FIRST DAY

House Chamber, Olympia, Monday, January 8, 2007

The House was called to order at 12:00 Noon by the Chief Clerk, Richard Nafziger.

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by the Washington National Guard Color Guard. The National Anthem was sung by the Kirkland Washington Stake Choir of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. The Chief Clerk led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. Prayer was offered by Father Thomas Vandenberg, St. Vincent DePaul Parish, Federal Way.

Father Vandenberg: "Good and gracious God, It is with hearts filled with hope that we gather in this chamber to begin this new legislative session for Washington State. The men and women who are here are here because the people of their respective districts believed in them enough to send them here. Help them to remember that they are believed in, for knowing this gives energy and enlivens hope. Help all here who enjoy this trust to be faithful to it, and to humbly respect those who have given it.

Good and gracious God, You have made available to our state extraordinary wealth and resources to do the work that lies before these servants of our people. Remembering how they got here, may they use the resources at their disposal for the benefit of their people, to help them live the gift of life in keeping with their innate dignity as men, women and children in your image.

Good and gracious God, As wealthy as we are, and as blessed as we are with resources to do everything for everyone. We ask, then, for the guidance of your wisdom upon these, our representatives, to do first the things that need to be done to further what is just and right, especially for the weak and vulnerable. Guide them when they address such troubling issues as health care, education, energy, immigration and transportation. May the dialogue and debate be honest and open, and may it be pursued not so much to defeat opponents, but rather as a necessary means to learn from each other the best solutions possible.

Good and gracious God, This chamber is filled with ordinary people, and we, the people of Washington State expect them to do extraordinary things. So it is only right and proper that we ask you to bless their efforts this session. When tough decisions are required, give this body the wisdom and courage to make those decisions. As being a husband is all about his wife, not himself; and as being a mother is all about her child, not herself; help these men and women realize that being members of this legislature is all about the people of Washington State, not themselves. Let victories not be measured by who gains power but by how the decisions of this Body effect the quality of life of the citizens of this state.

Good and gracious God, Bless and guide these good and generous people. May their work this session bear fruit that will last as we strive to make our world a safer place, a better place, a place of freedom and justice for all.

We ask all this trusting in Your divine goodness. Amen."

The Kirkland Washington Stake Choir sang "Distant Land."

The Chief Clerk called upon Representatives-Elect Hurst and Rodne to escort Justice Charles Johnson of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington to the Rostrum.

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives
The Legislature of the State of Washington
Olympia, Washington

Mr. Speaker:

I, Sam Reed, Secretary of State of the State of Washington, do hereby certify that according to the provisions of RCW 29A.60.260, I have canvassed the returns of the 2,107,370 votes cast by the 3,264,511 registered voters of the state for and against the initiatives and resolution which were submitted to the vote of the people at the state general election held on the 7th day of November, 2006, as received from the County Auditors.

Initiative Measure No. 920

"Initiative Measure No. 920 concerns estate tax. This measure would repeal Washington's state laws imposing tax, currently dedicated for the education legacy trust fund, on transfers of estates of persons dying on or after the effective date of this measure."

Yes	778,047

Initiative Measure No. 933

"Initiative Measure No. 933 concerns government regulation of private property. This measure would require compensation when government regulation damages the use or value of private property, would forbid regulations that prohibit existing legal uses of private property, and would provide exceptions or payments."

Yes	839,992
No	1,199,679

Initiative Measure No. 937

"Initiative Measure No. 937 concerns energy resource use by certain electric utilities. This measure would require certain electric utilities with 25,000 or more customers to meet certain targets for energy conservation and use of renewable energy resources, as defined, including energy credits, or pay penalties."

Yes	1,042,679

House Joint Resolution 4223

"The Legislature has proposed a constitutional amendment on increasing an exemption from the personal property tax. This amendment would authorize the Legislature to increase the personal property tax exemption for taxable personal property owned by each "head of a family" from three thousand ($3,000) to fifteen thousand ($15,000) dollars."

Approved	1,581,373
Rejected	399,684

I further certify that, according to the provisions of RCW 42.07.030, I have canvassed the returns of the votes cast at the state general election held on the 7th day of November, 2006, for all federal, legislative and joint judicial offices, and that the votes cast for candidates for these offices are as follows:

Definitions

Rule 1. "Absent" means an unexcused failure to attend.

"Term" means the two-year term during which the members as a body may act.

"Session" means a constitutional gathering of the house in accordance with Article 2 § 12 of the state Constitution.

"Committee" means any standing, conference, joint, or select committee as so designated by rule or resolution.

"Bill" means bill, joint memorial, joint resolution, or concurrent resolution unless the context indicates otherwise.

Chief Clerk to Call to Order

Rule 2. It shall be the duty of the chief clerk of the previous term to call the house to order and to conduct the proceedings until a speaker is chosen.

Election of Officers

Rule 3. The house shall elect the following officers at the commencement of each term: Its presiding officer, who shall be styled speaker of the house; a speaker pro tempore, who shall serve in absence or in case of the inability of the speaker; and a chief clerk of the house. Such officers shall hold office during all sessions until the convening of the succeeding term: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That any of these offices may be declared vacant by the vote of a constitutional majority of the house, the members voting viva voce and their votes shall be entered on the journal. If any office is declared vacant, the house shall fill such vacant office as hereinafter provided. In all elections by the house a constitutional majority shall be required, the members shall vote viva voce and their votes shall be entered on the journal. (Art. II § 27)

Powers and Duties of the Speaker

Rule 4. The speaker shall have the following powers and duties:

(A) The speaker shall take the chair and call the house to order precisely at the hour appointed for meeting and if a quorum be present, shall cause the journal of the preceding day to be read and shall proceed with the order of business.

(B) The speaker shall preserve order and decorum, and in case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct within the chamber or legislative area, shall order the sergeant at arms to suppress the same

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have set my hand and affixed the official seal of the state of Washington, this 6th day of December, 2006.

SAM REED
Secretary of State

The Clerk called the roll and a quorum was present.

OATH OF OFFICE

Justice Johnson administered the Oath of Office to the Members. The Certificates of Office were distributed to the members.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4600, by Representatives Kessler and Ericksen

BE IT RESOLVED, That no later than Friday, January 19, 2007, the twelfth legislative day, the House of Representatives shall meet to consider adoption of permanent House Rules for the Sixtieth Legislature; and

and may order the sergeant at arms to remove any person creating any disturbance within the house chamber or legislative area.

(C) The speaker may speak to points of order in preference to other members, arising from the seat for that purpose, and shall decide all questions of order subject to an appeal to the house by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once without leave of the house.

(D) The speaker shall sign all bills in open session. (Art. II § 32)

(E) The speaker shall sign all writs, warrants, and subpoenas issued by order of the house, all of which shall be attested to by the chief clerk.

(F) The speaker shall have the right to name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall neither extend beyond adjournment nor authorize the representative so substituted to sign any documents requiring the signature of the speaker.

(G) The speaker, in open session, shall appoint committee chairs (~~from the majority party of the house~~) as selected by the majority party caucus, and shall appoint members to committees in the same ratio as the membership of the respective parties of the house, unless otherwise provided by law or house rules.

(H) The speaker shall serve as chair of the rules committee.

(I) The speaker shall have charge of and see that all officers, attaches, and clerks perform their respective duties.

(J) The speaker pro tempore shall exercise the duties, powers, and prerogatives of the speaker in the event of the speaker's death, illness, removal, or inability to act until the speaker's successor shall be elected.

Chief Clerk

Rule 5. The chief clerk shall perform the usual duties pertaining to the office, and shall hold office until a successor has been elected.

The chief clerk shall employ, upon the recommendation of the employment committee and, subject to the approval of the speaker, all other house employees; the hours of duty and assignments of all house employees shall be under the chief clerk's directions and instructions, and they may be dismissed by the chief clerk with the approval of the speaker. The speaker shall sign and the chief clerk shall countersign all payrolls and vouchers for all expenses of the house and appropriately transmit the same. In the event of the chief clerk's death, illness, removal, or inability to act, the speaker may appoint an acting chief clerk who shall exercise the duties and powers of the chief clerk until the chief clerk's successor shall be elected.

Duties of Employees

Rule 6. Employees of the house shall perform such duties as are assigned to them by the chief clerk. Under no circumstances shall the compensation of any employee be increased for past services. No house employee shall seek to influence the passage or rejection of proposed legislation.

Admission to the House

Rule 7. It shall be the general policy of the house to keep the chamber clear as follows:

(A) The sergeant at arms shall admit only the following individuals to the wings and adjacent areas of the house chamber for the period of time beginning one-half hour prior to convening and ending one-half hour following the adjournment of the house's daily session:

The governor or designees, or both;
Members of the senate;
State elected officials;
Officers and authorized employees of the legislature;
Former members of the house who are not advocating any pending or proposed legislation;
Representatives of the press;
Other persons with the consent of the speaker.

(B) Only members, pages, sergeants at arms, and clerks are permitted on the floor while the house is in session.

(C) Lobbying in the house chamber or in any committee room or lounge room is prohibited when the house or committee is in session unless expressly permitted by the house or committee. Anyone violating this rule will forfeit his or her right to be admitted to the house chamber or any of its committee rooms.

Absentees and Courtesies

Rule 8. No member shall be absent from the service of the house without leave from the speaker. When the house is in session, only the speaker shall recognize visitors and former members.

Bills, Memorials and Resolutions - Introductions

Rule 9. Any member desiring to introduce a bill shall file the same with the chief clerk. Bills filed by 10:00 a.m. shall be introduced at the next daily session, in the order filed: PROVIDED, That if such introduction is within the last ten days of a regular session, it cannot be considered without a direct vote of two-thirds (2/3) of all the members elected to each house with such vote recorded and entered upon the journal. (Art. II § 36)

Any member or member-elect may prefile a bill with the chief clerk commencing twenty (20) days before any session. Prefiled bills shall be introduced on the first legislative day.

All bills shall be endorsed with a statement of the title and the name of the member or members introducing the same. The chief clerk shall attach to all bills a substantial cover bearing the title and sponsors and shall number each bill in the order filed. All bills shall be printed unless otherwise ordered by the house.

Any bill introduced at any session during the term shall be eligible for action at all subsequent sessions during the term.

Reading of Bills

Rule 10. Every bill shall be read on three separate days: PROVIDED, That this rule may be temporarily suspended at any time by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present; and that on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote.

A bill may be returned to second reading for the purpose of amendment by a suspension of the rules: PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, section 12 of the state Constitution or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, this rule may be suspended and a bill returned to second reading for the purpose of amendment by a majority vote.

(A) FIRST READING. The first reading of a bill shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full.

After the first reading the bill shall be referred to an appropriate committee.

Upon being reported out of committee, all bills shall be referred to the rules committee, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

The rules committee may, by majority vote, refer any bill in its possession to a committee for further consideration. Such referral shall be reported to the house and entered in the journal under the fifth order of business.

(B) SECOND READING. Upon second reading, the bill number and short title and the last line of the bill shall be read unless a majority of the members present shall demand its reading in full. The bill shall be subject to amendment section by section. No amendment shall be considered by the house until it has been sent to the chief clerk's desk in writing, distributed to the desk of each member, and read by the clerk. All amendments adopted during second reading shall be securely fastened to the original bill. All amendments rejected by the house shall be passed to the minute clerk, and the journal shall show the disposition of such amendments.

When no further amendments shall be offered, the speaker shall declare the bill has passed its second reading.

(C) SUBSTITUTE BILLS. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill with the recommendation that the substitute bill do pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute the first time and have the same printed. A motion for the substitution shall not be in order until the second reading of the original bill.

(D) THIRD READING. Only the last line of bills shall be read on third reading unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full. No amendments to a bill shall be received on third reading but it may be referred or recommitted for the purpose of amendment.

(E) SUSPENSION CALENDAR. Bills may be placed on the second reading suspension calendar by the rules committee if at least two minority party members of the rules committee join in such motion. Bills on the second reading suspension calendar shall not be subject to amendment or substitution except as recommended in the committee report. When a bill is before the house on the suspension calendar, the question shall be to adopt the committee recommendations and advance the bill to third reading. If the question fails to receive a two-thirds vote of the members present, the bill shall be referred to the rules committee for second reading.

(F) HOUSE RESOLUTIONS. House resolutions shall be filed with the chief clerk who shall transmit them to the rules committee. If a rules committee meeting is not scheduled to occur prior to a time necessitated by the purpose of a house resolution, the majority leader and minority leader by agreement may waive transmission to the rules committee to permit consideration of the resolution by the house. The rules committee may adopt house resolutions by a sixty percent majority vote of its entire membership or may, by a majority vote of its members, place them on the motions calendar for consideration by the house. No more than one resolution per day may be scheduled for consideration by the house except by mutual agreement of the majority leader and minority leader: PROVIDED, That this limit does not apply to resolutions necessary for the operation of the house nor to resolutions scheduled for consideration on pro forma session days.

(G) CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS. Reading of concurrent resolutions may be advanced by majority vote.

Amendments

Rule 11. The right of any member to offer amendments to proposed legislation shall not be limited except as provided in Rule 10(E) and as follows:

(A) AMENDMENTS TO BE OFFERED IN PROPER FORM. The chief clerk shall establish the proper form for amendments and all amendments offered shall bear the name of the member who offers the same, as well as the number and section of the bill to be amended.

(B) COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS. When a bill is before the house on second reading, amendments adopted by committees and recommended to the house shall be acted upon by the house before any amendments that may be offered from the floor.

(C) SENATE AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILLS. A house bill, passed by the senate with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the house, shall be referred to the appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills unless a motion not to concur is adopted prior to the bill being referred to committee.

(D) AMENDMENTS TO BE GERMANE. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment; and no bill or resolution shall at any time be amended by annexing thereto or incorporating therein any other bill or resolution pending before the house.

(E) SCOPE AND OBJECT NOT TO BE CHANGED. No amendment to any bill shall be allowed which shall change the scope and object of the bill. This objection may be raised at any time an amendment is under consideration. The speaker may allow the person raising the objection and the mover of the amendment to provide brief arguments as to the merits of the objection. (Art. II § 38)

(F) NO AMENDMENT BY REFERENCE. No act shall ever be revised or amended without being set forth at full length. (Art. II § 37)

(G) TITLE AMENDMENTS. The subject matter portion of a bill title shall not be amended in committee or on second reading. Changes to that part of the title after the subject matter statement shall either be presented with the text amendment or be incorporated by the chief clerk in the engrossing process.

Final Passage

Rule 12. Rules relating to bills on final passage are as follows:

(A) RECOMMITMENT BEFORE FINAL PASSAGE. A bill may be recommitted at any time before its final passage.

(B) FINAL PASSAGE. No bill shall become a law unless on its final passage the vote be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the members voting for and against the same be entered on the journal of each house, and a majority of the members elected to each house be recorded thereon as voting in its favor. (Art. II § 22)

(C) BILLS PASSED - CERTIFICATION. When a bill passes, it shall be certified to by the chief clerk, said certification to show the date of its passage together with the vote thereon.

Hour of Meeting, Roll Call and Quorum

Rule 13. (A) HOUR OF MEETING. The speaker shall call the house to order each day of sitting at 10:00 A.M., unless the house shall have adjourned to some other hour.

(B) ROLL CALL AND QUORUM. Before proceeding with business, the roll of the members shall be called and the names of those absent or excused shall be entered on the journal. A majority of all the members elected must be present to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. In the absence of a quorum, seven members with the speaker, or eight members in the speaker's absence, having chosen a speaker pro tempore, shall be authorized to demand a call of the house and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner provided in Rule 21(B). For the purpose of determining if a quorum be present, the speaker shall count all members present, whether voting or not. (Art. II § 8)

(C) The house shall adjourn not later than 10:00 P.M. of each working day. This rule may be suspended by a majority vote.

Daily Calendar and Order of Business

Rule 14. The rules relating to the daily calendar and order of business are as follows:

(A) DAILY CALENDAR. Business of the house shall be disposed of in the following order:

First: Roll call, presentation of colors, prayer, and approval of the journal of the preceding day.

Second: Introduction of visiting dignitaries.

Third: Messages from the senate, governor, and other state officials.

Fifth: Committee reports.

Sixth: Second reading of bills.

Seventh: Third reading of bills.

Eighth: Floor resolutions and motions.

Ninth: Presentation of petitions, memorials, and remonstrances addressed to the Legislature.

Tenth: Introduction of visitors and other business to be considered.

Eleventh: Announcements.

(B) UNFINISHED BUSINESS. The unfinished business at which the house was engaged preceding adjournment shall not be taken up until reached in regular order, unless the previous question on such unfinished business has been ordered prior to said adjournment.

(C) EXCEPTIONS. Exceptions to the order of business are as follows:

(1) The order of business may be changed by a majority vote of those present.

(2) By motion under the eighth order of business, a bill in the rules committee may be placed on the calendar by the affirmative vote of a majority of all members of the house.

(3) House resolutions and messages from the senate, governor, or other state officials may be read at any time.

Motions

Rule 15. Rules relating to motions are as follows:

(A) MOTIONS TO BE ENTERTAINED OR DEBATED. No motion shall be entertained or debated until announced by the speaker and every motion shall be deemed to have been seconded. A motion shall be reduced to writing and read by the clerk, if desired by the speaker or any member, before it shall be debated and by the consent of the house may be withdrawn before amendment or action.

(B) MOTIONS IN ORDER DURING DEBATE. When a motion has been made and seconded and stated by the chair, the following motions are in order, in the rank named:

- (1) Privileged motions:
  - Adjourn
  - Adjourn to a time certain
  - Recess to a time certain
  - Reconsider
  - Demand for division
  - Question of privilege
  - Orders of the day
- (2) Subsidiary motions:
  - First rank: Question of consideration
  - Second rank: To lay on the table
  - Third rank: For the previous question
  - Fourth rank: To postpone to a day certain
To commit or recommit
To postpone indefinitely
  - Fifth rank: To amend

- (3) Incidental motions:
  - Points of order and appeal
  - Method of consideration
  - Suspension of the rules
  - Reading papers
  - Withdraw a motion
  - Division of a question

(C) THE EFFECT OF POSTPONEMENT - MOTIONS TO POSTPONE OR COMMIT. Once decided, no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely shall again be allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the proceedings. When a question has been postponed indefinitely, it shall not again be introduced during the session. The motion to postpone indefinitely may be made at any stage of the bill except when on first reading.

(D) MOTIONS DECIDED WITHOUT DEBATE. A motion to adjourn, to recess, to lay on the table and to call for the previous question shall be decided without debate.

All incidental motions shall be decided without debate, except that members may speak to points of order and appeal as provided in Rule 22.

A motion for suspension of the rules shall not be debatable except that the mover of the motion may briefly explain the purpose of the motion and one member may briefly state the opposition to the motion.

(E) MOTION TO ADJOURN. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the house is voting or is working under the call of the house; but this rule shall not authorize any member to move for adjournment when another member has the floor.

Members Right to Debate

Rule 16. The methods by which a member may exercise his or her right to debate are as follows:

(A) RECOGNITION OF MEMBER. When any member desires to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the house, the member shall rise and respectfully address the speaker and pause until recognized.

(B) ORDER OF SPEAKING. When two or more members arise at once, the speaker shall name the one who is to speak.

(C) LIMITATION OF DEBATE. No member shall speak longer than ten (10) minutes without consent of the house: PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, no member shall speak more than three (3) minutes without the consent of the house. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the house: PROVIDED, That the chair of the committee or the mover of the question may close debate if it is consistent with Rule 18 (Previous Question).

Rules of Debate

Rule 17. The rules for debate in the house are as follows:

(A) QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE. Any member may rise to a question of privilege and explain a personal matter, by leave of the speaker, but the member shall not discuss any pending question in such explanations.

(B) WITHDRAWAL OF MOTION, BILL, ETC. After a motion is stated by the speaker or a bill, memorial, resolution, petition, or remonstrance is read by the clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the house, but may be withdrawn by consent of the house at any time before decision or amendment.

(C) READING OF A PAPER. When the reading of any paper is called for and is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the house.

(D) DISTRIBUTION OF MATERIALS. Any materials of any nature distributed to the members' desks on the floor shall be subject to approval by the speaker and shall bear the name of at least one member granting permission for the distribution. This shall not apply to materials normally distributed by the chief clerk.

(E) ORDER OF QUESTIONS. All questions, whether in committee or in the house, shall be propounded in the order in which they are named except that in filling blanks, the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

(F) DIVISION OF POINTS OF DEBATE. Any member may call for a division of a question which shall be divided if it embraces subjects so distinct that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the house; but a motion to strike out and to insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and to insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and to insert a different proposition.

(G) DECORUM OF MEMBERS. While the speaker is putting the question, no member shall walk across or out of the house; nor when a member is speaking shall any member entertain private discourse or pass between the speaking member and the rostrum.

(H) REMARKS CONFINED. A member shall confine all remarks to the question under debate and avoid personalities. No member shall impugn the motive of any member's vote or argument.

(I) EXCEPTION TO WORDS SPOKEN IN DEBATE. If any member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling the member to order shall repeat the words excepted to and they shall be taken down in writing at the clerk's table. No member shall be held in answer or be subject to the censure of the house for words spoken in debate if any other member has spoken before exception to them shall have been taken.

(J) TRANSGRESSION OF RULES - APPEAL. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the house the speaker shall, or any member may, call the member to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down unless permitted to explain; and the house shall, if appealed to, decide the case without debate; if there be no appeal, the decision of the chair shall prevail.

If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, the member shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, and the case shall require it, the member shall be liable to the censure of the house.

Ending of Debate - Previous Question

Rule 18. The previous question may be ordered by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present on all recognized motions or amendments which are debatable.

The previous question is not debatable and cannot be amended.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Representative _____ demands the previous question. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'Aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'No'."

The results of the motion are as follows: If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative it shall have the effect of cutting off all debate and bringing the house to a direct vote upon the motion or amendment on which it has been ordered: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That when a bill is on final passage or when the motion to postpone indefinitely is pending, one of the sponsors of the bill or the chair of the committee may have the privilege of closing debate after the previous question has been ordered.

If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered, the motion or proposition on which the previous question was ordered shall be put to the house immediately following the approval of the journal on the next working day, thus making the main question privileged over all other business, whether new or unfinished.

Voting

Rule 19. (A) PUTTING OF QUESTION. The speaker shall put the question in the following form: "The question before the house is (state the question). As many as are in favor say 'Aye'; and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "as many as are opposed say 'No'."

(B) ALL MEMBERS TO VOTE. Every member who was in the house when the question was put shall vote unless, for special reasons, excused by the house.

All motions to excuse a member shall be made before the house divides or before the call for yeas and nays is commenced; and any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief and verbal statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

Upon a division and count of the house on the question, only members at their desks within the bar of the house shall be counted.

(C) CHANGE OF VOTE. When the electric roll call machine is used, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the speaker has locked the roll call machine. When an oral roll call is taken, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the result has been announced.

(D) PRIVATE INTEREST. No member shall vote on any question which affects that member privately and particularly. A member who has a private interest in any bill or measure proposed or pending before the legislature shall disclose the fact to the house of which He is a member, and shall not vote thereon. (Art. II § 30)

(E) INTERRUPTION OF ROLL CALL. Once begun, the roll call may not be interrupted. No member or other person shall visit or remain at the clerk's desk while the yeas and nays are being called.

(F) YEAS AND NAYS - RECORDED VOTES. Upon the final passage of any bill, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and shall be recorded by the electric voting system: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That an oral roll call shall be ordered when demanded by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. (Art. II § 21)

The speaker may vote last when the yeas and nays are called.

When the vote is by electric voting machine or by oral roll call on any question, it shall be entered upon the journal of the house. A recorded vote may be compelled by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. A request for a recorded vote must be made before the vote is commenced.

(G) TIE VOTE, QUESTION LOSES. In case of an equal division, the question shall be lost.

(H) DIVISION. If the speaker is in doubt, or if division is called for by any member, the house shall divide.

Reconsideration

Rule 20. Notice of a motion for reconsideration on the final passage of bills shall be made on the day the vote to be reconsidered was taken and before the house has voted to transmit the bill to the senate.

Reconsideration of the votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the next working day after such vote was taken: PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution, or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, then reconsideration of votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the same day as the original vote was taken.

A motion to reconsider an amendment may be made at any time the bill remains on second reading.

Any member who voted on the prevailing side may move for reconsideration or give notice thereof.

A motion to reconsider can be decided only once when decided in the negative.

When a motion to reconsider has been carried, its effect shall be to place the original question before the house in the exact position it occupied before it was voted upon.

Call of the House

Rule 21. One-sixth (1/6) of the members present may demand a call of the house at any time before the house has divided or the voting has commenced by yeas and nays.

(A) DOORS TO BE CLOSED. When call of the house has been ordered, the sergeant at arms shall close and lock the doors, and no member shall be allowed to leave the chamber: PROVIDED, That the rules committee shall be allowed to meet, upon request of the speaker, while the house stands at ease: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That the speaker may permit members to use such portions of the fourth floor as may be properly secured.

(B) SERGEANT AT ARMS TO BRING IN THE ABSENTEES. The clerk shall immediately call a roll of the members and note the absentees, whose names shall be read and entered upon the journal in such manner as to show who are excused and who are absent without leave.

The clerk shall furnish the sergeant at arms with a list of those who are absent without leave, and the sergeant at arms shall proceed to bring in such absentees; but arrests of members for absence shall not be made unless ordered by a majority of the members present.

(C) HOUSE UNDER CALL. While the house is under a call, no business shall be transacted except to receive and act on the report of the sergeant at arms; and no other motion shall be in order except a motion to proceed with business under the call of the house, a motion to excuse absentees, or a motion to dispense with the call of the house. The motion to proceed with business under the call of the house and the motion to excuse absent members shall not be adopted unless a majority of the members elected vote in favor thereof. The motion to dispense with the call of the house may be adopted by a majority of the members present.

Appeal from Decision of Chair

Rule 22. The decision of the chair may be appealed from by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once unless by leave of the house. In all cases of appeal, the question shall be: "Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the house?"

Standing Committees

Rule 23. The standing committees of the house and the number of members that shall serve on each committee shall be as follows:

1-	Appropriations	-31
2-	Capital Budget	-29
3-	Children & Family Services	-9
4-	Commerce & Labor	-9

Committee members shall be selected by each party's caucus. The majority party caucus shall select all committee chairs.

Duties of Committees

Rule 24. House committees shall operate as follows:

(A) NOTICE OF COMMITTEE MEETING. The chief clerk shall make public the time, place and subjects to be discussed at committee meetings. All public hearings held by committees shall be scheduled at least five (5) days in advance and shall be given adequate publicity: PROVIDED, That when less than eight (8) days remain for action on a bill, the Speaker may authorize a reduction of the five-day notice period when required by the circumstances, including but not limited to the time remaining for action on the bill, the nature of the subject, and the number of prior hearings on the subject.

(B) COMMITTEE QUORUM. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

(C) SESSION MEETINGS. No committee shall sit while the house is in session without special leave of the speaker.

(D) DUTIES OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

(1) Only such bills as are included on the written notice of a committee meeting may be considered at that meeting except upon the vote of a majority of the entire membership of the committee to consider another bill.

(2) A majority recommendation of a committee must be signed by a majority of the entire membership of the committee in a regularly called meeting before a bill, memorial, or resolution may be reported out: PROVIDED, That by motion under the eighth order of business, a majority of the members elected to the house may relieve a committee of a bill and place it on the second reading calendar.

Majority recommendations of a committee can only be "do pass," "do pass as amended," or that "the substitute bill be substituted therefor and that the substitute bill do pass."

(3) Members of the committee not concurring in the majority report may prepare a written minority report containing a recommendation of "do not pass" or "without recommendation," which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto, and submitted with the majority report.

(4) All committee reports shall be spread upon the journal. The journal of the house shall contain an exact copy of all committee reports, together with the names of the members signing such reports.

(5) Every vote to report a bill out of committee shall be taken by the yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against, as well as the names of members absent, shall be recorded on the committee report. Any member may call for a recorded vote, which shall include the names of absent members, on any substantive question before the committee. A copy of all recorded committee votes shall be kept by the chief clerk and shall be available for public inspection.

(6) All bills having a direct appropriation shall be referred to the appropriate fiscal committee before their final passage. For purposes of this subsection, fiscal committee means the appropriations, capital budget, finance, and transportation committees.

(7) No standing committee shall vote by secret written ballot on any issue.

(8) During its consideration of or vote on any bill, resolution, or memorial, the deliberations of any standing committee of the house of representatives shall be open to the public.

(9) A standing committee to which a bill was originally referred shall, prior to voting the bill out of committee, consider whether the bill authorizes rule-making powers or requires the exercise of rule-making powers and, if so, consider:

(a) The nature of the new rule-making powers; and

(b) To which agencies the new rule-making powers would be delegated and which agencies, if any, may have related rule-making powers.

Standing Committees - Expenses - Subpoena Power

Rule 25. Regardless of whether the legislature is in session, members of the house may receive from moneys appropriated for the legislature, reimbursement for necessary travel expenses, and payments in lieu of subsistence and lodging for conducting official business of the house.

The standing committees of the house may have the powers of subpoena, the power to administer oaths, and the power to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses in accordance with the provisions of chapter 44.16 RCW. Before a standing committee of the house may issue any process, the committee chairperson shall submit for approval of the executive rules committee a statement of purpose setting forth the name or names of those subject to process. The process shall not be issued prior to approval by the executive rules committee. The process shall be limited to the named individuals.

Vetoed Bills

Rule 26. Veto messages of the governor shall be read in the house and entered upon the journal. It shall then be in order to proceed to reconsider the bill, refer it, lay it on the table, or postpone its consideration to a day certain.

The merits of the bill may be debated before the vote is taken, but the vote on a vetoed bill cannot be reconsidered.

In case of a bill containing several sections or items, one or more of which has been objected to by the governor, each section or item so objected to shall be voted upon separately by the house. Action by the house upon all vetoed bills shall be endorsed upon the bill and certified by the speaker.

Vetoed bills originating in the house, which have not been passed notwithstanding the veto of the governor, shall remain in the custody of the officers of the house until the close of the term, after which they shall be filed with the secretary of state.

Suspension of Compensation

Rule 27. (1) Any member of the house of representatives convicted and sentenced for any felony punishable by death or by imprisonment in a Washington state penal institution shall, as of the time of sentencing, be denied the legislative salary for future service and be denied per diem, compensation for expenses, office space facilities, and assistance. Any member convicted of a felony and sentenced therefor under any federal law or the law of any other state shall, as of the time of sentencing, be similarly denied such salary, per diem, expenses, facilities, and assistance if either (a) such crime would also constitute a crime punishable under the laws of Washington by death or by imprisonment in a state penal institution, or (b) the conduct resulting in the conviction and sentencing would also constitute a crime punishable under the laws of Washington by death or by imprisonment in a state penal institution.

(2) At any time, the house may vote by a constitutional majority to restore the salary, per diem, expenses, facilities, and assistance denied a member under subsection (1). If the conviction of a member is reversed, then the salary, per diem, and expense amounts denied the member since sentencing shall be forthwith paid, and the member shall thereafter have the rights and privileges of other members.

Smoking

Rule 28. Smoking of cigarettes, pipes, or cigars shall not be permitted at any public meeting of any committee of the house of representatives or within House facilities.

"No smoking" signs shall be posted so as to give notice of this rule.

Parliamentary Rules

Rule 29. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Reed's Parliamentary Rules shall govern all cases in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the house.

Standing Rules Amendment

Rule 30. Any standing rule may be rescinded or changed by a majority vote of the members elected: PROVIDED, That the proposed change or changes be submitted at least one day in advance in writing to the members together with notice of the consideration thereof. Any standing rule may be suspended temporarily by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present except as provided in Rule 10.

Rules to Apply for Assembly

Rule 31. The permanent house rules adopted at the beginning of the term are to govern all acts of the house during the course of the term unless amended or repealed.

Legislative Mailings

Rule 32. The House of Representatives directs the house executive rules committee to adopt procedures and guidelines to ensure that all legislative mailings at public expense are for legitimate legislative purposes.

Liquor

Rule 33. The House of Representatives shall strictly adhere to the liquor laws of the state of Washington, including provisions relating to banquet and special occasion permits. The proper permits must always be obtained before consumption of liquor in any house facility.

Representative Kessler moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representatives Kessler and Ericksen spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

ELECTION OF THE SPEAKER

Representative Wallace: "Thank you, Mr. Chief Clerk. Members and honored guests, it is a privilege to stand before you today to nominate as our Speaker of the House of Representatives, Representative Frank Chopp. I got to know Frank four years ago when we were in tough times with billions of dollars of deficit. You know in the time of providing leadership, leaders are visionary, leaders really bring out the best in others and when I look at this body, spirited and diverse body of representatives, leaders in our own right, Representative Chopp has worked diligently over the last number of years to bring out the best in each of us and to have each of us work in the areas of our expertise and to serve the State of Washington. Leadership is difficult in hard times. And we have seen Speaker Chopp work to listen to members during those difficult times and to respond and to hear what members were saying. In our caucus, I feel very proud to watch the leadership of this man, who has not only listened but has responded to make us an even stronger body. So it is with honor that I nominate Frank Chopp as our Speaker of the House of Representatives. Thank you."

Representative Priest: "Thank you, Mr. Chief Clerk and distinguished members of the House of Representatives and distinguished guests. On this eighth day of January, as we begin our sixtieth legislative session, I am very honored today, in fact to nominate Richard DeBolt as Speaker of the House of Representatives. Richard has always emphasized honesty when we have faced serious political times. He has used partisan arguments in caucus riffs and has overcome those arguments within our own districts. His positive approach to leadership pulls people together while allowing us the freedom for our beliefs. I am here to tell all of you today, and especially incoming freshmen, that this is an exciting time in the Legislature. We need a leader like Richard, I believe, who hears the values of the people of our State. Richard will always be an advocate for balanced responsive government that the people can trust in doing their business in their best interests. He will remind us that the quality of our service, not the quantity of the bills we consider will determine how well we have served the citizens of Washington State. As a legislator who grew up on the eastside of the State in Brewster and now is honored to represent the 30th District on the westside of our State, I believe Richard is the leader we need to instill for all voters, for all of our citizens, voter trust in our state government and create the same opportunities for future generations that we all enjoy today. For these reasons and others, I confident in the nomination of Richard DeBolt as our House Speaker. It is my hope that we take a vote for Speaker that will stand as one of the most significant decisions that in fact we make this year."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative DeBolt: "Thank you, Mr. Chief Clerk. It is with great respect to the Speaker of the House, Frank Chopp and to this body, that I would withdraw my name from nomination."

MOTION

Representative Kessler moved that the nominations for the Office of Speaker of the House of Representatives be closed. The motion was carried.

Representative Kessler moved that Representative Frank Chopp be elected to the position of Speaker of the House of Representatives. The motion was carried.

Representative Wallace escorted Speaker Frank Chopp to the Rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE

Justice Johnson administered the Oath of Office to Speaker Chopp.

Chief Clerk Nafziger congratulated and turned the gavel over to the Speaker.

SPEAKER'S REMARKS

Speaker Chopp: "Welcome back to the House! Thank you for the honor to serve as your speaker, once again. This is a time for many of us, to remember where we came from and how we got here. In that spirit, I'd like to recognize the leader in my house, my wife, Nancy Long.

We're here in this House to do the people's business. That's why we need to work together across party lines. So let's start by giving a warm recognition to Republican Leader Richard DeBolt.

Let's recognize our Majority Leader Lynn Kessler.

And let's hear it for Speaker Pro Tempore John Lovick.

These past two sessions, by Working Together for One Washington, we accomplished a great deal. To address the challenges of our times, we figured out ways to bring people together:

- from eastern, central, and western Washington
- from urban, suburban, and rural districts
- from business and labor
- from farmers and environmentalists

Last year, newspapers called it a "session of breakthroughs" and even a "59-day miracle" — because we got a lot done, and we got done a day early. We were also successful because on the kitchen table issues that concern everyone, like schools, health care, and jobs. And so as we begin this session in this House, let us be mindful of the households back home.

Let me give you three examples. Let's start with education, which my mom and dad always said is the best way up and out of poverty.

Let me tell you about Michelle. Daughter of farm workers, She's young, married, and has a young child. And dreams of becoming a nurse. She and her husband have worked odd jobs to make ends meet. But since they made just over the limit for state and federal financial aid programs, she couldn't find the resources to get a better education. Until last year, when this legislature started "Opportunity Grants" to help pay for tuition, child care, and other expenses. Thanks to you and an Opportunity Grant, Michele, a first generation college student, will soon be attending the nursing program at her local Community College. She is just one of many examples of hope that Opportunity Grants have provided in only its first three months.

What we are doing is connecting the dots:

An aspiring student with a career goal ---

A degree program to learn the skills ---

And a real job in the real world.

This is a huge win / win — for the individual worker to get a great job — and for the business to get a skilled worker.

We have made progress in education, but we have much more work to do this session. We need to get serious about early learning, so that kids Thrive by Five. We need to support basic education so that funding is achieved for all-day kindergarten and smaller class sizes.

We need to reform our math curriculum so that it actually adds up. Most important of all, we need to keep in mind the constitutional oath we just took — to support basic education.

Let me tell you about Lori Baron, and her family. Mother of three of her own children, who are now grown and out on their own. She and her husband have also adopted 11 orphans from around the world, from Ethiopia, Guatemala, and Russia. Thank God for people like Lori, who take care of orphans. Then, this past November, Lori was diagnosed with advanced ovarian cancer. At the time, the Barons were without health insurance.

As a result there was not much our medical system was willing to do for her. Medical bills have piled up. The Barons, who have lived a modest life, are on the verge of losing what they have. As Lori struggles through chemotherapy and multiple surgeries, the family is struggling to make ends meet.

Thanks to the action of this Legislature, when we expanded care for kids two years ago — and made a promise to make sure that all kids in this Washington have health care by 2010 — Lori's kids will be covered with health care. But what about Mom? People, including members of this body, are holding fund-raisers to help pay her medical bills. In this wealthiest nation on earth, you shouldn't have to hold a fundraiser to pay for your illness.

What is great about America is that it is a beacon of hope and opportunity. What isn't so great is when many Americans get seriously ill, and slide into the despair of debt and bankruptcy. That is morally wrong and we must change that.

Let me tell you about Harold Cochran. On my most recent visit to eastern Washington, I met with Harold, along with several other farmers whose families have farmed wheat for generations. Harold told me that he greatly appreciated what the Legislature had done the past two years to help farmers. He said it was the best legislative sessions for agriculture in decades.

Also there that day, was Pat McConnell, a 4th generation family farmer of 5,000 acres. He hopes to pass his farm down to his kids, but with the price of wheat terribly low, he's telling his kids to look into other careers. As much as he loves farming, he doesn't want his kids to go broke growing wheat. So he's looking into rotating in canola and mustard, for bio-diesel, provided that the numbers work.

To get the numbers to work, the farmers need local processors and a steady market.

So let's connect the dots. With our Energy Freedom Fund, that we created last year, let's build the processing plants and a long term market at a decent price for the crop. That is why I propose that by 2015, every diesel vehicle in the public fleets — ferries, buses, and other conveyances — run on bio-fuel grown right here in our state, through long term contracts with our own farmers.

Imagine the $250 million that the public pays for diesel fuel every year staying right here in Washington state. This would be great for the farmer trying to survive and great for a cleaner environment. It's great for Cougars and for Huskies. It would be a tremendous win / win for One Washington.

So in that spirit of working together, I'd like to conclude, by asking the brand new members of our House to please stand. You've all worked very hard to join this House. The quality of your talent and real world experience is very, very impressive. There will be plenty of time for you to be cut down to size by the biting wit of your fellow legislators, but for now, let us all join in a thunderous welcome to our new members.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative DeBolt: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I have to say, Mr. Speaker, congratulations. That was one of the most animated and enthusiastic speeches I have seen from you. I'm looking forward to the session to see more of those. That is worthwhile. I also want to thank your family. You know, Mr. Speaker, you have been committed to your family since you came to this institution and the passion you bring for your family is appreciated by all of us because the passion you give to them is the passion that we all share. We appreciate that your family lets you do this.

Mr. Speaker, what will this session bring for us? For you it brings a super majority, a majority that has the ability to move any legislation, move any bill, move anything that you need to drive your agenda forward. As a leader of the whole state, we know it is important though that you will stop and listen to the minority voice. To give us a chance to have input into the process. And if you don't agree you will always give us the opportunity to speak and we thank you for that. You have always been fair-handed with the gavel and have given us the opportunity to get our opinions and points out.

We have many common goals that we have shared over the years. Sometimes for the new members, you don't always hear in the media, 85% of the bills go out of here unanimously, with bi-partisan support and go very well. But occasionally you will have those sticking points where we will disagree but the common goals this session I think I heard are:

- education and working hard to fund education first and to make sure our children are our priority

- health - to lower health care cost for all the families in Washington State
- public safety – to make sure we have the opportunity to keep our families safe.

Today, I am here on behalf of One Washington to tell you we will do everything we can to make sure One Washington is represented and that we all work together with you, Mr. Speaker, as one body and as one House. Thank you."

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Representative Dunshee: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I place in nomination the name of John Lovick for Speaker Pro Tempore. As I thought about my seatmate who I have worked with for a few years now, I thought about values. Roosevelt spoke of the four freedoms but there are really four values which I want to talk to you about with John Lovick. Hopefully as you hear of those values you will vote for him. I would suspect He has the votes and generally when you have the votes you're not supposed to speak but this is a great opportunity.

The first value is work. Now John doesn't tell you much about his life; He is a pretty reserved guy. But I want to tell you about work. When He was a child, in the 1950s, his mother and grandmother, who you will meet, would put him at one end of the row of cotton and then they pick and chop down the way and come back and give him a little water. He would be sitting there playing with his little gavel and rostrum. In that world, that's how He learned work – work as a value.

Family – if you have ever talked to John on the phone, you are invariably interrupted by somebody calling in - an aunt or uncle, a nephew, a cousin - who wants to talk to him. And He incessantly talks to them - believe me, I've driven all the way to Olympia in which the only thing I said was "okay, John it's time to get off the Freeway" because He was on the phone. He greatly values his family. You will meet family who have come from Louisiana to be here, to be part of his world.

Community – John values community to the point that half way through the campaign in our district, He had been organizing a high school reunion in Louisiana. He took off in the middle of the campaign for a week. This gave his opponent a leg up for that week but He made up for it by of course applying work.

The last one is fairness – the value that applies here. Imagine a black man growing up in Louisiana in the 1950s. How do you get to justice? You apply fairness. How do you get to equality? You apply grace. It is only through the application of fairness and grace that we get to equality. And except for me, John will treat you all with the greatest fairness of any Speaker Pro Tem that you will ever experience.

John has these four values – work, family, community and fairness. And for those reasons, I urge your support of John Lovick for Speaker Pro Tempore.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker."

MOTIONS

Representative Kessler moved that the nominations for the Office of Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives be closed. The motion was carried.

Representative Kessler moved that Representative John Lovick be elected to the position of Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives. The motion was carried.

Representative Dunshee escorted Speaker Pro Tempore John Lovick to the Rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE

SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE'S REMARKS

Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick: "I'd like to introduce Cathy & Hazel Gershowitz. Hazel's husband was my commander when I was in the Coast Guard. If you ever think about mentoring someone and not knowing if it is going to work, ask me – I can tell you the things they did for me in my young life when I was in the Coast Guard.

This is my mom, Dorothy and she is from Houston, Texas. I want to thank her and my grandmother Elsie. I want to say to both of you, I know you paid a tremendous price for the privileges I enjoy today. All that I am in my life and anything that I will ever be is because of you. I give all the glory in my life to God and then to you. Thank you.

I would like to introduce my lovely wife, Karen. Talk about somebody being everything in your life that you need – she is all I ever want and need in my life. Thank you very much for being here.

Finally, I would like to introduce Chief Will Bachofner. Many years ago, I wanted to be a police officer but unfortunately the State Patrol had laws that prohibited certain people from joining the department. The first thing Chief Bachofner did was change the hiring practices of the department. He has been a life-long friend of mine since he retired many years ago. I try to talk with him every day. I want to thank you, sir, for giving me a career and for opening doors for so many people in this world. You are a tremendous man and I love you very much.

I want to thank my seatmate, Representative Hans Dunshee. I have to remind you that I only brought one handkerchief. I have just about used it up. Thank you.

I wanted to introduce my family and friends first so you can see that my life is about who and what has influenced me. These wonderful people have had the greatest influence on my life. And to remind all of us that this place is not about us. It's about our loved ones and all the people back home in Mill Creek, Port Angeles, Spokane and the rest of our great state. Sometimes that gets lost in the struggle to win battles on this floor. But winning and losing isn't the point. Debating ideas is only a way to get to the goals we share.

We all want the same things for our families and neighbors:

- Good jobs with benefits;
- Roads and highways that are not clogged with traffic; and
- Safe schools that give every child a shot at the American Dream.

We just have different ideas about how to achieve those goals. Those differences aren't a weakness. They are our strength. Every time I talk to someone, I learn something. I've learned from every lawmaker, Democrat or Republican, that I've had the chance to meet. Those talks make our ideas better, our laws stronger. And our state more prosperous.

So it's important that we keep that sense of goodwill and mutual respect. We need it. Our citizens demand it. We're here because we're passionate about ideas. But we have to guard against letting that passion tear down the bonds of friendship and civility.

We lost a great American recently, President Gerald R. Ford. President Ford was a Navy war hero who looked past party labels and extended his hand to a Democratic Congress to work together and get things done for the people of America. President Ford would tell us to debate but if we are justified in debate be dignified. He would also tell us to Be Brief, Be Right and Be Gone. I respect and appreciate that. I join every citizen in mourning the passing of this great man.

Our families, friends and neighbors placed their faith in us. It's up to us to show them – that their faith is well placed. Our job is to move our state forward. To do that job we need all 98 lawmakers rowing in the same direction, for those citizens we serve here in the People's House.

So I want to thank all of you, not only for listening to me today, not only for giving me the honor of serving as Speaker Pro Tem, but more importantly thank you for your service, thank you for your friendship, and thank you for the sacrifices you're making in your lives to improve the lives of the citizens we serve. I have faith that together we will accomplish a lot this session.

Congratulations and great thanks to all of you.

ELECTION OF THE CHIEF CLERK

Representative Kenney: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It is with great honor that I rise to nominate Rich Nafziger as Chief Clerk of the House.

Rich has been chief Clerk of the House since 2003. Prior to that He worked as an economist in private, public and nonprofit sectors. He has applied his knowledge and experience as Director of Workforce Education for the State Board of Community and Technical Colleges, Policy Advisor to Governor Locke for Labor and Higher Education, Special Assistant to Governor Gardner for Rural Development as well as other positions.

He currently serves as an elected member of the Olympia School Board. He is on the board of the Digital Learning Commons and the Thurston County Regional Planning Council.

His commitment to education, K-12, workforce training, higher education and families is second to none. Leaders are those who seek a better tomorrow for students, workers and families. They make it happen. Rich Nafziger has done that.

Rich has accomplished much as Chief Clerk. He has worked with legislators and staff in bringing performance management to the House. He developed a biennial member and employee satisfaction survey to improve management and efficiency of the House.

He believes strongly that the House should treat every member of both parties fairly and confidentially, that the House should be managed on a bi-partisan basis. He responds to member requests in a timely fashion. He makes sure that the House maintains a reasonable and prudent budget.

Rich's personal beliefs also add to his ability to lead. He believes that we all share a common humanity, that diversity is built on respect and appreciation for differences, that we have all been placed on earth to lift ourselves and one another to "higher ground". And that we must learn to use power with care and avoid harming or hindering the rights of others.

Ladies and Gentlemen of the House I urge your support of Rich Nafziger as Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives."

Representative Campbell: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I would like to say a few words in support of our Chief Clerk.

Mr. Speaker, after being here for a few terms, I have had an opportunity to see quite a few Chief Clerks come and go. That position is one of those silent powers behind the throne, Mr. Speaker -- nothing personal. We all look to the Speaker, the Speaker Pro Tem and other leadership to understand our positions and work in the public. But what goes on behind the scenes between us -- like the many conflicts that arise, the problems that have to be solved -- are not often seen.

I am proud to say that every time I've been to the Chief Clerk's Office, it's been a very comfortable experience, very straight-forward and compassionate. I have never worked with a man that has been so diligent and so earnest in wanting to do something positive for us, this great institution and the people of the State of Washington. In these early days, Mr. Speaker, as we get here in Olympia, there is always this jubilation and excitement but as the days wear on and we wear down, tempers tend to get a little frayed and we get a little excited. There always has to be someone who centers this institution and that rock is Rich Nafziger.

Rich, I thank you very much for your great work. I look forward to working with you. It is comforting to know that someone is there to protect this institution, frankly sometimes from ourselves.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker."

MOTIONS

Representative Kessler moved that the nominations for the Office of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be closed. The motion was carried.

Representative Kessler moved that Richard Nafziger be elected to the position of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives. The motion was carried.

Representatives Kenney and Campbell escorted Chief Clerk Richard Nafziger to the Rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE

Justice Johnson administered the Oath of Office to Chief Clerk Nafziger.

CHIEF CLERK'S REMARKS

Chief Clerk Nafziger: "Thank you, Justice Johnson. Representatives Kenney and Campbell, I appreciate very much your kind remarks.

I am truly honored to be here.

I am excited that I am able share this moment with my wife Kristin.

I want to thank both the staff and the members of this great house for their hard work and for sharing the special experience of making Washington history.

In particular, I would like to thank my good friend, Deputy Chief Clerk Bill Wegeleben for being here today despite the tragedy that has struck his family. Bill is the most able and dedicated public servant I have ever had the honor to work with.

Thank you very much for entrusting me with the administration of this institution and for your devotion to the practice of democracy."

Speaker Chopp thanked Justice Johnson and called upon Representatives Hurst and Priest to escort the Justice from the Chamber.

RESOLUTIONS

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4602, by Representatives Kessler and Ericksen

WHEREAS, The Puget Sound is an important environmental, recreational, and economic resource of the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, Parts of the Puget Sound, such as Hood Canal, have a history of low-dissolved oxygen concentrations, which have resulted in significant fish kills and other problems for many years; and

WHEREAS, Government agencies, community groups and other private entities, environmental organizations, and citizens of this state have expressed concern about the long-term health of Puget Sound; and

WHEREAS, The causes and potential solutions to Puget Sound's environmental health concerns may prove complex, warranting a thorough review by the legislature of the current efforts and proposed actions related to the Puget Sound; and

WHEREAS, The Puget Sound is a unique and special water body benefitting all of Washington's citizens, who equally share in the responsibility of stewardship;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State House of Representatives establish a select committee on Puget Sound for the 2007-2008 biennium to consider actions to preserve the environmental health of Puget Sound and Hood Canal and to ensure that the marine and fresh waters of Puget Sound and Hood Canal will be able to support healthy populations of native species, as well as maintain adequate water quality and quantity to support both human needs and ecosystem functions; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the select committee report legislation on these subjects out of committee with all the powers and duties of a standing committee of the House of Representatives; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the select committee consist of eight members, five Democratic and three Republican.

Representative Kessler moved the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4603, by Representatives Kessler and Ericksen

WHEREAS, The protection of the health of Washington's citizens should be of the utmost importance to the state government; and

WHEREAS, Certain environmental pollutants can, if improperly regulated, have a negative effect on human health and safety; and

WHEREAS, The state must carefully examine the impact of its regulations on both the health of its citizens and the vibrancy of its business community;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State House of Representatives establish a select committee on environmental health for the 2007-2008 biennium to consider issues relating to environmental risks potentially affecting human health, such as environmental toxins, mold, air pollutants, solid and hazardous waste, contaminated sediments, and food and drinking water safety; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the select committee also be responsible for examining whether disparities exist in the treatment of people and communities in the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, and the siting of facilities affecting the environment; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the select committee report legislation on these subjects out of committee with all the powers and duties of a standing committee of the House of Representatives; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the select committee consist of nine members, five Democratic and four Republican.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the sixth order of business.

SECOND READING

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 8400, by Senators Brown and Hewitt

Adopting joint rules.

The concurrent resolution was read the second time.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the concurrent resolution was placed on final passage.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 8400 was declared adopted.

The Speaker assumed the chair.

SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker signed:
HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 4400,
HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 4401,
HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 4402,
HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 4403,

The Speaker called upon Representative Lovick to preside.

The Senate appeared at the Chamber doors and requested admission. The Sergeant at Arms of the House and the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate escorted President of the Senate Brad Owen, President Pro Tempore Rosa Franklin and Minority Leader Mike Hewitt to seats on the Rostrum. The Senators were invited to sit within the Chamber.

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) called upon President Owen to preside.

JOINT SESSION

The President called the Joint Session to order. The Clerk called the roll of House members. The Clerk called the roll of Senate members. A quorum of the Legislature was present.

President Owen: "The purpose of the Joint Session is to receive the state of the state message from Her Excellency, Governor Christine Gregoire."

The President appointed a special committee to escort the Supreme Court Justices to the House Chamber: Representatives Eddy, Goodman, Hailey and Rodne, and Senators Carrell and Roach.

The President appointed a special committee to escort the State elected officials to the House Chamber: Representatives Dunn, Kelley, Orcutt and Seaquist, and Senators Clements and Holmquist.

The President appointed a special committee to advise Her Excellency, Governor Christine Gregoire, that the joint session had assembled and to escort her to the House Chamber: Representatives Hinkle and Van De Wege, and Senator Delvin.

The Supreme Court Justices arrived, were escorted to the Floor of the House Chamber and were introduced: Chief Justice Gerry L. Alexander, and Justices Charles W. Johnson, Barbara A. Madsen, Richard B. Sanders, Bobbe J. Bridge, Tom Chambers, Susan J. Owens, Mary Fairhurst and James Johnson.

The State elected officials arrived, were escorted to the floor of the House and were introduced: Secretary of State Sam Reed, State Auditor Brian Sonntag, Superintendent of Public Instruction Terry Bergeson, Commissioner of Public Lands Doug Sutherland and Insurance Commissioner Mike Kreidler.

The President introduced the special guests present in the Chambers: Former Governors Booth Gardner and Mike Lowry, King County Executive Ron Sims, Snohomish County Executive Aaron Reardon, the Honorable Fawn Sharp, President of the Quinault Nation, the Honorable Lee Adolph, Member of the Colville Business Council and the Honorable Brian Cladoosby, Chairman of the Swinomish Tribe.

The President introduced the members of the Consular Corps: H. Ronald Masnik, Consul of Belgium and President of the Consular Association of Washington; Michael Virr, Consul General of Canada; Jorge Gilbert, Consul of Chile; Frank Brozovich, Consul of Croatia; Kazuo Tanaka, Consul General of Japan; Kwon Chanho, Consul General of The Republic of Korea; Roberto Caldera, Acting Consul of Mexico; Kim Nesselquist, Consul of Norway; Alexander Doronin, Consul General of the Russian Federation; Philippe Goetschel, Consul of Switzerland; and Robert Chen, Director General, Taipei Economic and Cultural Office.

Governor Christine Gregoire and her husband Mike Gregoire and daughter Michelle Gregoire arrived, were escorted to the Rostrum and were introduced.

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by the Washington State Patrol Color Guard. Heidi Fredericks sang the National Anthem. The President led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. Prayer was offered by Rabbi Dan Bridge, Rabbi Emeritus, Hillel, Foundation for Jewish Life at the University of Washington.

Rabbi Bridge: "This week all across the world, Jews begin reading the Book of Exodus. In Hebrew, the Book is called 'Shemot/Names' because it begins with a list of the names of the tribal leaders.

The Book of Proverbs also emphasizes the importance of names, claiming that "A good name is preferable to great riches" (Proverbs 22:1). Our name – it's how others call us – it is what defines us – and, based on the actions associated with it, our name will be the label of a positive legacy or not.

In a famous passage from the Mishnah, a third century legal code, we learn that 'there are three crowns – the Crown of Torah, the crown of the Priesthood, and the crown of Governance. But the verse concludes "the Crown of a Good Name surpasses them all."

The late political scientist, Daniel Elazar, interprets this saying – allow me to paraphrase – the Crown of Priest is worn by our spiritual leaders. The Crown of Torah is worn by our jurists those who interpret and teach the law to members of our society. And the Crown of good Governance is worn by the legislators who ensure acts of mercy in Society.

Finally we come to the conclusion of the saying, according to which ketershem tov, the Crown of a Good Name, stands above the other three – a reminder to all types of leaders to wear one crown above all others – the crown of character, the crown of a good name.

Governor, legislators, jurists and honored guests – it is my prayer that what begins here today – in this new year, this new session – that it will give honor to your names and will speak eloquently of your character to this and future generations. May your words lead to actions that will be a worthy legacy – not each for his or her own constituency, but rather for sake of this honorable State and for our common future.

Ken yih ratzon – may it be so."

The President introduced Governor Christine Gregoire.

STATE OF THE STATE

Governor Gregoire: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, honored officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, Governor Rosellini, Governor Gardner, Governor Lowry, King County Executive Sims, Snohomish County Executive Reardon, the Honorable Brian Cladoosby, the Honorable Fawn Sharp, and the Honorable Lee Adolph, members of the Consular Association of Washington, my fellow citizens:

Good evening. It is an honor once again to stand before you and talk about the state of this great state.

Thank you, Rabbi Bridge, for starting us off this evening with the opening prayer.

Joining me at the rostrum is my husband Mike – or First Mike as he has become known. He is a Vietnam combat veteran and has spent the last two years working on veterans issues, a subject which he is passionate about. He is a great dad to our two daughters, and a great husband, who, to borrow a line, knows me best and loves me anyway.

Also joining me is my daughter, Michelle, who will graduate from college in May. She not only has gotten darn good grades, she has provided us with four great years of college soccer which we will dearly miss. Michelle, along with her older sister, Courtney, who can't be with us today, can always be counted on to keep me grounded.

I would also like to introduce Mike's mother, Mary Gregoire, and his brother, Denny, and Denny's wife, Barb Tennis.

Not joining us is our dog, Trooper. It has been a long time since Mike and I had a puppy – if you know what I mean.

Like you, my family is the center of my life, and making life better for our families is the real measure of our work here in Olympia. It has been a hard year for many Washington families as wind, fires, and floods plagued the state in an unprecedented series of natural disasters. Sadly, some families suffered the ultimate loss in 2006 when family members in the armed services, law enforcement, and firefighting lost their lives. Still others perished from natural disasters in our state. Would you please join me in a moment of silence for these individuals and their families?

Thank you.

Despite the damage from storms and fires and the terrible toll of lives lost, Washington families have a bright future. They have a bright future because we have adopted a basic principle: the status quo in Washington is not good enough. We have fought for change – responsible change. We have demanded accountability. And the results are clear. Thousands of children will have a better shot at life thanks to our new emphasis on early learning. We have kept our promise to cut class sizes in our K-12 schools. We honored the wishes of voters and approved teacher pay raises. We opened the doors to colleges and universities to more students. We promised to provide health care to more children than ever before – and we delivered. More people are working – 155,000 new jobs were created in the last two years. Exports from our trade-dependent state are up 40 percent – headed to a record $45 billion year, and based on successes from my trade missions, I look forward to more growth in the future.

Together, we have taken steps to help forest land owners and farmers. We cut taxes on diesel fuel, farm equipment, and the timber B&O tax. Last year we promised to set aside money for the future, and we delivered. Let's deliver again this session. It is the responsible thing to do.

New 21st century industries – like a biodiesel plant in Grays Harbor – are forming. Reducing our dependence on foreign oil must be a priority.

We did what some thought was impossible – we negotiated medical malpractice reform, and patient safety has been enhanced as a result.

Together we have fought discrimination.

We passed tough new crime-fighting bills. One has helped reduce the number of meth labs by 50 percent.

We protected our children and communities by increasing sentences for sex offenders and prohibiting sex offenders from entering areas frequented by children, such as schools, parks and playgrounds.

And when law enforcement said they needed help locating sex offenders who have been released from prison, we passed tough new sex offender registration laws.

We broke a decades-long stalemate with an agreement that will provide farms, fish and communities water they desperately need from the Columbia River.

We increased access to state parks and began preparing for the centennial celebration of our parks system in 2013.

We promoted investments in renewable energy and green buildings, and we curbed auto emissions.

We've taken on these challenges, solved real problems for real people, demanded accountability and made the kinds of changes the state needs to continue moving families forward.

We have made real progress and we are changing the way we do business.

In the past we saw a state without a clear vision for the future. Today we see hope, opportunity and steady progress toward a secure future. In the past, we've seen partisanship, bureaucratic inertia, political caution and business as usual in Olympia. Today, together, we are fighting for change that is responsible, demands accountability, and is providing the solutions Washington needs. This is the Washington we all want.

But just in case anyone here thinks we can rest on our laurels, I have one message for you. You ain't seen nothin' yet!

We have turned the corner, but we have work to do. In too many cases we are using 20th century tools to solve 21st century problems, and nothing short of change will allow us to produce a better future for Washington families. I have traveled the state and listened to our citizens from Spokane to Everett and Vancouver to Tacoma. We all want the same things for our families – quality education, reliable health insurance, and a good job. Our challenge is to stand in the shoes of our citizens, see the future through their eyes, and find common ground that provides the change needed for a future Washington families can count on. Today I want to talk about a vision for change and an agenda that provides:

- An education system families can rely on;
- An economy that offers opportunity for family-wage jobs;
- Health insurance families can afford;
- An environment where families can thrive;
- Communities where families feel safe;

And a state government that is performance-driven and accountable to Washington's families.

I still vividly remember going to work with my mom on Saturdays at the Rainbow Cafe in Auburn. She was a single parent and a short order cook who never let me forget how much she loved me and taught me a lot about hard work. Mom also taught me about the importance of education, and as I think back on it, I guess she never let there be a doubt that with hard work I would be the first person in our family to get a college degree. Mom, as usual, was right, and the power of a good education is even truer today. We need an education system families can rely on to prepare their kids for the globally competitive job market of the 21st century.

That's why my number one priority this session is education. I ask that you join me in addressing this priority. The best way to grow our economy and secure a bright future for our children is to make significant investments in a renewed education system now. There is no better example of where we have held on to a 20th century system while we face 21st century problems.

We need change when about a third of our students don't complete high school and about half of our kids aren't ready to learn when they enter kindergarten. Even parents of kids who are graduating are worried. They want to know that our education system is preparing their children to compete for good jobs with students from countries like China, India, and Ireland. We have students, teachers and school administrators with the right stuff, but we have saddled them with an education system built for yesterday's needs. We must change our education system and invest in it now. For far too long our early childhood education system has fallen behind the rest of the country. Last session we began the necessary change by recognizing that our children are born ready to learn. We invested in early learning so more kids in the first five years of life have a chance to succeed in school and life.

Now let's take the next step. Let's give more kids a chance to get quality early learning opportunities so they enter kindergarten ready to learn. I am proposing we add more early learning slots for kids than we have in almost two decades. The research is clear. For every dollar we invest in early childhood education we get $8 in return with children who are more likely to graduate from high school and college, get a good job and raise their families and less likely to get stuck in our social service net or the criminal justice system. But perhaps the power of early learning is better expressed by a mom.

Here's what Shanta Hibbit of Seattle wrote to the Tiny Tots Development Center.

"Today is a wonderful day. My son Avery is on the pathway to Kindergarten next year. Do you know that Avery can write his full name? He is so excited about that. He shows me every chance he gets. He recognizes colors, shapes, and even speaks some Spanish. Being a single mother can be stressful and difficult. I work very hard daily in the office and at home for the purpose of creating a future for my children. Raising my children in a community where opportunity for education at times is limited, is extremely challenging. Avery's self-esteem and excitement about learning is beyond belief at times. The early learning programs at Tiny Tots are wonderful opportunities for families like mine."

Parents are the first and best teachers, but as Shanta says, we can all use some help. I am proposing we invest in a voluntary five-star rating system for child care facilities to raise the quality of early learning. We rate restaurants, hotels, and music, don't you think we should rate the places we entrust with our children?

And let's lead the rest of the nation and give our five-year-olds the early boost they may need by phasing in voluntary all-day kindergarten. I propose we focus first on schools with high poverty levels where students can benefit the most. We all know teachers teach and students learn better in smaller classrooms, particularly in the early grades of Kindergarten through 3rd. Let's continue to lower those class sizes and ensure our children are truly ready for the 4th grade with a solid foundation in reading, math, science, arts and music, a foreign language and the skills needed to be good citizens.

This nation met the challenge of President Kennedy in the 1960's to be the first to put a man on the moon. Our modern day moon challenge is to meet the math and science crisis facing our state and nation. Three-quarters of Americans believe that if our next generation fails to improve skills in math, science, and engineering, it risks becoming the first generation of Americans who are worse off economically than their parents. They have good reason to be concerned when about half our students failed the 10th grade math WASL last year. But I will contend that our students didn't fail, our math education system failed them. So let's attack this challenge with the same zeal and success that we did the moon challenge. I propose that for the first time we reduce math and science class sizes to the nationally recognized standard of 25 students to 1 teacher.

But it doesn't help to have small class sizes without skilled teachers. In Washington, only about half of our math teachers have a degree in math. We need to help our teachers teach by providing them the training and coaching they deserve. My goal is to recruit 750 new math and science teachers by offering college scholarships, loan forgiveness, and recruiting those in the private sector who want to contribute to our children's future.

And we must change the hodge-podge of math curricula we have in our state and even within the same school districts. For many students, math and science are tough enough. When a family moves, let's help our kids succeed. If a child starts school in Aberdeen and finishes in Ritzville, she should be learning the same material. We should have no more than three curricula options in the state and we need to tie our math and science education to international standards so we know our kids can compete with anyone.

The good news is that if we continue to press for responsible change, we will get results. I have seen it happen at Eisenhower Middle School in Everett where teacher Shannon Depew has started a new, more personalized program for students who failed the math WASL. Shannon's once-struggling students are excelling at math, and it just shows that with talented teachers and our increased investment in an education system for the 21st century, we can make a difference. We have the vision to succeed and the opportunity to invest in that vision. But we also need to make sure schools are accountable to our families. I am proposing new performance standards so we invest in programs that work and show that tax dollars are being used wisely. A high school education in the future may not be enough to find a good job. That's why we need to continue our investment in running start for the trades, our school-to-work partnerships and mentoring programs to provide the kinds of specialized skills our economy needs. In the past few years we have done a good job of opening the doors to our colleges and universities. We created unprecedented new access to college degrees at campuses in Vancouver, Tri-Cities, Bothell and Tacoma. Students now can enroll in a B.A. degree program at community colleges in South Seattle, Port Angeles, Bellevue and Bremerton. But we need to do more. We need to provide graduates in high-demand fields.

A survey of Washington businesses shows that we are not keeping pace with employer needs – especially in fields like computer science, engineering and construction. We're importing workers for good-paying jobs. Don't you think our sons and daughters should get a shot at those jobs? I am proposing we expand college and university enrollment by 8,300 students, including an unprecedented 3,300 slots in high-demand fields ranging from nurse's aides to doctors, and engineers to construction workers.

Our University of Washington schools of Medicine and Dentistry and Washington State University's School of Nursing are top-notch. Let's expand these programs in Spokane to train doctors, dentists and nurses that will serve our health care needs in more rural areas. It is long overdue for our state to have a tuition policy. For example, in 1994 tuition was raised by over 12 percent and the next year by almost 15 percent. We must make the costs predictable and affordable for students and families.

So let's cap tuition increases at all our colleges and universities. To encourage more students to enroll at our community and technical colleges, I am proposing we freeze tuition. The single greatest investment we can make in our economic security is education. But if we are to make these changes real, we must do it together.

I was proud of a Yakima Herald-Republic editorial last summer that said I was shredding the Cascade Curtain and creating one Washington. I'd like to invite you to join me at the shredder and help us expand our economy to make sure all regions of our state have a chance to attract good family-wage jobs. In the last few years we have invested in 21st century opportunities that tie our state's economy together.

One example is our initiative to launch a new biodiesel industry which will help us be energy-independent, lead the nation, if not the world in alternative energy, provide new markets for Washington agricultural products, and stimulate new businesses. In Grays Harbor, Imperium Renewables is building the largest biodiesel refinery in North America. The plant will provide 50 family-wage jobs and buy from Washington farmers, so we will support those families, too.

Another example is our 2005 initiative creating the Life Sciences Discovery Fund. Our state is among the leaders in global health research. The promise is real in our laboratories today where we are discovering cures to the world's most dreaded diseases, driving up health care quality and driving down costs. This card is one example of the future. It is an entire laboratory work up on a card where at a cost of maybe $5 to make one of these you can get results within an hour, where today it can cost $200 and take 5 to 7 days. It is being developed right here in our state. This holds the promise of changing the cost and quality of our health care. It can also create good Washington jobs. At the center of these 21st century jobs are our two internationally recognized research institutions. Let's continue to support global health research at the University of Washington and alternative energy at Washington State University.

Now picture yourself in the Tri-Cities, Seattle, Spokane or Vancouver. Within a five-minute walk, you pass by cutting edge research facilities and offices of four or five of the world's leading companies in health care technology, silicon chip production, or alternative fuels. This vision is not far-fetched. I have personally seen its beginnings around the world. We have much of the foundation in place, now all we have to do is help regions create Innovation Zones which can serve as a powerful magnet attracting investment money, new businesses, creative people and good 21st century jobs.

Economically, we really are more like a small nation than a state. We export more than twice as much per worker as any other state in the country and the sky is the limit. With our container ports initiative, we will continue to be the gateway to America for goods from Asia, and a leading exporter of high quality products whether it's airplanes, software, wine, potatoes or cherries. While we need a new economic vision, some things don't change. We have to take care of our traditional business base. Forbes recently ranked us the 12th best state for business. But there is intense competition and we need to stay competitive. We need a new partnership, investments and support for our local economic development councils. I propose opening new small business development centers in Pullman, Grays Harbor and Kelso, and we need to improve broadband service to rural communities.

And let's not forget that small business remains the backbone of our economy.

This year we will keep more dollars in the pockets of workers and businesses by reducing their payments to unemployment and workers' compensation by more than $400 million. That's the kind of economic incentive we need to keep creating good family-wage jobs. And in my dictionary, good family-wage jobs are those that pay well and provide affordable health insurance. For many people in Washington, they fear they are a diagnosis away from bankruptcy. I know that many of the solutions to the health care crisis facing our nation must involve the federal government. But we have to step forward and find innovative solutions for Washingtonians. Join me again this session and invest in kids' health care so we can continue our steady progress toward our goal of all children having access to health care by 2010. I propose covering an additional 32,000 children.

Children's health insurance without access to a doctor is unacceptable. Raising the reimbursement rates for pediatricians can make health care real for our children. And we will protect kids in our state from preventable diseases by spending $26 million to increase childhood immunizations, making our state one of the few in the nation providing vaccines to all children.

Changes in Medicare have been a real challenge to many of our senior citizens who found themselves having to split, skip, or go without life-saving medications. We need to make sure Washington's seniors have access to their medications. Over the last two years we have saved $46 million by bulk purchasing drugs for state health care systems. We can save an additional $21 million next year.

We are blessed in Washington to have wonderful agricultural and farm forestry communities. How many of you know where Windust, Washington is? Not many. Let me help you. It is near Kahlotus. I'm still getting a lot of blank stares. Windust is a wide spot in the road in Southeast Washington. It is in the heart of wheat growing country. As a young girl, I spent summers in Windust helping on the farm while my uncle harvested wheat. It was hot, hard work, but what really made an impression on me was the wonderful culture and values in our farming communities. Hard work. Independence. Strong families. Love of the land. A sense of stewardship and an intense desire to keep the land in the family and in farming for generations. Together farming and forestry are an economic powerhouse for this state, with forestry providing 50,000 jobs and the food and agricultural industry generating a $29 billion economy.

Thanks to our Columbia River initiative, farmers like Clark Kagele have real hope for the future. He and his neighbors above the Odessa aquifer have watched in desperation for years as their wells, livelihoods and lifetime investments in their farms go dry. But now work has begun to bring Columbia River water to the Odessa.

We need more change if we want to preserve our forest and farm lands from pressure to convert to housing developments or shopping malls. We need new tools to help owners of working farms and forests capture some of the higher economic value, and preserve the working farm for generations to come. I urge you to create an office within the Conservation Commission to put these tools to use, allowing families to do what they love and do best, farm.

In Washington we have an environment that is good for our economy and allows our families to thrive. Our quality of life is why most of us live here and it keeps and draws businesses to our state. We began the cleanup in Hood Canal. But we have more work to do to protect the jewel of the Northwest, Puget Sound. Today, it looks beautiful on its surface but beneath that surface, it is sick and in some places dying. I think the goals for Puget Sound cleanup are pretty simple. I want families to be able to swim in it, fish in it, and dig shellfish from its beaches. If all the contaminated sites in Puget Sound were put together, they would cover nine square miles, an area the size of Edmonds. Mercury, lead, arsenic and other poisons in the sediments can pass up the food chain to fish. That won't meet my measure of fishable. You can think of the marine waters of Puget Sound like a bathtub – they swirl and circulate around instead of being flushed out to the Pacific Ocean. Every time it rains or snows, millions of gallons of stormwater pick up pollution as it runs off roofs, streets, parking lots and highways and flows into our bathtub. You wouldn't put your child in this bathtub. So we must stop this flow of stormwater, or the Sound won't meet my test for swimmable. Every day, we flush more than 175 million gallons of water and human waste into septic systems – the equivalent of filling 265 Olympic size swimming pools every 24 hours. Many septic systems are aging and in disrepair, allowing waste to reach the Sound. If we don't solve this septic problem, we can't depend on the Sound being diggable.

Thanks to the work of the Puget Sound Partnership, we can reach a healthy Puget Sound by 2020. It will take all of us recognizing we are part of the problem, and working together, we are all part of the solution. I am proposing we make an aggressive start to clean up the mess before it's too late. And by the way, I am calling for real on-the-ground work that will bring results all of us can see and the life under the surface can feel. A Washington that families can count on requires that the state do what it can to ensure the safety and security of families in their communities.

Despite inflation from the costs of foreign oil and materials demand around the world, I am asking that we continue to fund all the transportation projects we promised the public over the last few years with safety projects coming first. I am requesting that we take action before it is too late on our mega-projects like the Viaduct in Seattle, the 520 bridge, the bridge connection from Vancouver to Portland and the north-south freeway in Spokane. And when we think transportation, let's think 21st century in terms of need, funding, safety and design. When disaster strikes in most communities across this country, we have found that first responders have different communications systems so they can't talk to each other. We are no different. For a $13 million investment we can take the steps toward solving this problem in Washington. While we can't prevent a natural disaster, we can be prepared. I won't accept the status quo in state government, so we are changing the culture of state government and holding it accountable for results. Early in my career I prosecuted cases of child abuse and neglect, so I know how important quick response to complaints can be. That's why I required a response to cases of child abuse and neglect within 24 hours, seven days a week. DSHS is meeting those deadlines and we now know the quick response is reducing child abuse and neglect. The vision, agenda, and budget I propose to you today is guided clearly and distinctly by the principle of responsibility.

We have a responsibility to change the status quo, to fight for innovation, and to make changes that will mean a better life for Washington families. We have a responsibility to invest wisely in education, health care, our economy, and the environment. We have a responsibility to provide a helping hand to those in need. And we have a responsibility to save for the future and plan ahead for tough times.

We advise families to save for a rainy day and government should be no different. A year ago, we delivered on our promise to keep surplus dollars in the bank. We need to do it again. And also create a permanent Rainy Day Fund as part of our Constitution. Today, I am asking you to join me with an initial investment of $262 million in that Rainy Day Fund. Nothing can be a more important lesson in responsibility than showing future generations that we know how to save. We can save money and still invest in a future families can count on – a future with an education system families can rely on, an economy that offers opportunity for family-wage jobs, health insurance families can afford, an environment where families can thrive, and communities where families feel safe. I want to thank those of you who are returning this session for your work and cooperation the last two years.

And I'd like to take a moment to thank those legislators who are not back this year. It is a big sacrifice to be away from your families, jobs and communities, and I want to recognize their great contributions to this state. Many, like Senators Alex Deccio and Pat Thibaudeau, served years in Olympia and we will miss them.

For returning members and our new members this year, I promise you I will have an open door. I will be honest with you and you will know where I stand. I will listen to and respect you and your ideas. All I ask in return is a willingness to put aside differences, find common ground and do the work of the people of our great state. I suspect I don't have to remind anyone here, but during this 105-day session I will be downstairs helping you, nudging you, pushing you to take action.

When this session ends let's have people say we got things done, we made change – responsible change – and we continued providing families a future they can count on.

In closing, let me read a few lines from Aujzha Taylor-Shaw, a graduate of Madrona Elementary School in Seattle.

"I believe people are the world and we can make it a better place. I believe that all people should have joy and hope That is unbreakable, that no one can shatter.

Let's go forward with Aujzha's sense of optimism. Together, let's leave her the inheritance she and future generations deserve. And most important, let's not forget that her optimism, and the optimism of all our families, will happen if we remain committed to the principle that the status quo is not good enough and we will provide the kind of change families can count on.

May God bless all of you and God bless the great state of Washington."

The President thanked the Governor for her remarks and asked the special committee to escort Governor Gregoire and her family from the House Chamber.

The President asked the special committee to escort the State elected officials from the House Chamber.

The President asked the special committee to escort the Supreme Court Justices from the House Chamber.

On motion of Representative Kessler, the Joint Session was dissolved. The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) assumed the chair.

The Sergeant at Arms of the House and the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate escorted President of the Senate Owen, President Pro Tempore Franklin, Minority Leader Mike Hewitt and members of the Washington State Senate from the House Chamber.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the eleventh order of business.

MOTION

On motion of Representative Kessler, the House adjourned until 10:00 a.m., January 10, 2007, the 3th Day of the Regular Session.

RESOLUTIONS

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4604, by Representatives Barlow, Conway, Skinner, Hankins and Dunn

WHEREAS, Today, January 15, 2007, communities and neighborhoods all across our state and nation remember, celebrate, and honor the life and work of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King's commitment to nonviolence, based in great part upon the life-teachings of Mohandas Gandhi, was a model of selflessness and sacrifices made so that later generations might live freer and fuller, and might more nearly live in accord with their possibilities; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King was born on January 15, 1929, in Atlanta, Georgia; and on June 18, 1953, he and Coretta Scott were married in Marion, Alabama; and

WHEREAS, After Dr. King was so violently taken from us on April 4, 1968, Coretta Scott King continued her life in the very same vein of caring and compassion until she passed on January 30, 2006; and

WHEREAS, The Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. advanced his goals and principles with determination, faith, dignity, and courage in the face of life-threatening opposition; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King was jailed several times throughout his struggle to bring to all people the opportunity to live free of racial, ethnic, and religious discrimination and violence; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King raised the consciousness of the nation and of our state to fundamental injustices and inequalities in American society, and moved us forward on the long and unfinished road to racial harmony and reconciliation; and

WHEREAS, The Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. fervently advocated nonviolent resistance as the strategy to end segregation and racial discrimination in America, and he was awarded the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King's death, an awful loss for our nation and our world, was a particular loss for our own state of Washington in which our largest county is named to honor this great American hero; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King was forever celebrated when the Congress of the United States established a permanent federal holiday to commemorate the date of his birth; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King's work and legacy were further recognized by the state of Washington, which honors his remembrance as a state holiday; and

WHEREAS, There is still much work to be done in achieving full reconciliation among America's racial, social, and ethnic communities;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives, on behalf of the people of our state, recognize the importance of the life and work of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. to the civil society and freedoms of the United States of America and of the state of Washington; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives call on the people of the state of Washington to study, reflect on, and celebrate Dr. King's life and ideals in order to fulfill his dream of civil and human rights for all people; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives honor his memory by urging all the citizens of our state to make Martin Luther King, Jr. Day a day of service - a day on, not a day off.

Representative Barlow moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representatives Barlow, Ross and Pettigrew spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4605, by Representative Rolfes, Conway, Skinner, Hankins and Dunn

WHEREAS, The people of the State of Washington celebrate children for the happiness they bring to our lives and the hopes and dreams they represent for our nation; and

WHEREAS, Children are the citizens of tomorrow and it is our solemn obligation to instill in them the values, convictions, goodwill, and fortitude they need to continue the wonderful legacy of freedom, peace, and prosperity we have inherited from those who came before us; and

WHEREAS, There can be no better measure of our governance than the way we treat our children; and

WHEREAS, The children of the State of Washington should be cherished and are deserving of a nurturing and protective environment where they may flourish and realize their full potential; and

WHEREAS, The children of the State of Washington should always know that they are valued members of our society; and

WHEREAS, The children of the State of Washington should have access to quality education, wholesome recreation, and safe communities; and

WHEREAS, Children should be loved and treasured by their families, and all people of the State of Washington should help them by setting examples of what it means to be an ethical, hardworking, healthy, and productive citizen; and

WHEREAS, The House of Representatives welcomes children into the House Chamber for a special day each session so they may witness the legislative process;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives encourage all citizens of Washington to celebrate children on Children's Day and throughout the year by spending more quality time with children, and reminding children of their special place in our lives.

Representative Rolfes moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representatives Rolfes, Warnick, Walsh and McDonald spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4605 was adopted.

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) called upon Representative Kessler to preside.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Chief Justice Alexander: "President Owen, Speaker Chopp, Governor Gregoire, State elected officials, members of the House and Senate, fellow justices and judges, ladies and gentlemen. Good afternoon.

Let me first extend thanks to the members of the legislature for the warm welcome you have accorded me and my fellow justices. We are very honored to be here for the purpose of allowing me to present, on behalf of our court and the judiciary of this state, the biennial State of the Judiciary address, the fourth I have had the privilege of delivering since I first became chief justice.

My colleagues and I are aware that time is precious to legislators during legislative sessions, and we are grateful for the opportunity to speak to you as well as to our State's elected officials and the people of Washington.

While the halls of this legislature are in close proximity to the offices of our State elected officials and the Temple of Justice, our respective branches of government have very different functions and we do not have many opportunities like this to gather together. While some may feel that this is as it should be under the doctrine of separation of powers, it is my view that occasions like this and the governor's State of the State message, can lead us all to better appreciate the important role that each branch performs in our democracy.

As you know, our State's justice system is present in every county in our state as well as in most of our cities and towns. It functions in courthouses and municipal court buildings, and is presided over by nine justices of the Supreme Court, 23 judges of our court of appeals, 182 superior court judges and 204 full and part-time judges of our district and municipal courts. These justices and judges can't, of course, manage the system alone and, fortunately, they have the assistance of dedicated court commissioners, county clerks, and staff that work hard managing caseloads that collectively total more than two million filings each year—more than one filing for every three citizens of our state.

I wish I could have every judicial officer in the state here today, but as you will be able to tell from my remarks they have plenty to do at home. I did, though, ask a few judges to be here to represent the judiciary of our state. Representing our hardworking court of appeals is its presiding chief judge, Steve Brown of Yakima. Judge Brown, would you please stand. Also present are the presidents of our two excellent trial court associations, Kittitas County Superior Court Judge Michael Cooper, president of the Superior Court Judges' Association of Washington and Grant County District Court Judge Richard Fitterer, president of the District and Municipal Court Judges' Association. I would like them to stand as well and be recognized. Sitting with these judges are members of the Board for Judicial Administration, the policy setting board for the entire judiciary, which had its monthly meeting here in Olympia earlier today. Would they please stand.

I am immensely proud of these judges and the judicial officers that they represent at the four levels of our court system. I have been fortunate to serve at three of those levels during my judicial career—the superior court, the Court of Appeals, and for the last 12 years at the Supreme Court—and I can tell you from my almost 34 years of experience in our justice system, that we have one of the hardest working and innovative collection of judges in the nation. In my view, the quality of Washington's judiciary has never been better than it is at this moment.

At every level, our courts have a direct affect on the lives of individuals. This is particularly true of our trial courts. At the superior court, judges determine child custody issues, protect victims of domestic violence from harm, preside over felony criminal cases and all manner of significant civil disputes. At the limited jurisdiction level, judges handle misdemeanor and gross misdemeanor cases, traffic infractions, and a myriad of other matters, including, at the district court, small claims cases and civil actions where $50,000 or less is sought. Our limited jurisdiction trial court judges see huge numbers of persons in their courts each year and these courts can truly be called our "people's courts."

When reflecting upon the important work of each level of court in our state, and the challenges they face, I am reminded of the old saying that, "If we do not maintain justice, justice will not maintain us." These words go to the very essence of our great republic and contribute to the pride we feel about our nation, our state, and our system of government. As Americans and Washingtonians, we revere justice, and we show that by periodically facing our nation's flag and reciting these words: "liberty and justice for all." Maintaining a strong and fair justice system is, I believe, of great concern to all of our citizens.

Unfortunately, we have not done the best job as a state government in maintaining our justice system at the trial level. Allow me to elaborate. Since we first became a state in 1889, our trial courts have been funded almost entirely by local governments—our counties and cities. This means of funding our trial courts was not problematic in earlier times because our court system was relatively small and local governments did not have huge demands placed on their resources. But as the years have gone by the number of cases flowing into our courts rose dramatically as our population increased and a variety of new laws and regulations were enacted at the state and local level. At the same time local governments have assumed financial obligations that were unknown to their predecessors. As a consequence of all of this, our trial courts have been severely challenged as they have endeavored to keep up with increasing caseloads. In some jurisdictions, particularly in our metropolitan areas, we have seen delays in getting cases to trial due to crowded court calendars, difficulties in obtaining qualified interpreters for non-English speakers, criminal defense attorneys with caseloads that are too large, and large numbers of persons going without representation in civil cases, particularly in family court matters.

Faced with all of this, our State's Board for Judicial Administration addressed, what it concluded was the crisis facing our trial courts, in the "Justice in Jeopardy Initiative," first presented to you in 2005.

This initiative flowed out of the hard work of the Court Funding Task Force and its workgroups, a body that was formed in 2002. It was comprised of more than 100 persons from across the state and from all backgrounds, including members of the legislature: Representatives Ruth Kagi and Pat Lantz and Senators Adam Kline, Mike Hewitt and Jim Kastama.

You may recall that when we first spoke to you about the Justice in Jeopardy initiative, we relayed a startling statistic from the task force's report—that Washington State ranked last among the states of the union, in terms of state government participation in the funding of trial courts, indigent defense and prosecution.

Today, despite the advent of additional state funding in the last two years, budget-strapped local governments still bear more than 80 percent of the costs of maintaining our trial courts. Although state government funds the rest, less than 1 percent of the state budget goes to maintain our justice system and the courts, which compose the key component of that system, courts that are provided for in our state constitution—a constitution that says that justice is to be administered "without unnecessary delay."

The report of the Court Funding Task Force and the other studies that have been done over the years have recommended that eventually, the State should pay 50 percent of the cost of trial court operations and indigent criminal defense, and assume a substantially greater role in funding civil legal aid services for Washington's low-income residents. We think that this partnership approach between state and local government makes more sense than a complete state takeover of the cost of our trial courts, the path that California and Oregon have followed. We say this because we believe that local jurisdictions should have a stake in how the courts operate in their jurisdictions.

We recognized, however, that obtaining an increase in state funding of the magnitude we envision is a major change, and, thus, we have opted for recommending to you an incremental approach. The more we reflect on the Task Force recommendations, the more we are convinced that we have developed the best approach in the nation, a shared responsibility between state and local government.

The judiciary has been immensely gratified by the support that the legislature has given since we first approached you with the Justice in Jeopardy initiative. In the sessions of 2005 and 2006 you recognized that state government had a responsibility to pay a higher proportion of the costs of the state's justice system. In those sessions, you appropriated significant funds, much of which was derived from higher user fees, and applied it to the support of our trial courts, public defense and civil legal aid.

More specifically, in 2005, in Senate Bill 5454, the Office of Civil Legal Aid bill, and House Bill 1542, you provided for state funding of a portion of district and municipal court judges' salaries, and for trial court improvement accounts, as well as for legal representation for indigent parents in termination and dependency cases; civil legal aid programs; and indigent criminal defense.

In 2006, you appropriated additional funds for a pilot jury project, expansion of the parents' representation program and provided additional funds for civil legal aid programs.

While much more remains to be done, I am pleased to highlight the positive changes that have been made as a consequence of what this legislature has done in the two previous sessions.

CIVIL EQUAL JUSTICE

Let me first talk about civil equal justice. In 2005, the new Office of Civil Legal Aid, OCLA for short, got underway and began to administer state-funded legal aid services to the poor, monitor the use of state funds, and report on the status of access to the civil justice system for low-income people.

OCLA, headed by Jim Bamberger, a long-time legal aid attorney, and watched over by the Civil Legal Aid Oversight Committee has worked with the Supreme Court's Access to Justice Board to establish delivery objectives and accountability systems to close the gap documented in the landmark 2003 Civil Legal Needs Study.

The civil legal needs of Washington's low income people run the gamut from employment and housing issues to problems such as those faced by Dawn Seljestad, a low income mother of two children from Shelton, who endured years of controlling and abusive behavior by her husband. With the assistance of a lawyer from the Northwest Justice Project, Dawn was able to get a protective order, a decree of dissolution, and an order requiring her abuser to enter into treatment to deal with his conduct. I am pleased to say that Dawn Seljestad is with us—would you please join me in recognizing this courageous woman.

Despite recent gains, biennial funding for civil legal aid still falls $33 million short of the level necessary to fully address the needs chronicled in the landmark 2003 Civil Legal Needs Study. One gaping hole is the lack of any meaningful legal aid services in the rural areas of our state. We encourage the legislature to provide additional funding so that legal services offices can be re-established to serve low income citizens in Colville, Pullman, Port Angeles, Aberdeen, Omak, Moses Lake, Longview, and Pasco.

TRIAL COURT OPERATIONS

Regarding trial court operations, important steps forward were taken in 2005 and 2006 when this legislature recognized the state's duty to partner with local jurisdictions in funding our trial courts.

As a result of your actions, local governments across the state have obtained funds that have enabled them to pay a portion of the salaries of district court judges and elected municipal court judges. Thanks to you, Trial Court Improvement Accounts have also been established, which have enabled jurisdictions to improve and enhance a range of trial court operations.

Although the money was just beginning to flow into these accounts by mid-2006, let me give you a few examples of what is going on in jurisdictions across the state as a consequence of the creation of Trial Court Improvement Accounts:

- Benton County is upgrading the recording system in its district court courtrooms.
- Clallam County is adding a court security office position.
- The City of Everett is installing new video equipment that will connect its municipal court with the Snohomish County Jail so that arraignments can be conducted while the defendant remains in jail, thereby making it unnecessary to transport the defendant to the municipal court.
- Lewis County is partially funding an assistant court administrator for its district court.
- Yakima County is using the funds to operate a district court satellite facility in Grandview to better serve the southeast part of that county.

Your creation of trial court improvement accounts recognized that each jurisdiction has different needs. These accounts allow trial courts to tailor improvements to best serve the citizens of their judicial district. We anticipate that these accounts will have a very beneficial effect in coming years, and we will continue to update you on how the funds are being utilized.

Next year, we will also provide you with the results of the study you authorized on the effect of increasing the daily attendance fee for jurors in three jurisdictions: Des Moines Municipal Court, Franklin County Superior Court, and Clark County Superior Court. We believe that is the first time a project like this has been undertaken anywhere in the United States and we look forward to sharing the results of the study with you.

COURT INTERPRETERS

Let me now direct my comments to what we are proposing to you this year as a part of our continuing Justice in Jeopardy Initiative. In the area of trial court improvements we are asking for an additional $8 million dollars in the biennium to carry out the promise of a statute that was enacted by this legislature in 1989. I refer to RCW 2.43.010, which says that it is the policy of this state to secure the constitutional rights of persons who are unable to readily understand or communicate in English and cannot be fully protected in legal proceedings unless qualified interpreters are available to assist them.

When I was a superior court judge years ago, we rarely needed interpreters in court. But our society has changed and has become more diverse. Indeed, you passed the statute that I just referred to after you took note of an audit that showed that thousands of non-English speakers were routinely unable to understand what was being said in court. Unfortunately, although we have probably the best system in the nation for certifying court interpreters, many jurisdictions are not able to follow the letter or the spirit of the law because of a lack of funds. The result is that far too often uncertified court interpreters are being utilized because of low pay and/or an inability to obtain a certified interpreter. This, of course, can result in testimony and evidence not being accurately presented to the trier of fact, thereby increasing the possibility that a wrong decision may result.

Although this is not a cost that the State has heretofore underwritten, we fear that the problems I have just described will not be eliminated unless there is an investment of dollars from state government to assist our hard pressed local jurisdictions meet their statutory obligations.

PUBLIC DEFENSE

Let me next talk about public defense in criminal cases. A vital element of our Justice in Jeopardy Initiative relates to the necessity of meeting the constitutional mandate that in all criminal prosecutions the accused shall have the assistance of effective counsel for his or her defense. We can be proud that Washington recognized this right long before the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1963 in the famous case of Gideon v. Wainwright that states must provide such legal assistance. Indeed, Washington's then attorney general, John J. O'Connell, rejected a request from Florida's attorney general to present a friend of the court brief in support of Florida's position that Gideon, although indigent, was not entitled to a publicly funded defense. Instead, our attorney general presented an amicus curiae brief on behalf of Gideon.

Despite this history, it is fair to say that we have not fully heeded Gideon's trumpet. I say that because too often in our state, indigent defendants are represented in criminal cases by lawyers who lack the training and experience to be considered effective or who are overburdened with caseloads that are so large that they are unable to devote adequate time to the defense. This is not, of course, true in every case. We have many dedicated public defenders in this state who do a fine job, often for inadequate compensation. But the systems we have in the state for providing public defense vary greatly and, consequently, we have a "crazy quilt" of public defender systems with no two systems being exactly the same.

They all have some problems, though, and I believe this has been borne out by the investigative series that ran in the Seattle Times in 2004, the recent litigation in Grant County, and the report of the Blue Ribbon Task Force on Public Defense of the Washington State Bar Association.

While state law dictates that counties adopt standards for administering public defense systems, using Washington State Bar Association standards as guidelines, I am told by our state's director of the Office of Public Defense, Joanne Moore, that presently no county public defense system is compliant.

Fortunately, positive steps are being taken to reverse this trend. As I have already observed, in 2005 this legislature adopted HB 1542, which provides that state funding will be progressively distributed to counties for the purpose of improving public defense.

We believe that with additional state funding our state's defender systems can become compliant with WSBA standards. Last year, $3 million was distributed to counties pursuant to HB 1542 and I can report to you that 38 of the state's 39 counties are now participating in the application process, administered by the Office of Public Defense. We need, though, to make a substantial leap forward in 2007-2009 toward closing what the Spokesman Review called an "embarrassing funding gap" so that our systems of public defense can deliver on our constitutional duty to provide adequate representation to all indigent criminal defendants.

The Office of Public Defense has also made incredible strides since I last addressed you in expanding to 18 counties the program that provides representation of indigent parents in dependency and termination actions. Studies show that with better representation, parents are better able to access court services and work through their problems, thus increasing their ability to be reunited with their children. We are asking that you expand the Parents Representation Program to every county.

CASA

Let me say a word about CASA, Court Appointed Special Advocates. This is a terrific program that trains volunteers to be advocates in dependency cases for abused and neglected children. As a part of our Justice in Jeopardy Initiative we are requesting additional funding for CASA to accomplish essentially two things: first, to provide stability for CASA programs in rural areas and, second, to allow CASA to serve a minimum of 10,000 children statewide each year, up from the approximately 7,000 who are benefiting now. CASA is a huge bargain to the State because the public money only goes to provide supervision and training. The service to the children is provided by unpaid volunteers like Patricia Scott of Jefferson County who has contributed over 2,200 hours of service as a CASA volunteer. Ms. Scott, who was recently named CASA Volunteer of the Year, is here with a group of CASA volunteers, and I would like them to stand and be recognized for their service.

TECHNOLOGY IN THE COURTS

Allow me to take a brief moment to discuss positive developments in technology in the judicial branch. We have decided to pursue purchase of a case management system for statewide implementation to replace our 20-plus year old systems. This approach will greatly mitigate risks and accelerate the time to full implementation.

We will be seeking your authorization to expend funds from the dedicated JIS account toward this end and are developing a court rule change to increase revenues generated from traffic infraction penalties to pay for this project.

Although I am not a technical whiz, it is my vision that by the time my service on the Supreme Court comes to an end, the foundation will have been laid so that the work of all of the courts of this state will find support in a common case management system.

JUDICIAL ELECTIONS

Before I close, I would like to say something about the subject of judicial elections, a subject that was of considerable interest to me in 2006. I recognize that a number of proposals are now before the legislature that are aimed at reforming the process by which we elect judges. Some of these relate to the public financing of judicial campaigns and others endeavor to reign in the influence of independent expenditures by special interests. You may even be presented with proposals to amend the constitution to provide for an entirely different way to select judges. At this point, the judiciary as a whole has not taken a position in response to any of these specific proposals but I can assure you that we are intensely interested in the subject and we may take a position on all or some of these proposals, provided we can do so without compromising our ethical obligations. I do feel comfortable, though, in restating the long-standing position of the judiciary favoring a publicly financed voters' pamphlet in the primary election. As you know, many judicial elections are decided in the primary so we support the proposals for creation of a statewide primary voters' pamphlet that would be mailed to every household. The judiciary is also of the view that as long as we continue to elect judges in the manner set forth in our state constitution, we should elect all judges including municipal court judges. We believe that this is necessary to assure independence of the judicial branch.

Let me close by saying that we know that this legislature will be presented with a myriad of requests to increase funding for a variety of governmental functions—for common schools and universities, for public employee salaries, for projects to improve the physical environment, and for corrections, and so on. All of these proponents, I am sure, will have a legitimate case to make. I don't mean to tell you how to sort out all of these competing requests, other than to say that the provision of justice, on both the criminal and civil side, is a core function of government that should be adequately supported by all taxpayers, not just users of the system. The first building that was placed on this campus, courtesy of a long ago appropriation from the legislature, was called the Temple of Justice and the first building that every county built after this state came into being was a county courthouse. This reflects the fact that provision of justice has always been a priority for Washingtonians. In order for our state's judiciary to continue to provide the quality of justice that our citizens expect us to provide, we must make the recommendations I have outlined. We hope that you will give these reasonable requests favorable consideration. Thank you for listening to me so courteously and for inviting me to present this address."

The President asked the special committee to escort Chief Justice Alexander from the Rostrum.

The President asked the special committee to escort the Governor from the Rostrum.

Definitions

Rule 1. "Absent" means an unexcused failure to attend.

"Term" means the two-year term during which the members as a body may act.

"Session" means a constitutional gathering of the house in accordance with Article 2 ? 12 of the state Constitution.

"Committee" means any standing, conference, joint, or select committee as so designated by rule or resolution.

"Bill" means bill, joint memorial, joint resolution, or concurrent resolution unless the context indicates otherwise.

Chief Clerk to Call to Order

Rule 2. It shall be the duty of the chief clerk of the previous term to call the house to order and to conduct the proceedings until a speaker is chosen.

Election of Officers

Rule 3. The house shall elect the following officers at the commencement of each term: Its presiding officer, who shall be styled speaker of the house; a speaker pro tempore, who shall serve in absence or in case of the inability of the speaker; and a chief clerk of the house. Such officers shall hold office during all sessions until the convening of the succeeding term: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That any of these offices may be declared vacant by the vote of a constitutional majority of the house, the members voting viva voce and their votes shall be entered on the journal. If any office is declared vacant, the house shall fill such vacant office as hereinafter provided. In all elections by the house a constitutional majority shall be required, the members shall vote viva voce and their votes shall be entered on the journal. (Art. II ? 27)

Powers and Duties of the Speaker

Rule 4. The speaker shall have the following powers and duties:

(A) The speaker shall take the chair and call the house to order precisely at the hour appointed for meeting and if a quorum be present, shall cause the journal of the preceding day to be read and shall proceed with the order of business.

(B) The speaker shall preserve order and decorum, and in case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct within the chamber or legislative area, shall order the sergeant at arms to suppress the same and may order the sergeant at arms to remove any person creating any disturbance within the house chamber or legislative area.

(C) The speaker may speak to points of order in preference to other members, arising from the seat for that purpose, and shall decide all questions of order subject to an appeal to the house by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once without leave of the house.

(D) The speaker shall sign all bills in open session. (Art. II ? 32)

(E) The speaker shall sign all writs, warrants, and subpoenas issued by order of the house, all of which shall be attested to by the chief clerk.

(F) The speaker shall have the right to name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall neither extend beyond adjournment nor authorize the representative so substituted to sign any documents requiring the signature of the speaker.

(G) The speaker, in open session, shall appoint committee chairs ~~((from the majority party of the house))~~ as selected by the majority party caucus, and shall appoint members to committees in the same ratio as the membership of the respective parties of the house, unless otherwise provided by law or house rules.

(H) The speaker shall serve as chair of the rules committee.

(I) The speaker shall have charge of and see that all officers, attaches, and clerks perform their respective duties.

(J) The speaker pro tempore shall exercise the duties, powers, and prerogatives of the speaker in the event of the speaker's death, illness, removal, or inability to act until the speaker's successor shall be elected.

Chief Clerk

Rule 5. The chief clerk shall perform the usual duties pertaining to the office, and shall hold office until a successor has been elected.

The chief clerk shall employ, ~~((upon the recommendation of the employment committee and,))~~ subject to the approval of the speaker, all other house employees; the hours of duty and assignments of all house employees shall be under the chief clerk's directions and instructions, and they may be dismissed by the chief clerk with the approval of the speaker. The speaker shall sign and the chief clerk shall countersign all payrolls and vouchers for all expenses of the house and appropriately transmit the same. In the event of the chief clerk's death, illness, removal, or inability to act, the speaker may appoint an acting chief clerk who shall exercise the duties and powers of the chief clerk until the chief clerk's successor shall be elected.

Duties of Employees

Rule 6. Employees of the house shall perform such duties as are assigned to them by the chief clerk. Under no circumstances shall the compensation of any employee be increased for past services. No house employee shall seek to influence the passage or rejection of proposed legislation.

Admission to the House

Rule 7. It shall be the general policy of the house to keep the chamber clear as follows:

(A) The sergeant at arms shall admit only the following individuals to the wings and adjacent areas of the house chamber for the period of time beginning one-half hour prior to convening and ending one-half hour following the adjournment of the house's daily session:

The governor or designees, or both;
Members of the senate;
State elected officials;
Officers and authorized employees of the legislature;
Former members of the house who are not advocating any pending or proposed legislation;
Representatives of the press;
Other persons with the consent of the speaker.

(B) Only members, pages, sergeants at arms, and clerks are permitted on the floor while the house is in session.

(C) Lobbying in the house chamber or in any committee room or lounge room is prohibited when the house or committee is in session unless expressly permitted by the house or committee. Anyone violating this rule will forfeit his or her right to be admitted to the house chamber or any of its committee rooms.

Absentees and Courtesy

Rule 8. No member shall be absent from the service of the house without leave from the speaker. When the house is in session, only the speaker shall recognize visitors and former members.

Bills, Memorials and Resolutions - Introductions

Rule 9. Any member desiring to introduce a bill shall file the same with the chief clerk. Bills filed by 10:00 a.m. shall be introduced at the next daily session, in the order filed: PROVIDED, That if such introduction is within the last ten days of a regular session, it cannot be considered without a direct vote of two-thirds (2/3) of all the members elected to each house with such vote recorded and entered upon the journal. (Art. II ? 36)

Any returning member or member-elect may prefile a bill with the chief clerk commencing the first Monday in December preceding any regular session or twenty (20) days before any special session. Prefiled bills shall be introduced on the first legislative day.

All bills shall be endorsed with a statement of the title and the name of the member or members introducing the same. The chief clerk shall attach to all bills a substantial cover bearing the title and sponsors and shall number each bill in the order filed. All bills shall be printed unless otherwise ordered by the house.

Any bill introduced at any session during the term shall be eligible for action at all subsequent sessions during the term.

Reading of Bills

Rule 10. Every bill shall be read on three separate days: PROVIDED, That this rule may be temporarily suspended at any time by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present; and that on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote.

A bill may be returned to second reading for the purpose of amendment by a suspension of the rules: PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, section 12 of the state Constitution or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, this rule may be suspended and a bill returned to second reading for the purpose of amendment by a majority vote.

(A) FIRST READING. The first reading of a bill shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full.

After the first reading the bill shall be referred to an appropriate committee.

Upon being reported out of committee, all bills shall be referred to the rules committee, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

The rules committee may, by majority vote, refer any bill in its possession to a committee for further consideration. Such referral shall be reported to the house and entered in the journal under the fifth order of business.

(B) SECOND READING. Upon second reading, the bill number and short title and the last line of the bill shall be read unless a majority of the members present shall demand its reading in full. The bill shall be subject to amendment section by section. No amendment shall be considered by the house until it has been sent to the chief clerk's desk in writing, distributed to the desk of each member, and read by the clerk. All amendments adopted during second reading shall be securely fastened to the original bill. All amendments rejected by the house shall be passed to the minute clerk, and the journal shall show the disposition of such amendments.

When no further amendments shall be offered, the speaker shall declare the bill has passed its second reading.

(C) SUBSTITUTE BILLS. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill with the recommendation that the substitute bill do pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute the first time and have the same printed. A motion for the substitution shall not be in order until the second reading of the original bill.

(D) THIRD READING. Only the last line of bills shall be read on third reading unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full. No amendments to a bill shall be received on third reading but it may be referred or recommitted for the purpose of amendment.

(E) SUSPENSION CALENDAR. Bills may be placed on the second reading suspension calendar by the rules committee if at least two minority party members of the rules committee join in such motion. Bills on the second reading suspension calendar shall not be subject to amendment or substitution except as recommended in the committee report. When a bill is before the house on the suspension calendar, the question shall be to adopt the committee recommendations and advance the bill to third reading. If the question fails to receive a two-thirds vote of the members present, the bill shall be referred to the rules committee for second reading.

(F) HOUSE RESOLUTIONS. House resolutions shall be filed with the chief clerk who shall transmit them to the rules committee. If a rules committee meeting is not scheduled to occur prior to a time necessitated by the purpose of a house resolution, the majority leader and minority leader by agreement may waive transmission to the rules committee to permit consideration of the resolution by the house. The rules committee may adopt house resolutions by a sixty percent majority vote of its entire membership or may, by a majority vote of its members, place them on the motions calendar for consideration by the house. No more than one resolution per day may be scheduled for consideration by the house except by mutual agreement of the majority leader and minority leader: PROVIDED, That this limit does not apply to resolutions necessary for the operation of the house nor to resolutions scheduled for consideration on pro forma session days.

(G) CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS. Reading of concurrent resolutions may be advanced by majority vote.

Amendments

Rule 11. The right of any member to offer amendments to proposed legislation shall not be limited except as provided in Rule 10(E) and as follows:

(A) AMENDMENTS TO BE OFFERED IN PROPER FORM. The chief clerk shall establish the proper form for amendments and all amendments offered shall bear the name of the member who offers the same, as well as the number and section of the bill to be amended.

(B) COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS. When a bill is before the house on second reading, amendments adopted by committees and recommended to the house shall be acted upon by the house before any amendments that may be offered from the floor.

(C) SENATE AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILLS. A house bill, passed by the senate with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the house, shall be referred to the appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills unless a motion not to concur is adopted prior to the bill being referred to committee.

(D) AMENDMENTS TO BE GERMANE. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment; and no bill or resolution shall at any time be amended by annexing thereto or incorporating therein any other bill or resolution pending before the house.

(E) SCOPE AND OBJECT NOT TO BE CHANGED. No amendment to any bill shall be allowed which shall change the scope and object of the bill. This objection may be raised at any time an amendment is under consideration. The speaker may allow the person raising the objection and the mover of the amendment to provide brief arguments as to the merits of the objection. (Art. II ? 38)

(F) NO AMENDMENT BY REFERENCE. No act shall ever be revised or amended without being set forth at full length. (Art. II ? 37)

(G) TITLE AMENDMENTS. The subject matter portion of a bill title shall not be amended in committee or on second reading. Changes to that part of the title after the subject matter statement shall either be presented with the text amendment or be incorporated by the chief clerk in the engrossing process.

Final Passage

Rule 12. Rules relating to bills on final passage are as follows:

(A) RECOMMITMENT BEFORE FINAL PASSAGE. A bill may be recommitted at any time before its final passage.

(B) FINAL PASSAGE. No bill shall become a law unless on its final passage the vote be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the members voting for and against the same be entered on the journal of each house, and a majority of the members elected to each house be recorded thereon as voting in its favor. (Art. II ? 22)

(C) BILLS PASSED - CERTIFICATION. When a bill passes, it shall be certified to by the chief clerk, said certification to show the date of its passage together with the vote thereon.

Hour of Meeting, Roll Call and Quorum

Rule 13. (A) HOUR OF MEETING. The speaker shall call the house to order each day of sitting at 10:00 A.M., unless the house shall have adjourned to some other hour.

(B) ROLL CALL AND QUORUM. Before proceeding with business, the roll of the members shall be called and the names of those absent or excused shall be entered on the journal. A majority of all the members elected must be present to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. In the absence of a quorum, seven members with the speaker, or eight members in the speaker's absence, having chosen a speaker pro tempore, shall be authorized to demand a call of the house and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner provided in Rule 21(B). For the purpose of determining if a quorum be present, the speaker shall count all members present, whether voting or not. (Art. II ? 8)

(C) The house shall adjourn not later than 10:00 P.M. of each working day. This rule may be suspended by a majority vote.

Daily Calendar and Order of Business

Rule 14. The rules relating to the daily calendar and order of business are as follows:

(A) DAILY CALENDAR. Business of the house shall be disposed of in the following order:

First: Roll call, presentation of colors, prayer, and approval of the journal of the preceding day.

Second: Introduction of visiting dignitaries.

Third: Messages from the senate, governor, and other state officials.

Fifth: Committee reports.

Sixth: Second reading of bills.

Seventh: Third reading of bills.

Eighth: Floor resolutions and motions.

Ninth: Presentation of petitions, memorials, and remonstrances addressed to the Legislature.

Tenth: Introduction of visitors and other business to be considered.

Eleventh: Announcements.

(B) UNFINISHED BUSINESS. The unfinished business at which the house was engaged preceding adjournment shall not be taken up until reached in regular order, unless the previous question on such unfinished business has been ordered prior to said adjournment.

(C) EXCEPTIONS. Exceptions to the order of business are as follows:

(1) The order of business may be changed by a majority vote of those present.

(2) By motion under the eighth order of business, a bill in the rules committee may be placed on the calendar by the affirmative vote of a majority of all members of the house.

(3) House resolutions and messages from the senate, governor, or other state officials may be read at any time.

Motions

Rule 15. Rules relating to motions are as follows:

(A) MOTIONS TO BE ENTERTAINED OR DEBATED. No motion shall be entertained or debated until announced by the speaker and every motion shall be deemed to have been seconded. A motion shall be reduced to writing and read by the clerk, if desired by the speaker or any member, before it shall be debated and by the consent of the house may be withdrawn before amendment or action.

(B) MOTIONS IN ORDER DURING DEBATE. When a motion has been made and seconded and stated by the chair, the following motions are in order, in the rank named:

- (1) Privileged motions:
  - Adjourn
  - Adjourn to a time certain
  - Recess to a time certain
  - Reconsider
  - Demand for division
  - Question of privilege
  - Orders of the day
- (2) Subsidiary motions:
  - First rank: Question of consideration
  - Second rank: To lay on the table
  - Third rank: For the previous question
  - Fourth rank: To postpone to a day certain
To commit or recommit
To postpone indefinitely
  - Fifth rank: To amend
- (3) Incidental motions:
  - Points of order and appeal
  - Method of consideration
  - Suspension of the rules
  - Reading papers
  - Withdraw a motion
  - Division of a question

(C) THE EFFECT OF POSTPONEMENT - MOTIONS TO POSTPONE OR COMMIT. Once decided, no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely shall again be allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the proceedings. When a question has been postponed indefinitely, it shall not again be introduced during the session. The motion to postpone indefinitely may be made at any stage of the bill except when on first reading.

(D) MOTIONS DECIDED WITHOUT DEBATE. A motion to adjourn, to recess, to lay on the table and to call for the previous question shall be decided without debate.

All incidental motions shall be decided without debate, except that members may speak to points of order and appeal as provided in Rule 22.

A motion for suspension of the rules shall not be debatable except that the mover of the motion may briefly explain the purpose of the motion and one member may briefly state the opposition to the motion.

(E) MOTION TO ADJOURN. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the house is voting or is working under the call of the house; but this rule shall not authorize any member to move for adjournment when another member has the floor.

Members Right to Debate

Rule 16. The methods by which a member may exercise his or her right to debate are as follows:

(A) RECOGNITION OF MEMBER. When any member desires to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the house, the member shall rise and respectfully address the speaker and pause until recognized.

(B) ORDER OF SPEAKING. When two or more members arise at once, the speaker shall name the one who is to speak.

(C) LIMITATION OF DEBATE. No member shall speak longer than ten (10) minutes without consent of the house; PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, no member shall speak more than three (3) minutes without the consent of the house. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the house: PROVIDED, That the chair of the committee or the mover of the question may close debate if it is consistent with Rule 18 (Previous Question).

Rules of Debate

Rule 17. The rules for debate in the house are as follows:

(A) QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE. Any member may rise to a question of privilege and explain a personal matter, by leave of the speaker, but the member shall not discuss any pending question in such explanations.

(B) WITHDRAWAL OF MOTION, BILL, ETC. After a motion is stated by the speaker or a bill, memorial, resolution, petition, or remonstrance is read by the clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the house, but may be withdrawn by consent of the house at any time before decision or amendment.

(C) READING OF A PAPER. When the reading of any paper is called for and is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the house.

(D) DISTRIBUTION OF MATERIALS. Any materials of any nature distributed to the members' desks on the floor shall be subject to approval by the speaker and shall bear the name of at least one member granting permission for the distribution. This shall not apply to materials normally distributed by the chief clerk.

(E) ORDER OF QUESTIONS. All questions, whether in committee or in the house, shall be propounded in the order in which they are named except that in filling blanks, the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

(F) DIVISION OF POINTS OF DEBATE. Any member may call for a division of a question which shall be divided if it embraces subjects so distinct that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the house; but a motion to strike out and to insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and to insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and to insert a different proposition.

(G) DECORUM OF MEMBERS. While the speaker is putting the question, no member shall walk across or out of the house; nor when a member is speaking shall any member entertain private discourse or pass between the speaking member and the rostrum.

(H) REMARKS CONFINED. A member shall confine all remarks to the question under debate and avoid personalities. No member shall impugn the motive of any member's vote or argument.

(I) EXCEPTION TO WORDS SPOKEN IN DEBATE. If any member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling the member to order shall repeat the words excepted to and they shall be taken down in writing at the clerk's table. No member shall be held in answer or be subject to the censure of the house for words spoken in debate if any other member has spoken before exception to them shall have been taken.

(J) TRANSGRESSION OF RULES - APPEAL. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the house the speaker shall, or any member may, call the member to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down unless permitted to explain; and the house shall, if appealed to, decide the case without debate; if there be no appeal, the decision of the chair shall prevail.

If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, the member shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, and the case shall require it, the member shall be liable to the censure of the house.

Ending of Debate - Previous Question

Rule 18. The previous question may be ordered by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present on all recognized motions or amendments which are debatable.

The previous question is not debatable and cannot be amended.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Representative _____ demands the previous question. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'Aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'No'."

The results of the motion are as follows: If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative it shall have the effect of cutting off all debate and bringing the house to a direct vote upon the motion or amendment on which it has been ordered: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That when a bill is on final passage or when the motion to postpone indefinitely is pending, one of the sponsors of the bill or the chair of the committee may have the privilege of closing debate after the previous question has been ordered.

If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered, the motion or proposition on which the previous question was ordered shall be put to the house immediately following the approval of the journal on the next working day, thus making the main question privileged over all other business, whether new or unfinished.

Voting

Rule 19. (A) PUTTING OF QUESTION. The speaker shall put the question in the following form: "The question before the house is (state the question). As many as are in favor say 'Aye'; and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "as many as are opposed say 'No'."

(B) ALL MEMBERS TO VOTE. Every member who was in the house when the question was put shall vote unless, for special reasons, excused by the house.

All motions to excuse a member shall be made before the house divides or before the call for yeas and nays is commenced; and any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief and verbal statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

Upon a division and count of the house on the question, only members at their desks within the bar of the house shall be counted.

(C) CHANGE OF VOTE. When the electric roll call machine is used, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the speaker has locked the roll call machine. When an oral roll call is taken, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the result has been announced.

(D) PRIVATE INTEREST. No member shall vote on any question which affects that member privately and particularly. A member who has a private interest in any bill or measure proposed or pending before the legislature shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon. (Art. II ? 30)

(E) INTERRUPTION OF ROLL CALL. Once begun, the roll call may not be interrupted. No member or other person shall visit or remain at the clerk's desk while the yeas and nays are being called.

(F) YEAS AND NAYS - RECORDED VOTES. Upon the final passage of any bill, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and shall be recorded by the electric voting system: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That an oral roll call shall be ordered when demanded by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. (Art. II ? 21)

The speaker may vote last when the yeas and nays are called.

When the vote is by electric voting machine or by oral roll call on any question, it shall be entered upon the journal of the house. A recorded vote may be compelled by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. A request for a recorded vote must be made before the vote is commenced.

(G) TIE VOTE, QUESTION LOSES. In case of an equal division, the question shall be lost.

(H) DIVISION. If the speaker is in doubt, or if division is called for by any member, the house shall divide.

Reconsideration

Rule 20. Notice of a motion for reconsideration on the final passage of bills shall be made on the day the vote to be reconsidered was taken and before the house has voted to transmit the bill to the senate.

Reconsideration of the votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the next working day after such vote was taken: PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution, or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, then reconsideration of votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the same day as the original vote was taken.

A motion to reconsider an amendment may be made at any time the bill remains on second reading.

Any member who voted on the prevailing side may move for reconsideration or give notice thereof.

A motion to reconsider can be decided only once when decided in the negative.

When a motion to reconsider has been carried, its effect shall be to place the original question before the house in the exact position it occupied before it was voted upon.

Call of the House

Rule 21. One-sixth (1/6) of the members present may demand a call of the house at any time before the house has divided or the voting has commenced by yeas and nays.

(A) DOORS TO BE CLOSED. When call of the house has been ordered, the sergeant at arms shall close and lock the doors, and no member shall be allowed to leave the chamber: PROVIDED, That the rules committee shall be allowed to meet, upon request of the speaker, while the house stands at ease: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That the speaker may permit members to use such portions of the fourth floor as may be properly secured.

(B) SERGEANT AT ARMS TO BRING IN THE ABSENTEES. The clerk shall immediately call a roll of the members and note the absentees, whose names shall be read and entered upon the journal in such manner as to show who are excused and who are absent without leave.

The clerk shall furnish the sergeant at arms with a list of those who are absent without leave, and the sergeant at arms shall proceed to bring in such absentees; but arrests of members for absence shall not be made unless ordered by a majority of the members present.

(C) HOUSE UNDER CALL. While the house is under a call, no business shall be transacted except to receive and act on the report of the sergeant at arms; and no other motion shall be in order except a motion to proceed with business under the call of the house, a motion to excuse absentees, or a motion to dispense with the call of the house. The motion to proceed with business under the call of the house and the motion to excuse absent members shall not be adopted unless a majority of the members elected vote in favor thereof. The motion to dispense with the call of the house may be adopted by a majority of the members present.

Appeal from Decision of Chair

Rule 22. The decision of the chair may be appealed from by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once unless by leave of the house. In all cases of appeal, the question shall be: "Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the house?"

Standing Committees

Rule 23. The standing committees of the house and the number of members that shall serve on each committee shall be as follows:

1.	Appropriations .....	31
2.	Capital Budget.....	29

Rule 24. House committees shall operate as follows:

(A) NOTICE OF COMMITTEE MEETING. The chief clerk shall make public the time, place and subjects to be discussed at committee meetings. All public hearings held by committees shall be scheduled at least five (5) days in advance and shall be given adequate publicity: PROVIDED, That when less than eight (8) days remain for action on a bill, the Speaker may authorize a reduction of the five-day notice period when required by the circumstances, including but not limited to the time remaining for action on the bill, the nature of the subject, and the number of prior hearings on the subject.

(B) COMMITTEE QUORUM. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

(C) SESSION MEETINGS. No committee shall sit while the house is in session without special leave of the speaker.

(D) DUTIES OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

(1) Only such bills as are included on the written notice of a committee meeting may be considered at that meeting except upon the vote of a majority of the entire membership of the committee to consider another bill.

(2) A majority recommendation of a committee must be signed by a majority of the entire membership of the committee in a regularly called meeting before a bill, memorial, or resolution may be reported out: PROVIDED, That by motion under the eighth order of business, a majority of the members elected to the house may relieve a committee of a bill and place it on the second reading calendar.

Majority recommendations of a committee can only be "do pass," "do pass as amended," or that "the substitute bill be substituted therefor and that the substitute bill do pass."

(3) Members of the committee not concurring in the majority report may prepare a written minority report containing a recommendation of "do not pass" or "without recommendation," which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto, and submitted with the majority report.

(4) All committee reports shall be spread upon the journal. The journal of the house shall contain an exact copy of all committee reports, together with the names of the members signing such reports.

(5) Every vote to report a bill out of committee shall be taken by the yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against, as well as the names of members absent, shall be recorded on the committee report. Any member may call for a recorded vote, which shall include the names of absent members, on any substantive question before the committee. A copy of all recorded committee votes shall be kept by the chief clerk and shall be available for public inspection.

(6) All bills having a direct appropriation shall be referred to the appropriate fiscal committee before their final passage. For purposes of this subsection, fiscal committee means the appropriations, capital budget, finance, and transportation committees.

(7) No standing committee shall vote by secret written ballot on any issue.

(8) During its consideration of or vote on any bill, resolution, or memorial, the deliberations of any standing committee of the house of representatives shall be open to the public.

(9) A standing committee to which a bill was originally referred shall, prior to voting the bill out of committee, consider whether the bill authorizes rule-making powers or requires the exercise of rule-making powers and, if so, consider:

(a) The nature of the new rule-making powers; and

(b) To which agencies the new rule-making powers would be delegated and which agencies, if any, may have related rule-making powers.

Standing Committees - Expenses - Subpoena Power

Rule 25. Regardless of whether the legislature is in session, members of the house may receive from moneys appropriated for the legislature, reimbursement for necessary travel expenses, and payments in lieu of subsistence and lodging for conducting official business of the house.

The standing committees of the house may have the powers of subpoena, the power to administer oaths, and the power to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses in accordance with the provisions of chapter 44.16 RCW. Before a standing committee of the house may issue any process, the committee chairperson shall submit for approval of the executive rules committee a statement of purpose setting forth the name or names of those subject to process. The process shall not be issued prior to approval by the executive rules committee. The process shall be limited to the named individuals.

Vetoed Bills

Rule 26. Veto messages of the governor shall be read in the house and entered upon the journal. It shall then be in order to proceed to reconsider the bill, refer it, lay it on the table, or postpone its consideration to a day certain.

The merits of the bill may be debated before the vote is taken, but the vote on a vetoed bill cannot be reconsidered.

In case of a bill containing several sections or items, one or more of which has been objected to by the governor, each section or item so objected to shall be voted upon separately by the house. Action by the house upon all vetoed bills shall be endorsed upon the bill and certified by the speaker.

Vetoed bills originating in the house, which have not been passed notwithstanding the veto of the governor, shall remain in the custody of the officers of the house until the close of the term, after which they shall be filed with the secretary of state.

Suspension of Compensation

Rule 27. (1) Any member of the house of representatives convicted and sentenced for any felony punishable by death or by imprisonment in a Washington state penal institution shall, as of the time of sentencing, be denied the legislative salary for future service and be denied per diem, compensation for expenses, office space facilities, and assistance. Any member convicted of a felony and sentenced therefor under any federal law or the law of any other state shall, as of the time of sentencing, be similarly denied such salary, per diem, expenses, facilities, and assistance if either (a) such crime would also constitute a crime punishable under the laws of Washington by death or by imprisonment in a state penal institution, or (b) the conduct resulting in the conviction and sentencing would also constitute a crime punishable under the laws of Washington by death or by imprisonment in a state penal institution.

(2) At any time, the house may vote by a constitutional majority to restore the salary, per diem, expenses, facilities, and assistance denied a member under subsection (1). If the conviction of a member is reversed, then the salary, per diem, and expense amounts denied the member since sentencing shall be forthwith paid, and the member shall thereafter have the rights and privileges of other members.

Smoking

Rule 28. Smoking of cigarettes, pipes, or cigars shall not be permitted at any public meeting of any committee of the house of representatives or within House facilities.

"No smoking" signs shall be posted so as to give notice of this rule.

Liquor

Rule 29. The House of Representatives shall strictly adhere to the liquor laws of the state of Washington, including provisions relating to banquet and special occasion permits. The proper permits must always be obtained before consumption of liquor in any house facility.

Parliamentary Rules

Rule ((29)) 30. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Reed's Parliamentary Rules shall govern all cases in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the house.

Standing Rules Amendment

Rule ((30)) 31. Any standing rule may be rescinded or changed by a majority vote of the members elected: PROVIDED, That the proposed change or changes be submitted at least one day in advance in writing to the members together with notice of the consideration thereof. Any standing rule may be suspended temporarily by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present except as provided in Rule 10.

Rules to Apply for Assembly

Rule ((31)) 32. The permanent house rules adopted at the beginning of the term are to govern all acts of the house during the course of the term unless amended or repealed.

Legislative Mailings

Rule ((32)) 33. The House of Representatives directs the house executive rules committee to adopt procedures and guidelines to ensure that all legislative mailings at public expense are for legitimate legislative purposes.

((Liquor

Rule 33. ~~The House of Representatives shall strictly adhere to the liquor laws of the state of Washington, including provisions relating to banquet and special occasion permits. The proper permits must always be obtained before consumption of liquor in any house facility.~~

WHEREAS, In 1910, Washington State distinguished itself by becoming the first state in the 20th century and the 5th state in the nation to permanently enact women's suffrage; and

WHEREAS, This right is contained in the 5th Amendment to the Washington State Constitution, which was approved by the all male Legislature in 1909 and by the all male voters in 1910; and

WHEREAS, Washington's action inspired and reinvigorated the national suffrage movement, which culminated in the passage of the 19th Amendment to the United States Constitution in 1920, assuring all women in the nation the right to vote; and

WHEREAS, 2010 will mark the 100th anniversary of women's suffrage in Washington State; and

WHEREAS, In commemorating the Washington Women's Suffrage Centennial, Washingtonians will be celebrating the basic inclusive principles of democracy, the long and arduous road to achievement of women's suffrage, and the continually expanding roles of women in public and private life; and

WHEREAS, The Washington Women's History Consortium has been charged by the Legislature with providing leadership for statewide and community celebrations of the centennial of women's suffrage; and

WHEREAS, Public information about the Washington women's suffrage movement and centennial is available today in the Columbia Room of the Legislative Building;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives: Recognize the centrality of women's suffrage to democratic values; express appreciation to those who have prepared public exhibits for the Legislative

Building; and encourage all to visit, enjoy, and learn from these displays and exhibitors; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Washington Women's History Consortium.

Representative Dickerson moved the adoption of the resolution.

The Senate appeared at the Chamber doors and requested admission. The Sergeant at Arms of the House and the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate escorted President of the Senate Brad Owen to the Rostrum. The Senators were invited to sit within the Chamber.

JOINT SESSION

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "It is our privilege to host the Medal of Valor and Medal of Merit ceremonies. We welcome you, President Owen, our colleagues from the Senate and all other guests who are with us today. It is now my pleasure to call upon President of the Senate Brad Owen to preside over the Joint Session."

The President called the Joint Session to order. The Clerk called the roll of House members. The Clerk called the roll of Senate members. A quorum of the Legislature was present.

The President appointed a special committee to escort the State elected officials and Supreme Court Justices to the House Chamber: Representatives Ahern, Linville, McCoy and Walsh, and Senators Fraser, Hobbs, Parlette and Schoesler.

The President appointed a special committee to advise her Excellency, Governor Christine Gregoire the Joint Session was assembled and escort her to the House Chamber: Representatives Green and Ross, and Senators Franklin and Pflug.

The President appointed a special committee to escort the Medal of Valor to the House Chamber: Representatives Ericks and Pearson, and Senators Roach and Stevens.

The President appointed a special committee to escort the Medal of Honor to the House Chamber: Representatives Alexander and Roberts, and Senators Kauffman and McCauliffe.

The State elected officials arrived and were escorted to the Rostrum. The President introduced Secretary of State Sam Reed; Attorney General Rob McKenna; Insurance Commissioner Mike Kreidler; and Commissioner of Public Lands Doug Sutherland.

The Supreme Court Justices arrived and were escorted to the Rostrum. The President introduced Chief Justice Gerry Alexander, Justice Charles W. Johnson; Justice Barbara A. Madsen; Justice Richard B. Sanders; Justice Bobbe Bridge; Justice Susan Owens; Justice Mary Fairhurst; and Justice Jim Johnson. Chief Justice Alexander was escorted to the Rostrum.

Her Excellency Governor Christine Gregoire and Mike Gregoire arrived and were escorted to the Rostrum.

The Medal of Valor honorees arrived and were escorted to the Rostrum. The President introduced Timothy Bourasaw, Rick Bowers, Edward D. Marsette and Alana Schutt.

The Medal of Merit honorees arrived and were escorted to the Rostrum. The President introduced Dr. Bonnie J. Dunbar, Mr. Dale Chihuly, Dr. Linda Horowicz (on behalf of Dr. Linda Buck) and Daniel J. Evans.

The President introduced the Consul General of Azerbaijan, Mr. Elin Sulelymanov, his wife Lala Abdurahimova and Consul Elman Abdullayev. In November 2005, Consul General Suleymanov was appointed as Azerbaijan's first consul general to Los Angeles. Washington falls under his jurisdiction.

The Flags were escorted to the Rostrum by the Washington State Patrol Honor Guard. The President led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. The National Anthem was sung by Representative Maureen Walsh. The prayer was offered by Sergeant Charles LeBlanc, Washington State Patrol.

President Owen: "The purpose of the joint session is to present Medal of Valor and Medal of Merit awards, honoring eight deserving citizens. It is now my pleasure to present Governor Christine Gregoire."

Governor Gregoire: "Thank you, Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Secretary Reed and Chief Justice Alexander, members of our Washington State Legislature, ladies and gentlemen. We gather today to honor several of our fellow Washingtonians who have made great contributions to not only the State of Washington but to our Nation as well.

Our awardees of the Medal of Valor have shown tremendous bravery of moments of grave danger. In a time when many people feel isolated within their communities, when some would feel it was just easier to look the other way, these individuals looked directly into the face of danger. They saw strangers facing great harm and they were willing to put their lives at risk – the ultimate act of selflessness.

Our awardees of the Medal of Merit have made very valuable contributions to our State and to our Nation scientific, cultural and political landscapes. They have pursued careers that not only captured their hearts and their minds, but they have yielded tremendous benefits to our State and to the country. They have been trailblazers in their fields and they have been fine examples of the entrepreneurial spirit that is essential as a part of our State's cultural.

So, Mike and I want to congratulate each of the individuals here. To offer them a heartfelt thank you on behalf of all of the citizens of our State – for their bravery and for their service to others. You have shown us true heroism. You have shown us what real public service is all about. You have made our State very proud. We are proud of you but more importantly everyone in our State – every one of the six and half million people are very proud of you and are very proud to call you a fellow Washingtonian.

I am deeply honored today to present these medals to such deserving Washingtonians. They are true examples of the Washington way – going above and beyond to serve and help our neighbors and our fellow citizens.

Congratulations to each of you."

Secretary of State Sam Reed: "It is indeed an honor and privilege that the Legislature has placed the Medals of Merit and Valor programs into the Office of Secretary of State. I am grateful to all of you attending today, and to the families and friends of the recipients.

The medals are awarded by a committee consisting of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Chief Justice of the Washington State Supreme Court. The Speaker Pro Tempore represented the Speaker and did an outstanding job. I want to thank the four of them because they took very strong personal interest in this and helped make this happen.

Along with choosing the recipients, the committee also chose the design and layout of both medals and the accompanying certificates. Both the Medal of Valor and the Medal of Merit were produced and designed by the Washington State-based Territorial Mint in Auburn using guidelines laid out in the Revised Code of Washington. They are of the highest quality and are a testament to the professionalism and attention to detail of the people who made them.

The Medal of Valor is pure silver and displays the seal of the state of Washington, surrounded by a raised laurel wreath and suspended from a silver bar device inscribed "For Valor". The reverse of the decoration within the raised laurel wreath is inscribed with the recipient's name and the words: "For exceptionally valorous service, given in the act of saving the life of another."

The Medal of Merit is solid bronze displaying the seal of the state of Washington, surrounded by a raised laurel wreath and suspended from a ring attached by a dark green ribbon. The reverse of the decoration within the raised laurel wreath is inscribed with the recipient's name and the words: "For exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding services to the people and state of Washington."

The certificates accompanying the medals were signed by each committee member representing three branches of our government: Executive, Judicial and Legislative. It is my honor as the Keeper of the State Seal to affix the Seal of the State of Washington along with my signature to each of the certificates. Like the medals, each certificate bears the name of the recipient and why they have been awarded this prestigious honor.

I thank all of those who made this auspicious occasion possible. The staff of the Secretary of State's Office, particularly Laurel Juergens and Patrick McDonald, and the Legislative staff, particularly Patty Moore. And a special thanks to all of those who had a hand in making the event a success from the Washington State Patrol and the State Capitol Tours Office.

I especially want to thank and congratulate each recipient being nominated and chosen for this honor.

Finally I thank their family and their friends who traveled to Olympia to be here today for their support and consideration.

Thank you very much."

MEDAL OF VALOR

Mr. President: "The Medal of Valor is awarded to any person who has saved, or attempted to save, the life of another at the risk of serious injury or death to himself or herself."

ALANA SCHUTT

Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick: "On a sunny day in May, Alana Schutt looked out the window of her Lynnwood home and saw three men in trouble on a sinking paddleboat on Martha Lake. She jumped into action before emergency services arrived, launching her family's paddleboat and making her way to the fishermen. One man who couldn't swim was on top of the boat. The other men were in the water. Schutt pulled two men aboard her paddleboat. While encouraging the third man to swim with her, she pushed the boat to shore. The quick action of the 22 year old Schutt is credited with saving the lives of the three men."

The Governor presented Ms. Schutt with the Medal of Valor and certificate.

Alana Schutt: "Thank you. I am honored to receive this medal on behalf of all the other Washingtonians who have saved the lives of others.

Today I want to share with you the story of a man I met at the Snohomish County Chapter of the American Red Cross's "real heroes" breakfast in December. During a routine at work on November 6, 2006, John Hickman of Granite Falls received a call from his wife regarding the rising flood waters near their home. John responded immediately by going home to help out his friends and neighbors. By the time he arrived home, many people were wading through water up to five feet deep trying to get to dry land. John began driving his big red dump truck through the water picking up people who were stranded. On his first trip, he picked up 47 people. As the water continued to rise, John made a second and a third trip. On the third trip, the water had risen above the truck's wheels and had reached the gas tank. The truck stalled completely. At that point a search and rescue team had to pick up John and the others who were stranded. In all John rescued somewhere between seventy and ninety people.

My reason for sharing John's story with you today is that the most important thing to make is the decision to react in a crisis situation. John's decision to take action in his big red truck saved the lives of many. If I hadn't made the decision to help the men whose boat was sinking, a man would have drowned. John and I are just two ordinary people who have made the most important decision.

I want to thank Battalion Chief Gary Kestle, Sheriff Rick Bart, Representative John Lovick and Representative Hans Dunshee for nominating me for this award. I would also like to thank the Medal of Valor committee, Governor Christine Gregoire, Lieutenant Governor Brad Owen, Speaker of the House Frank Chopp, and Supreme Court Chief Justice Gerry Alexander for presenting me with this award. In addition, I would like to thank my parents who raised me to be responsible and sensible, and my family and friends who support me and mean so much to me.

I leave you today with one last thought. When you least expect it, you may be caught in the middle of a crisis situation. I urge you to make the right decision, the decision to take action. People's lives are at stake and every second counts.

Thank you."

TIMOTHY BOURASAW & RICK BOWERS

Chief Justice Alexander: "Timothy Bourasaw ran from his house when he heard the sound of a head-on collision involving a van and a sports utility vehicle on State Route 530 near Arlington. Both vehicles were in flames. Bourasaw and another volunteer arrived at the scene in February before the emergency services did, and pulled one of the drivers from his vehicle and rolling the man in the grass to put out the flames. Bourasaw played a critical role in saving the lives of Tony Scappini and Marchello Galvez.

Rick Bowers was the other Good Samaritan who joined Timothy Bourasaw in aiding the victims of a head-on collision and car fire in February on State Route 530 near Arlington. Bowers was driving on SR 530 and stopped to render aid before fire and emergency services arrived. Bowers helped pull one of the drivers from his vehicle, the driver's hair and clothing burning, and cut a seat belt to free an unconscious passenger from a car that was quickly engulfed in flames seconds later. His quick action is credited with saving the lives of Tony Scappini and Marchello Galvez."

The Governor presented Mr. Bourasaw and Mr. Bowers with the Medal of Valor and certificate.

Mr. Bourasaw: "All I can say is thank you. I'm not much on speeches. It is deeply appreciated and it is quite an honor. Thank you."

Mr. Bowers: "I want to thank you for having me here. I am really honored to be here. I want to accept this medal in honor of the Lord, Jesus Christ my Savior for having me there at that time to save these individuals. Also, there was a half dozen other civilians that helped us out. Once we got the victims out of the vehicle, there was a nurse who helped one of the individuals who was having seizures. There were other people who were comforting everyone.

I want to thank the Washington State Patrol, the Arlington Police Department and the Arlington Fire Department. I want them to be involved also. Thank you."

EDWARD D. MARSETTE

Mr. President: "On March 15, the first day of his spring break from the University of Washington, Edward D. Marsette was awakened at 1 a.m. by the sound of a car crash outside his home on the Muckleshoot reservation near Auburn. Wearing only his night clothes, Marsette rushed down an embankment to the automobile, which had flipped over, smashed into a utility pole and burst into flames. He pulled four of the six people in the vehicle to safety. Marsette ignored his own burn injuries in the effort to save the 18-year-old driver and three 15-year-old passengers. When medical personnel arrived on the scene, Marsette asked them to treat the crash victims before his own burn wounds. Although Marsette could not save two of the victims in the car, the lives of the four that Marsette pulled to safety are credited to his quick thinking and bravery."

The Governor presented Mr. Marsette with the Medal of Valor and certificate.

Edward Marsette: "Thank you very much on behalf of my family and all my relatives that stand beside us. This has been a very trying year. For me to get over something like this has been a tough chore but I'm dealing with it. And on behalf of all these great honors, it is really astounding that people go out of their way and do things like this and receive awards and get recognition. There are other people out there like our service men. I would really like to recognize those men and women that are overseas and have to put their lives on the line each and every day. Just doing one thing like this, it's just one day that I've done, and they have to count many days over there. I have had several relatives who have spent years in the service – there are not very happy stories when they come back.

On behalf of this great honor, I would like to thank everyone of you once again, the House and Senate and the Governor Gregoire. I would also like to thank Senator Pam Roach, Representative Dan Roach and Peter B. Lewis for giving me this nomination and serving this Medal of Valor.

Thank you for much folks."

Mr. President: "Thank you all for your courage and for your example. We are proud to honor you today."

MEDAL OF MERIT

Mr. President: "The Medal of Merit is to honor those who have been distinguished by exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding service to the people and State of Washington."

DR. LINDA B. BUCK

Mr. President: "Nobel Prize Laureate and Seattle native, Dr. Linda Buck began her love for the sciences at the University of Washington, studying psychology. She postponed her graduation in the field, however, to study immunology, and graduated in 1975 with degrees in both psychology and immunology.

Dr. Buck has been studying the olfactory system – the neural system that relays signals to the brain, triggering the brain to identify, discriminate between thousands of odors, perceive and remember the smell. Buck's work earned her the 2004 Nobel Prize in Medicine. Her work is foundational to the understanding of relaying sensory signals from the receptor to the central nervous system.

After 11 years teaching at Harvard Medical School, Dr. Buck joined the research team at Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle in 2002. She is also an affiliate professor at the University of Washington and an associate at the Neurosciences Research Program at the Neurosciences Institute.

In addition to her Nobel Prize, Buck has also been commended by more than twenty-one professional organizations, including the National Academy of Sciences, Washington University School of Medicine, the University of Washington, Johns Hopkins University, and the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center."

The Governor presented Dr. Horowicz, on behalf of Dr. Buck, with the Medal of Merit and certificate.

Dr. Linda Horowicz (on behalf of Dr. Linda Buck): "It is my honor to be here today representing Dr. Linda Buck. I've had the pleasure to conduct research with her for a number of years. As you know, her travel schedule prevents her from accepting this personally and on her behalf I would like to thank you for the State's Medal of Merit.

Dr. Buck has prepared a few words and I would like to now share them with all of you.

Good morning. First of all, I want to apologize for being unable to be with you today. I thank my colleague Dr. Lisa Horowicz for accepting this honor on my behalf and I thank all of you for extending this remarkable award to me. I am humbled to be recognized by the State of Washington and to stand in the company of Dale Chihuly, Dan Evans and Bonnie Dunbar.

In 2002, I returned to my home state of Washington from Harvard to conduct my research at Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center. I love doing science and feel very fortunate to be able to conduct my research at the Hutchinson Center in Washington State - both entities that understand the importance of biomedical research and that work to support and promote its future. Through my research I was able to identify a family of genes that are central to the olfactory system – a complex network that governs our sense of smell. The genes are blueprints for a family of odor receptor proteins in the nose. These proteins work in different combinations so that the brain can identify a nearly infinite array of odors much like the letters of the alphabet are combined to form different words.

Each odor sensing cell in the nose possesses only one type of odor receptor and each receptor can detect a limited number of odor substances. Using this knowledge, we have determined how the identities of different odors are perceived by the brain to allow us to sense distinct odors. We have been able to uncover sensory maps in parts of the brain known as the olfactory bulb and the olfactory cortex that are virtually identical in all individuals; providing an explanation for similarities and odor perception in different individuals. This work has also shed light on the way chemicals with similar structures have different smells and why mixing chemicals together can create novel odor perceptions.

The Hutchinson Center is a very unusual place to conduct scientific research. There is a desire and a devotion to doing excellent science and a commitment to understanding basic biology. It is from the fundamental mechanisms of how life works that we make the greatest advances in treating disease. However, we can't work in isolation. All of us at the Hutchinson Center benefit from the fact that our State recognizes the importance of biomedical research and undertakes efforts to promote and strengthen our endeavors.

Thank you again for the State's Medal of Merit. I appreciate the personal recognition but also that in recognizing me, that other scientists know that Washington values biomedical research and the contributions it makes to our world."

DALE CHIHULY

Speaker Pro Tempore: "Lauded for revolutionizing the studio glass movement in the 1970s, Dale Chihuly's glass art is internationally renowned. His artistic inspiration continues to come from the Pacific Northwest, notably the natural surroundings of his hometown, Tacoma, Washington.

A student of interior and architectural design at the University of Washington, Chihuly left Washington to pursue graduate study at the University of Wisconsin's hot glass program, the first of its kind in the United States. He went on to study in the ceramics program at the Rhode Island School of Design where he later established its well-known glass art program. Returning to his roots in 1983, Chihuly came back to the Northwest and began the Pilchuck Glass School in Stanwood, Washington, now the premier international school for glass artists.

In 1984, he was awarded the Visual Arts Award from the American Council for the Arts and received the first three Governor Arts Awards. Three years later, in 1987, Chihuly finished Puget Sound forms for the Seattle Aquarium, and donated a permanent exhibit collection at the Tacoma Art Museum in memory of his father and brother. Because Chihuly's inspiration comes from the Northwest, he is committed to promoting the arts in this area.

In 1993, the University of Washington awarded him the institution's most prestigious honor, Alumnus Summa Laude Dignatus. That same year, Chihuly partnered with the Tacoma Public School District to create an arts program for at-risk youths, a program he still continues to support and mentor today."

The Governor presented Mr. Chihuly with the Medal of Merit and certificate.

Dale Chihuly: "Thank you for this honor."

DR. BONNIE DUNBAR

Chief Justice Alexander: "A Washington native and graduate of the University of Washington, astronaut Dr. Bonnie Dunbar pursued a career in engineering and science during a time when women in the field were few and far between. Dunbar has worked for over 30 years in the aerospace industry. During her undergraduate studies at the University of Washington, Dr. Dunbar helped develop ceramic tiles used to coat space shuttles, equipping the shuttle for re-entry into the atmosphere. From there, her illustrious career in the aerospace industry flourished.

Dr. Dunbar has flown in five space flights, logging more than 50 days in space. She also has thirty years as a licensed private pilot, flying more than 1,000 hours in NASA's T-38 jets. In addition to her flight time, Dr. Dunbar has served as an adjunct professor at the University of Houston. She is also an accomplished and inspirational public speaker.

Currently, Dr. Dunbar is the president and CEO of the Museum of Flight in Seattle, where she is developing youth education programs to inspire youth to enter the science industry. Dunbar uses her own experience and determination as an example for youth. Prior to her appointment at the Museum of Flight in 2005, Dunbar served as the Assistant Director for University Research and Affairs at the Johnson Space center.

Dunbar has been commended by several professional agencies including NASA, the Museum of Flight, the University of Washington, American Ceramic Society, and the National Academy of Engineers."

The Governor presented Dr. Dunbar with the Medal of Merit and certificate.

Dr. Bonnie J. Dunbar: "I am deeply honored and deeply humbled by this recognition. I am standing up here with an invisible team around me starting from a grandfather who immigrated from Scotland and believed anything was attainable by coming to this country. Continuing with two parents who after World War II homesteaded in Washington State in the Yakima Valley and impressed upon me as the oldest of four kids that anything was attainable if you are willing to work for it and study hard. I'm grateful to my first principal, Mr. Stan Snow, for Mr. Eidd, for Sally Sarise, Mr. Jacobsen, my trig teacher, for Mr. Anderson, physics and chemistry teacher, for Doc Muller, my first professor at the University of Washington and a host of other people who enabled this to happen.

I've had a wonderful career in aerospace and research and I'm delighted to be back in the State of Washington and be back home for the next chapter. That chapter is something else my parents instilled in me – at some point in your life it is important to give back. And so at the Museum of Flight we are investing in our youth through our education programs and hopefully will produce a few more engineers and scientists, and promote our Washington Aerospace Scholars Program across the State.

For this, I thank you, Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker, legislators and the wonderful people who have been awarded the Medal of Valor and my colleagues here for the Medal of Merit. Thank you very much."

DANIEL J. EVANS

Mr. President: "A graduate of University of Washington, former Governor and U.S. Senator Daniel J. Evans is a long-time public servant. Evans is recognized as one of the most distinguished leaders in the history of Washington State, and a study at the University of Michigan named him one of the ten most outstanding governors of the 20th century.

His public leadership began as a State Representative in 1956, and after serving eight years in the State House of Representatives, Evans was elected governor in 1964. The youngest governor in the history of Washington State, Evans focused on higher education. His leadership led to the creation of the community college system and The Evergreen State College.

Evans also charted new waters during a special session on environmental issues, when he led Washington State to create the nation's first Department of Ecology. Along with this, Evans broke new legislative frontiers, passing the Washington State Environmental Policy Act in 1971, the first framework enabling state government to address how the environment is impacted by decision making.

Serving three terms as governor, Evans declined to run for a fourth term and became President of the Evergreen State College in 1977, where he provided critical leadership for the institution's "alternative curriculum."

Evans was appointed to the U.S. Senate when Henry "Scoop" Jackson died in 1983, and won a special election to serve the remainder of Senator Jackson's term. Evans retired from politics in 1989, and returned to the Northwest.

Following Evans' distinguished political career, he created his own consulting firm, Daniel J. Evans Associates. He served from 1993 to 2005 on the University of Washington's Board of Regents, acting as Vice-President (1995-1996) and President (1996-1997).

Evans has been active on several corporate and civic boards, including COSTCO, Initiative for Global Development and the Nature Conservancy."

The Governor presented the Honorable Daniel J. Evans with the Medal of Merit and certificate.

Daniel J. Evans: "What an honor it is to be on this platform with the winners of the Medal of Valor and my colleagues, the Medal of Merit. I might note in passing that all four of the Medal of Merit winners are University of Washington Huskies.

First let me introduce my family, the former First Lady of the State of Washington, my first lady always, my wife, Nancy Evans. My brother Roger Evans, who has been a bulwork of strength during my campaigns and my time in office. My son, Dan who was four and a half when we moved into the Mansion and my three grandchildren, Eloise, Isobelle and Jackson.

Fifty years ago this month, I stood in this Chamber way back in that corner, and took the oath of office for my first term as a member of this House of Representatives. It was a great thrill and my time here was interesting, provocative and rewarding. I remember with greater clarity many of the things that happened in this Chamber that in my other responsibilities in politics. It was an interesting time. Half a dozen of my colleagues were born before Washington reached statehood. It was that long ago. Spittoons still stood by each of the desks in this Chamber and some of them were still used. We had no staff, our office was our desk here in the Chambers. Pay was $100 a month. We met every other year. And the high tech method of communications – the urgent method – from citizen to their legislator was by telegram. Through that system, a modern Washington was built.

There were great times. I remember some of the incidents with great clarity particularly one time when we then in the minority were harassing the majority – that's what the minority is supposed to do – and the majority was trying to carry on a bill for the Governor, they weren't very happy about pushing it but were inclined to do it. We were debating this bill with great energy. Finally Speaker O'Brien slammed his gavel down and said "It is time we kept the debate on this bill on a high plain." I jumped up from that seat right down there where the Gentleman from the 20th District sits now and said "Mr. Speaker, how can we conduct the bill on such a high plain when it is such a low bill?" With that John O'Brien slammed his gavel down, the head came off the gavel and spun clear down into the audience almost at my feet. As you might guess, that broke the tension and as he walked off the podium, there was that wry little smile on his face. He showed who was still boss.

It is interesting that that legislature meeting every other year with little in the way of support and staff, really did build modern Washington. The Washington we all enjoy today. I guess the only real message of importance I want to leave with all of you, my former colleagues, is that you too will build not just a Washington for today, the budget you pass and the bills you pass, won't affect us just this year but you are building the Washington that we will enjoy a generation for now. I hope you keep that in mind because you have a great responsibility not just for us and our generation but for our children's and certainly for my own grandchildren and your grandchildren's generation.

It is a great privilege for me to stand in front of you one more time. I was tempted originally to give another keynote state of the state address but I decided to leave that to Governor Gregoire.

Thank you."

Mr. President: "The State of Washington is truly blessed by its people and exceptionally so by the ones we have had an opportunity to recognize here today. We truly appreciate what you have done for the State of Washington.

It is my pleasure to invite everyone to the state reception room after session to greet the honorees and their guests."

The Sergeant at Arms escorted the Medal of Valor and Medal of Honor recipients from the Chambers.

The Sergeant at Arms escorted the Governor and Mr. Gregoire from the Chamber.

The Sergeant at Arms escorted the State elected officials from the Chamber.

The Sergeant at Arms escorted Chief Justice Gerry Alexander and the Supreme Court Justices from the Chamber.

MOTION

On motion of Representative Kessler, the joint session was dissolved.

President Owen returned the gavel to the Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding). The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) thanked the President and asked the Sergeant at Arms to escort the President and members of the Senate from the Chambers.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the eleventh order of business.

There being no objection, the House adjourned until 9:55 a.m., January 25, 2007, the 18th Day of the Regular Session.

FRANK CHOPP, Speaker

RICHARD NAFZIGER, Chief Clerk

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO.2007-4610, by Representatives Rodne, Kelley, Campbell, Haler, Skinner, Conway, Flannigan, Kenney, Moeller, Takko, Hunter, Eddy, Green, Sells, Wallace, Blake, Walsh, Appleton, McCoy, Springer, Hailey, Morrell, Jarrett, Rolfes, Clibborn, Seaquist, Orcutt, Hunt, Hankins, Kretz, Roberts, Williams, Warnick, Roach, Newhouse, Linville and Hudgins

WHEREAS, Nearly eighty six hundred men and women of the Washington National Guard continue to serve the country as guardians of American interests at home and abroad; and

WHEREAS, These recognized leaders in state, regional, and national preparedness, who reside in every legislative district throughout Washington, volunteer their time and personal efforts to serve the needs of the people of Washington state; and

WHEREAS, The Guard answered the state's call numerous times in response to firefighting and flood support efforts and to protect lives in both civil and natural emergencies and disasters; and

WHEREAS, The Washington Army and Air National Guard provided critical mission support in both personnel and equipment to Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom in Iraq and Afghanistan, respectively, and Operation Noble Eagle here at home; and

WHEREAS, The Washington Army and Air National Guard answered the call in support of hurricane relief efforts on the Gulf Coast resulting from Hurricanes Katrina, Rita, and Wilma; and

WHEREAS, The Guard continues to train and prepare for both natural disasters and threats to our national security; and

WHEREAS, The Guard continues to promote positive lifestyles and activities for Washington's youth through involvement in and support of highly effective drug prevention programs with school aged children and community based organizations; and

WHEREAS, The Guard continues to actively participate in the state's counter drug efforts by providing soldiers, airmen, and specialized equipment to over thirty five local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies; and

WHEREAS, The Guard adds value to communities by opening its readiness centers for public use, food banks, and other community and youth activities. The Guard continues to build upon these readiness centers and armories throughout the state to enhance education, add to quality of life, and increase economic vitality;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives express its thanks and appreciation to the devoted families and dedicated employers of our Washington National Guard soldiers and airmen for their support, without whom the Guard's missions could not be successful; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives recognize the value and dedication of a strong Washington National Guard to the viability, economy, safety, security, and well being of this state, both through the outstanding performance of its state emergency and disaster relief mission, and through the continued benefit to local communities by the presence of productively employed, drug free, well equipped, and trained Guard units and the readiness centers and armories that house them; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to The Adjutant General of the Washington National Guard, the Governor of the State of Washington, the Secretaries of the United States Army and Air Force, and the President of the United States.

Representative Rodne moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representative Rodne and Kelley spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4610 was adopted.

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) recognized Major General Timothy Lowenberg. Also recognized at the Rostrum was Mike Gregoire. Members of the National Guard in the Galleries were also recognized.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4612, by Representatives DeBolt and Roach

WHEREAS, Karen Bolin was born as Karen Frances in Barberton, Ohio, on July 24, 1953; and

WHEREAS, Karen loved her family very much, marrying John Bolin in 1974 and possessing a close marriage highlighted by mutual devotion, fun, and adventure, raising two wonderful children, Ehren and Elaine, enjoying one adorable grandson, Colin, and remaining very close to her sister, Jane Chaney; and

WHEREAS, Karen Bolin was a 27-year resident of Auburn and worked as a bookseller at the Barnes & Noble bookstore in Federal Way; and

WHEREAS, Karen enjoyed gardening and especially motorcycle riding, an activity she began with her husband John in the late 1980s; and

WHEREAS, Her interest in motorcycle riding led Karen to become involved as one of the original members of the Washington Road Riders Association, a group that now has more than 500 members; and

WHEREAS, Karen distinguished herself in the Washington State Legislature as an official and lobbyist for the Washington Road Riders Association, advocating for issues and causes benefitting motorcycling, as well as helping to improve several bills affecting motorcyclists; and

WHEREAS, Karen Bolin helped broaden the influence of motorcyclists by using her very bright mind, political savvy, and astute observations, and showing motorcyclists how to work constructively with legislators and other officials; and

WHEREAS, Karen's dynamic and friendly personality, excellent sense of humor, and loyalty to principles earned her many friends and admirers in Olympia and throughout the motorcycling community in Washington and other states; and

WHEREAS, Although Karen Bolin lost her battle to cancer on October 30, 2006, she fought her battle to the end with courage, strength, and inspiration;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives of the State of Washington remember and honor the life and work of Karen Bolin; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to Karen's husband, John Bolin, and her two children, Ehren Bolin and Elaine Bolin-Parsons.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4612 was adopted.

RESOLUTIONS

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4617, by Representative Santos

WHEREAS, Mr. Floyd Standifer is a true father of jazz and has been a performer and contributor to this true American art form for 60 years; and

WHEREAS, He has been a prominent and renowned jazz musician since leaving his studies in physics at the University of Washington in 1946 to further his studies in music, and became one of the favorite and most respected jazz musicians in the Pacific Northwest; and

WHEREAS, He mastered several instruments, including trumpet, flugelhorn, and saxophone, and the vocalization of bebop and jazz favorites and is well known as a true father of jazz; his creative expressions were a testimony to his values for peace and tranquility; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Standifer has kept jazz alive in the Pacific Northwest region through his 20-year stint at the New Orleans Jazz Club in Pioneer Square, an area where many musicians including Quincy Jones, Ray Charles, and Jimi Hendrix performed in their beginning years as musicians; and

WHEREAS, Along with performing jazz, he taught at Cornish College of the Arts, the University of Washington, Olympic College in Bremerton, and the Northwest School; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Standifer has given his talents freely to perform many benefits to enrich the lives of those less fortunate including the Have a Heart Help A Child Benefit for First Place, a school for homeless children, and has been a mentor to young and emerging musicians; and

WHEREAS, Floyd Standifer was born in North Carolina, raised in Portland and Gresham, Oregon and moved to Seattle and attended the University of Washington as a physics student; and

WHEREAS, In his passing, the state of Washington has lost a great legend and a respected resident of our state;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives of the State of Washington, on behalf of the residents of the state of Washington, honor Floyd Standifer's life as a jazz musician, educator, father, and friend; he will be missed; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the family and friends of Floyd Standifer.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4617 was adopted.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4618, by Representatives Jarrett and Clibborn

WHEREAS, As the preeminent intelligence and paramilitary arm of the Central Intelligence Agency and the people of the United States of America, whenever there was a crisis or an emergency in Asia, Civil Air Transport and Air America were ready to immediately respond; and

WHEREAS, Tracing the organizations' roots to the Cold War, Civil Air Transport and Air America personnel served alongside allied intelligence agents and military personnel in the Far East, often in dangerous combat; and

WHEREAS, For twenty-five years, from 1950 to 1975, Civil Air Transport and Air America provided the United States government with a unique intelligence and paramilitary aerial capability that helped win the Cold War; and

WHEREAS, Missions included air dropping thousands of tons of food, evacuating civilians, rescuing downed United States aircrews, and emergency medical evacuations; and

WHEREAS, Civil Air Transport and Air America personnel flew with skill and courage in supplying the anticommunist forces in Southeast Asia. They were the first Americans in China and Korea and, after the United States military had withdrawn from Vietnam, Air America flight crews risked their lives to evacuate the last Americans; and

WHEREAS, The men and women of Civil Air Transport and Air America, and their families, willingly made sacrifices during times of conflict, war, and evacuations, for the protection of liberty and freedom; and

WHEREAS, More than two hundred forty Civil Air Transport and Air America personnel gave their lives in Asia; and

WHEREAS, The men and women of Civil Air Transport and Air America responded without reservation, serving with distinction and honor, truly an affirmation of the recognition they so richly merit for their faithful and successful service, and for the well-placed trust of their country in the preparedness and willingness of these heroic personnel;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives recognize the consistent readiness, bravery, and faithful service of Civil Air Transport and Air America personnel and families; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the members of Civil Air Transport and Air America.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4611, by Representatives DeBolt, Alexander, Clibborn and Conway

WHEREAS, There are over 210 local Chambers of Commerce in the state of Washington representing approximately 60,000 small businesses and employing over 2,900,000 citizens; and

WHEREAS, Washington State Chambers of Commerce raise over 30,000,000 dollars annually for local community enrichment projects, involving more than 15,000 volunteers who generously give their time and talent; and

WHEREAS, Washington State Chambers of Commerce manage more than 3,000,000 visitor and relocation inquiries each year, and at the same time serve over 40,000 businesses that seek information about expanding their companies in our state; and

WHEREAS, Chambers of Commerce across Washington state have served their local communities with distinction, dedication, and dignity, enhancing the state's economy and improving the quality of life for its citizens;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives of the State of Washington officially recognize the invaluable work that local Chambers of Commerce provide to both the economy and citizens of this state; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C.

Representative DeBolt moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representatives DeBolt and Clibborn spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4611 was adopted.

Mark Frydrychowski, Session Legislative Assistant to Senator Swecker performed a selection of classic guitar music.

JOINT SESSION

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) called the House to order.

The Sergeant at Arms announced that the Senate had arrived. The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) requested that the Sergeant at Arms of the House and the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate escort President Pro Tempore Rosa Franklin, Majority Caucus Chair Harriet Spanel, Vice President Pro Tempore Paull Shin and Minority Floor Leader

Mark Schoesler to seats on the Rostrum. The Senators were invited to seats within the Chamber.

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) called upon President Pro Tempore Franklin to preside over the Joint Session.

President Pro Tempore Franklin called the Joint Session to order. The Clerk called the roll of the House and Senate and a quorum was present.

President Pro Tempore Franklin introduced the State elected officials: Secretary of State Sam Reed and State Treasurer Mike Murphy.

The Clerk called the roll of the former members who were in attendance: Rick Bender, Bill Brumsickle, Don Carlson, Barbara Cothorn, Richard King, Bill Kiskaddon, R.H. "Bob" Lewis, former Secretary of State Ralph Munro, Gary Nelson, Cathy Pearsall-Stipeck, Paul Sanders, Rollie Schmitt, Gary Strannigan, Art Wang, William E. "Bill" Young and Hal Zimmerman.

The Flags were escorted to the Rostrum by the Olympia Marine Corps League Color Guard. President Pro Tempore Franklin led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance.

President Pro Tempore Franklin announced the purpose of the joint session was to conduct memorial services in memory of departed former members of the Legislature. On behalf of the Senate and the House of Representatives, President Pro Tempore Franklin extend a welcome to all the family members who were present. President Pro Tempore Franklin turned the gavel over to Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick to conduct the service.

Father Benedict Auer, St. Martin's University gave the Invocation: "The other morning, Mount Rainier had a shadow against the clouds in the sky, which is unique and happens only on certain rare mornings. The ability to see this shadow is even rarer because the shadow is often covered by gray cloudiness, and you miss it. But this year, it was visible in a pink and salmon colored sky. Today we invoke the Creator of the beauty of this state and our country as we memorialize those individuals who have served our State so well.

Creator of all that is seen and unseen, we come together to remember, for as Joseph Campbell wrote, "To live in the hearts we leave behind is not to die." We know we carry with us all those who shaped our lives either directly or indirectly. We are all on a quest or search for truth, while some of us recognize this better than others. This morning, we honor those who saw this pilgrimage clearer than any of us, and committed themselves to changing and caring for our state in all its needs.

Our State stands as a monument to those who have represented us and dedicated themselves to our service. Together as community we uplift and care for each other. In some people this service is greater than others. The British poet, Christina Rossetti, reminded us in the nineteenth century: "Remember me when I am gone away.

Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold my hand.
Nor I half turn to go yet turning stay."

This day we remember. We recall. We see with our ears and hear with our hearts. We see through a glass darkly, but we recognize their departure and mourn their leaving, but as the author of The Little Prince, Antoine de Saint-Exupery wrote, "He or she who has gone, so we cherish their memory. They abide in us, more potent, nay, more present than the living person."

It is with deep gratitude that we remember and honor departed members of this Legislature who have made their transition, passing from this earthly life. We grieve, but as Shakespeare wrote in Macbeth: "Give sorrow words; the grief that does not speak whispers the fraught hearts and bids it break." At this time, we give sorrow words. We are thankful for each of these persons, their dedication speaks to everyone. Their example of leadership and commitment spurs us on to imitate their examples.

A native American explanation captures our purpose today:

"You shall ask
What good are dead leaves
And I will tell you
They nourish the sore earth.
You shall ask
What reason is there for winter
And I will tell you
To bring about new leaves.

You shall ask
Why are the leaves so green
And I will tell you
Because they are rich with life.
You shall ask
Why must summer end
And I will tell you
So that the leaves will die."

The cycle of life is a gift from you, O Great Creator of all things.

Hebrew Scriptures tells us:

"For everything there is a season
A time to be born and a time to die;
A time to plant and a time to pluck what is planted;
A time to break down and a time to build up;
A time to weep and a time to laugh;
A time to mourn and a time to dance;
For everything there is a season,
And a time for every matter under heaven."

Today we remember and thank the Creator of all those sent to us who served and cared for us. We offer gratitude for the uniqueness of all who you created, O Divine Creator, and knowing our lives will never be the same because of these people. As the Medieval Mystic, Meister Eckhart wrote: "The greatest prayer you can say is thank you."

Thank you and Amen."

The Olympia High School Concert Choir under the direction of Dan Schwartz sang "Song of Triumph."

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "We are assembled today to pay tribute to the lives and services of the distinguished former members of the Washington State Senate and House of Representatives who have passed from among us. The people of our State are grateful for their service. The Sixtieth Legislature of the State of Washington conveys its respects to those deceased legislators.

They once sat in the hallowed chambers of the House and Senate; answered roll calls on sometimes critical perplexing bills, attended committee meetings, and above all else, served to the best of their abilities to make our State a better and more enjoyable place to live. While their journey in this life is completed, their achievements, records and valued services have been recorded in the journals of the Senate and House, and are now and forevermore a permanent part of the history of the State of Washington.

We express our sympathies to the bereaved families and their friends and also share with them on this memorable occasion the fond and happy memories of these legislators, who served well beyond their call of duty and responsibilities and truly loved this great State. They have indeed left a legacy of dedicated service that will remain forever etched in our hearts, our memories and our Legislative records."

Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick and President Pro Tempore Franklin called the roll of the deceased former members of the Senate and House of Representatives assisted by Candlelight pages, Brittany Warner and Aiden Borer.

Rabbi Dan Bridge, Rabbi Emeritus, Hillel Foundation for Jewish Life, University of Washington gave the Memorial Prayer: "In speaking of people of greatness, Sir Isaac Newton quoted Bernard of Chartres claiming that we stand on the shoulders of giants. Today we call out the names and we light these candles, the names of Washington State legislators to remind ourselves that we are here only because we are able to stand on their shoulders. Today we are in this hall of great promise to remember first, to remember the emptiness, the sadness left in the spaces they occupied in our lives, and in the life of this great State. And secondly we stand here to remember their legacies. Rabbi Bernard Raskas describes the impact of a person's life. "What is this immortality in which I believe. I believe that a person lives in his or her family. I believe in the immortality of friends and helpfulness. And I believe that there is a form of immortality in the institutions we build and the causes we espouse."

And thirdly, we light these candles as a memory but also so that we can be inspired – we the people who stand on the shoulders of these legislators – those who came before us. They have certainly lifted us up. I pray we will remember to be inspired by their lives. And that we will be moved – moved enough to act as their hands in a world to which they no longer belong – a world that needs so much fixing.

A prayer the Jewish Reform Movement reads "May the nobility in lives and the high ideals they cherish endure in our thoughts and live on in our deeds. "May we make the memories a blessing."

The Olympia High School Chamber Choir, directed by Dan Schwartz sang "Set me as a Seal".

The Olympia Marine Corps League Detachment Color Guard presented Flag. Sergeant Michelle Wheeler, 133rd Army National Guard Band played "Taps".

Pastor Phil Rue, Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, Olympia gave the closing prayer: "Oh mighty and most gracious God, it is in Your heart to love and to seek the wholeness of all of the creation. We give You thanks for those whom You have worked in and through, and who have reflected that grace and whom we honor this day.

We are grateful for their contributions. We are grateful for their legacy. As You have called us to love justice, to love kindness and to walk humbly before You, we thank You for that reflection, and what they have given to us. We ask and we pray that Your spirit would be infused within us. Look over us that we might know Your justice, that we might act with compassion and care, that we might know the wisdom of walking humbly before You and each other. Continue to place within the leaders of this great State the conviction of those things that are dear and precious, and the wisdom to know our fallibilities. And the ability to work together.

Let your blessing be upon those who have loved those we honor this day. Let your blessing be here in this place where decisions are made, where there is service and concern for the people who are represented. Help us always to remember the calling that is ours as we continue to serve in this place. Grant us your grace to love, to serve, to care.

We pray this in your great name. Amen."

"Amazing Grace" was played on the bagpipes by Lieutenant Keith Huntley of the Washington State Patrol.

Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick returned the gavel to President Pro Tempore Franklin who thanked the members of the Memorial Committee and everyone who participated in the day's ceremony.

On motion of Representative Kessler, the Joint Session was dissolved. President Pro Tempore Franklin turned the gavel over to Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick who asked the Sergeant at Arms of the House and Senate to escort President Pro Tempore Franklin, Majority Caucus Chair Harriet Spanel, Vice President Pro Tempore Paull Shin and Minority Floor Leader Mark Schoesler from the Rostrum and the senators from the Chamber.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the eleventh order of business.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4616, by Representatives Blake, Rodne, Haigh, Hunt, Kessler, Takko, Van De Wege, Walsh, Lantz, Quall, Newhouse and Anderson

WHEREAS, The coastal community of Tokeland and the entire state of Washington, in July of 2006, lost an extraordinary treasure with the passing of Bob McCausland, an artist and commentator of great and deserved renown; and

WHEREAS, Bob and Ruth McCausland had only recently said farewell to their beloved northwestern Pacific County neighborhoods, moving to Olympia to plant new roots near one of their two sons; and

WHEREAS, Mr. McCausland's endearing and enduring Seattle Post-Intelligencer newspaper character, "Hairbreadth Husky," from 1960 to 1982 hued the victories and rued the defeats of the University of Washington football team; and

WHEREAS, A true "Renaissance Couple," the McCauslands later graced coastal Washington with their artistic flair, historical insight, ornithological acumen, and dedicated community service; and

WHEREAS, The McCauslands were honored by their fellow Tokelanders in 1999 with Citizens of the Year recognition, and they were feted by the Aberdeen Museum of History in 2004 with Historians of the Year distinction; and

WHEREAS, The Westport Maritime Museum lecture hall is very appropriately named in their honor; and

WHEREAS, Bob McCausland, who had been an artist at the Seattle Post-Intelligencer for more than 30 years, later painted, whittled, cut stained glass, and drew a weekly cartoon for The Daily World newspaper; and

WHEREAS, His murals celebrate and ennoble communities up and down the coast, he carved plaques for ships along Westport's harbor, and he carved the figurehead of Lady Washington for the state's centennial ship; and

WHEREAS, Ruth McCausland authored a comprehensive and respected regional history volume called Washington's Westport, and she has written a South Beach Bulletin newspaper column sharing her considerable knowledge of birds; and

WHEREAS, Her diverse contributions to community life and lore have also included articles for the Pacific County Historical Society's quarterly journal; and

WHEREAS, Bob McCausland and Ruth Bjornstad met in an art class in 1937, and they were married four years later; and

WHEREAS, In 1971, the McCauslands bought property on land overlooking Willapa Bay and launched a seven-year home-building project for their retirement haven; and

WHEREAS, They went on to become charter members of the Westport-South Beach Historical Society; and

WHEREAS, According to a January 16, 2001, article in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer newspaper, the McCauslands "show what being partners--and being part of a community--are all about";

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives of the State of Washington honor the wonderful life of Bob McCausland, and celebrate the team of Bob and Ruth McCausland for their tireless and genuine commitment to making Washington a better place for all Washingtonians; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to Ruth McCausland, to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer newspaper, to The Daily World newspaper, to the South Beach Bulletin newspaper, the Pacific County Historical Society, and to the Westport-South Beach Historical Society.

Representative Blake moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representative Blake spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4616 was adopted.

Creating a plan to increase the homeownership rate to seventy-five percent by 2020.

The bill was read the second time.

With the consent of the House, amendments (010), (011) and (012) were withdrawn.

Representative Armstrong moved the adoption of amendment (007):

On page 1, line 9, after "state." insert "The plan must address, among other issues, how (a) reducing impact fees, (b) allowing single-family residential development outside urban growth areas, and (c) eliminating the state sales tax on construction labor and services in counties where housing is not affordable, may contribute to an increase in the state homeownership rate."

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (007) to House Bill No. 1116.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): House Bill No. 1116 is titled an act relating to creating a plan to increase the homeownership rate to seventy-five percent by 2020.

The bill contains only one section, directing the Housing Finance Commission to work with designated stakeholders to create a strategic plan to increase the homeownership rate to seventy-five percent by 2020. The only specification for the content of the plan is that it address increasing homeownership on a fair basis for all geographic regions of the state. The plan is to be presented to the Legislature by December 31, 2007.

Amendment (007) requires the plan to evaluate whether making changes to impact fees, the growth management act, and the imposition of the sales tax on home construction, would contribute to an increase in the state homeownership act.

The amendment is clearly within the scope of the title as it relates to development of a plan to increase the homeownership rate. The amendment's requirement that specific issues be considered in developing the plan supplements the directives in the underlying bill but does not expand the bill's purpose of requiring development of the plan.

The Speaker therefore finds that the amendment is within the scope and object of the underlying bill, and that the point of order is not well taken."

Representative Armstrong spoke in favor of the adoption of the amendment.

Representative Miloscia spoke against the adoption of the amendment.

The amendment was not adopted.

Representative Schindler moved the adoption of amendment (008):

On page 1, after line 16, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 82.02 RCW to read as follows:

(1) As used in this chapter, "first-time buyer housing affordability index" means the index determined by the Washington center for real estate research that measures the ability of a typical renter household to afford the purchase of a typical starter home by assuming: (a) The household will purchase a home priced at eighty-five percent of area median with a ten-percent down payment; (b) the home mortgage loan is for a term of thirty years at the prevailing average fixed rate of interest; (c) the potential first-time home buyer earns seventy percent of the area median household income and twenty-five percent of household income can be used for principal and interest payments.

(2) For purposes of this chapter, a first-time buyer housing affordability index of: (a) One hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income can afford a home of the defined price; (b) less than one hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income cannot afford a home of the defined price without spending more than twenty-five percent of their income on mortgage payments; and (c) greater than one hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income can afford a home of the defined price while spending less than twenty-five percent of their income on mortgage payments.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 82.02 RCW to read as follows:

(1) In any county in which the first-time buyer housing affordability index, as defined in section 1 of this act and as determined by the Washington center for real estate research at Washington State University, is less than one hundred for three quarters in any given year, the county and cities located within the county may not collect impact fees under this chapter for the following two years.

(2) The one-year period measured by the Washington center for real estate research under subsection (1) of this section shall begin and end in the third quarter of the calendar year. The time period for which the ability to collect impact fees under this chapter is suspended under subsection (1) of this section begins January 1st of the year following the determination by the Washington center for real estate research.

Sec. 4. RCW 82.02.100 and 1992 c 219 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person required to pay a fee pursuant to RCW 43.21C.060 for system improvements shall not be required to pay an impact fee under RCW 82.02.050 through 82.02.090 for those same system improvements.

(2) A county prohibited from imposing a fee for system improvements under section 2 of this act may not impose a fee under RCW 43.21C.065 for those same system improvements.

(3) A county prohibited from imposing a fee for system improvements under section 2 of this act may not require a dedication of land under RCW 58.17.110 for those same system improvements."

Correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (008) to House Bill No. 1116.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "As previously noted, the underlying bill is narrowly drafted to accomplish one specific goal – the development of a strategic plan to increase homeownership rates.

Amendment (008) defines a "first-time buyer housing affordability index" and prohibits the imposition of impact fees upon a determination that benchmarks in the index have not been met. These changes to substantive law exceed the bill's purpose in requiring development of a plan.

The Speaker therefore finds that the amendment is beyond the scope and object of the underlying bill, and that the point of order is well taken."

Representative Dunn adoption of amendment (015):

On page 1, after line 4, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 36.70A RCW to read as follows:

(1) As used in this section and section 2 of this act, "first-time buyer housing affordability index" means the index determined by the Washington center for real estate research that measures the ability of a typical renter household to afford the purchase of a typical starter home by assuming: (a) The household will purchase a home priced at eighty-five percent of area median household income with a ten-percent down payment; (b) the home mortgage loan is for a term of thirty years at the prevailing average fixed rate of interest; and (c) the potential first-time home buyer earns seventy percent of the area median household income and twenty-five percent of household income can be used for principal and interest payments.

(2) A first-time buyer housing affordability index of: (a) One hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income can afford a home of the defined price; (b) less than one hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income cannot afford a home of the defined price without spending more than twenty-five percent of their income on mortgage payments; and (c) greater than one hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income can afford a home of the defined price while spending less than twenty-five percent of their income on mortgage payments.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 36.70A RCW to read as follows:

(1)(a) In any county planning under RCW 36.70A.040 in which the first-time buyer housing affordability index, as defined in section 1 of this act, and as determined by the Washington center for real estate research at Washington State University, is less than one hundred for three quarters in any year, the county may permit single-family detached residential development of any density outside the urban growth area designated according to RCW 36.70A.110 for the following two years. Single-family detached residential development authorized under this section is not considered urban growth located outside of an urban growth area. Services provided to a single-family detached residential development authorized under this section is not considered urban services located outside of an urban growth area.

(b) Any county planning under RCW 36.70A.040 and permitting single-family detached residential development under (a) of this subsection may:

(i) Change its comprehensive plan and development regulations after the determination in (a) of this subsection has been made by the Washington center for real estate research to provide new locations for or increased density of single-family detached residential development under (a) of this subsection; or

(ii) Incorporate sections in its comprehensive plan and enact development regulations that provide new locations for or increased density of single-family detached residential development that are contingent upon a determination under (a) of this subsection that the first-time buyer housing affordability index was less than one hundred for three quarters in any year. If the county chooses to enact sections of its comprehensive plan as well as development regulations, the county may provide that these sections and regulations take effect January 1st of any year following the determination by the Washington center for real estate research under (a) of this subsection.

(2) The one-year period measured by the Washington center for real estate research under subsection (1) of this section begins and ends in the third quarter of the calendar year. The time period for which the ability to permit single-family detached residential development under subsection (1) of this section begins January 1st of the year following the determination by the Washington center for real estate research under (a) of this subsection."

Renumber the remaining section consecutively, correct any internal references accordingly, and correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (015) to House Bill No. 1116.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "As previously noted, the underlying bill is narrowly drafted to accomplish one specific goal - the development of a strategic plan to increase homeownership rates.

Amendment (015) defines a "first-time buyer housing affordability index" and prohibits the imposition of impact fees upon a determination that benchmarks in the index have not been met. These changes to substantive law exceed the bill's purpose in requiring development of a plan.

The Speaker therefore finds that the amendment is beyond the scope and object of the underlying bill, and that the point of order is well taken."

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4624, by Representatives Hunt, Moeller, McDermott, B. Sullivan, McCoy, Morris, Hudgins, Conway, Dunn, Curtis, Chase, Eddy, Lovick, Schindler, McDonald, Buri, Ormsby, Kretz, Miloscia, Kenney, Pedersen, Darneille, Williams, Kelley, Morrell, Eickmeyer, Appleton, Hunter, Santos, Barlow, Seaquist, Hankins, Rolfes, Linville, Dickerson, Sommers, Schual-Berke, Dunshee, Skinner, O'Brien, Upthegrove, Simpson, Strow, Hailey, Flannigan, Newhouse, Orcutt, Wood, Kirby, Condotta, Anderson, Sump, Priest and Armstrong

WHEREAS, Washington History Day is a year long education program that empowers teachers to improve history education, so that every student has the historical understanding and skills to be an active and engaged citizen; and

WHEREAS, Washington History Day, the state affiliate of National History Day, helps young Washington state students develop an appreciation of their heritage and essential skills that help them succeed in school, college, and the workplace; and

WHEREAS, National History Day began in 1974 and was hailed as a revolutionary way to teach history and quickly expanded into the nation's largest and most respected history education program with hundreds of thousands of students participating annually; and

WHEREAS, Washington History Day began in 1977 and has been an important component of history education statewide; and

WHEREAS, More than 3,500 students, encouraged and guided by more than 125 teachers, participate in the Washington History Day program; and

WHEREAS, National History Day has developed one of the nation's premier models to promote inquiry-based learning and to teach educators how to improve and reform the way history is taught in America's schools; and

WHEREAS, National History Day research and products can be used to fulfill required classroom-based assessments in social studies in the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, The Presidential Committee on Arts and Humanities report, Creative America, highlighted National History Day and named it an "exemplary program"; and

WHEREAS, National History Day was selected by President George W. Bush and the archivist of the United States to be a key partner in the national "Our Documents" initiative on history and civics; and

WHEREAS, National History Day received the Charles Frankel Prize for public programming in the humanities from the National Endowment of the Humanities; and

WHEREAS, The Washington History Day and National History Day programs will continue to highlight student achievement at a state student contest every May in Washington state and a national student contest every June at the University of Maryland; and

WHEREAS, 2007 marks the 25th anniversary of Washington History Day;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives acknowledge the achievements of Washington History Day in advancing historical literacy and American citizenship, and support the goals and programs of Washington History Day and National History Day; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to Lauren Danner, State Coordinator of Washington History Day.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4624 was adopted.

The Clerk called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed House Bill No. 1283 and the bill passed the House by the following vote: Yeas - 96, Nays - 0, Absent - 0, Excused - 2.

Voting yea: Representatives Ahern, Alexander, Anderson, Appleton, Armstrong, Bailey, Barlow, Blake, Buri, Campbell, Chandler, Chase, Clibborn, Cody, Condotta, Conway, Crouse, Curtis, Darneille, DeBolt, Dickerson, Dunn, Dunshee, Eddy, Eickmeyer, Ericks, Ericksen, Fromhold, Goodman, Grant, Green, Haigh, Hailey, Haler, Hankins, Hasegawa, Hinkle, Hudgins, Hunt, Hunter, Hurst, Jarrett, Kagi, Kelley, Kenney, Kessler, Kirby, Kretz, Kristiansen, Lantz, Linville, Lovick, McCoy, McCune, McDermott, McDonald, McIntire, Miloscia, Moeller, Morrell, Morris, Newhouse, O'Brien, Orcutt, Ormsby, Pearson, Pedersen, Pettigrew, Priest, Quall, Roach, Roberts, Rodne, Rolfes, Ross, Santos, Schindler, Schual-Berke, Seaquist, Sells, Simpson, Sommers, Springer, Strow, B. Sullivan, P. Sullivan, Sump, Takko, Upthegrove, Van De Wege, Wallace, Walsh, Warnick, Williams, Wood and Mr. Speaker - 96.

Excused: Representatives Flannigan and Skinner - 2.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1024, by Representatives Hunter, Priest, Kessler, B. Sullivan, Dickerson, Jarrett, Hasegawa, Campbell, Rodne, Rolfes, McDermott, McIntire, Chase, Green, Hudgins, Upthegrove, Quall, Conway, Clibborn, Sommers, Morrell, Sells, Kenney, Haigh, Cody, Hunt, Lantz, McCoy, Appleton, Pettigrew, Schual-Berke, Roberts, Fromhold, Takko, Simpson, P. Sullivan, Lovick, Flannigan, Moeller, Miloscia, Williams, Blake, O'Brien, Linville, Wood, Goodman, Seaquist, Springer, Ericks, Kagi, Darneille, Dunshee, Strow, Pedersen, Eickmeyer, McCune and Ormsby; by request of Department of Ecology

Phasing out the use of polybrominated diphenyl ethers.

The bill was read the second time.

There being no objection, Substitute House Bill No. 1024 was substituted for House Bill No. 1024 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1024 was read the second time.

With the consent of the House, amendments (014) and (017) were withdrawn.

Representative Hunter moved the adoption of amendment (018):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Polybrominated diphenyl ethers (PBDEs) have been used extensively as flame retardants in a large number of common household products for the past thirty years. Studies on animals show that PBDEs can impact the developing brain, affecting behavior and learning after birth and into adulthood, making exposure to fetuses and children a particular concern. Levels of PBDEs are increasing in people, and in the environment, particularly in North America. Because people can be exposed to these chemicals through house dust and indoor air as well as through food, it is important to phase out their use in common household products, provided that effective flame retardants that are safer and technically feasible are available at a reasonable cost.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Comestible" means edible.

(2) "Commercial decabromo diphenyl ether" or "commercial deca-bde" means the chemical mixture of decabromo diphenyl ether, including associated polybrominated diphenyl ether impurities not intentionally added.

(3) "Department" means the department of ecology.

(4) "Electronic enclosure" means the plastic housing that encloses the components of electronic products, including but not limited to televisions and computers.

(5) "Manufacturer" means any person, firm, association, partnership, corporation, governmental entity, organization, or joint venture that produces a product containing polybrominated diphenyl ethers or an importer or domestic distributor of a noncomestible product containing polybrominated diphenyl ethers. A manufacturer does not include a retailer who:

(a) Adds a private label brand or cobrands a product for sale; or

(b) Assembles components to create a single noncomestible product based on an individual consumer preference.

(6) "Mattress" has the same meaning as defined by the United States consumer product safety commission in 16 C.F.R. Part 1633 (2007) as it existed on the effective date of this section, and includes mattress sets, box springs, futons, crib mattresses, and youth mattresses. "Mattress" includes mattress pads.

(7) "Medical device" means an instrument, machine, implant, or diagnostic test used to help diagnose a disease or other condition or to cure, treat, or prevent disease.

(8) "Polybrominated diphenyl ethers" or "PBDEs" means chemical forms that consist of diphenyl ethers bound with bromine atoms. Polybrominated diphenyl ethers include, but are not limited to, the three primary forms of the commercial mixtures known as pentabromo diphenyl ether (penta-bde), octabromo diphenyl ether (octa-bde), and decabromo diphenyl ether (deca-bde).

(9) "Residential upholstered furniture" means residential seating products intended for indoor use in a home or other dwelling intended for residential occupancy that consists in whole or in part of resilient cushioning materials enclosed within a covering consisting of fabric or related materials, if the resilient cushioning materials are sold with the item of upholstered furniture and the upholstered furniture is constructed with a contiguous upholstered seat and back that may include arms.

(10) "Retailer" means a person who offers a product for sale at retail through any means including, but not limited to, remote offerings such as sales outlets, catalogs, or the internet, but does not include a sale that is a wholesale transaction with a distributor or a retailer. A retailer does not include a person, firm, association, partnership, corporation, governmental entity, organization, or joint venture that both manufactures and sells a product at retail.

(11) "Technically feasible" means an alternative that is available at a cost and in sufficient quantity to permit the manufacturer to produce an economically viable product.

(12) "Transportation vehicle" means a mechanized vehicle that is used to transport goods or people including, but not limited to, airplanes, automobiles, motorcycles, trucks, buses, trains, boats, ships, streetcars, or monorail cars.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. After January 1, 2008, no person may manufacture, knowingly sell, offer for sale, distribute for sale, or distribute for use in this state noncomestible products containing PBDEs. Exemptions from the prohibition in this section are limited to the following:

(1) Products containing deca-bde, except as provided in section 4 of this act;

(2) The sale or distribution of any used transportation vehicle manufactured before January 1, 2008, with component parts containing PBDEs;

(3) The sale or distribution of any used transportation vehicle parts or new transportation vehicle parts manufactured before January 1, 2008, that contain PBDEs;

(4) The manufacture, sale, repair, distribution, maintenance, refurbishment, or modification of equipment containing PBDEs and used primarily for military or federally funded space program applications. The exemption in this subsection (4) does not cover consumer-based goods with broad applicability;

(5) Federal aviation administration fire worthiness requirements and recommendations;

(6) The manufacture, sale, repair, distribution, maintenance, refurbishment, or modification of any new raw material or component part used in a transportation vehicle with component parts, including original spare parts, containing deca-bde;

(7) The use of commercial deca-bde in the maintenance, refurbishment, or modification of transportation equipment;

(8) The sale or distribution of any product containing PBDEs that has been previously owned, purchased, or sold in commerce, provided it was manufactured before the effective date of the prohibition;

(9) The manufacture, sale, or distribution of any new product or product component consisting of recycled or used materials containing deca-bde;

(10) The sale or purchase of any previously owned product containing PBDEs made in casual or isolated sales as defined in RCW 82.04.040 and to sales by nonprofit organizations;

(11) The manufacture, sale, or distribution of new carpet cushion made from recycled foam containing less than one-tenth of one percent penta-bde; and

(12) Medical devices.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) Except as provided in section 10 of this act, no person may manufacture, knowingly sell, offer for sale, distribute for sale, or distribute for use in this state mattresses containing commercial deca-bde after January 1, 2008.

(2) Except as provided in section 10 of this act, no person may manufacture, knowingly sell, offer for sale, distribute for sale, or distribute for use in this state residential upholstered furniture that contains commercial deca-bde, or any television or computer that has an electronic enclosure that contains commercial deca-bde after the effective date established in subsection (3) of this section. This prohibition may not take effect until the department and the department of health identify that a safer and technically feasible alternative is available, and the fire safety committee, created in section 5 of this act, determines that the identified alternative meets applicable fire safety standards. The effective date of the prohibition must be established according to the following process:

(a) The department and the department of health shall review risk assessments, scientific studies, and other relevant findings regarding alternatives to the use of commercial deca-bde in residential upholstered furniture, televisions, and computers.

(b) If the department and the department of health jointly find that safer and technically feasible alternatives are available for any of these uses, the department shall convene the fire safety committee created in section 5 of this act to determine whether the identified alternatives meet applicable fire safety standards.

(c) By majority vote, the fire safety committee created in section 5 of this act shall make a finding whether an alternative identified under (b) of this subsection meets applicable fire safety standards. The fire safety committee shall report their finding to the state fire marshal. After reviewing the finding of the fire safety committee, the state fire marshal shall determine whether an alternative identified under (b) of this subsection meets applicable fire safety standards. The determination of the fire marshal must be based upon the finding of the fire safety committee. The state fire marshal shall report the determination to the department.

(d) The department shall seek public input on their findings, the findings of the fire safety committee, and the determination by the state fire marshal. The department shall publish these findings in the Washington State Register, and submit them in a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature. The department shall initially report these findings by December 31, 2008.

(3) The effective date of the prohibition is as follows:

(a) If the December 31, 2008, report required in subsection (2)(d) of this section finds that a safer and technically feasible alternative that meets applicable fire safety standards is available, the prohibition takes effect January 1, 2011;

(b) If the December 31, 2008, report required in subsection (2)(d) of this section does not find that a safer and technically feasible alternative that meets applicable fire safety standards is available, the prohibition does not take effect January 1, 2011. Beginning in 2009, by December 31st of each year, the department shall review and report on alternatives as described in subsection (2) of this section. The prohibition in subsection (2) of this section takes effect two years after a report submitted to the legislature required under subsection (2)(d) of this section finds that a safer and technically feasible alternative that meets applicable fire safety standards is available.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The fire safety committee is created for the exclusive purpose of finding whether an alternative identified under section 4(2)(b) of this act meets applicable fire safety standards.

(2) A majority vote of the members of the fire safety committee constitutes a finding that an alternative meets applicable fire safety standards.

(3) The fire safety committee consists of the following members:

(a) A representative from the department, who shall chair the fire safety committee, and serve as an ex officio nonvoting member.

(b) Five voting members, appointed by the governor, as follows:

(i) A representative of the office of the state fire marshal;

(ii) A representative of a statewide association representing the interests of fire chiefs;

(iii) A representative of a statewide association representing the interests of fire commissioners;

(iv) A representative of a recognized statewide council, affiliated with an international association representing the interests of firefighters; and

(v) A representative of a statewide association representing the interests of volunteer firefighters.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The department and the department of health shall review risk assessments, scientific studies, and other relevant findings regarding alternatives to the use of commercial deca-bde in products not directly addressed in this chapter. If a flame retardant that is safer and technically feasible becomes available, the department shall convene the fire safety committee created in section 5 of this act. The fire safety committee and the state fire marshal shall proceed as required in section 4(2)(c) of this act to determine if the identified alternative meets applicable fire safety standards. The department and the department of health shall also review risk assessments, scientific studies, and other findings regarding the potential effect of PBDEs in the waste stream. By December 31st of the year in which the finding is made, the department must publish the information required by this subsection in the Washington State Register and present it in a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Nothing in this chapter restricts the ability of a manufacturer, importer, or distributor from transporting products containing PBDEs through the state or storing the products in the state for later distribution outside the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A manufacturer of products containing PBDEs that are restricted under this chapter must notify persons that sell the manufacturer's products in this state about the provisions of this chapter no less than ninety days prior to the effective date of the restrictions.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. The department shall assist state agencies to give priority and preference to the purchase of equipment, supplies, and other products that do not contain PBDEs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) Retailers who unknowingly sell products prohibited under section 3 or 4 of this act are not liable under this chapter.

(2) In-state retailers in possession of products on the date that restrictions on the sale of the products become effective under section 3 or 4 of this act may exhaust their existing stock through sales to the public.

(3) The department must assist in-state retailers in identifying potential products containing PBDEs.

(4) If a retailer unknowingly possesses products that are prohibited for sale under section 3 or 4 of this act and the manufacturer does not recall the products as required under section 11(2) of this act, the retailer may exhaust its existing stock through sales to the public. However, no additional prohibited stock may be sold or offered for sale.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) Enforcement of this chapter must rely on notification and information exchange between the department and manufacturers. The department shall achieve compliance with this chapter using the following enforcement sequence:

(a) Before the effective date of the product prohibition in section 3 or 4 of this act, the department shall prepare and distribute information to in-state manufacturers and out-of-state manufacturers, to the maximum extent practicable, to assist them in identifying products prohibited for manufacture, sale, or distribution under this chapter.

(b) The department may request a certificate of compliance from a manufacturer. A certificate of compliance attests that a manufacturer's product or products meets the requirements of this chapter.

(c) The department may issue a warning letter to a manufacturer that produces, sells, or distributes prohibited products in violation of this chapter. The department shall offer information or other appropriate assistance to the manufacturer in complying with this chapter. If, after one year, compliance is not achieved, penalties may be assessed under subsection (3) of this section.

(2) A manufacturer that knowingly produces, sells, or distributes a product prohibited from manufacture, sale, or distribution in this state under this chapter shall recall the product and reimburse the retailer or any other purchaser for the product and any applicable shipping and handling for returning the products.

(3) A manufacturer of products containing PBDEs in violation of this chapter is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed one thousand dollars for each violation in the case of a first offense. Manufacturers who are repeat violators are subject to a civil penalty not to exceed five thousand dollars for each repeat offense. Penalties collected under this section must be deposited in the state toxics control account created in RCW 70.105D.070.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The department may adopt rules to fully implement this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. Sections 1 through 12 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 70 RCW."

On page 1, line 2 of the title, after "ethers;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "adding a new chapter to Title 70 RCW; and prescribing penalties."

Representative Grant moved the adoption of amendment (019) to amendment (018):

Beginning on page 1, after line 2 of the amendment, strike all material through "70 RCW." on page 8, line 22, and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Commercial decabromo diphenyl ether" or "commercial deca-bde" means the chemical mixture of decabromo diphenyl ether, including associated polybrominated diphenyl ether impurities not intentionally added.

(2) "Department" means the department of ecology.

(3) "Electronic enclosure" means the plastic housing that encloses the components of electronic products, including but not limited to televisions and computers.

(4) "Manufacturer" means any person, firm, association, partnership, corporation, governmental entity, organization, or joint venture that produces a product containing polybrominated diphenyl ethers. A manufacturer does not include a retailer who:

(a) Adds a private label brand or cobrands a product for sale; or

(b) Assembles components to create a single noncomestible product based on an individual consumer preference.

(5) "Mattress" has the same meaning as defined by the United States consumer product safety commission in 16 C.F.R. Part 1633 (2007) as it existed on the effective date of this act, and includes mattress pads, mattress sets, box springs, futons, crib mattresses, and youth mattresses.

(6) "Medical device" means an instrument, machine, implant, or diagnostic test used to help diagnose a disease or other condition or to cure, treat, or prevent disease.

(7) "Polybrominated diphenyl ethers" or "PBDEs" means chemical forms that consist of diphenyl ethers bound with bromine atoms. "Polybrominated diphenyl ethers" include, but are not limited to, the three primary forms of the commercial mixtures known as pentabromo diphenyl ether (penta-bde), octabromo diphenyl ether (octa-bde), and decabromo diphenyl ether (deca-bde).

(8) "Residential upholstered furniture" means residential seating products intended for indoor use in a home or other dwelling intended for residential occupancy that consists in whole or in part of resilient cushioning materials enclosed within a covering consisting of fabric or related materials, if the resilient cushioning materials are sold with the item of upholstered furniture and the upholstered furniture is constructed with a contiguous upholstered seat and back that may include arms.

(9) "Safer and technically feasible alternative" means an alternative that:

(a) Is available at a cost and in sufficient quantity to permit the manufacturer or user to maintain an economically viable product;

(b) Provides a level of ignition resistance equivalent to or greater than that provided by the product it is intended to replace;

(c) Has been found to have a lower toxicity profile and less environmental impact than the product it is intended to replace.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The department is authorized to adopt rules prohibiting the use of polybrominated diphenyl ethers subject to the conditions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) The department and the department of health shall review risk assessments, scientific studies, and other relevant findings regarding alternatives to the use of commercial deca-bde in mattresses, residential upholstered furniture, televisions, and computers.

(2) If the department and the department of health jointly find that safer and technically feasible alternatives are available for any of the uses under subsection (1) of this section, the department shall convene the fire safety committee created in subsection (3) of this section to determine if the identified alternatives meet applicable fire safety standards.

(3) The fire safety committee is created for the exclusive purpose of determining whether an alternative identified under subsection (2) of this section meets applicable fire safety standards.

(a) A representative from the department shall chair the fire safety committee and serve as an ex officio nonvoting member.

(b) A majority vote of the fire safety committee members constitutes a finding that an alternative meets applicable fire safety standards.

(c) The fire safety committee shall also include five voting members, appointed by the governor, as follows:

(i) A representative of the office of the state director of fire protection;

(ii) A representative of a statewide association representing the interests of fire chiefs;

(iii) A representative of a statewide association representing the interests of fire commissioners;

(iv) A representative of a statewide association representing the interests of firefighters as defined in chapter 41.26 RCW; and

(v) A representative of a statewide association representing the interests of volunteer firefighters.

(4) If a majority of the voting members of the fire safety committee determines that an alternative identified under subsection (2) of this section meets applicable fire safety standards, the department shall seek public input on their findings, the findings of the fire safety committee, and any evidence of the potential harm posed by deca-bde. By December 15th of the year in which the finding is made, the department must publish the information required by this subsection in the Washington State Register and present it in a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature.

(5) If the department adopts a rule to prohibit the use of polybrominated diphenyl ethers pursuant to section 2 of this act, the effective date of the prohibition shall be two years after the final adoption of the rule.

(6) Before the effective date of the product prohibition, the department shall prepare and distribute information to in-state manufacturers and out-of-state manufacturers, to the maximum extent practicable, to assist them in identifying products prohibited for manufacture, sale, or distribution under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The department and the department of health shall review risk assessments, scientific studies, and other relevant findings regarding alternatives to the use of commercial deca-bde in products not directly addressed in this chapter. If a flame retardant that is safer and technically feasible becomes available, the department shall convene the fire safety committee created in section 3 of this act. The fire safety committee shall proceed as required in section 3(2) of this act to determine if the identified alternative meets applicable fire safety standards. The department and the department of health shall also review risk assessments, scientific studies, and other findings regarding the potential effect of PBDEs in the waste stream. By December 31st of the year in which the finding is made, the department must publish the information required by this section in the Washington State Register and present it in a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The department may issue a warning letter to a manufacturer that produces, sells, or distributes prohibited products in violation of this chapter. The department shall offer information or other appropriate assistance to the manufacturer in complying with this chapter. If, after one year, compliance is not achieved, penalties may be assessed under subsection (2) of this section.

(2) A manufacturer of products containing PBDEs in violation of this chapter is punishable by a civil penalty not to exceed one thousand dollars for each violation in the case of a first offense. Penalties collected under this section must be deposited in the state toxics control account created in RCW 70.105D.070.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The department shall adopt rules prohibiting the use of pentabromo diphenyl ether and octabromo diphenyl ether with appropriate exemptions to ensure continued public safety on or before July 1, 2008.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Sections 1 through 6 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 70 RCW."

Representatives Grant, Newhouse, Armstrong and Hailey spoke in favor of the adoption of amendment (019) to amendment (018).

Representatives Hunter and Campbell spoke against the adoption of the amendment to amendment (018).

Division was demanded and the demand was sustained. The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) divided the House. The result was 30 - YEAS; 65 -NAYS.

The amendment (019) was not adopted.

Representative Sump moved the adoption of amendment (021) to amendment (018):

On page 4, line 34 of the amendment, after "standards" insert "and provides a level of ignition resistance equivalent to or greater than that provided by deca-bde"

Representative Sump spoke in favor of the adoption of amendment (021) to amendment (018).

Representative Hunter spoke against the adoption of amendment (021) to amendment (018).

The amendment (021) was not adopted.

Representative Newhouse moved the adoption of amendment (022) to amendment (018):

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. The department shall develop a voluntary program to phase out, from residential homes, products containing polybrominated diphenyl ethers, limited to the two primary forms of the commercial mixtures known as pentabromo diphenyl ether (penta-bde) and octabromo diphenyl ether (octa-bde)."

Renumber the remaining section consecutively and correct any internal references accordingly.

On page 8, line 21 of the amendment, after "through" strike "12" and insert "13"

Representative Newhouse spoke in favor of the adoption of amendment (022) to amendment (018).

Representative Hunter spoke against the adoption of amendment (022) to amendment (018).

The amendment (022) was not adopted.

Representative Hailey moved the adoption of amendment (023) to amendment (018):

On page 8, after line 20 of the amendment, insert the following:

"Sec. 13. RCW 43.43.938 and 1995 c 369 s 18 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Wherever the term state fire marshal appears in the Revised Code of Washington or the Washington Administrative Code it shall mean the director of fire protection.

(2) The chief of the Washington state patrol shall appoint an officer who shall be known as the director of fire protection. The board, after consulting with the chief of the Washington state patrol, shall prescribe qualifications for the position of director of fire protection. The board shall submit to the chief of the Washington state patrol a list containing the names of three persons whom the board believes meet its qualifications. If requested by the chief of the Washington state patrol, the board shall submit one additional list of three persons whom the board believes meet its qualifications. The appointment shall be from one of the lists of persons submitted by the board.

(3) The director of fire protection may designate one or more deputies and may delegate to those deputies his or her duties and authorities as deemed appropriate.

(4) The director of fire protection, in accordance with the policies, objectives, and priorities of the fire protection policy board, shall prepare a biennial budget pertaining to fire protection services. Such biennial budget shall be submitted as part of the Washington state patrol's budget request.

(5) The director of fire protection, shall implement and administer, within constraints established by budgeted resources, the policies, objectives, and priorities of the board and all duties of the chief of the Washington state patrol that are to be carried out through the director of fire protection. Such administration shall include negotiation of agreements with the state board for community and technical colleges, the higher education coordinating board, and the state colleges and universities as provided in RCW ((43.63A.320)) 43.43.934. Programs covered by such agreements shall include, but not be limited to, planning curricula, developing and delivering instructional programs and materials, and using existing instructional personnel and facilities. Where appropriate, such contracts shall also include planning and conducting instructional programs at the state fire service training center.

(6) The chief of the Washington state patrol, through the director of fire protection, shall seek the advice of the board in carrying out his or her duties under law.

(7) By December 31, 2007, the director of fire protection must adopt by rule:

(a) A fire safety standard for upholstered furniture that is substantially the same as the provisions of the 2002 draft revised technical bulletin, CAL 117+, for "Requirements, Test Procedure and Apparatus for Testing the Flame and Smolder Resistance of Upholstered Furniture," published by the state of California, department of consumer affairs, bureau of home furnishings and thermal insulation;

(b) A fire safety standard for electronic equipment within the field of audio/video information technology and communication technology that is substantially the same as the provisions of the international electrotechnical commission's document entitled "IEC 62368-f3 Ed 1.0: Audio/Video, Information and Communication Technology Equipment - Safety Requirements" (circulation date December 15, 2006), which incorporates external ignition protection as specified in the technical specification (IEC TS62441), published December 2006."

Renumber the remaining section consecutively, correct any internal references accordingly, and correct the title amendment.

Representative Hailey spoke in favor of the adoption of amendment (023) to amendment (018).

Representative Hunter spoke against the adoption of amendment (023) to amendment (018).

The amendment (023) was not adopted.

There being no objection, amendment (018) to Substitute House Bill No. 1024 was adopted. The bill was ordered engrossed.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Representatives Hunter, Kagi, Upthegrove, Simpson, Morrell and Hunt spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Representatives Newhouse, Hinkle, Armstrong, Anderson, Haler, Chandler and Orcutt spoke against the passage of the bill.

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) stated the question before the House to be the final passage of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 1024.

MOTION

On the motion of Representative Kristiansen, Representative Hankins was excused.

ROLL CALL

The Clerk called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 1024 and the bill passed the House by the following vote: Yeas - 71, Nays - 24, Absent - 0, Excused - 3.

Voting yea: Representatives Appleton, Bailey, Barlow, Blake, Campbell, Chase, Clibborn, Cody, Conway, Darneille, Dickerson, Dunshee, Eddy, Eickmeyer, Ericks, Ericksen, Fromhold, Goodman, Green, Haigh, Hasegawa, Hudgins, Hunt, Hunter, Hurst, Jarrett, Kagi, Kelley, Kenney, Kessler, Kirby, Lantz, Linville, Lovick, McCoy, McCune, McDermott, McDonald, McIntire, Miloscia, Moeller, Morrell, Morris, O'Brien, Ormsby, Pedersen, Pettigrew, Priest, Quall, Roach, Roberts, Rodne, Rolfes, Santos, Schual-Berke, Seaquist, Sells, Simpson, Sommers, Springer, Strow, B. Sullivan, P. Sullivan, Takko, Upthegrove, Van De Wege, Wallace, Walsh, Williams, Wood and Mr. Speaker - 71.

Voting nay: Representatives Ahern, Alexander, Anderson, Armstrong, Buri, Chandler, Condotta, Crouse, Curtis, DeBolt, Dunn, Grant, Hailey, Haler, Hinkle, Kretz, Kristiansen, Newhouse, Orcutt, Pearson, Ross, Schindler, Sump and Warnick - 24.

Excused: Representatives Flannigan, Hankins and Skinner - 3.

ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1024, having received the necessary constitutional majority, was declared passed.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the eleventh order of business.

There being no objection, the House adjourned until 10:00 a.m., February 19, 2007, the 43rd Day of the Regular Session.

RICHARD NAFZIGER, Chief Clerk

FORTY THIRD DAY

---

House Chamber, Olympia, Monday, February 19, 2007

The House was called to order at 10:00 a.m. by the Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding). The Clerk called the roll and a quorum was present.

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by the Seattle Nisei Veterans Committee Color Guard. The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. Prayer was offered by Reverend Matsu Bayashi, Seattle Buddhist Church.

Reading of the Journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was ordered to stand approved.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4622, by Representatives Santos, Hasegawa, Hunter, Rolfes, Skinner, Hankins and Conway

WHEREAS, On February 19, 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued Executive Order 9066, which authorized the forced assembly, evacuation, and internment of approximately 12,000 Japanese-Americans residing in the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, The order for assembly and detention at Camp Harmony in Puyallup, Washington, prior to evacuation and subsequent internment, caused Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington to lose millions of dollars in property and assets, to suffer immeasurable physical and psychological damage, and to be deprived of their constitutional liberties without due process of law; and

WHEREAS, The alleged purpose of this drastic course of action was to prevent Japanese-Americans, all of whom were deemed disloyal and untrustworthy, from committing acts of espionage and sabotage against the United States during its involvement in World War II; and

WHEREAS, An overwhelming number of Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington responded to questions of their loyalty and patriotism by volunteering from within barbed wire camps to serve in the United States Military Intelligence Service and the United States Army's 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the latter of which became the most decorated unit of its size in American history with seven Presidential Unit Citations, 21 Congressional Medals of Honor, 52 Distinguished Service Crosses, 1 Distinguished Service Medal, 588 Silver Stars, 4,000 Bronze Stars, 9,486 Purple Hearts, and a total of 18 decorations from France and Italy; and

WHEREAS, A few equally patriotic Japanese-Americans, such as Gordon Hirabayashi, then a student at the University of Washington, were willing to face imprisonment to seek justice by challenging the constitutionality of the evacuation and internment orders; and

WHEREAS, Through the fact-finding work of the Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians, the United States Congress later found that "there was no military or security reason for the internment" of individuals of Japanese ancestry and that the internment "was caused by racial prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership"; and

WHEREAS, Japanese-American internees from the state of Washington endured economic, physical, and psychological hardship and suffered in silence for more than forty years before the state of Washington provided monetary redress and reparations to municipal and state employees;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives, along with the people of Washington, pause to acknowledge the sixty-fifth anniversary of the signing of Executive Order 9066, to recognize the Japanese-American internees and WWII veterans from the state of Washington, to honor their patience, heroism, sacrifice, and patriotic loyalty, and to remember the lessons and blessings of liberty and justice for all; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Nisei Veterans Committee, the Military Intelligence Service - Northwest Association, the Japanese-American Citizens League, and the Japanese-American Cultural & Community Center.

Representative Santos moved the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4622 was adopted.

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) recognized members of the Japanese American Citizens League. The House of Representatives also welcomed Senator Chris Marr, Mike Gregoire and Director of Veterans Affairs John Lee.

RESOLUTIONS

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4620, by Representatives Seaquist, McDonald, Hunt and Hankins

WHEREAS, Washington is the only state named for an American president, George Washington, the father of our country, and as such, we Washingtonians hold the presidency and presidents in especially high regard; and

WHEREAS, For many years our state and nation have set aside the third Monday in February to celebrate Presidents' Day, which honors former presidents of the United States of America; and

WHEREAS, Both February 12th, the actual birthday of President Abraham Lincoln, and February 22nd, the actual birthday of President George Washington, were kept and observed, until 1971, as the anniversaries of the births of these two great American presidents; and

WHEREAS, Presidents' Day, for many citizens, remains a time for specifically honoring the accomplishments of

Washington, the first American president, and Lincoln, the 16th American president; and

WHEREAS, It was in 1968 when federal legislation, the "Monday Holidays Act," was passed to install the Presidents' Day celebration that we have come to know and respect; and

WHEREAS, Although traditionalists cling to the notion that Presidents' Day remains a time for celebrating the specific legacies of Presidents Washington and Lincoln, nontraditionalists are very welcome to embrace the fact that former Presidents John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, John Quincy Adams, Martin Van Buren, Andrew Johnson, Ulysses Grant, James Garfield, and Teddy Roosevelt, as well as the presidents of later decades, are honored in numerous commemorations across the country; and

WHEREAS, In 1985, the Washington state legislature singled out the third Monday in February as a day for commemorating the births of Presidents Washington and Lincoln; and

WHEREAS, It is recognized that this diverse, wonderful land of ours has been fashioned into an uplifting, multicultural quilt thanks to the tireless efforts of our forefathers, especially George Washington and Abraham Lincoln; and

WHEREAS, The first eight American presidents, comprising almost a fifth of our 43 presidents to date, did not begin their lives as Americans because there was no America when they were born, thus in a special way our reputation as a land of opportunity was established; and

WHEREAS, No Presidents' Day celebration would be complete without appropriate recognition for the invaluable service of the first ladies in our American presidential history; and

WHEREAS, The first ladies of our nation have not only provided citizens with role models who exemplify what it means to be an American but icons such as Dolly Madison, Eleanor Roosevelt, and Jacqueline Kennedy have served as symbols of strength in times of adversity throughout our history;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives of the state of Washington salute and celebrate Presidents' Day 2007, a time for recognizing and paying tribute to the tireless dedication of our former presidents and first ladies; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, In recognition of the fact that any young person can grow up to be President of the United States of America, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction for effective distribution among the schools of Washington state to help our young people strengthen their knowledge of our presidents and first ladies.

Representative Seaquist moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representatives Seaquist, McCune and McDonald spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4615, by Representatives Kessler, Sump, Rolfes, Skinner, Hankins and Conway

WHEREAS, The 4-H Youth Development Program of Washington State University Extension has assisted the young people of Washington in developing essential "life skills" since it was established in 1902; and

WHEREAS, The program centers on teaching young people to become productive members of society by fostering citizenship, science, math and technology literacy, health and wellness, communication, and decision-making skills; and

WHEREAS, Over 80,000 young people and nearly 10,000 adult volunteers throughout Washington participated in 4-H Youth Development Programs in 2006; and

WHEREAS, These programs helped participants learn about a wide variety of subjects including science, family living, applied arts, and government activism; and

WHEREAS, These programs work with traditional community clubs and reach youth through urban groups, special interest groups, nutrition programs, after school programs, camping, and interagency learning experiences; and

WHEREAS, More than 300 4-H members from around the state are currently visiting the State Capital as part of an annual statewide education program titled "4-H Know Your Government"; and

WHEREAS, The 4-H Know Your Government program focused this year on the media's influence and relationship with the political process and bettering the understanding of the issues related to pivotal political happenings; and

WHEREAS, 4-H will continue its dedication to empowering young people to become active global citizens and realize the value, significance, and responsibility of taking part in local, regional, state, national, and international community issues;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives recognize the 4-H Youth Development Program for its many contributions to the youth of Washington and the betterment of our communities; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to Pat Boyes, the State 4-H Director for the Washington State University Extension 4-H Youth Development Program.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4615 was adopted.

WHEREAS, The Northwest Boychoir is comprised of approximately 150 boys ages 6 to 13 from 17 cities, 3 counties, and 80 public and private schools in the Puget Sound region; and

WHEREAS, The Northwest Boychoir has been designated as Washington State's official Singing Ambassadors by Governors Gregoire, Locke, Lowry, Spellman, and Gardner; and

WHEREAS, The Northwest Boychoir is the official boychoir for the Seattle Symphony and Seattle Opera, and performs with Orchestra Seattle, the Seattle Philharmonic, the Seattle Chamber Players, and Seattle Choral Company; and

WHEREAS, The Northwest Boychoir has performed for the Mariners, the Sonics, the Sounders, the Boeing Museum of Flight, and scores of schools, retirement homes, and community events across Washington State; and

WHEREAS, The Northwest Boychoir has traveled the world, putting a song in the hearts of people from Westminster Abbey to National Cathedral in Washington, D.C.; and

WHEREAS, The Northwest Boychoir was invited to sing with New York Metropolitan Opera tenor Carl Tanner on his nationally released Christmas CD in 2006; and

WHEREAS, The Northwest Boychoir collaborated with Music of Remembrance on the production of the United States premier of the children's opera Brundibar which was performed by children in the Terazin concentration camp during World War II, followed by a studio recording of the work, which was released nationally in 2006; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Joseph Crnko, now in his 23rd year as Music Director, and the staff of professional musicians and educators of the Northwest Boychoir are engaged in teaching a rigorous curriculum of music theory, voice production, sight singing, and performance skills, as well as the development of high standards and artistic excellence; and

WHEREAS, The Northwest Boychoir is regarded as one of the nation's premier boychoirs, due to their musical sophistication, rich tonal quality, dedication to exacting perfection, and extensive performance schedule; and

WHEREAS, The Northwest Boychoir has, for 35 years, trained thousands of young singers, and positively shaped lives of the region's youth by teaching important lessons in personal commitment, the value of teamwork, and diligence;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives hereby recognize the talented young men of the Northwest Boychoir, who faithfully rehearse many hours each week for the love of singing and the pursuit of musical excellence, and musically express the vitality and quality of life unique to the Pacific Northwest; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Northwest Boychoir.

RESOLUTIONS

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4628, by Representatives Walsh, Ahern, Ross, Roach, Skinner, Crouse, Kirby, Pedersen, Green, Ormsby, Kretz, Haler, Alexander, Hailey, Newhouse, Flannigan, Seaquist, McIntire, Pearson, Bailey, Dunn, Anderson, McDonald, Hankins, Kristiansen, Jarrett, Strow, Armstrong, P. Sullivan, McDermott, Santos, Schindler, Grant, Chandler, Hinkle, Orcutt and Buri

WHEREAS, The Walla Walla Symphony is the oldest continuously operating symphony society west of the Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, The Walla Walla Symphony and "symphony night" have gained the enthusiastic support of the people and businesses of Walla Walla for 100 years, making them Walla Walla institutions and giving the community the incredible opportunity of gathering together and experiencing the joy and transcending power of beautiful, uplifting, live orchestral music; and

WHEREAS, The Walla Walla Symphony is fully dedicated to serving all the people of the Walla Walla valley and outlying communities, and consider the people as their "real" owners in the truest sense of the word; and

WHEREAS, The Walla Walla Symphony started in June 1907 as a "symphony" club and has now become a full scale symphony society governed by a dedicated group of board members and fielding a complete semiprofessional symphony with a season of six concerts; and

WHEREAS, The Walla Walla Symphony also performs two children's concerts for over 3,000 children each year, giving kids an opportunity to get "up close and personal" with the instruments and helps pass on the legacy and appreciation of the symphonic music tradition to a new generation; and

WHEREAS, The Walla Walla Symphony also rounds out its musical offerings by performing a family concert, recital series, and concert series, with the purpose of appealing to audiences that typically might not be as interested in symphonic music; and

WHEREAS, The Walla Walla Symphony has performed with internationally acclaimed soloists over the years which have included Jean-Pierre Rampal, Janos Starker, Eugene Fodor, David Abel, and Leopold Godowsky; and

WHEREAS, The Walla Walla Symphony also supports children throughout the Walla Walla valley and outlying communities by providing donated tickets, instruments, and scholarships to young musicians; and

WHEREAS, The Walla Walla Symphony has been called one of "Walla Walla's cultural jewels" by Tom Cronin, President Emeritus of Whitman College, and Sharon Thompson, who has been involved with the symphony for almost 50 years, attributes the success and longevity of the symphony to hard work and the "magical" touch by everyone involved;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives recognize the outstanding contributions the Walla Walla Symphony has made to the people of the Walla Walla valley, its outlying communities, and all the people of the state of Washington, and congratulate it on its phenomenal success; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the director, the board members, and the artists of the Walla Walla Symphony.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4628 was adopted.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4629, by Representative Wallace

WHEREAS, The students selected for special recognition as Washington Scholars and Washington Scholars-Alternates in 2007 have distinguished themselves as exceptional students, student leaders, and as talented and enthusiastic participants in many diverse activities including art, debate, drama, honor societies, interscholastic sports, Junior Achievement, knowledge competitions, music, and student government; and

WHEREAS, These exemplary students have also contributed to the welfare of those less fortunate in their neighborhoods through volunteer efforts with community service organizations such as the United Way, Special Olympics, March of Dimes, Big Brothers, Big Sisters, community food drives, senior centers, scouting, and church groups; and

WHEREAS, The state of Washington benefits greatly from the accomplishments of these caring and gifted individuals, not only in their roles as students, but also as citizens, role models for other young people, and future leaders of our communities and our state; and

WHEREAS, Through the Washington Scholars Program, the Governor, the Legislature, and the state's citizens have an opportunity to recognize and honor four outstanding seniors from each of the state's forty-nine legislative districts (3 Scholars and 1 Alternate) for the students' exceptional academic achievements, leadership abilities, and contributions to their communities;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives honor and congratulate the Washington Scholars and Washington Scholars-Alternates for their hard work, dedication, contributions, and maturity in achieving this significant accomplishment; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the families of these students be commended for the encouragement and support they have provided to the scholars; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the principals, teachers, and classmates of these highly esteemed students be recognized for the important part they played in helping the scholars to learn, contribute, lead, and excel; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to each of the Washington Scholars and Washington Scholars-Alternates selected in 2007.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4629 was adopted.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4630, by Representatives Moeller, Ross, Pedersen, Takko, Barlow, Seaquist, Hudgins, Hunt, Ericks, Appleton, Fromhold, Ormsby, Goodman, Morrell, Crouse, Eddy, Kristiansen, Rodne, McCoy, Wallace and Flannigan

WHEREAS, History was made on the morning of June 20, 1937, with the landing of Russian aviator Valery Chkalov, and his crew, Georgy Baidukov and Alexander Belyakov, in their single-engine aircraft ANT-25 at Pearson Army Airfield in Vancouver, Washington; and

WHEREAS, Chkalov completed the first nonstop flight across the North Pole setting a world aviation record by flying for 63 hours and 16 minutes over the North Pole from Schelkovo Air Field near Moscow, Russia to Vancouver, Washington; and

WHEREAS, In an international feat of great aviation significance, Chkalov set down at the Pearson Army Airfield in Vancouver, Washington; the oldest continuously operating general aviation airfield in the United States, where he and his crew were greeted by General George C. Marshall, commander of the Vancouver Barracks; and

WHEREAS, Citizens throughout the world were following this first transpolar flight, on radio and in the newspaper, as Valery Chkalov spoke on NBC Radio from the balcony of the stately Victorian-era Army military residence of General Marshall; and

WHEREAS, Chkalov proclaimed that like the Volga and Columbia Rivers, which flow on the same planet and ultimately merge into one and the same World Ocean, without interfering with one another, "Our peoples . . . should live in the same world in peace. Our joint efforts should beautify the ocean of human life"; and

WHEREAS, In the intervening years, the polar bridge established by the Chkalov flight has been the basis for numerous visits and exchanges between local residents and citizens and with Valery Chkalov's family and village, and has been kept alive by the long established Vancouver Chkalov Transpolar Flight Committee and, since 1999, the Chkalov Cultural Exchange Committee; and

WHEREAS, In 1975, Vancouver citizens dedicated a monument honoring the bravery of Valery Chkalov and his crew, thus making this flight the only one in the world with commemoratives marking both departure and arrival points; and

WHEREAS, The Russian Federation and many individual Russians have responded with friendship to this expression of international goodwill by visiting the City of Vancouver to lay flowers at the monument, and by hosting groups from Vancouver in Russia; and

WHEREAS, June 20, 2007, is the 70th Anniversary of the Transpolar Flight, and events honoring this historic event are being held in Russia this year as part of an official "State Event"; and

WHEREAS, The Chkalov Cultural Exchange Committee, a nonprofit organization in the state of Washington, along with the City of Vancouver, Clark County, and other governmental entities and officials are planning events and activities in the Vancouver-Portland area for an invited delegation from Russia;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives hereby acknowledge this historic flight and call upon the citizens of the State of Washington to join the citizens of Russia in celebrating the 70th Anniversary, and we extend a warm welcome to all Russian visitors who travel to Vancouver to participate in these events and encourage all Washington citizens to participate; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the City of Vancouver, Clark County, the Chkalov Cultural Exchange Committee, Russian Federation Minister of Foreign Affairs Sergey Lavrov, and the Russian Federation Minister of Defense Sergey Borisovich Ivanov.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4630 was adopted.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4632, by Representatives Cody, McDermott, Hudgins, Hasegawa, Rolfes and Hankins

WHEREAS, The House of Representatives has an interest in identifying and honoring extraordinary citizens in Washington state; and

WHEREAS, Steve Cox dedicated his life to serving and protecting the public, and he was no ordinary man but, as Governor Christine Gregoire said, "the embodiment of the best in public service"; and

WHEREAS, Cox earned his law degree and chose to use his education to protect the public as a deputy prosecutor; and

WHEREAS, Cox came to believe that he could make a bigger difference as a police officer, and he chose to become a sheriff's deputy in White Center, a high-crime area near where he grew up; and

WHEREAS, Every day he woke up and put on a bulletproof vest -- armor that he knew didn't make him invincible -- and put himself in the most dangerous possible situations; not to protect his family or his property, but to protect his neighbors and citizens whom he had never met before; and

WHEREAS, Cox did make a difference in that neighborhood, forming a special bond with the citizens and children there, with people in the White Center neighborhood yelling his name as he drove by and gathering around his patrol car whenever he stepped out; and

WHEREAS, Jack Brehan, who coached Cox in Little League baseball, said of Cox, "He was just a good kid, and he turned out to be a good man"; and

WHEREAS, Cox died in the line of duty when he was shot by a suspect that he was interviewing about an assault case; and

WHEREAS, Almost 2,000 mourners came to the funeral for Steve Cox, including law enforcement officers from around the Northwest, lawmakers, and Governor Gregoire; and

WHEREAS, Steve Cox left behind a wife, Maria, a young son, Bronson, and a stepdaughter, Nicole; and

WHEREAS, The best thing we can do to honor the memory of Steve Cox is to reach out to others in the same spirit of public service, to sacrifice ourselves to help our neighbors, to ask ourselves, "What would this good man do?" and then to do it, to fill the void, to finish the job he did every day with compassion, courage, and honor;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives recognize the life and service of Steve Cox and express our appreciation and admiration for his service and sacrifice on behalf of the people of the state of Washington.

Representatives Cody and Pearson spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4632 was adopted.

SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1464 was read the second time.

Representative Simpson moved the adoption of amendment (029):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that cleaning products are necessary for creating and maintaining sanitary conditions in state facilities and workplaces. However, chemicals contained in cleaning products can be released to the environment during normal use by evaporation of volatile components or by leaving residue on cleaned surfaces. Choosing less hazardous cleaning products for use in our workplaces and our facilities and taking steps to reduce exposure can minimize harmful impacts to office and custodial workers, improve indoor air quality, and reduce water and ambient air pollution. Purchasing and appropriate use of products that perform well and that have positive environmental attributes such as biodegradability, low toxicity, low volatile organic compound content, reduced packaging, and low life cycle energy use can reduce the environmental impact of routine cleaning activities while also ensuring cleaning effectiveness. Therefore, the legislature finds that the adoption of practices to select, procure, and use environmentally preferred products will benefit the environment and the health and safety of workers and visitors to state facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) All state agencies that purchase cleaning products or services must ensure that cleaning products have properties that minimize potential impacts to human health and the environment consistent with maintenance of the effectiveness of these products for the protection of public health and safety. For purposes of this chapter, "state agency" means any office, department, division, bureau, board, commission, or other agency of the state of Washington or of any subdivision thereof.

(2) The department of general administration, in consultation with the department of health and the department of ecology, shall consider nationally recognized accrediting information and provide consultation and guidance to state agencies to:

(a) Select and procure products and use practices that reduce or minimize the risks of harmful effects to employees, custodial workers, visitors, and other building occupants and to the environment;

(b) Promote adoption of practices endorsed by this chapter;

(c) Recognize state agencies that adopt and implement environmentally beneficial facility and workplace management policies and practices;

(d) Encourage contractors supplying goods and services to state agencies to select and procure such products; and

(e) Encourage lessors and building managers who provide leased space to state agencies to select and procure such products.

(3) The department of general administration, upon renewal of a lease and for all new leases, must require lessors and building managers who provide leased space to state agencies to use environmentally preferred products and practices.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) When procuring cleaning products, state agencies shall purchase environmentally preferred products or document the reasons for selecting nonpreferred products. The products must conform to guidance for environmentally preferred purchasing of cleaning products that may be provided under section 2 of this act, or must be products that have been identified by the department of general administration as compliant with this chapter.

(2) When there is a need to control the spread of germs, infection, and disease in areas where high levels of bacteria are present or in areas where mandated by law, the use of germicidal, disinfectants, and microbiological products to disinfect surfaces must be reported as required in subsection (3) of this section. The use of these products must be in accordance with responsible cleaning procedure requirements, including:

(a) Controlled and efficient use;

(b) Proper dilution, mixing, and handling;

(c) Following label instructions;

(d) Monitoring of chemical quantities used; and

(e) Compliance with chemical hazard communication and personal protective equipment use requirements under chapter 296-800 WAC.

(3) All state agencies that procure or use cleaning products shall prepare and submit a report electronically to the department of general administration biennially listing the amount and type of cleaning product used. When the use of nonpreferred products is reported, information must include the total number, type, and amount of nonpreferred products used and the reasons for their selection. Agency reports must be published on the department of general administration's web site and made available to employees and the general public.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Local governments and school districts are encouraged to review their purchasing and use of cleaning products and select those having properties that minimize potential impacts to human health and the environment consistent with section 2 of this act. The department of general administration shall encourage local governments and school districts that are members of the department of general administration's state purchasing cooperative to achieve the goals of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. State agencies shall transition to cleaning products having properties that minimize potential impacts to human health and the environment within six months of the effective date of this section in a manner that avoids waste of existing inventories, accommodates establishment of supply chains for new products, enables the training of personnel in appropriate work practices, and allows the phase out of products and practices inconsistent with this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Sections 1 through 5 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 70 RCW."

Correct the title.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4633, by Representatives Green, Morrell, Dickerson, Cody, Walsh, Roberts, Clibborn, Haigh, Darneille, Warnick, Takko, McDonald, Skinner, Hankins, Bailey, McCune, Ross and Hailey

WHEREAS, The Red Hat Society was founded in 1998 by Sue Ellen Cooper of Fullerton, California, as a social organization for women over 50 years old; and

WHEREAS, The Red Hat Society was inspired by Warning, a poem by Jenny Joseph, that starts, "When I am an old woman I shall wear purple/With a red hat that doesn't go and doesn't suit me"; and

WHEREAS, The 50 and over women of The Red Hat Society wear elaborately decorated red hats with purple dresses and clothing, while the junior postulants wear pink hats and lavender clothing until 50, when a "Reduation" takes place, where the pink hat is discarded and a red hat bestowed; and

WHEREAS, There are about 1 million registered members of The Red Hat Society, in 40,000 chapters in the United States and 25 countries; and

WHEREAS, The Red Hat Society, whose motto is "Red Hatters Matter," calls itself a "disorganization" and is proud of its lack of rules and bylaws, but takes seriously its responsibility to have fun; and

WHEREAS, Women of The Red Hat Society come from all walks of life, including working women, grandmothers, retirees, golfers, legislators, and teachers, as well as women who are widowed, married, and single; and

WHEREAS, The mission of The Red Hat Society is to gain higher visibility for aging women and to reshape the way they are viewed by today's culture, while "uniting under the umbrella of a red hat to have fun and bond in sisterhood"; and

WHEREAS, Red Hat Society chapters, which include leaders known as "Queen Mum" and members called "Red Hatters," hold social events, tea parties being the most popular pastime;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives celebrate this day by saying goodbye to burdensome responsibilities, at least for a while, and have fun!; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to members of The Red Hat Society.

Representative Green moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representatives Green and Warnick spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1131, by Representatives Dunshee, Haler, Kenney, Fromhold, Priest, Roberts, Jarrett, Kagi, Hunt, McDermott, Haigh, Ormsby, Chase, Wallace, Hudgins, Schual-Berke, Simpson, Conway, Morrell, Moeller and Santos

Creating the passport to college promise program.

The bill was read the second time.

There being no objection, Substitute House Bill No. 1131 was substituted for House Bill No. 1131 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1131 was read the second time.

Representative Dunshee moved the adoption of amendment (059):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1)(a) The legislature finds that in Washington, there are more than seven thousand three hundred children in foster family or group care. These children face unique obstacles and burdens as they transition to adulthood, including lacking continuity in their elementary and high school educations. As compared to the general population of students, twice as many foster care youth change schools at least once during their elementary and secondary school careers, and three times as many change schools at least three times. Only thirty-four percent of foster care youth graduate from high school within four years, compared to seventy percent for the general population. Of the former foster care youth who earn a high school diploma, more than twenty-eight percent earn a GED instead of a traditional high school diploma. This is almost six times the rate of the general population. Research indicates that GED holders tend not to be as economically successful as the holders of traditional high school diplomas. Only twenty percent of former foster care youth who earn a high school degree enroll in college, compared to over sixty percent of the population generally. Of the former foster care youth who do enroll in college, very few go on to earn a degree. Less than two percent of former foster care youth hold bachelor's degrees, compared to twenty-eight percent of Washington's population generally.

(b) Former foster care youth face two critical hurdles to enrolling in college. The first is a lack of information regarding preparation for higher education and their options for enrolling in higher education. The second is finding the financial resources to fund their education. As a result of the unique hurdles and challenges that face former foster care youth, a disproportionate number of them are part of society's large group of marginalized youth and are at increased risk of continuing the cycle of poverty and violence that frequently plagues their families.

(c) Former foster care youth suffer from mental health problems at a rate greater than that of the general population. For example, one in four former foster care youth report having suffered from posttraumatic stress disorder within the previous twelve months, compared to only four percent of the general population. Similarly, the incidence of major depression among former foster care youth is twice that of the general population, twenty percent versus ten percent.

(d) There are other barriers for former foster care youth to achieving successful adulthood. One-third of former foster care youth live in households that are at or below the poverty level. This is three times the rate for the general population. The percentage of former foster care youth who report being homeless within one year of leaving foster care varies from over ten percent to almost twenty-five percent. By comparison, only one percent of the general population reports having been homeless at sometime during the past year. One in three former foster care youth lack health insurance, compared to less than one in five people in the general population. One in six former foster care youth receive cash public assistance. This is five times the rate of the general population.

(e) Approximately twenty-five percent of former foster care youth are incarcerated at sometime after leaving foster care. This is four times the rate of incarceration for the general population. Of the former foster care youth who "age out" of foster care, twenty-seven percent of the males and ten percent of the females are incarcerated within twelve to eighteen months of leaving foster care.

(f) Female former foster care youth become sexually active more than seven months earlier than their nonfoster care counterparts, have more sexual partners, and have a mean age of first pregnancy of almost two years earlier than their peers who were not in foster care.

(2) The legislature further finds that a court may order a noncustodial parent to pay for some or all of their children's reasonable higher education costs. With respect to youth who have been in the foster care system during their adolescent years, and particularly with respect to youth who age out of the foster care system, the state has a duty to these youth that is not less than that of a noncustodial parent.

(3) The legislature intends to create the passport to college promise program that will have two primary components, as follows:

(a) Significantly increasing outreach to foster care youth between the ages of fourteen and eighteen regarding the higher education opportunities available to them, how to apply to college, and how to apply for and obtain financial aid; and

(b) Providing financial aid to former foster care youth to assist with the costs of their public undergraduate college education.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Cost of attendance" means the cost associated with attending a particular institution of higher education as determined by the higher education coordinating board, including but not limited to tuition, fees, room, board, books, personal expenses, and transportation, plus the cost of reasonable additional expenses incurred by an eligible student and approved by a financial aid administrator at the student's school of attendance. The amount provided for reasonable additional expenses shall not exceed one thousand dollars for every forty-five quarter or thirty semester credits, or the equivalent.

(2) "Eligible student" means a student who:

(a) Is between the ages of sixteen and twenty-six;

(b) Has been in foster care in the state of Washington for a minimum of one year since his or her fourteenth birthday. The higher education coordinating board and the state board for community and technical colleges may expand the definition of "eligible student" to include a student who has been in foster care in the state of Washington for a minimum of six months since his or her fourteenth birthday if the boards jointly find that the amount appropriated for the purposes of this chapter exceeds the amount necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter based on the number of eligible students enrolled at the state's institutions of higher education;

(c) Is a resident student, as defined in RCW 28B.15.012(2);

(d) Has enrolled with or will enroll on at least a half-time basis with an institution of higher education in Washington state by the age of twenty-one;

(e) Is making satisfactory progress toward the completion of a degree or certificate program;

(f) Has not earned a bachelor's or professional degree; and

(g) Is not pursuing a degree in theology.

(3) "Financial need" means the difference between a student's cost of attendance and the student's total family contribution as determined by the method prescribed by the United States department of education.

(4) "Independent college or university" means a private, nonprofit institution of higher education, open to residents of the state, providing programs of education beyond the high school level leading to at least the baccalaureate degree, and accredited by the Northwest association of schools and colleges, and other institutions as may be developed that are approved by the higher education coordinating board as meeting equivalent standards as those institutions accredited under this section.

(5) "Institution of higher education" means:

(a) Any public university, college, community college, or technical college operated by the state of Washington or any political subdivision thereof; or

(b) Any independent college or university in Washington; or

(c) Any other university, college, school, or institute in the state of Washington offering instruction beyond the high school level that is a member institution of an accrediting association recognized by rule of the higher education coordinating board for the purposes of this section: PROVIDED, That any institution, branch, extension, or facility operating within the state of Washington that is affiliated with an institution operating in another state must be a separately accredited member institution of any such accrediting association, or a branch of a member institution of an accrediting association recognized by rule of the board for purposes of this section, that is eligible for federal student financial aid assistance and has operated as a nonprofit college or university delivering on-site classroom instruction for a minimum of twenty consecutive years within the state of Washington, and has an annual enrollment of at least seven hundred full-time equivalent students.

(6) "Program" means the passport to college promise program created in this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The passport to college promise program is created. The purpose of the program is:

(1) To encourage current and former foster care youth to prepare for, attend, and successfully complete higher education; and

(2) To provide current and former foster care youth with the educational planning, information, institutional support, and direct financial resources necessary for them to succeed in higher education.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) Institutions of higher education are encouraged to recruit and actively assist current and former foster care youth to attend institutions of higher education. Any institution of higher education that receives funds under this chapter must provide enrolled eligible students with comprehensive guidance regarding the financial aid process.

(2) For fiscal year 2008, the office of financial management shall allocate the appropriation made for the purposes of this section between the higher education coordinating board and the state board for community and technical colleges. The allocation shall be based on and in proportion to the historical enrollment of former foster care youth ages sixteen to twenty-six from 2001 to 2006 at the community and technical colleges in Washington state and at the four-year institutions of higher education in Washington state. Thereafter, the office of financial management shall allocate the funds appropriated for the purposes of this section based on the prior academic year's enrollments of former foster care youth ages sixteen to twenty-six at the community and technical colleges and at the four-year institutions of higher education.

(3) Up to the amount allocated to the state board for community and technical colleges for the purposes of this section, for every eligible student enrolled in a community or technical college in this state who earns forty-five quarter or thirty semester credits, or the equivalent, from a particular community or technical college, the state board for community and technical colleges shall award the college three thousand five hundred dollars. Thereafter, the state board for community and technical colleges shall award the college an additional two thousand five hundred dollars for every additional forty-five quarter or thirty semester credits, or the equivalent, the eligible student earns from the college, until the student has earned ninety quarter or sixty semester college credits, or met other certification or training requirements established by the state board for community and technical colleges.

(4) Up to the amount allocated to the higher education coordinating board for the purposes of this section, for every eligible student enrolled at a four-year institution of higher education who earns forty-five quarter or thirty semester credits, or the equivalent, from a particular four-year institution, the higher education coordinating board shall award the institution three thousand five hundred dollars. Thereafter, the higher education coordinating board shall award the institution an additional two thousand five hundred dollars for every additional forty-five quarter or thirty semester credits, or the equivalent, the eligible student earns from the institution, until the student has earned one hundred eighty quarter or one hundred twenty semester college credits.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) Subject to the availability of funds appropriated for this purpose to the higher education coordinating board, the purpose of this section is to provide supplemental scholarships to cover the full, effective, and true cost of attendance for eligible students' undergraduate higher education. However, in no instance shall the annual amount of an eligible student's scholarship under this section exceed the lower of (a) the cost of attendance at the institution of higher education attended by the student, plus the cost of reasonable additional expenses incurred by an eligible student and approved by a financial aid administrator at the student's school of attendance, or (b) the resident undergraduate cost of attendance at the University of Washington per academic year for a full-time student, plus the cost of reasonable additional expenses incurred by an eligible student and approved by a financial aid administrator at the student's school of attendance. The amount provided for reasonable additional expenses under this section shall not exceed one thousand dollars for every forty-five quarter or thirty semester credits, or the equivalent.

(2) The institution of higher education at which an eligible student is enrolled shall award the student all available need-based and merit-based financial aid that the student qualifies for, not including loans. An eligible student may choose to include work-study funds in the financial aid package provided by the institution of higher education.

(3) Subject to the limitation set forth in subsection (1) of this section, the institution of higher education at which an eligible student is enrolled shall provide each eligible student with a supplemental scholarship equal to the difference between the student's financial need and the amount of financial aid awarded to the student under subsection (2) of this section.

(4) Each institution of higher education providing supplemental scholarships under this section shall submit, at least annually, a request for reimbursement to the higher education coordinating board for the amount of the supplemental scholarships provided to eligible students. The higher education coordinating board shall timely reimburse the individual institutions of higher education for the amount of the supplemental scholarships from funds appropriated to the board for this purpose.

(5) A student receiving a scholarship under this section shall meet the satisfactory academic progress requirements of the student's school of attendance as monitored by the school's financial aid office.

(6) An eligible student is eligible to receive a scholarship under this section for a maximum of five years after the student first enrolls with an institution of higher education or until the student turns age twenty-six, whichever occurs first. If a student turns age twenty-six during an academic year, and would otherwise be eligible for a scholarship under this section, the student shall continue to be eligible for a scholarship for the remainder of the academic year.

(7) The higher education coordinating board shall perform an annual analysis to ensure that those institutions of higher education at which students have received a scholarship under this section during the previous academic year are in compliance with this section, including the requirement that other available sources of financial aid be used before the use of scholarship funds under this section.

(8) To allow institutions of higher education to readily identify students who may be eligible for a scholarship under this section, all institutions of higher education shall include on their applications for undergraduate or relevant admission or on their registration materials a question asking whether the applicant has been in foster care in Washington state since his or her fourteenth birthday. An institution shall not consider whether an applicant may be eligible for a scholarship under this section when deciding whether the applicant will be granted admission to the institution.

(9) The higher education coordinating board may adopt rules to implement this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) The state board for community and technical colleges, with input from the higher education coordinating board and institutions of higher education, shall develop and maintain an internet web site and outreach program to serve as a comprehensive portal for foster care youth in Washington state to obtain information regarding higher education including, but not necessarily limited to:

(a) Academic, social, family, financial, and logistical information important to successful postsecondary educational success;

(b) How and when to obtain and complete college applications;

(c) What college placement tests, if any, are generally required for admission to college and when and how to register for such tests;

(d) How and when to obtain and complete a federal free application for federal student aid (FAFSA); and

(e) Detailed sources of financial aid likely available to eligible former foster care youth, including the financial aid provided by this chapter.

(2) The state board for community and technical colleges shall determine whether to design, build, and operate such program and web site directly or to use, support, and modify existing web sites created by government or nongovernmental entities for a similar purpose.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) The department of social and health services, with input from the state board for community and technical colleges, the higher education coordinating board, and institutions of higher education, shall contract with at least one nongovernmental entity through a request for proposals process to develop, implement, and administer a program of supplemental educational transition planning for youth in foster care in Washington state.

(2) The nongovernmental entity or entities chosen by the department shall have demonstrated success in working with foster care youth and assisting foster care youth in successfully making the transition from foster care to independent adulthood.

(3) The selected nongovernmental entity or entities shall provide supplemental educational transition planning to foster care youth in Washington state beginning at age fourteen and then at least every six months thereafter. The supplemental transition planning shall include:

(a) Comprehensive information regarding postsecondary educational opportunities including, but not limited to, sources of financial aid, institutional characteristics and record of support for former foster care youth, transportation, housing, and other logistical considerations;

(b) How and when to apply to postsecondary educational programs;

(c) What precollege tests, if any, the particular foster care youth should take based on his or her postsecondary plans and when to take the tests;

(d) What courses to take to prepare the particular foster care youth to succeed at his or her postsecondary plans;

(e) Social, community, educational, logistical, and other issues that frequently impact college students and their success rates; and

(f) Which web sites, nongovernmental entities, public agencies, and other foster care youth support providers specialize in which services.

(4) The selected nongovernmental entity or entities shall work directly with the school counselors at the foster care youths' high schools to ensure that a consistent and complete transition plan has been prepared for each foster care youth who emancipates out of the foster care system in Washington state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) The state board for community and technical colleges shall monitor and analyze the academic progress of community and technical college students who receive scholarships under this chapter and the higher education coordinating board shall monitor and analyze the academic progress of students enrolled at four-year institutions of higher education who receive scholarships under this chapter.

(2) The higher education coordinating board and the state board for community and technical colleges shall consult with each other and shall submit a report regarding the number of students who have received scholarships under this chapter and the academic progress of those students to the higher education committees of the senate and the house of representatives by January 15, 2010.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Nothing in this chapter may be construed to:

(1) Guarantee acceptance by, or entrance into, any institution of higher education; or

(2) Limit the participation of youth, in or formerly in, foster care in Washington state in any other program of financial assistance for postsecondary education.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Sections 1 through 9 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 28B RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. If specific funding for the purposes of this act, referencing this act by bill or chapter number, is not provided by June 30, 2007, in the omnibus appropriations act, this act is null and void."

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 18.20 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall require emergency response plans for all boarding homes licensed under this chapter. The emergency response plans shall include detailed written plans and procedures to address potential emergencies and disasters such as fires, earthquakes, floods, and wind storms. The plans must provide for an alternative power source that provides the facility with a minimum of seventy-two hours of emergency power, unless additional hours are required by state or federal regulations. The alternative power source must provide enough power for any emergency life support systems and medical equipment, lighting for emergency evacuations and in dining and recreation areas, and heating equipment to provide heating for resident rooms or a room or rooms to which all residents can be moved. The facility shall coordinate its emergency response plan with a local organization for emergency management established in accordance with the state comprehensive emergency management plan, as provided in RCW 38.52.070.

(2) Boarding homes under this section shall train all employees in emergency procedures when they begin working at the facility, periodically review emergency procedures with existing staff, and carry out quarterly drills using those procedures including fully evacuating the facility once each calendar year.

(3) The department may adopt fire emergency evacuation drill standards that consider the fire and life safety construction features of the building.

(4) The department shall review emergency response plans as part of the facility inspection, to determine compliance with this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 18.51 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall require emergency response plans for all nursing homes licensed under this chapter. The emergency response plans shall include detailed written plans and procedures to address potential emergencies and disasters such as fires, earthquakes, floods, and wind storms. The plans must provide for an alternative power source that provides the facility with a minimum of ninety-six hours of emergency power. The alternative power source must provide enough power for any emergency life support systems and medical equipment, lighting for emergency evacuations and in dining and recreation areas, and heating equipment to provide heating for resident rooms or a room or rooms to which all residents can be moved. The facility shall coordinate its emergency response plan with a local organization for emergency management established in accordance with the state comprehensive emergency management plan, as provided in RCW 38.52.070.

(2) Nursing homes under this section shall train all employees in emergency procedures when they begin working at the facility, periodically review emergency procedures with existing staff, and carry out quarterly drills using those procedures.

(3) The department may adopt fire emergency evacuation drill standards that consider the fire and life safety construction features of the building.

(4) The department shall review emergency response plans as part of the facility inspection, to determine compliance with this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 70.128 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall require emergency response plans for all adult family homes licensed under this chapter. The emergency response plans shall include detailed written plans and procedures to address potential emergencies and disasters such as fires, earthquakes, floods, and wind storms. The plans must provide for an approved alternative heat source. An adult family home that serves residents on life support systems must provide an alternative power source. The facility shall coordinate its emergency response plan with a local organization for emergency management established in accordance with the state comprehensive emergency management plan, as provided in RCW 38.52.070.

(2) Adult family homes under this section shall train all employees in emergency procedures when they begin working at the facility, periodically review emergency procedures with existing staff, and carry out quarterly drills using those procedures including fully evacuating the facility once each calendar year.

(3) The department may adopt fire emergency evacuation drill standards that consider the fire and life safety construction features of the building.

(4) The department is authorized to waive the requirement that an adult family home have an approved alternative heat source if the home demonstrates a financial hardship. Adult family homes receiving a waiver under this subsection shall display prominently their absence of a backup heat source to current and potential residents.

(5) The department shall review emergency response plans as part of the facility inspection, to determine compliance with this section.

Sec. 4. RCW 71A.12.080 and 1988 c 176 s 208 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The secretary shall adopt rules concerning the eligibility of residents of residential habilitation centers for placement in community residential programs under this title; determination of ability of such persons or their estates to pay all or a portion of the cost of care, support, and training; the manner and method of licensing or certification and inspection and approval of such community residential programs for placement under this title; and procedures for the payment of costs of care, maintenance, and training in community residential programs. The rules shall include standards for care, maintenance, and training to be met by such community residential programs. The rules may also include standards for health, safety, and emergency response planning.

(2) The secretary shall coordinate state activities and resources relating to placement in community residential programs to help efficiently expend state and local resources and, to the extent designated funds are available, create an effective community residential program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The department of social and health services shall adopt rules implementing this act."

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2007-4626, by Representatives Dickerson, Green, Schual-Berke, Takko, Haigh, Wallace, Simpson, Van De Wege, Cody, McDermott, Quall, Chase, Eickmeyer and Conway

WHEREAS, People with all kinds of disabilities have the right to live and work in communities with equal rights as equal citizens; and

WHEREAS, Living in a home in the community of your choice, free from isolation and segregation, is one key to achieving the American dream; and

WHEREAS, Those with disabilities are no longer willing to accept a fate that separates or excludes them; and

WHEREAS, Approximately 832,000 people in Washington state have a disability requiring personal assistance services by family members, providers, and community organizations; and

WHEREAS, There are several independent living centers in Washington state working with individuals with disabilities on obtaining access to housing, employment, transportation, recreational facilities, and health and social services; and

WHEREAS, People live happier, more fulfilled lives when they are able to actively contribute to society by working, volunteering, and participating in community events; and

WHEREAS, With the assistance of over 32,000 home and personal care workers in Washington state who are working to reduce unnecessary institutionalization and promote integration into community life, independent living is no longer an unattainable dream; and

WHEREAS, Living independently gives people the option to manage their own services, increasing control over their own decisions and lives; and

WHEREAS, Independent living empowers individuals with disabilities by creating opportunities, promoting choice, advancing access, and furthering participation in community life; and

WHEREAS, Governor Gregoire has proclaimed March 7, 2007, as Independent Living Day;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State House of Representatives honor and support the independence and rights of all individuals with disabilities on March 7, 2007, Independent Living Day.

On page 6, line 29, after "RCW" insert "and any person exempted from licensing under chapter 19.146 RCW by RCW 19.146.020"

Representatives Kelley and Roach spoke in favor of the adoption of the amendment.

The amendment was adopted.

Representative Buri moved the adoption of amendment (045):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 19.182.170 and 2005 c 342 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A ~~((victim of identity theft who has submitted a valid police report to a consumer reporting agency))~~ consumer, who is a resident of this state, may elect to place a security freeze on his or her credit report by making a request in writing by certified mail to a consumer reporting agency. "Security freeze" means a ~~((notice placed in a consumer's credit report, at the request of the consumer and subject to certain exceptions, that prohibits the consumer reporting agency from releasing the consumer's credit report or any information from it without the express authorization of the consumer))~~ prohibition, consistent with this section, on a consumer reporting agency's ~~furnishing of a consumer's credit report to a third party intending to use the credit report to determine the consumer's eligibility for credit.~~ If a security freeze is in place, information from a consumer's credit report may not be released to a third party without prior express authorization from the consumer. This subsection does not prevent a consumer reporting agency from advising a third party that a security freeze is in effect with respect to the consumer's credit report.

(2) For purposes of this section and RCW 19.182.180 through 19.182.210~~(, -a)~~:

(a) "Victim of identity theft" means~~(:~~

~~(a) A victim of identity theft as defined in RCW 9.35.020; or~~
~~(b) A person who has been notified by an agency, person, or business that owns or licenses computerized data of a breach in a computerized data system which has resulted in the acquisition of that person's unencrypted personal information by an unauthorized person or entity))~~ a person who has a police report evidencing their claim to be a victim of a violation of RCW 9.35.020 and which report will be produced to a credit reporting agency, upon such credit reporting agency's request.

(b) "Credit report" means a consumer report, as defined in 15 U.S.C. Sec. 1681a, that is used or collected to serve as a factor in establishing a consumer's eligibility for credit for personal, family, or household purposes.

(c) "Normal business hours" means Sunday through Saturday, between the hours of 6:00 a.m. and 9:30 p.m. Pacific Standard Time.

(3) A consumer reporting agency shall place a security freeze on a consumer's credit report no later than five business days after receiving a written request from the consumer and payment of the fee required by the consumer credit reporting agency under subsection (13) of this section.

(4) The consumer reporting agency shall send a written confirmation of the security freeze to the consumer within ten business days and shall provide the consumer with a unique personal identification number or password to be used by the consumer when providing authorization for the release of his or her credit report for a specific party or period of time.

(5) If the consumer wishes to allow his or her credit report to be accessed for a specific ~~((party or))~~ period of time while a freeze is in place, he or she shall contact the consumer reporting agency, request that the freeze be temporarily lifted, and provide the following:

(a) Proper identification, which means that information generally deemed sufficient to identify a person. Only if the consumer is unable to sufficiently identify himself or herself, may a consumer reporting agency require additional information concerning the consumer's employment and personal or family history in order to verify his or her identity;

(b) The unique personal identification number or password provided by the credit reporting agency under subsection (4) of this section; ~~((and))~~

(c) The proper information regarding ~~((the third party who is to receive the credit report or))~~ the time period for which the report is available to users of the credit report; and

(d) Payment of the fee required by the consumer credit reporting agency under subsection (13) of this section.

(6) A consumer reporting agency that receives a request from a consumer to temporarily lift a freeze on a credit report under subsection (5) of this section~~(;)~~ shall comply with the request ~~((no later than))~~ within:

(a) Three business days ((after)) of receiving the request by mail; or

(b) Fifteen minutes of receiving the request from the consumer through the electronic contact method chosen by the consumer reporting agency in accordance with subsection (8) of this section, if the request:

(i) Is received during normal business hours; and

(ii) Includes the consumer's proper identification and correct personal identification number or password.

(7) A consumer reporting agency is not required to remove a security freeze within the time provided in subsection (6)(b) of this section if:

(a) The consumer fails to meet the requirements of subsection (5) of this section; or

(b) The consumer reporting agency's ability to remove the security freeze within fifteen minutes is prevented by:

(i) An act of God, including fire, earthquakes, hurricanes, storms, or similar natural disasters or phenomena;

(ii) Unauthorized or illegal acts by a third party, including terrorism, sabotage, riot, vandalism, labor strikes, or disputes disrupting operations, or similar occurrences;

(iii) An interruption in operations, including electrical failure, unanticipated delay in equipment or replacement part delivery, computer hardware or software failures inhibiting response time, or similar disruptions;

(iv) Governmental action, including emergency orders or regulations, judicial or law enforcement action, or similar directives;

(v) Regularly scheduled maintenance of, or updates to, the consumer reporting agency's systems outside of normal business hours;

(vi) Commercially reasonable maintenance of, or repair to, the consumer reporting agency's systems that is unexpected or unscheduled; or

(vii) Receipt of a removal request outside of normal business hours.

(8) A consumer reporting agency may develop procedures involving the use of telephone, fax, the internet, or other electronic media to receive and process a request from a consumer to temporarily lift a freeze on a credit report under subsection (5) of this section in an expedited manner.

~~((8))~~ (9) A consumer reporting agency shall remove or temporarily lift a freeze placed on a consumer's credit report only in the following cases:

(a) Upon consumer request, under subsection (5) or ~~((11))~~ (12) of this section; or

(b) When the consumer's credit report was frozen due to a material misrepresentation of fact by the consumer. When a consumer reporting agency intends to remove a freeze upon a consumer's credit report under this subsection, the consumer reporting agency shall notify the consumer in writing prior to removing the freeze on the consumer's credit report.

~~((9))~~ (10) When a third party requests access to a consumer credit report on which a security freeze is in effect, and this request is in connection with an application for credit or any other use, and the consumer does not allow his or her credit report to be accessed for that ~~((specific party or))~~ period of time, the third party may treat the application as incomplete.

~~((10))~~ (11) When a consumer requests a security freeze, the consumer reporting agency shall disclose the process of placing and temporarily lifting a freeze, and the process for allowing access to information from the consumer's credit report for a specific ~~((party or))~~ period of time while the freeze is in place.

~~((11))~~ (12) A security freeze remains in place until the consumer requests that the security freeze be removed. A consumer reporting agency shall remove a security freeze within three business days of receiving a request for removal from the consumer, who provides ~~((both))~~ all of the following:

(a) Proper identification, as defined in subsection (5)(a) of this section; ~~((and))~~

(b) The unique personal identification number or password provided by the consumer reporting agency under subsection (4) of this section; and

(c) Payment of the fee required by the consumer credit reporting agency under subsection (13) of this section.

~~((12))~~ (13)(a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, a consumer credit reporting agency may charge a fee of no more than ten dollars to a consumer for placement of each freeze, temporary lift of the freeze, or removal of the freeze.

(b) A consumer credit reporting agency may not charge a fee to place a security freeze for a victim of identity theft or for a consumer, who is sixty-five years old or older.

(14) This section does not apply to the use of a consumer credit report by any of the following:

(a) A person or entity, or a subsidiary, affiliate, or agent of that person or entity, or an assignee of a financial obligation owing by the consumer to that person or entity, or a prospective assignee of a financial obligation owing by the consumer to that person or entity in conjunction with the proposed purchase of the financial obligation, with which the consumer has or had prior to assignment an account or contract, including a demand deposit account, or to whom the consumer issued a negotiable instrument, for the purposes of reviewing the account or collecting the financial obligation owing for the account, contract, or negotiable instrument. For purposes of this subsection, "reviewing the account" includes activities related to account maintenance, monitoring, credit line increases, and account upgrades and enhancements;

~~(b) ((A subsidiary, affiliate, agent, assignee, or prospective assignee of a person to whom access has been granted under subsection (5) of this section for purposes of facilitating the extension of credit or other permissible use;~~

~~((c))~~ Any federal, state, or local entity, including a law enforcement agency, court, or their agents or assigns;

~~((d) A private collection agency))~~ (c) Any person acting under a court order, warrant, or subpoena;

~~((e))~~ (d) A child support agency acting under Title IV-D of the social security act (42 U.S.C. et seq.);

~~((f))~~ (e) The department of social and health services acting to fulfill any of its statutory responsibilities;

~~((g))~~ (f) The internal revenue service acting to investigate or collect delinquent taxes or unpaid court orders or to fulfill any of its other statutory responsibilities;

~~((h))~~ (g) The use of credit information for the purposes of prescreening as provided for by the federal fair credit reporting act;

~~((i))~~ (h) Any person or entity administering a credit file monitoring subscription service to which the consumer has subscribed; ~~((and~~

~~((j))~~ (i) Any person or entity for the purpose of providing a consumer with a copy of his or her credit report upon the consumer's request; and

(j) A mortgage broker or loan originator required to be licensed under chapter 19.146 RCW.

(15) Liability may not result to the consumer credit reporting agency if through inadvertence or mistake the consumer credit reporting agency releases credit report information to a person or entity purporting to be a mortgage broker or loan originator under subsection (14) of this section that is, in fact, not a mortgage broker or loan originator.

(16) The consumer's request for a security freeze does not prohibit the consumer reporting agency from disclosing the consumer's credit report for other than credit-related purposes.

(17) A violation of subsection (6) of this section does not provide a cause of action under RCW 19.86.090. A violation of subsection (6) of this section is subject to all other remedies and penalties available under this chapter.

Representative Eddy moved the adoption of amendment (064):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature intends to promote the safe condition and operation of cranes used in construction work by establishing certification requirements for construction cranes and qualifications for construction crane operators. The legislature intends that standards for safety of construction cranes and for certification of personnel operating cranes in construction work be established.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 49.17 RCW to read as follows:

The definitions in this section apply throughout sections 2 through 5 of this act unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Apprentice operator or trainee" means a crane operator who has not met requirements established by the department under section 5 of this act.

(2) "Attachments" includes, but is not limited to, crane-attached or suspended hooks, magnets, grapples, clamshell buckets, orange peel buckets, concrete buckets, drag lines, personnel platforms, augers, or drills and pile-driving equipment.

(3) "Certified crane inspector" means a crane inspector who has been certified by the department.

(4) "Construction" means all or any part of excavation, construction, erection, alteration, repair, demolition, and dismantling of buildings and other structures and all related operations; the excavation, construction, alteration, and repair of sewers, trenches, caissons, conduits, pipelines, roads, and all related operations; the moving of buildings and other structures, and the construction, alteration, repair, or removal of wharfs, docks, bridges, culverts, trestles, piers, abutments, or any other related construction, alteration, repair, or removal work. "Construction" does not include manufacturing facilities or powerhouses.

(5) "Crane" means power-operated equipment used in construction that can hoist, lower, and horizontally move a suspended load. "Crane" includes, but is not limited to: Articulating cranes, such as knuckle-boom cranes; crawler cranes; floating cranes; cranes on barges; locomotive cranes; mobile cranes, such as wheel-mounted, rough-terrain, all-terrain, commercial truck mounted, and boom truck cranes; multipurpose machines when configured to hoist and lower by means of a winch or hook and horizontally move a suspended load; industrial cranes, such as carry-deck cranes; dedicated pile drivers; service/mechanic trucks with a hoisting device; a crane on a monorail; tower cranes, such as fixed jib, hammerhead boom, luffing boom, and self-erecting; pedestal cranes; portal cranes; overhead and gantry cranes; straddle cranes; side-boom tractors; derricks; and variations of such equipment.

(6) "Crane operator" means an individual engaged in the operation of a crane.

(7) "Professional engineer" means a professional engineer as defined in RCW 18.43.020.

(8) "Qualified crane operator" means a crane operator who meets the requirements established by the department under section 5 of this act.

(9) "Safety or health standard" means a standard adopted under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 49.17 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Sections 2 through 5 of this act apply to cranes used with or without attachments.

(2) Sections 2 through 5 of this act do not apply to:

(a) A crane while it has been converted or adapted for a nonhoisting or nonlifting use including, but not limited to, power shovels, excavators, and concrete pumps;

(b) Power shovels, excavators, wheel loaders, backhoes, loader backhoes, and track loaders when used with or without chains, slings, or other rigging to lift suspended loads;

(c) Automotive wreckers and tow trucks when used to clear wrecks and haul vehicles;

(d) Service trucks with mobile lifting devices designed specifically for use in the power line and electric service industries, such as digger derricks (radial boom derricks), when used in the power line and electric service industries for auguring holes to set power and utility poles, or handling associated materials to be installed or removed from utility poles;

(e) Equipment originally designed as vehicle-mounted aerial devices (for lifting personnel) and self-propelled elevating work platforms;

(f) Hydraulic jacking systems, including telescopic/hydraulic gantries;

(g) Stacker cranes;

(h) Powered industrial trucks (forklifts);

(i) Mechanic's truck with a hoisting device when used in activities related to equipment maintenance and repair;

(j) Equipment that hoists by using a come-along or chainfall;

(k) Dedicated drilling rigs;

(l) Gin poles used for the erection of communication towers;

(m) Tree trimming and tree removal work;

(n) Anchor handling with a vessel or barge using an affixed A-frame;

(o) Roustabouts;

(p) Cranes used on-site in manufacturing facilities or powerhouses for occasional or routine maintenance and repair work; and

(q) Crane operators operating cranes on-site in manufacturing facilities or powerhouses for occasional or routine maintenance and repair work.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 49.17 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall establish, by rule, a crane certification program for cranes used in construction. In establishing rules, the department shall consult nationally recognized crane standards.

(2) The crane certification program must include, at a minimum, the following:

(a) The department shall establish certification requirements for crane inspectors, including an experience requirement, an education requirement, a training requirement, and other necessary requirements determined by the director;

(b) The department shall establish a process for certified crane inspectors to issue temporary certificates of operation for a crane and the department to issue a final certificate of operation for a crane after a certified crane inspector determines that the crane meets safety or health standards, including meeting or exceeding national periodic inspection requirements recognized by the department;

(c) Crane owners must ensure that cranes are inspected and load proof tested by a certified crane inspector at least annually and after any significant modification or significant repairs of structural parts. If the use of weights for a unit proof load test is not possible or reasonable, other recording test equipment may be used. In adopting rules implementing this requirement, the department may consider similar standards and practices used by the federal government;

(d) Tower cranes and tower crane assembly parts must be inspected by a certified crane inspector both prior to assembly and following erection of a tower crane;

(e) Before installation of a nonstandard tower crane base, the engineering design of the nonstandard base shall be reviewed and acknowledged as acceptable by an independent professional engineer;

(f) A certified crane inspector must notify the department and the crane owner if, after inspection, the certified crane inspector finds that the crane does not meet safety or health standards. A certified crane inspector shall not attest that a crane meets safety or health standards until any deficiencies are corrected and the correction is verified by the certified crane inspector; and

(g) Inspection reports including all information and documentation obtained from a crane inspection shall be made available or provided to the department by a certified crane inspector upon request.

(3) Except as provided in section 3(2) of this act, any crane operated in the state must have a valid temporary or final certificate of operation issued by the certified crane inspector or department posted in the operator's cab or station.

(4) Certificates of operation issued by the department under the crane certification program established in this section are valid for one year from the effective date of the temporary operating certificate issued by the certified crane inspector.

(5) This section does not apply to maritime cranes regulated by the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 49.17 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Except for training purposes as provided in subsection (3) of this section, an employer or contractor shall not permit a crane operator to operate a crane unless the crane operator is a qualified crane operator.

(2) The department shall establish, by rule, requirements that must be met to be considered a qualified crane operator. In establishing rules, the department shall consult nationally recognized crane standards for crane operator certification. The rules must include, at a minimum, the following:

(a) The crane operator must have a valid crane operator certificate, for the type of crane to be operated, issued by a crane operator testing organization accredited by a nationally recognized accrediting agency which administers written and practical examinations, has procedures for recertification that enable the crane operator to recertify at least every five years, and is recognized by the department;

(b) The crane operator must have up to two thousand hours of documented crane operator experience, which meets experience levels established by the department for crane types and capacities by rule; and

(c) The crane operator must pass a substance abuse test conducted by a recognized laboratory service.

(3) An apprentice operator or trainee may operate a crane when:
