of property, as well as physical and environmental influences. The appraisal shall also take into account: (a) In the use of sales by real estate contract as similar sales, the extent, if any, to which the stated selling price has been increased by reason of the down payment, interest rate, or other financing terms; and (b) the extent to which the sale of a similar property actually represents the general effective market demand for property of such type, in the geographical area in which such property is located. Sales involving deed releases or similar seller-developer financing arrangements shall not be used as sales of similar property.

(2) In addition to sales as defined in subsection (1) of this section, consideration may be given to cost, cost less depreciation, reconstruction cost less depreciation, or capitalization of income that would be derived from prudent use of the property. In the case of property of a complex nature, or being used under terms of a franchise from a public agency, or operating as a public utility, or property not having a record of sale within five years and not having a significant number of sales of similar property in the general area, the provisions of this subsection (2) shall be the dominant factors in valuation. When provisions of this subsection (2) are relied upon for establishing values the property owner shall be advised upon request of the factors used in arriving at such value.

(3) In valuing any tract or parcel of real property, the true and fair value of the land, exclusive of structures thereon shall be determined; also the true and fair value of structures thereon, but the appraised valuation shall not exceed the true and fair value of the total property as it exists. In valuing agricultural land, growing crops shall be excluded.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 105. A new section is added to chapter 84.40 RCW to read as follows:

(1) As used in this section:

(a) "Previous assessed value" means the assessed value for the year immediately preceding the year for which a calculation is being made under this section.

(b) "Current appraised value" means the appraised value for the year for which a calculation is being made under this section.

(c) "Total value increase" means the current appraised value minus the previous assessed value. Total value increase can never be less than zero.

(d) "Improvement increase" means the portion of the total value increase attributable to any physical improvements made to the property since the previous assessment, other than improvements exempt under RCW 84.36.400 for the year for which a calculation is being made under this section. Improvement increase can never be less than zero.

(e) "Market increase" means the total value increase minus the improvement increase. Market increase can never be less than zero.

(2) The assessed value of property is equal to the lesser of the current appraised value or a limited value determined under this section. The limited value is equal to the greater of:

(a) The improvement increase plus one hundred fifteen percent of the previous assessed value;

(b) The sum of:

(i) The previous assessed value;

(ii) The improvement increase; and

(iii) Twenty-five percent of the market increase.

(3) Upon loss of preferential tax treatment for property that qualifies for preferential tax treatment under chapter 84.14, 84.26, 84.33, 84.34, or 84.36 RCW, the previous assessed value shall be the assessed value the property would have had without the preferential tax treatment.

Sec. 106. RCW 84.40.040 and 1988 c 222 s 15 are each amended to read as follows:

The assessor shall begin the preliminary work for each assessment not later than the first day of December of each year in all counties in the state. The assessor shall also complete the duties of listing and placing valuations on all property by May 31st of each year, except that the listing and valuation of construction and mobile homes under RCW ((36.21.040 through) 36.21.080 and 36.21.090 shall be completed by August 31st of each year, and in the following manner, to wit:

The assessor shall actually determine as nearly as practicable the true and fair value of each tract or lot of land listed for taxation and of each improvement located thereon and shall enter as the appraised value one hundred percent of the true and fair value of such land and of the total true and fair value of such improvements, together with the total of such one hundred percent valuations, opposite each description of property on the assessment list and tax roll.

The assessor shall determine the assessed value, under section 105 of this act, for each tract or lot of land listed for taxation, including improvements located thereon, and shall also enter this value opposite each description of property on the assessment list and tax roll.

The assessor shall make an alphabetical list of the names of all persons in the county liable to assessment of personal property, and require each person to make a correct list and statement of such property according to the standard form prescribed by the department of revenue, which statement and list shall include, if required by the form, the year of acquisition and total original cost of personal property in each category of the prescribed form, and shall be signed and verified under penalty of perjury by the person listing the property: PROVIDED, That the assessor may list and value improvements on publicly owned land in the same manner as real property is listed and valued, including conformance with the revaluation program required under chapter 84.41 RCW. Such list and statement shall be filed on or before the last day of April. The assessor shall on or before the 1st day of January of each year mail a notice to all such persons at their last known address that such statement and list is required, such notice to be accompanied by the form on which the statement or list is to be made: PROVIDED, That the notice mailed by the assessor to each taxpayer each year shall, if practicable, include the statement and list of personal property of the taxpayer for the preceding year. Upon receipt of such statement and list the assessor shall thereupon determine the true and fair value of the property included in such statement and enter one hundred percent of the same on the assessment roll opposite the name of the party assessed; and in making such entry in the assessment list, the assessor shall give the name and post office address of the party listing the property, and if the party resides in a city the assessor shall give the street and number or other brief description of the party's residence or place of business. The assessor may, after giving written notice of the action to the person to be assessed, add to the assessment list any taxable property which should be included in such list.

Sec. 107. RCW 84.40.045 and 1994 c 301 s 36 are each amended to read as follows:

The assessor shall give notice of any change in the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of real property for the tract or lot of land and any improvements thereon no later than thirty days after appraisal: PROVIDED, That no such notice shall be mailed during the period from January 15 to February 15 of each year: PROVIDED FURTHER, That no notice need be sent with respect to changes in valuation of forest land made pursuant to chapter 84.33 RCW.

The notice shall contain a statement of both the prior and the new ~~((true and fair))~~ appraised and assessed values ~~((and the ratio of the assessed value to the true and fair value on which the assessment of the property is based))~~, stating separately land and improvement appraised values, and a brief statement of the procedure for appeal to the board of equalization and the time, date, and place of the meetings of the board.

The notice shall be mailed by the assessor to the taxpayer.

If any taxpayer, as shown by the tax rolls, holds solely a security interest in the real property which is the subject of the notice, pursuant to a mortgage, contract of sale, or deed of trust, such taxpayer shall, upon written request of the assessor, supply, within thirty days of receipt of such request, to the assessor the name and address of the person making payments pursuant to the mortgage, contract of sale, or deed of trust, and thereafter such person shall also receive a copy of the notice provided for in this section. Willful failure to comply with such request within the time limitation provided for herein shall make such taxpayer subject to a maximum civil penalty of five thousand dollars. The penalties provided for herein shall be recoverable in an action by the county prosecutor, and when recovered shall be deposited in the county current expense fund. The assessor shall make the request provided for by this section during the month of January.

Sec. 108. RCW 84.41.041 and 1987 c 319 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

Each county assessor shall cause taxable real property to be physically inspected and valued at least once every six years in accordance with RCW 84.41.030, and in accordance with a plan filed with and approved by the department of revenue. Such revaluation plan shall provide that a reasonable portion of all taxable real property within a county shall be revalued and these newly-determined values placed on the assessment rolls each year. The department may approve a plan that provides that all property in the county be revalued every two years. If the revaluation plan provides for physical inspection at least once each four years, during the intervals between each physical inspection of real property, the appraised valuation of such property may be adjusted to its current true and fair value, such adjustments to be based upon appropriate statistical data. If the revaluation plan provides for physical inspection less frequently than once each four years, during the intervals between each physical inspection of real property, the appraised valuation of such property shall be adjusted to its current true and fair value, such adjustments to be made once each year and to be based upon appropriate statistical data. If the appraised valuation is changed, the assessed value shall be recalculated under section 105 of this act.

The assessor may require property owners to submit pertinent data respecting taxable property in their control including data respecting any sale or purchase of said property within the past five years, the cost and characteristics of any improvement on the property and other facts necessary for appraisal of the property.

Sec. 109. RCW 84.48.010 and 1988 c 222 s 20 are each amended to read as follows:

Prior to July 15th, the county legislative authority shall form a board for the equalization of the assessment of the property of the county. The members of said board shall receive a per diem amount as set by the county legislative authority for each day of actual attendance of the meeting of the board of equalization to be paid out of the current expense fund of the county: PROVIDED, That when the county legislative authority constitute the board they shall only receive their compensation as members of the county legislative authority. The board of equalization shall meet in open session for this purpose annually on the 15th day of July and, having each taken an oath fairly and impartially to perform their duties as members of such board, they shall examine and compare the returns of the assessment of the property of the county and proceed to equalize the same, so that the appraised value of each tract or lot of real property and each article or class of personal property shall be entered on the assessment list at its true and fair value, according to the measure of value used by the county assessor in such assessment year, ~~((which is presumed to be correct pursuant to RCW 84.40.0301))~~ and so that the assessed value of each tract or lot of real property is entered on the assessment list at its correct amount, and subject to the following rules:

First. They shall raise the appraised valuation of each tract or lot or item of real property which is returned below its true and fair value to such price or sum as to be the true and fair value thereof, and raise the assessed valuation of each tract or lot or item of real property which is returned below its correct amount to the correct amount after at least five days' notice shall have been given in writing to the owner or agent.

Second. They shall reduce the appraised valuation of each tract or lot or item which is returned above its true and fair value to such price or sum as to be the true and fair value thereof and reduce the assessed valuation of each tract or lot or item of real property which is returned above its correct amount to the correct amount.

Third. They shall raise the valuation of each class of personal property which is returned below its true and fair value to such price or sum as to be the true and fair value thereof, and they shall raise the aggregate value of the personal property of each individual whenever the aggregate value is less than the true valuation of the taxable personal property possessed by such individual, to such sum or amount as to be the true value thereof, after at least five days' notice shall have been given in writing to the owner or agent thereof.

Fourth. They shall reduce the valuation of each class of personal property enumerated on the detail and assessment list of the current year, which is returned above its true and fair value, to such price or sum as to be the true and fair value thereof; and they shall reduce the aggregate valuation of the personal property of such individual who has been assessed at too large a sum to such sum or amount as was the true and fair value of the personal property.

Fifth. The board may review all claims for either real or personal property tax exemption as determined by the county assessor, and shall consider any taxpayer appeals from the decision of the assessor thereon to determine (1) if the taxpayer is entitled to an exemption, and (2) if so, the amount thereof.

The clerk of the board shall keep an accurate journal or record of the proceedings and orders of said board showing the facts and evidence upon which their action is based, and the said record shall be published the same as other proceedings of county legislative authority, and shall make a true record of the changes of the descriptions and ~~((assessed))~~ appraised values ordered by the county board of equalization. The assessor shall recalculate assessed values and correct the real and personal assessment rolls in accordance with the changes made by the said county board of equalization, and the assessor shall make duplicate abstracts of such corrected values, one copy of which shall be retained in the office, and one copy forwarded to the department of revenue on or before the eighteenth day of August next following the meeting of the county board of equalization.

The county board of equalization shall meet on the 15th day of July and may continue in session and adjourn from time to time during a period not to exceed four weeks, but shall remain in session not less than three days: PROVIDED, That the county board of equalization with the approval of the county legislative authority may convene at any time when petitions filed exceed twenty-five, or ten percent of the number of appeals filed in the preceding year, whichever is greater.

No taxes, except special taxes, shall be extended upon the tax rolls until the property valuations are equalized by the department of revenue for the purpose of raising the state revenue.

County legislative authorities as such shall at no time have any authority to change the valuation of the property of any person or to release or commute in whole or in part the taxes due on the property of any person.

Sec. 110. RCW 84.48.065 and 1996 c 296 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The county assessor or treasurer may cancel or correct assessments on the assessment or tax rolls which are erroneous due to manifest errors in description, double assessments, clerical errors in extending the rolls, clerical errors in calculating the assessed value under section 105 of this act, and such manifest errors in the listing of the property which do not involve a revaluation of property, except in the case that a taxpayer produces proof that an authorized land use authority has made a definitive change in the property's land use designation. In such a case, correction of the assessment or tax rolls may be made notwithstanding the fact that the action involves a revaluation of property. Manifest errors that do not involve a revaluation of property include the assessment of property exempted by law from taxation or the failure to deduct the exemption allowed by law to the head of a family. When the county assessor cancels or corrects an assessment, the assessor shall send a notice to the taxpayer in accordance with RCW 84.40.045, advising the taxpayer that the action has been taken and notifying the taxpayer of the right to appeal the cancellation or correction to the county board of equalization, in accordance with RCW 84.40.038. When the county assessor or treasurer cancels or corrects an assessment, a record of such action shall be prepared, setting forth therein the facts relating to the error. The record shall also set forth by legal description all property belonging exclusively to the state, any county, or any municipal corporation whose property is exempt from taxation, upon which there remains, according to the tax roll, any unpaid taxes. No manifest error cancellation or correction, including a cancellation or correction made due to a definitive change of land use designation, shall be made for any period more than three years preceding the year in which the error is discovered.

(2)(a) In the case of a definitive change of land use designation, an assessor shall make corrections that involve a revaluation of property to the assessment roll when:

(i) The assessor and taxpayer have signed an agreement as to the true and fair value of the taxpayer's property setting forth in the agreement the valuation information upon which the agreement is based; and

(ii) The assessment roll has previously been certified in accordance with RCW 84.40.320.

(b) In all other cases, an assessor shall make corrections that involve a revaluation of property to the assessment roll when:

(i) The assessor and taxpayer have signed an agreement as to the true and fair value of the taxpayer's property setting forth in the agreement the valuation information upon which the agreement is based; and

(ii) The following conditions are met:

(A) The assessment roll has previously been certified in accordance with RCW 84.40.320;

(B) The taxpayer has timely filed a petition with the county board of equalization pursuant to RCW 84.40.038 for the current assessment year;

(C) The county board of equalization has not yet held a hearing on the merits of the taxpayer's petition.

(3) The assessor shall issue a supplementary roll or rolls including such cancellations and corrections, and the assessment and levy shall have the same force and effect as if made in the first instance, and the county treasurer shall proceed to collect the taxes due on the rolls as modified.

Sec. 111. RCW 84.48.075 and 1988 c 222 s 23 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department of revenue shall annually, prior to the first Monday in September, determine and submit to each assessor a preliminary indicated ratio for each county: PROVIDED, That the department shall establish rules and regulations pertinent to the determination of the indicated ratio, the indicated real property ratio and the indicated personal property ratio: PROVIDED FURTHER, That these rules and regulations may provide that data, as is necessary for said determination, which is available from the county assessor of any county and which has been audited as to its validity by the department, shall be utilized by the department in determining the indicated ratio.

(2) To such extent as is reasonable, the department may define use classes of property for the purposes of determination of the indicated ratio. Such use classes may be defined with respect to property use and may include agricultural, open space, timber and forest lands.

(3) The department shall review each county's preliminary ratio with the assessor, a landowner, or an owner of an intercounty public utility or private car company of that county, if requested by the assessor, a landowner, or an owner of an intercounty public utility or private car company of that county, respectively, between the first and third Mondays of September. Prior to equalization of assessments pursuant to RCW 84.48.080 and after the third Monday of September, the department shall certify to each county assessor the real and personal property ratio for that county.

(4) The department of revenue shall also examine procedures used by the assessor to assess real and personal property in the county, including calculations, use of prescribed value schedules, and efforts to locate all taxable property in the county. If any examination by the department discloses other than market value is being listed as appraised value on the county assessment rolls of the county by the assessor and, after due notification by the department, is not corrected, the department of revenue shall, in accordance with rules adopted by the department, adjust the ratio of that type of property, which adjustment shall be used for determining the county's indicated ratio.

Sec. 112. RCW 84.48.080 and 1995 2nd sp.s. c 13 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Annually during the months of September and October, the department of revenue shall examine and compare the returns of the assessment of the property in the several counties of the state, and the assessment of the property of railroad and other companies assessed by the department, and proceed to equalize the same, so that each county in the state shall pay its due and just proportion of the taxes for state purposes for such assessment year, according to the ratio the assessed valuation of the property in each county bears to the correct total assessed valuation of all property in the state.

First. The department shall classify all property, real and personal, and shall raise and lower the assessed valuation of any class of property in any county to a value that shall be equal, so far as possible, to the ~~((true and fair))~~ correct assessed value of such class as of January 1st of the current year, ~~after determining the correct appraised value, and any adjustment applicable under section 105 of this act for the property,~~ for the purpose of ascertaining the just amount of tax due from each county for state purposes. In equalizing personal property as of January 1st of the current year, the department shall use the assessment level of the preceding year. Such classification may be on the basis of types of property, geographical areas, or both. For purposes of this section, for each county that has not provided the department with an assessment return by December 1st, the department shall proceed, using facts and information and in a manner it deems appropriate, to estimate the value of each class of property in the county.

Second. The department shall keep a full record of its proceedings and the same shall be published annually by the department.

(2) The department shall levy the state taxes authorized by law. The amount levied in any one year for general state purposes shall not exceed the lawful dollar rate on the dollar of the assessed value of the property of the entire state ~~((, which assessed value shall be one hundred percent of the true and fair value of such property in money))~~ as equalized under this section. The department shall apportion the amount of tax for state purposes levied by the department, among the several counties, in proportion to the assessed valuation of the taxable property of the county for the year as equalized by the department: PROVIDED, That for purposes of this apportionment, the department shall recompute the previous year's levy and the apportionment thereof to correct for changes and errors in taxable values reported to the department after October 1 of the preceding year and shall adjust the apportioned amount of the current year's state levy for each county by the difference between the apportioned amounts established by the original and revised levy computations for the previous year. For purposes of this section, changes in taxable values mean a final adjustment made by a county board of equalization, the state board of tax appeals, or a court of competent jurisdiction and shall include additions of omitted property, other additions or deletions from the assessment or tax rolls, any assessment return provided by a county to the department subsequent to December 1st, or a change in the indicated ratio of a county. Errors in taxable values mean errors corrected by a final reviewing body.

In addition to computing a levy under this subsection that is reduced under RCW 84.55.012, the department shall compute a hypothetical levy without regard to the reduction under RCW 84.55.012. This hypothetical levy shall also be apportioned among the several counties in proportion to the valuation of the taxable property of the county for the year, as equalized by the department, in the same manner as the actual levy and shall be used by the county assessors for the purpose of recomputing and establishing a consolidated levy under RCW 84.52.010.

(3) The department shall have authority to adopt rules and regulations to enforce obedience to its orders in all matters in relation to the returns of county assessments, the equalization of values, and the apportionment of the state levy by the department.

(4) After the completion of the duties prescribed in this section, the director of the department shall certify the record of the proceedings of the department under this section, the tax levies made for state purposes and the apportionment thereof among the counties, and the certification shall be available for public inspection.

Sec. 113. RCW 84.12.270 and 1994 c 301 s 20 are each amended to read as follows:

The department of revenue shall annually make an assessment of the operating property of all companies; and between the fifteenth day of March and the first day of July of each of said years shall prepare an assessment roll upon which it shall enter ~~((and assess))~~ the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of all the operating property of each of such companies as of the first day of January of the year in which the assessment is made. For the purpose of determining the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of such property the department of revenue may inspect the property belonging to said companies and may take into consideration any information or knowledge obtained by it from such examination and inspection of such property, or of the books, records and accounts of such companies, the statements filed as required by this chapter, the reports, statements or returns of such companies filed in the office of any board, office or commission of this state or any county thereof, the earnings and earning power of such companies, the franchises owned or used by such companies, the assessed valuation of any and all property of such companies, whether operating or nonoperating property, and whether situated within or outside the state, and any other facts, evidence or information that may be obtainable bearing upon the value of the operating property: PROVIDED, That in no event shall any statement or report required from any company by this chapter be conclusive upon the department of revenue in determining the amount, character and ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property of such company.

(1) In making the assessment of the operating property of any railroad or logging railroad company and in the apportionment of the values and the taxation thereof, all land occupied and claimed exclusively as the right-of-way for railroads, with all the tracks and substructures and superstructures which support the same, together with all side tracks, second tracks, turn-outs, station houses, depots, round houses, machine shops, or other buildings belonging to the company, used in the operation thereof, without separating the same into land and improvements, shall be assessed as real property. And the rolling stock and other movable property belonging to any railroad or logging railroad company shall be considered as personal property and taxed as such: PROVIDED, That all of the operating property of street railway companies shall be assessed and taxed as personal property.

(2) All of the operating property of airplane companies, telegraph companies, pipe line companies, water companies and toll bridge companies; the floating equipment of steamboat companies, and all of the operating property other than lands and buildings of electric light and power companies, telephone companies, gas companies and heating companies shall be assessed and taxed as personal property.

(3) Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (2) of this section, the limit provided under section 105 of this act shall be applied in the assessment of property under this section to the same extent as that limit is generally applied to property not assessed under this chapter.

Sec. 115. RCW 84.12.310 and 1994 c 301 s 21 are each amended to read as follows:

For the purpose of determining the system value of the operating property of any such company, the department of revenue shall deduct from the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the total assets of such company, the ~~((actual cash))~~ assessed value of all nonoperating property owned by such company. For such purpose the department of revenue may require of the assessors of the various counties within this state a detailed list of such company's properties assessed by them, together with the assessable or assessed value thereof: PROVIDED, That such assessed or assessable value shall be advisory only and not conclusive on the department of revenue as to the value thereof.

Sec. 116. RCW 84.12.330 and 1994 c 301 s 22 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon the assessment roll shall be placed after the name of each company a general description of the operating property of the company, which shall be considered sufficient if described in the language of ~~((subdivision (17) of))~~ RCW 84.12.200(13), as applied to ~~((said))~~ the company, following which shall be entered the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property as determined by the department of revenue. No assessment shall be invalidated by reason of a mistake in the name of the company assessed, or the omission of the name of the owner or by the entry as owner of a name other than that of the true owner. When the department of revenue shall have prepared the assessment roll and entered thereon the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property of the company, as herein required, it shall notify the company by mail of the valuation determined by it and entered upon ~~((said))~~ the roll.

Sec. 117. RCW 84.12.350 and 1994 c 301 s 23 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon determination by the department of revenue of the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the property appearing on such rolls it shall apportion such value to the respective counties entitled thereto, as hereinafter provided, and shall determine the equalized assessed valuation of such property in each such county and in the several taxing districts therein, by applying to such actual apportioned value the same ratio as the ratio of assessed to ~~((actual))~~ the correct assessed value of the general property in such county: PROVIDED, That, whenever the amount of the true and correct assessed value of the operating property of any company otherwise apportionable to any county or other taxing district shall be less than two hundred fifty dollars, such amount need not be apportioned to such county or taxing district but may be added to the amount apportioned to an adjacent county or taxing district.

The ~~((true and fair))~~ value of the operating property assessed to a company, as fixed and determined by the department of revenue, shall be apportioned by the department of revenue to the respective counties and to the taxing districts thereof wherein such property is located in the following manner:

(1) Property of all railroad companies other than street railroad companies, telegraph companies and pipe line companies—upon the basis of that proportion of the value of the total operating property within the state which the mileage of track, as classified by the department of revenue (in case of railroads), mileage of wire (in the case of telegraph companies), and mileage of pipe line (in the case of pipe line companies) within each county or taxing district bears to the total mileage thereof within the state, at the end of the calendar year last past. For the purpose of such apportionment the department may classify railroad track.

(2) Property of street railroad companies, telephone companies, electric light and power companies, gas companies, water companies, heating companies and toll bridge companies—upon the basis of relative value of the operating property within each county and taxing district to the value of the total operating property within the state to be determined by such factors as the department of revenue shall deem proper.

(3) Planes or other aircraft of airplane companies and watercraft of steamboat companies—upon the basis of such factor or factors of allocation, to be determined by the department of revenue, as will secure a substantially fair and equitable division between counties and other taxing districts.

All other property of airplane companies and steamboat companies—upon the basis set forth in subsection (2) of this section.

The basis of apportionment with reference to all public utility companies above prescribed shall not be deemed exclusive and the department of revenue in apportioning values of such companies may also take into consideration such other information, facts, circumstances, or allocation factors as will enable it to make a substantially just and correct valuation of the operating property of such companies within the state and within each county thereof.

Sec. 119. RCW 84.16.040 and 1994 c 301 s 26 are each amended to read as follows:

The department of revenue shall annually make an assessment of the operating property of each private car company; and between the first day of May and the first day of July of each of said years shall prepare an assessment roll upon which it shall enter ~~((and assess))~~ the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of all the operating property of each of such companies as of the first day of January of the year in which the assessment is made. For the purpose of determining the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of such property the department of revenue may take into consideration any information or knowledge obtained by it from an examination and inspection of such property, or of the books, records and accounts of such companies, the statements filed as required by this chapter, the reports, statements or returns of such companies filed in the office of any board, office or commission of this state or any county thereof, the earnings and earning power of such companies, the franchises owned or used by such companies, the assessed valuation of any and all property of such companies, whether operating property or nonoperating property, and whether situated within or without the state, and any other facts, evidences or information that may be obtainable bearing upon the value of the operating property: PROVIDED, That in no event shall any statement or report required from any company by this chapter be conclusive upon the department of revenue in determining the amount, character and ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property of such company.

The department of revenue may, in determining the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property to be placed on the assessment roll value the entire property as a unit. If the company owns, leases, operates or uses property partly within and partly without the state, the department of revenue may determine the value of the operating property within this state by the proportion that the value of such property bears to the value of the entire operating property of the company, both within and without this state. In determining the operating property which is located within this state the department of revenue may consider and base such determination on the proportion which the number of car miles of the various classes of cars made in this state bears to the total number of car miles made by the same cars within and without this state, or to the total number of car miles made by all cars of the various classes within and without this state. If the value of the operating property of the company cannot be fairly determined in such manner the department of revenue may use any other reasonable and fair method to determine the value of the operating property of the company within this state.

Sec. 121. RCW 84.16.090 and 1994 c 301 s 28 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon the assessment roll shall be placed after the name of each company a general description of the operating property of the company, which shall be considered sufficient if described in the language of ~~((subsection (3) of))~~ RCW 84.16.010(3) or otherwise, following which shall be entered the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property as determined by the department of revenue. No assessment shall be invalid by a mistake in the name of the company assessed, by omission of the name of the owner or by the entry of a name other than that of the true owner. When the department of revenue shall have prepared the assessment roll and entered thereon the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property of the company, as ~~((herein))~~ required, it shall notify the company by mail of the valuation determined by it and entered upon ~~((said))~~ the roll; and thereupon such assessed valuation shall become the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property of the company, subject to revision or correction by the department of revenue as hereinafter provided; and shall be the valuation upon which, after equalization by the department of revenue as hereinafter provided, the taxes of such company shall be based and computed.

Sec. 122. RCW 84.16.110 and 1994 c 301 s 29 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon determination by the department of revenue of the true and ~~((fair))~~ correct assessed value of the property appearing on such rolls the department shall apportion such value to the respective counties entitled thereto as hereinafter provided, and shall determine the equalized or assessed valuation of such property in such counties by applying to such actual apportioned value the same ratio as the ratio of assessed to ~~((actual))~~ the correct assessed value of the general property of the respective counties: PROVIDED, That, whenever the amount of the true and correct assessed value of the operating property of any company otherwise apportionable to any county shall be less than two hundred fifty dollars, such amount need not be apportioned to such county but may be added to the amount apportioned to an adjacent county.

Sec. 123. RCW 84.16.120 and 1994 c 301 s 30 are each amended to read as follows:

The ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the property of each company as fixed and determined by the department of revenue as herein provided shall be apportioned to the respective counties in the following manner:

(1) If all the operating property of the company is situated entirely within a county and none of such property is located within, extends into, or through or is operated into or through any other county, the entire value thereof shall be apportioned to the county within which such property is ~~((situate [situated]))~~ situated, located, and operated.

(2) If the operating property of any company is situated or located within, extends into or is operated into or through more than one county, the value thereof shall be apportioned to the respective counties into or through which its cars are operated in the proportion that the length of main line track of the respective railroads moving such cars in such counties bears to the total length of main line track of such respective railroads in this state.

(3) If the property of any company is of such character that it will not be reasonable, feasible or fair to apportion the value as hereinabove provided, the value thereof shall be apportioned between the respective counties into or through which such property extends or is operated or in which the same is located in such manner as may be reasonable, feasible and fair.

Sec. 124. RCW 84.36.041 and 1993 c 151 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) All real and personal property used by a nonprofit home for the aging that is reasonably necessary for the purposes of the home is exempt from taxation if the benefit of the exemption inures to the home and:

(a) At least fifty percent of the occupied dwelling units in the home are occupied by eligible residents; or

(b) The home is subsidized under a federal department of housing and urban development program. The department of revenue shall provide by rule a definition of homes eligible for exemption under this subsection (b), consistent with the purposes of this section.

(2) All real and personal property used by a nonprofit home for the aging that is reasonably necessary for the purposes of the home is exempt from taxation if the benefit of the exemption inures to the home and the construction, rehabilitation, acquisition, or refinancing of the home is financed under a program using bonds exempt from federal income tax if at least seventy-five percent of the total amount financed uses the tax exempt bonds and the financing program requires the home to reserve a percentage of all dwelling units so financed for low-income residents. The initial term of the exemption under this subsection shall equal the term of the tax exempt bond used in connection with the financing program, or the term of the requirement to reserve dwelling units for low-income residents, whichever is shorter. If the financing program involves less than the entire home, only those dwelling units included in the financing program are eligible for total exemption. The department of revenue shall provide by rule the requirements for monitoring compliance with the provisions of this subsection and the requirements for exemption including:

(a) The number or percentage of dwelling units required to be occupied by low-income residents, and a definition of low income;

(b) The type and character of the dwelling units, whether independent units or otherwise; and

(c) Any particular requirements for continuing care retirement communities.

(3) A home for the aging is eligible for a partial exemption on the real property and a total exemption for the home's personal property if the home does not meet the requirements of subsection (1) of this section because fewer than fifty percent of the occupied dwelling units are occupied by eligible residents, as follows:

(a) A partial exemption shall be allowed for each dwelling unit in a home occupied by a resident requiring assistance with activities of daily living.

(b) A partial exemption shall be allowed for each dwelling unit in a home occupied by an eligible resident.

(c) A partial exemption shall be allowed for an area jointly used by a home for the aging and by a nonprofit organization, association, or corporation currently exempt from property taxation under one of the other provisions of this chapter. The shared area must be reasonably necessary for the purposes of the nonprofit organization, association, or corporation exempt from property taxation under one of the other provisions of this chapter, such as kitchen, dining, and laundry areas.

(d) The amount of exemption shall be calculated by multiplying the assessed value of the property reasonably necessary for the purposes of the home, less the assessed value of any area exempt under (c) of this subsection, by a fraction. The numerator of the fraction is the number of dwelling units occupied by eligible residents and by residents requiring assistance with activities of daily living. The denominator of the fraction is the total number of occupied dwelling units as of January 1st of the year for which exemption is claimed.

(4) To be exempt under this section, the property must be used exclusively for the purposes for which the exemption is granted, except as provided in RCW 84.36.805.

(5) A home for the aging is exempt from taxation only if the organization operating the home is exempt from income tax under section 501(c) of the federal internal revenue code as existing on January 1, 1989, or such subsequent date as the director may provide by rule consistent with the purposes of this section.

(6) In order for the home to be eligible for exemption under subsections (1)(a) and (2)(b) of this section, each eligible resident of a home for the aging shall submit an income verification form to the county assessor by July 1st of the assessment year in which the application for exemption is made. The income verification form shall be prescribed and furnished by the department of revenue. An eligible resident who has filed a form for a previous year need not file a new form until there is a change in status affecting the person's eligibility.

(7) In determining the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of a home for the aging for purposes of the partial exemption provided by subsection (3) of this section, the assessor shall apply the computation method provided by RCW 84.34.060 and shall consider only the use to which such property is applied during the years for which such partial exemptions are available and shall not consider potential uses of such property.

(8) A home for the aging that was exempt or partially exempt for taxes levied in 1993 for collection in 1994 is partially exempt for taxes levied in 1994 for collection in 1995, has an increase in taxable value for taxes levied in 1994 for collection in 1995 due to the change prescribed by chapter 151, Laws of 1993 with respect to the numerator of the fraction used to determine the amount of a partial exemption, and is not fully exempt under this section is entitled to partial exemptions as follows:

(a) For taxes levied in 1994 for collection in 1995, the home shall pay taxes based upon the taxable value in 1993 plus one-third of the increase in the taxable value from 1993 to the nonexempt value calculated under subsection (3)(d) of this section for 1994.

(b) For taxes levied in 1995 for collection in 1996, the home shall pay taxes based upon the taxable value for 1994 as calculated in (a) of this subsection plus one-half of the increase in the taxable value from 1994 to the nonexempt value calculated under subsection (3)(d) of this section for 1995. For taxes levied in 1996 for collection in 1997 and for taxes levied thereafter, this subsection (8) does not apply, and the home shall pay taxes without reference to this subsection (8).

(c) For purposes of this subsection (8), "taxable value" means the value of the home upon which the tax rate is applied in order to determine the amount of taxes due.

(9) As used in this section:

(a) "Eligible resident" means a person who:

(i) Occupied the dwelling unit as a principal place of residence as of January 1st of the year for which the exemption is claimed. Confinement of the person to a hospital or nursing home does not disqualify the claim of exemption if the dwelling unit is temporarily unoccupied or if the dwelling unit is occupied by a spouse, a person financially dependent on the claimant for support, or both; and

(ii) Is sixty-one years of age or older on December 31st of the year in which the exemption claim is filed, or is, at the time of filing, retired from regular gainful employment by reason of physical disability. Any surviving spouse of a person who was receiving an exemption at the time of the person's death shall qualify if the surviving spouse is fifty-seven years of age or older and otherwise meets the requirements of this subsection; and

(iii) Has a combined disposable income of no more than the greater of twenty-two thousand dollars or eighty percent of the median income adjusted for family size as most recently determined by the federal department of housing and urban development for the county in which the person resides. For the purposes of determining eligibility under this section, a "cotenant" means a person who resides with an eligible resident and who shares personal financial resources with the eligible resident.

(b) "Combined disposable income" means the disposable income of the person submitting the income verification form, plus the disposable income of his or her spouse, and the disposable income of each cotenant occupying the dwelling unit for the preceding calendar year, less amounts paid by the person submitting the income verification form or his or her spouse or cotenant during the previous year for the treatment or care of either person received in the dwelling unit or in a nursing home. If the person submitting the income verification form was retired for two months or more of the preceding year, the combined disposable income of such person shall be calculated by multiplying the average monthly combined disposable income of such person during the months such person was retired by twelve. If the income of the person submitting the income verification form is reduced for two or more months of the preceding year by reason of the death of the person's spouse, the combined disposable income of such person shall be calculated by multiplying the average monthly combined disposable income of such person after the death of the spouse by twelve.

(c) "Disposable income" means adjusted gross income as defined in the federal internal revenue code, as amended prior to January 1, 1989, or such subsequent date as the director may provide by rule consistent with the purpose of this section, plus all of the following items to the extent they are not included in or have been deducted from adjusted gross income:

(i) Capital gains, other than nonrecognized gain on the sale of a principal residence under section 1034 of the federal internal revenue code, or gain excluded from income under section 121 of the federal internal revenue code to the extent it is reinvested in a new principal residence;

(ii) Amounts deducted for loss;

(iii) Amounts deducted for depreciation;

(iv) Pension and annuity receipts;

(v) Military pay and benefits other than attendant-care and medical-aid payments;

- (vi) Veterans benefits other than attendant-care and medical-aid payments;
- (vii) Federal social security act and railroad retirement benefits;
- (viii) Dividend receipts; and
- (ix) Interest received on state and municipal bonds.

(d) "Resident requiring assistance with activities of daily living" means a person who requires significant assistance with the activities of daily living and who would be at risk of nursing home placement without this assistance.

(e) "Home for the aging" means a residential housing facility that (i) provides a housing arrangement chosen voluntarily by the resident, the resident's guardian or conservator, or another responsible person; (ii) has only residents who are at least sixty-one years of age or who have needs for care generally compatible with persons who are at least sixty-one years of age; and (iii) provides varying levels of care and supervision, as agreed to at the time of admission or as determined necessary at subsequent times of reappraisal.

(10) A for-profit home for the aging that converts to nonprofit status after June 11, 1992, and would otherwise be eligible for tax exemption under this section may not receive the tax exemption until five years have elapsed since the conversion. The exemption shall then be ratably granted over the next five years.

Sec. 125. RCW 84.52.063 and 1973 1st ex.s. c 195 s 105 are each amended to read as follows:

A rural library district may impose a regular property tax levy in an amount equal to that which would be produced by a levy of fifty cents per thousand dollars of assessed value multiplied by an equalized assessed valuation (~~(equal to one hundred percent of the true and fair value of the taxable property in the rural library district)~~), as determined by the department of revenue's indicated county ratio: PROVIDED, That when any county assessor shall find that the aggregate rate of levy on any property will exceed the limitation set forth in RCW 84.52.043 and (~~RCW~~) 84.52.050, as now or hereafter amended, before recomputing and establishing a consolidated levy in the manner set forth in RCW 84.52.010, the assessor shall first reduce the levy of any rural library district, by such amount as may be necessary, but the levy of any rural library district shall not be reduced to less than fifty cents per thousand dollars against the value of the taxable property, as determined by the county, prior to any further adjustments pursuant to RCW 84.52.010. For purposes of this section "regular property tax levy" shall mean a levy subject to the limitations provided for in Article VII, section 2 of the state Constitution and/or by statute.

Sec. 126. RCW 84.70.010 and 1994 c 301 s 56 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If, on or before December 31 in any calendar year, any real or personal property placed upon the assessment roll of that year is destroyed in whole or in part, or is in an area that has been declared a disaster area by the governor and has been reduced in value by more than twenty percent as a result of a natural disaster, the (~~true and fair~~) assessed value of such property shall be reduced for that year by an amount determined as follows:

(a) First take the (~~true and fair~~) assessed value of such taxable property before destruction or reduction in value and deduct therefrom the true and fair value of the remaining property after destruction or reduction in value.

(b) Then divide any amount remaining by the number of days in the year and multiply the quotient by the number of days remaining in the calendar year after the date of the destruction or reduction in value of the property.

(2) No reduction in the (~~true and fair~~) assessed value shall be made more than three years after the date of destruction or reduction in value.

(3) The assessor shall make such reduction on his or her own motion; however, the taxpayer may make application for reduction on forms prepared by the department and provided by the assessor. The assessor shall notify the taxpayer of the amount of reduction.

(4) If destroyed property is replaced prior to the valuation dates contained in RCW 36.21.080 and 36.21.090, the total taxable value for that year shall not exceed the value as of the appropriate valuation date in RCW 36.21.080 or 36.21.090, whichever is appropriate.

(5) The taxpayer may appeal the amount of reduction to the county board of equalization within thirty days of notification or July 1st of the year of reduction, whichever is later. The board shall reconvene, if necessary, to hear the appeal.

PART II

Sec. 201. RCW 84.55.005 and 1994 c 301 s 49 are each amended to read as follows:

As used in this chapter(~~(, the term)~~):

(1) "Inflation" means the percentage change in the implicit price deflator for personal consumption expenditures for the United States as published for the most recent twelve-month period by the bureau of economic analysis of the federal department of commerce in September of the year before the taxes are payable;

(2) "Limit factor" means:

(a) For taxing districts with a population of less than ten thousand in the calendar year prior to the assessment year, one hundred six percent;

(b) For taxing districts for which a limit factor is authorized under section 204 of this act, the lesser of the limit factor authorized under that section or one hundred six percent;

(c) For all other districts, the lesser of one hundred six percent or one hundred percent plus inflation; and

(3) "Regular property taxes" has the meaning given it in RCW 84.04.140, and also includes amounts received in lieu of regular property taxes.

Sec. 202. RCW 84.55.010 and 1979 ex.s. c 218 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided in this chapter, the levy for a taxing district in any year shall be set so that the regular property taxes payable in the following year shall not exceed (~~(one hundred six percent of)~~ the limit factor multiplied by the amount of regular property taxes lawfully levied for such district in the highest of the three most recent years in which such taxes were levied for such district plus an additional dollar amount calculated by multiplying the increase in assessed value in that district resulting from new construction, improvements to property, and any increase in the assessed value of state-assessed property by the regular property tax levy rate of that district for the preceding year.

Sec. 203. RCW 84.55.020 and 1971 ex.s. c 288 s 21 are each amended to read as follows:

Notwithstanding the limitation set forth in RCW 84.55.010, the first levy for a taxing district created from consolidation of similar taxing districts shall be set so that the regular property taxes payable in the following year shall not exceed (~~(one hundred six percent of)~~ the limit factor multiplied by the sum of the amount of regular property taxes lawfully levied for each component taxing district in the highest of the three most recent years in which such taxes were levied for such district plus the additional dollar amount calculated by multiplying the increase in assessed value in each component district resulting from new construction and improvements to property by the regular property tax rate of each component district for the preceding year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 204. A new section is added to chapter 84.55 RCW to read as follows:

Upon a finding of substantial need, the legislative authority of a taxing district other than the state may provide for the use of a limit factor under this chapter of one hundred six percent or less. In districts with legislative authorities of four members or less, two-thirds of the members must approve an ordinance or resolution under this section. In districts with more than four members, a majority plus one vote must approve an ordinance or resolution under this section. The new limit factor shall be effective for taxes collected in the following year only.

Sec. 205. RCW 35.61.210 and 1990 c 234 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

The board of park commissioners may levy or cause to be levied a general tax on all the property located in said park district each year not to exceed fifty cents per thousand dollars of assessed value of the property in such park district. In addition, the board of park commissioners may levy or cause to be levied a general tax on all property located in said park district each year not to exceed twenty-five cents per thousand dollars of assessed valuation. Although park districts are authorized to impose two separate regular property tax levies, the levies shall be considered to be a single levy for purposes of the (~~(one hundred six percent)~~) limitation provided for in chapter 84.55 RCW.

The board is hereby authorized to levy a general tax in excess of its regular property tax levy or levies when authorized so to do at a special election conducted in accordance with and subject to all the requirements of the Constitution and laws of the state now in force or hereafter enacted governing the limitation of tax levies. The board is hereby authorized to call a special election for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of the park district a proposition to levy a tax in excess of the seventy-five cents per thousand dollars of assessed value herein specifically authorized. The manner of submitting any such proposition, of certifying the same, and of giving or publishing notice thereof, shall be as provided by law for the submission of propositions by cities or towns.

The board shall include in its general tax levy for each year a sufficient sum to pay the interest on all outstanding bonds and may include a sufficient amount to create a sinking fund for the redemption of all outstanding bonds. The levy shall be certified to the proper county officials for collection the same as other general taxes and when collected, the general tax shall be placed in a separate fund in the office of the county treasurer to be known as the "metropolitan park district fund" and paid out on warrants.

Sec. 206. RCW 70.44.060 and 1990 c 234 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

All public hospital districts organized under the provisions of this chapter shall have power:

(1) To make a survey of existing hospital and other health care facilities within and without such district.

(2) To construct, condemn and purchase, purchase, acquire, lease, add to, maintain, operate, develop and regulate, sell and convey all lands, property, property rights, equipment, hospital and other health care facilities and systems for the maintenance of hospitals, buildings, structures, and any and all other facilities, and to exercise the right of eminent domain to effectuate the foregoing purposes or for the acquisition and damaging of the same or property of any kind appurtenant thereto, and such right of eminent domain shall be exercised and instituted pursuant to a resolution of the commission and conducted in the same manner and by the same procedure as in or may be provided by law for the exercise of the power of eminent domain by incorporated cities and towns of the state of Washington in the acquisition of property rights: PROVIDED, That no public hospital district shall have the right of eminent domain and the power of condemnation against any health care facility.

(3) To lease existing hospital and other health care facilities and equipment and/or other property used in connection therewith, including ambulances, and to pay such rental therefor as the commissioners shall deem proper; to provide hospital and other health care services for residents of said district by facilities located outside the boundaries of said district, by contract or in any other manner said commissioners may deem expedient or necessary under the existing conditions; and said hospital district shall have the power to contract with other communities, corporations, or individuals for the services provided by said hospital district; and they may further receive in said hospitals and other health care facilities and furnish proper and adequate services to all persons not residents of said district at such reasonable and fair compensation as may be considered proper: PROVIDED, That it must at all times make adequate provision for the needs of the district and residents of said district shall have prior rights to the available hospital and other health care facilities of said district, at rates set by the district commissioners.

(4) For the purpose aforesaid, it shall be lawful for any district so organized to take, condemn and purchase, lease, or acquire, any and all property, and property rights, including state and county lands, for any of the purposes aforesaid, and any and all other facilities necessary or convenient, and in connection with the construction, maintenance, and operation of any such hospitals and other health care facilities, subject, however, to the applicable limitations provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(5) To contract indebtedness or borrow money for corporate purposes on the credit of the corporation or the revenues of the hospitals thereof, and the revenues of any other facilities or services that the district is or hereafter may be authorized by law to provide, and to issue and sell: (a) Revenue bonds, revenue warrants, or other revenue obligations therefor payable solely out of a special fund or funds into which the district may pledge such amount of the revenues of the hospitals thereof, and the revenues of any other facilities or services that the district is or hereafter may be authorized by law to provide, to pay the same as the commissioners of the district may determine, such revenue bonds, warrants, or other obligations to be issued and sold in the same manner and subject to the same provisions as provided for the issuance of revenue bonds, warrants, or other obligations by cities or towns under the Municipal Revenue Bond Act, chapter 35.41 RCW, as may hereafter be amended; (b) general obligation bonds therefor in the manner and form as provided in RCW 70.44.110 and 70.44.130, as may hereafter be amended; or (c) interest-bearing warrants to be drawn on a fund pending deposit in such fund of money sufficient to redeem such warrants and to be issued and paid in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as the board of commissioners may deem to be in the best interest of the district; and to assign or sell hospital accounts receivable, and accounts receivable for the use of other facilities or services that the district is or hereafter may be authorized by law to provide, for collection with or without recourse. General obligation bonds shall be issued and sold in accordance with chapter 39.46 RCW. Revenue bonds, revenue warrants, or other revenue obligations may be issued and sold in accordance with chapter 39.46 RCW.

(6) To raise revenue by the levy of an annual tax on all taxable property within such public hospital district not to exceed fifty cents per thousand dollars of assessed value, and an additional annual tax on all taxable property within such public hospital district not to exceed twenty-five cents per thousand dollars of assessed value, or such further amount as has been or shall be authorized by a vote of the people. Although public hospital districts are authorized to impose two separate regular property tax levies, the levies shall be considered to be a single levy for purposes of the (~~one hundred six percent~~) limitation provided for in chapter 84.55 RCW. Public hospital districts are authorized to levy such a general tax in excess of their regular property taxes when authorized so to do at a special election conducted in accordance with and subject to all of the requirements of the Constitution and the laws of the state of Washington now in force or hereafter enacted governing the limitation of tax levies. The said board of district commissioners is authorized and empowered to call a special election for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of the hospital district a proposition or propositions to levy taxes in excess of its regular property taxes. The superintendent shall prepare a proposed budget of the contemplated financial transactions for the ensuing year and file the same in the records of the commission on or before the first Monday in September. Notice of the filing of said proposed budget and the date and place of hearing on the same shall be published for at least two consecutive weeks in a newspaper printed and of general circulation in said county. On the first Monday in October the commission shall hold a public hearing on said proposed budget at which any taxpayer may appear and be heard against the whole or any part of the proposed budget. Upon the conclusion of said hearing, the commission shall, by resolution, adopt the budget as finally determined and fix the final amount of expenditures for the ensuing year. Taxes levied by the commission shall be certified to and collected by the proper county officer of the county in which such public hospital district is located in the same manner as is or may be provided by law for the certification and collection of port district taxes. The commission is authorized, prior to the receipt of taxes raised by levy, to borrow money or issue warrants of the district in anticipation of the revenue to be derived by such district from the levy of taxes for the purpose of such district, and such warrants shall be redeemed from the first money available from such taxes when collected, and such warrants shall not exceed the anticipated revenues of one year, and shall bear interest at a rate or rates as authorized by the commission.

(7) To enter into any contract with the United States government or any state, municipality, or other hospital district, or any department of those governing bodies, for carrying out any of the powers authorized by this chapter.

(8) To sue and be sued in any court of competent jurisdiction: PROVIDED, That all suits against the public hospital district shall be brought in the county in which the public hospital district is located.

(9) To pay actual necessary travel expenses and living expenses incurred while in travel status for (a) qualified physicians who are candidates for medical staff positions, and (b) other qualified persons who are candidates for superintendent or other managerial and technical positions, when the district finds that hospitals or other health care facilities owned and operated by it are not adequately staffed and determines that personal interviews with said candidates to be held in the district are necessary or desirable for the adequate staffing of said facilities.

(10) To make contracts, employ superintendents, attorneys, and other technical or professional assistants and all other employees; to make contracts with private or public institutions for employee retirement programs; to print and publish information or literature; and to do all other things necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

Sec. 207. RCW 84.08.115 and 1991 c 218 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall prepare a clear and succinct explanation of the property tax system, including but not limited to:

- (a) The standard of true and fair value as the basis of the property tax.
- (b) How the assessed value for particular parcels is determined.
- (c) The procedures and timing of the assessment process.

(d) How district levy rates are determined, including the (~~one hundred six percent~~) limit under chapter 84.55 RCW.

- (e) How the composite tax rate is determined.
  - (f) How the amount of tax is calculated.
  - (g) How a taxpayer may appeal an assessment, and what issues are appropriate as a basis of appeal.
  - (h) A summary of tax exemption and relief programs, along with the eligibility standards and application processes.
- (2) Each county assessor shall provide copies of the explanation to taxpayers on request, free of charge. Each revaluation notice shall include information regarding the availability of the explanation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 208. It is the intent of sections 201 through 207 of this act to lower the one hundred six percent limit while still allowing taxing districts to raise revenues in excess of the limit if approved by a majority of the voters as provided in RCW 84.55.050.

Sec. 209. RCW 84.55.120 and 1995 c 251 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

A taxing district, other than the state, that collects regular levies shall hold a public hearing on revenue sources for the district's following year's current expense budget. The hearing must include consideration of possible increases in property tax revenues and shall be held prior to the time the taxing district levies the taxes or makes the request to have the taxes levied. The county legislative authority, or the taxing district's governing body if the district is a city, town, or other type of district, shall hold the hearing. For purposes of this section, "current expense budget" means that budget which is primarily funded by taxes and charges and reflects the provision of ongoing services. It does not mean the capital, enterprise, or special assessment budgets of cities, towns, counties, or special purpose districts.

If the taxing district is otherwise required to hold a public hearing on its proposed regular tax levy, a single public hearing may be held on this matter.

No increase in property tax revenue, other than that resulting from the addition of new construction and improvements to property and any increase in the value of state-assessed property, may be authorized by a taxing district, other than the state, except by adoption of a separate ordinance or resolution, pursuant to notice, specifically authorizing the increase in terms of both dollars and percentage. The ordinance or resolution may cover a period of up to two years, but the ordinance shall specifically state for each year the dollar increase and percentage change in the levy from the previous year.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The intent of this act is to provide property tax relief by setting base years for property tax valuation computation, limiting property tax valuation increases to two percent per year over the base year until ownership of the property changes, and limiting the tax assessed on owner-occupied property claimed as a principal place of residence.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 84.36 RCW to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this section and sections 3 and 4 of this act.

(1) "Base value" means the following, as appropriate:

(a) The assessed value for 1996 determined under RCW 84.40.030 of property acquired in or before 1996;

(b) The assessed value determined under RCW 84.40.030 of the property for the year in which the property is acquired; or

(c) The assessed true and fair value as determined under RCW 84.40.030 for all property that has changed or transferred ownership since the last assessment.

(2)(a) "Adjusted value" means the lesser of the following:

(i) The assessed true and fair value of property, as determined under RCW 84.40.030; or

(ii) The base value of the property increased on January 1st of each year thereafter by a maximum of two percent, compounded annually, plus the portion of the true and fair value attributable to any construction or alteration not included in the most recent assessment, other than improvements exempt under RCW 84.36.400 for the assessment year.

(b) This subsection does not apply to special levies or levies approved under RCW 84.55.050.

(3)(a) "Change of ownership" and "transfer of ownership" are equivalent, and mean a transfer of a present interest in real property, including a transfer of the beneficial use of real property.

(b) "Change of ownership" and "transfer of ownership" include, except as provided in (c) of this subsection:

(i) Contracting to convey the title to or ownership of real property upon the fulfillment of one or more stated conditions if the right to possession of the property is transferred currently;

(ii) The creation, transfer, or termination of a joint tenancy interest;

(iii) The creation, transfer, or termination of a tenancy-in-common interest;

(iv) The vesting of a right of possession or enjoyment of a remainder or reversionary interest that occurs upon the termination of a life estate or other similar precedent property interest;

(v) An interest that vests in persons other than the trustor if a revocable trust becomes irrevocable; and

(vi) The transfer of stock of a cooperative housing corporation, vested with legal title to real property, that conveys to the transferee the exclusive right to occupancy and possession of the property or a portion of the property.

(c) "Change of ownership" does not include:

(i) A transfer between co-owners that results in a change in the method of holding title to the real property transferred without changing the proportional interests of the co-owners in the real property, such as a partition of a tenancy in common;

(ii) A transfer for the purpose of merely perfecting title to the real property;

(iii) The creation, assignment, termination, or reconveyance of a security interest in real property, or the substitution of a trustee under a security instrument;

(iv) A transfer of real property by the trustor, or by the trustor's spouse, or by both, into a trust for so long as the transferor is the sole present beneficiary of the trust, or the trust is revocable, or any transfer of real property by a trustee of such trust Backlund to the trustor;

(v) A transfer of real property by an instrument whose terms reserve to the transferor an estate for years or an estate for life. However, the termination of such an estate for years or life estate shall constitute a change of ownership;

(vi) A transfer of real property between or among the same parties for the purpose of correcting or reforming a deed to express the true intention of the parties, if the original relationship between the grantor and grantee is not changed; or

(vii) An interspousal transfer of real property, including, but not limited to:

(A) Transfers to a trustee for the beneficial use of a spouse, or the surviving spouse of a deceased transferor, or by a trustee of the trust to the spouse of the trustor;

(B) Transfers that take effect upon the death of a spouse;

(C) Transfers to a spouse or former spouse in connection with a property settlement agreement or decree of dissolution of marriage or legal separation; and

(D) The creation, transfer, or termination, solely between spouses, of any co-owner's interest.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 84.36 RCW to read as follows:

(1)(a) In addition to the limitations under this title, a specific property tax exemption is created whereby:

(i) The tax payable on property used as an owner-occupied principal place of residence may not exceed one-half of one percent of the property's adjusted value, as determined either under section 2 of this act or by applicable law, or both; and

(ii) A taxing district may not increase the actual monetary property tax assessed against property used as an owner-occupied principal place of residence by more than an additional one-half of one percent per year.

(b) This subsection does not apply to special levies or levies approved under RCW 84.55.050.

(2) The following specific conditions, as appropriate, must be satisfied by an owner-occupant claiming exemption for a principal residence under this section:

(a) The residence must be occupied by the person claiming exemption under this section as a principal place of residence in the year in which taxes are due;

(b) The claimant must notify the assessor in writing of the claimant's request for exemption under this section for a claim of exemption to be considered valid. The exemption shall be effective from the date of filing of a request for the exemption at the assessor's office by the claimant or duly authorized representative; and

(c) The person claiming exemption must have owned, at the time of filing, the property in fee, as a life estate, or by contract a share in a cooperative housing association, corporation, or partnership. A share in the ownership of the property in fee, as a life estate, or by contract in a cooperative housing association, corporation, or partnership representing a marital community or owned by cotenants shall be deemed to be owned by each spouse or cotenant, and any lease for life shall be deemed a life estate.

(3) Confinement of the claimant to a hospital or nursing home does not disqualify the claim of exemption if:

(a) The residence is temporarily unoccupied;

(b) The residence is occupied by a person who is either or both a spouse or a person financially dependent on the claimant for support; or

(c) The residence is rented for the specific purpose of paying nursing home or hospital costs.

(4) A person who is displaced from a principal residence may transfer a claimed exemption status to a similar replacement residence.

(5) A claimed exemption shall continue annually until change of ownership of the affected property, or until rescinded by the claimant.

(6) A claimant may not receive more than one active owner-occupant exemption at any time. A new claim for such an exemption invalidates any prior such exemption.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 84.40 RCW to read as follows:

(1) All property tax assessments shall be computed using the adjusted value of a property.

(2) The definitions in section 2 of this act apply to this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. This act applies to taxes payable in 1998 and thereafter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Funds accumulated due to implementation of chapter 2, Laws of 1994 may be used to offset the effects of implementation of this act."

Renumber sections consecutively, correct any internal references accordingly, and correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative B. Thomas: Mr. Speaker, I request a ruling on Scope and Object on this amendment.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Thomas, The Speaker is prepared to Rule on your Point of Order which challenges amendment 025 to Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212 as being beyond the Scope and Object of the amendment.

The subject portion of the title to Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212 is: "AN ACT Relating to limiting property taxes by reducing the one hundred six percent limit calculation and allowing for valuation increases to be spread over time;"

The scope of the bill, as measured by the title of the act, is narrow and specific. The Act by its title is limited to proposals which reduce the 106 percent levy lid or which provide for smoothing out valuation increases over time.

Amendment 025 by Representative Sheldon would hold down the value of each parcel of property to two percent per year until the property ownership changes on owner occupied residences.

This plan to hold values down to two percent for owner occupied properties with a valuation catch up when the property changes ownership is not found in any part of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212.

The Speaker finds that Amendment 025 is not within the Scope of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212.

Representative B. Thomas, your Point of Order is well taken.

With the consent of the House, amendment number 026 to the striking amendment to Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212 was withdrawn.

The Speaker stated the question before the House to be final adoption of striking amendment by Representative B. Thomas to Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212.

The amendment was adopted.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, and the bill was placed on third reading final passage.

Representatives B. Thomas, Pennington, Cooke, Robertson, Talcott, and Smith spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hatfield: Mr. Speaker, please ask the speaker to stick to the subject of this bill, and not try to impugn anyone in this body, on this floor.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Hatfield, I would be glad to do that. And I will do that with all other members who will be speaking in the rest of this debate. So please do not refer to any other plans other than the one before us, Representative Smith. And all future speakers, please stand with the same ruling.

Representatives L Thomas, and Carrell spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Representatives Dunshee, Butler, Conway, Doumit, Morris, and Dickerson spoke against passage of the bill.

ROLL CALL

The Clerk called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212 as amended by the House, and the bill passed the House by the following vote: Yeas - 63, Nays - 34, Absent - 0, Excused - 1.

Voting yea: Representatives Alexander, Anderson, Backlund, Ballasiotes, Benson, Boldt, Buck, Bush, Cairnes, Carlson, Carrell, Chandler, Clements, Cooke, Crouse, DeBolt, Delvin, Dunn, Dyer, Hankins, Hickel, Honeyford, Huff, Johnson, Kastama, Koster, Lambert, Lantz, Lisk, Mastin, McDonald, McMorris, Mielke, Mitchell, Mulliken, Ogden, Parlette, Pennington, Quall, Radcliff, Reams, Robertson, Schmidt, D., Schmidt, K., Schoesler, Sehlin, Sheahan, Sheldon, Sherstad, Skinner, Smith, Sommers, D., Sterk, Sullivan, Sump, Talcott, Thomas, B., Thomas, L., Thompson, Van Luven, Wensman, Zellinsky and Mr. Speaker - 63.

Voting nay: Representatives Appelwick, Blalock, Butler, Chopp, Cody, Cole, Constantine, Conway, Cooper, Costa, Dickerson, Doumit, Dunshee, Fisher, Gombosky, Grant, Hatfield, Keiser, Kenney, Kessler, Linville, Mason, Morris, Murray, O'Brien, Poulsen, Regala, Romero, Scott, Sommers, H., Tokuda, Veloria, Wolfe and Wood - 34.

Excused: Representative Gardner - 1.

Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212, as amended by the House, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the eleventh order of business.

On motion by Representative Lisk, the House adjourned until 9:55 a.m., Tuesday, February 11, 1997.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Johnson: This year — 1997 — is the "Year of the Reader." Throughout the year, we will join in statewide efforts to highlight reading as an essential skill.

As part of the campaign, we have secured, on loan, a set of children's books for member and staff use. Members may wish to use these books in their discussions with groups of younger children. Members and staff are also welcome to borrow books to entertain young visitors to their offices.

Today, with so many children around, might be a good day to check out a book or two!

The books are displayed in the glass-front book cases at the rear of the chambers. They will be rotated through the course of the year. The books currently in the cases are part of the SRA series and are arranged into four reading levels (starting with "Setting Out," for beginning readers, to "Well Underway," to "Forging Ahead," to "Gathering Speed," for more advanced readers.) Within each level are series of books encompassing a variety of interests. Staff who want to check out books should see one of the security guards on the Floor.

WHEREAS, It is the policy of the Washington State Legislature to recognize excellence in all fields of endeavor; and

WHEREAS, George Washington, the first President of these great United States of America, was the epitome of excellence in leadership and service to his country; and

WHEREAS, This great state of Washington, established in 1889, bears and honors the name of George Washington and the vignette of his likeness adorns the state seal; and

WHEREAS, George Washington's accomplishments and contributions as a native son of the original American Colonies, from Westmoreland, Virginia, were sparked by the original pioneering spirit; and

WHEREAS, George Washington's lifetime commitment to education began with valued home tutoring by his mother, Mary Ball Washington, and continued with his educational studies at the venerable institution of William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Virginia, of which he later became its first Chancellor; and

WHEREAS, George Washington, following the triumphant victory of the Continental Army, continued his inspirational leadership and service to his country by presiding over the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania in 1787, wherein the greatest charter ever conceived was commissioned as the Constitution of the United States of America and later adopted and ratified by the several states to form the union of these great United States of America; and

WHEREAS, George Washington again resolutely answered his country's call to service when he faithfully assumed his duties as the first President of these great United States of America, thus ensuring this nation's progress toward liberty, equality, and justice for all;

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

Mr. Speaker: John McAlister set the mold for the type of person we as legislators would like to see representing the State's industries and interests here in our offices and in committee hearings. He was a man of compassion, a man of strong faith, and a man to whom I always looked forward to talking. Those of you on this floor know that some of the people who come to our offices are not always those we look forward to talking with, but John was always a delight. It gives me great pleasure today to introduce John's wife Patricia, his son Rod Nash, and several family friends. John will be sorely missed.

The Speaker called upon Representative Pennington to preside.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 97-4614, by Representatives Tokuda, Veloria, Clements, Sterk, Mulliken, Wolfe, Schoesler, Constantine, Mason, Doumit, Dickerson, L. Thomas, Talcott, Hatfield, Conway, Cooke, D. Schmidt, Cody, B. Thomas and Regala

WHEREAS, On February 19, 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued Executive Order 9066, which authorized the forced assembly, evacuation, and internment of approximately 12,000 Japanese Americans residing in the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, The order for assembly and detention at Camp Harmony in Puyallup, Washington, prior to evacuation and subsequent internment caused the Japanese Americans from the state of Washington to lose millions of dollars in property and assets, to suffer immeasurable physical and psychological damage, and to be deprived of their constitutional liberties without due process of law; and

WHEREAS, The alleged purpose of this drastic course of action was to prevent Japanese Americans, all of whom were deemed disloyal and untrustworthy, from committing acts of espionage and sabotage against the United States during the period of its involvement in World War II; and

WHEREAS, An overwhelming number of Japanese Americans from the state of Washington responded to questions of their loyalty and patriotism by volunteering from within barbed wire camps to serve in the United States Military Intelligence Service and the U.S. Army's 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the latter of which became the most decorated American unit of its size in World War II with seven Presidential Unit Citations, a Congressional Medal of Honor, 52 Distinguished Service Crosses, 588 Silver Stars, 4,000 Bronze Stars, 9,486 Purple Hearts, and a total of 18 decorations from France and Italy; and

WHEREAS, A few equally patriotic Japanese Americans like Gordon Hirabayashi, then a student at the University of Washington, were willing to face imprisonment to seek justice by challenging the constitutionality of the evacuation and internment orders; and

WHEREAS, Hindsight has proven that the predominant factor that actually led to the internment of Japanese Americans was not a military necessity to protect the United States from possible espionage or sabotage, but was the result of "race prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership"; and

WHEREAS, Japanese American internees from the state of Washington endured economic, physical, and psychological hardship and suffered in silence for over forty years before the state of Washington provided monetary redress and reparations to municipal and state employees;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives, along with the people of Washington, pause in its endeavors this day to recognize the Japanese American internees from the state of Washington and honor their patience, heroism, sacrifice, and patriotic loyalty, and to remember the lessons and blessings of liberty and justice for all; and

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 13.40 RCW to read as follows:

If a juvenile is ordered to pay legal financial obligations, including fines, penalty assessments, attorneys' fees, court costs, and restitution, the money judgment remains enforceable for a period of ten years. When the juvenile reaches the age of eighteen years or at the conclusion of juvenile court jurisdiction, whichever occurs later, the superior court clerk must docket the remaining balance of the juvenile's legal financial obligations in the same manner as other judgments for the payment of money. Sec. 8. RCW 13.40.080 and 1996 c 124 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A diversion agreement shall be a contract between a juvenile accused of an offense and a diversionary unit whereby the juvenile agrees to fulfill certain conditions in lieu of prosecution. Such agreements may be entered into only after the prosecutor, or probation counselor pursuant to this chapter, has determined that probable cause exists to believe that a crime has been committed and that the juvenile committed it. Such agreements shall be entered into as expeditiously as possible.

(2) A diversion agreement shall be limited to one or more of the following:

(a) Community service not to exceed one hundred fifty hours, not to be performed during school hours if the juvenile is attending school;

(b) Restitution limited to the amount of actual loss incurred by the victim;

(c) Attendance at up to ten hours of counseling and/or up to twenty hours of educational or informational sessions at a community agency. The educational or informational sessions may include sessions relating to respect for self, others, and authority; victim awareness; accountability; self-worth; responsibility; work ethics; good citizenship; and life skills. For purposes of this section, "community agency" may also mean a community-based nonprofit organization, if approved by the diversion unit. The state shall not be liable for costs resulting from the diversionary unit exercising the option to permit diversion agreements to mandate attendance at up to ten hours of counseling and/or up to twenty hours of educational or informational sessions;

(d) A fine, not to exceed one hundred dollars. In determining the amount of the fine, the diversion unit shall consider only the juvenile's financial resources and whether the juvenile has the means to pay the fine. The diversion unit shall not consider the financial resources of the juvenile's parents, guardian, or custodian in determining the fine to be imposed; and

(e) Requirements to remain during specified hours at home, school, or work, and restrictions on leaving or entering specified geographical areas.

(3) In assessing periods of community service to be performed and restitution to be paid by a juvenile who has entered into a diversion agreement, the court officer to whom this task is assigned shall consult with the juvenile's custodial parent or parents or guardian and victims who have contacted the diversionary unit and, to the extent possible, involve members of the community. Such members of the community shall meet with the juvenile and advise the court officer as to the terms of the diversion agreement and shall supervise the juvenile in carrying out its terms.

(4)(a) A diversion agreement may not exceed a period of six months and may include a period extending beyond the eighteenth birthday of the divertee.

(b) If additional time is necessary for the juvenile to complete restitution to the victim, the time period limitations of this subsection may be extended by an additional six months.

(c) If the juvenile has not paid the full amount of restitution by the end of the additional six-month period, then the juvenile shall be referred to the juvenile court for entry of an order establishing the amount of restitution still owed to the victim. In this order, the court shall also determine the terms and conditions of the restitution, including a payment plan extending up to ten years if the court determines that the juvenile does not have the means to make full restitution over a shorter period. For the purposes of this subsection (4)(c), the juvenile shall remain under the court's jurisdiction for a maximum term of ten years after the juvenile's eighteenth birthday. Prior to the expiration of the initial ten-year period, the juvenile court may extend the judgment for restitution an additional ten years. The court may not require the juvenile to pay full or partial restitution if the juvenile reasonably satisfies the court that he or she does not have the means to make full or partial restitution and could not reasonably acquire the means to pay the restitution over a ten-year period. The county clerk shall make disbursements to victims named in the order. The restitution to victims named in the order shall be paid prior to any payment for other penalties or monetary assessments. A juvenile under obligation to pay restitution may petition the court for modification of the restitution order.

(5) The juvenile shall retain the right to be referred to the court at any time prior to the signing of the diversion agreement.

(6) Divertees and potential divertees shall be afforded due process in all contacts with a diversionary unit regardless of whether the juveniles are accepted for diversion or whether the diversion program is successfully completed. Such due process shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(a) A written diversion agreement shall be executed stating all conditions in clearly understandable language;

(b) Violation of the terms of the agreement shall be the only grounds for termination;

(c) No divertee may be terminated from a diversion program without being given a court hearing, which hearing shall be preceded by:

(i) Written notice of alleged violations of the conditions of the diversion program; and

(ii) Disclosure of all evidence to be offered against the divertee;

(d) The hearing shall be conducted by the juvenile court and shall include:

(i) Opportunity to be heard in person and to present evidence;

(ii) The right to confront and cross-examine all adverse witnesses;

(iii) A written statement by the court as to the evidence relied on and the reasons for termination, should that be the decision; and

(iv) Demonstration by evidence that the divertee has substantially violated the terms of his or her diversion agreement.

(e) The prosecutor may file an information on the offense for which the divertee was diverted:

(i) In juvenile court if the divertee is under eighteen years of age; or

(ii) In superior court or the appropriate court of limited jurisdiction if the divertee is eighteen years of age or older.

(7) The diversion unit shall, subject to available funds, be responsible for providing interpreters when juveniles need interpreters to effectively communicate during diversion unit hearings or negotiations.

(8) The diversion unit shall be responsible for advising a divertee of his or her rights as provided in this chapter.

(9) The diversion unit may refer a juvenile to community-based counseling or treatment programs.

(10) The right to counsel shall inure prior to the initial interview for purposes of advising the juvenile as to whether he or she desires to participate in the diversion process or to appear in the juvenile court. The juvenile may be represented by counsel at any critical stage of the diversion process, including intake interviews and termination hearings. The juvenile shall be fully advised at the intake of his or her right to an attorney and of the relevant services an attorney can provide. For the purpose of this section, intake interviews mean all interviews regarding the diversion agreement process.

The juvenile shall be advised that a diversion agreement shall constitute a part of the juvenile's criminal history as defined by RCW 13.40.020(9). A signed acknowledgment of such advisement shall be obtained from the juvenile, and the document shall be maintained by the diversionary unit together with the diversion agreement, and a copy of both documents shall be delivered to the prosecutor if requested by the prosecutor. The supreme court shall promulgate rules setting forth the content of such advisement in simple language.

(11) When a juvenile enters into a diversion agreement, the juvenile court may receive only the following information for dispositional purposes:

- (a) The fact that a charge or charges were made;
- (b) The fact that a diversion agreement was entered into;
- (c) The juvenile's obligations under such agreement;
- (d) Whether the alleged offender performed his or her obligations under such agreement; and
- (e) The facts of the alleged offense.

(12) A diversionary unit may refuse to enter into a diversion agreement with a juvenile. When a diversionary unit refuses to enter a diversion agreement with a juvenile, it shall immediately refer such juvenile to the court for action and shall forward to the court the criminal complaint and a detailed statement of its reasons for refusing to enter into a diversion agreement. The diversionary unit shall also immediately refer the case to the prosecuting attorney for action if such juvenile violates the terms of the diversion agreement.

(13) A diversionary unit may, in instances where it determines that the act or omission of an act for which a juvenile has been referred to it involved no victim, or where it determines that the juvenile referred to it has no prior criminal history and is alleged to have committed an illegal act involving no threat of or instance of actual physical harm and involving not more than fifty dollars in property loss or damage and that there is no loss outstanding to the person or firm suffering such damage or loss, counsel and release or release such a juvenile without entering into a diversion agreement. A diversion unit's authority to counsel and release a juvenile under this subsection shall include the authority to refer the juvenile to community-based counseling or treatment programs. Any juvenile released under this subsection shall be advised that the act or omission of any act for which he or she had been referred shall constitute a part of the juvenile's criminal history as defined by RCW 13.40.020(9). A signed acknowledgment of such advisement shall be obtained from the juvenile, and the document shall be maintained by the unit, and a copy of the document shall be delivered to the prosecutor if requested by the prosecutor. The supreme court shall promulgate rules setting forth the content of such advisement in simple language. A juvenile determined to be eligible by a diversionary unit for release as provided in this subsection shall retain the same right to counsel and right to have his or her case referred to the court for formal action as any other juvenile referred to the unit.

(14) A diversion unit may supervise the fulfillment of a diversion agreement entered into before the juvenile's eighteenth birthday and which includes a period extending beyond the divertee's eighteenth birthday.

(15) If a fine required by a diversion agreement cannot reasonably be paid due to a change of circumstance, the diversion agreement may be modified at the request of the divertee and with the concurrence of the diversion unit to convert an unpaid fine into community service. The modification of the diversion agreement shall be in writing and signed by the divertee and the diversion unit. The number of hours of community service in lieu of a monetary penalty shall be converted at the rate of the prevailing state minimum wage per hour.

(16) Fines imposed under this section shall be collected and paid into the county general fund in accordance with procedures established by the juvenile court administrator under RCW 13.04.040 and may be used only for juvenile services. In the expenditure of funds for juvenile services, there shall be a maintenance of effort whereby counties exhaust existing resources before using amounts collected under this section.

Sec. 9. RCW 13.40.190 and 1996 c 124 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In its dispositional order, the court shall require the respondent to make restitution to any persons who have suffered loss or damage as a result of the offense committed by the respondent. In addition, restitution may be ordered for loss or damage if the offender pleads guilty to a lesser offense or fewer offenses and agrees with the prosecutor's recommendation that the offender be required to pay restitution to a victim of an offense or offenses which, pursuant to a plea agreement, are not prosecuted. The payment of restitution shall be in addition to any punishment which is imposed pursuant to the other provisions of this chapter. The court may determine the amount, terms, and conditions of the restitution including a payment plan extending up to ten years if the court determines that the respondent does not have the means to make full restitution over a shorter period. Restitution may include the costs of counseling reasonably related to the offense. If the respondent participated in the crime with another person or other persons, all such participants shall be jointly and severally responsible for the payment of restitution. For the purposes of this section, the respondent shall remain under the court's jurisdiction for a maximum term of ten years after the respondent's eighteenth birthday. Prior to the expiration of the ten-year period, the juvenile court may extend the judgment for the payment of restitution for an additional ten years. The court may not require the respondent to pay full or partial restitution if the respondent reasonably satisfies the court that he or she does not have the means to make full or partial restitution and could not reasonably acquire the means to pay such restitution over a ten-year period.

(2) Regardless of the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, the court shall order restitution in all cases where the victim is entitled to benefits under the crime victims' compensation act, chapter 7.68 RCW. If the court does not order restitution and the victim of the crime has been determined to be entitled to benefits under the crime victims' compensation act, the department of labor and industries, as administrator of the crime victims' compensation program, may petition the court within one year of entry of the disposition order for entry of a restitution order. Upon receipt of a petition from the department of labor and industries, the court shall hold a restitution hearing and shall enter a restitution order.

(3) If an order includes restitution as one of the monetary assessments, the county clerk shall make disbursements to victims named in the order. The restitution to victims named in the order shall be paid prior to any payment for other penalties or monetary assessments.

(4) A respondent under obligation to pay restitution may petition the court for modification of the restitution order."

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 84.52 RCW to read as follows:

(1) There is allowed a credit against the state regular real property tax for owner-occupied residential property. The credit is equal to the state regular property tax imposed on twenty percent of the state-wide average assessed value of owner-occupied single-family residential property multiplied by the indicated ratio fixed by the state department of revenue. The credit in any tax year shall not exceed the amount of state property tax imposed on the property.

(2) The credit in this section is in addition to any other property tax relief that may be provided by law.

(3) The following conditions apply to credit under this section:

(a) The residence must be occupied by the person claiming the credit as a principal place of residence as of January 1st of the year in which taxes are due. A person who sells, transfers, or is displaced from the person's residence may transfer the person's credit status to a replacement residence, but a claimant may not receive a credit on more than one residence in any year. Confinement of the person to a hospital or nursing home does not disqualify the claim of credit if:

(i) The residence is temporarily unoccupied;

(ii) The residence is occupied by either or both a spouse or a person financially dependent on the claimant for support; or

(iii) The residence is rented for the purpose of paying nursing home or hospital costs.

(b) The person claiming the credit must have owned, at the time of filing, in fee, as a life estate, or by contract purchase, the residence on which the property taxes have been imposed or if the person claiming the credit lives in a cooperative housing association, corporation, or partnership, the person must own a share therein representing the unit or portion of the structure in which the person resides. For purposes of this subsection, a residence owned by a marital community or owned by cotenants is deemed to be owned by each spouse or cotenant, and any lease for life is deemed a life estate.

(4) RCW 84.36.383, 84.36.385, 84.36.387, and 84.36.389 apply to this section.

Sec. 2. RCW 84.52.080 and 1989 c 378 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

The rate percent necessary to raise the amounts of taxes levied for state and county purposes, and for purposes of taxing districts coextensive with the county, shall be computed upon the assessed value of the property of the county; the rate percent necessary to raise the amount of taxes levied for any taxing district within the county shall be computed upon the assessed value of the property of the district; all taxes assessed against any property shall be added together and extended on the rolls in a column headed consolidated or total tax. In extending any tax, whenever it amounts to a fractional part of a cent greater than five mills it shall be made one cent, and whenever it amounts to five mills or less than five mills it shall be dropped. The amount of all taxes shall be entered in the proper columns, as shown by entering the rate percent necessary to raise the consolidated or total tax and the total tax assessed against the property.

(2) After entering the amounts under subsection (1) of this section, the county assessor shall compute the amount of credit authorized under section 1 of this act for each parcel of property. The credit allowed for any property shall be extended on the rolls in a column headed tax credit. The county treasurer shall subtract the amount of the credit from the total tax and enter this amount in a column headed tax payable.

(3) For the purpose of computing the rate necessary to raise the amount of any excess levy in a taxing district which has classified or designated forest land under chapter 84.33 RCW, other than the state, the county assessor shall add the district's timber assessed value, as defined in RCW 84.33.035, to the assessed value of the property: PROVIDED, That for school districts maintenance and operations levies only one-half of the district's timber assessed value or eighty percent of the timber

Correct the title accordingly.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative B. Thomas: I request a scope and object ruling on this amendment.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker: Representative Thomas, the Speaker is ready to rule on your request for scope and object. The subject portion of the title to Senate Bill No. 5835 is: "AN ACT Relating to limiting property taxes by reducing the state levy, reducing the one hundred six percent limit calculation and allowing for valuation increases to be spread over time;"

The scope of the bill, as measured by the title of the act, is narrow and specific. The Act by its title is limited to proposals which reduce the state levy, the 106 percent levy lid and which provide for smoothing out valuation increases over time.

Amendment 054 by Representative Dunshee would, if a constitutional amendment were to pass, allow a credit against certain property taxes.

This plan to offer credits against some property taxes is not found in any part of Senate Bill No. 5835.

The Speaker finds that Amendment 054 is not within the Scope of Senate Bill No. 5835.

Representative Thomas, your Point of Order is well taken.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Representatives B. Thomas, Dyer, Carrell, and Huff spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Representatives Dunshee, H. Sommers, Poulsen, and Conway spoke against passage of the bill.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Robertson: Please request the speaker (Representative Conway) to speak to the measure before the House, and not to a measure which was introduced last night and has not been reviewed by the body.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker asked Representative Conway to address the measure before the House as he continued to speak.

The Speaker stated the question before the House to be final passage of Senate Bill No. 5835.

Father Ryan: Sisters and Brothers, let us pray. Lord of Life and Death, today we gather to remember our sister and brothers whose' lives touched ours and added to the richness of our existence. We pause to recall the good times we shared with them. We are grateful for these imperishable treasures which we carry with us into eternity. Within the mystery of your divine plan our life pathways came together and blended as parallel pathways. We are grateful today and every day for all we have shared in our times together: for humor and work for friendship and trust, for the celebration of life. Gracious God, we lift up into your divine heart our friends who have served to your people in our State and local communities. We ask that you grant them eternal peace and the perpetual company of your chosen ones in your Heavenly home. Amen.

Speaker Pro Tempore: We are assembled today to pay tribute to the lives and services of the distinguished former members of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the State of Washington who have passed from among us.

On behalf of the people of our State, the Fifty-Fifth Legislative Session of the State of Washington conveys its respects to those deceased legislators who once sat in these hallowed chambers of the House and Senate, like we are doing today, answered roll calls on sometimes critical and perplexing bills, attended committee meetings, and above all else served to the best of their abilities in order to make our State a better and more enjoyable place to live. While their journey in this life is completed, their achievements, records and valued services have been recorded in the journals of the Senate and House, and are now and forever more a permanent part of the history of the State of Washington.

We express our sympathies to the bereaved families and their friends, and share with them on this memorable occasion the fond and happy memories of these legislators, who served well beyond their call of duty and responsibilities, and truly loved this great State of Washington. They have indeed left a legacy of dedicated service that will remain forever etched in our hearts, our memories and our legislative records.

I wish to introduce Representative Val Ogden of the 49th District who will assist in our recognition of our departed members.

We will now call the roll of the deceased former members and officers of the Senate and House of Representatives.

Pastor Robert Cassis, South Sound Presbyterian Church, Olympia gave the memorial prayer.

Pastor Cassis: Almighty God, King David, the psalmist, asked "Oh Lord, what is man that you care for him, and son of man that you think of him?" Man is like a breathe who's days are like a fleeting shadow. As we contemplate and memorialize the lives of these men and woman who served our State and the people they represented, we are reminded of the precious gift of life we have received. Our days are few and we must be faithful stewards to the opportunities life provides. These whom we memorialize today were such faithful stewards. Someday each person who has been elected to the Senate or the House of Representatives will be remembered in a service like this. May they be humbly satisfied with the contributions of their lives.

We thank you for the service of each of these seventeen. They labored long hours using and testing their wisdom and ingenuity. They interacted with colleagues attempting to communicate to convince and to convert each other, to find that often illusive solution to the problems facing our society. They had their successes as I saw some of the legislation that they put their lives into become law and they had their defeats as some issues they strongly supported failed to mustard the support necessary to become law. Yet they persevered. We thank you that these senators and representatives were willing to make the personal commitments necessary to serve in the legislature. They spent many hours away from their families, businesses and personal friends serving us. It is not easy to put one's personal life on hold to represent others but it is essential. While some of these served almost their entire professional lives in public service, others took time out from their other endeavors to serve for a briefer time. We are thankful for their differing perspectives. We ask you bless upon the families and close friends of these departed servants. Only those who have served or are serving now know the loneliness and sacrifice of their service. May these families now understand and appreciate the contributions which enabled their loved ones to serve. Comfort them in their grief by your abiding presence, assure them of your unconditional love. The Lord Jesus Christ once told his disciples "If anyone wants to be first, he must be the very last and the servant of all." We know how difficult it is to put ourselves last and to be the servant of all. Thank you for enabling these public servants to do so today. Amen.

Rabbi Theodore Stainman, Temple Bet Chaverim, Kent gave the closing prayer.

Rabbi Stainman: Our God and god of our forefathers, we acknowledge the great honor and responsibility of public service. An ancient sage once said, "Pray for the welfare of the government for without government men would tear each other limb from limb." We are meeting to pay homage to those who have served, and who have now moved onto their eternal reward. Let us recognize however, that in our homage, there is a prayer for the future. We ask the good Lord for guidance to better serve the citizens who have entrusted their well being into our hands. And for a measure of humility that alone will enable us to fulfill in a just and honorable way this charge. From the very first, human beings came to Washington with a dream and with a vision of a life made better by the great assets of our State, both natural and human. Crossing continental trails and traversing vast oceans, we or our ancestors sought in this land a home and a future. The necessity for government was clear from the very first, and men and women in each generation rose to help organize our energies and guide us to a solution, that of a better life, to make it a reality. For this we are profoundly thankful, and pray that the gifts and talents which God has bestowed upon our forefathers and mothers will continue throughout our time and term. We have received many blessing and pray continually and with our heart that we will be inheritors of the bounty of the good earth that our God has allotted to us. It is indeed in this spirit that we ask for wisdom to lead a great heart to judge and a discerning mind in enable us to live together in peace and in equity. For the sake of those who have gone before us, we beseech the Lord to grant us these simple gifts. And together we say, Amen.

The Speaker Pro Tempore turned the gavel over to the President of the Senate.

The President: Thank you, Speaker Pro Tempore Pennington, Representative Ogden, and other members of our memorial committee. Our warmest gratitude to those of you who have participated in the program today. I hope that the loved ones of those we honor today will draw comfort from today's observance. The Color Guard will now retire the colors.

The notice must specify a reasonable period of time for corrective action. The employer, group, or authorized claims administrator is subject to penalties under this subsection for the violation or for failing to take the required corrective action within the specified period, or both.

(b) If the department finds a pattern of improper claims closure or other violations of the authority granted in subsection (2) or (3) of this section, the director, or his or her designee, shall suspend the retrospective rating employer's or group's, or authorized claims administrator's, authority to assist the department in the processing of claims under this section for a period of up to two years. The department shall issue an order and notice under RCW 51.52.050 which states the grounds for the suspension. As provided in chapter 51.52 RCW, the order becomes final within sixty days from the

(6)(a) The director shall adopt under chapter 34.05 RCW all necessary rules governing the administration of this section. The rules should encourage broad participation in retrospective rating plans by employers and groups of employers consistent with insurance principles. The retrospective rating plan employer's or group's, or authorized claims administrator's, exercise of authority under this section may require prior notification to the department, but the rules must minimize the department's need to respond and must ensure that a failure to respond or a delay in response by the department does not impede the timely administration of the claim."

Violations of these good faith duties shall include, but not be limited to: (i) Attempting to close a valid claim under this section that the employer, or his or her representative, knew or should have known was closed inappropriately; (ii) interfering with a worker's right to file a claim under this title; or (iii) having a history or pattern of repeated unfair claims practices. The department shall adopt rules on unfair claims practices.

(b) A worker of a retrospective rating employer or beneficiary of such worker who is injured or damaged because of a violation of this section or violation of a rule adopted by the director under this section may bring a civil action against a retrospective rating employer or group, or authorized claims administrator, in superior court to enjoin further violations and to recover reasonable damages sustained by him or her, together with the cost of the suit including reasonable attorneys' fees to be set by the court."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. INTENT. The legislature finds that it is in the public interest that the state adopt public assistance policies for needy families that stress: The central role of employment in reducing poverty and need; the temporary nature of public assistance; the importance of the state's efforts in sustaining economic independence and promoting occupational and income advancement; and the continuing responsibility of the state to protect children and other vulnerable residents.

Therefore, the legislature intends that:

- (1) Work should provide the best opportunity for needy families to raise their incomes and leave poverty;
- (2) Parents should be responsible for support of their children. Child support will be aggressively pursued to assure that responsibility is fulfilled;
- (3) Those recipients who can work shall immediately participate in mandatory work or work preparation activities;
- (4) Sanctions for nonparticipation shall be clear, timely, and progressive;
- (5) Work should pay and the incentives in the system should support unsubsidized employment opportunities;
- (6) Education and job training should be accessible so an entry-level job can be the first step on a career ladder;
- (7) The individual shall sign a statement of personal responsibility, acknowledging responsibility for moving quickly into the world of work;
- (8) The state should help provide the tools for assistance recipients to get and keep a job, and improve their opportunity for advancement;
- (9) Essential services that low and moderate-income families need for sustaining independence, including health care insurance and child care, should be affordable and accessible;
- (10) Assistance should be available for those unable to perform self-sustaining work;
- (11) Individuals temporarily not able to work will be responsible for participating in activities designed to help them achieve self-sufficiency;
- (12) Legal immigrants should be eligible for the same programs as other residents;
- (13) State agencies involved with the temporary assistance for needy families program will be focused on moving people into self-sustaining work;
- (14) The state's goals should be supported by working through public and private providers who are most effective in getting people ready for and into unsubsidized employment;
- (15) Partnerships should be built with local governments, business, labor, and civic and religious organizations to mobilize the resources of communities to help families raise their incomes and leave poverty; and
- (16) WorkFirst should recognize the distinct needs and resources of communities and provide recipients with programs suited to the different labor markets of the state.

I. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Sec. 101. RCW 74.08.340 and 1959 c 26 s 74.08.340 are each amended to read as follows:

All assistance granted under this title shall be deemed to be granted and to be held subject to the provisions of any amending or repealing act that may hereafter be enacted, and no recipient shall have any claim for compensation, or otherwise, by reason of his assistance being affected in any way by such amending or repealing act. There is no legal entitlement to temporary assistance for needy families.

Sec. 102. RCW 74.08.025 and 1981 1st ex.s. c 6 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:
Public assistance (~~shall~~) may be awarded to any applicant:

- (1) Who is in need and otherwise meets the eligibility requirements of department assistance programs; and
- (2) Who has not made a voluntary assignment of property or cash for the purpose of qualifying for an assistance grant; and
- (3) Who is not an inmate of a public institution except as a patient in a medical institution or except as an inmate in a public institution who could qualify for federal aid assistance: PROVIDED, That the assistance paid by the department to recipients in nursing homes, or receiving nursing home care, may cover the cost of clothing and incidentals and general maintenance exclusive of medical care and health services. The department may pay a grant to cover the cost of clothing and personal incidentals in public or private medical institutions and institutions for tuberculosis. The department shall allow recipients in nursing homes to retain, in addition to the grant to cover the cost of clothing and incidentals, wages received for work as a part of a training or rehabilitative program designed to prepare the recipient for less restrictive placement to the extent permitted under Title XIX of the federal social security act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 103. A new section is added to chapter 74.12 RCW to read as follows:
TIME LIMITS. (1) A family that includes an adult who has received temporary assistance for needy families for sixty months after the effective date of this section shall be ineligible for further temporary assistance for needy families assistance.

(2) For the purposes of applying the rules of this section, the department shall count any month in which an adult family member received a temporary assistance for needy families cash assistance grant unless the assistance was provided when the family member was a minor child and not the head of the household or married to the head of the household.

(3) The legislature recognizes that under P.L. 104-193 the department may exempt no more than twenty percent of the temporary assistance for needy families caseload from the sixty-month time limit. The legislature further recognizes that not all adult recipients of temporary assistance for needy families can be expected to attain self-sufficiency within this time limit. Because the sixty-month time limit will not be applicable to recipients until 2002, the legislature further believes that it is appropriate to engage in the study required in section 501 of this act before making decisions about caseload exemptions.

Sec. 104. RCW 74.12.035 and 1985 c 335 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) ~~((A family or assistance unit is not eligible for aid for any month if for that month the total income of the family or assistance unit, without application of income disregards, exceeds one hundred eighty five percent of the state standard of need for a family of the same composition: PROVIDED, That for the purposes of determining the total income of the family or assistance unit, the earned income of a dependent child who is a full-time student for whom aid to families with dependent children is being provided shall be disregarded for six months per calendar year.~~

~~((2))~~ Participation in a strike does not constitute good cause to leave or to refuse to seek or accept employment. Assistance is not payable to a family for any month in which any caretaker relative with whom the child is living is, on the last day of the month, participating in a strike. An individual's need shall not be included in determining the amount of aid payable for any month to a family or assistance unit if, on the last day of the month, the individual is participating in a strike.

~~((3))~~ (2) Children over eighteen years of age and under nineteen years of age who are otherwise eligible for temporary assistance for needy families and who are full-time students ~~((reasonably expected to complete a program of))~~ attending secondary school, or the equivalent level of vocational or technical training ~~((, before reaching nineteen years of age))~~ are eligible to receive ~~((aid to families with dependent children: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That if such students do not successfully complete such program before reaching nineteen years of age, the assistance rendered under this~~ ~~subsection during such period shall not be a debt due the state))~~ temporary assistance for needy families.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 105. A new section is added to chapter 74.12A RCW to read as follows:

GRANT DIVERSION. The legislature recognizes there are low-income employable families who are in danger of becoming reliant on public assistance. With minimal short-term help from the state, these families can remain intact, actively involved in the labor market, and financially self-sufficient. Therefore, the legislature finds it is in the public interest to establish a grant diversion program to help at-risk families remain off temporary assistance for needy families.

(1) The department may provide state-funded cash aid to meet short-term need, thereby allowing employable low-income families to remain off assistance.

(2) Diversion assistance may include cash or vouchers in payment for the following needs:

(a) Child care;

(b) Housing assistance;

(c) Transportation-related expenses;

(d) Food;

(e) Medical costs not covered under chapter 74.09 RCW; and

(f) Employment-related expenses that are necessary to keep or obtain paid unsubsidized employment.

(3) Diversion assistance is available once in each twelve-month period. Recipients of diversion assistance are not included in the temporary assistance for needy families program.

(4) Diversion assistance may not exceed one thousand five hundred dollars for each instance.

(5) To be eligible for diversion assistance, a family must otherwise be eligible for, but not receiving, temporary assistance for needy families.

(6) Families ineligible for temporary assistance for needy families due to sanction, noncompliance, the lump sum income rule, or any other reason are not eligible for diversion assistance.

(7) Families must provide evidence showing that a bona fide need exists according to subsection (2) of this section in order to be eligible for diversion assistance.

(8) If the recipient of diversion assistance receives temporary assistance for needy families assistance within a period specified by the department, but not to exceed twelve months following the receipt of diversion assistance, the amount of the diversion assistance shall be recovered by the state by deduction from the recipient's temporary assistance for needy families grant.

(9) If funds appropriated for grant diversion are exhausted, the department shall discontinue the program in this section.

Sec. 106. RCW 74.09.510 and 1991 sp.s. c 8 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

Sec. 702. RCW 74.04.005 and 1992 c 165 s 1 and 1992 c 136 s 1 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

For the purposes of this title, unless the context indicates otherwise, the following definitions shall apply:

(2) "Department"—The department of social and health services.

(3) "County or local office"—The administrative office for one or more counties or designated service areas.

(4) "Director" or "secretary" means the secretary of social and health services.

(5) "Federal-aid assistance"—The specific categories of assistance for which provision is made in any federal law existing or hereafter passed by which payments are made from the federal government to the state in aid or in respect to payment by the state for public assistance rendered to any category of needy persons for which provision for federal funds or aid may from time to time be made, or a federally administered needs-based program.

(6)(a) "General assistance"—Aid to persons in need who:

(i) Are not eligible to receive federal-aid assistance, other than food stamps and medical assistance; however, an individual who refuses or fails to cooperate in obtaining federal-aid assistance, without good cause, is not eligible for general assistance;

(ii) Meet one of the following conditions:

(A) Pregnant: PROVIDED, That need is based on the current income and resource requirements of the federal (~~aid to families with dependent children~~) temporary assistance for needy families program(~~(: PROVIDED FURTHER, That during any period in which an aid for dependent children employable program is not in operation, only those pregnant women who are categorically eligible for medicaid are eligible for general assistance))~~); or

(B) Subject to chapter 165, Laws of 1992, incapacitated from gainful employment by reason of bodily or mental infirmity that will likely continue for a minimum of ninety days as determined by the department.

(C) Persons who are unemployable due to alcohol or drug addiction are not eligible for general assistance. Persons receiving general assistance on July 26, 1987, or becoming eligible for such assistance thereafter, due to an alcohol or drug-related incapacity, shall be referred to appropriate assessment, treatment, shelter, or supplemental security income referral services as authorized under chapter 74.50 RCW. Referrals shall be made at the time of application or at the time of eligibility review. Alcoholic and drug addicted clients who are receiving general assistance on July 26, 1987, may remain on general assistance if they otherwise retain their eligibility until they are assessed for services under chapter 74.50 RCW. Subsection (6)(a)(ii)(B) of this section shall not be construed to prohibit the department from granting general assistance benefits to alcoholics and drug addicts who are incapacitated due to other physical or mental conditions that meet the eligibility criteria for the general assistance program;

(iii) Are citizens or aliens lawfully admitted for permanent residence or otherwise residing in the United States under color of law; and

(iv) Have furnished the department their social security account number. If the social security account number cannot be furnished because it has not been issued or is not known, an application for a number shall be made prior to authorization of assistance, and the social security number shall be provided to the department upon receipt.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (6)(a)(i), (ii), and (c) of this section, general assistance shall be provided to the following recipients of federal-aid assistance:

(i) Recipients of supplemental security income whose need, as defined in this section, is not met by such supplemental security income grant because of separation from a spouse; or

(ii) To the extent authorized by the legislature in the biennial appropriations act, to recipients of (~~aid to families with dependent children~~) temporary assistance for needy families whose needs are not being met because of a temporary reduction in monthly income below the entitled benefit payment level caused by loss or reduction of wages or unemployment compensation benefits or some other unforeseen circumstances. The amount of general assistance authorized shall not exceed the difference between the entitled benefit payment level and the amount of income actually received.

(c) General assistance shall be provided only to persons who are not members of assistance units receiving federal aid assistance, except as provided in subsection (6)(a)(ii)(A) and (b) of this section, and will accept available services which can reasonably be expected to enable the person to work or reduce the need for assistance unless there is good cause to refuse. Failure to accept such services shall result in termination until the person agrees to cooperate in accepting such services and subject to the following maximum periods of ineligibility after reapplication:

(i) First failure: One week;

(ii) Second failure within six months: One month;

(iii) Third and subsequent failure within one year: Two months.

(d) Persons found eligible for general assistance based on incapacity from gainful employment may, if otherwise eligible, receive general assistance pending application for federal supplemental security income benefits. Any general assistance that is subsequently duplicated by the person's receipt of supplemental security income for the same period shall be considered a debt due the state and shall by operation of law be subject to recovery through all available legal remedies.

(e) The department shall adopt by rule medical criteria for general assistance eligibility to ensure that eligibility decisions are consistent with statutory requirements and are based on clear, objective medical information.

(f) The process implementing the medical criteria shall involve consideration of opinions of the treating or consulting physicians or health care professionals regarding incapacity, and any eligibility decision which rejects uncontroverted medical opinion must set forth clear and convincing reasons for doing so.

(g) Recipients of general assistance based upon a finding of incapacity from gainful employment who remain otherwise eligible shall not have their benefits terminated absent a clear showing of material improvement in their medical or mental condition or specific error in the prior determination that found the recipient eligible by reason of incapacitation. Recipients of general assistance based upon pregnancy who relinquish their child for adoption, remain otherwise eligible, and are not eligible to receive benefits under the federal (~~(aid to families with dependent children)~~) temporary assistance for needy families program shall not have their benefits terminated until the end of the month in which the period of six weeks following the birth of the recipient's child falls. Recipients of the federal (~~(aid to families with dependent children)~~) temporary assistance for needy families program who lose their eligibility solely because of the birth and relinquishment of the qualifying child may receive general assistance through the end of the month in which the period of six weeks following the birth of the child falls.

(7) "Applicant"—Any person who has made a request, or on behalf of whom a request has been made, to any county or local office for assistance.

(8) "Recipient"—Any person receiving assistance and in addition those dependents whose needs are included in the recipient's assistance.

(9) "Standards of assistance"—The level of income required by an applicant or recipient to maintain a level of living specified by the department.

(10) "Resource"—Any asset, tangible or intangible, owned by or available to the applicant at the time of application, which can be applied toward meeting the applicant's need, either directly or by conversion into money or its equivalent: PROVIDED, That an applicant may retain the following described resources and not be ineligible for public assistance because of such resources.

(a) A home, which is defined as real property owned and used by an applicant or recipient as a place of residence, together with a reasonable amount of property surrounding and contiguous thereto, which is used by and useful to the applicant. Whenever a recipient shall cease to use such property for residential purposes, either for himself or his dependents, the property shall be considered as a resource which can be made available to meet need, and if the recipient or his dependents absent themselves from the home for a period of ninety consecutive days such absence, unless due to hospitalization or health reasons or a natural disaster, shall raise a rebuttable presumption of abandonment: PROVIDED, That if in the opinion of three physicians the recipient will be unable to return to the home during his lifetime, and the home is not occupied by a spouse or dependent children or disabled sons or daughters, such property shall be considered as a resource which can be made available to meet need.

(b) Household furnishings and personal effects and other personal property having great sentimental value to the applicant or recipient, as limited by the department consistent with limitations on resources and exemptions for federal aid assistance.

(c) A motor vehicle, other than a motor home, used and useful having an equity value not to exceed one thousand five hundred dollars. Recipients of temporary assistance for needy families may retain a motor vehicle, other than a motor home, used and useful having an equity value not to exceed five thousand dollars.

(d) All other resources, including any excess of values exempted, not to exceed one thousand dollars or other limit as set by the department, to be consistent with limitations on resources and exemptions necessary for federal aid assistance. The department shall also allow recipients of temporary assistance for needy families to exempt savings accounts with combined balances of up to an additional three thousand dollars.

(e) Applicants for or recipients of general assistance shall have their eligibility based on resource limitations consistent with the ~~((aid to families with dependent children))~~ temporary assistance for needy families program rules adopted by the department.

(f) If an applicant for or recipient of public assistance possesses property and belongings in excess of the ceiling value, such value shall be used in determining the need of the applicant or recipient, except that: (i) The department may exempt resources or income when the income and resources are determined necessary to the applicant's or recipient's restoration to independence, to decrease the need for public assistance, or to aid in rehabilitating the applicant or recipient or a dependent of the applicant or recipient; and (ii) the department may provide grant assistance for a period not to exceed nine months from the date the agreement is signed pursuant to this section to persons who are otherwise ineligible because of excess real property owned by such persons when they are making a good faith effort to dispose of that property: PROVIDED, That:

(A) The applicant or recipient signs an agreement to repay the lesser of the amount of aid received or the net proceeds of such sale;

(B) If the owner of the excess property ceases to make good faith efforts to sell the property, the entire amount of assistance may become an overpayment and a debt due the state and may be recovered pursuant to RCW 43.20B.630;

(C) Applicants and recipients are advised of their right to a fair hearing and afforded the opportunity to challenge a decision that good faith efforts to sell have ceased, prior to assessment of an overpayment under this section; and

(D) At the time assistance is authorized, the department files a lien without a sum certain on the specific property.

(11) "Income"—(a) All appreciable gains in real or personal property (cash or kind) or other assets, which are received by or become available for use and enjoyment by an applicant or recipient during the month of application or after applying for or receiving public assistance. The department may by rule and regulation exempt income received by an applicant for or recipient of public assistance which can be used by him to decrease his need for public assistance or to aid in rehabilitating him or his dependents, but such exemption shall not, unless otherwise provided in this title, exceed the exemptions of resources granted under this chapter to an applicant for public assistance. In determining the amount of assistance to which an applicant or recipient of ~~((aid to families with dependent children))~~ temporary assistance for needy families is entitled, the department is hereby authorized to disregard as a resource or income the earned income exemptions consistent with federal requirements. The department may permit the above exemption of earnings of a child to be retained by such child to cover the cost of special future identifiable needs even though the total exceeds the exemptions or resources granted to applicants and recipients of public assistance, but consistent with federal requirements. In formulating rules and regulations pursuant to this chapter, the department shall define income and resources and the availability thereof, consistent with federal requirements. All resources and income not specifically exempted, and any income or other economic benefit derived from the use of, or appreciation in value of, exempt resources, shall be considered in determining the need of an applicant or recipient of public assistance.

(b) If, under applicable federal requirements, the state has the option of considering property in the form of lump sum compensatory awards or related settlements received by an applicant or recipient as income or as a resource, the department shall consider such property to be a resource.

(12) "Need"—The difference between the applicant's or recipient's standards of assistance for himself and the dependent members of his family, as measured by the standards of the department, and value of all nonexempt resources and nonexempt income received by or available to the applicant or recipient and the dependent members of his family.

(13) For purposes of determining eligibility for public assistance and participation levels in the cost of medical care, the department shall exempt restitution payments made to people of Japanese and Aleut ancestry pursuant to the Civil Liberties Act of 1988 and the Aleutian and Pribilof Island Restitution Act passed by congress, P.L. 100-383, including all income and resources derived therefrom.

(14) In the construction of words and phrases used in this title, the singular number shall include the plural, the masculine gender shall include both the feminine and neuter genders and the present tense shall include the past and future tenses, unless the context thereof shall clearly indicate to the contrary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 703. A new section is added to chapter 74.12 RCW to read as follows:
PATERNITY ESTABLISHMENT. In order to be eligible for temporary assistance for needy families, applicants shall, at the time of application for assistance, provide the names of both parents of their child or children, whether born or unborn, unless the applicant meets good cause criteria for refusing such identification.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 704. A new section is added to chapter 74.12 RCW to read as follows:
TRIBAL TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES. (1) The department may (a) coordinate with and cooperate with eligible Indian tribes that elect to operate a tribal temporary assistance for needy families program as provided for in P.L. 104-193; and (b) upon approval by the secretary of the federal department of health and human services of a tribal temporary assistance for needy families program, transfer a fair and equitable amount of the state maintenance of effort funds to the eligible Indian tribe.
(2) An eligible Indian tribe exercising its authority under P.L. 104-193 to operate a tribal temporary assistance for needy families program as a condition of receiving state maintenance of effort funds shall operate the program on a state fiscal year basis. If a tribe decides to cancel a tribal temporary assistance for needy families program, it shall notify the department no later than ninety days before the start of the state fiscal year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 705. A new section is added to chapter 50.40 RCW to read as follows:
(1) An individual filing a new claim for unemployment compensation shall, at the time of filing the claim, disclose whether or not the individual owes an uncollected overissuance of food stamps as defined under subsection (7) of this section. If the individual discloses that he or she owes an uncollected overissuance of food stamps and is determined to be eligible for unemployment compensation, the commissioner shall notify the state food stamp agency enforcing those obligations that the individual has been determined to be eligible for unemployment compensation.
(2) The commissioner shall deduct and withhold from any unemployment compensation payable to an individual who owes an uncollected overissuance of food stamps as defined under subsection (7) of this section:
(a) The amount specified by the individual to the commissioner to be deducted and withheld under this subsection, if neither (b) nor (c) of this subsection is applicable;
(b) The amount, if any, determined pursuant to an agreement submitted to the state food stamp agency under section 13(c)(3)(A) of the food stamp act of 1977; or
(c) Any amount otherwise required to be so deducted and withheld from such unemployment compensation pursuant section 13(c)(3)(B) of the food stamp act of 1977.
(3) Any amount deducted and withheld under subsection (2) of this section shall be paid by the commissioner to the appropriate state food stamp agency.
(4) Any amount deducted and withheld under subsection (2) of this section shall be treated for all purposes as if it were paid to the individual as unemployment compensation and paid by that individual to the state food stamp agency in satisfaction of the individual's uncollected overissuance.
(5) For the purposes of this section, "unemployment compensation" means any compensation payable under this chapter including amounts payable by the commissioner under an agreement under any federal law providing for compensation, assistance, or allowances with respect to unemployment.
(6) This section applies only if appropriate arrangements have been made for reimbursement by the state food stamp agency for the administrative costs incurred by the commissioner under this section which are attributable to the repayment of uncollected overissuance to the state food stamp agency.

(7) "Uncollected overissuances of food stamps" as used in this section means only those obligations which are being enforced pursuant to section 13(c)(1) of the food stamp act of 1977.

(8) This section applies only if arrangements have been made for reimbursement by the state food stamp agency for the administrative costs incurred by the commissioner under this section which are attributable to the state food stamp agency.

VIII. LICENSE SUSPENSION

NEW SECTION. Sec. 801. It is the intent of the legislature to provide a strong incentive for persons owing child support to make timely payments, and to cooperate with the department of social and health services to establish an appropriate schedule for the payment of any arrears. To further ensure that child support obligations are met, sections 802 through 898 of this act establish a program by which certain licenses may be suspended or not renewed if a person is one hundred eighty days or more in arrears on child support payments.

In the implementation and management of this program, it is the legislature's intent that the objective of the department of social and health services be to obtain payment in full of arrears, or where that is not possible, to enter into agreements with delinquent obligors to make timely support payments and make reasonable payments towards the arrears. The legislature intends that if the obligor refuses to cooperate in establishing a fair and reasonable payment schedule for arrears or refuses to make timely support payments, the department shall proceed with certification to a licensing entity or the department of licensing that the person is not in compliance with a child support order.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 802. A new section is added to chapter 74.20A RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department may serve upon a responsible parent a notice informing the responsible parent of the department's intent to submit the parent's name to the department of licensing and any appropriate licensing entity as a licensee who is not in compliance with a child support order. The department shall attach a copy of the responsible parent's child support order to the notice. Service of the notice must be by certified mail, return receipt requested. If service by certified mail is not successful, service shall be by personal service.

(2) The notice of noncompliance must include the address and telephone number of the department's division of child support office that issues the notice and must inform the responsible parent that:

(a) The parent may request an adjudicative proceeding to contest the issue of compliance. The only issues that may be considered at the adjudicative proceeding are whether the parent is required to pay child support under a child support order and whether the parent is in compliance with that order;

(b) A request for an adjudicative proceeding shall be in writing and must be received by the department within twenty days of the date of service of the notice;

(c) If the parent requests an adjudicative proceeding within twenty days of service, the department will stay action to certify the parent to the department of licensing and any licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order pending entry of a written decision after the adjudicative proceeding;

(d) If the parent does not request an adjudicative proceeding within twenty days of service and remains in noncompliance with a child support order, the department will certify the parent's name to the department of licensing and any appropriate licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order;

(e) The department will stay action to certify the parent to the department of licensing and any licensing entity for noncompliance if the parent agrees to make timely payments of current support and agrees to a reasonable payment schedule for payment of the arrears. It is the parent's responsibility to contact in person or by mail the department's division of child support office indicated on the notice within twenty days of service of the notice to arrange for a payment schedule. The department may stay certification for up to thirty days after contact from a parent to arrange for a payment schedule;

(f) If the department certifies the responsible parent to the department of licensing and a licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order, the licensing entity will suspend or not renew the parent's license and the department of licensing will suspend or not renew any driver's license that the parent holds until the parent provides the department of licensing and the licensing entity with a release from the department stating that the responsible parent is in compliance with the child support order;

(g) Suspension of a license will affect insurability if the responsible parent's insurance policy excludes coverage for acts occurring after the suspension of a license;

(h) If after receiving the notice of noncompliance with a child support order, the responsible parent files a motion to modify support with the court or requests the department to amend a support obligation established by an administrative decision, the department or the court may stay action to certify the parent to the department of licensing and any licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order. The responsible parent has the obligation to notify the department that a modification proceeding is pending and provide a copy of the motion or request for modification; and

(i) If the responsible parent subsequently becomes in compliance with the child support order, the department will promptly provide the parent with a release stating that the parent is in compliance with the order, and the parent may request that the licensing entity or the department of licensing reinstate the suspended license.

(3) A responsible parent may request an adjudicative proceeding upon service of the notice described in subsection (1) of this section. The request for an adjudicative proceeding must be received by the department within twenty days of service. The request must be in writing and indicate the current mailing address and daytime phone number, if available, of the responsible parent. The proceedings under this subsection shall be conducted in accordance with the requirements of chapter 34.05 RCW. The issues that may be considered at the adjudicative proceeding are limited to whether:

(a) The person named as the responsible parent is the responsible parent;

(b) The responsible parent is required to pay child support under a child support order; and

(c) The responsible parent is in compliance with the order.

(4) The decision resulting from the adjudicative proceeding must be in writing and inform the responsible parent of his or her rights to review. The parent's copy of the decision may be sent by regular mail to the parent's most recent address of record.

(5) If a responsible parent contacts the department's division of child support office indicated on the notice of noncompliance within twenty days of service of the notice and requests arrangement of a payment schedule, the department shall stay the certification of noncompliance during negotiation of the schedule for payment of arrears. In no event shall the stay continue for more than thirty days from the date of contact by the parent. The department shall make good faith efforts to establish a schedule for payment of arrears that is fair and reasonable, and that considers the financial situation of the responsible parent and the needs of all children who rely on the responsible parent for support. At the end of the thirty days, if no payment schedule has been agreed to in writing, the department shall proceed with certification of noncompliance.

(6) If a responsible parent timely requests an adjudicative proceeding pursuant to subsection (4) of this section, the department may not certify the name of the parent to the department of licensing or a licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order unless the adjudicative proceeding results in a finding that the responsible parent is not in compliance with the order.

(7) The department may certify to the department of licensing and any appropriate licensing entity the name of a responsible parent who is not in compliance with a child support order if:

(a) The responsible parent does not timely request an adjudicative proceeding upon service of a notice issued under subsection (1) of this section and is not in compliance with a child support order twenty-one days after service of the notice;

(b) An adjudicative proceeding results in a decision that the responsible parent is not in compliance with a child support order;

(c) The court enters a judgment on a petition for judicial review that finds the responsible parent is not in compliance with a child support order;

(d) The department and the responsible parent have been unable to agree on a fair and reasonable schedule of payment of the arrears; or

(e) The responsible parent fails to comply with a payment schedule established pursuant to subsection (5) of this section.

The department shall send by regular mail a copy of any certification of noncompliance filed with the department of licensing or a licensing entity to the responsible parent at the responsible parent's most recent address of record.

(8) The department of licensing and a licensing entity shall, without undue delay, notify a responsible parent certified by the department under subsection (7) of this section that the parent's driver's license or other license has been suspended because the parent's name has been certified by the department as a responsible parent who is not in compliance with a child support order.

(9) When a responsible parent who is served notice under subsection (1) of this section subsequently complies with the child support order, the department shall promptly provide the parent with a release stating that the responsible parent is in compliance with the order. A copy of the release shall be transmitted by the department to the appropriate licensing entities.

(10) The department may adopt rules to implement and enforce the requirements of this section.

(11) Nothing in this section prohibits a responsible parent from filing a motion to modify support with the court or from requesting the department to amend a support obligation established by an administrative decision. If there is a reasonable likelihood that the motion or request will significantly change the amount of the child support obligation, the department or the court may stay action to certify the responsible parent to the department of licensing and any licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order. The responsible parent has the obligation to notify the department that a modification proceeding is pending and provide a copy of the motion or request for modification.

(12) The department of licensing and a licensing entity may issue, renew, reinstate, or otherwise extend a license in accordance with the licensing entity's or the department of licensing's rules after the licensing entity or the department of licensing receives a copy of the release specified in subsection (9) of this section. The department of licensing and a licensing entity may waive any applicable requirement for reissuance, renewal, or other extension if it determines that the imposition of that requirement places an undue burden on the person and that waiver of the requirement is consistent with the public interest.

(13) The procedures in chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act), constitute the exclusive administrative remedy for contesting the establishment of noncompliance with a child support order and suspension of a license under this section, and satisfy the requirements of RCW 34.05.422.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 803. A new section is added to chapter 74.20A RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department and all of the various licensing entities subject to section 802 of this act shall enter into such agreements as are necessary to carry out the requirements of the license suspension program established in section 802 of this act.

(2) The department and all licensing entities subject to section 802 of this act shall compare data to identify responsible parents who may be subject to the provisions of chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act). The comparison may be conducted electronically, or by any other means that is jointly agreeable between the department and the particular licensing entity. The data shared shall be limited to those items necessary to implementation of chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act). The purpose of the comparison shall be to identify current licensees who are not in compliance with a child support order, and to provide to the department the following information regarding those licensees:

- (a) Name;
- (b) Date of birth;
- (c) Address of record;
- (d) Federal employer identification number and social security number;
- (e) Type of license;
- (f) Effective date of license or renewal;
- (g) Expiration date of license; and
- (h) Active or inactive status.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 804. A new section is added to chapter 74.20A RCW to read as follows:

In furtherance of the public policy of increasing collection of child support and to assist in evaluation of the program established in section 802 of this act, the department shall report the following to the legislature and the governor on December 1, 1998, and annually thereafter:

- (1) The number of responsible parents identified as licensees subject to section 802 of this act;

(2) The number of responsible parents identified by the department as not in compliance with a child support order;

(3) The number of notices of noncompliance served upon responsible parents by the department;

(4) The number of responsible parents served a notice of noncompliance who request an adjudicative proceeding;

(5) The number of adjudicative proceedings held, and the results of the adjudicative proceedings;

(6) The number of responsible parents certified to the department of licensing or licensing entities for noncompliance with a child support order, and the number of each type of licenses that were suspended;

(7) The costs incurred in the implementation and enforcement of section 802 of this act and an estimate of the amount of child support collected due to the department under section 802 of this act;

(8) Any other information regarding this program that the department feels will assist in evaluation of the program;

(9) Recommendations for the addition of specific licenses in the program or exclusion of specific licenses from the program, and reasons for such recommendations; and

(10) Any recommendations for statutory changes necessary for the cost-effective management of the program.

(7) Has been certified by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a child support order as provided in section 802 of this act.

Sec. 807. RCW 46.20.311 and 1995 c 332 s 11 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall not suspend a driver's license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways for a fixed period of more than one year, except as specifically permitted under RCW 46.20.342 or other provision of law. Except for a suspension under RCW 46.20.289 ~~((and)),~~ 46.20.291(5), or section 802 of this act, whenever the license or driving privilege of any person is suspended by reason of a conviction, a finding that a traffic infraction has been committed, pursuant to chapter 46.29 RCW, or pursuant to RCW 46.20.291 or 46.20.308, the suspension shall remain in effect until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. If the suspension is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, the department shall determine the person's eligibility for licensing based upon the reports provided by the alcoholism agency or probation department designated under RCW 46.61.5056 and shall deny reinstatement until enrollment and participation in an approved program has been established and the person is otherwise qualified. Whenever the license or driving privilege of any person is suspended as a result of certification of noncompliance with a child support order under chapter 74.20A RCW, the suspension shall remain in effect until the person provides a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the person is in compliance with the order. The department shall not issue to the person a new, duplicate, or renewal license until the person pays a reissue fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or is the result of administrative action under RCW 46.20.308, the reissue fee shall be fifty dollars.

(2) Any person whose license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways has been revoked, unless the revocation was for a cause which has been removed, is not entitled to have the license or privilege renewed or restored until: (a) After the expiration of one year from the date the license or privilege to drive was revoked; (b) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.20.3101 or 46.61.5055; (c) after the expiration of two years for persons convicted of vehicular homicide; or (d) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.20.265. After the expiration of the appropriate period, the person may make application for a new license as provided by law together with a reissue fee in the amount of twenty dollars, but if the revocation is the result of a violation of RCW 46.20.308, 46.61.502, or 46.61.504, the reissue fee shall be fifty dollars. If the revocation is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, the department shall determine the person's eligibility for licensing based upon the reports provided by the alcoholism agency or probation department designated under RCW 46.61.5056 and shall deny reissuance of a license, permit, or privilege to drive until enrollment and participation in an approved program has been established and the person is otherwise qualified. Except for a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not then issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways, and until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. For a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant that person the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways.

(3) Whenever the driver's license of any person is suspended pursuant to Article IV of the nonresident violators compact or RCW 46.23.020 or 46.20.289 or 46.20.291(5), the department shall not issue to the person any new or renewal license until the person pays a reissue fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of the laws of this or any other state, province, or other jurisdiction involving (a) the operation or physical control of a motor vehicle upon the public highways while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or (b) the refusal to submit to a chemical test of the driver's blood alcohol content, the reissue fee shall be fifty dollars.

(2) The director may by order deny, suspend, or revoke a camping resort salesperson's registration or application for registration under this chapter or the person's license or application under chapter 18.85 RCW, or impose a fine on such persons not exceeding two hundred dollars per violation, if the director finds that the order is necessary for the protection of purchasers or owners of camping resort contracts and the applicant or registrant is guilty of:

(a) Obtaining registration by means of fraud, misrepresentation, or concealment, or through the mistake or inadvertence of the director;

(b) Violating any of the provisions of this chapter or any lawful rules adopted by the director pursuant thereto;

(c) Being convicted in a court of competent jurisdiction of this or any other state, or federal court, of forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, bribery, larceny, extortion, conspiracy to defraud, or any similar offense or offenses. For the purposes of this section, "being convicted" includes all instances in which a plea of guilty or nolo contendere is the basis for the conviction, and all proceedings in which the sentence has been deferred or suspended;

(d) Making, printing, publishing, distributing, or causing, authorizing, or knowingly permitting the making, printing, publication, or distribution of false statements, descriptions, or promises of such character as to reasonably induce any person to act thereon, if the statements, descriptions, or promises purport to be made or to be performed by either the applicant or registrant and the applicant or registrant then knew or, by the exercise of reasonable care and inquiry, could have known, of the falsity of the statements, descriptions, or promises;

(5) The director, subsequent to any complaint filed against a salesperson or pursuant to an investigation to determine violations, may enter into stipulated assurances of discontinuances in lieu of issuing a statement of charges or a cease and desist order or conducting a hearing. The assurance shall consist of a statement of the law in question and an agreement not to violate the stated provision. The salesperson shall not be required to admit to any violation of the law, nor shall the assurance be construed as such an admission. Violation of an assurance under this subsection is grounds for a disciplinary action, a suspension of registration, or a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars.

(6) The director may by rule require such further information or conditions for registration as a camping resort salesperson, including qualifying examinations and fingerprint cards prepared by authorized law enforcement agencies, as the director deems necessary to protect the interests of purchasers.

(7) Registration as a camping resort salesperson shall be effective for a period of one year unless the director specifies otherwise or the salesperson transfers employment to a different registrant. (2) For the purpose of considering any application for a license, the board may cause an inspection of the premises to be made, and may inquire into all matters in connection with the construction and operation of the premises. For the purpose of reviewing any application for a license and for considering the denial, suspension or revocation of any license, the liquor control board may consider any prior criminal conduct of the applicant and the provisions of RCW 9.95.240 and of chapter 9.96A RCW shall not apply to such cases. The board may, in its discretion, grant or refuse the license applied for. Authority to approve an uncontested or unopposed license may be granted by the board to any staff member the board designates in writing. Conditions for granting such authority shall be adopted by rule. No retail license of any kind may be issued to:

(a) A person who has not resided in the state for at least one month prior to making application, except in cases of licenses issued to dining places on railroads, boats, or aircraft;

(b) A copartnership, unless all of the members thereof are qualified to obtain a license, as provided in this section;

(3)(a) The board may, in its discretion, subject to the provisions of RCW 66.08.150, suspend or cancel any license; and all rights of the licensee to keep or sell liquor thereunder shall be suspended or terminated, as the case may be.

(b) The board shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license or certificate shall be automatic upon the board's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the order.

(c) The board may request the appointment of administrative law judges under chapter 34.12 RCW who shall have power to administer oaths, issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, accounts, documents, and testimony, examine witnesses, and to receive testimony in any inquiry, investigation, hearing, or proceeding in any part of the state, under such rules and regulations as the board may adopt.

(d) Witnesses shall be allowed fees and mileage each way to and from any such inquiry, investigation, hearing, or proceeding at the rate authorized by RCW 34.05.446, as now or hereafter amended. Fees need not be paid in advance of appearance of witnesses to testify or to produce books, records, or other legal evidence.

(e) In case of disobedience of any person to comply with the order of the board or a subpoena issued by the board, or any of its members, or administrative law judges, or on the refusal of a witness to testify to any matter regarding which he or she may be lawfully interrogated, the judge of the superior court of the county in which the person resides, on application of any member of the board or administrative law judge, shall compel obedience by contempt proceedings, as in the case of disobedience of the requirements of a subpoena issued from said court or a refusal to testify therein.

(4) Upon receipt of notice of the suspension or cancellation of a license, the licensee shall forthwith deliver up the license to the board. Where the license has been suspended only, the board shall return the license to the licensee at the expiration or termination of the period of suspension. The board shall notify all vendors in the city or place where the licensee has its premises of the suspension or cancellation of the license; and no employee may allow or cause any liquor to be delivered to or for any person at the premises of that licensee.

(5)(a) At the time of the original issuance of a class H license, the board shall prorate the license fee charged to the new licensee according to the number of calendar quarters, or portion thereof, remaining until the first renewal of that license is required.

(b) Unless sooner canceled, every license issued by the board shall expire at midnight of the thirtieth day of June of the fiscal year for which it was issued. However, if the board deems it feasible and desirable to do so, it may establish, by rule pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW, a system for staggering the annual renewal dates for any and all licenses authorized by this chapter. If such a system of staggered annual renewal dates is established by the board, the license fees provided by this chapter shall be appropriately prorated during the first year that the system is in effect.

(6) Every license issued under this section shall be subject to all conditions and restrictions imposed by this title or by the regulations in force from time to time. All conditions and restrictions imposed by the board in the issuance of an individual license shall be listed on the face of the individual license along with the trade name, address, and expiration date.

(7) Every licensee shall post and keep posted its license, or licenses, in a conspicuous place on the premises.

(8) Before the board shall issue a license to an applicant it shall give notice of such application to the chief executive officer of the incorporated city or town, if the application be for a license within an incorporated city or town, or to the county legislative authority, if the application be for a license outside the boundaries of incorporated cities or towns; and such incorporated city or town, through the official or employee selected by it, or the county legislative authority or the official or employee selected by it, shall have the right to file with the board within twenty days after date of transmittal of such notice, written objections against the applicant or against the premises for which the license is asked, and shall include with such objections a statement of all facts upon which such objections are based, and in case written objections are filed, may request and the liquor control board may in its discretion hold a formal hearing subject to the applicable provisions of Title 34 RCW. Upon the granting of a license under this title the board shall send a duplicate of the license or written notification to the chief executive officer of the incorporated city or town in which the license is granted, or to the county legislative authority if the license is granted outside the boundaries of incorporated cities or towns.

(9) Before the board issues any license to any applicant, it shall give (a) due consideration to the location of the business to be conducted under such license with respect to the proximity of churches, schools, and public institutions and (b) written notice by certified mail of the application to churches, schools, and public institutions within five hundred feet of the premises to be licensed. The board shall issue no beer retailer license class A, B, D, or E or wine retailer license class C or F or class H license covering any premises not now licensed, if such premises are within five hundred feet of the premises of any tax-supported public elementary or secondary school measured along the most direct route over or across established public walks, streets, or other public passageway from the outer property line of the school grounds to the nearest public entrance of the premises proposed for license, and if, after receipt by the school or public institution of the notice as provided in this subsection, the board receives written notice, within twenty days after posting such notice, from an official representative or representatives of the school within five hundred feet of said proposed licensed premises, indicating to the board that there is an objection to the issuance of such license because of proximity to a school. For the purpose of this section, church shall mean a building erected for and used exclusively for religious worship and schooling or other activity in connection therewith. No liquor license may be issued or reissued by the board to any motor sports facility or licensee operating within the motor sports facility unless the motor sports facility enforces a program reasonably calculated to prevent alcohol or alcoholic beverages not purchased within the facility from entering the facility and such program is approved by local law enforcement agencies. It is the intent under this subsection that a retail license shall not be issued by the board where doing so would, in the judgment of the board, adversely affect a private school meeting the requirements for private schools under Title 28A RCW, which school is within five hundred feet of the proposed licensee. The board shall fully consider and give substantial weight to objections filed by private schools. If a license is issued despite the proximity of a private school, the board shall state in a letter addressed to the private school the board's reasons for issuing the license.

(10) The restrictions set forth in subsection (9) of this section shall not prohibit the board from authorizing the assumption of existing licenses now located within the restricted area by other persons or licenses or relocations of existing licensed premises within the restricted area. In no case may the licensed premises be moved closer to a church or school than it was before the assumption or relocation.

(11) Nothing in this section prohibits the board, in its discretion, from issuing a temporary retail or wholesaler license to an applicant assuming an existing retail or wholesaler license to continue the operation of the retail or wholesaler premises during the period the application for the license is pending and when the following conditions exist:

- (a) The licensed premises has been operated under a retail or wholesaler license within ninety days of the date of filing the application for a temporary license;
- (b) The retail or wholesaler license for the premises has been surrendered pursuant to issuance of a temporary operating license;
- (c) The applicant for the temporary license has filed with the board an application to assume the retail or wholesaler license at such premises to himself or herself; and
- (d) The application for a temporary license is accompanied by a temporary license fee established by the board by rule.

A temporary license issued by the board under this section shall be for a period not to exceed sixty days. A temporary license may be extended at the discretion of the board for an additional sixty-day period upon payment of an additional fee and upon compliance with all conditions required in this section.

Refusal by the board to issue or extend a temporary license shall not entitle the applicant to request a hearing. A temporary license may be canceled or suspended summarily at any time if the board determines that good cause for cancellation or suspension exists. RCW 66.08.130 and chapter 34.05 RCW shall apply to temporary licenses.

Application for a temporary license shall be on such form as the board shall prescribe. If an application for a temporary license is withdrawn before issuance or is refused by the board, the fee which accompanied such application shall be refunded in full.

(b) Have received individualized training in a manner approved by the department; and

(c) Have successfully completed any required examinations.

(8) No interim certification shall be valid after January 1, 1992, and interim certification shall not automatically qualify operators for certification pursuant to subsections (2) through (4) of this section.

(9) The department shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. Sec. 896. RCW 26.23.050 and 1994 c 230 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support is providing support enforcement services under RCW 26.23.045, or if a party is applying for support enforcement services by signing the application form on the bottom of the support order, the superior court shall include in all court orders that establish or modify a support obligation:

(a) A provision that orders and directs the responsible parent to make all support payments to the Washington state support registry;

(b) A statement that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued, or other income withholding action under chapter 26.18 or 74.20A RCW may be taken))~~ withholding action may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits, and liens enforced against real and personal property under the child support statutes of this or any other state, without further notice to the responsible parent at any time after entry of the court order, unless:

(i) One of the parties demonstrates, and the court finds, that there is good cause not to require immediate income withholding and that withholding should be delayed until a payment is past due; or

(ii) The parties reach a written agreement that is approved by the court that provides for an alternate arrangement; ~~((and))~~

(c) A statement that the receiving parent might be required to submit an accounting of how the support is being spent to benefit the child; and

(d) A statement that the responsible parent's privileges to obtain and maintain a license, as defined in section 802 of this act, may not be renewed, or may be suspended if the parent is not in compliance with a support order as defined in section 802 of this act.

As used in this subsection and subsection (3) of this section, "good cause not to require immediate income withholding" means a written determination of why implementing immediate wage withholding would not be in the child's best interests and, in modification cases, proof of timely payment of previously ordered support.

(2) In all other cases not under subsection (1) of this section, the court may order the responsible parent to make payments directly to the person entitled to receive the payments, to the Washington state support registry, or may order that payments be made in accordance with an alternate arrangement agreed upon by the parties.

(a) The superior court shall include in all orders under this subsection that establish or modify a support obligation:

(i) A statement that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued or other income))~~ withholding action ~~((under chapter 26.18 or 74.20A RCW))~~ may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits, and liens enforced against real and personal property under the child support statutes of this or any other state, without further notice to the responsible parent at any time after entry of the court order, unless:

(A) One of the parties demonstrates, and the court finds, that there is good cause not to require immediate income withholding and that withholding should be delayed until a payment is past due; or

(B) The parties reach a written agreement that is approved by the court that provides for an alternate arrangement; and

(ii) A statement that the receiving parent may be required to submit an accounting of how the support is being spent to benefit the child.

As used in this subsection, "good cause not to require immediate income withholding" is any reason that the court finds appropriate.

(b) The superior court may order immediate or delayed income withholding as follows:

(i) Immediate income withholding may be ordered if the responsible parent has earnings. If immediate income withholding is ordered under this subsection, all support payments shall be paid to the Washington state support registry. The superior court shall issue a mandatory wage assignment order as set forth in chapter 26.18 RCW when the support order is signed by the court. The parent entitled to receive the transfer payment is responsible for serving the employer with the order and for its enforcement as set forth in chapter 26.18 RCW.

(ii) If immediate income withholding is not ordered, the court shall require that income withholding be delayed until a payment is past due. The support order shall contain a statement that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued, or other income withholding action under chapter 26.18 or 74.20A RCW may be taken))~~ withholding action may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits, and liens enforced against real and personal property under the child support statutes of this or any other state, without further notice to the responsible parent, after a payment is past due.

(c) If a mandatory wage withholding order under chapter 26.18 RCW is issued under this subsection and the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support provides support enforcement services under RCW 26.23.045, the existing wage withholding assignment is prospectively superseded upon the ~~((office of support enforcement's))~~ division of child support's subsequent service of an income withholding notice.

(3) The office of administrative hearings and the department of social and health services shall require that all support obligations established as administrative orders include a provision which orders and directs that the responsible parent shall make all support payments to the Washington state support registry. All administrative orders shall also state that the responsible parent's privileges to obtain and maintain a license, as defined in section 802 of this act, may not be renewed, or may be suspended if the parent is not in compliance with a support order as defined in section 802 of this act. All administrative orders shall also state that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued, or other income~~

~~withholding action taken~~) withholding action may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits, and liens enforced against real and personal property under the child support statutes of this or any other state without further notice to the responsible parent at any time after entry of the order, unless:

(a) One of the parties demonstrates, and the presiding officer finds, that there is good cause not to require immediate income withholding; or

(b) The parties reach a written agreement that is approved by the presiding officer that provides for an alternate agreement.

(4) If the support order does not include the provision ordering and directing that all payments be made to the Washington state support registry and a statement that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued))~~ withholding action may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits if a support payment is past due or at any time after the entry of the order, or that a parent's licensing privileges may not be renewed, or may be suspended, the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support may serve a notice on the responsible parent stating such requirements and authorizations. Service may be by personal service or any form of mail requiring a return receipt.

(5) Every support order shall state:

(a) The address where the support payment is to be sent;

(b) That ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued or other income withholding action under chapter 26.18 or 74.20A RCW may be taken))~~ withholding action may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits, and liens enforced against real and personal property under the child support statutes of this or any other state, without further notice to the responsible parent at any time after entry of ~~((an order by the court))~~ a support order, unless:

(i) One of the parties demonstrates, and the court finds, that there is good cause not to require immediate income withholding; or

(ii) The parties reach a written agreement that is approved by the court that provides for an alternate arrangement;

(c) The income of the parties, if known, or that their income is unknown and the income upon which the support award is based;

(d) The support award as a sum certain amount;

(e) The specific day or date on which the support payment is due;

(f) The social security number, residence address, date of birth, telephone number, driver's license number, and name and address of the employer of the responsible parent;

(g) The social security number and residence address of the physical custodian except as provided in subsection (6) of this section;

(h) The names, dates of birth, and social security numbers, if any, of the dependent children;

(i) ~~((In cases requiring payment to the Washington state support registry, that the parties are to notify the Washington state support registry of any change in residence address. The responsible parent shall notify the registry of the name and address of his or her current employer.))~~ A provision requiring the responsible parent to keep the Washington state support registry informed of whether he or she has access to health insurance coverage at reasonable cost and, if so, the health insurance policy information;

(j) That any parent owing a duty of child support shall be obligated to provide health insurance coverage for his or her child if coverage that can be extended to cover the child is or becomes available to that parent through employment or is union-related as provided under RCW 26.09.105;

(k) That if proof of health insurance coverage or proof that the coverage is unavailable is not provided within twenty days, the obligee or the department may seek direct enforcement of the coverage through the obligor's employer or union without further notice to the obligor as provided under chapter 26.18 RCW; ~~((and))~~

(l) The reasons for not ordering health insurance coverage if the order fails to require such coverage; and

(m) That the responsible parent's privileges to obtain and maintain a license, as defined in section 802 of this act, may not be renewed, or may be suspended if the parent is not in compliance with a support order as defined in section 802 of this act.

(6) The physical custodian's address:

(a) Shall be omitted from an order entered under the administrative procedure act. When the physical custodian's address is omitted from an order, the order shall state that the custodian's address is known to the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support.

(b) A responsible parent may request the physical custodian's residence address by submission of a request for disclosure under RCW 26.23.120 to the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support.

~~(7) ((The superior court clerk, the office of administrative hearings, and the department of social and health services shall, within five days of entry, forward to the Washington state support registry, a true and correct copy of all superior court orders or administrative orders establishing or modifying a support obligation which provide that support payments shall be made to the support registry. If a superior court order entered prior to January 1, 1988, directs the responsible parent to make support payments to the clerk, the clerk shall send a true and correct copy of the support order and the payment record to the registry for enforcement action when the clerk identifies that a payment is more than fifteen days past due. The office of support enforcement shall reimburse the clerk for the reasonable costs of copying and sending copies of court orders to the registry at the reimbursement rate provided in Title IV D of the social security act.~~

~~(8) Receipt of a support order by the registry or other action under this section on behalf of a person or persons who have not made a written application for support enforcement services to the office of support enforcement and who are not recipients of public assistance is deemed to be a request for payment services only.~~

~~(9))~~ After the responsible parent has been ordered or notified to make payments to the Washington state support registry under this section, the responsible parent shall be fully responsible for making all payments to the Washington state support registry and shall be subject to payroll deduction or other income-withholding action. The responsible parent shall not be entitled to credit against a support obligation for any payments made to a person or agency other than to the Washington state support registry except as provided under RCW 74.20.101. A civil action may be brought by the payor to recover payments made to persons or agencies who have received and retained support moneys paid contrary to the provisions of this section.

The amount of the accrued child support or spousal maintenance debt as of this date is . . . . . dollars, the amount of arrearage payments specified in the support or spousal maintenance order (if applicable) is . . . . . dollars per . . . . ., and the amount of the current and continuing support or spousal maintenance obligation under the order is . . . . . dollars per . . . . .

You are hereby commanded to answer this order by filling in the attached form according to the instructions, and you must mail or deliver the original of the answer to the court, one copy to the Washington state support registry, one copy to the obligee or obligee's attorney, and one copy to the obligor within twenty days after service of this wage assignment order upon you.

If you possess any earnings or other remuneration for employment due and owing to the obligor, then you shall do as follows:

(1) Withhold from the obligor's earnings or remuneration each month, or from each regular earnings disbursement, the lesser of:

(a) The sum of the accrued support or spousal maintenance debt and the current support or spousal maintenance obligation;

(c) Fifty percent of the disposable earnings or remuneration of the obligor.

(2) The total amount withheld above is subject to the wage assignment order, and all other sums may be disbursed to the obligor.

(3) Upon receipt of this wage assignment order you shall make immediate deductions from the obligor's earnings or remuneration and remit to the Washington state support registry or other address specified below the proper amounts at each regular pay interval.

You shall continue to withhold the ordered amounts from nonexempt earnings or remuneration of the obligor until notified by:

(a) The court that the wage assignment has been modified or terminated; or

(b) The addressee specified in the wage assignment order under this section that the accrued child support or spousal maintenance debt has been paid.

You shall promptly notify the court and the addressee specified in the wage assignment order under this section if and when the employee is no longer employed by you, or if the obligor no longer receives earnings or remuneration from you. If you no longer employ the employee, the wage assignment order shall remain in effect for one year after the employee has left your employment or you are no longer in possession of any earnings or remuneration owed to the employee, whichever is later. You shall continue to hold the wage assignment order during that period. If the employee returns to your employment during the one-year period you shall immediately begin to withhold the employee's earnings according to the terms of the wage assignment order. If the employee has not returned to your employment within one year, the wage assignment will cease to have effect at the expiration of the one-year period, unless you still owe the employee earnings or other remuneration.

You shall deliver the withheld earnings or remuneration to the Washington state support registry or other address stated below at each regular pay interval.

You shall deliver a copy of this order to the obligor as soon as is reasonably possible. ## IX. CHILD SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT

Sec. 901. RCW 74.20.040 and 1989 c 360 s 12 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever the department ~~((of social and health services))~~ receives an application for public assistance on behalf of a child, the department shall take appropriate action under the provisions of this chapter, chapter 74.20A RCW, or other appropriate statutes of this state to establish or enforce support obligations against the parent or other persons owing a duty to pay support moneys.

(2) The secretary may accept a request for support enforcement services on behalf of persons who are not recipients of public assistance and may take appropriate action to establish or enforce support obligations against the parent or other persons owing a duty to pay moneys. Requests accepted under this subsection may be conditioned upon the payment of a fee as required through regulation issued by the secretary. ~~((Action may be taken under the provisions of chapter 74.20 RCW, the abandonment or nonsupport statutes, or other appropriate statutes of this state, including but not limited to remedies established in chapter 74.20A RCW, to establish and enforce said support obligations.))~~
The secretary may establish by regulation, reasonable standards and qualifications for support enforcement services under this subsection.

(3) The secretary may accept requests for support enforcement services from child support enforcement agencies in other states operating child support programs under Title IV-D of the social security act or from foreign countries, and may take appropriate action to establish and enforce support obligations, or to enforce subpoenas, information requests, orders for genetic testing, and collection actions issued by the other agency against the parent or other person owing a duty to pay support moneys, the parent or other person's employer, or any other person or entity properly subject to child support collection or information-gathering processes. The request shall contain and be accompanied by such information and documentation as the secretary may by rule require, and be signed by an authorized representative of the agency. The secretary may adopt rules setting forth the duration and nature of services provided under this subsection.

(4) The department may take action to establish, enforce, and collect a support obligation, including performing related services, under this chapter and chapter 74.20A RCW, or through the attorney general or prosecuting attorney for action under chapter 26.09, 26.18, 26.20, 26.21, or 26.26 RCW or other appropriate statutes or the common law of this state.

(5) Whenever a support order is filed with the Washington state support registry under chapter 26.23 RCW, the department may take appropriate action under the provisions of this chapter, chapter 26.23 or 74.20A RCW, or other appropriate law of this state to establish or enforce the support obligations contained in that order against the responsible parent or other persons owing a duty to pay support moneys.

(6) The secretary may charge and collect a fee from the person obligated to pay support to compensate the department for services rendered in establishment of or enforcement of support obligations. This fee shall be limited to not more than ten percent of any support money collected as a result of action taken by the secretary. The fee charged shall be in addition to the support obligation. In no event may any moneys collected by the department ~~((of social and health services))~~ from the person obligated to pay support be retained as satisfaction of fees charged until all current support obligations have been satisfied. The secretary shall by regulation establish reasonable fees for support enforcement services and said schedule of fees shall be made available to any person obligated to pay support. The secretary may, on showing of necessity, waive or defer any such fee.

(7) Fees, due and owing, may be collected as delinquent support moneys utilizing any of the remedies in chapter 74.20 RCW, chapter 74.20A RCW, chapter 26.21 RCW, or any other remedy at law or equity available to the department or any agencies with whom it has a cooperative or contractual arrangement to establish, enforce, or collect support moneys or support obligations.

(8) The secretary may waive the fee, or any portion thereof, as a part of a compromise of disputed claims or may grant partial or total charge off of said fee if the secretary finds there are no available, practical, or lawful means by which said fee may be collected or to facilitate payment of the amount of delinquent support moneys owed.

(9) The secretary shall adopt rules conforming to federal laws, rules, and regulations required to be observed in maintaining the state child support enforcement program required under Title IV-D of the federal social security act. The adoption of these rules shall be calculated to promote the cost-effective use of the agency's resources and not otherwise cause the agency to divert its resources from its essential functions.

(11) After the twenty days following service of the notice, the person, firm, entity, or agency of state or federal government may petition for a late hearing. A late hearing is available upon a showing of any of the grounds stated in civil rule 60 for the vacation of orders.

(12) The division of child support may collect any obligation established under this section using any of the remedies available under chapter 26.09, 26.18, 26.21, 26.23, 74.20, or 74.20A RCW for the collection of child support.

(13) The division of child support may enter agreements for the repayment of obligations under this section. Agreements may:

support process. Amounts suspended become fully collectible without further notice automatically upon failure to comply with a child support process;

(b) Resolve amounts due under this section and provide for repayment.

(14) The secretary may adopt rules to implement this section.
