

SIXTY FIFTH LEGISLATURE - REGULAR SESSION

FIRST DAY

House Chamber, Olympia, Monday, January 8, 2018

The House was called to order at 12:00 p.m. by the Speaker. The Clerk called the roll and a quorum was present.

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by The Washington State Patrol Honor Guard, Commanded by Corporal Ian Morhous. The Speaker led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. The National Anthem was performed by Crystal Wolf, Lakewood. The prayer was offered by Rabbi Yohanna Kinberg, Congregation Kol Ami, Woodinville, Washington.

Rabbi Yohanna Kinberg: "This Prayer was written in collaboration with my congregation in Woodinville. I solicited blessings from them to you and wove them into this blessing for you. A prayer for those who carry the will of the people in their hands and in their hearts. As you enter this season of lawmaking, of intensive service, of unknown opportunities for yourselves and our state, may you, and all those who support you in this work, be blessed with fulfillment in your service. Blessed with good health and enduring energy. May you be blessed with abundant kindness and compassion and may this kindness be written into all that you do. Furthermore, may you be blessed with courage and integrity, truthfulness and generosity. May you be blessed, each of you, with an ability to listen for understanding and a desire to seek out opinions not shared. And also be blessed, loyal servants and leaders of the people, with an unyielding desire to reach across any canyons that separate us as a society, and an openness to seize all opportunities for unity and shared goals. May the works of your hands and the service of your hearts, bring joy and pride, peace and tranquility, justice and prosperity to our beloved state of Washington and all who dwell within, Amen."

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

The Speaker asked the members to join him in a moment of silence for the recent tragedies in Pierce County.

Format changed to accommodate text.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the third order of business.

With the consent of the House, Tina Orwall was elected Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore.

OATH OF OFFICE

Chief Justice Mary Fairhurst administered the Oath of Office to Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore Orwall.

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

The Speaker thanked Chief Justice Fairhurst for administering the Oaths of Office.

The Speaker thanked Crystal Wolf for singing the National Anthem.

Mr. Speaker: "Well, welcome to Olympia! We are able to serve in this House because of the support we have received from back home, our communities, our jobs, and our families.

I'd like to start by recognizing and thanking my wife, Nancy Long. Now, let's recognize all the spouses and family members that are here today.

For many years, we have focused on the idea of One Washington, where we bring folks together for common purpose. Where we look out for communities all across the state. Where we give everyone a fair shake, and where we act, by putting people first. With these values in mind, this House has provided the leadership and the vision, and the policies to better the lives of the people we serve.

It's worth taking inventory of what we've accomplished the last few years. By carrying out our paramount duty, we provided the greatest increase in basic education funding in state history! By expanding and improving early learning, we made the wisest investment in a generation! By building on our Apple Health program, we created the greatest extension of health care in decades! By introducing paid family leave, we enacted the largest expansion of social security in generations! My parents would be proud. By enacting the Dream Act and Marriage Equality, we again confirmed our belief in basic human rights! By passing innovative legislation like Joel's Law, Ricky's Law, and Sheena's Law, and by making strong investments, we are improving mental health care for our friends and family members across the state, and by investing in transportation and infrastructure, we are creating the greatest number of public works projects and jobs in state history! For each of these achievements, this House led the way. For example, we created the framework for greater funding of basic education, years before the courts issued the McCleary decision.

I want to congratulate all of you for demonstrating that the State Legislature is dedicated to improving the lives of the people of our state. We do this work, not for the glory, certainly not for the money, and not for the courts. We do this work for the people. Using common sense, we work together for the common good.

Many advances have been made, but there is much more to do. This year, we have 60 days, and am I right to assume that you want to finish on time? Well then, we need to move fast to address some key priorities. Equal pay for women. Voting rights for all our citizens. Jobs for folks in rural areas. A capital budget for school construction and infrastructure. Homes and hope for those with mental illness. Care and treatment for people fighting drug addictions. Breakfast After the Bell to help our students do well in school. A new vision for education beyond high school, with better opportunities for apprenticeships, certificates and degrees. Accountability in government functions and transparency in campaign contributions. And in the State Capitol community, we can confirm our commitment to freedom from harassment and misconduct by anyone, no matter their position or power.

Now, regardless of what happens or doesn't happen in the other Washington, we must continue health care for our children. Our Apple Health for All Kids program is one of the best in the nation, with 97 percent of our young people covered. Now, we all know that in order to do well in school, students should be healthy and ready to learn. And in view of recent news back in DC, we must be ever vigilant in protecting our shores from oil spills - after all, we are the Evergreen State! We must ensure a legacy of clean air and water, and healthy forests for the next generation. This is the promise of One Washington.

Working together in good faith, our accomplishments will continue as long as there are people like you willing to make that happen. So, we have a lot to do - Let's get to work! Thank you very much."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Kristiansen: "Good afternoon. Thank you very much. Mr. Speaker I want to thank you for your words. It was interesting, I was going over my proposed speech here and I think there was a leak, breach, or something because half of your speech was written down right here. So I've re-written it in my head. We'll see how this goes. First of all as was acknowledged a little bit earlier, we've got a change that's taken place down here in the Legislature. The 39th district, my district which I've now become the senior member just in the last few months has got a new member - Carolyn Eslick, to replace John Koster. I want to thank you for putting your name in the hat. But many of you may not know that Senator Pearson has also left the Legislature and was actually just replaced just the other day. And until somebody decides they want to hire me for another job you're stuck with me. At this stage of the game, I want to talk about just a couple of things briefly. And Mr. Speaker, I want to thank you for acknowledging the words of Bill Graham, One Washington. Bill was a friend of all of ours down here that had the honor and privileged to serve with him, from Walla Walla. He was your Caucus Chair in the Democrat Caucus for many many years. He will always be missed by those of us who served with him. But he coined that phrase that has been used so many times over the years that I think that it would be important for us to remember what that really means. As we look at the makeup of the Legislature today, it's virtually a 50-50 split. We're a one vote majority essentially. One vote away from either being a tie or in the minority in both chambers. Which means that half the public has voted for each side. It's a split, and it's been that way actually, give or take maybe one vote in the 45th District, for a little while, but it is something that I think is important for us to remember as we move forward this up and coming session. While the number of seats may have changed by one in the other body, the desires and needs of the citizens of the state of Washington have not changed. And this body here, truly the House, has led over the course of the last several years in being able to provide some of the best budgets in my time down here that I've ever seen. Some of the best policies that I think have served the broad spectrum of the state of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I know when you were giving your speech that there's some emotional ties that both you and I have to certain members of the population, the citizens of this state, especially when it comes to those that suffer from mental illness and issues like that - homelessness. And you and I've had conversations about those issues. We have homelessness issues in rural Washington too. It's not just in the big cities. We have opioid issues, heroin issues, other drug addiction issues in the rural parts of the state as well. And while we have made tremendous new, I would say positive impacts in trying to deal with that issue over the last few years, we still haven't gone far enough. And I want you to know that myself and my colleagues, we share that challenge. We share many of the homelessness issues, providing low income housing, while the difference of low income housing between urban and rural may be very different, we have the same issues in rural Washington. And we want to make sure that when it comes to many of the policies that we are approving down here in Olympia, when it comes to the budgets that we're approving down here in Olympia, we're not just looking at one segment of our population, but we're looking at all of Washington. One Washington. The challenges may be different in their scope and in their spectrum but they are very similar challenges. And if we can look, I kind of liken it to this - I've got two sons. I'll talk about my daughter later - by the way she just got engaged - she even graduated from college. That last tuition payment was awesome by the way. But I have two sons, and I want to mention them for a minute because I think it is important to understand this and I liken it to the One Washington thing. While they have the same mom and dad, they were raised in the same home, they were fed the same food, one is a total country kid, and the other one is a downtown Seattle city slicker, Ok? One wears Carharts every day and the other wears a suit. That's kind of like One Washington, isn't it? This state, I mean just look at Representative Kretz, right? I know I'm not supposed to mention names but you can gavel me if you want. But my point being is that we are a very diverse state. Not unlike my sons. They are very diverse. One of them is a builder, and one of them is a high tech guy. And despite their differences, despite their differences, they've learned to work with each other, love each other, support each other, be there for each other and that's what we need to do. We need to make sure that we're not just focused on one part of the state of Washington, but we're looking at all four corners of this state and the various challenges we deal with. And so, Mr. Speaker, while I want to thank you for going through that exhaustive list of accomplishments, and a few things we still have to get done, let's keep those things in mind as we move forward, Despite our differences, some of them are pretty big, where can we find our common ground? Well I'll tell you what it is – we're all citizens of this wonderful state. All 98 of us were elected by a portion of the seven-plus million people of the state of Washington on almost a 50-50 split, to come down here and serve the entire state of Washington. All of the needs of Washington, not just the few. And again I want to thank you, Mr. Speaker. I look forward to working with you and your colleagues to come up with good solutions. We do want to pass a capital budget. We also need to make sure that we're covering affordable housing in rural Washington by dealing with a good sustainable Hurst decision as well. Those are a couple of biggies, I want to work with you on those issues. I thank you so much for being here. I thank you to your families for supporting you in doing this job. My door is always open to any of you. Thank you again.”

Mr. Speaker: “Thank you Dan, great job.”
